The rights, powers, and duties of a receiver appointed in supplementary proceedings are limited to the purposes of such proceedings and those for which he was appointed.³⁴ They are not the same as those of general receivers,³⁵ but are in great measure analogous to those of a receiver appointed in a creditor's suit.³⁶ They are limited to receiving and then paying out,³⁷ or, more specifically, to demanding and suing for, under the order of the court, and taking into possession and applying in satisfaction of the judgment, money, property, and interests of the judgment debtor.³⁸ They do not include active management of property³⁹ or operation of a business⁴⁰ of the judgment debtor, or ad-

26. What is good cause

(1) The failure of receiver to co-operate with judgment creditor or judgment creditor's attorney.—Powley v. Dorland Bldg. Co., 17 N.Y.S.2d 436, 173 Misc. 571.

(2) Other matters see 23 C.J. p 877 note 22 [a], [b].

Discharge with creditor's consent

The discharge of a receiver at his request may be proper irrespective of the validity of the grounds urged by him where the discharge is consented to by the judgment creditor.—First Nat. Bank v. Milbauer, 1 N.Y.S.2d 317, 165 Misc. 643.

27. N.Y.—Connolly v. Kretz, 78 N.Y. 620.—People v. Byrne, 78 N.Y. 619.

28. N.Y.—Bruns v. Stewart Mfg. Co., 31 Hun 195.—Campbell v. Spratt, 5 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 25.

29. N.Y.—Terry v. Bange, 9 N.Y.S. 311, 57 N.Y.Super. 546, 18 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 288.

30. N.Y.—Smith v. Barnum, 69 N.Y.S. 253, 59 App.Div. 291.
23 C.J. p 877 note 26.

31. N.Y.—Arizona Fire Ins. Co. v. King, 14 N.Y.S.2d 783, 172 Misc. 165.

32. N.Y.—Tillotson v. Wolcott, 48 N.Y. 188.
23 C.J. p 877 note 14.
Control after extension of receivership see supra § 388.

33. N.Y.—Matter of Hone, 47 N.E. 798, 153 N.Y. 522.
23 C.J. p 877 note 15.

34. Wis.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., 288 N.W. 179, 233 Wis. 234.
Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.N.S., 1012.

35. Wis.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., 288 N.W. 179, 233 Wis. 234.
Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.N.S., 1012.

36. N.Y.—Inglehart's Petition, Sheld. 514.

37. N.Y.—Brown v. Guerin, 296 N.Y.S. 837, 163 Misc. 79.

38. Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.N.S., 1012.
23 C.J. p 877 note 29.

Grant of specific powers in order of appointment see supra § 387 e (1) (a).

39. N.Y.—Brown v. Guerin, 296 N.Y.S. 837, 163 Misc. 79.

Particular powers and duties

A receiver in supplementary proceedings cannot be authorized to borrow money to pay off superior existing liens and to satisfy them out of rents and profits and thereafter from same source pay judgment and expenses of receivership, since such functions are exclusively within powers and purview of equity receivership.—Brown v. Guerin, supra.

40. Wis.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., 288 N.W. 179, 233 Wis. 234.

ministration of his estate on the basis of his insolvency.⁴¹

For some purposes at least, the rights and powers of a receiver do not depend on his succession to the title of the judgment debtor.⁴² The receiver has no greater right than the judgment creditor, however, as against other creditors.⁴³

Where provision is made by statute, as is the case in some jurisdictions, respecting the rights, powers, and duties of receivers in supplementary proceedings, the rights, powers, and duties of a receiver are to such extent those, of course, which the statute prescribes.⁴⁴ Under some such statutes at least, a receiver is vested only with property of the judgment debtor⁴⁵ and does not succeed to purely personal rights of the debtor.⁴⁶

Issuing execution. The receiver has no power to issue an execution on a judgment recovered by the debtor,⁴⁷ although it has been held that he may issue an execution on a judgment docketed in his favor in an action to which he was not a party.⁴⁸

Inspection. The court has no inherent power, and in some states no statutory power, to direct a third person, a safe deposit company, to permit the receiver of the judgment debtor to open a safe deposit box in its vaults, standing in the joint names of the judgment debtor and another, and to examine the contents thereof, especially where no evidence was presented as to the contents.⁴⁹

Settlement of debtor's claims. A receiver has no authority, without leave of court, to settle claims of the judgment debtor.⁵⁰

b. Sale of Property

- (1) In general
- (2) Property which may be sold

(1) In General

Where so authorized by the court, the receiver may sell the property of the judgment debtor. A sale should not be directed where it is doubtful whether anything could be realized. The court may refuse to confirm or may set aside an invalid sale or one for an inadequate price.

When so authorized by the court, the receiver may sell the property of the judgment debtor.⁵¹ His power in this respect has been said to be as extensive as that of a general receiver.⁵²

A private sale of personalty may be directed when there is a probability of realizing a better sum than could be procured by a sale at auction.⁵³ A sale should not be directed where it is doubtful whether anything could be realized.⁵⁴

Confirmation or setting aside. The court may refuse to confirm a sale for an inadequate price,⁵⁵ or may set aside an invalid sale⁵⁶ or one for a grossly inadequate price.⁵⁷

An order of sale may be vacated on motion of the judgment debtor⁵⁸ or other claimant of the property.⁵⁹

(2) Property Which May Be Sold

An order authorizing or directing a sale by the receiver should be limited to property of the debtor and his right, title, and interest in property of which he is not the absolute and sole owner. Generally speaking, a receiver may sell personal property, and in some jurisdictions he may sell real estate.

An order authorizing or directing a sale by a re-

Effect of order beyond court's authority

If the court nevertheless directs the receiver to operate a business of the judgment debtor, the legal effect of the order is limited to such powers and duties as can be lawfully vested in a receiver in supplementary proceedings.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., supra.

41. U.S.—In re Loftus, D.C.N.Y., 16 F.Supp. 711.

42. Minn.—Merrill v. Zimmerman, 188 N.W. 1019, 152 Minn. 333—Dunham v. Byrnes, 30 N.W. 402, 36 Minn. 106.

43. N.Y.—Klinger v. New York State Nat. Bank, 271 N.Y.S. 252, 151 Misc. 903.

44. N.Y.—Goddard v. Stiles, 90 N.Y. 199, reversing 25 Hun 63—Sonnabend v. Gittins, 257 N.Y.S. 562, 235 App.Div. 483—Maurice v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 201 N.Y.S. 369, 121 Misc. 427.

Character and status of receiver see supra § 385.

45. N.Y.—Sonnabend v. Gittins, 257 N.Y.S. 562, 235 App.Div. 483.

46. N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.

Disaffirmance of conveyance by infant

The right of disaffirmance of a conveyance made during infancy is one personal to the judgment debtor and does not vest in the receiver.—In re Ziemba's Will, supra.

47. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Dusenbury, 12 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 152.

48. N.Y.—Goodenough v. Davis, 4 N.Y.Month.L.Bul. 35.

49. N.Y.—Ehrich v. Root, 119 N.Y.S. 395, 134 App.Div. 432.

50. N.Y.—King v. Corning Trust Co., 221 N.Y.S. 404, 129 Misc. 377.

51. Wash.—Pappas v. Taylor, 244 P. 390, 138 Wash. 22.
23 C.J. p 877 note 34.

Sale without order and conveyance

A sale by the receiver without an order of the court, and, it has been held, without a conveyance to him by the debtor, passes no title.—Scott v. Elmore, 10 Hun, N.Y., 68.

52. Wash.—Pappas v. Taylor, 244 P. 390, 138 Wash. 22.

53. N.Y.—Monolithic Drain & Conduit Co. v. Dewsnap, 41 N.Y.S. 224, 25 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 380.

54. N.Y.—Matter of Patterson, 42 N.Y.S. 495, 12 App.Div. 123.

55. N.Y.—Hall v. Knott, 125 N.Y.S. 299, 69 Misc. 407.

56. N.Y.—Griffith v. Hadley, 23 N.Y.Super. 587.

57. N.Y.—Griffith v. Hadley, supra.

58. N.Y.—Lubliner v. Filomio, 11 N.Y.S.2d 714.

59. N.Y.—Faneuil Hall Nat. Bank v. Bussing, 42 N.E. 345, 147 N.Y. 665.

ceiver appointed in supplementary proceedings should be limited to the property of the debtor and to the right, title, and interest of the debtor in property of which he is not the absolute and sole owner.⁶⁰ The court is without power to order the sale of property to which a third person has record title without according such person an opportunity to be heard;⁶¹ but a disposition, in obedience to an order of the court, of property taken as that of the debtor without knowledge of the claim of a third person does not constitute a conversion as to such person.⁶²

A sale en masse should not be directed where sufficient can be realized by selling a portion of the property,⁶³ and it has been held that the sale of the interest of a debtor in a comparatively large fund should not be ordered where the judgment is small.⁶⁴

The fact that property could be sold on execution has been held not to preclude its sale by the receiver.⁶⁵

Personal property. Generally speaking, a receiver may sell personal property.⁶⁶ Choses in action should not be ordered sold, however,⁶⁷ unless they come under the head of desperate debts.⁶⁸

Real property. It has been held that a receiver may sell an equitable⁶⁹ or dower⁷⁰ interest in realty, or the judgment debtor's interest in a fund which was produced by the sale of land in which the judgment debtor had a vested remainder in fee.⁷¹ In some jurisdictions a receiver may sell real property of the judgment debtor without reserving an equity of redemption in the debtor's favor.⁷² In other jurisdictions, however, the receiver is without general power to sell real estate,⁷³ at least if there is no reason why it cannot be sold on execution⁷⁴ and the effect of the sale would be to cut off or defeat the statutory right of redemption which the debtor has in the case of a sale under the execution.⁷⁵

Property subject to liens. If property in the hands of the receiver is subject to liens, the court cannot direct its sale for the purpose of appropriating the proceeds to the payment of the costs and expenses of the receivership.⁷⁶

Property held in trust cannot ordinarily be sold.⁷⁷

c. Disposition of Funds

It is a duty of the receiver to apply money or effects in his hands to the payment of costs and expenses of the proceeding and debts due the creditors represented by him according to their priorities, and to restore anything remaining to the debtor or the debtor's successors in right. Claims of third persons to money or property in the receiver's hands or turned over by him to the judgment creditor cannot be determined on motion.

It is a duty of a receiver in proceedings supplementary to execution to apply money or effects in his hands to the payment of costs and expenses of the special proceeding and to the payment of debts due to the creditors represented by him according to their legal or equitable priorities, and to restore what remains, if anything, to the debtor or those who have succeeded to his rights.⁷⁸ Except on notice to the debtor, however, the court has no power to direct the receiver to apply moneys in his hands to the payment of anything but the judgment under which he was appointed or such other judgment or judgments as to which his receivership has been extended.⁷⁹

60. Iowa.—Osborne v. Reardon, 44 N.W. 346, 79 Iowa 175.

23 C.J. p 877 note 36.

61. Colo.—Walker v. Staley, 1 P.2d 924, 89 Colo. 292.

62. N.Y.—Ochs v. Pohly, 84 N.Y.S. 1, 87 App.Div. 92.

63. N.Y.—Griffith v. Hadley, 23 N.Y. Super. 587—Wardell v. Leavenworth, 3 Edw. 244.

64. N.Y.—People v. McAdam, 1 N.Y. City Ct.Supp. 38 note.

65. Wash.—Pappas v. Taylor, 244 P. 390, 138 Wash. 22.

66. Seat or membership in stock exchange

N.Y.—Roome v. Swan, 2 N.Y.S. 614, 15 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 344.

23 C.J. p 878 note 41.

67. S.C.—Dilling v. Foster, 21 S.C. 334.

68. S.C.—Dilling v. Foster, supra.

69. Kan.—Kiser v. Sawyer, 4 Kan. 503.

70. N.Y.—Payne v. Becker, 87 N.Y. 153.

23 C.J. p 878 note 47.

71. N.Y.—McGown v. Barnum, 75 N. E. 155, 182 N.Y. 547.

72. Wis.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., 288 N.W. 179, 233 Wis. 234.

Statutes held inapplicable

Statutes providing for redemption from execution sale or for the inclusion of a provision for redemption in judgments in actions for ejectment or unlawful detainer do not preclude a receiver from selling real property of the judgment debtor without reserving an equity of redemption in the debtor's favor.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., supra.

Continuation of receivership

A judgment debtor is not entitled to time for redemption after a sale by a receiver in supplementary proceedings, especially where the receivership has been continued for his benefit for more than the usual period of redemption in the case of execution sales.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., supra.

73. N.Y.—Chadeayne v. Gwyer, 82 N.Y.S. 198, 83 App.Div. 403.

74. N.Y.—Faneull Hall Nat. Bank v. Bussing, 42 N.E. 345, 147 N.Y. 665. 23 C.J. p 878 note 51.

75. N.Y.—Inglehart's Petition, Sheld. 514—Pfluger v. Cornell, 2 N.Y.City Ct. 145.

76. Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.,N.S., 1012.

77. N.Y.—Scott v. Nevius, 13 N.Y. Super. 672.

78. N.Y.—Ward v. Petrie, 51 N.E. 1002, 157 N.Y. 301, 68 Am.S.R. 790, reversing 36 N.Y.S. 940, 92 Hun 605.

23 C.J. p 878 note 58.

79. N.Y.—Goddard v. Stiles, 90 N.Y. 199, reversing 25 Hun 63.

Where a receivership in a mortgage foreclosure suit is extended to supplementary proceedings, the creditor in the latter proceeding cannot obtain an order compelling the receiver to apply to the payment of his judgment a sum equal to the amount thereof, without regard to whether there was any surplus over the amount legally recoverable in the foreclosure suit;⁸⁰ nor should such order be granted while suits by the judgment creditor to set aside the mortgage and other judgments on the ground of fraud are pending.⁸¹ The expense of a receivership cannot be given priority over the claims of mortgage creditors.⁸²

The court may refuse to distribute a fund held by a foreign receiver.⁸³

Determination of claims of third persons. Claims of third persons to money or property in the hands of the receiver or turned over by him to the judgment creditor cannot be determined on motion,⁸⁴ the proper remedy for such purpose being an action by the receiver, as noted infra § 393 a (2) (a). If the receiver undertakes to determine for himself who is entitled to the proceeds, he makes the distribution at his peril.⁸⁵

The motion papers to procure an order directing the application of funds in the receiver's hands must show where judgment was originally recovered and out of what court the execution issued.⁸⁶

Appeal from order. If notice of appeal is given from an order for the receiver to pay over moneys, he makes such payment at his peril before the disposition of the appeal.⁸⁷

d. Requiring Accounting by Personal Representatives

A receiver of a party entitled to share in a decedent's estate may require decedent's personal representatives to account to him, but a receiver is not entitled to an account by an executor who is the judgment debtor.

A receiver of a party entitled as beneficiary or otherwise to share in a decedent's estate may require the personal representatives of the decedent to account to him,⁸⁸ but he has not such an interest in the estate as will entitle him to an accounting by an executor who is the judgment debtor.⁸⁹ It is the duty of the administrator of a deceased debtor to disclose to the receiver on request assets belonging to the intestate.⁹⁰

e. As Party to Actions or Proceedings by Others

(1) In general

(2) Substitution in actions by debtor

(1) In General

A receiver in whom the debtor's rights of action and property have vested is a proper party to various actions involving rights or liabilities of the debtor.

A receiver in whom the debtor's rights of action and property have vested is a proper party to an action to set aside a judgment in favor of the debtor,⁹¹ or an alleged fraudulent mortgage,⁹² or to an action to apply land to payment of the judgment,⁹³ to partition land in which the debtor has an interest,⁹⁴ or where he has in his possession an instrument indemnifying the debtor against a cause of action sued on.⁹⁵

Where neither the receiver nor the creditor is a party to an action, the former cannot be required in such action to pay over moneys received by him as the property of the debtor.⁹⁶

Contest of probate of will. The receiver cannot contest the probate of a will which divests the debtor of all interest in the estate of another.⁹⁷

(2) Substitution in Actions by Debtor

In a pending action by the debtor to recover claims against third persons the court may in its discretion substitute the receiver as plaintiff and permit him to prosecute the action for the benefit of the creditors whom he represents. Notice of the application for substitution is properly served on the judgment debtor's attorney in the action.

Where an action by the debtor to recover claims

80. N.Y.—Kenney v. South Shore Nat. Gas & Fuel Co., 94 N.E. 606, 201 N.Y. 89.

81. N.Y.—Kenney v. South Shore Nat. Gas & Fuel Co., supra.

82. Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 493, 2 L.R.A., N.S., 1012.

83. N.J.—Harris v. Hibbard, Ch., 71 A. 737.

84. N.Y.—Twelfth Ward Bank v. Columbia Pub. Co., 99 N.Y.S. 908, 51 Misc. 62.

23 C.J. p 879 note 66.

85. N.Y.—In re Hone, 47 N.E. 798, 153 N.Y. 522.

Application to court for directions see supra § 390.

86. N.Y.—Galster v. Syracuse Sav. Bank, 29 Hun 594.

87. Wash.—Johnson v. Joslyn, 92 P. 413, 47 Wash. 531.

88. N.Y.—Matter of Beyea, 31 N. Y.S. 200, 10 Misc. 198.

23 C.J. p 879 note 74.

89. N.Y.—Worrall v. Driggs, 1 Redf. Surr. 449.

90. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 51 N.Y.S. 446, 28 App.Div. 591, affirmed 55 N.E. 305, 160 N. Y. 635.

91. N.Y.—Tiffany v. Norris, 18 N.Y. S. 428, 28 Abb.N.Cas. 97.

92. N.Y.—Gere v. Dibble, 17 How. Pr. 31.

93. N.Y.—Moore v. Duffy, 26 N.Y.S. 340, 74 Hun 78.

94. N.Y.—Wood v. Powell, 38 N.Y.S. 196, 3 App.Div. 318.

95. U.S.—Moore v. Los Angeles Iron & Steel Co., C.C.Cal., 89 F. 73.

96. N.Y.—Galster v. Syracuse Sav. Bank, 17 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 137.

97. N.Y.—In re Brown, 47 Hun 360.

against third persons is pending, the court in its discretion may substitute the receiver as plaintiff and permit him to prosecute the action for the benefit of the creditor or creditors whom he represents.⁹⁸ Such substitution is not a matter of right but rests in the discretion of the court,⁹⁹ especially where the receiver's interest is small as compared with that of other parties.¹ Where substituted, the receiver is bound by the acts and admissions of the original parties, to whose rights he has succeeded.²

Notice of the application for substitution is properly served on the attorney for the judgment debtor in the action.³ The assignee of a claim against a debtor is not a necessary party to a motion by the receiver to be substituted for the debtor as plaintiff in an action brought by the latter on the claim.⁴

f. Employment of Attorney

Generally speaking, the court cannot require the receiver to employ any particular attorney. The receiver may, but need not, retain the judgment creditor's attorney who instituted or participated in the supplementary proceedings.

Generally speaking, the court cannot require the receiver to employ any particular attorney.⁵ The receiver may,⁶ but need not,⁷ retain the attorney of the judgment creditor who instituted or participated in the supplementary proceedings. However, it has been held that an order substituting the receiver as plaintiff in a pending action by the judgment debtor should protect the judgment debtor's attorney, permitting him, if he so elect, to continue in the litigation for the preservation of his rights.⁸

Where the receiver is himself an attorney, it has been held that he cannot employ another attorney without an order by the court.⁹

g. Compensation

The court may award the receiver the expenses of the receivership and reasonable compensation for his services. The compensation depends on the duties involved, the size of the fund available for distribution, and the amounts of the judgment creditors' claims. Ordinarily the receiver should be permitted to deduct his commissions and expenses before paying over money in his hands.

The court has power to award to the receiver reasonable compensation for his services and to allow him in addition the expenses of the receivership.¹⁰ If the expenses of the receivership are improperly refused, the receiver has a remedy by appeal.¹¹

The compensation to which he is entitled depends on the duties which the position involves,¹² the size of the fund available for distribution, and the amounts of the claims of the judgment creditors.¹³

Ordinarily the receiver should be permitted to deduct his commission and expenses before paying over moneys in his hands.¹⁴ However, where the receiver is appointed to sue to set aside alleged fraudulent transfers, it is improper to order the payment of the compensation and expenses of the receivership out of the debtor's property which may come into his hands from other sources; in such circumstances the costs and expenses should, rather, abide the results of the actions.¹⁵ Where the receiver has no moneys in his hands at the termination of the receivership, the court has power, under some statutes at least, to make an allowance to the receiver only as against the party who moved for his appointment,¹⁶ and then only on a showing of delinquency on the part of such party or of unusual merit in the receiver's services.¹⁷

Of attorneys. The court may make an allowance for the attorney for the receiver commensurate with the size of the fund available for distribution and the amounts of the claims of the judgment creditors.¹⁸ Where the receiver is himself an attorney, however, it has been held that an attorney employed

98. N.Y.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, 54 N.Y.S. 426, 34 App.Div. 242. 23 C.J. p 886 note 41.

99. N.Y.—In re Lansing, 17 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 288.

1. N.Y.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, 54 N.Y.S. 426, 34 App.Div. 242.

2. N.Y.—Forbes v. Waller, 25 N.Y. 430, 25 How.Pr. 166, affirming 17 N.Y.Super. 475.

3. N.Y.—Goddard v. Stiles, 90 N.Y. 199.

4. N.Y.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, 54 N.Y.S. 426, 34 App.Div. 242.

5. N.Y.—Powley v. Dorland Bldg. Co., 17 N.Y.S.2d 436, 173 Misc. 571 —Rondout First Nat. Bank v. Navarro, 17 N.Y.S. 900.

6. N.Y.—Baker v. Van Epps, 22 Hun 460, 60 How.Pr. 79. 23 C.J. p 879 note 72.

7. N.Y.—Powley v. Dorland Bldg. Co., 17 N.Y.S.2d 436, 173 Misc. 571 —Moore v. Taylor, 40 Hun 56.

8. N.Y.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, 54 N.Y.S. 426, 34 App.Div. 242.

9. N.Y.—First Nat. Bank v. Milbauer, 1 N.Y.S.2d 317, 165 Misc. 643.

10. N.Y.—Adams v. Elwood, 93 N.Y. S. 327, 104 App.Div. 138.

11. N.Y.—Monahan v. Fitzpatrick, 39 N.Y.S. 857, 16 Misc. 508.

12. N.Y.—Baldwin v. Bazler, 34 N.Y.Super. 274.

Statutes as to personal representatives and guardians do not limit the compensation to which a receiver in supplementary proceedings is entitled.—Baldwin v. Bazler, supra.

13. N.Y.—F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co. v. Amsterdam Tavern, 12 N.Y.S.2d 701, 171 Misc. 352.

14. N.Y.—Gelster v. Syracuse Sav. Bank, 17 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 137.

15. Wash.—Smith v. Weed, 134 P. 1070, 75 Wash. 452.

16. N.Y.—Williams & Co. v. Grovesville Corporation, 8 N.Y.S.2d 204, 255 App.Div. 947.

17. N.Y.—First Nat. Bank v. Milbauer, 1 N.Y.S.2d 317, 165 Misc. 643.

18. N.Y.—F. & M. Schaefer Brewing by him, unless by an order of the court, is not entitled to an allowance of compensation.¹⁹ Where the receiver is substituted as plaintiff in a pending action by the judgment debtor, the judgment debtor is not bound by, and cannot be compelled by the court to adopt, an agreement, made without notice to him, between the judgment creditor and the judgment debtor's attorney fixing the amount of the fees of the attorney in the action.²⁰

h. Liabilities

The receiver is liable to the debtor or creditor, as the case may be, for wrongful conduct or mismanagement of his property. He may also be required to account for property which may have come into his hands.

The receiver is liable to the debtor or creditor, as the case may be, for wrongful conduct or mismanagement of his property,²¹ such as the sale of exempt property.²² A person wrongfully deprived of his property by the receiver need not obtain leave of court to institute suit against him.²³

Accounting. The receiver may be required to account for property which may have come into his hands.²⁴ Thus, on the death of the debtor, the debtor's personal representatives may compel an accounting as to the proceeds of real property conveyed to the receiver.²⁵ Where the receiver assumes to determine to whom a fund in his hands belongs, and erroneously pays it to persons not entitled, he may be compelled to account and justify his conduct, if he can.²⁶

The court out of which the execution issued has jurisdiction, under some statutes, to require an accounting by a receiver appointed in proceedings supplementary to the execution.²⁷ Under other statutes, a person who questions the accuracy of an account rendered by the receiver to the judge who appointed him must apply for relief to such judge, and is not entitled to an accounting in the court of chancery, at least where the execution did not issue out of the court of chancery.²⁸

§ 392. — Title to and Rights in Property

- a. In general
- b. Particular property
- c. Obtaining possession

a. In General

By express provision of statute in some jurisdictions the property of the judgment debtor vests in the receiver. The receiver holds such property for the judgment creditors to whose benefit the receivership inures.

By express provision of statute in some jurisdictions the property of the judgment debtor vests in a receiver appointed in proceedings supplementary to execution.²⁹ The title which he thus acquires is governed by the terms of the statute.³⁰ The receiver holds such property for the judgment creditor who procured his appointment,³¹ and for other judgment creditors who may have procured an extension of the receivership for their benefit.³²

Necessity of filing of bond. Where the proper filing of a bond by the receiver is required in order to make his appointment effective, the receiver has been held not to acquire rights with respect to the debtor's property prior to that time.³³ However, it has also been held that where the bond is not filed until after the order appointing the receiver, his title relates back to the date of the order.³⁴

Co. v. Amsterdam Tavern, 12 N.Y. S.2d 701, 171 Misc. 352.

19. N.Y.—First Nat. Bank v. Milbauer, 1 N.Y.S.2d 317, 165 Misc. 643.

20. N.Y.—Goddard v. Stiles, 90 N.Y. 199, reversing 25 Hun 63.

21. N.Y.—Dewey v. Finn, 18 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 538.

22. N.Y.—Finnin v. Malloy, 33 N.Y. Super. 382.

23. N.Y.—Dewey v. Finn, 18 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 558.

24. N.Y.—Tillotson v. Wolcott, 48 N.Y. 188—Webber v. Hobbie, 13 How.Pr. 382.

25. N.Y.—Graham v. Lawyers' Title Ins. Co., 46 N.Y.S. 1055, 20 App. Div. 440.

26. N.Y.—In re Hone, 47 N.E. 798, 153 N.Y. 522—Barnes v. Court-right, 74 N.Y.S. 208, 37 Misc. 60.

27. N.Y.—In re James' Will, 236 N.Y.S. 363, 184 Misc. 645.

The surrogate's court in New York has jurisdiction to require an accounting by a receiver appointed by a justice of the supreme court in proceedings supplementary to an execution issued out of the surrogate's court.—In re James' Will, supra.

28. N.J.—Hackensack Sav. Bank v. Terhune, 23 A. 482, 50 N.J.Eq. 297.

29. Wash.—Appas v. Taylor, 244 P. 390, 138 Wash. 22.

Property in custodia legis

The effect of an order appointing a receiver and granting an injunction is to place the property of the judgment debtor in custodia legis and preclude defendant from encumbering or disposing of it.—Sam Savin, Inc., v. Burdsal, 22 N.E.2d 914, 61 Ohio App. 539.

30. N.Y.—Maurice v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 201 N.Y.S. 369, 121 Misc. 427.

31. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Thorp, 51 N.Y. 174—Smith v. Meader Pen Corporation, 8 N.Y.S.2d 39, 255 App. Div. 397, reversing 6 N.Y.S.2d 919, 169 Misc. 238, affirmed 20 N.E.2d 13, 280 N.Y. 554—Ward v. Baker, 175 N.Y.S. 66, 185 App.Div. 652—Steinert v. Van Aken, 150 N.Y.S. 525, 165 App.Div. 206—In re Kaufman's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 890, 149 Misc. 287.

Property which may be required to be delivered by the debtor see supra § 383.

32. N.Y.—Ward v. Baker, 175 N.Y.S. 66, 185 App.Div. 652—Steinert v. Van Aken, 150 N.Y.S. 525, 165 App. Div. 206—In re Kaufman's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 890, 149 Misc. 287.

33. N.Y.—Mandelbaum v. Danziger, 267 N.Y.S. 117, 239 App.Div. 638.

34. N.Y.—Foley v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U. S., 31 N.Y.S.2d 992, reversed on other grounds 33 N.Y.S.2d 917, 268 App.Div. 605.

b. Particular Property

- (1) Personal property
- (2) Real property
- (3) Property transferred or encumbered
- (4) Beneficial interest in trust
- (5) Property held in representative capacity
- (6) After-acquired property

(1) Personal Property

The title to personal property of the judgment debtor ordinarily passes to the receiver without an assignment. Such title vests in him, under some statutes, as of the time of filing the order appointing him or extending the receivership, but relates back for the judgment creditor's benefit to the time of service of the order for examination or warrant of arrest except as against a purchaser in good faith without notice and for a valuable consideration or against one to whom a debt has in good faith been paid after service of the order.

The title to personal property of the judgment debtor ordinarily passes to the receiver without an assignment.³⁵ All of the personal property of the debtor of a character to which the receiver is entitled should, regardless of amount, go to the receiver.³⁶ Generally speaking, the receiver steps into the shoes of the judgment debtor with respect to such property.³⁷

The words "personal property," as used in a statute providing for the vesting of title in the receiver, comprehend money, chattels, things in action, and evidences of debt.³⁸ More specifically, property of the judgment debtor, title to which passes to the receiver, includes a bank account,³⁹ a debt due the judgment debtor,⁴⁰ a note payable to the debtor,⁴¹ a seat in a stock exchange,⁴² the interest of the debtor in the funds of an organization, where evidenced by a certificate of membership,⁴³ an award in eminent domain proceedings,⁴⁴ the interest of the judgment debtor in a partnership,⁴⁵ the interest of the judgment debtor in a fund provided for payment of a public contract which he has performed,⁴⁶ surplus in the hands of a sheriff after satisfaction of a prior judgment,⁴⁷ and installments of alimony falling due in the future under a decree previously rendered.⁴⁸ The receiver will not become vested, however, with rights which are not capable of alienation,⁴⁹ or those to which no right is given by the statute authorizing the proceedings;⁵⁰ nor is he entitled to property⁵¹ or the proceeds of property⁵² which is exempt from levy and sale under an execution.

A receiver acquires the title which a judgment debtor has in annuities at the time of institution of the supplementary proceedings,⁵³ and title to a life insurance policy payable to the debtor a certain number of years after date, or to his estate if deceased, owned by the debtor when the receiver was appointed;⁵⁴ but he does not acquire any title to a policy on the life of the debtor which is payable to a third person,⁵⁵ at least where the policy would lapse on a failure to pay premiums.⁵⁶

35. N.Y.—Leonard v. Fink, 196 N. Y.S. 316, 119 Misc. 370.

23 C.J. p 879 note 89.

36. S.C.—Deer Island Lumber Co. v. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co., 97 S.E. 833, 111 S.C. 299.

37. N.Y.—McCabe v. Union Dime Sav. Bank, 268 N.Y.S. 449, 150 Misc. 157.

38. N.Y.—McCorkle v. Herrman, 22 N.E. 943, 117 N.Y. 297, reversing 5 N.Y.S. 881.

39. N.Y.—Matter of Weld, 54 N.Y. S. 253, 34 App.Div. 471—Levy v. Cavanagh, 15 N.Y.Super. 100.

40. N.Y.—McCorkle v. Herrman, 22 N.E. 948, 117 N.Y. 297, reversing 5 N.Y.S. 881.

41. N.Y.—Briggs v. Merrill, 58 Barb. 389.

42. N.Y.—Londheim v. White, 67 How.Pr. 467.

23 C.J. p 880 note 97.

43. N.Y.—Dease v. Reese, 80 N.Y. S. 590, 39 Misc. 657.

44. N.Y.—Fawcett v. New York, 98 N.Y.S. 286, 112 App.Div. 155.

45. N.Y.—Lovins v. Laub, 147 N.Y. S. 304, 85 Misc. 336.

46. N.Y.—John Mulstein Co. v. New York, 107 N.E. 651, 213 N.Y. 308, affirmed 114 N.Y.S. 1122, 160 App. Div. 890.

47. N.Y.—Salter v. Bowe, 32 Hun 236.

48. N.Y.—Stevenson v. Stevenson, 34 Hun 157.

49. U.S.—Waterman v. Shipman, N. Y., 55 F. 982, 5 C.C.A. 371.

50. N.J.—Howell v. McDowell, 1 A. 474, 47 N.J.Law 359.

N.Y.—Matter of Stoddard, 113 N.Y. S. 157, 128 App.Div. 759.

51. N.Y.—Cooney v. Cooney, 65 Barb. 524.

23 C.J. p 880 note 7.

52. N.Y.—Bliss v. Raynor, 36 N.Y. S. 156, 91 Hun 250.

23 C.J. p 880 note 8.

53. N.Y.—Foley v. Foley, 12 N.Y.S. 2d 85, 257 App.Div. 154.

54. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Aetna L. Ins. Co., 39 N.Y.S. 885, 6 App.Div. 254, 256, 261, reversed on other grounds 42 N.Y.S. 1058, 11 App.Div. 99.

Not limited to surrender value

The right of the receiver to such a policy is not limited to its surrender value.—Reynolds v. Aetna L. Ins. Co., 55 N.E. 305, 160 N.Y. 635, affirming 51 N.Y.S. 446, 28 App.Div.

591—Abraham v. Abraham, 278 N. Y.S. 863, 155 Misc. 574.

Receiver's lack of knowledge immaterial

The title to such a life insurance policy passes to the receiver although its existence may have been unknown to the receiver at the time of his appointment.—Reynolds v. Aetna L. Ins. Co., 55 N.E. 305, 160 N.Y. 635, affirming 51 N.Y.S. 446, 28 App.Div. 591.

55. N.Y.—Gershman v. Berliner, 211 N.Y.S. 881, 214 App.Div. 196.

Effect of power to change beneficiary

This has been held to be true even where the owner of the policy has power to change the beneficiary.—Gershman v. Berliner, supra.

Beneficiary's right to possession

The beneficiary is entitled to possession of the policy as against the receiver, notwithstanding a possibility that the beneficiary may predecease the debtor or that the debtor may transfer to himself the beneficial ownership.—Gershman v. Berliner, supra.

56. N.Y.—Masten v. Amerman, 4 N. Y.S. 681, 51 Hun. 244, reversing 20 Abb.N.Cas. 443.

The right of a receiver to money which the judgment debtor has deposited with a third person is superior to that of another who advanced the money, even where the advancement was for the purpose of making the deposit.⁵⁷

When title vests. By some statutes, title vests in the receiver as of the time of filing the order appointing him⁵⁸ or extending the receivership,⁵⁹ as the case may be. When it has become vested it may extend back, however, by relation, for the benefit of the judgment creditor who instituted the proceedings, to the time of the service of the order for examination or warrant of arrest,⁶⁰ but this doctrine is invoked only where necessary to effect justice,⁶¹ and the title of a purchaser in good faith without notice and for a valuable consideration, or the payment of a debt in good faith, is protected where made after the service of the order for examination but before the appointment of the receiver.⁶² Independently of statute, where the debtor assigns property after supplementary proceedings commenced to one who has knowledge of the order for examination, the assignee's title is inferior to that of a receiver subsequently appointed.⁶³

The burden is on the receiver to establish a right prior to that acquired under legal or equitable assignments by the judgment debtor,⁶⁴ and in the absence of proof as to the date of institution of supplementary proceedings, the rights of a receiver appointed subsequent to such an assignment will be deemed inferior to those acquired under the assignment.⁶⁵

Effect of debtor's death. If the debtor dies before the making or filing of the order of appointment, his property or effects do not vest in the receiver,⁶⁶ but the title of the receiver, when once vested, will not be divested by the subsequent death of the debtor.⁶⁷

Effect of orders in other proceedings. The receiver's title is not affected by an order made in a proceeding to which he is not a party.⁶⁸

(2) Real Property

In the absence of statute, title to realty does not vest in the receiver merely by reason of his appointment. Under some statutes, however, a qualified title to real property vests in the receiver, without a conveyance or assignment from the debtor, from the time when the order appointing him or extending the receivership is filed with the clerk of the county where the real property is situated, and, under others, on an order of the court appointing the receiver for the judgment debtor's property, interests, rights, and so forth.

In the absence of statute, title to realty does not vest in the receiver, merely on his appointment.⁶⁹ However, a conveyance of the property by the debtor to the receiver vests in the latter the debtor's title or interest.⁷⁰

Under some statutes, real property of a judgment debtor vests in the receiver, without a conveyance or assignment from the debtor, from the time when the order or a certified copy thereof appointing the 57. N.J.—Building & Loan Ass'n Harmonia v. Wolfskeil, 96 A. 89, 85 N.J.Eq. 218.

58. N.Y.—In re Ewald's Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 299, 174 Misc. 939—Collins v. Connelly, 212 N.Y.S. 369, 125 Misc. 871—Gilkey v. Koch, 201 N.Y.S. 703.
23 C.J. p 880 note 9.

Where debtor resides in other county

If the appointment is made in a county other than that of the debtor's residence, his property vests in the receiver only from the time of filing a certified copy of the order of receivership with the clerk of the county of such residence.—In re Wagenfohr, D.C.N.Y., 39 F.Supp. 117—23 C.J. p 880 note 9 [a].

Statutes governing particular rights

In proceedings under the New York Civil Practice Act on conflicting claims of a receiver and an assignee under an earlier assignment of personal property of the debtor, the rights of the receiver have been held governed by the article of the Act which was effective at the time of an order for examination of the debtor and the appointment of the receiver, while the rights of the assignee were governed by language of the Act which was in force at the time of the assignment.—In re Sullivan's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 232, 164 Misc. 491.

59. N.Y.—In re Ewald's Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 299, 174 Misc. 939.

60. U.S.—In re McAllister, C.C.A. N.Y., 7 F.2d 9—In re Wagenfohr, D.C.N.Y., 39 F.Supp. 117.

N.Y.—Herlihy v. Watkins, 300 N.Y.S. 242, 252 App.Div. 605—Rockwood & Co. v. Trop, 208 N.Y.S. 459, 212 App.Div. 883, reversing 207 N.Y.S. 507, 211 App.Div. 421—In re Kaufman's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 890, 149 Misc. 287—Rosen v. Lipshitz, 266 N.Y.S. 797, 149 Misc. 144—Foley v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U.S., 31 N.Y.S.2d 992.
23 C.J. p 880 note 10.

Property in hands of person to be examined

A receiver's title extends to personal property of judgment debtor which was in hands or under control of person required to attend and be examined at time of service of order or subpoena.—In re Ewald's Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 299, 174 Misc. 939.

61. N.Y.—In re Sullivan's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 232, 164 Misc. 491.

62. N.Y.—In re Sullivan's Estate, supra.
23 C.J. p 880 note 11.

Assignee for benefit of creditors is not a bona fide purchaser without notice and for a valuable consideration.—Rosen v. Lipshitz, 266 N.Y.S. 797, 149 Misc. 144.

63. N.J.—Coleman v. Roff, 45 N.J. Law 7.

64. N.Y.—In re Kitching's Will, 253 N.Y.S. 112, 141 Misc. 704.

65. N.Y.—In re Kitching's Will, supra.

66. N.C.—Rankin v. Minor, 72 N.C. 424.

67. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Aetna L. Ins. Co., 55 N.E. 305, 180 N.Y. 635, affirming 51 N.Y.S. 446, 28 App.Div. 591.

68. N.Y.—Rogers v. Corning, 44 Barb. 229.

69. N.J.—Bold v. Dean, 21 A. 618, 48 N.J.Eq. 193.

70. N.Y.—Graham v. Lawyers' Title Ins. Co., 46 N.Y.S. 1055, 20 App. Div. 440, 4 N.Y. Ann. Cas. 379—Maples v. O'Brien, 116 N.Y.S. 175.

receiver or extending the receivership is filed with the clerk of the county where the real property is situated.⁷¹ Notwithstanding the broad language of such statutes, however, it is held that the title is a qualified one⁷² and amounts only to a right of possession as security for, or as a means of satisfying, the judgment;⁷³ that the judgment debtor retains the legal title, which he may convey subject to the receiver's right to resort to it to pay the judgment;⁷⁴ and that the receiver's right is divested when the property is sold under execution and a deed given to the purchaser,⁷⁵ or when the judgment lien terminates by the expiration of the statutory ten years.⁷⁶ The statutes do not apply so as to vest in the receiver title to real property on which the judgment or order on which the supplementary proceedings are based is not a lien.⁷⁷

Under other statutes, the judgment debtor's beneficial interest in real property will pass to the receiver on an order of the court appointing the receiver for the property, interests, rights, and so forth, of the judgment debtor, in so far as may be necessary to effectuate the purpose of the supplementary proceedings.⁷⁸

(3) Property Transferred or Encumbered

A receiver acquires no better or other title than the debtor had; that is, he does not acquire title to property assigned or transferred before the time when title vests in him, and takes property subject to all bona fide burdens previously imposed on it. A transfer by the debtor or a third party after title has vested in the receiver does not divest or affect his title, although an action may be necessary to set aside the transfer.

A receiver appointed in supplementary proceedings acquires no better or other title than the debtor had.⁷⁹ Thus, a receiver does not become vested with the title to property assigned or transferred prior to the time when title vests in him,⁸⁰ and, while he is entitled to take charge of such property where the transfer was wrongful,⁸¹ he can do so only by means of an action to test the validity of the transfer.⁸² Likewise, he takes the property subject to all burdens imposed by the debtor,⁸³ and subject to bona fide claims, liens, and encumbrances thereon.⁸⁴ He takes subject to existing mortgages.⁸⁵ Title to personal property pledged by the debtor passes to the receiver, subject to the pledge.⁸⁶ The receiver takes free from a mechanic's lien which was not perfected at the time the title of the receiver vested.⁸⁷

A receiver's rights in property of the debtor are subordinate to those of bona fide purchasers without notice.⁸⁸

Transfer after title vests in receiver. A transfer by the debtor or a third party made after the time

71. N.Y.—Wood v. Powell, 38 N.Y.S. 196, 3 App.Div. 318, 320, 73 N.Y. St. 689.

23 C.J. p 881 notes 17, 18.

On appointment of receiver

Under an earlier statute, title to the debtor's real property vested in the receiver on completion of his appointment.—Porter v. Williams, 9 N.Y. 142, 59 Am.D. 519, 5 Seld 142, 12 How.Pr. 107, Seld Notes 202.

72. N.Y.—Faneuil Hall Nat. Bank v. Bussing, 42 N.E. 345, 147 N.Y. 665—Damers v. Sternberger, 102 N.Y.S. 740, 52 Misc. 532.

73. N.Y.—Chadeayne v. Gwyer, 82 N.Y.S. 198, 83 App.Div. 453. 23 C.J. p 881 note 20.

74. N.Y.—Faneuil Hall Nat. Bank v. Bussing, 42 N.E. 345, 147 N.Y. 665—Moore v. Duffy, 26 N.Y.S. 340, 74 Hun 78.

75. N.Y.—Chadeayne v. Gwyer, 82 N.Y.S. 198, 83 App.Div. 403. 23 C.J. p 881 note 22.

76. N.Y.—Hall v. Senior, 106 N.Y. S. 29, 54 Misc. 463.

77. N.Y.—Matter of Stoddard, 113 N.Y.S. 157, 128 App.Div. 759. 23 C.J. p 881 note 24.

78. Leasehold

The judgment debtor's beneficial interest in a leasehold passes to a receiver appointed for the "property, equitable interests, rights," and so forth, of the judgment debtor.—U. S. Rubber Products v. Twin Highway Tire Co., 288 N.W. 179, 233 Wis. 234.

79. N.Y.—Klinger v. New York State Nat. Bank, 271 N.Y.S. 252, 151 Misc. 903. 23 C.J. p 882 note 32.

80. N.Y.—Klinger v. New York State Bank, 271 N.Y.S. 252, 151 Misc. 903—In re Leverich's Will, 238 N.Y.S. 533, 135 Misc. 774, affirmed 251 N.Y.S. 870, 234 App. Div. 625.

23 C.J. p 881 note 31.

Relation back of title to personal property see supra subdivision b (1) of this section.

Disaffirmance of minor's transfer

A receiver has no greater right to disaffirm a transfer which the judgment debtor made during his minority than has the debtor himself.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.

Money collected by judgment creditor

A receiver has been held not entitled to money which the judgment creditor had collected from the debtor prior to the receiver's appointment.—First Nat. Bank v. Milbauer, 1 N.Y.S.2d 317, 165 Misc. 648.

81. S.C.—Gardner v. Kirven, 175 S. E. 637, 173 S.C. 302.

82. Minn.—Bean v. Heron, 67 N.W. 805, 65 Minn. 64. 23 C.J. p 881 note 31.

83. N.Y.—Corey v. Harte, 21 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 247.

Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.,N.S., 1012.

84. N.Y.—Smith v. Meader Pen Corporation, 8 N.Y.S.2d 39, 255 App. Div. 397, reversing 6 N.Y.S.2d 919, 169 Misc. 238, affirmed 20 N.E.2d 13, 280 N.Y. 554.

23 C.J. p 882 note 34.

85. N.Y.—Manning v. Monaghan, 14 N.Y.Super. 459, reversed on other grounds 23 N.Y. 539.

Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 492, 2 L.R.A.,N.S., 1012. 23 C.J. p 882 note 35.

86. N.Y.—Armstrong v. McLean, 47 N.E. 912, 153 N.Y. 490—Powell v. Waldron, 89 N.Y. 328, 42 Am.R. 301.

23 C.J. p 882 note 36.

87. N.Y.—McCorkle v. Herrman, 22 N.E. 948, 117 N.Y. 297, reversing 5 N.Y.S. 881.

23 C.J. p 882 note 37.

88. Minn.—Merrill v. Zimmerman, 188 N.W. 1019, 152 Minn. 333.

when title vests in the receiver does not divest him of his title nor affect it,⁸⁹ although it may be necessary to resort to an action to set aside the transfer.⁹⁰

(4) Beneficial Interest in Trust

A receiver is not vested with title to real property held in trust for the judgment debtor, or with the income of a fund held in trust for the judgment debtor's support, except as to a surplus determined or conceded to exist.

A receiver is not vested with title to real property held in trust for the judgment debtor;⁹¹ nor does the income of a fund held in trust for the support of a judgment debtor vest in the receiver,⁹² except as to a surplus⁹³ which has been determined or conceded to exist.⁹⁴

(5) Property Held in Representative Capacity

A receiver does not take title to property held by the judgment debtor in a representative capacity.

A receiver does not take title to property held by the judgment debtor in a representative capacity.⁹⁵

(6) After-Acquired Property

Although the rule has been changed by statute in some jurisdictions, in the absence of such a statute a receiver takes no title to after-acquired property of the judgment debtor except by extension of the receivership as provided by law.

Although the rule has been changed by statute in some jurisdictions,⁹⁶ in the absence of such a statute a receiver takes no title to property acquired by the debtor after the time when, in the particular jurisdiction, title to the property of the judgment debtor vests in the receiver,⁹⁷ except by due extension of the receivership as provided by law.⁹⁸ For example, the receiver cannot sue on a cause of action which has accrued to the judgment debtor after the appointment of the receiver.⁹⁹ Wages not fully earned do not vest in the receiver.¹ However, the receiver takes whatever title the debtor has in a partially performed contract.²

c. Obtaining Possession

A receiver may take possession of property assigned by the debtor but allowed by the assignee, without claim on his part, to remain under the debtor's control. He cannot take forcible possession, however, of property in the hands of a third person claimant; and his right to possession is subordinate to that of prior lienors.

A receiver may take possession of property assigned by the debtor but allowed by the assignee, without claim on his part, to remain under the debtor's control.³ He cannot take forcible possession, however, of property in the hands of a third person claiming the same.⁴ Likewise, whatever right of possession the receiver may have at the time of his appointment is subordinate to the right of prior lienors to take possession whenever the provisions in their conveyances, conferring the right, become operative.⁵

§ 393. — Actions

- a. Right to maintain
- b. Defenses
- c. Jurisdiction
- d. Parties
- e. Pleading
- f. Evidence and trial
- g. Recovery

89. N.Y.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, 54 N.Y.S. 426, 34 App.Div. 212, 23 C.J. p 881 note 27.

Assignment of claims

The title of a receiver to claims of the debtor is superior to that of an assignee of the claims under an assignment by the debtor made subsequent to the filing of the order of receivership.—Fitzpatrick v. Moses, supra—Foley v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U. S., 19 N.Y.S.2d 502, 173 Misc. 1031—Foley v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U. S., 31 N.Y.S.2d 992, reversed on other grounds 33 N.Y.S.2d 917, 263 App.Div. 605—Gilkey v. Koch, 201 N.Y.S. 703—23 C.J. p 881 note 27 [a].

Transfer to receiver of corporation

A transfer of policies of insurance on the life of a debtor to a receiver of a corporation thereafter appointed does not affect the prior rights of the receiver in supplementary proceedings.—Reynolds v. Aetna L. Ins. Co., 55 N.E. 305, 160 N.Y.

635, affirming 51 N.Y.S. 446, 28 App. Div. 591—23 C.J. p 881 note 30.

90. N.Y.—William A. Thomas Co. v. Lowenthal, 113 N.Y.S. 1092.

91. N.J.—Boid v. Dean, 21 A. 618, 48 N.J.Eq. 193.

N.Y.—Sonnabend v. Gittins, 257 N.Y.S. 562, 235 App.Div. 483.

92. N.Y.—Continental Trust Co. v. Witmore, 21 N.Y.S. 746, 67 Hun 9.

93. N.Y.—McEwen v. Brewster, 19 Hun 337, 23 C.J. p 882 note 42.

94. N.Y.—Graff v. Bonnett, 31 N.Y. 9, 38 Am.D. 236, affirming 25 N.Y. Super. 54, 25 How.Pr. 470—Genet v. Foster, 18 How.Pr. 50.

95. N.Y.—Jones v. Arkenburgh, 98 N.Y.S. 532, 112 App.Div. 483.

96. N.Y.—Herlihy v. Watkins, 10 N.Y.S.2d 7, 256 App.Div. 339—Friederick Wachter, Inc. v. Rogers, 2 N.Y.S.2d 657, 165 Misc. 880.

97. N.Y.—Continental Trust Co. v. Wetmore, 21 N.Y.S. 746, 67 Hun 9

—New York Plumbers' Specialties Co. v. Stein, 250 N.Y.S. 220, 140 Misc. 161, reversing 240 N.Y.S. 834, 136 Misc. 703, 23 C.J. p 882 note 44.

98. N.Y.—Murphy v. Crane, 142 N.Y.S. 972, 157 App.Div. 609.

99. N.Y.—Norcross v. Hollingsworth, 31 N.Y.S. 627, 83 Hun 127.

1. N.Y.—Browning v. Bettis, 8 Paige 568.

2. N.Y.—Boynton v. Seibert, 68 N.Y.S. 562, 33 Misc. 310, 23 C.J. p 882 note 47.

3. N.Y.—Eastern Nat. Bank v. Hulshizer, 2 N.Y.St. 115, 23 C.J. p 882 note 49.

4. N.Y.—Dewey v. Finn, 18 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 558.

Order for payment or delivery of property see supra § 383.

5. Wyo.—Laramie First Nat. Bank v. Cook, 76 P. 674, 78 P. 1083, 12 Wyo. 493, 2 L.R.A., N.S., 1012.

a. Right to Maintain

- (1) In general
- (2) Disputed indebtedness or ownership
- (3) Property transferred
- (4) Trust property

(1) In General

Broadly speaking, the authority of a receiver in supplementary proceedings to maintain an action is dependent on statute. He may bring an action in a proper case in order to effectuate the purpose of the receivership, but only where he has acquired title or a right to the property sought to be reached and where the creditor or judgment debtor might have brought a similar action. A demand is sometimes a condition precedent, and leave of court may be necessary. When authorized by statute or the order appointing him, he may sue in his own name as receiver.

Broadly speaking, the authority of a receiver in supplementary proceedings to maintain an action is dependent on statute.⁶ He may bring an action in a proper case in order to effectuate the purpose of the receivership,⁷ but only where the title to the property or money sought to be reached has vested in him, or he has acquired a right to it by reason of his appointment,⁸ and where the creditor or judgment debtor might have brought a similar action.⁹ The receiver succeeds to all the rights of action of the debtor,¹⁰ but he cannot necessarily maintain an action in every instance in which the creditor can do so.¹¹

An action cannot be maintained by the receiver where the relief can be obtained in the proceedings.¹²

Demand. Where a demand is a condition precedent to the particular action, it must be made.¹³

Leave of court. While it is the better practice for the receiver to procure the leave of the court to institute an action, and the procurement of such leave is ordinarily necessary,¹⁴ there are decisions to the effect that the receiver has general power to institute actions, and that no leave to do so is necessary.¹⁵

If the party objecting had actual notice of the application for leave to sue, no further notice is necessary.¹⁶

Time. A receiver's action must be brought within the time fixed by the statute of limitations.¹⁷ Relief in equity is properly denied where the receiver has been guilty of unreasonable delay in instituting the suit after acquiring knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action.¹⁸

In whose name brought. When so authorized by statute,¹⁹ or by the order appointing him,²⁰ the receiver may sue as such in his own name.

Particular actions. In addition to particular actions considered infra subdivisions a (2), (3), (4) of this section, a receiver may maintain an action for an accounting as to funds and securities of the debtor in the hands of a third person, and to compel payment and delivery over to the receiver;²¹ to recover property in the possession of a third person;²² to enforce an equitable lien to which the debtor is entitled;²³ to recover the surplus on an execution or judicial sale of the debtor's property;²⁴ to admeasure dower of the debtor;²⁵ to recover usurious sums paid by the debtor;²⁶ to compel a

6. N.Y.—King v. Corning Trust Co., 223 N.Y.S. 446, 129 Misc. 838, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 848, 222 App.Div. 717.

7. N.Y.—Steinert v. Van Aken, 150 N.Y.S. 525, 165 App.Div. 206. 23 C.J. p 882 note 52.

8. N.Y.—Wright v. Nostrand, 94 N.Y. 31, reversing 47 N.Y.Super. 441—Gardner v. Smith, 29 Barb. 68.

9. N.Y.—Stephens v. Meriden Britannia Co., 54 N.E. 781, 160 N.Y. 178, 73 Am.S.R. 678, reversing 43 N.Y.S. 226, 13 App.Div. 268. 23 C.J. p 883 note 55.

Where creditor has resorted to other remedy

The receiver cannot sue in behalf of the creditor where the creditor has precluded himself by resorting to another remedy.—Kennedy v. Thorp, 51 N.Y. 174, reversing 2 Daly 258, 3 Abb.Pr., N.S., 131.

10. N.Y.—Porter v. Williams, 9 N.Y. 142, 59 Am.D. 519, 12 How.Pr. 107, affirming 5 How.Pr. 441, Code Rep., N.S., 144, 9 N.Y.Leg.Obs. 307.

11. N.Y.—Ward v. Petrie, 51 N.E. 1002, 157 N.Y. 301, 68 Am.S.R. 790, reversing 36 N.Y.S. 940, 92 Hun 605—Underwood v. Sutcliffe, 77 N.Y. 58. 23 C.J. p 883 note 58.

12. N.Y.—Richards v. Allen, 3 E.D. Smith 399. 23 C.J. p 883 note 68.

13. N.Y.—Delahunty v. Hake, 41 N.Y.S. 896, 10 App.Div. 230. 23 C.J. p 883 note 59.

14. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Dusenbury, 5 N.Y.St. 846, 12 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 152. 23 C.J. p 885 note 93.

15. N.Y.—Rockwell v. Merwin, 45 N.Y. 166, affirming 31 N.Y.Super. 484, 3 Abb.Pr., N.S., 330.

N.C.—Well v. Wilmington First Nat. Bank, 11 S.E. 277, 106 N.C. 1. Wis.—Wisconsin Trust Co. v. Jenkins, 86 N.W. 153, 110 Wis. 531.

16. N.Y.—McMahon v. Shary, 114 N.Y.S. 852, 62 Misc. 236.

17. N.Y.—Van Loan v. New York, 92 N.Y.S. 734, 45 Misc. 482, affirmed 94 N.Y.S. 221, 105 App.Div. 572.

18. N.Y.—Rondout First Nat. Bank v. Navarro, 17 N.Y.S. 900.

19. N.J.—Miller v. Mackenzie, 29 N.J.Eq. 291. 23 C.J. p 883 note 73.

20. Ind.—Garver v. Kent, 70 Ind. 428.

21. N.Y.—Armstrong v. McLean, 47 N.E. 912, 153 N.Y. 490, reversing 36 N.Y.S. 764, 92 Hun 397.

22. N.Y.—Brein v. Light, 72 N.Y.S. 655, 36 Misc. 110, affirmed 76 N.Y.S. 935, 37 Misc. 771.

Moneys

N.Y.—Herlihy v. Watkins, 10 N.Y.S. 2d 7, 256 App.Div. 339.

23. N.J.—Walsh v. Rooso, 44 A. 708, 41 A. 669, 59 N.J.Eq. 123.

24. N.Y.—Davenport v. McChesney, 86 N.Y. 242.

25. N.Y.—Payne v. Becker, 87 N.Y. 153.

26. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 18 Abb.Pr. 301, reversed on other grounds 46 Barb. 24.

person for whom the judgment debtor is a surety to satisfy the debt;²⁷ and for conversion by the debtor of property which has vested in the receiver.²⁸ In a proper case a receiver may also invoke the remedy of injunction.²⁹

He cannot sue to collect attached debts;³⁰ and he does not obtain such a title to or interest in the debtor's real estate as will entitle him to bring an action of partition.³¹

(2) Disputed Indebtedness or Ownership

Where an alleged indebtedness to the debtor or the ownership of property is disputed, the proper remedy generally is an action by the receiver to determine the fact of indebtedness or ownership.

Where an alleged indebtedness of a third person to the debtor is denied, or the ownership of property is disputed, the proper remedy generally is an action by the receiver to determine the fact of indebtedness or ownership.³² A receiver should not sue unnecessarily to obtain a judgment that certain money is the property of the judgment debtor and to direct its application where the ownership has already been decided in the supplementary proceedings and all further necessary orders may be made therein.³³

(3) Property Transferred

A receiver may maintain an action to set aside a transfer wrongfully or fraudulently made. He cannot, however, bring an action at law to recover damages for conversion of the property. Authority from the creditor to maintain an action to set aside a conveyance is sometimes required.

A receiver may prosecute an action to annul or set aside a transfer wrongfully or fraudulently made, with like effect as though the action were instituted by the judgment creditor.³⁴ He cannot, however, sue to set aside an assignment by the debtor or for frauds perpetrated by the latter on others than the judgment creditor;³⁵ neither can he collaterally attack an assignment expressly authorized by statute.³⁶

His rights in this respect are not confined to the property transferred, but he can follow, in equity, the proceeds into the possession of any person who is not a bona fide holder or owner thereof.³⁷ He cannot, however, bring an action at law to recover damages for conversion of the property,³⁸ nor can he bring an action to recover damages for conspiracy wrongfully to transfer the debtor's property in anticipation of the rendition of judgment.³⁹

The death of the judgment creditor will not preclude the receiver from prosecuting the action, where the deceased has left heirs or next of kin entitled to any money collected on the judgment on which the supplementary proceeding is based.⁴⁰

The right of the receiver to sue is not exclusive of the right of the judgment creditor to sue.⁴¹

Authority from the creditor to maintain an action to set aside a conveyance as a cloud on title so as to subject the property to the execution is sometimes required.⁴²

Election. Where the receiver has elected to take

27. Minn.—Merrill v. Zimmerman, 188 N.W. 1019, 152 Minn. 333.

28. N.Y.—Gardner v. Smith, 29 Barb. 68.

29. N.Y.—Hughes v. McKenzie, 14 N.Y.S. 352.

S.C.—Globe Phosphate Co. v. Pinson, 29 S.E. 549, 52 S.C. 185.
23 C.J. p 883 note 70.

30. N.Y.—Andrews v. Glenville Woolen Co., 11 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 78.

31. N.Y.—Payne v. Becker, 87 N.Y. 153, reversing 22 Hun 28.
23 C.J. p 884 note 89.

32. N.Y.—Bank of Richmondville v. Hicks, 197 N.Y.S. 369.

Wis.—Nick v. Holtz, 297 N.W. 387, 237 Wis. 407—Paradise v. Giannini, 247 N.W. 472, 211 Wis. 42.

23 C.J. p 883 note 75.
Adjudication of indebtedness or title on examination see supra § 378.

33. N.C.—Wilson v. Chichester, 12 S.E. 139, 107 N.C. 386, 10 L.R.A. 572.

34. Minn.—Merrill v. Zimmerman, 188 N.W. 1019, 152 Minn. 333—Dunham v. Byrnes, 30 N.W. 402, 36 Minn. 106.

N.Y.—Leonard v. Fink, 196 N.Y.S. 316, 119 Misc. 370.

S.C.—Gardner v. Kirven, 175 S.E. 637, 639, 173 S.C. 302, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 884 note 78.

Revocation of trust created by debtor for own benefit see infra subdivision a (4) of this section.

Unfiled chattel mortgage

The receiver may sue in the right of the judgment creditor to set aside an unfiled chattel mortgage which by virtue of statute is void as to creditors.—Stephens v. Perrine, 39 N.E. 11, 143 N.Y. 476—Mandeville v. Avery, 26 N.E. 951, 124 N.Y. 376, 21 Am.S.R. 678.

Authorization by court or judge

In a proper case the court or judge may authorize the receiver to institute suits to determine the good faith of transfers by the judgment creditor.

N.Y.—McMahon v. Shary, 114 N.Y.S. 852, 62 Misc. 286.

Wash.—Smith v. Weed, 124 P. 1070, 75 Wash. 452.

35. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Thorp, 51 N.

Y. 174, reversing 2 Daly 258, 3 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 131.

23 C.J. p 884 note 80.

36. N.Y.—Herman v. Goodson, 42 N.Y.S. 696, 18 Misc. 604.

37. N.Y.—Stephens v. Perrine, 39 N.E. 11, 143 N.Y. 476, reversing 24 N.Y.S. 21, 69 Hun 578.
23 C.J. p 884 note 83.

38. N.Y.—Stephens v. Meriden Britannia Co., 54 N.E. 781, 160 N.Y. 178, 73 Am.S.R. 678, 30 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 192, reversing 43 N.Y.S. 226, 13 App.Div. 268—Berliner v. Kuttner, 147 N.Y.S. 308, 85 Misc. 461.

39. N.Y.—Ward v. Petrie, 51 N.E. 1002, 157 N.Y. 301, 68 Am.S.R. 790, reversing 36 N.Y.S. 940, 92 Hun 605.

40. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 13 N.Y.S. 785, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 56.

41. N.Y.—Ullman v. Cameron, 93 N.Y.S. 976, 105 App.Div. 159, affirmed 78 N.E. 1074, 186 N.Y. 339, 116 Am.S.R. 553.

23 C.J. p 884 note 82.

42. N.Y.—Wright v. Nostrand, 94 N.Y. 31, reversing 47 N.Y.Super. 441.
23 C.J. p 884 note 83.

a personal judgment against the transferee, he is not entitled to a judgment setting aside the conveyance.⁴³

(4) Trust Property

A receiver has no actionable interest in property held in trust for the judgment debtor, especially where the trust was not created by the debtor himself; nor can he maintain an action to reach income of a trust fund remaining after satisfying the provisions of the trust.

A receiver has no actionable interest in property or moneys held in trust for the judgment debtor, where the trust was not created by the debtor himself, but the creditor himself must proceed by an action in equity.⁴⁴ In some circumstances he has even been held not entitled to maintain an action to revoke a trust created by the judgment debtor for his own benefit;⁴⁵ nor can he maintain an action to reach so much of the income of a trust fund as may remain after satisfying the provisions of the trust.⁴⁶

b. Defenses

Mere irregularities in the proceedings on which a receivership is based are not fatal to the right of the receiver to maintain an action, especially where the judgment debtor has consented to the appointment. Defenses must be determined as they existed on the date of the receiver's appointment. A defense may be lost by failure to interpose it in time.

Mere irregularities in the proceedings on which a receivership is based are not fatal to the right of the receiver to maintain an action,⁴⁷ especially where the judgment debtor has consented to the appointment;⁴⁸ nor can the irregular appointment of the receiver be urged against the revival of an action against the personal representatives of a deceased debtor.⁴⁹

In an action by the receiver to recover property in the hands of a third person, a claim by defendant that the judgment debtor had an interest in the property has been held without merit where it had been held in the proceedings for the appointment of the receiver, to which the judgment debtor was a party, that title was in the receiver as of the date of his appointment and that the judgment debtor had no title thereafter.⁵⁰

Time as of which determined. Defenses must be determined as they existed on the date of the receiver's appointment.⁵¹

Loss of defense. A defense may be lost by failure to interpose it in time.⁵²

c. Jurisdiction

In instituting an action the receiver is not confined to the court of his appointment, but may select any tribunal of competent jurisdiction.

In instituting an action the receiver is not confined to the court of his appointment, but may select any tribunal of competent jurisdiction.⁵³ He cannot maintain an action to apply to the satisfaction of the judgment property situated beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the court by which the judgment was rendered, except on complying with statutory requirements for that purpose.⁵⁴

d. Parties

The judgment debtor is a proper and necessary party to an action to set aside an alleged fraudulent assignment, conveyance, or contract, or to reach an equitable interest in a trust fund; but he is not a necessary party to an action to recover usurious premiums or moneys belonging to him in the hands of a third person. In actions to set aside alleged fraudulent transfers, all the transferees are proper parties; but it is not necessary to make all creditors parties.

The judgment debtor is a proper and necessary party to an action to set aside as fraudulent an assignment⁵⁵ or conveyance⁵⁶ made by him, and to reach the property, an action to set aside alleged fraudulent contracts,⁵⁷ or an action to reach an equitable interest in a trust fund;⁵⁸ but he is not a necessary party to an action to recover usurious premiums paid by him,⁵⁹ or to recover moneys belonging to him in the hands of a third person.⁶⁰

43. N.Y.—Fitts v. Beardsley, 8 N.Y. S. 567, affirmed 27 N.E. 853, 126 N.Y. 645.

44. N.Y.—Williams v. Thorn, 70 N.Y. 270.
23 C.J. p 884 note 91.

45. N.Y.—Sonnabend v. Gittins, 257 N.Y.S. 562, 235 App.Div. 483.

46. N.Y.—McEwen v. Brewster, 17 Hun 223.
23 C.J. p 885 note 92.

47. N.Y.—Stiefel v. Berlin, 51 N.Y.S. 147, 28 App.Div. 103, modifying 45 N.Y.S. 746, 20 Misc. 194.
S.C.—Green v. Bookhart, 19 S.C. 466.

48. N.Y.—Powell v. Waldron, 39 N.Y. 328, 42 Am.R. 301—Tyler v. Willis, 33 Barb. 327.

49. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 4 N.Y. S. 63, 51 Hun 423.

50. N.Y.—Foley v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U. S., 31 N.Y.S.2d 992, reversed on other grounds 33 N.Y.S.2d 917, 263 App.Div. 605.
Collateral attack on order of appointment see supra § 387 f (4).

51. N.Y.—Steinert v. Van Aken, 150 N.Y.S. 525, 165 App.Div. 206.

52. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 13 N.Y.S. 785, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 56.

53. N.Y.—Rockwell v. Merwin, 45 N.Y. 166, affirming 31 N.Y.Super. 484, 8 Abb.Pr., N.S., 330.
23 C.J. p 883 note 69.

54. Utah.—Mathison v. Poultry & Stock Minerals Mining Co., 38 P.2d 741, 85 Utah 74.

55. N.Y.—Miller v. Hall, 70 N.Y. 250, affirming 40 N.Y.Super. 262.

56. N.Y.—Bostwick v. Menck, 40 N.Y. 383.
23 C.J. p 885 note 6.

57. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 18 Abb. Pr. 301, reversed on other grounds 46 Barb. 24.

58. N.Y.—Vanderpoel v. Van Valkenburgh, 6 N.Y. 190.

59. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 18 Abb. Pr. 301, reversed on other grounds 46 Barb. 24.

60. N.Y.—Fawcett v. New York, 98 N.Y.S. 286, 112 App.Div. 155.
N.C.—Wilson v. Chichester, 12 S.E. 139, 107 N.C. 386, 10 L.R.A. 572.

In an action to set aside alleged fraudulent transfers, all the transferees may be made parties, although they hold by separate conveyances;⁶¹ but it is not necessary to make all creditors parties.⁶² A beneficial membership corporation is not a necessary party to an action to compel the debtor to transfer his membership therein.⁶³

A plea in abatement for defect of parties must set out the names of those whom defendant insists should be made parties.⁶⁴ Where the answer sets up that the debtor is a proper party, it is sufficient to present the question whether he is a proper party either as an individual or in a representative capacity.⁶⁵

e. Pleading

The complaint should set out the receiver's appointment; the judgment, its amount, or the sum claimed, and the filing of the judgment roll where necessary; the issuance and, in some actions, a return of the execution unsatisfied; the cause of action; and the receiver's right to sue in a representative capacity. The answer must contain averments or denials absolving defendant of liability. The facts necessary to the receiver's recovery must be proved.

The complaint should appropriately allege the appointment of the receiver.⁶⁶ Some courts hold that a general allegation is not sufficient.⁶⁷ Other courts, however, hold that an allegation of due appointment is sufficient⁶⁸ and that an averment of the filing and recording of the order of appointment is not necessary,⁶⁹ unless the action is based on a claim by the receiver to title to real estate through his appointment as receiver, in which case the complaint must contain an allegation that the order appointing the receiver or a certified copy thereof was filed and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county where the real estate sought to be affected by the order is situated.⁷⁰

The complaint should also set out the judgment on which the proceedings are based,⁷¹ its amount or the sum claimed,⁷² the filing of the judgment roll, where necessary,⁷³ and the issuance of a valid execution to the proper officer and, in some actions, its return by him unsatisfied in whole or in part.⁷⁴

The complaint must also show that a cause of action exists in favor of the receiver,⁷⁵ or in favor of those whom he represents,⁷⁶ and his right to prosecute the action in a representative capacity.⁷⁷ In an action to recover money or property of the debtor in the hands of a third person, it must be alleged that defendant has in his hands money or property belonging to the debtor.⁷⁸ In any case the complaint must, in order to state a cause of action, allege sufficient facts to satisfy statutory requirements.⁷⁹

Answer. To defeat an action by the receiver, the answer must contain averments or denials which if proved or not overcome will be sufficient to absolve defendant of liability.⁸⁰

Issues and proof. At least where there is a statute to such effect, the issue in an action in replevin by the receiver against a third person claiming an adverse interest in property of the debtor is the validity of the adverse claim, and not the right of the receiver to possession.⁸¹

The facts of appointment, qualification, and title of plaintiff as receiver must be shown where in issue.⁸² An allegation of fraud in an assignment must be sustained by competent proof.⁸³ In an action to recover property of the debtor in the hands

61. Wis.—Hamlin v. Wright, 23 Wis. 491.

62. N.Y.—Stiefel v. Berlin, 45 N.Y. S. 746, 20 Misc. 194, modified on other grounds 51 N.Y.S. 147, 28 App.Div. 103.

23 C.J. p 885 note 13.

63. N.Y.—Londheim v. White, 67 How.Pr. 467.

64. N.Y.—Stiefel v. Berlin, 51 N.Y. S. 147, 28 App.Div. 103.

65. N.Y.—Miller v. Hall, 70 N.Y. 250, affirming 40 N.Y.Super. 262.

66. Minn.—Tvedt v. Mackel, 69 N. W. 475, 67 Minn. 24. 23 C.J. p 885 note 17.

67. Minn.—Tvedt v. Mackel, supra.

68. N.Y.—Rockwell v. Merwin, 45 N.Y. 166.

23 C.J. p 885 note 19.

69. N.Y.—Rockwell v. Merwin, supra—Scroggs v. Palmer, 68 Barb. 505.

70. N.Y.—Wright v. Nostrand, 94 N.Y. 31—Dubois v. Cassidy, 75 N. Y. 298.

71. N.J.—Lever v. Bailey, 27 A. 799, 56 N.J.Law 54.

23 C.J. p 885 note 22.

72. N.Y.—Hughes v. McKenzie, 14 N.Y.S. 352.

73. N.Y.—Dubois v. Cassidy, 75 N. Y. 298.

74. N.Y.—Pendleton v. Friedman, 119 N.Y.S. 994, 135 App.Div. 420, 23 C.J. p 885 note 25.

75. N.Y.—Dubois v. Cassidy, 75 N. Y. 298.

76. N.Y.—Coope v. Bowles, 42 Barb. 87, 18 Abb.Pr. 442, 28 How.Pr. 10.

77. N.Y.—Coope v. Bowles, supra.

78. N.Y.—Graff v. Bonnett, 25 N.Y. Super. 54, 25 How.Pr. 470, affirmed 31 N.Y. 9, 88 Am.D. 236.

23 C.J. p 886 note 29.

Assignment from third person

A complaint which alleges merely that a third person has assigned to plaintiff his claim to moneys in the hands of defendant is fatally defective.—King v. Corning Trust Co., 223 N.Y.S. 446, 129 Misc. 838, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 848, 222 App.Div. 717—King v. Corning Trust Co., 221 N.Y.S. 404, 129 Misc. 377.

79. N.Y.—King v. Corning Trust Co., 223 N.Y.S. 446, 129 Misc. 838, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 848, 222 App. Div. 717.

80. N.Y.—McCorkle v. Herrman, 22 N.E. 948, 117 N.Y. 297, reversing 5 N.Y.S. 881.

81. Wis.—Nick v. Holts, 297 N.W. 887, 237 Wis. 407.

82. N.Y.—Terry v. Wait, 56 N.Y. 91, 23 C.J. p 886 note 31.

83. N.Y.—Bostwick v. Elton, 25 How.Pr. 362.

23 C.J. p 886 note 32.

of a third person, the receiver must prove a claim superior to that of defendant,⁸⁴ and that there was a demand and refusal.⁸⁵

f. Evidence and Trial

Supplementary proceedings are presumed to have been timely instituted in the absence of allegations or evidence to the contrary. A debtor claiming that property standing in his name in fact belongs to another has the burden of proof. Fraudulent intent is a question of fact.

It will be presumed that the supplementary proceedings were instituted within the time limited by statute in the absence of allegations or evidence to the contrary.⁸⁶ A debtor claiming that property standing in his name in fact belongs to another has the burden of proof.⁸⁷

Prima facie evidence. Proof of issuance of an execution in the county where the firm debtor and one partner did business and its return unsatisfied prima facie establishes exhaustion of the legal remedy.⁸⁸

Questions of fact. The question of fraudulent intent is one of fact.⁸⁹

g. Recovery

The receiver can recover only sufficient funds to pay the judgment and the costs and expenses of the supplementary proceedings. Where the debtor conveys to one who takes only a mortgagee's interest and who conveys to innocent purchasers for value, the receiver cannot follow the land into the hands of such purchasers, but he can recover from the debtor's transferee the difference between his claims against the debtor and the proceeds of the sale.

The receiver can recover only sufficient funds to pay the judgment and the costs and expenses of the supplementary proceedings.⁹⁰ Thus, on the setting aside of a transfer by the debtor, the receiver is entitled to receive only so much of the property or its proceeds as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment on which the proceeding is based, or the claims represented by him, and to pay the expenses of the receivership, and the costs of the action.⁹¹

Where a debtor conveys to one who takes only a mortgagee's interest, and the latter conveys to innocent purchasers for value, the receiver cannot follow the land into the hands of such purchasers, but he is entitled to judgment against the transferee of the debtor for the difference between his claims against the debtor and the proceeds of the sale.⁹²

§ 394. Liens Acquired by Proceedings

Under most provisions the creditor acquires a lien on the debtor's assets by the commencement of supplementary proceedings, although under some provisions the lien must be perfected by subsequent steps such as the appointment of a receiver.

The rights of parties in supplementary proceedings with respect to the acquisition of liens are in great measure analogous to the rights of the parties to a creditor's bill.⁹³ Generally, it is held that the judgment creditor acquires, by the service on the judgment debtor of an order for his examination, an equitable lien on the assets subsequently discovered in his hands or under his control,⁹⁴ or on funds or property of the debtor in the hands of a third party with notice or on whom like service is made.⁹⁵ The lien acquired, however, is inchoate and is not perfected until an order to deliver or pay over property is made or a receiver appointed or until such other steps are taken as may be required by the applicable statutes.⁹⁶ Where no notice is given to, or process served on, the judgment debtor, a third party order does not create a lien on property not in the hands of such third party.⁹⁷ In some jurisdictions the institution of the proceedings does not create a lien but is only a means of en-

84. Failure to petition to make lien effective

In an action by a receiver to recover property of the debtor in the hands of a third person claiming a prior lien thereon, the fact that such person did not petition the court which appointed the receiver to give effect to the lien does not entitle the receiver to recover where the lien is found to be valid and senior to any claim of the receiver.—Nick v. Holtz, 297 N.W. 387, 237 Wis. 407.

85. N.Y.—Livingston v. Stoessel, 16 N.Y.Super. 19.

86. N.Y.—Fawcett v. New York, 98 N.Y.S. 286, 112 App.Div. 155.

87. Fund

N.Y.—Matter of Weld, 54 N.Y.S. 253, 34 App.Div. 471.

88. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Dusenbury, 12 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 152.

23 C.J. p 886 note 34.

89. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Dusenbury, supra.

90. N.Y.—O'Connor v. Mechanics' Bank, 7 N.Y.S. 380, 54 Hun 272, reversing 2 N.Y.S. 225.

23 C.J. p 886 note 38.

91. N.Y.—Gifford v. Rising, 12 N.Y. S. 428, 59 Hun 42.

23 C.J. p 886 note 39.

92. N.Y.—Maples v. O'Brien, 116 N. Y.S. 176.

93. Wis.—Alexander v. Wald, 286 N. W. 6, 231 Wis. 550.

23 C.J. p 889 note 29.

Liens in creditors' suits see the C.J. S. title Creditors' Suits §§ 84-87.

94. N.J.—Beck v. Dennis, 15 A.2d 457, 128 N.J.Eq. 128.

N.Y.—Herlihy v. Watkins, 300 N.Y.S. 242, 252 App.Div. 605—Becker v. Romanzo, 281 N.Y.S. 317, 245 App. Div. 185—Met. Roofing Supplies Co. v. Stern, 18 N.Y.S.2d 694.

23 C.J. p 889 note 30.

95. N.Y.—Cobbe v. Stowe, 13 N.Y.S. 2d 651, 171 Misc. 687.

Ohio.—Good v. Crist, 156 N.E. 146, 23 Ohio App. 484.

23 C.J. p 890 note 31.

96. N.C.—McIntosh Grocery Co. v. Newman, 114 S.E. 535, 184 N.C. 370.

23 C.J. p 890 note 32.

Where receiver could not be appointed, and was not, the mere service of a third party order did not give rise to a lien.—In re Vantine's Retail Stores, D.C.N.Y., 43 F.2d 870.

97. Minn.—Ware v. Linderbergh, 68 N.W. 771, 66 Minn. 66.

forcing an existing execution lien;⁹⁸ in others, no lien is acquired, unless the debtor is restrained from disposing of his property.⁹⁹

A lien is acquired by the appointment of a receiver of the debtor's property,¹ or by proceedings taken by him on behalf of the creditor,² such as an action to set aside a transfer by the debtor as fraudulent;³ but no lien is acquired, by the commencement of supplementary proceedings and the appointment of a receiver, on assets assigned or transferred by the debtor prior to the institution of the supplementary proceedings until the receiver institutes an action to set aside the transfer.⁴ The appointment of a receiver does not confer on the creditor a lien on funds in the hands of the receiver by virtue of his prior appointment at the instance of another creditor in another action or proceeding.⁵

§ 395. — Priorities

A lien acquired by the institution of supplementary proceedings is superior to that of a senior judgment creditor or to the rights of subsequent assignees, but not to prior existing bona fide rights. Priority between creditors is determined by the time of service of the order instituting the supplementary proceedings.

The lien acquired by the institution of supplementary proceedings is superior to that of a senior judgment creditor⁶ or to the rights of a subsequent assignee of the property,⁷ but not to an existing tax lien,⁸ or to the rights of a prior assignee or transferee in good faith,⁹ or, under some provisions, to equitable claims against the property held in good faith by claimant.¹⁰ As between creditors, priority of judgments is immaterial,¹¹ and the one whose order instituting the supplementary proceedings is first served acquires a prior lien,¹² regardless, in some jurisdictions, of who first obtains the appointment of a receiver.¹³ As between receivers, it is held in some states that priority will be determined by the time of the applications for the receiverships, and not by the time of appointment,¹⁴ but in other states, as appears supra § 392, the title of the receiver relates back to the service of the order for examination. The lien acquired by a receiver on setting aside a transfer relates back to the commencement of the action brought for that purpose and will overreach the title of a purchaser pendente lite.¹⁵ A lien acquired by the commencement of a creditor's suit will not relate back to the institution of supplementary proceedings on the same judgment.¹⁶

The question of priority is not the subject of action, but should be summarily presented to, and disposed of by, the court in a proceeding to which claimants are made parties.¹⁷

98. W.Va.—Hatfield ex rel. Rose v. Cruise, 6 S.E.2d 243, 121 W.Va. 742 —Park v. McCauley, 67 S.E. 174, 67 W.Va. 104, 28 L.R.A., N.S., 1036, 21 Ann.Cas. 199.

99. Kan.—McConnell v. Wolcott, 78 P. 848, 70 Kan. 375, 109 Am.S.R. 454, 3 L.R.A., N.S., 122.

1. N.Y.—Bevans v. Pierce, 1 N.Y. City Ct. 259.

N.C.—Rankin v. Minor, 72 N.C. 424.

2. Minn.—Billson v. Linderberg, 68 N.W. 771, 66 Minn. 66.

3. N.Y.—Jeffres v. Cochrane, 47 Barb. 557—Palen v. Bushnell, 13 N.Y.S. 785, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 56.

4. N.Y.—Field v. Sands, 21 N.Y. Super. 685.

5. N.Y.—Field v. Sands, supra—Conger v. Sands, 19 How.Pr. 8.

6. N.Y.—Duffy v. Dawson, 19 N.Y.S. 186, 22 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 235.

7. N.Y.—Cobbe v. Stowe, 13 N.Y.S. 2d 651, 171 Misc. 687—Lebowitz v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 281 N.Y.S. 176, 155 Misc. 567.

8. N.Y.—Smith v. Meador Pen Corporation, 8 N.Y.S.2d 39, 255 App. Div. 397, reversing 6 N.Y.S.2d 919, 169 Misc. 238, and affirmed 20 N.E. 2d 13, 280 N.Y. 554.

9. N.Y.—Cobbe v. Stowe, 13 N.Y.S. 2d 651, 171 Misc. 687—In re Sullivan's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 232, 164 Misc. 491.

Assignment of fund not yet in existence, however, is subordinate to the lien of creditors serving third party subpoenas after creation of the fund.—Palmer v. Tremaine, 20 N.Y. S.2d 145, 259 App.Div. 951—Atlas Advertising Agency v. Casa Cubana, 19 N.Y.S.2d 900, 259 App.Div. 951—F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co. v. Amsterdam Tavern, 12 N.Y.S.2d 701, 171 Misc. 352.

10. U.S.—In re Toms, C.C.A.Mich., 101 F.2d 617.

11. N.Y.—Frederick Wachter, Inc. v. Rogers, 2 N.Y.S.2d 657, 165 Misc. 880—First Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Elmira v. Lovell, 249 N.Y.S. 493, 139 Misc. 891.

12. N.Y.—Herlthy v. Watkins, 300 N.Y.S. 242, 252 App.Div. 605—Edelstein v. Oxman, 13 N.Y.S.2d 95, 171 Misc. 552—F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co. v. Amsterdam Tavern, 12 N.Y.S.2d 701, 171 Misc. 352—Frederick Wachter, Inc. v. Rogers, 2 N.Y.S.2d 657, 165 Misc. 880—In re Kaufman's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 890, 149 Misc. 287—First Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Elmira v. Lovell, 249 N.Y.S. 493, 139 Misc. 891.

Wis.—Alexander v. Wald, 286 N.W. 6, 231 Wis. 550.

23 C.J. p 890 note 43.

Existence of assets at time of service

Although refund to which judgment debtor was entitled on surrender of liquor license was not due and owing from state comptroller until thirty days after debtor surrendered license, third party orders served during such thirty-day period took priority in order of their service as against contention that at time of service there was no fund of judgment debtor to be attached, and therefore no one creditor was entitled to priority.—Ballis Bros. Corporation v. Fitzgerald, 283 N.Y.S. 657, 157 Misc. 216.

13. N.Y.—Youngs v. Klunder, 7 N.Y.S. 498.

14. N.C.—Parks v. Sprinkle, 64 N.C. 637.

15. N.Y.—Jeffres v. Cochrane, 47 Barb. 557—Field v. Sands, 21 N.Y. Super. 685.

16. N.Y.—Edmonston v. McLoud, 16 N.Y. 543, affirming 19 Barb. 356.

17. N.Y.—Rocher v. Gumpp, 300 N.Y.S. 665, 253 App.Div. 731, followed in 300 N.Y.S. 667, 253 App.Div. 726.

23 C.J. p 890 note 49.

Right of party to examine claimants
In supplementary proceedings, judgment creditor is entitled as an interested party to question validity and excessiveness of lien claimed by

§ 396. — Loss of Lien

A lien acquired by the institution of supplementary proceedings may be lost by their abandonment, but not by other particular circumstances such as an adjudication in bankruptcy against the debtor or the latter's death.

A lien acquired by the institution of supplementary proceedings may be lost or divested by their abandonment,¹⁸ but not by a subsequent assignment or transfer by the judgment debtor,¹⁹ an amendment of the original affidavit,²⁰ a stay of the proceedings pending a determination of the validity of the judgment,²¹ a subsequent adjudication of bankruptcy against the debtor,²² or, where the party seeking to subordinate the lien is not acting in good faith, by laches;²³ nor will the lien be extinguished by the death of the debtor,²⁴ or in the absence of fraud or collusion by permitting the debtor to retain possession of the property.²⁵ However, where the lien has not attached or been perfected before the death of the judgment debtor, it cannot subsequently be perfected or enforced.²⁶

§ 397. Termination of Proceedings

A supplementary proceeding may be terminated by consent or by an order of the court, or it may be deemed closed after the lapse of a given period. It may be discontinued at any time on the application of the judgment creditor, and may be discontinued for unreasonable neglect or delay of the judgment creditor, on the application of the judgment debtor. Under some conditions it will abate.

Pursuant to some statutory provisions regulating supplementary proceedings, and the judicial construction thereof, such a proceeding continues until closed or discontinued by consent,²⁷ or until discontinued, dismissed, or closed by order of court;²⁸ and it will be deemed closed if it remains inactive for a given period of time, such as two years, unless the court makes an order extending it for a definite period.²⁹ Under a statutory provision that the proceeding may be discontinued or closed at any time on the application of the judgment creditor, entry of an order discontinuing or dismissing the proceeding is necessary.³⁰ An order requiring defendant to pay over certain sums disclosed does not necessarily terminate the proceedings, which may be continued for the discovery of other assets;³¹ and it is not ground for dismissal of the proceedings that no new property was disclosed, where the proceedings show that the judgment debtor retains a valuable interest in an estate.³² Generally, notice of an application to dismiss or discontinue is necessary;³³ and if the entry of an order of dismissal is necessary, it is the duty of the prevailing party to enter it,³⁴ and the opposing party may move to compel him so to do.³⁵

Neglect or delay in proceeding. The proceeding may be terminated by any act or lapse of time which indicates abandonment or an intention to prosecute it no further;³⁶ but a mere delay in instituting contempt proceedings does not have this effect,³⁷ and, under some statutes, the proceeding shall not be deemed closed or abandoned by reason of any irregularity on an adjournment.³⁸ Except where the other creditors and of any other claims asserted to be preferred.—Recher v. Gumpp, 300 N.Y.S. 665, 253 App.Div. 731, followed in 300 N.Y.S. 667, 253 App.Div. 726.

18. N.Y.—Ballou v. Borland, 14 Hun 355.

19. Ind.—Cooke v. Ross, 22 Ind. 157.
—Graydon v. Barlow, 15 Ind. 197.

20. Ind.—Cooke v. Ross, 22 Ind. 157.

21. N.Y.—Met. Roofing Supplies Co. v. Stern, 18 N.Y.S.2d 694.

22. N.Y.—Palen v. Bushnell, 13 N.Y.S. 785, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 56.

23. N.Y.—New York Loan & Improvement Co. v. De Navarro, 77 N.Y.S. 1006, 38 Misc. 436.

24. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 55 N.E. 305, 160 N.Y. 635.
—Stewart's Estate, 8 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 354, 4 Dem.Surr. 265.

25. N.Y.—Fessenden v. Woods, 16 N.Y.Super. 550.

26. N.Y.—Stewart's Estate, 8 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 354, 4 Dem.Surr. 265.

N.C.—Rankin v. Minor, 72 N.C. 424.

27. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

N.Y.—Ace Mail Advertising, Inc. v. Newbold, 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reversing 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, and reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500.
—Kommel v. Karron, 283 N.Y.S. 953, 157 Misc. 557.

28. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

N.Y.—Kommel v. Karron, 283 N.Y.S. 953, 157 Misc. 557.

29. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

N.Y.—Kommel v. Karron, 283 N.Y.S. 953, 157 Misc. 557.

30. N.Y.—Lebowitz v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 281 N.Y.S. 176, 155 Misc. 567.—Roscoe Lumber Co. v. Payne, 149 N.Y.S. 331.
23 C.J. p 891 note 82.

31. U.S.—Wood v. Noyes, C.C.A. Alaska, 279 F. 321, certiorari denied 43 S.Ct. 94, 260 U.S. 732, 67 L.Ed. 486.

Alaska.—Noyes v. Jesson, 6 Alaska 237.

32. Wash.—Washington Trust Co.

v. Blalock, 285 P. 449, 155 Wash 510.

33. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Norcott, 54 How.Pr. 87.

34. N.Y.—McAlpin v. Stoddard, 105 N.Y.S. 9, 54 Misc. 647.

35. N.Y.—Sinnott v. Hempstead First Nat. Bank, 54 N.Y.S. 417, 34 App.Div. 161.

23 C.J. p 891 note 82 [a].

36. N.Y.—Ace Mail Advertising, Inc. v. Newgold, 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reversing 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, and reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500.
—Edmonston v. McLoud, 16 N.Y. 543, affirming 19 Barb. 356.
23 C.J. p 891 notes 65, 69 [b].

37. N.Y.—Stanley v. Lovett, 14 Hun 412.
23 C.J. p 891 note 69 [b].

38. N.Y.—Hutchison v. Weston, 290 N.Y.S. 334, 160 Misc. 890.

Under former statute in New York
(1) Failure regularly to adjourn or extend the proceedings was deemed an abandonment thereof.—Wilson second proceeding is commenced on the failure of the other party to appear on the return day,³⁹ an abandonment of an original proceeding is not effected merely by commencing a second proceeding,⁴⁰ as where the second proceeding is against after-acquired property.⁴¹

Under a provision that the proceeding may be closed by order of the court where the judgment creditor unreasonably neglects or delays to proceed, on the application of the judgment debtor or third person, or of plaintiff in a judgment creditor's action against the debtor, an order discontinuing or dismissing the proceeding, on such application, is necessary.⁴² The proceedings are not terminated as of course by the neglect of a party to appear on an adjourned day,⁴³ or because of the absence of the judge or referee at the time to which the proceedings were adjourned.⁴⁴ However, it is ground for dismissal that an adjournment was taken to a day to be fixed and nothing further was done for more than three years,⁴⁵ or that nothing was done under the order for examination except to serve it after the return day,⁴⁶ or that the creditor failed to appear on an adjourned day;⁴⁷ but an order terminating the proceedings for the judgment creditor's failure to appear, based on an adjournment not ordered by the court, is ineffectual formally to terminate the proceedings.⁴⁸ If an appeal has been taken and security given so as to suspend the proceedings, this is no ground for dismissal.⁴⁹ If the examination has been taken before a referee, the proceedings should not ordinarily be dismissed by a judge before the referee makes his report.⁵⁰ The judge or court dismissing the proceedings need not file a statement of his reasons therefor;⁵¹ and an order of dismissal on account of plaintiff's default is not res judicata.⁵²

Where the proceedings have lapsed by reason of an excusable default on the part of the judgment creditor, he is entitled to have the judgment debtor conclude his examination under the original order and sign his testimony although there has been an ineffectual order terminating the proceedings.⁵³

Satisfaction or vacation of judgment. Under some statutes, the proceeding will also be deemed dismissed or closed on the satisfaction or vacation of the judgment and an order may be entered thereon; but even where there is no such provision, in the absence of an order of dismissal or discontinuance, the proceeding is deemed to be pending until satisfaction of the judgment, and is at an end when the judgment has been satisfied⁵⁴ or has become void,⁵⁵ but to terminate the proceeding an order is necessary.⁵⁶ Such a dismissal of the proceeding, however, should not be made while the matter of satisfaction is in dispute.⁵⁷ It is not ground for dismissal that there is a presumption of payment from the lapse of time,⁵⁸ or that the judgment on which the proceedings are based was entered in violation of an agreement to discontinue the action,⁵⁹ or that

v. Bracken, 135 N.Y.S. 435, 150 App. Div. 577—23 C.J. p 891 note 66.

(2) Where the proceeding lapsed because of an adjournment without date, the court was without further jurisdiction.—Walmor, Inc. v. Markel, 268 N.Y.S. 435, 240 App.Div. 1007—Nymco Associates v. King, 265 N.Y.S. 29, 147 Misc. 904.

(3) Failure of record to show regular adjournment did not raise presumption of loss of jurisdiction.—Wright v. Nostrand, 94 N.Y. 31, reversing 47 N.Y.Super. 441—Robertson v. Hay, 33 N.Y.S. 31, 12 Misc. 7.

In Wisconsin it has been stated that the want of a formal entry by the commissioner, that the proceeding was adjourned to a particular day and hour, does not divest him of all further power to proceed.—Holton v. Burton, 47 N.W. 624, 78 Wis. 321.

39. N.Y.—Schanck v. Conover, 56 How.Pr. 437.

40. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Weston, 290 N.Y.S. 334, 160 Misc. 890, 23 C.J. p 891 notes 65 [a].

41. N.Y.—Walter v. Pecare, 11 N.Y.S. 146, 57 Hun 587, 23 C.J. p 891 note 65 [a].

42. N.Y.—Walter v. Pecare, 11 N.Y.S. 146, 57 Hun 587—Lebowitz v. Bowery Sav. Bank, 281 N.Y.S. 176, 155 Misc. 567—Nymco Associates v. King, 265 N.Y.S. 29, 147 Misc. 904—Leer Bldg. & Const. Co. v. Harris, 250 N.Y.S. 160, 140 Misc. 290, 23 C.J. p 891 note 69.

43. N.Y.—Underwood v. Sutcliffe, 10 Hun 453, reversed on other grounds 77 N.Y. 58.

44. N.Y.—Kelhen v. Shipherd, 4 N.Y.S. 339, 16 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 183—Schanck v. Conover, 56 How.Pr. 437.

45. N.Y.—Meyers v. Herbert, 19 N.Y.S. 132, 64 Hun 200, 22 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 216.

46. N.Y.—Ballou v. Boland, 14 Hun 355.

47. N.Y.—Squire v. Young, 14 N.Y.Super. 690.

48. N.Y.—Ottens v. Stromeyer, 239 N.Y.S. 593, 228 App.Div. 360.

49. N.Y.—Cowdrey v. Carpenter, 25 N.Y.Super. 601, 17 Abb.Pr. 107.

50. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Norcott, 54 How.Pr. 87.

51. Mass.—Bornstein v. Justices of Municipal Court of Roxbury Dist.

of City of Boston, 169 N.E. 410, 269 Mass. 515.

52. N.Y.—Weiss v. Ashman, 32 N.Y.S. 161, 11 Misc. 377.

53. N.Y.—Ottens v. Stromeyer, 239 N.Y.S. 593, 228 App.Div. 360.

54. Minn.—Northern Nat. Bank of Duluth v. McLaughlin, 280 N.W. 852, 203 Minn. 253.

N.Y.—Matter of Crane, 30 N.Y.S. 616, 81 Hun 96, 1 N.Y.Ann.Cas. 148—Avery v. Ackart, 46 N.Y.S. 1085, 20 Misc. 631.

23 C.J. p 891 notes 78, 79.

55. N.Y.—Roscoe Lumber Co. v. Payne, 149 N.Y.S. 331, 23 C.J. p 891 note 79 [a].

56. N.Y.—Rook v. Dickinson, 78 N.Y.S. 287, 38 Misc. 690, 11 N.Y.Ann.Cas. 454, 23 C.J. p 891 note 80.

57. N.Y.—Union Surety & Guaranty Co. v. Sire, 68 N.Y.S. 943, 34 Misc. 221, 23 C.J. p 891 note 80 [a].

58. N.Y.—Driggs v. Williams, 15 Abb.Pr. 477.

59. N.Y.—Gardner v. Lay, 2 Daly 113.

a second execution was issued after the return of the first unsatisfied.⁶⁰

Abatement. The proceedings will abate by the death of the debtor,⁶¹ or by the issuance of a new execution on which the judgment is collected,⁶² but not by suing out an attachment against the property of the debtor,⁶³ or by an appeal from the judgment taken without a stay of proceedings.⁶⁴

§ 398. Contempt

A person may be guilty of contempt in refusing or neglecting to obey a valid order or direction of a judge or referee, of which he has notice, in the course of the proceedings.

Under some of the statutes regulating supplementary proceedings, a person may be punished for contempt where he refuses or, without sufficient cause, neglects to obey a valid order of a judge or referee duly served on him, or a proper oral direction given directly to him by such judge or referee in the course of the proceedings,⁶⁵ whereby the right or remedy of a party to the action or proceeding may be defeated, impaired, impeded, or prejudiced.⁶⁶ A judgment creditor may be punished for contempt for violating an order, authorized by statute where a trustee has been appointed, barring further attachments and proceedings in aid of execution, after he has been given proper notice of the order.⁶⁷

§ 399. — Acts Constituting, and Defenses

- a. In general
- b. Failure to attend for examination
- c. Refusal to answer questions and false answers
- d. Violation of injunction

- e. Disobedience of order to deliver or pay over
- f. Defenses and excuses

a. In General

What specific act will constitute contempt generally rests in the discretion of the judge or court whose mandate is disregarded or disobeyed.

The question what specific act will constitute a contempt in a given case must be left somewhat to the discretion of the judge or court whose mandate has been disregarded or disobeyed;⁶⁸ but as statutes authorizing punishment for contempt involve the liberty of a citizen, they should be strictly construed.⁶⁹ Depriving the receiver in supplementary proceedings of possession of property of the judgment debtor is a contempt.⁷⁰ It has been held contempt to refuse to comply with an order requiring the production of books;⁷¹ but where the order requires only the production of books, it is not a contempt to refuse to leave the books with the referee after their production.⁷² An unwarranted interference by the judgment debtor with the examination of a witness is a contempt.⁷³ It has been held contempt to disobey an order for the payment of costs,⁷⁴ except where the order merely allows the costs out of funds realized out of the debtor's property.⁷⁵ A transfer of property by the judgment debtor, although forbidden by statute, is not contempt if the transfer is made through inadvertence or lack of understanding.⁷⁶

An attorney may be guilty of contempt for conduct interfering with the orderly procedure in supplementary proceedings,⁷⁷ as where he prepares an agreement for the judgment debtor whereby the latter transfers his property in violation of a third 60. N.Y.—Fellerman's Case, 2 Abb. Pr. 155, 11 How.Pr. 528.

61. N.Y.—Hasewell v. Penman, 2 Abb.Pr. 230, 13 How.Pr. 114.

On appearance for examination

Where, on the appearance for examination of persons alleged to be indebted to a judgment debtor, it is shown that the debtor was dead at the time the order for examination was made, the proceedings will abate.—Hasewell v. Penman, supra.

62. N.Y.—Ritter v. Greason, 59 N.Y. S. 1053, 28 Misc. 656.

63. N.Y.—Hanson v. Tripler, 5 N.Y. Super. 733, Code Rep., N.S., 154.

64. N.Y.—Arnoux v. Homans, 32 How.Pr. 382.

65. N.Y.—Foster v. Hastings, 189 N. E. 229, 263 N.Y. 311, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 954, 239 App.Div. 839—Jones v. Rettig, 164 N.Y.S. 730, 98 Misc.

487—Boyd v. Hildebrandt, 185 N.Y. S. 235.

23 C.J. p 892 note 88.

66. N.Y.—Foster v. Hastings, 189 N. E. 229, 263 N.Y. 311, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 954, 239 App.Div. 839—German Fur Dyeing Corporation v. F. & M. Fur Co., 253 N.Y.S. 575, 142 Misc. 6.

67. Ohio.—McWhorter v. Curran, 13 N.E.2d 362, 57 Ohio App. 233.

68. N.Y.—Walters v. Kenyon, 4 N. Y.St. 398.

69. N.Y.—Bernheimer v. Kelleher, 64 N.Y.S. 409, 31 Misc. 464.

Puerto Rico.—Sixto v. Sarria, 2 Puerto Rico Fed. 168.

23 C.J. p 892 note 90.

70. N.Y.—Verdi v. La Russo, 138 N.Y.S. 568, 3 N.Y.Civ.Proc., N.S., 13.

71. N.Y.—Frideman v. Newman, 86 N.Y.S. 735.

72. N.Y.—Sudlow v. Knox, 4 Abb. Dec. 326, 7 Abb.Pr., N.S., 411.

73. N.Y.—Falkenburg v. Frank, 43 N.Y.S. 1137, 19 Misc. 418. 23 C.J. p 892 note 96.

74. N.Y.—Holton v. Robinson, 69 N. Y.S. 33, 59 App.Div. 45—Kearney's Case, 13 Abb.Pr. 459, 22 How.Pr. 309.

75. N.Y.—In re Thompson, 62 N.Y.S. 1033, 31 Misc. 802, affirmed 65 N.Y. S. 1147, 31 Misc. 832.

76. N.Y.—Hudson P. Rose Co. v. Tompkins & Bevers, 287 N.Y.S. 689, 248 App.Div. 605.

77. N.Y.—Tri-State Investors' Corporation v. Kitching, 246 N.Y.S. 240, 231 App.Div. 143, dismissal of appeal denied 177 N.E. 137, 256 N.Y. 553, and dismissed 177 N.E. 173, 256 N.Y. 639, affirmed 178 N.E. 800, 257 N.Y. 573.

party restraining order,⁷⁸ or where he refuses to permit papers, called for by a subpoena, to be put in evidence.⁷⁹

Suing receiver without leave. The debtor⁸⁰ or a third party whose property has been wrongfully taken from him⁸¹ is not punishable as for a contempt in suing the receiver without leave of the court.

b. Failure to Attend for Examination

A refusal or failure to appear for examination may constitute contempt.

A refusal or failure to appear before the judge or referee, for examination may subject a party to punishment for contempt,⁸² and this includes failure to appear on an adjourned day.⁸³ However, it should appear that the order for examination is such as the judge or referee is authorized to make,⁸⁴ and that the order or subpoena has been duly served,⁸⁵ and the power to punish should be limited to cases of willful disregard of the court's mandate.⁸⁶ Contempt cannot be based on a failure to attend for examination, where the subpoena is not issued by a proper authority;⁸⁷ or where the order is not served, as required by statute, on the judgment debtor,⁸⁸ and in the absence of such service, a person summoned as a witness cannot be held for contempt in refusing to testify on that ground;⁸⁹ nor can a failure to attend be regarded as contempt where the time between the service of the order and the time when it is returnable is not sufficient to enable it to be obeyed.⁹⁰ The mere appearance of an attorney for one who refuses to submit to an examination does not warrant the attorney's commitment for contempt because of the client's conduct, unless he is responsible for such conduct;⁹¹ but the judgment debtor's attorney may be guilty of contempt in advising the judgment debtor and his witnesses to leave the court, instead of going before a justice hearing ex parte matters on objections made by the attorney.⁹²

A failure to appear in accordance with a second order for examination, after the first proceeding is vacated or treated as abandoned, may constitute contempt;⁹³ but it is not contempt to refuse to be examined on a second order on the ground that defects with respect to the first order should have been corrected without the granting of a new order.⁹⁴ Where the second order supersedes the first, contempt cannot be based on the first order;⁹⁵ but a second order for the examination of the judgment debtor as to after-acquired property does not

78. N.Y.—In re Cornblum, 232 N.Y.S. 22, 133 Misc. 357.

79. N.Y.—Steinman v. Conlon, 141 N.Y.S. 79, 79 Misc. 527.

80. N.Y.—Kroner v. Reilly, 63 N.Y.S. 527, 49 App.Div. 41.

81. N.Y.—Dewey v. Finn, 18 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 558.

82. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

Cal.—Drew v. Mendocino County Super. Ct., 182 P. 417, 180 Cal. 711.

N.J.—Mumma v. Schmitter, 142 A. 245, 1 N.J.Misc. 455.

N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399—Credit Assets Corporation v. Rockmore, 237 N.Y.S. 503, 135 Misc. 230—In re Reid, 188 N.Y.S. 336.

23 C.J. p 892 note 99.

In New Jersey, defendant is guilty of contempt for failure to appear so long as the order to appear stands unchallenged directly, regardless of whether execution actually has issued and regardless of a pending rule to show cause relative to setting aside the verdict as to one defendant, where inability to appear is not shown.—Mumma v. Schmitter, 142 A. 245, 1 N.J.Misc. 455.

83. N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399—L. B. Syndicate Corporation v. Lee, 259 N.Y.S. 937, 145 Misc. 573—Kreiser v.

Kitoaka, 73 N.Y.S. 184, 36 Misc. 174—Baker v. Slotkin, 198 N.Y.S. 876—Parker v. Hunt, 15 Abb.Pr. 410 note.

84. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Weed, 10 Abb.Pr. 62.

23 C.J. p 892 note 2.

Invalidity of order as defense see infra subdivision f of this section.

85. N.Y.—In re Depue, 77 N.E. 798, 185 N.Y. 60, reversing 95 N.Y.S. 1017, 108 App.Div. 58.

23 C.J. p 892 note 3.

Improper or irregular service as defense see infra subdivision f of this section.

86. N.Y.—Credit Assets Corporation v. Rockmore, 237 N.Y.S. 503, 135 Misc. 230.

Failure to appear not contempt

Defendant, failing to appear, is not guilty of willful contempt, where he telephoned plaintiff's attorney that he was on his way, and, after the time set, notified the attorney that he had been delayed and offered to appear at any time, as his attitude was one of complete respect for the court, and his conduct tended in no way to impede the processes of justice.—Mensch v. Newcombe, 203 N.Y.S. 533.

87. N.Y.—Peck v. Austin, 29 N.Y.S. 2d 280.

By judgment creditor

Where a judgment creditor who is not an attorney issues in his own name a subpoena directed to a third party for examination in supplementary proceedings, failure of third party to appear for examination on original return date specified in subpoena cannot be made the basis of punishment for "contempt."—Peck v. Austin, supra.

88. N.Y.—People v. Warner, 3 N.Y.S. 768, 51 Hun 53, affirmed 27 N.E. 407, 125 N.Y. 746.

89. N.Y.—People v. Warner, 3 N.Y.S. 768, 51 Hun 53, affirmed 27 N.E. 407, 125 N.Y. 746.

90. N.Y.—Levey v. Rosett, 166 N.Y.S. 1072.

23 C.J. p 892 note 3 [b].

91. N.Y.—Tri-State Investors' Corporation v. Klitching, 246 N.Y.S. 240, 231 App.Div. 143, dismissal of appeal denied 177 N.E. 137, 256 N.Y. 553, and dismissed 177 N.E. 173, 256 N.Y. 639, affirmed 178 N.E. 800, 257 N.Y. 573.

92. N.Y.—Hotel Astor v. Gross, 233 N.Y.S. 294, 133 Misc. 704.

93. N.Y.—Matter v. Tancher, 110 N.Y.S. 157, 58 Misc. 11—In re Reid, 188 N.Y.S. 336.

23 C.J. p 896 note 81 [a] (2).

94. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Weston, 290 N.Y.S. 334, 160 Misc. 890.

95. N.Y.—Gaylord v. Jones, 7 Hun 480—Brockway v. Brien, 37 How. Pr. 270.

23 C.J. p 896 note 81 [a] (3) (4).

supersede the first order so as to affect contempt proceedings pending thereon.⁹⁶

c. Refusal to Answer Questions and False Answers

A refusal to answer a proper and pertinent question is generally punishable as contempt; and, under some statutes, this is also true where the answers given are willfully and knowingly false.

A refusal on the part of the judgment debtor or witness to answer any proper and pertinent question is punishable as a contempt,⁹⁷ as where the judgment debtor refuses to answer questions as to his property when directed by the court so to do;⁹⁸ and it has been held that the wife of a judgment debtor will be held in contempt if she fails to disclose in proper proceedings whether she has property of her husband under her control.⁹⁹ It has also been held that a premature refusal to answer questions propounded, on the ground of self-incrimination, constitutes contempt.¹

However, for refusal to answer to constitute a contempt, there must be a willful disobedience² of a direction by the judge to answer a specific,³ proper, and pertinent⁴ question. Refusal to answer is not a contempt where the question is asked during the absence of the judge,⁵ or in the absence of counsel, who had been excluded from the examination room.⁶ Willful denial of knowledge may be punished on the theory that it is a refusal to testify.⁷

False or evasive answers. In New York, under Civ.Pract. Act § 788, as added by L.1935 c. 630, a judgment debtor, third party, or witness who willfully and knowingly testifies falsely concerning any material matter or subject in the course of a supplementary proceeding is guilty of civil contempt,⁸ and this statutory rule has been held to apply although the false testimony is subsequently corrected,⁹ and although the judgment debtor's conduct in giving false answers was not willful but on bad advice and his untruthful answers did not prejudice the judgment creditor.¹⁰

d. Violation of Injunction

A person who violates an injunction order issued in supplementary proceedings and duly served on him, or of which he has certain knowledge, or who procures or permits an act of violation by another for his benefit, is generally guilty of contempt.

Any person who disobeys an injunction order issued in supplementary proceedings and duly served 96. N.Y.—Walter v. Pecare, 11 N.Y.S. 146, 57 Hun 587.

97. Colo.—Sweeney v. Cregan, 299 P. 1058, 89 Colo. 94.

Minn.—Minneapolis Wills-Knight Co. v. Bergan, 226 N.W. 188, 178 Minn. 158.

23 C.J. p 893 note 4.

98. Ill.—Berkson v. People, 39 N.E. 1079, 154 Ill. 81.

13 C.J. p 29 note 16.

99. Wis.—In re O'Brien, 24 Wis. 547.

1. Colo.—Sweeney v. Cregan, 299 P. 1058, 89 Colo. 94.

2. N.Y.—East River Bank v. De Lacy, 76 N.Y.S. 927, 37 Misc. 765, reversing 74 N.Y.S. 925, 36 Misc. 868.

23 C.J. p 893 note 5.

Inability to answer as excuse see infra subdivision f of this section.

3. N.Y.—Price v. Creme de Mohr Co., 137 N.Y.S. 732, 78 Misc. 42—East River Bank v. De Lacy, 76 N.Y.S. 927, 37 Misc. 765, reversing 74 N.Y.S. 925, 36 Misc. 868.

23 C.J. p 893 note 6.

4. N.Y.—People v. Hanbury, 147 N.Y.S. 851, 162 App.Div. 337, affirming 145 N.Y.S. 483—Wicker v. Dresser, 14 How.Pr. 465.

Va.—Thompson v. Commonwealth, 159 S.E. 98, 156 Va. 1032.

Evidence usable in other proceeding

A refusal to answer interrogatories not pertinent to the case, but seemingly asked to secure evidence usable in some other proceeding, is not contempt.—Thompson v. Commonwealth, supra.

5. N.Y.—Price v. Creme de Mohr Co., 137 N.Y.S. 732, 78 Misc. 42.

6. N.Y.—Frank L. Burns Coal Co. v. Gold, 239 N.Y.S. 303, 135 Misc. 545.

7. N.Y.—Becker v. Gerlich, 129 N.Y.S. 614, 72 Misc. 157.

8. N.Y.—Malmud v. Blackman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 174, 177 Misc. 162—Macmay Realty Corporation v. Katz, 15 N.Y.S.2d 629, 172 Misc. 553—Rosen v. Wittenberg, 10 N.Y.S.2d 486, 170 Misc. 417.

Purpose of this statute was to provide summary remedy against judgment debtor for false swearing in view of prior decisions that perjury in supplementary proceedings did not constitute contempt.—Malmud v. Blackman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 174, 177 Misc. 162—Macmay Realty Corporation v. Katz, 15 N.Y.S.2d 629, 172 Misc. 553.

Prior to this statute

(1) Perjury in supplementary proceedings did not constitute contempt in this state.—Foster v. Hastings, 189 N.E. 229, 263 N.Y. 311, affirming 261 N.Y.S. 954, 239 App.Div. 829—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, affirmed 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, reversed on other grounds 193 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500—Grief v. Masch, 264 N.Y.S. 647, 147 Misc. 756—Schumer v. Nadler, 260

N.Y.S. 911, 145 Misc. 802—23 C.J. p 893 note 8—13 C.J. p 25 note 71.

(2) It was held, however, that a deliberate and admitted perjury by the judgment debtor was punishable as contempt, as being disobedience to a lawful mandate of the court.—Ferguson v. Perk & Jenkins, 244 N.Y.S. 667, 138 Misc. 326.

(3) Where the judgment debtor's conduct showed a purpose, by false promises and evasive and false testimony, to conceal fact that debtor, through insurance loans, was in possession of funds in amount sufficient to pay judgment, he was in contempt.—1050 Park Ave. Corporation v. Hagerty, 272 N.Y.S. 406, 151 Misc. 758.

(4) There was not a contempt where the answers of the witness were evasive and there was no objection or request for more specific answers.—Shorwitz v. Caminez, 137 N.Y.S. 545, 152 App.Div. 758—Burr Chevrolet v. De Forest, 274 N.Y.S. 252, 152 Misc. 912—Baum v. Rosenberg, 155 N.Y.S. 404.

Statutory rule does not apply where the false swearing did not relate to material matter and did not defeat, impair, impede, or prejudice rights or remedies of judgment creditor.—Sobel v. Sobel, 291 N.Y.S. 4, 249 App.Div. 647.

9. N.Y.—Rosen v. Wittenberg, 10 N.Y.S.2d 486, 170 Misc. 417.

10. N.Y.—Osterman v. Roaken, 289 N.Y.S. 654, 160 Misc. 249.

on him,¹¹ or of which he has certain knowledge,¹² or who procures or permits an act of violation by another for his benefit,¹³ is guilty of a contempt for which he may be punished. In order to punish one for the disposition of property or money in violation of an injunction order, it must affirmatively appear that the title to the property is in the judgment debtor,¹⁴ and that the title was acquired prior to the granting or service of the restraining order,¹⁵ since the disposition of after-acquired property is not a contempt.¹⁶ If the property is owned at the time of the order, its subsequent collection and disposition, during the time the order is in effect, will constitute contempt.¹⁷ It also must appear that the property disposed of was applicable to the payment of the judgment on which the proceedings were founded.¹⁸ In other words, the extreme process of attachment for contempt for violation of an injunction order should not be exercised unless the evidence is sufficient to warrant the court in making an order requiring the judgment debtor to pay over the money, if in his hands, to the satisfaction of the judgment.¹⁹ If the person enjoined claims the money or other property or asserts ownership in another than the judgment debtor, he cannot be punished for contempt, since the title cannot be determined in contempt proceedings,²⁰ but only in an appropriate action.²¹

The injunction order continues in force until vacated or modified by further order of the judge or court, and any violation of it prior to that time is a contempt;²² but a violation after vacation of the order is not contempt, although a notice of appeal has been filed;²³ nor can the restraining order be used as a basis for contempt after a receiver has been appointed for the debtor,²⁴ or after the supplementary proceedings have been abandoned.²⁵

Application of rules. Where the injunction or restraining order is thereby violated, it is a contempt to use or withdraw moneys on deposit in the name of the debtor,²⁶ or as trustee;²⁷ to collect or dispose of income from business;²⁸ to collect or dispose of earnings,²⁹ except where such earnings are exempt;³⁰ to confess³¹ or suffer judgment³²

11. N.Y.—Schmelzel v. Mackey, 258 N.Y.S. 38, 144 Misc. 67—Kennedy v. Swan, 240 N.Y.S. 81, 136 Misc. 367, affirmed 249 N.Y.S. 904, 232 App.Div. 741.

23 C.J. p 893 note 12.

Transfer prior to service

Judgment debtor's transfer of property after entry of order in supplementary proceedings restraining transfer, but before restraining order was served on him, did not subject him to punishment for contempt for violation of such order.—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reversing 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, and reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500.

12. N.Y.—Livingston v. Swift, 23 How.Pr. 1.
23 C.J. p 893 note 13.

13. N.Y.—Browning v. Chadwick, 62 N.Y.S. 476, 30 Misc. 420, affirming 61 N.Y.S. 246, 29 Misc. 607.

14. N.Y.—Matter of Duryea, 45 N.Y.S. 703, 17 App.Div. 540.
23 C.J. p 893 note 16.

15. N.Y.—Matter of Kutcosky, 138 N.Y.S. 263, 153 App.Div. 526.
23 C.J. p 893 note 17.

16. N.Y.—Mandelbaum v. Danziger, 267 N.Y.S. 117, 239 App.Div. 638—Rainsford v. Temple, 22 N.Y.S. 937, 3 Misc. 294—McSkiman v. Knowlton, 14 N.Y.S. 283, 20 N.Y. Civ.Proc. 276.

Payment by bank of moneys received for judgment debtors after service of supplementary order containing injunction is not contempt.

- Hand v. Ortschreib Bldg. Corporation, 240 N.Y.S. 589, 136 Misc. 692, modified on other grounds 241 N.Y.S. 807, 228 App.Div. 835, appeal dismissed 171 N.E. 889, 254 N.Y. 15.

17. N.Y.—Henry Maillard, Inc., v. Gildenberg, 9 N.Y.S.2d 841, 170 Misc. 76.

18. N.Y.—Wolf v. Buttner, 26 N.Y.S. 52, 6 Misc. 119.

Transfer of excess

Under an order restraining bank from paying out so much of judgment debtor's deposit as would pay judgment, bank was not in contempt or in default when it paid out remainder of deposit to depositor.—In re Delaney, 176 N.E. 407, 256 N.Y. 315, reversing 244 N.Y.S. 883, 230 App.Div. 821.

19. N.Y.—Gerton Carriage Co. v. Richardson, 27 N.Y.S. 625, 6 Misc. 466.

20. N.Y.—Protter v. Lovell, 155 N.Y.S. 275, 91 Misc. 417—Matter of Becker, 73 N.Y.S. 577, 36 Misc. 322.

21. N.Y.—Protter v. Lovell, 155 N.Y.S. 275, 91 Misc. 417.
Action by receiver to determine ownership see supra § 393.

22. N.Y.—Henry Maillard, Inc., v. Gildenberg, 9 N.Y.S.2d 841, 170 Misc. 76—Woolf v. Jacobs, 36 N.Y.Super. 408.

23. Ohio.—Currie v. Baltimore & O. R. Co., 8 N.E.2d 453, 54 Ohio App. 505.

24. N.Y.—Sullivan v. U. S. Gas Fixture Co., 119 N.Y.S. 532, 134 App.Div. 658.

23 C.J. p 894 note 24.

25. N.Y.—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reversing 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, and reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500—Mandelbaum v. Danziger, 267 N.Y.S. 117, 239 App.Div. 638.

Restraining order held terminated by lapse of three years.—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reversing 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, and reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500.

26. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Swan, 240 N.Y.S. 81, 136 Misc. 367, affirmed 249 N.Y.S. 904, 232 App.Div. 741.
23 C.J. p 894 note 25.

27. N.Y.—Jackson v. Murray, 49 N.Y.S. 195, 25 App.Div. 140, 5 N.Y. Ann.Cas. 78.
23 C.J. p 894 note 26.

28. N.Y.—Prince v. Brett, 47 N.Y.S. 402, 21 App.Div. 190.
23 C.J. p 894 note 28 [b].

29. N.Y.—Newell v. Cutler, 19 Hun 74—Gillett v. Hilton, 11 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 108—Taggard v. Talcott, 2 Edw. 628.

30. N.Y.—Hancock v. Sears, 93 N.Y. 79, 4 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 255, reversing 29 Hun 96.
23 C.J. p 894 note 28.

31. N.Y.—Ross v. Clussman, 5 N.Y.Super. 676.

32. N.Y.—Fenner v. Sanborn, 37 Barb. 610.

for a fictitious debt; to assign a debt,³³ an interest in decedent's estate,³⁴ or for the benefit of creditors,³⁵ to transfer or convey property;³⁶ to use the proceeds of mortgaged property³⁷ or to pay rent;³⁸ to collect and dispose of rents of real estate,³⁹ or to interfere with the collection of rents by the receiver.⁴⁰

On the other hand, there is no contempt in collecting debts due a firm of which the debtor is a member and using the same in its business;⁴¹ disposing of income from furnished rooms, in the absence of an enforceable agreement with any subtenant or lodger to receive future income;⁴² effectuating a prior assignment of a right of action;⁴³ paying a judgment debtor's deposit to a trustee for creditors;⁴⁴ preferring creditors by confessing judgment for a bona fide debt;⁴⁵ prosecuting to judgment an action pending at the time of the injunction;⁴⁶ failing to stop payment on checks drawn and given out before service of the order;⁴⁷ substituting a smaller for a larger mortgage;⁴⁸ issuance of execution by another creditor without leave;⁴⁹ or selling of personal ornaments and jewelry by a destitute debtor abandoned by her husband.⁵⁰ It is not contempt for the judgment debtor to transfer property which is exempt from execution,⁵¹ to obtain a loan on exempt property,⁵² or to deal with property belonging to the wife of the debtor.⁵³ The filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the judgment debtor,⁵⁴ or the transfer of his property by operation of law to a trustee in bankruptcy,⁵⁵ is not such a disposition of, or interference with, the judgment debtor's property as is contemplated by a restraining order, and is therefore not a contempt.

A bank may be punished for contempt in paying out or transferring, after service of a supplementary order, moneys had on deposit by the judgment debtor at the time of such service,⁵⁶ unless the payment or transfer is to one who is entitled to the moneys,⁵⁷ such as an assignee of the debtor.⁵⁸

33. Wis.—In re Perry, 30 Wis. 268.

34. Cal.—Myers v. Los Angeles County Super. Ct., 189 P. 109, 46 Cal.App. 206.

N.Y.—Wynkoop v. Myers, 7 N.Y.S. 898, 17 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 443.

35. N.Y.—Canda v. Gollner, 26 N.Y.S. 449, 73 Hun 493—National Wall Paper Co. v. Gerlach, 37 N.Y.S. 428, 15 Misc. 640.

36. N.Y.—Resource Holding Corporation v. Friedman, 28 N.Y.S.2d 529, 262 App.Div. 879—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, affirmed 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, reversed on other grounds 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500. 23 C.J. p. 894 note 34.

Transfer of insurance

Judgment debtor, who obtained several adjournments in supplementary proceedings after defaulting on promise to pay judgment before first adjourned date, and who transferred life policies in violation of injunction, and thereafter consented to adjudication as bankrupt, is punishable for contempt of court.—Hansen v. Hechheimer, 208 N.Y.S. 451, 124 Misc. 509.

Mistake as to property being exempt

Where judgment debtor, erroneously deeming automobile truck exempt from execution as "working tool" or a "team," transferred his interest in truck notwithstanding the injunction contained in order directing examination of judgment debtor in supplementary proceedings, debtor is at least technically in contempt.—Northern New York Trust Co. v. Bano, 278 N.Y.S. 694, 151 Misc. 684.

Transaction whereby judgment debtor receives no money is not transfer of property in violation of injunction order.—Mandelbaum v. Danziger, 267 N.Y.S. 117, 239 App.Div. 638.

37. N.Y.—Millington v. Fox, 13 N.Y.S. 334.

38. N.Y.—Aschemoor v. Emmvert, 6 N.Y.Month.L.Bul. 81.

39. N.Y.—Stevens v. Dewey, 43 N.Y.S. 130, 13 App.Div. 312, 4 N.Y. Ann.Cas. 40.

23 C.J. p. 894 note 37.

40. N.Y.—Vermont Marble Co. v. Wilkes, 30 N.Y.S. 381.

41. N.Y.—Joline v. Connolly, 24 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 111.

42. N.Y.—Rossin v. Pisapio, 250 N.Y.S. 441, 140 Misc. 294.

43. N.Y.—Richardson v. Rust, 9 Paige 243.

44. N.Y.—German Fur Dyeing Corporation v. F. & M. Fur Co., 253 N.Y.S. 575, 142 Misc. 6.

45. N.Y.—McCredie v. Senior, 4 Paige 378.

46. N.Y.—Parker v. Wakeman, 10 Paige 485.

47. N.Y.—FitzGibbon v. Smith, 16 N.Y.S. 410.

48. N.Y.—Duffus v. Cole, 15 N.Y.S. 370.

49. N.Y.—Cooper v. Bailey, 69 App.Div. 358, 74 N.Y.S. 667.

50. N.Y.—Meyers v. Herbert, 19 N.Y.S. 132, 64 Hun 200, 22 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 216.

51. N.Y.—Vinciguerra v. Busam, 8 N.Y.S.2d 294, 169 Misc. 908.

52. N.Y.—1050 Park Ave. Corporation v. Hagerty, 272 N.Y.S. 406, 151 Misc. 758—Jacobs v. Strumwasser, 145 N.Y.S. 916, 84 Misc. 28.

53. N.Y.—Jacobs v. Strumwasser, supra.

54. N.Y.—Norton v. Bielby, 149 N.Y.S. 592, 86 Misc. 644.

55. N.Y.—In re Kepecs, 123 N.Y.S. 872.

56. N.Y.—Hand v. Ortschreib Bldg. Corporation, 240 N.Y.S. 589, 136 Misc. 692, modified on other grounds 241 N.Y.S. 807, 228 App.Div. 835, appeal dismissed 171 N.E. 489, 254 N.Y. 15.

57. N.Y.—Beverwyck Breweries v. Adelsberg, 298 N.Y.S. 47, 164 Misc. 38, reversing 289 N.Y.S. 544, 160 Misc. 130.

Transfer by bank of judgment debtor's deposit to itself when served by judgment creditor with third party subpoena restraining transfer of judgment debtor's credits, is not contempt, where bank held judgment debtor's unmatured note providing for its becoming due if judgment were recovered against him, judgment debtor had authorized bank to apply balance of account on his indebtedness on recovery of judgment against him and had given bank continuing lien on balance outstanding, and judgment creditor was not prejudiced.—Beverwyck Breweries v. Adelsberg, supra.

58. N.Y.—Tolk v. Corn Exchange Bank Trust Co., 277 N.Y.S. 112, 154 Misc. 296.

e. Disobedience of Order to Deliver or Pay Over

Disobedience of an order to pay money, deliver personality, or convey realty may constitute a contempt.

Disobedience of an order requiring the payment of money, delivery of personal property, or the conveyance of real estate may constitute a contempt.⁵⁹ An order requiring such payment or delivery is a prerequisite,⁶⁰ and an order for the delivery of property should specify the property.⁶¹ Service of the order is also a prerequisite;⁶² and it is not enough that the possessor of the property has been served with the order and made acquainted with its effect, but a compliance therewith must be explicitly demanded of him personally by the party authorized to demand it.⁶³ Where the order directs the judgment debtor to pay or deliver money or property to a receiver, the judgment debtor cannot be punished for disobedience until the order appointing the receiver has been filed in the office of the county clerk of the proper county as required by statute.⁶⁴ Where the receiver has not qualified, refusal to turn over property to him is not a contempt;⁶⁵ and, moreover, the receiver is not an "officer of the court" within a statute making it contempt to disobey a judgment requiring the payment of money to such an officer.⁶⁶

Disobedience to an order to turn over property must be evidenced by some act tending to hinder or delay the officer in taking possession thereof.⁶⁷ It is not a contempt to refuse to convey or deliver possession of real estate, the title to which has vested in the receiver by operation of law,⁶⁸ nor to refuse to deliver property the title to which is in dispute,⁶⁹ provided the dispute already exists or the question of ownership has previously been raised⁷⁰ and is still undetermined.⁷¹ A party is not in contempt for not paying money to a person other than the one to whom it is directly payable according to the terms of the order, unless such person is expressly authorized by the person to whom it is payable to receive it.⁷² A nonlitigant is not guilty of contempt in failing to deliver defendant's property to a receiver appointed in the supplementary proceeding pending an appeal from the judgment for plaintiff, where the judgment has been reversed.⁷³

f. Defenses and Excuses

Matter may be set up in defense which shows that the alleged violation did not constitute contempt, or that it was excused, such as that the order, charged to have been violated, or the service thereof was invalid.

It is a good defense to an application to punish for a contempt that the judgment was satisfied before service of the motion papers to punish;⁷⁴ or that the property was transferred before the restraining order was served;⁷⁵ or that a claim of the debtor against a third person directed to be paid by the latter to the judgment creditor had been assigned by the debtor.⁷⁶ A defense arising after the making of the order in supplementary proceedings is sometimes proper, such as on a motion to show cause.⁷⁷ Disobedience may be excused in a proper 59. Alaska.—U. S. v. Wood, 6 Alaska 255.

N.Y.—Diamond & Frazer Iron Works v. Di Tullio, 284 N.Y.S. 658, 157 Misc. 800.
23 C.J. p 894 note 51.

Failure to pay installments on judgment debt as ordered

N.Y.—In re Morris Plan Co. of New York, 299 N.Y.S. 475, 164 Misc. 712
—Rosevine Realty Corporation v. Stich, 298 N.Y.S. 758, 164 Misc. 339
—Reeves v. Crownshield, 292 N.Y.S. 756, 162 Misc. 118, affirmed 8 N.E.2d 283, 274 N.Y. 74, 111 A.L.R. 389.

60. N.Y.—Holmes v. O'Regan, 74 N.Y.S. 10, 68 App.Div. 318.
Or.—State v. Guthridge, 80 P. 98, 46 Or. 215.

23 C.J. p 894 note 52.
Invalidity of order as defense see subdivision f of this section.

61. N.Y.—Fromme v. Jarecky, 43 N.Y.S. 1081, 19 Misc. 483.

62. N.Y.—Fromme v. Jarecky, supra.
23 C.J. p 895 note 53.

63. Solemnity of service

Service of order directing judgment debtor to pay installment payments on account of judgment must be made in same manner required for service of any paper to bring a party into contempt before proceeding for contempt for failure to comply with the provisions of the order may be instituted.—Adirondack Furniture Corporation v. Crannell, 5 N.Y.S.2d 840, 167 Misc. 599.

63. N.Y.—McComb v. Weaver, 11 Hun 271.
23 C.J. p 895 note 54.

64. N.Y.—Moyer v. Moyer, 40 N.Y.S. 258, 7 App.Div. 523—Bareithers v. Brosche, 13 N.Y.S. 561, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 446.
Necessity for filing order of appointment generally see supra § 387.

65. N.Y.—Klatzkie v. Kimpel, 172 N.Y.S. 711.

66. N.Y.—Manning v. Drapkin, 274 N.Y.S. 442, 242 App.Div. 782.

67. Iowa.—Reardon v. Henry, 47 N.W. 1022, 82 Iowa 184.
23 C.J. p 895 note 57.

68. N.Y.—Canandaigua First Nat. Bank v. Martin, 2 N.Y.S. 815, 49 Hun 571, 15 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 324.

69. N.Y.—Holmes v. O'Regan, 74 N.Y.S. 10, 68 App.Div. 318.

23 C.J. p 895 note 59.
70. Kan.—In re Lewis, 72 P. 788, 67 Kan. 340.

71. N.Y.—Goldreyer v. Shatz, 114 N.Y.S. 339.

72. N.Y.—People v. King, 9 How.Pr. 97.

73. Minn.—Proper v. Proper, 246 N.W. 481, 188 Minn. 15.

74. Cal.—Colyear v. Los Angeles County Super. Ct., 181 P. 74, 40 Cal.App. 462.

N.Y.—Avery v. Ackart, 46 N.Y.S. 1085, 20 Misc. 631.

75. N.Y.—Schmelzel v. Mackey, 258 N.Y.S. 38, 144 Misc. 67.

76. N.Y.—Beebe v. Kenyon, 5 Hun 78, 5 Thomps. & C. 271.

77. S.D.—Gardiner v. Ross, 104 N.W. 220, 19 S.D. 497.

Where motion for contempt order denied without prejudice

Where a motion for an order adjudging defendant guilty of contempt for failure to comply with an order previously made, is denied without prejudice, defendant is entitled, on case, where exculpatory facts or circumstances are shown,⁷⁸ such as good faith,⁷⁹ illness,⁸⁰ or inability to comply with the order in question,⁸¹ but partial inability to comply will not excuse entire noncompliance with the order.⁸² It is no excuse that the debtor is in jail where all that is required of him is to execute a conveyance,⁸³ or that a bond ordered to be delivered was in good faith handed to an attorney for collection,⁸⁴ or that the goods ordered to be turned over were commingled with other goods consigned to the debtor for sale.⁸⁵ A discharge in bankruptcy or insolvency is not a good defense unless it is produced.⁸⁶ The debtor cannot purge himself of contempt for disregarding an order by a plea of advice of counsel,⁸⁷ but such advice precludes the contempt from being willful;⁸⁸ and where the acts constituting the contempt were done under a mistake of fact, the judgment debtor may be purged of his contempt on the condition of his making the judgment creditor whole.⁸⁹ The judgment debtor should not be punished for contempt where the judgment creditor's attorney has stated to him expressly or in effect that the order would not be enforced or insisted on either at all or at the time set.⁹⁰

Invalidity of order or service. It is a good defense to an application to punish for a contempt that the order or direction charged to have been disobeyed or violated was made without authority or jurisdiction,⁹¹ or has been superseded,⁹² vacated,⁹³ modified,⁹⁴ or reversed,⁹⁵ or was improperly or irregularly served.⁹⁶ That the service was made on a party while attending court as a witness, juror, or litigant constitutes no defense.⁹⁷ The debtor cannot justify his misconduct by setting up a stay which was vacated before service of the order violated.⁹⁸

Mere irregularities or immaterial defects in the a subsequent motion to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for the same reason, to present a defense arising after the making of the order in the supplementary proceedings.—Gardiner v. Ross, supra.

78. N.Y.—Loft Holding Co. v. Eagle Waist Co., Inc., 167 N.Y.S. 567. 23 C.J. p 895 note 66.

79. N.Y.—Lassere v. Stein, 54 N.Y.S. 939, 25 Misc. 423, affirmed 57 N.Y.S. 1140, 27 Misc. 847.

80. N.Y.—Walters v. Kenyon, 4 N.Y.St. 398.

81. N.J.—Mumma v. Schmitter, 142 A. 245, 1 N.J.Misc. 455.

N.Y.—In re Stuppelbeen, 14 N.Y.S. 2d 756, 171 Misc. 987.—Downing v. Dr Vito, 293 N.Y.S. 784, 161 Misc. 788.—Reeves v. Crownshield, 292 N.Y.S. 756, 162 Misc. 118, affirmed 8 N.E.2d 283, 274 N.Y. 74, 111 A.L.R. 389.

S.C.—Workman v. Thrower, 114 S.E. 409, 121 S.C. 430. 23 C.J. p 895 note 69.

Lack of income

A judgment debtor who is ordered to apply a portion of his income to payment of the judgment in installments but who has no income during certain periods does not disobey the mandate by failing to make payments on such occasions and cannot be punished for contempt.—In re Stuppelbeen, 14 N.Y.S.2d 756, 171 Misc. 987.

Removal of automobile

Where an automobile sold under an alleged levy was owned by and in the showrooms of parties other than defendant in execution and mortgaged by them to a bank, defendant in execution, denying ownership, could not be held responsible for its subsequent removal from the sheriff's control merely because he also conducted an automobile business in the same building.—Workman v. Thrower, 114 S.E. 409, 121 S.C. 430.

Withholding wages

A treasurer of a company is not guilty of contempt in failing to withhold a part of weekly wages of judgment debtor toward payment of judgment as ordered by district court, where it is established that treasurer had no money in his possession, or under his control, to which judgment debtor was entitled, and that judgment debtor was not an employee of company, but was one of the executive officers thereof with nominal duties.—Bond Stores v. Fleisher, 13 A.2d 492, 125 N.J.Law 79.

82. Or.—State v. Downing, 58 P. 863, 66 P. 917, 40 Or. 309.

83. N.Y.—Morris v. Walsh, 22 N.Y. Super. 636.

84. N.C.—Bond v. Bond, 69 N.C. 97.

85. N.Y.—Matter of Camerick, 53 N.Y.S. 1084, 34 App.Div. 31.

86. N.Y.—Coursen v. Dearborn, 30 N.Y.Super. 143. 23 C.J. p 895 note 74.

87. N.J.—Mumma v. Schmitter, 142 A. 245, 1 N.J.Misc. 455.

N.Y.—Shane Bros. & Wilson Co. v. Henshaw, 161 N.Y.S. 115, 174 App. Div. 606.

Advice of counsel as not a defense generally see Contempt § 38.

88. N.Y.—Shane Bros. & Wilson Co. v. Henshaw, supra—Goldberg v. Zimet, 180 N.Y.S. 273.

Advice of counsel as ground for reducing fine to be imposed as punishment see infra § 401.

89. N.Y.—Northern New York Trust Co. v. Bano, 273 N.Y.S. 694, 151 Misc. 684.

90. N.Y.—Germansky v. Guterman, 121 N.Y.S. 121, 136 App.Div. 581. 23 C.J. p 896 note 79.

91. Ark.—Leonard v. State, 278 S.W. 654, 657, 170 Ark. 41, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Corrigan v. Kahn, 198 N.Y.S. 785, 120 Misc. 161—Peck v. Austin, 29 N.Y.S.2d 280.

23 C.J. p 896 note 80.

Issuing separate subpoenas for examination of judgment debtor in supplementary proceedings, with respect to each of two judgments held by same judgment creditor, is improper and precludes punishment of judgment debtor for contempt for disobedience thereof.—Golding Bros. Co. v. Kaufman, 300 N.Y.S. 838, 166 Misc. 127.

92. N.Y.—Gaylord v. Jones, 7 Hun 480—Brockway v. Brien, 37 How. Pr. 270.

23 C.J. p 896 note 81.

93. N.Y.—Serven v. Lowerre, 23 N.Y.S. 1052, 3 Misc. 113.

94. N.Y.—Kantor v. Wille, 158 N.Y.S. 115, 93 Misc. 438.

95. N.Y.—Smith v. McQuade, 13 N.Y.S. 63.

96. N.J.—Seyfert v. Edison, 1 A. 502, 47 N.J.Law 428.

Ohio.—McWhorter v. Curran, 13 N.E. 2d 362, 57 Ohio App. 233. 23 C.J. p 896 note 85.

97. Cal.—Page v. Randall, 6 Cal. 32.

N.Y.—Fletcher v. Francko, 21 N.Y. Civ.Proc. 34.

98. N.Y.—Isaacs v. Calder, 59 N.Y.S. 21, 42 App.Div. 152.

order,⁹⁹ or the fact that the order was erroneously issued,¹ or the insufficiency of the affidavit on which it was granted,² is no defense or excuse, since an existing order which is not absolutely void for want of jurisdiction must be obeyed or proceedings taken to set it aside,³ and cannot be questioned in the contempt proceedings;⁴ nor can the truth of the affidavit be contested in contempt proceedings.⁵ Defects, however, which are jurisdictional,⁶ or are such as to make the order a nullity,⁷ or improper in form, and necessitate a modification in material respects,⁸ may constitute a defense; but a delivery of property according to the terms of an order which is void, and in violation of a valid order not to dispose of the property, is a voluntary delivery of the property, although made in good faith, and a debtor so acting is guilty of contempt.⁹ Misnomer of the judgment debtor in the original summons and in the order may constitute a defense,¹⁰ unless the misnomer is waived by appearance and examination,¹¹ or it is shown that he used the two names interchangeably.¹²

§ 400. — Jurisdiction and Procedure

- a. Jurisdiction
- b. Procedure in general
- c. Order

99. Cal.—Ex parte McCullough, 35 Cal. 97.

N.Y.—Rupert v. Lee, 92 N.Y.S. 75, 101 App.Div. 492.

23 C.J. p 896 note 88.

1. N.Y.—Rupert v. Lee, supra.

23 C.J. p 896 note 89.

2. N.Y.—O'Brien v. Howard, 16 N.Y.S.2d 290.

23 C.J. p 896 note 90.

3. Iowa.—Pirie v. Horwich, 204 Ill. App. 379.

N.Y.—Groshut v. Kinetophote Corp., 157 N.Y.S. 312, 93 Misc. 558—Boyd v. Hildebrandt, 185 N.Y.S. 235.

4. N.Y.—In re Cornblum, 232 N.Y.S. 22, 133 Misc. 357.

5. N.Y.—Hilton v. Patterson, 18 Abb. Pr. 245.

6. N.Y.—Katz v. Kosower, 117 N.Y.S. 316, 63 Misc. 25.

23 C.J. p 896 note 91.

7. N.J.—Bond Stores v. Friedman, 13 A.2d 493, 125 N.J.Law 80.

As to withholding wages

An order directing employer of judgment debtor to withhold a part of debtor's wages toward payment of judgment, but which did not state amount or percentage of wages to be retained, was a nullity, and failure to comply with order would not render one guilty of contempt.—Bond Stores v. Friedman, supra.

8. N.Y.—F. E. Compton & Co. v. Wil- iams, 290 N.Y.S. 984, 248 App. Div. 545.

Not requiring payment out of income

Judgment debtor could not be punished for contempt in failing to obey order to pay indebtedness to judgment creditor in installments, where order was erroneous in failing to require the installments to be paid only out of judgment debtor's income.—F. E. Compton & Co. v. Williams, supra.

9. Wis.—Nieuwankamp v. Ullman, 2 N.W. 131, 47 Wis. 168.

10. N.Y.—Anderson v. Burrows, 192 N.Y.S. 195—Muldoon v. Pierz, 1 Abb. N.Cas. 309.

23 C.J. p 896 note 80 [b] (1) (2).

11. N.Y.—Matter of Johns, 1 N.Y. Month.L.Bul. 75.

12. N.Y.—People v. McCarthy, 84 N.Y.S. 1062, 41 Misc. 429.

23 C.J. p 896 note 80 [b] (4).

13. Okl.—Koran v. Dryer, Clark & Dryer Oil Co., 105 P.2d 526, 527, 187 Okl. 691, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 896 note 95.

14. N.Y.—Matter of Backus, 86 N.Y.S. 638, 91 App.Div. 266, affirmed 72 N.E. 1139, 179 N.Y. 571.

23 C.J. p 897 note 97 [a].

15. N.Y.—Tremain v. Richardson, 68 N.Y. 617.

23 C.J. p 897 note 96.

16. N.Y.—Huber v. Moran-Greenberg

a. Jurisdiction

Power to punish for contempt is generally vested in the judge whose order has been violated or in the court out of which the execution issued.

The power to punish as for a contempt is generally vested in the judge whose order has been violated or in the court out of which the execution issued,¹³ within the territorial jurisdiction conferred on such judge or court, although the judgment was docketed in another county.¹⁴ When conferred on both the judge and the court, the jurisdiction is concurrent; that of the judge is not exclusive.¹⁵ Courts or judges other than those specified in the statutes conferring jurisdiction are without jurisdiction.¹⁶ The power to punish is derived from the original order and not from the order to show cause in the contempt proceedings;¹⁷ and jurisdiction is not conferred on a particular judge or court by appearing and failing to object.¹⁸ If the term of the judge entitled to entertain the contempt proceedings has expired they may be heard by his successor in office;¹⁹ and under a statute permitting an order to show cause to be made returnable and continued before another judge, a motion on such an order may be heard by a judge other than the one issuing the order.²⁰ A motion for contempt for violation of an order requiring attendance can-

Corporation, 198 N.Y.S. 434, 120 Misc. 104.

23 C.J. p 897 note 97.

Judge issuing order and not court rendering judgment has jurisdiction to punish disobedience of an order to appear for examination in proceeding in aid of execution before a referee in a county other than that in which the judgment was rendered, under 12 St.Annot. § 859.—Koran v. Dryer, Clark & Dryer Oil Co., 105 P.2d 526, 187 Okl. 691.

17. N.Y.—Myers v. Janes, 3 Abb.Pr. 301.

18. N.Y.—Blanchard v. Reilly, 11 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 278.

Personal appearance of judgment debtor before court lacking statutory authority to take jurisdiction of supplementary proceedings, does not give jurisdiction to the judge to punish judgment debtor for contempt in failing to obey an order of the court to appear on an adjourned date of the hearing, even though it might give jurisdiction where court had jurisdiction of such proceedings.—Huber v. Moran-Greenberg Corporation, 198 N.Y.S. 434, 120 Misc. 104.

19. N.Y.—Gamman v. Berry, 34 Hun 138—Holstein v. Rice, 24 How.Pr. 135.

20. N.Y.—Burr Chevrolet v. De Forest, 274 N.Y.S. 252, 152 Misc. 912.

not be entertained after the supplementary proceedings have lapsed.²¹

The referee cannot himself punish a party for disobedience to his orders; he must make application to the court for such purpose.²²

Court commissioner. It has been held that a court commissioner has power to punish for contempt,²³ but there is authority to the contrary.²⁴ In any event, the court has power to punish disobedience of an order of, or to appear before, the commissioner.²⁵

b. Procedure in General

The rules of procedure relating to contempt generally apply in a proceeding for contempt for violation of an order in a supplementary proceeding, except to the extent that such proceeding is controlled by special statutory provisions, or by particular rules applicable to such cases.

Except in so far as a proceeding for contempt for violation of an order in a supplementary proceeding is governed by special statutory provisions, or by particular rules growing out of the peculiar nature of such cases, the rules of procedure relating to contempt generally apply,²⁶ such as that the contempt proceeding should be instituted by, or with the consent of, the party aggrieved.²⁷ A contempt proceeding against the mayor of a city for the violation of a restraining order issued against city officials as such is not dismissable on the ground that the mayor, who was inducted into office after the commencement of the supplementary proceedings, was not a party to such proceedings, since they are against the office and not against the individual.²⁸

Abandonment or abatement. Mere delay of a judgment creditor to proceed with contempt proceedings against the debtor for failing to appear for examination does not amount to an abandonment or waiver of such proceedings;²⁹ but where the party charged obeys the order, the court may release him and decline to proceed further with the proceedings.³⁰ The judgment creditor may be granted leave to withdraw his motion for contempt, where the issues presented have been referred to a referee, because of their difficulty of ascertainment, and the creditor's reason for withdrawing is to represent the issues in a more concise form.³¹

Entitling. It has been held that the papers may be entitled in the action,³² but the better practice is to entitle them in the name of the people on the relation of the creditor against the debtor or contemner,³³ and although it is entitled in the action it is not a proceeding in the action.³⁴ Mere clerical errors in entitling the moving papers do not invalidate the proceedings.³⁵

Affidavit. Generally an affidavit is necessary,³⁶ unless the contempt was committed in the presence of the court.³⁷ The affidavit should set out such facts constituting the contempt as are not judicially noticed;³⁸ but it need not set out the reasons for a short-time service of an order to show cause,³⁹ and an affidavit by an attorney need not show his authority to act.⁴⁰ Counteraffidavits may be filed;⁴¹ but to be sufficient, they must set out facts which, if true, disprove or justify the contempt charged.⁴²

Attachment or rule to show cause. While in some cases, under some statutes, the court or judge 21. N.Y.—People ex rel. Rogall v. Jacoby, 268 N.Y.S. 436, 241 App.Div. 608, affirmed 191 N.E. 527, 264 N.Y. 485, reargument denied 191 N.E. 628, 264 N.Y. 688.

22. N.Y.—Lathrop v. Clapp, 40 N.Y. 328, 100 Am.D. 493.
23 C.J. p 897 note 2.

23. W.Va.—Lewis v. Rosler, 19 W. Va. 61.

24. Wis.—In re Remington, 7 Wis. 643.

25. Mich.—Shepard v. Grove, 68 N. W. 221, 109 Mich. 606.
Wis.—Nieuwankamp v. Ullman, 2 N. W. 131, 47 Wis. 168.

26. N.Y.—Ruf v. B. B. & F. Realty Corporation, 236 N.Y.S. 361, 227 App.Div. 390.

Or.—State v. Downing, 58 P. 863, 66 P. 917, 40 Or. 309.
Proceedings for contempt generally see Contempt §§ 62–89.

27. N.Y.—Ruf v. B. B. & F. Realty Corporation, 236 N.Y.S. 361, 227 App.Div. 390.

Proceeding by attorney

Order adjudging defendant in contempt for violating order in supplementary proceeding, granted at instance of attorney not shown to be authorized to act for judgment creditor, and in action which terminated in judgment, was unauthorized.—Ruf v. B. B. & F. Realty Corporation, supra.

28. Ohio.—Currie v. Baltimore & O. R. Co., 8 N.E.2d 453, 54 Ohio App. 505.

29. N.Y.—Putnam v. Anthony, 7 N. Y.St. 580.

30. N.Y.—Hilton v. Patterson, 18 Abb.Pr. 245.

31. N.Y.—S. I. K. Corporation v. Albert, 29 N.Y.S.2d 326, 176 Misc. 835.

32. N.Y.—Stafford v. Brown, 4 Paige 360.

33. N.Y.—People v. Craft, 7 Paige 325.

23 C.J. p 898 note 19.

34. N.Y.—Ruf v. B. B. & F. Realty Corporation, 236 N.Y.S. 361, 227 App.Div. 390.

35. N.Y.—Burr Chevrolet v. De Forest, 274 N.Y.S. 252, 152 Misc. 912.

36. N.Y.—Rineland v. Dunham, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 32.
N.C.—In re Daves, 81 N.C. 72.

37. N.Y.—Falkenburg v. Frank, 43 N.Y.S. 1137, 19 Misc. 418.
Or.—State v. Downing, 58 P. 863, 66 P. 917, 40 Or. 309.

38. N.Y.—Miller v. Adams, 52 N.Y. 409.
23 C.J. p 897 note 9.

39. N.Y.—Burr Chevrolet v. De Forest, 274 N.Y.S. 252, 152 Misc. 912.

40. N.Y.—Miller v. Adams, 52 N.Y. 409, affirming 7 Lans. 131.

41. N.Y.—People v. Paine, 86 N.Y. S. 1109, 92 App.Div. 303.

42. N.Y.—Matter of Dalsace, 56 N. Y.S. 384, 26 Misc. 873.

may, in its discretion, proceed to punish the contempt summarily, as where the contempt is committed in the presence of the court or judge,⁴³ or where it consists of disobedience of an order to pay money,⁴⁴ the more usual course of practice, and the course required by some statutes in all cases other than those expressly excepted, is to cite the judgment debtor or other person alleged to be in contempt, either by an order to show cause or by warrant of attachment, and thus give him an opportunity to answer and be heard,⁴⁵ and if an attachment has issued the debtor should be furnished, within a reasonable time before its return, a copy of the affidavits on which it was based.⁴⁶ An order to show cause generally should be served on defendant personally,⁴⁷ although service on an attorney who appears for him generally in the supplementary proceedings may be sufficient to give the court jurisdiction,⁴⁸ but not where the attorney appears specially as for the purpose of taking an appeal.⁴⁹ The reasons for directing a short-time service of the order to show cause need not be set out in the order.⁵⁰ Under some statutes interrogatories, specifying the facts and circumstances of the contempt charged, must be filed where the proceeding is begun by attachment and the contempt is not admitted;⁵¹ but not where the proceeding is begun by an order to show cause⁵² or where the facts are not denied.⁵³ The proceedings should be made returnable before the court or judge who issued the attachment;⁵⁴ but an irregularity in this respect may be waived.⁵⁵ Objections to the mode by which the contempt proceedings were instituted are waived where the debtor or other person alleged to be in contempt, instead of appearing specially and presenting objections at the proper time, appears and answers generally and is accorded a full and fair hearing.⁵⁶

Hearing and determination. The only matter brought before the court by a contempt petition is the fact of such contempt.⁵⁷ On the proofs submitted, that is, the original affidavits, the answers, and subsequent proofs, the court or judge must determine whether the contempt charged has been committed;⁵⁸ and the usual rules apply as to the burden of proof,⁵⁹ and the weight and sufficiency

43. N.Y.—Kern v. Zupha, 159 N.Y. S. 76.

S.D.—Aberdeen Clothing Co. v. Just, 143 N.W. 900, 32 S.D. 560.

44. N.Y.—Brush v. Lee, 1 Abb.Dec. 236, 2 Transcr.A. 95, 6 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 50—People v. King, 9 How.Pr. 97.

Statute not applicable

A statute authorizing a contempt warrant without notice and proof of personal demand, where the offense consists of neglect or refusal to obey a court order requiring the payment of money, is inapplicable where the offense involved is a refusal to obey an order in a supplementary proceeding seeking to enforce a fine imposed, and not a refusal to obey an order requiring the payment of money.—People ex rel. Hayes v. Pope, 247 N.Y.S. 393, 231 App.Div. 279.

Bank cannot be summarily brought to book, in receiver's proceeding to recover corporation's assets, for paying to judgment debtor, in disregard of order in supplementary proceedings, amount of judgment debtor's deposit ordered held to pay judgment.—In re Delaney, 176 N.E. 407, 256 N.Y. 315, reversing 244 N.Y.S. 883, 230 App.Div. 821.

45. N.Y.—Diamond & Frazer Iron Works v. Di Tullio, 284 N.Y.S. 658, 157 Misc. 800, 23 C.J. p 897 note 12.

Motion on order to show cause addressed to court's discretion
N.Y.—Downing v. De Vito, 293 N.Y. S. 784, 161 Misc. 788.

46. N.Y.—Ward v. Arenson, 23 N.Y. Super. 589—Matter of Smethurst, 4

N.Y.Super. 724, 4 How.Pr. 369, 3 Code Rep. 55.

47. N.Y.—Vingut v. Sire, 148 N.Y.S. 533, 163 App.Div. 529.

48. N.Y.—Isaacs v. Calder, 59 N.Y. S. 21, 42 App.Div. 152—New York Twelfth Bank v. Luckes, 129 N.Y. S. 227.

23 C.J. p 897 note 12 [c] (1) (2).

49. N.Y.—Vingut v. Sire, 148 N.Y.S. 533, 163 App.Div. 529.

50. N.Y.—Burr Chevrolet v. De Forest, 274 N.Y.S. 252, 152 Misc. 912.

51. N.Y.—De Witt v. Dennis, 30 How.Pr. 131.

52. N.Y.—Pitt v. Davison, 37 N.Y. 235, 4 Transcr.A. 266, 3 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 398, 34 How.Pr. 335—Brush v. Lee, 1 Abb.Dec. 238, 2 Transcr.A. 95, 6 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 50.

53. N.Y.—Lathrop v. Clapp, 40 N.Y. 328, 100 Am.D. 493, affirming 23 How.Pr. 423—Watson v. Fitzsimmons, 12 N.Y.Super. 629.

54. N.Y.—Kelly v. McCormick, 28 N.Y. 318, affirming 2 E.D.Smith 503.

55. N.Y.—Kelly v. McCormick, supra.

56. Iowa.—McDonnell v. Henderson, 38 N.W. 512, 74 Iowa 619.

N.Y.—Maigille v. Leonard, 92 N.Y. S. 656, 102 App.Div. 367, affirmed 74 N.E. 1120, 181 N.Y. 558, 23 C.J. p 898 note 22.

57. N.Y.—McDermott v. Justices of Municipal Court of City of Boston, 192 N.E. 18, 287 Mass. 563.

Docket entries as referring only to contempt proceedings

Where contempt petition for judgment debtor's alleged failure to comply with order in supplementary proceeding is pending, docket entry that "proceedings" be brought forward and continued and subsequent docket entry that "proceedings" were dismissed, made on creditor's failure to appear, refer merely to proceedings on such contempt petition and not entire supplementary proceedings.—McDermott v. Justices of Municipal Court of City of Boston, supra.

Findings of judge as conclusive in proceedings for prohibition and mandamus—McDermott v. Justices of Municipal Court of City of Boston, supra.

58. Cal.—Ex parte Zuker, 56 P.2d 1261, 13 Cal.App.2d 427.

Court cannot order payment of money into court, and adjudge defendant in contempt if he fails to do so, in the absence of allegations and findings that defendant was possessed of such amount of money.—Leonard v. State, 278 S.W. 654, 170 Ark. 41.

59. N.J.—Bond Stores v. Friedman, 13 A.2d 493, 125 N.J.Law 80.

Burden of showing contempt on judgment creditor

N.J.—Bond Stores v. Friedman, 13 A.2d 493, 125 N.J.Law 80.

Burden of showing defense or excuse on debtor

N.Y.—F. E. Compton & Co. v. Williams, 290 N.Y.S. 984, 248 App.Div. 545—In re Stuppelbeen, 14 N.Y.S. 2d 756, 171 Misc. 987.

of the evidence.⁶⁰ Before punishment may be ordered, there must be sufficient proof that the order or direction charged to have been disobeyed was duly made and served,⁶¹ that compliance therewith was refused,⁶² and that there was a willful disobedience.⁶³ Where, by statute, it must be adjudicated and recited in the order imposing punishment that the contempt committed was calculated to, or actually did, defeat, impair, impede, or prejudice the rights or remedies of the judgment creditor, proof of actual loss or damage by the creditor is not necessary,⁶⁴ unless the imposition of a larger fine, on account thereof, is desired, as explained infra § 401; and on the other hand, if such contempt is adjudged, the utmost good faith must be shown as a condition to any favor within the power of the court to grant or withhold.⁶⁵ A certificate or report of the referee or examiner appointed to conduct the examination is admissible to prove what took place at the examination or at the time and place set for the examination,⁶⁶ but it is not alone sufficient proof of a failure to appear.⁶⁷ Where the judgment debtor offers to pay a sum in reduction of any fine imposed to be applied on the judgment, and to serve an affidavit of the facts sought to be established on a hearing, applied for by him, respecting his financial condition, the court, in the event of compliance with the offer, will pass on the merits of the application, and on proof of noncompliance will adjudge him in contempt.⁶⁸

Action on bond. In an action on a bond given to the sheriff for the purpose of obtaining the release of a party from arrest on an attachment issued for a contempt, in proceedings supplementary to execution, the objection that the complaint does not show that an execution on the judgment against the principal obligor was issued or returned, or that any order for his examination, or for the attachment, was made, is not available to defendants.⁶⁹

c. Order

An order adjudging a party guilty of contempt is an order in the supplementary proceedings. It should specify the acts or conduct constituting the contempt, and otherwise comply with the statutory requirements as to its contents.

The order adjudging a party guilty of contempt is not one in an independent special proceeding but is an order in the supplementary proceedings.⁷⁰ An order which adjudges a debtor guilty of contempt and orders a warrant which is not in the nature of an attachment on which interrogatories are intended to be served, is an adjudication of contempt, and is not a mere order for process.⁷¹ An oral order made in the absence of the party and without appearance on his behalf or any case made by the moving party is improper.⁷² The order convicting of the contempt must specify the particular facts or misconduct constituting it,⁷³ should be confined to the conduct which the contemner was called on to explain,⁷⁴ and under some statutes, must 60. N.Y.—Soprinsky v. Tolman, 289 N.Y.S. 1110, 160 Misc. 381.

Evidence held sufficient to show judgment debtor guilty of contempt in willfully and knowingly giving false testimony.—Soprinsky v. Tolman, supra.

Evidence held insufficient to show judgment debtor guilty of contempt on ground that he willfully and knowingly testified falsely especially where he voluntarily made available to judgment creditor all his records and afforded full opportunity for examination and discovery.—Stafford v. Bruce, 289 N.Y.S. 1106, 160 Misc. 425.

61. N.Y.—Aborn v. Herbert, 158 N.Y.S. 565, 94 Misc. 637.
23 C.J. p 898 note 24.

62. N.Y.—McComb v. Weaver, 11 Hun 271.
Or.—State v. Downing, 58 P. 863, 66 P. 917, 40 Or. 309.

63. N.Y.—People v. Hanbury, 147 N.Y.S. 851, 162 App.Div. 337, affirming 145 N.Y.S. 483.
23 C.J. p 893 note 26.

Willful false swearing
N.Y.—Malmud v. Blackman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 174, 177 Misc. 162.

64. N.Y.—Matter of Seitz, 107 N.Y.S. 593, 56 Misc. 616.

Contra Robertson v. Hay, 33 N.Y.S. 31, 12 Misc. 7.

65. N.Y.—Moyer v. Feldman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 899.

66. N.Y.—Newell v. Cutler, 19 Hun 74.

67. N.Y.—Rineland v. Dunham, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 32.

68. N.Y.—Moyer v. Feldman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 901.

69. N.Y.—Kelly v. McCormick, 28 N.Y. 318, affirming 2 E.D.Smith 503.

70. N.Y.—Steinman v. Conlon, 101 N.E. 868, 208 N.Y. 198—Ruf v. B. B. & F. Realty Corporation, 236 N.Y.S. 361, 227 App.Div. 390.

71. N.J.—Hershenstein v. Hahn, 71 A. 105, 77 N.J.Law 39.

72. N.Y.—Tinkey v. Langdon, 60 How.Pr. 180.

73. Colo.—Handler v. Gordon, 120 P. 2d 205.

N.Y.—Tri-State Investors' Corporation v. Kitching, 246 N.Y.S. 240, 231 App.Div. 143, dismissal of appeal denied 177 N.E. 137, 256 N.Y. 553, and dismissed 177 N.E. 173, 256 N.Y. 639, affirmed 178 N.E. 800, 257 N.Y. 573.
23 C.J. p 898 note 38.

Where there is paucity of recital of facts in judgment, in supplementary proceedings, adjudging one of parties in criminal contempt because of answers made in examination in relation to his property holdings, judgment is not supported.—Handler v. Gordon, Colo., 120 P.2d 205.

74. S.C.—Workman v. Thrower, 114 S.E. 409, 121 S.C. 430.

Limitation to charge in show cause order

Where petitioner had shown only that defendant had no connection with the automobile alleged to have been levied on, other than that it had been in the building where defendant conducted his business, and that it had been removed therefrom, an order requiring defendant to inform the sheriff where he could get the automobile was reversible, as not confined to defendant's alleged conduct, and as transgressing defendant's indictment in the show cause order, reciting only that defendant was keeping the automobile beyond reach of process.—Workman v. Thrower, supra.

Order punishing cashier of bank for disobeying a third party order which was directed to the bank and served only on the president of the state that the contempt committed was calculated to, or actually did, defeat, impair, impede, or prejudice the rights or remedies of the judgment creditor.⁷⁵ An order made in supplementary proceedings, without proof of noncompliance and without contempt proceedings, that defendant comply therewith or be imprisoned, is improper.⁷⁶ However, an order in contempt proceedings relieving the offender from punishment on compliance with certain conditions therein contained is regular and proper,⁷⁷ provided the conditions named are within the authority and jurisdiction of the judge to impose.⁷⁸ An order adjudging a debtor guilty of contempt and imposing a fine need not be personally served before the court can sign a commitment order.⁷⁹ The order may be reversed where the record shows nothing contumacious about the party's conduct.⁸⁰ A warrant of commitment setting forth the matters contained in the contempt order is valid.⁸¹

§ 401. — Punishment, and Discharge from Imprisonment

The scope of the punishment for contempt depends primarily on the governing statute, and usually consists of a fine and commitment of the contemner for a limited period, or until the mandate of the court is complied with, or until he is duly discharged.

Contempt in these proceedings is punishable as a civil and not as a criminal contempt.⁸² The scope of the punishment depends primarily on the governing statute,⁸³ and usually consists, under the various statutes of imposing a fine on the contemner and committing him to jail until he pays the fine, or otherwise complies with the mandate of the court,⁸⁴ or until he has been duly discharged according to law, as for instance by release on bail.⁸⁵ The purpose is not punitive, but is remedial or coercive, the object being to compel obedience to, or the performance of, the court's order, and to benefit the injured creditor, whose rights have been impaired, impeded, or prejudiced by the debtor's contumacious conduct,⁸⁶ and the punishment cannot be imposed under a general power to punish contempt.⁸⁷ The length of the imprisonment, under some of these statutes, varies according to the amount of the fine,⁸⁸ and the imprisonment must be actual,⁸⁹ and if there is no express waiver by the judgment creditor of the commitment, the acceptance by him of payments on account of the fine does not waive the commitment.⁹⁰ The imposition of a fine for contempt is not a substitute for the relief appropriate to the supplementary proceeding, and does not prevent the proceeding from continuing until its aim has been achieved.⁹¹

Under some statutes, if the contempt has produced an actual loss or injury to the other party, and the case is not one where it is specially prescribed by law that an action may be maintained to recover damages for the loss or injury,⁹² a fine bank, where the motion for contempt asked only that the bank be punished, is improper.—German Fur Dyeing Corporation v. F. & M. Fur Co., 253 N.Y.S. 575, 142 Misc. 6.

75. N.Y.—Mengel v. Larkin, 244 N.Y.S. 697, 230 App.Div. 783—Gray v. Rife, 21 N.Y.S.2d 570, 23 C.J. p 898 note 39.

76. Kan.—In re O'Connell, 30 P. 456, 49 Kan. 415.
S.C.—Kennesaw Mills Co. v. Walker, 19 S.C. 104.

77. N.Y.—Billings v. Carver, 54 Barb. 40—People v. Sickles, 13 N.Y.S. 101, 59 Hun 342—Putnam v. Anthony, 7 N.Y.St. 580.

78. N.Y.—Meyer v. Dreysspring, 23 N.Y.S. 315, 3 Misc. 560—Durkee v. Bonnell, 125 N.Y.S. 790.

79. N.Y.—In re Landes, 242 N.Y.S. 710, 136 Misc. 719.

80. N.Y.—Blaufeld v. Hyams, 286 N.Y.S. 783, 247 App.Div. 212.

81. N.Y.—People ex rel. Hayes v. Pope, 247 N.Y.S. 393, 231 App.Div. 279.

82. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399.
23 C.J. p 899 note 45.

83. Mass.—Brewer v. Casey, 82 N.E. 45, 196 Mass. 384.
23 C.J. p 899 note 44.

84. Alaska.—U. S. v. Wood, 6 Alaska 255.

N.Y.—Tri-State Investors' Corporation v. Kitching, 246 N.Y.S. 240, 231 App.Div. 143, dismissal of appeal denied 177 N.E. 137, 256 N.Y. 553, and dismissed 177 N.E. 173, 256 N.Y. 639, affirmed 178 N.E. 800, 257 N.Y. 573—In re Reid, 188 N.Y.S. 336.
23 C.J. p 899 note 46.

In Puerto Rico it has been held that an order committing defendant for contempt for failing to obey an order to pay the amount of the judgment into court, trenches so closely on imprisonment for debt that it will be set aside.—Sixto v. Sarria, 2 Puerto Rico Fed. 168.

85. N.Y.—Valentine v. Mandel, 11 N.Y.S. 718, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 155—Walter v. Pecare, 11 N.Y.S. 146.
23 C.J. p 899 note 47.

86. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, 17 N.Y.S.2d 428, reversed on other grounds 20 N.Y.S.2d 787.

87. N.J.—Eggert v. McHose, 77 A. 801, 80 N.J.Law 101.
23 C.J. p 899 note 44 [a].

88. N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, 17 N.Y.S.2d 428, reversed on other grounds 20 N.Y.S.2d 787.

Imprisonment until fine is paid illegal

Where the statute limits the length of the imprisonment according to the amount of the fine, a judgment debtor cannot be deprived of his liberty by holding him in jail until he pays fine imposed on him for his contumacious conduct in failing to appear for examination pursuant to subpoena served on him.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, supra.

89. N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, supra.

90. N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, 20 N.Y.S.2d 787, reversing 17 N.Y.S.2d 428.

91. U.S.—Fox v. Capital Co., N.Y., 57 S.Ct. 57, 299 U.S. 105, 81 L.Ed. 67.

92. N.Y.—Westervelt v. Shapiro, 132 N.Y.S. 338.

Fine for amount of judgment and costs cannot be imposed against a witness for failure to appear before a referee and testify, where the judgment creditor has the right to recover must be imposed which is sufficient to indemnify the aggrieved party, usually the judgment creditor, for such loss or injury,⁹³ such as the amount due on the judgment,⁹⁴ plus costs, expenses, and counsel fees incurred in connection with the contempt proceeding;⁹⁵ and if the fine imposed is excessive it may be reduced.⁹⁶ The loss or injury is reckoned at the time of the hearing of the contempt motion,⁹⁷ and must be proved as in an action;⁹⁸ and the fine when paid should be credited on the judgment.⁹⁹ Where, however, under such statutes, it is not shown that an actual loss or injury has been produced, the fine cannot exceed complainant's costs and expenses, and a specified sum, such as two hundred and fifty dollars, in addition thereto.¹ In such a case a fine in the amount of the judgment cannot be imposed;² but the fine may be for less than the statutory amount, although it is equal to the judgment and costs,³ and if there has been contempt, more than a nominal fine should be imposed.⁴ The costs and expenses in such a case may include attorney's fees,⁵ and sheriff's fees;⁶ but they must be reasonable,⁷ and in the absence of an allegation or proof as to costs and expenses they cannot be allowed, although a fine is imposed.⁸ A fine of the maximum statutory amount should not be imposed where there are extenuating circumstances,⁹ as where the debtor relied on the advice of counsel,¹⁰ or his failure to obey the order was due to a mistake of his attorney;¹¹ or where it is doubtful whether service of the order in the supplementary proceeding was made.¹² An order imposing an excessive fine cannot be treated as void;¹³ but it cannot be upheld where there is no proof of actual loss.¹⁴

A female may be punished by imprisonment for refusal to obey an order to pay over money, notwithstanding a statute exempting females from imprisonment on any order of arrest or on an execution against the body.¹⁵

Stay of punishment. Commitment may be stayed on the debtor offering to pay a certain sum in reduction of the fine to be applied on the judgment and to pay certain sums thereafter at given periods;¹⁶ but where his motion to set aside a default all the damages he has sustained against the witness.—In re Depue, 77 N.E. 798, 185 N.Y. 60.

93. N.Y.—Resource Holding Corporation v. Friedman, 28 N.Y.S.2d 529, 262 App.Div. 879—Williamson v. Drogaris, 288 N.Y.S. 179, 248 App.Div. 627—Malmud v. Blackman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 174, 177 Misc. 162—S. S. & B. Live Poultry Corporation v. Fleischer, 300 N.Y.S. 617, 165 Misc. 175—Reeves v. Crownshield, 292 N.Y.S. 756, 162 Misc. 118, affirmed 8 N.E.2d 283, 274 N.Y. 74, 111 A.L.R. 389—St. Luke's Hospital v. Hall, 20 N.Y.S.2d 602, 23 C.J. p 899 note 48.

94. N.Y.—Macmay Realty Corporation v. Katz, 15 N.Y.S.2d 629, 172 Misc. 553—Henry Maillard, Inc., v. Gildenberg, 9 N.Y.S.2d 841, 170 Misc. 76—1050 Park Ave. Corporation v. Hagerty, 272 N.Y.S. 406, 151 Misc. 758—Ace Mail Advertising v. Newgold, 269 N.Y.S. 187, 150 Misc. 320, affirmed 269 N.Y.S. 957, 241 App.Div. 674, reversed on other grounds 192 N.E. 483, 265 N.Y. 298, reargument denied 195 N.E. 172, 266 N.Y. 500.

95. N.Y.—Consumer's Poultry Dealers Corporation v. Podberesky Bros., 279 N.Y.S. 68, 244 App.Div. 754, reargument denied 280 N.Y.S. 1010, 244 App.Div. 827—Malmud v. Blackman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 174, 177 Misc. 162—Henry Maillard, Inc. v. Gildenberg, 9 N.Y.S.2d 841, 170 Misc. 76—1050 Park Ave. Corporation v. Hagerty, 272 N.Y.S. 406, 151 Misc. 758.

96. N.Y.—Williamson v. Drogaris,

288 N.Y.S. 179, 248 App.Div. 627—Consumer's Poultry Dealers Corporation v. Podberesky Bros., 279 N.Y.S. 68, 244 App.Div. 754, reargument denied 280 N.Y.S. 1010, 244 App.Div. 827.

97. N.Y.—Barnard v. Barnard, 296 N.Y.S. 155, 251 App.Div. 745—Williamson v. Drogaris, 288 N.Y.S. 179, 248 App.Div. 627—S. S. & B. Live Poultry Corporation v. Fleischer, 300 N.Y.S. 617, 165 Misc. 175.

98. N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399.

To be fined to full amount of judgment there must be positive proof that the judgment creditor's rights were impaired to such extent.—Samuels v. Ganz, supra—Kennedy v. Swan, 240 N.Y.S. 81, 136 Misc. 367, affirmed 249 N.Y.S. 904, 232 App.Div. 741.

99. N.Y.—Resource Holding Corporation v. Friedman, 28 N.Y.S.2d 529, 262 App.Div. 879—Macmay Realty Corporation v. Katz, 15 N.Y.S.2d 629, 172 Misc. 553—St. Luke's Hospital v. Hall, 20 N.Y.S.2d 602.

1. N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399—Kennedy v. Swan, 240 N.Y.S. 81, 136 Misc. 367, affirmed 249 N.Y.S. 904, 232 App.Div. 741—Starr v. Morange, 196 N.Y.S. 308, 119 Misc. 376, 23 C.J. p 899 note 50.

2. N.Y.—Starr v. Morange, supra.

3. N.Y.—Isaacs v. Calder, 59 N.Y.S.2d 42, 42 App.Div. 152, 23 C.J. p 899 note 50 [d].

4. N.Y.—Bird v. Wessels, 119 N.Y.S. 329.

23 C.J. p 899 note 50 [e].

5. N.Y.—Westervelt v. Shapiro, 132 N.Y.S. 338.

6. N.Y.—White v. Griffenhagen, 160 N.Y.S. 187, 95 Misc. 84, 23 C.J. p 899 note 50 [b].

7. N.Y.—Matter of Kuteosky, 138 N.Y.S. 263, 153 App.Div. 526, 23 C.J. p 899 note 50 [c].

8. N.Y.—Samuels v. Ganz, 21 N.Y.S.2d 268, 174 Misc. 399.

9. N.Y.—Goldsmiths & Silversmiths Co. v. Haas, 134 N.Y.S. 602, 76 Misc. 210—Kreiser v. Kitaoka, 73 N.Y.S. 164, 36 Misc. 174, 23 C.J. p 899 note 51.

10. N.Y.—Shane Bros. & Wilson Co. v. Henshaw, 161 N.Y.S. 115, 174 App.Div. 606, 23 C.J. p 899 note 51 [a].

11. N.Y.—Matter of Fancher, 110 N.Y.S. 157, 58 Misc. 11, 23 C.J. p 899 note 51 [b].

12. N.Y.—Kantor v. Smogler, 228 N.Y.S. 376, 131 Misc. 851.

13. N.Y.—Gumpel v. Gurvitch, 169 N.Y.S. 135, 102 Misc. 536.

14. N.Y.—German Fur Dyeing Corporation v. F. & M. Fur Co., 255 N.Y.S. 575, 142 Misc. 6.

15. Ind.—Joyce v. Everson, 69 N.E. 135, 161 Ind. 440. Liability of females to arrest see infra § 419.

16. N.Y.—Moyer v. Feldman, 30 N.Y.S.2d 899.

in supplementary proceedings was denied on the merits and the ruling affirmed on appeal, he cannot have his punishment stayed pending an appeal from the order adjudging him guilty of contempt.¹⁷

Discharge. A person imprisoned for failure to obey an order in supplementary proceedings may move for his release from imprisonment on any statutory ground,¹⁸ such as his inability to comply with the order of the court.¹⁹ Failure to give notice to the judgment creditor of the application for a discharge renders it irregular but not void.²⁰ If the judgment debtor is discharged on bail, but no order is made as to the disposition of the money deposited as bail, and the debtor becomes entitled to the return thereof, the judgment creditor is entitled to an order directing the payment of the money to him in reduction of his judgment.²¹

§ 402. Costs

- a. In general
- b. In action by or against receiver
- c. In contempt proceeding

a. In General

Except to the extent that they are governed by special statutory provisions, or by particular rules growing out of the peculiar nature of the subject matter, the costs in a supplementary proceeding are controlled by the usual rules relating to costs.

Costs in supplementary proceedings are in a great measure discretionary,²² and depend largely on the peculiar circumstances of the particular case.²³ Some of the statutes, however, authorizing supplementary proceedings, provide for the allowance of costs and disbursements, or of a fixed sum in lieu thereof; and under such statutes, and the judicial construction thereof, costs may be allowed in a proper case, to the judgment creditor,²⁴ as where the misconduct of the judgment debtor has rendered necessary the supplementary proceeding;²⁵ and it has been held that the creditor may be allowed not only the sum provided by statute, but also such other costs as may be provided for the civil officers of the court, including attorney's fees, for any specified service in the action,²⁶ but the judgment debtor should not be held liable for increased costs due to the acts of third persons.²⁷ In a proper case also costs may be allowed to the judgment debtor;²⁸ but a provision allowing costs to the judgment debtor where he has been examined, and where property applicable to the payment of the judgment has not been discovered, does not apply where the debtor has not been examined,²⁹ nor does it apply to the costs of a motion to dismiss.³⁰ A third person whose examination discloses no possession or control of property belonging to the debtor, may also be allowed costs,³¹ as may also one who, although not a party to the action, was made a party to the proceeding.³² Under a statute authorizing a fixed sum, in addition to witnesses' fees and disbursements, as costs, the fact that the fixed sum is designated as "counsel fee," instead of "as costs," is not fatal, since costs usually include counsel fee.³³ Satisfaction of the judgment after the institution of the proceedings precludes the right to costs, where such satisfaction is procured by means of a new execution,³⁴ but not where it is made by voluntary payment by the debtor.³⁵

Application and allowance. An application for and an allowance of a sum as costs should not be made until the close of the proceeding,³⁶ as where 17. N.Y.—Soule v. Lookstein, 151 N.Y.S. 67.

18. N.Y.—Stewart v. Smith, 175 N.Y.S. 468, 186 App.Div. 755.
23 C.J. p 900 note 57.

19. N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, 17 N.Y.S.2d 428, reversed on other grounds 20 N.Y.S.2d 787.

Inability to pay fine

N.Y.—Russell Homes Corporation v. Lynch, supra.

20. N.Y.—Goldreyer v. Foley, 139 N.Y.S. 190, 154 App.Div. 584.

21. N.Y.—Elite Distributing Co. v. Schrul, 126 N.Y.S. 607, 69 Misc. 206.
23 C.J. p 899 note 47 [a].

Disposition of bail money in satisfaction of plaintiff's judgment generally see Bail § 11 b.

22. N.Y.—In re Chambers' Will, 7 N.Y.S.2d 350, 169 Misc. 134, adhering to 4 N.Y.S.2d 875, 167 Misc. 843—

Paterson v. Goorley, 35 N.Y.S. 297, 14 Misc. 57.

S.C.—Dauntless Mfg. Co. v. Davis, 24 S.C. 584.

23 C.J. p 900 note 59.

23. U.S.—In re Shepherd, C.C.N.Y., 154 F. 957.

23 C.J. p 900 note 60.

24. N.Y.—Holton v. Robinson, 69 N.Y.S. 33, 59 App.Div. 45.

Wis.—Enders v. Smith, 100 N.W. 1061, 122 Wis. 640.

23 C.J. p 900 note 61.

25. Wis.—Enders v. Smith, supra.

23 C.J. p 900 note 61 [c].

26. S.C.—Dauntless Mfg. Co. v. Davis, 24 S.C. 536.

23 C.J. p 900 note 61 [b].

27. U.S.—In re Shepherd, C.C.N.Y., 154 F. 957.

23 C.J. p 900 note 60 [a].

28. N.Y.—Boelger v. Swivel, 1 How.Pr.N.S., 372.

23 C.J. p 900 note 62.

29. N.Y.—Engle v. Bonneau, 4 N.Y.Super. 679, 3 Code Rep. 205.

23 C.J. p 900 note 62 [a] (2).

30. N.Y.—Hutson v. Weld, 38 Hun 142.

23 C.J. p 900 note 62 [a] (3).

31. N.Y.—Howe v. Stuart, 123 N.Y.S. 971, 68 Misc. 352.

23 C.J. p 900 note 63.

32. N.Y.—Stettheimer v. Stettheimer, 2 N.Y.St. 358—Davis v. Turner, 4 How.Pr. 190.

23 C.J. p 900 note 64.

33. N.Y.—Hulsaver v. Wiles, 11 How.Pr. 446.

34. N.Y.—Ritter v. Greason, 59 N.Y.S. 1053, 28 Misc. 656.

35. N.Y.—Holton v. Robinson, 69 N.Y.S. 33, 59 App.Div. 45—Colne v. Girard, 19 Abb.N.Cas. 288.

36. N.Y.—Davis v. Turner, 4 How.Pr. 190.

23 C.J. p 900 note 63.

the proceedings are before a referee, the imposition of costs should not be made until the report of the referee is made.³⁷ It is not too late if made at any time before the final order for the application of the funds in the hands of the receiver or sheriff.³⁸ The order directing payment of costs may be made without notice to the debtor.³⁹

Taxation and adjustment. Where the costs are to be taxed and adjusted by the court or a judge thereof as it or he may direct, on appeal from a taxation by the clerk, a judge to whom the appeal is taken may direct a readjustment by the clerk.⁴⁰

Collection. Final costs in the proceeding for which an exclusive mode of collection is provided cannot be collected by execution.⁴¹ An execution issued under a statute providing that costs in the proceedings shall be recovered in an action, and a separate execution issued therefor, is not within a general provision respecting the time when executions may issue generally.⁴² Costs awarded to the debtor may be credited on the judgment;⁴³ but they do not come within statutory provisions authorizing the judge entertaining the supplementary proceedings to order applied to the satisfaction of the judgment money or property in the possession or control of the judgment debtor and disclosed by the examination or the testimony in the supplementary proceedings.⁴⁴ The final costs collectable by the creditor in the proceedings may be directed to be paid out of any money which has come or may come into the hands of the receiver or sheriff,⁴⁵ or under some,⁴⁶ but not other,⁴⁷ statutes, they may be directed to be paid by the judgment debtor.

Security for costs. Unless so provided by statute, the judgment debtor cannot require the creditor to file security for the costs of the proceeding.⁴⁸

b. In Action by or against Receiver

Usual rules as to costs also generally govern the costs in an action by or against a receiver in a supplementary proceeding.

A receiver in a supplementary proceeding, is not entitled to costs and disbursements in an action in which he is a nominal defendant against whom no personal claim is made,⁴⁹ nor, when made a party to an action by the debtor in which he interposes an answer seeking affirmative relief, is he entitled to costs against his codefendant.⁵⁰ He is, however, entitled to an allowance of costs where the judgment debtor's conduct warranted him in bringing the action,⁵¹ and an unsuccessful appeal will not affect his right to costs, if he was justified and was guilty of no impropriety in taking the appeal.⁵² A receiver may be adjudged to pay costs personally where he has instituted and prosecuted an action without leave of the court,⁵³ or has inexcusably interfered with property of a third person.⁵⁴ Costs may be assessed against the receiver in a supplementary proceeding, where he is unsuccessful in a proceeding instituted therein at the instance of the judgment creditor, regardless of whether the creditor's basic claim was meritorious,⁵⁵ and the receiver cannot avoid such costs on the ground that, in instituting such proceeding in good faith at the request of the judgment creditor, he was acting as an officer of the court, since he was merely an instrumentality of the creditor;⁵⁶ nor can he avoid the costs on the ground that he has no funds with which to pay them, where, by statute, he has a right of indemnity against the creditor.⁵⁷ A receiver may be required to give security for costs,⁵⁸ as where he has no funds in his hands applicable to the payment of costs and has obtained leave to sue.⁵⁹

Liability of judgment creditors. Judgment cred-

37. N.Y.—Kennedy v. Norcott, 54 How.Pr. 87.

38. N.Y.—Webber v. Hobbie, 13 How.Pr. 382.

39. N.Y.—Serven v. Lowerre, 23 N.Y.S. 1052, 3 Misc. 113.

40. N.Y.—Foley v. Rathbone, 12 Hun 589.

41. N.Y.—Vallente v. Bryan, 65 How.Pr. 203.

42. Me.—Stevens v. Manson, 32 A. 1002, 87 Me. 436.

43. N.Y.—Newville First Nat. Bank v. Yates, 47 N.Y.S. 484, 21 Misc. 373—Kress v. Morehead, 8 N.Y.St. 858.

44. N.Y.—Boelger v. Swivel, 1 How.Pr., N.S., 372.

45. N.Y.—Holton v. Robinson, 69 N.

Y.S. 33, 59 App.Div. 45—In re Merry, 42 N.Y.S. 617, 11 App.Div. 597. Wash.—Howard v. Hanson, 95 P. 265, 49 Wash. 314. 23 C.J. p 901 note 76.

46. N.Y.—Kearney's Case, 13 Abb.Pr. 459—Vallente v. Bryan, 65 How.Pr. 205.

47. Wash.—Howard v. Hanson, 95 P. 265, 49 Wash. 314.

48. Iowa.—Estey v. Fuller Implement Co., 46 N.W. 1098, 82 Iowa 678.

N.Y.—Newville First Nat. Bank v. Yates, 47 N.Y.S. 484, 21 Misc. 373. 23 C.J. p 901 note 91.

49. N.Y.—Baldwin v. Easler, 34 N.Y. Super. 274.

50. N.Y.—Arthur v. Dalton, 43 N.Y.S. 583, 14 App.Div. 108.

51. N.Y.—In re Merry, 42 N.Y.S. 617, 11 App.Div. 597.

52. N.Y.—In re Merry, supra.

53. N.Y.—Smith v. Woodruff, 6 Abb.Pr. 65. 23 C.J. p 901 note 82.

54. N.Y.—Robinson v. Wood, 15 N.Y.S. 169.

55. N.Y.—In re Chambers' Will, 7 N.Y.S.2d 250, 169 Misc. 124, adhering to 4 N.Y.S.2d 875, 167 Misc. 843.

56. N.Y.—In re Chambers' Will, supra.

57. N.Y.—In re Chambers' Will, supra.

58. N.Y.—Millis v. Pentelow, 36 N.Y.S. 906, 92 Hun 284. 23 C.J. p 901 note 92.

59. N.Y.—Welch v. Bogert, 3 N.Y. Wkly.Dig. 402.

itors are not personally liable for the costs of an unsuccessful action brought by a receiver, where they are not parties to the action, have not authorized or directed it, and have taken no part in its prosecution.⁶⁰ However, a creditor is so liable if he directs or takes an active part in prosecuting the action in the receiver's name for his own benefit,⁶¹ or procures himself to be appointed receiver before the recovery of judgment, and illegally seizes property.⁶² The creditor cannot be compelled to pay costs before the judgment therefor is perfected.⁶³

Attorney's fees. A receiver in a supplementary proceeding, who is appointed and acts in behalf of all the creditors, may be allowed attorney's fees out of the fund or property recovered;⁶⁴ but this rule does not apply where the supplementary proceeding is had and the receiver appointed only in the interests of a particular creditor,⁶⁵ and in such a case the receiver is not entitled to attorney's fees, as against defendant, for prosecuting an action to set aside a fraudulent conveyance, which action the creditor could have prosecuted in his own name without resorting to the receivership proceedings.⁶⁶

c. In Contempt Proceeding

The judgment creditor is entitled to reasonable costs in a proceeding for contempt only if the party charged is found guilty.

The judgment creditor is entitled to reasonable costs in proceedings to punish for a contempt in which the party charged has been convicted,⁶⁷ and a reasonable counsel fee may be allowed.⁶⁸ On the other hand, in the exercise of its discretion, costs may be awarded against him by the court when he does not succeed in securing a conviction of the party charged.⁶⁹

XV. EXTENT, ELEGIT, AND SPECIAL EXECUTIONS AGAINST WAGES AND OTHER CREDITS

§ 403. Extending Executions, and Proceedings by Elegit

- a. Definition and history
- b. Property subject
- c. Proceedings

a. Definition and History

Extents and elegits are execution processes by which property of the judgment debtor is taken over by the creditor, rather than sold, to satisfy the judgment. They have now become obsolete.

An extent, sometimes called an extendi facias, is an execution writ in the nature of a final process.⁷⁰ As used in this country, the term "extent" means a setting off of lands to the execution creditor in quantities sufficient to satisfy his writ, at their value as fixed by appraisers.⁷¹ The writ of extent was also used in England as a summary process against a debtor of the crown by which his body, goods, and lands could all be taken at once in execution to compel the payment of the debt;⁷² and it has been used similarly in this country as a summary remedy for recovering public revenue.⁷³

Elegit is a writ of execution authorized by ancient statute whereby the sheriff is commanded to take the personal property of the debtor, to appraise it and deliver it at its appraised value to the creditor, and also to deliver to the creditor, formerly one half, but under later statutes the whole, of the judgment debtor's freehold estate of which he was seized at the time of the docket of the judgment.⁷⁴ This writ was unknown to American jurisprudence, 60. N.Y.—Ward v. Roy, 69 N.Y. 96, 23 C.J. p 901 note 84.

61. N.Y.—Ward v. Roy, supra, 23 C.J. p 901 note 85.

62. N.Y.—Robinson v. Wood, 15 N.Y.S. 169.

63. N.Y.—Fredericks v. Niver, 28 Hun 417.

64. Minn.—Small v. Anderson, 166 N.W. 340, 139 Minn. 292.

65. Minn.—Small v. Anderson, supra.

66. Minn.—Small v. Anderson, supra, 23 C.J. p 901 note 88.

67. N.Y.—Matter of Kutcosky, 138 N.Y.S. 263, 153 App.Div. 526, 23 C.J. p 901 note 89.
Costs as part of fine see supra § 401.

68. N.Y.—National Wall Paper Co.

v. Gerlach, 37 N.Y.S. 428, 15 Misc. 640.

23 C.J. p 901 note 89 [a].

69. N.Y.—Rhodes v. Linderman, 17 N.Y.S. 628.

23 C.J. p 901 note 90.

70. N.H.—Nason v. Fowler, 47 A. 263, 70 N.H. 291, 293.
25 C.J. p 228 notes 45, 46.

71. Mass.—Roberts v. Whiting, 16 Mass. 186.

72. Va.—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Carter, 170 S.E. 764, 768, 161 Va. 381, 90 A.L.R. 191, 25 C.J. p 228 note 46 [c].

"It was 'both an action and an execution in the first instance.'"—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Carter, supra.

Extent in chief or in aid

"An extent in chief was the writ used by the king against his debtor. An extent in chief of the second or third, etc., degree was the writ used by the king against a debtor of his debtor, etc. An extent in aid was the writ used by a debtor of the king against his debtor to enforce the right of preference given to him because of his indebtedness to the king."—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Carter, supra—25 C.J. p 228 note 46 [d].

73. Vt.—Hackett v. Amsden, 56 Vt. 201.
25 C.J. p 228 note 46 [e].

74. Del.—First Nat. Bank v. Crook, 174 A. 369, 6 W.W.Harr. 281.
23 C.J. p 307 note 55.

No sale of land

Under the writ of elegit the creditor was not entitled to have the debtor's land sold to pay his judg-except in a few states, and even in these it has become obsolete.⁷⁵

Extents and elegits were useful in reaching land of the judgment debtor,⁷⁶ where his personality was insufficient,⁷⁷ since at common law lands of the debtor could not be sold on execution, see supra § 33. By the English statute of extents and elegits lands of the judgment debtor could be set off to the judgment creditor until his debt was paid;⁷⁸ and in some states, by similar statutes, lands were permitted to be set off or extended to the creditor pursuant to a writ of elegit instead of selling them.⁷⁹ The processes of extent and elegit became obsolete with the advent of statutes making the land of a judgment debtor subject to execution.⁸⁰

b. Property Subject

Any property subject to execution is in general subject to levy.

Unless otherwise provided by statute, the rules set forth supra in §§ 18-55 as to what property is subject to execution apply equally in determining on what property an extent may be levied; and generally no estate or interest in land can be so transferred by extent except such as the debtor might have conveyed by a suitable instrument for a valuable consideration.⁸¹ A levy by extent may be made on the lands of a deceased person,⁸² and in some states on the interest of a mortgagor.⁸³ In some states not only land or an interest therein will pass by an extent but also permanent buildings upon such land,⁸⁴ such as a store⁸⁵ or a chamber in a house or store;⁸⁶ but this does not apply to buildings not levied on and not belonging to the debtor.⁸⁷ The fact that a part of the property is personal does not invalidate the extent as to the real estate.⁸⁸

c. Proceedings

- (1) In general
- (2) Excessive levy
- (3) Mode of set-off
- (4) Delivery and acceptance of seizure
- (5) Title or rights acquired

(1) In General

The proceedings under an extent must follow the governing statutes.

In order for the creditor to obtain title under an extent or like process it is necessary that all the requirements of the statutes be strictly complied with.⁸⁹ Under some statutes, an inquest is necessary to determine whether the rents and profits of real estate levied on will be sufficient to satisfy, within a prescribed time, the judgment on which the execution was issued;⁹⁰ if found in the affirmative a writ of liberari facias issues, under which the property is delivered to the creditor;⁹¹ but if found in the negative the creditor is entitled to a venditioni exponas for the sale of the property.⁹² The extent should be made in the name of the judgment creditor.⁹³

An amendment of the extent cannot be allowed ment, but only to hold possession thereof until he was satisfied out of the rents and profits—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Carter, 170 S.E. 764, 161 Va. 381, 90 A.L.R. 191.

75. Utah.—Thompson v. Avery, 39 P. 829, 11 Utah 214.

76. Del.—First Nat. Bank v. Crook, 174 A. 369, 6 W.W.Harr. 281. 23 C.J. p 334 notes 29, 30, p 307 note 55 [a] (2).

77. Del.—First Nat. Bank v. Crook, supra. 23 C.J. p 334 note 29 [b].

78. N.Y.—Utica Bank v. Mersereau, 3 Barb.Ch. 528, 49 Am.D. 189.

79. U.S.—Ronald v. Barkley, C.C. Va., 20 F.Cas.No.12,631, 1 Brock. 356.

Va.—Lyons v. McGuire, 22 Gratt. 202, 63 Va. 202. 23 C.J. p 486 note 53.

80. N.Y.—Utica Bank v. Mersereau, 3 Barb.Ch. 528, 49 Am.D. 189. 23 C.J. p 334 note 31 [a].

81. Mass.—Bartlet v. Harlow, 12 Mass. 348, 7 Am.D. 76.

82. N.H.—Mead v. Harvey, 2 N.H. 341. 23 C.J. p 487 note 68.

83. Me.—Porter v. King, 1 Me. 297. 23 C.J. p 487 note 69.

Payment of mortgage

In a jurisdiction where unencumbered land could be levied on by extent only, payment of a mortgage on land by the debtor did not defeat a sale thereof on execution where such payment had been made after the mortgaged land was taken on execution and notice of sale given by the sheriff—Capen v. Doty, 13 Allen, Mass., 262.

84. Me.—Waterhouse v. Gibson, 4 Me. 230. N.H.—Mills v. Peirce, 2 N.H. 9.

85. N.H.—Mills v. Peirce, supra.

86. Me.—Buck v. Hardy, 6 Me. 162. 23 C.J. p 487 note 72.

87. N.H.—Aldrich v. Parsons, 6 N. H. 555.

Vt.—King v. Catlin, 1 Tyler 355. 23 C.J. p 487 note 73.

88. Conn.—Camp v. Smith, 5 Conn. 80.

89. Pa.—Friedman v. Friedman, 28

Pa.Dist. & Co. 655, 38 Lack.Jur. 25, 85 Pittsb.Leg.J. 136, 50 York Leg.Rec. 208.

23 C.J. p 486 note 58.

Return of extent see infra § 405.

Death of joint defendant

Where plaintiff in a judgment against joint defendants sought to seize lands under a writ of elegit issued on that judgment, it was necessary for him to take the lands of the deceased defendant as well as those of the surviving defendant.—First Nat. Bank v. Crook, 174 A. 369, 6 W.W.Harr., Del., 281.

90. Pa.—Thomas v. Wright, 9 Serg. & R. 87. 23 C.J. p 486 note 60.

91. Pa.—Sawyer v. Curtis, 2 Ashm. 127. 23 C.J. p 486 note 61.

92. Pa.—Black v. Aber, 2 Grant 206 —President of Orphans' Court v. Bower, 9 Lanc.Bar 73. 23 C.J. p 487 note 62.

93. Me.—Mysroll v. Violette, 55 Me. 108. 23 C.J. p 486 note 59.

after a third person has acquired an interest in the land under the debtor.⁹⁴

Waiver of defects. A quitclaim deed from the debtor to the creditor of land which has been set off to the latter on the execution is a waiver of all defects in the levy and a confirmation of the title.⁹⁵ However, the lapse of years does not raise a presumption that the requirements of the law have been complied with where the record of the extent is defective.⁹⁶

(2) Excessive Levy

The property set off under an extent should not be in any greater amount than authorized by the writ.

An extent for an amount greater than that authorized by the writ is void,⁹⁷ except where the error is not attributable to the officer or judgment creditor.⁹⁸ While in some instances a slight excess has been held too trivial to be regarded,⁹⁹ in others the excess of a few dollars or cents has been held material.¹ The extent is not void because the officer taxes, and causes to be satisfied in the extent, fees unauthorized by law.² Where several levies are made under one writ, and the total is excessive, only the levies in excess are void,³ and if the quantity of land stated in the return to have been set off on different executions exceeds the quantity contained in the whole tract the levy is not void, and the creditor who extends his execution last takes what remains after the previous extents.⁴

The usual remedy for an excessive levy made through mistake is in equity, where by proper decree a creditor may be compelled to relinquish as much of the property levied on as would be equal to the excess levied, or pay an equivalent therefor in money,⁵ but audita querela has been held an appropriate remedy.⁶

(3) Mode of Set-Off

The land set off must be sufficiently described. Ordinarily the set-off must be by metes and bounds.

The land set off must be so described as to be capable of being ascertained.⁷ It is sufficient to describe the land as bounded by the lands of others, provided its location can be ascertained.⁸

In several states where the levy is by an extent, it is required by statute that the officer shall set off the land levied on by metes and bounds, and not an undivided portion of it, except in cases where the property cannot be divided without great injury to the parties, when the officer may set off such an undivided portion of the real estate as shall be sufficient to satisfy the execution.⁹ Where the tract of land levied on is more than sufficient to satisfy the writ, or part of the land is exempt from levy, the portion set off must be designated by metes and bounds.¹⁰ In the case of an execution against one holding land as a tenant in common, the execution cannot be extended on a part of the land by metes and bounds,¹¹ but it must be extended over the whole, and a specified fractional undivided portion be set off to the creditor,¹² and if an extent is made on a specified number of acres in common and undivided as the property of one of the tenants in common, it must be understood to mean such fractional proportion of the whole as the number of acres taken bears to the whole number owned in common by the debtor.¹³ If there is only a life estate it has been held that the extent need not be by metes and bounds but it may be on the rents and profits,¹⁴ but in such a case such part only should be taken as will be sufficient to pay the debt.¹⁵

If the levy is subject to conditions recited to be contained in a deed, such conditions need not be

94. N.H.—Bowman v. Stark, 6 N.H. 459.

95. Me.—Freese v. McIntyre, 40 Me. 148.

96. Me.—Bannister v. Higginson, 15 Me. 73, 32 Am.D. 134.

97. Conn.—Coe v. Wickham, 33 Conn. 389.
23 C.J. p 487 note 75.

98. N.H.—Avery v. Bowman, 40 N. H. 453, 77 Am.D. 728.
23 C.J. p 487 note 76.

99. Conn.—Spencer v. Champion, 9 Conn. 536.
23 C.J. p 487 note 79.

1. Me.—Webster v. Hill, 38 Me. 78.
23 C.J. p 487 note 78.

2. Me.—Wilson v. Gannon, 54 Me. 384.
23 C.J. p 487 note 80.

3. Me.—Pierce v. Strickland, 26 Me. 277.

4. Mass.—Cutting v. Rockwood, 2 Pick. 443.

5. Conn.—Hathaway v. Heminway, 20 Conn. 191.
23 C.J. p 488 note 83.

6. Vt.—Hopkins v. Hayward, 34 Vt. 474.
23 C.J. p 488 note 84.

7. N.H.—Coburn v. Pomeroy, 44 N. H. 19—Morse v. Dewey, 3 N.H. 535.

8. N.H.—McConihe v. Sawyer, 12 N. H. 396.

9. Me.—Mansfield v. Jack, 24 Me. 98.
23 C.J. p 448 note 4.

10. Me.—Merrill v. Burbank, 23 Me. 538.

Vt.—Whitefield v. Adams, 27 A. 323, 65 Vt. 632.

23 C.J. p 488 note 88.

11. Vt.—Smith v. Benson, 9 Vt. 138, 31 Am.D. 614.
23 C.J. p 488 note 89.

12. Conn.—Starr v. Leavitt, 2 Conn. 243, 7 Am.D. 268.
23 C.J. p 488 note 90.

13. Me.—Webber v. Mallett, 16 Me. 88.

14. Me.—Sturdivant v. Frothingham, 10 Me. 100.

Levy on land or rents

An execution against a tenant for life may be levied by extent either on the land or on the rents and profits.—Barber v. Root, 10 Mass. 260—23 C.J. p 449 note 15.

15. Conn.—Wheeler v. Gorham, 2 Root 328.

set forth.¹⁶ Part of a house may be set off by extent if there is no fraud or oppression.¹⁷ If the land is without access except over other lands of the execution debtor, the appraisers may give the creditor the right of passing over the other lands of the debtor not set off.¹⁸

(4) Delivery and Acceptance of Seizin

Seizin must be delivered to, and accepted by, the creditor or some one acting on his behalf.

The offer of seizin must be made after and not before the appraisement.¹⁹ Delivery may be made to the creditor's attorney as well as to the creditor,²⁰ and the attorney who receives seizin need not be one appointed by deed.²¹ The creditor may refuse to accept seizin without assigning any reason therefor,²² but his acceptance of seizin is sufficient evidence of his election to extend his execution on real estate.²³ A creditor's subsequent conveyance, with warranty, of property acquired by levy, is sufficient evidence of his acceptance of seizin.²⁴ Acceptance of seizin by any one on behalf of the creditor is sufficient if afterward ratified by the creditor.²⁵ The statutes sometimes prohibit a creditor who has received seizin from waiving it except in certain cases.²⁶

(5) Title or Rights Acquired

Under the extent the creditor obtains such interest as the debtor had at the time of the levy. He is entitled to possession of the property and to any rents or profits arising therefrom.

By the extent, the creditor acquires the ownership of the debtor's title or interest, at the time of the levy, in the premises set off,²⁷ and, in the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, the creditor, as an incident of such ownership, is solely entitled to the rents and profits during his occupation under the levy.²⁸ His ownership, however, is limited to property which belonged to the debtor,²⁹ and an extent on land not belonging to the judgment debtor gives no title or seizin to the judgment creditor³⁰ even where the debtor, after the levy, acquires title to the property.³¹ If the debtor owns less than the quantity of or interest in land set off, such interest as he actually has will pass,³² and if the extent is of land as owned by the debtor in fee, when in fact he has only a life estate, it will vest a freehold for the life of the debtor.³³ If two or more executions are extended on lands by metes and bounds, the creditors hold as tenants in common,³⁴ and, if land held in common and undivided is extended, the extent gives the creditor seizin in common of the property.³⁵ Where the execution is extended for a certain number of years on the rents and profits of land, it is a charge on the estate, but the legal seizin remains in the owner of the freehold.³⁶ If the judgment on which the execution is issued is afterward reversed, the debtor may recover the land.³⁷ Where suit is brought by an assignee in the name of his assignor, and judgment is rendered and execution issued in the name of the assignor, an extent, by direction of the assignee, passes title directly to him.³⁸

The creditor may maintain partition against a stranger in possession of other undivided shares,³⁹ and may maintain trespass without regard to who is actually in possession.⁴⁰

Mortgaged land. Where the extent is on mortgaged land and the mortgagee is in possession, there is no ouster of the mortgagee, although the legal

16. Mass.—Bates v. Willard, 10 Metc. 62.

17. N.H.—Tift v. Walker, 10 N.H. 150.
23 C.J. p 488 note 88 [a].

18. Mass.—Taylor v. Townsend, 8 Mass. 411, 5 Am.D. 107.

19. Me.—Darling v. Rollins, 18 Me. 405.

20. Mass.—Herring v. Polley, 8 Mass. 113.

23 C.J. p 450 note 36 [c].

21. Mass.—Pratt v. Putnam, 13 Mass. 361.

22. Me.—Bingham v. Smith, 64 Me. 450.

23. Mass.—Herring v. Polley, 8 Mass. 113.

24. N.H.—Marston v. Osgood, 38 A. 378, 69 N.H. 96.

25. Me.—Cowan v. Wheeler, 31 Me. 429.

Mass.—Pratt v. Putnam, 13 Mass. 361.

N.H.—Newbury Bank v. Eastman, 44 N.H. 431.

26. U.S.—U. S. v. Poole, D.C.Me., 5 F. 412.

Me.—Gorham v. Blazo, 2 Me. 232.

27. Va.—Lyons v. McGuire, 22 Gratt. 202, 63 Va. 202.

23 C.J. p 488 notes 97 [b], 8.

28. N.H.—Russell v. Dyer, 33 N.H. 186.

Vt.—Moore v. McMillan, 54 Vt. 27.

29. Mass.—Bott v. Burnell, 9 Mass. 96.

Vt.—Abell v. Howe, 43 Vt. 403.

30. Mass.—Larcom v. Cheever, 16 Pick. 260—Bott v. Burnell, 9 Mass. 96.

23 C.J. p 489 note 12.

31. Me.—Freeman v. Thayer, 33 Me. 76.

32. Me.—Burnham v. Persons Unknown, 40 Me. 565.

N.H.—Coos Bank v. Brooks, 2 N.H. 148.

33. Mass.—Mechanics' Bank v. Williams, 17 Pick. 438.

34. Conn.—Lee v. Hinman, 6 Conn. 165.

23 C.J. p 489 note 17.

35. Mass.—Cutting v. Rockwood, 2 Pick. 433.

36. Mass.—Barber v. Root, 10 Mass. 260.

37. Me.—Bryant v. Fairfield, 51 Me. 149.

23 C.J. p 773 note 52.

38. N.H.—Gerrish v. Clough, 36 N. H. 519.

Vt.—Richards v. Pearl, 1 D.Chipm. 113.

39. N.H.—Lyford v. Dunn, 32 N.H. 81.

40. Me.—Woodman v. Bodfish, 25 Me. 317.

23 C.J. p 489 note 28.

seizin of the equity of redemption is thereby vested in the creditor,⁴¹ and if the equity of redemption is levied on and an undivided part is set off to the creditor, he cannot sustain a petition for the sale of the mortgaged premises and division of the proceeds among the parties interested.⁴²

Right to possession. The creditor is entitled to possession,⁴³ and has the right to enter and maintain possession as against the debtor.⁴⁴ If the debtor continues in possession he must be regarded as a mere tenant at law.⁴⁵

Growing crops. If there is an extent in the winter, and an entry under it in the autumn of the same year, the creditor is entitled to the growing crop.⁴⁶

Time of acquisition of rights. Although the extent begins when the appraisers are sworn,⁴⁷ the title is not complete until return is made of the extent and delivery of seizin.⁴⁸ Thus as a general rule it is not until the officer has delivered seizin and the same has been accepted by the creditor that the extent becomes final and the title of the judgment debtor is divested,⁴⁹ although it has been held that the mere levy vests an actual seizin in the creditor.⁵⁰ In any event, the title when acquired relates back to the commencement of the extent,⁵¹ and cuts off conveyances made since the levy.⁵²

Objections. One who holds by a conveyance, fraudulent as to creditors of the judgment debtor, is not thereby precluded from insisting on an exception to the sufficiency of the extent under which plaintiff, a creditor of the fraudulent grantor, claims title to the premises.⁵³

§ 404. — Redemption

The debtor may, under the statutes, redeem property set off under an extent.

Redemption of property set off to the creditor under an extent may be had as provided by the governing statutes.⁵⁴ If no redemption is made within the statutory time, the debtor is considered as assenting to the complete alienation of his interest at the appraised value.⁵⁵

§ 405. — Return of Extent

- a. In general
- b. Form and requisites
- c. Construction and effect
- d. Recording

a. In General

To be effective the extent must be returned to the court at a proper time.

Nothing will pass by an extent of an execution on land, unless the execution, with the doings of the officer, is returned to the court from which it issued, so that the extent may there become a matter of record.⁵⁶

Time for making. While the return of an extent on land should be made during the life of the execution,⁵⁷ nevertheless it is sufficient for the execution to be returned before it is offered in evidence of title, although after the return day.⁵⁸

b. Form and Requisites

- (1) In general
- (2) Inventory and appraisal
- (3) Amendment

(1) In General

The return must describe the property and must show that the law has been complied with.

All the material facts necessary to show that the law has been substantially complied with must appear explicitly or by necessary intendment by the officer's return.⁵⁹ The return must show that the officer delivered seizin and possession of the land appraised to the creditor or his attorney;⁶⁰ but if an execution is returned with an indorsement by the creditor or his attorney, acknowledging that he

41. Mass.—Shepard v. Pratt, 15 Pick. 32.

42. Conn.—Spencer v. Waterman, 36 Conn. 342.

43. N.H.—Drown v. Foss, 39 N.H. 525—Murray v. Emmons, 19 N.H. 483.

44. Mass.—Procter v. Newhall, 17 Mass. 81.

N.H.—Bergeron v. Dartmouth Sav. Bank, 62 N.H. 655.

45. Me.—Bryant v. Tucker, 19 Me. 383.

46. N.H.—Coolidge v. Melvin, 42 N. H. 510.

47. Me.—Allen v. Portland Stage Co., 8 Me. 207.

48. Mass.—Ladd v. Blunt, 4 Mass. 402.

49. Me.—Howe v. Willis, 51 Me. 226.
23 C.J. p 488 note 97.

50. Me.—Bryant v. Tucker, 19 Me. 383—Bartlett v. Perkins, 13 Me. 87.

51. Me.—Clement v. Garland, 53 Me. 427.
23 C.J. p 489 note 29.

52. Me.—Abbott v. Sturtevant, 30 Me. 40.

53. N.H.—Whittier v. Varney, 10 N. H. 291.

54. Me.—Foss v. Stickney, 5 Me. 390.

23 C.J. p 489 note 32.
Right to redeem generally see supra § 253.

55. Me.—Porter v. King, 1 Me. 297.

56. Conn.—Coe v. Slow, 8 Conn. 536.
23 C.J. p 809 note 87.

57. Vt.—Hall v. Hall, 5 Vt. 304.

58. N.H.—Odiorne v. Mason, 9 N.H. 24.
23 C.J. p 809 note 90.

59. Conn.—Bissell v. Mooney, 33 Conn. 411.
23 C.J. p 809 note 91.

60. Me.—Jackson v. Woodman, 29 Me. 266.

has received seizin from the officer, it is sufficient evidence that legal seizin was given, although the officer omits to return to that effect.⁶¹ The return need not state that the execution and return were recorded in the proper clerk's office.⁶² The fact that the return taxes the expenses in gross does not make the levy void.⁶³

Description of property. The return must describe the property by metes and bounds, or in such other mode as will distinctly point out and identify it.⁶⁴ The quantity of land set off must be shown with reasonable certainty.⁶⁵ It is a sufficient description of the land to refer to the appraisers' certificate which properly describes the land.⁶⁶ Likewise it is sufficient for the return in describing the property to refer to deeds on record which sufficiently describe it by metes and bounds.⁶⁷ It is not sufficient, however, in describing the property to refer to the inventory of the estate of a deceased debtor.⁶⁸

Where an officer makes an extent on the same parcel of land under two executions for and against the same parties, he need not levy on each execution separately, and describe distinct boundaries in each return.⁶⁹

(2) Inventory and Appraisement

The return must show an inventory and appraisement by appraisers who were properly appointed, qualified, and sworn.

The return of the officer must show expressly or by necessary implication that the requirements of the statute with relation to the inventory and appraisement of the land set off were complied with.⁷⁰ An express reference to the certificate of the appraisers is sufficient to show inventory and appraisement.⁷¹ The return is insufficient if it states the appraisers set off the estate by metes and bounds, where the appraisers' return sets off an undivided part.⁷² If in the levy the appraisers certify the value of a part of the land, and it appears by the return that the whole land was set off, it seems that the interest of the debtor will pass, if it is the same as that which has been appraised.⁷³

Appointment, qualifications, and oath of appraisers. A substantial compliance with all the requirements of the statute as to the appointment of appraisers must be shown by the officer's return, either expressly or by necessary inference.⁷⁴ Where the statute requires that the appraisers shall be residents of the county or town where the land lies, the return must show that fact.⁷⁵ The return must show that the appraisers were freeholders and possessed the qualifications required by the statute as to discretion and disinterestedness.⁷⁶

The return must show, either in itself or by reference to the justice's certificate, that the appraisers were sworn as required by law,⁷⁷ and that the person by whom they were sworn was a magistrate.⁷⁸ It is sufficient that the return states that the appraisers were duly sworn as will appear by the certificates of the justices, although there was no name signed to one of the certificates.⁷⁹ If the return makes the magistrate's certificate a part thereof, it will control in case of any discrepancy in the certificate as to the taking of the oath by the appraisers.⁸⁰

(3) Amendment

The return may be amended if rights of third persons have not intervened, and the amendment is sought at a proper time.

The return may be amended, in order to perfect the title, according to the truth and justice of the case, when no rights of third persons have intervened, and the evidence is full and satisfactory;⁸¹ and even as against third persons the return may and will be thus amended, if such persons have knowledge of the facts, or if the return contains in itself sufficient matter to show that in making the levy

61. Mass.—Atkins v. Bean, 14 Mass. 404.

62. Conn.—Flinch v. Bishop, 13 Conn. 576.

63. Me.—Tibbets v. Merrill, 12 Me. 122.

64. Conn.—Eels v. Day, 4 Conn. 95.

23 C.J. p 809 note 96.

65. Conn.—Coe v. Wickham, 33 Conn. 389.

66. Me.—French v. Allen, 50 Me. 437. Mass.—Herring v. Polley, 8 Mass. 113.

67. Mass.—Boylston v. Carver, 11 Mass. 515.

23 C.J. p 809 note 98.

68. Mass.—Tate v. Anderson, 9 Mass. 92.

69. Vt.—Doe v. Foot, 1 Tyler 14.

70. N.H.—McConihe v. Sawyer, 12 N.H. 396.

23 C.J. p 809 note 3.

71. Me.—Fitch v. Tyler, 34 Me. 463.

23 C.J. p 810 note 4.

72. Me.—Chase v. Williams, 71 Me. 190.

73. N.H.—Smith v. Knight, 20 N.H. 9.

74. N.H.—Whittier v. Varney, 10 N.H. 291.

23 C.J. p 810 note 7.

75. N.H.—Libbey v. Copp, 3 N.H. 45.

23 C.J. p 810 note 8.

76. Conn.—Donahue v. Coleman, 49 Conn. 464.

23 C.J. p 810 note 9.

77. Mass.—Kellenberger v. Sturtevant, 11 Cush. 160.

23 C.J. p 810 note 10, p 462 note 3 [a].

78. Me.—Howard v. Turner, 6 Me. 106.

79. Me.—Phillips v. Williams, 14 Me. 411.

80. Mass.—Cows v. Hastings, 9 Metc. 476.

81. N.H.—Whittier v. Varney, 10 N.H. 291.

23 C.J. p 810 note 15.

all the requirements of the statute were properly complied with.⁸² Amended returns are binding on the parties to the levy.⁸³ An unauthorized alteration of the return will not vacate a levy made thereunder whereby a title has vested.⁸⁴

Time of amendment. An amendment has been refused after the lapse of many years,⁸⁵ particularly where nothing appeared of record to amend by, and the officer making the return had gone out of office and had become the party interested in having the amendment made.⁸⁶ An amendment may be allowed at any time after the return day of the execution, in the discretion of the court to which the execution was returnable and returned.⁸⁷ The amendment relates back to the time of the levy or return,⁸⁸ but it has been held that an amendment after recordation does not relate to the time of the registry but takes effect from the time it is made.⁸⁹

c. Construction and Effect

- (1) Construction
- (2) Operation and effect

(1) Construction

The return should, if possible, be construed so as to uphold its sufficiency.

In construing the return, every intendment will be made in favor of the sufficiency of the return, and of the regularity and legality of the officer's acts.⁹⁰ If the return has no date it will be presumed to refer to the date of the appraisalment.⁹¹ If the return incorporates and adopts the appraisalment, the whole must be taken together in construing the description of the premises.⁹² A statement in the return that the debtor had neglected and refused to choose an appraiser raises the implication that notice to choose an appraiser was duly given.⁹³

(2) Operation and Effect

The return conveys the land and divests the debtor of his title; and it is conclusive evidence of such transfer of title.

It is the return of the officer of the appraisalment and proceedings which operates as a statutory conveyance of land set off on execution, and divests the debtor of his title.⁹⁴ Where the return states a delivery of seizin to the agent or attorney of the creditor, it furnishes prima facie evidence that such person was agent or attorney for that purpose.⁹⁵ The return will not relate back to the levy so as to vest the title from that time in the execution creditor where such relation back would prejudice persons not parties or privies to the proceeding.⁹⁶ The return is admissible in evidence although it does not appear otherwise than by the return that it was ever returned into the clerk's office.⁹⁷

Mistake in return. An obvious mistake in the date of a return will not defeat the levy.⁹⁸ A mistake in the return, in order to be ground for release, must be that of both parties.⁹⁹

Conclusiveness. The return of a levy on real estate is conclusive on the parties and their privies, and against the whole world as evidence that thereby, as between the parties, the title of the debtor in the estate levied on passed to the judgment creditor.¹ Where a return is not necessary it is not conclusive.² The return is not conclusive evidence of an encumbrance existing on the property or as to the amount of such encumbrance.³ A certificate that the levy was completed on a certain day may be controlled by evidence that it was made and sei-

82. Me.—Peaks v. Gifford, 5 A. 879, 78 Me. 362.

23 C.J. p 810 note 16.

83. Me.—Symonds v. Harris, 51 Me. 14, 81 Am.D. 553.

84. Vt.—Gilman v. Thompson, 11 Vt. 643, 34 Am.D. 714.

85. Me.—Russ v. Tilman, 16 Me. 209. N.H.—Libbey v. Copp, 3 N.H. 45.

23 C.J. p 810 note 17.

86. Me.—Pierce v. Strickland, 26 Me. 277.

87. N.H.—Avery v. Bowman, 39 N. H. 393.

88. N.H.—Whittier v. Varney, 10 N. H. 291.

89. Me.—Means v. Osgood, 7 Me. 146.

90. Me.—Glidden v. Philbrick, 56 Me. 222.

23 C.J. p 810 note 24.

91. Me.—Gorham v. Blazo, 2 Me. 332.

92. N.H.—Vogt v. Ticknor, 48 N.H. 242.

93. Me.—Thompson v. Oakes, 13 Me. 407.

23 C.J. p 811 note 27.

94. Me.—Jewett v. Whitney, 51 Me. 233—Pope v. Cutler, 22 Me. 105.

The delivery of seisin is an acceptance of title by the creditor in satisfaction of the debt, as of the date of those proceedings.—Pope v. Cutler, supra.

Levy on two parcels

Where an officer levied on two parcels of land, at the same time, and had them both set off together, describing each parcel separately in his return, and it was claimed that the creditor's debt, according to the appraisalment of the land, was fully satisfied by the parcel first described, and that, consequently no title to the second parcel was acquired by the levy thereon, it was held that the mere prior description of one of the parcels in the return did not make any difference in the legal effect of the execution.—Hathaway v. Hemingway, 20 Conn. 191.

95. N.H.—Odiorne v. Mason, 9 N.H. 24.

23 C.J. p 811 note 30.

96. Conn.—Coe v. Stow, 8 Conn. 536.

97. Me.—Hanly v. Sidelinger, 52 Me. 138.

98. Mass.—Shove v. Dow, 13 Mass. 529.

99. Me.—Young v. McGown, 62 Me. 56.

1. U.S.—Mattocks v. Farrington, D. C.Me., 16 F.Cas.No.9,298, 2 Hask. 331.

23 C.J. p 811 note 36.

2. Vt.—Hackett v. Amsden, 57 Vt. 432.

23 C.J. p 811 note 37.

3. Mass.—Hannum v. Tourtellott, 10 Allen 494.

zin delivered at an earlier date.⁴ If there is a variance as to the estimated value of land between the report of the appraisers and the return, the latter governs and is conclusive as to the levy.⁵ On a petition to the supreme court to vacate the levy of an execution for the want of notice to the debtor to choose an appraiser, the fact that no such notice was given may be shown by parol, notwithstanding the return states that notice was given.⁶ As against the officer the return is conclusive,⁷ but not as against third persons.⁸

d. Recording

The return must be recorded in the proper office and within the required time.

Some statutes require the officer to make his return to the clerk's office from which the execution issued and to cause the execution, with his return thereon, to be recorded in the registry of deeds, or in the town clerk's office, of the county, district, or town in which the land lies, on or before the return day; and unless this is done, no title passes except as against the debtor and his heirs and persons having actual knowledge of the facts.⁹ It is otherwise as to the record in the office of the clerk of the court, or of the justice issuing the execution, for here it is sufficient if the record is made before suit is brought by which the title is to be tested.¹⁰ It is not sufficient to leave the return in the clerk's office for record before the return day of the writ, where the record was not actually made until after such day.¹¹ If the return as recorded shows that the levy was for a larger amount than the execution, no title passes by such levy.¹² An error in the record which is not prejudicial to the interest of any one does not avoid it.¹³ The record may be made from a copy of the execution with the return thereon.¹⁴ In some jurisdictions it is the duty of the officer to procure the return to be recorded in the office of the clerk of the court and of the town where the land lies,¹⁵ but in others the levying officer is not bound to procure the execution and levy to be registered.¹⁶

§ 406. Special Executions against Wages or Other Credits

- a. In general
- b. Under New York statutes
- c. Under New Jersey statutes

a. In General

By some statutes a special execution is permitted under which the creditor obtains a continuing right to a portion of the debtor's wages or credits as they accrue.

In several jurisdictions the statutes provide a mode by which a judgment may be collected, under a special form of execution, by regular deductions from wages or other credits due or to become due to the judgment debtor.¹⁷ Such an execution has been designated a "sugestee execution,"¹⁸ a "garnishee execution," see infra subdivision b of this section, and an "installment execution," see infra subdivision c of this section.

b. Under New York Statutes

- (1) In general
- (2) Income subject
- (3) Proceedings

(1) In General

A garnishee execution under the New York statutes

The return of an execution wholly or partly unsatisfied is necessary before a suggestee execution can issue.—Kincaid v. Vinson, supra.

In Pennsylvania

(1) A wife seeking to enforce payments to her for support may proceed under a statute authorizing a levy on fifty per cent of her husband's interest in trust.—In re Stewart's Estate, 5 A.2d 910, 334 Pa. 356.

(2) The statute making trusts subject to execution to enforce decree against husband for support of wife, to extent of fifty per cent of husband's interest therein, did not expressly or by implication repeal statute giving wife right to reach entire income from testamentary trust, even though a spendthrift one.—In re Stewart's Estate, supra.

18. W.Va.—Kincaid v. Vinson, 14 S. E.2d 266.

4. Me.—Balch v. Pattee, 38 Me. 353.
5. N.H.—Chase v. Hazelton, 7 N.H. 171.
6. Vt.—Briggs v. Green, 33 Vt. 565.
7. Me.—Allen v. Doyle, 33 Me. 420.—Cowan v. Wheeler, 31 Me. 439.
8. Mass.—Bott v. Burnell, 11 Mass. 163.
23 C.J. p 811 note 43.
9. N.H.—Morse v. Child, 7 N.H. 581.
23 C.J. p 811 note 44.
10. Vt.—Little v. Sleeper, 37 Vt. 105, 86 Am.D. 697—Perrin v. Reed, 33 Vt. 62.
11. Vt.—Little v. Sleeper, 37 Vt. 105, 86 Am.D. 697.
12. Vt.—Skinner v. McDaniel, 5 Vt. 539.
13. Vt.—Skinner v. Watson, 4 Vt. 421.
14. Vt.—Skinner v. Watson, supra.

15. Vt.—Little v. Sleeper, 37 Vt. 105, 86 Am.D. 697—Hubbard v. Dewey, 2 Aik. 312.

16. Mass.—Tobey v. Leonard, 15 Mass. 200.

17. W.Va.—Kincaid v. Vinson, 14 S. E.2d 266.

Rules under:

New York statutes see infra subdivision b of this section.
New Jersey statutes see infra subdivision c of this section.

Repeal of prior statutes

The Act of 1939, by the express terms of which wages payable to any person engaged in private employment were made subject to suggestion by judgment creditors "only as provided by this article," superseded and repealed all prior statutory provisions whereby wages were made subject to suggestions on judgments, unless recognized by the Act of 1939.—Kincaid v. Vinson, supra.

is a remedial process designed to give the creditor a continuing execution against certain income of the debtor. Under such an execution, as the debtor's salary or income becomes payable a fixed percentage is deducted and applied to the judgment.

Under a New York statute, where a judgment has been recovered and execution thereon returned unsatisfied the judgment creditor may by a garnishee execution obtain a fixed percentage of any wages, debts, earnings, salary, profits, or income from trust funds, due or to become due the judgment debtor, provided such income exceeds a designated sum per week.¹⁹ The garnishee execution is a remedial process²⁰ in aid of a judgment previously recovered against the judgment debtor.²¹ It is an execution against property rather than one against the person,²² and amounts to a demand and authorization by the court to pay the amounts specified therein.²³

The purpose of the statute is to secure to the judgment creditor a continuing execution against the debtor's salary as it is earned, and to compel the employer to withhold from the debtor a designated percentage of such salary.²⁴ The statute is designed to enlarge, not restrict, the remedies of a judgment creditor.²⁵

Retroactive operation. It has been held that such a statute is retroactive, and applicable to judgments recovered prior to the passage thereof as well as to those thereafter recovered,²⁶ and to existing trusts as well as to trusts thereafter established.²⁷

(2) Income Subject

A garnishee execution may be used to reach trust income, and, in general, any remuneration for personal services, such as compensation in the form of a salary or commissions.

The term "earnings" as used in the statute covers all compensation for services.²⁸ It is not necessary that the earnings, wages, or salary be payable at definite times and in definite amounts²⁹ by virtue of an express contract.³⁰ Earnings under an implied contract by which the judgment debtor is to be paid the reasonable value of his services may be subjected to a garnishee execution;³¹ and, in proper proceedings instituted by the judgment creditor, the court may find such an implied contract to exist, and may fix the reasonable value of the debtor's services for garnishee purposes,³² notwithstanding a claim on the part of the debtor or his employer that the debtor receives a very small amount, or nothing at all, for his services.³³ Compensation in

19. Statute held valid

N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194, affirming 189 N.Y.S. 673.

Prior decisions construing and applying earlier statute from which this statute was derived see 23 C.J. p 902 note 15—p 904 note 27.

20. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, supra—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., 229 N.Y.S. 305, 129 Misc. 600.

21. N.Y.—Commercial Credit Corporation v. Young, 16 N.Y.S.2d 324, 258 App.Div. 323.

23 C.J. p 902 note 15 [a].

22. N.Y.—In re Howard Hotel Corporation, 270 N.Y.S. 259, 150 Misc. 782.

Orders directing debtor to pay judgment in installments see supra § 383.

23. N.Y.—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, 221 N.Y.S. 758, 129 Misc. 512.

24. N.Y.—Reliance Investing Co. v. Power, 240 N.Y.S. 585, 136 Misc. 694.

23 C.J. p 903 note 17.

Effect as continuing levy

The garnishee execution becomes a lien and a continuing levy on the earnings or other income due or to become due to the judgment debtor, to the extent of the percentage designated in the statute.—Sarver v. Towne, 34 N.E.2d 813, 285 N.Y. 264, reversing 23 N.Y.S.2d 700, 260 App. Div. 615—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236.

25. N.Y.—D. L. & W. Coal Co. v. Kenlon, 297 N.Y.S. 126, 164 Misc. 32.

Disability payments due under an insurance policy do not constitute debts, earnings, profits, or trust income under the statute, and such payments may be reached in their entirety.

U.S.—Samuels v. Quartin, C.C.A.N.Y., 108 F.2d 789.

N.Y.—Conlew, Inc., v. Baltowsky, 28 N.Y.S.2d 515, 262 App.Div. 214.

Debt due employee for past salary

Where an employer has withheld the entire salary of the judgment debtor for an extended period, a judgment creditor who thereafter proceeds against the fund accrued is not limited, by the garnishee statute, to a designated percentage of such fund.—Reliance Investing Co. v. Power, 240 N.Y.S. 585, 136 Misc. 694.

26. N.Y.—Laird v. Carton, 89 N.E. 822, 196 N.Y. 169, 25 L.R.A.N.S., 189, reversing 116 N.Y.S. 851, 132 App.Div. 176.

23 C.J. p 902 note 12.

27. N.Y.—Brerley School v. Ward, 94 N.E. 1001, 201 N.Y. 358, 40 L. R.A.N.S., 1215, Ann.Cas.1912B 251.

28. N.Y.—Burns v. Maurer, 131 N.Y.S. 344, 72 Misc. 481.

23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [a].

29. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236. Contra Jones v. Nicoll, 131 N.Y.S. 341, 343, 72 Misc. 483, 485.

30. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236.

31. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., supra—Flapan v. Rosenblum, 196 N.Y.S. 892, 119 Misc. 625, appeal dismissed 199 N.Y.S. 36, 205 App. Div. 76.

32. N.Y.—Schwartz Tire Corporation v. Gershon, 290 N.Y.S. 63, 160 Misc. 439.

33. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236—Pfeiffer v. Palace Market, 248 N.Y.S. 402, 139 Misc. 295.

Employment by corporation owned by debtor's wife

Where a judgment debtor was employed by a corporation which was practically owned by his wife, and received no pay for his services, although they were reasonably worth sixty dollars a week, it was held proper to issue a garnishee execution for six dollars a week.—Flapan v. Rosenblum, 196 N.Y.S. 892, 119 Misc. 625, appeal dismissed 199 N.Y.S. 36, 205 App.Div. 76.

Express contract

The judgment creditor is not entitled to have the court fix the debtor's salary for the purpose of a garnishee execution where there exists an express contract of employment at less than the minimum sal-the form of commissions is subject to a garnishee execution.³⁴

Debts. It has been held that the word "debts" as used in the statute should be given a limited meaning,³⁵ that it should be read ejusdem generis,³⁶ and that it embraces only debts of the character of wages, earnings, and salary.³⁷ However, it has also been held that the term "debts" in the statute is used in the general sense of the word,³⁸ that it includes contractual debts,³⁹ and that it is not limited to such debts as arise from the debtor's personal labor or service.⁴⁰

Trust income. The income of a beneficiary from a trust fund may be reached by a garnishee execution.⁴¹ In determining whether the judgment debtor has such an interest in the trust as may be reached by a garnishee execution the test is whether he has a right to the use of the income.⁴² If under the terms of the trust the trustee may in his discretion apply the income either to the use of the judgment debtor or to the use of some one else, income allotted to the debtor can be reached by the garnishee,⁴³ but income applied to the sole use of some one other than the debtor cannot be;⁴⁴ and the income from a trust is not free from the creditor's right to garnishee where the trust requires that the trustee, if he does not pay the income to the judgment debtor, must apply it to the use of the debtor and his dependents.⁴⁵

The wages or salary of public officials or employees,⁴⁶ other than those employed by the federal gov-ary.—Francis H. Leggett & Co. v. Feldman, 268 N.Y.S. 340, 150 Misc. 24.

34. N.Y.—Laird v. Carton, 89 N.E. 822, 196 N.Y. 169, 25 L.R.A.N.S., 189—Davidow v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 246 N.Y.S. 512, 231 App.Div. 300.

Drawings or loans against commissions

A garnishee execution is effective where the commissions earned exceed the minimum amount required under the garnishee statute, even where the employee has become indebted to his employer by borrowing, or by drawing against his commissions, a sum exceeding the amount of his commissions.—President and Directors of Manhattan Co. v. Washington Haberdasheries, 296 N.Y.S. 403, 163 Misc. 66—Rosenberg v. Parlay Hats, 258 N.Y.S. 949, 144 Misc. 519—23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [a] (5).

35. U.S.—Samuels v. Quartin, C.C. A.N.Y., 108 F.2d 789.
23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [c].

36. U.S.—Samuels v. Quartin, supra.

37. U.S.—Samuels v. Quartin, supra.

38. N.Y.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., 223 N.Y.S. 305, 129 Misc. 600.

The term "debts" includes every claim and demand on which a judgment for a sum of money could be recovered in an action.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., supra.

39. N.Y.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., supra.

Gross proceeds due to a tenant farmer for farm products are subject to garnishment execution, notwithstanding the effect is to charge him with the whole cost of production.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., supra.

40. N.Y.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., supra.

41. N.Y.—Sarver v. Towne, 34 N.E.2d 313, 285 N.Y. 264, reversing 23 N.Y.S.2d 700, 260 App.Div. 615—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784—Judis v. Martin, 218 N.Y.S. 423, 218 App.Div. 402, motion granted 155 N.E. 916, 244 N.Y. 605—Schaefer v. Fisher, 242 N.Y.S. 308, 137 Misc. 420.

23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [e].

Exemption of insurance

Enactment of statute providing that proceeds of life policy might not be subject to encumbrance or legal process does not repeal statute providing that certain income from trust fund may be made subject to execution, but established exemption from its provisions.—Crossman Co. v. Rauch, 188 N.E. 748, 263 N.Y. 264, reversing 264 N.Y.S. 111, 238 App.Div. 299.

Intent of creator

It is immaterial that the creator of the trust intended the income therefrom to be entirely exempt from the claims of the beneficiary's creditors.—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784.

Income not yet due

It is not necessary that the income be due at the time the garnishee order is made and the execution served; the lien attaches when and if the day of payment arrives.—Hamilton v. Drogo, 150 N.E. 496, 241 N.Y. 401, reversing 210 N.Y.S. 859, 214 App.Div. 819—In re Randolph's Will, 288 N.Y.S. 678, 159 Misc. 688.

Assignment of income

Where the beneficiary's interest is inalienable, the percentage due the judgment creditor is based on the entire income rather than on the difference between the entire income and the portion thereof ineffectively assigned by him to his wife.—In re

Randolph's Will, 288 N.Y.S. 678, 159 Misc. 688.

42. N.Y.—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784.
23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [f].

43. N.Y.—Sand v. Beach, supra—Hamilton v. Drogo, 150 N.E. 496, 241 N.Y. 401, reversing 210 N.Y.S. 859, 214 App.Div. 819.

44. N.Y.—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784—Hamilton v. Drogo, 150 N.E. 496, 241 N.Y. 401, reversing 210 N.Y.S. 859, 214 App.Div. 819.

Interference with trustee's discretion

Trustee's discretion under such circumstances is not subject to judicial interference, as regards creditor's right to reach beneficiary's interest.—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784—Hamilton v. Drogo, 150 N.E. 496, 241 N.Y. 401, reversing 210 N.Y.S. 859, 214 App.Div. 819.

45. N.Y.—Sand v. Beach, 200 N.E. 821, 270 N.Y. 281, modifying 280 N.Y.S. 789, 244 App.Div. 784.

46. N.Y.—Rickey v. Slingerland, 256 N.Y.S. 901, 904, 143 Misc. 583.
23 C.J. p 903 note 20 [a].

Legislative power

"Statutes authorizing garnishment of the salaries or wages of public officials or employees are within the Legislature's power."—Rickey v. Slingerland, supra.

Necessity of specifying bureau

The salaries of employees of the city of New York are subject to garnishment, but the garnishee order must specify the particular department or bureau in which the judgment debtor is employed.—Draco Realty Corporation v. Krapp, 24 N.Y.S.2d 173, 175 Misc. 589.

ernment,⁴⁷ are subject to garnishment under this section.

A bounty or gift is not included under the terms of the statute.⁴⁸

(3) Proceedings

Proceedings to obtain and enforce a garnishee execution must follow the statutes. While the debtor need not be notified, an execution against his salary must be served on his employer. Failure of the employer to pay over the required percentage renders him liable to an action therefor.

Garnishee proceedings are purely statutory,⁴⁹ and to enable the judgment creditor to avail himself thereof he must comply strictly with the provisions of the statute.⁵⁰ The garnishee execution must be issued out of a proper court⁵¹ and served on the employer.⁵² The garnishee execution may be obtained without notice to the judgment debtor⁵³ but must be preceded by the return of an execution unsatisfied.⁵⁴ If there is more than one garnishee execution outstanding, they are satisfied one at a time, in their order of priority.⁵⁵ A garnishee execution may be issued on an assigned claim.⁵⁶

Order for garnishee execution. It is necessary to obtain an order for the issuance of the garnishee execution.⁵⁷ Such an order is an ex parte court order and not a judge's order.⁵⁸ It is better practice to file the order prior to the issuance of the garnishee execution,⁵⁹ and filing will be required on the motion of any interested party or person,⁶⁰ but the failure so to file is not a jurisdictional defect⁶¹ and, in the absence of damage, or intervening rights of third persons, will not invalidate the garnishee execution.⁶² The order will be granted only on satisfactory proof of the required facts.⁶³

Modification. The garnishee order and execution

47. N.Y.—Reeves v. Crownshield, 8 N.E.2d 283, 274 N.Y. 74, 111 A.L.R. 389, affirming 292 N.Y.S. 756, 162 Misc. 118—Boal Floral Co. v. Coyne, 284 N.Y.S. 960, 158 Misc. 13.

Work relief payments

Money received for work on relief projects from Works Progress Administration, a federal agency, is not subject to garnishee process.—Dibner v. Cousminer, 283 N.Y.S. 369, 157 Misc. 229.

48. U.S.—In re Hoag, D.C.N.Y., 227 F. 480.
23 C.J. p 902 note 16 [d].

49. N.Y.—Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., 223 N.Y.S. 305, 129 Misc. 600.

50. U.S.—In re Murphy, D.C.N.Y., 221 F. 449.
23 C.J. p 903 notes 18, 19.

Filing of transcript

(1) Where a garnishee execution is sought in a county other than the one in which a judgment was rendered, a transcript of the judgment must be filed in the county in which the execution is issued.—In re Howard Hotel Corporation, 270 N.Y.S. 259, 150 Misc. 782.

(2) A garnishee execution may be issued to a marshal of New York City under judgment entered in New York city court notwithstanding a transcript of that judgment has been docketed in office of clerk of county, since the filing of transcript in county clerk's office did not give supreme court exclusive jurisdiction over the issuance of a garnishee execution.—Hausman v. Steiner, 13 N.Y.S.2d 567, 171 Misc. 676, reversing 10 N.Y.S.2d 733, 170 Misc. 712.

Procedure as dependent on whether court is of record

If the garnishee order is to be issued out of a court which is not a court of record, the execution must be issued by a judge or justice of such court; if the court is one of record, a judge or justice thereof must issue an order directing that an execution issue.—Salm v. Stroheim & Romann, 261 N.Y.S. 694, 146 Misc. 173—23 C.J. p 903 note 19 [d].

51. City court of Buffalo

N.Y.—Shackman v. Osborne, 13 N.Y.S.2d 854, 257 App.Div. 1037.

52. N.Y.—Salm v. Stroheim & Romann, 261 N.Y.S. 694, 146 Misc. 173.
23 C.J. p 903 note 20 [c], [d].

Service of order only

It is insufficient to serve merely the order directing the issuance of an execution.—Salm v. Stroheim & Romann, 261 N.Y.S. 694, 146 Misc. 173.

Trustee in bankruptcy

If the employer has been adjudicated a bankrupt and a trustee appointed, the garnishee execution must be served on the trustee to reach wages accruing thereafter.—In re Murphy, D.C.N.Y., 221 F. 449.

53. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194, affirming 189 N.Y.S. 673.
23 C.J. p 903 note 19 [e].

54. N.Y.—Hausman v. Steiner, 13 N.Y.S.2d 567, 171 Misc. 676, reversing 10 N.Y.S.2d 733, 170 Misc. 712.
23 C.J. p 902 note 15 [a].

Rights of junior garnishee lienor

A junior garnishee lienor has such an interest as entitles him to apply for vacatur of order permitting issuance of garnishee execution in favor of another judgment creditor before return of execution unsatisfied.—Hausman v. Steiner, supra.

55. N.Y.—Pfeiffer v. Palace Market, 248 N.Y.S. 402, 139 Misc. 295.

56. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194, affirming 189 N.Y.S. 673.

57. Contents of order

(1) A garnishee order is not rendered invalid by its failure to state expressly that allowance is to be made for those weeks in which the debtor's salary falls below the minimum.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 189 N.Y.S. 673, affirmed 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194.

(2) The garnishee order may direct the employer to turn over the required percentage at reasonable intervals, as for example, semiannually.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236.

58. N.Y.—F. B. Matthews & Co. v. Maskin, 29 N.Y.S.2d 22, 176 Misc. 728.

59. N.Y.—Guaranteed Title & Mortgage Co. v. Calleran, 16 N.Y.S.2d 413.

60. N.Y.—F. B. Matthews & Co. v. Maskin, 29 N.Y.S.2d 22, 176 Misc. 728.

61. N.Y.—Guaranteed Title & Mortgage Co. v. Calleran, 16 N.Y.S.2d 413.

62. N.Y.—F. B. Matthews & Co. v. Maskin, 29 N.Y.S.2d 22, 176 Misc. 728—Guaranteed Title & Mortgage Co. v. Calleran, 16 N.Y.S.2d 413.

63. N.Y.—Friedman v. McHugh, 293 N.Y.S. 345, 161 Misc. 856.

Proof that an execution has been returned unsatisfied may be made by affidavit "or otherwise;" and a court clerk's notation that execution was returned unsatisfied has been held sufficient.—Harlem Metal Corporation v. Segal, 8 N.Y.S.2d 969, 971, 167 Misc. 321.

Facts obtained by telephone

Statement in affidavit for garnishee execution based on facts obtained by telephone is insufficient without.

are subject to modification⁶⁴ on the application of either party⁶⁵ on a showing that conditions have changed from those existing when the order was made and the execution issued.⁶⁶ However, the fact that the order has not been appealed from, or in any way modified, does not render it res judicata on the rights of the parties.⁶⁷

Enforcement of garnishee execution. The garnishee execution can be effective only if served on an employer who is amenable to the process and jurisdiction of the court.⁶⁸ Thus salary paid by a foreign corporation which is not present in the state for the purpose of process cannot ordinarily be reached.⁶⁹ In general, the acquisition of jurisdiction in the case of a nonresident employer or judgment debtor is governed by the principles applicable to attachments.⁷⁰ While it has been held that the situs of the contract between the judgment debtor and his employer must be within the court's jurisdiction,⁷¹ it has also been held, by virtue of an amendment to the attachment statutes, that garnishee proceedings will lie with respect to a salary or debt payable by a foreign corporation to a nonresident if the corporation is subject to the process of the court.⁷²

If the person to whom the execution is presented fails to pay over the percentage of indebtedness required, he is liable to an action at law therefor by the judgment creditor.⁷³ The action so provided for is the sole remedy for failure to comply with the execution;⁷⁴ the court has no authority to enforce it⁷⁵ by summary order.⁷⁶ The general rules as to parties,⁷⁷ pleadings,⁷⁸ and evidence⁷⁹ have been applied in such actions. The burden is on the judgment creditor to establish that the employer owed the judgment debtor earnings or salary in an proof as to recognition of the voice.

—Friedman v. McHugh, 293 N.Y.S. 345, 161 Misc. 856.

A typographical error in the affidavit accompanying the application for a garnishee order does not invalidate a garnishee execution issued thereon.—Harlem Metal Corporation v. Segal, 3 N.Y.S.2d 969, 167 Misc. 321.

64. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236 —Coller v. Sheffield Farms Co., 223 N.Y.S. 305, 129 Misc. 600.

Who may entertain application; collateral attack

(1) Application for modification of garnishee's execution may be made to judge or justice issuing it or to court from which execution issued.—In re Howard Hotel Corporation, 270 N.Y.S. 259, 150 Misc. 782.

(2) Garnishee execution against income due judgment debtor is not subject to collateral attack, and any modification of order must be sought in tribunal of original jurisdiction.—In re Randolph's Will, 288 N.Y.S. 678, 159 Misc. 688.

65. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194, affirming 189 N.Y.S. 673—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236.

66. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., supra.

67. N.Y.—VanValkenburgh v. Bishop, 164 N.Y.S. 86.

68. N.Y.—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, 221 N.Y.S. 758, 129 Misc. 512.

69. N.Y.—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, supra.

70. N.Y.—Commercial Credit Corporation v. Young, 16 N.Y.S.2d 324, 258 App.Div. 323—Brock v. Brock, 18 N.Y.S.2d 648, 173 Misc. 172—Carpenter v. Parabaugh, 262 N.Y.S. 609, 146 Misc. 625—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, 221 N.Y.S. 758, 129 Misc. 512.

71. N.Y.—Morris Plan Co. v. Miller, 169 N.Y.S. 37, 102 Misc. 470.

Employment contract with foreign corporation

(1) Where judgment debtor had resided in New York when served with summons and complaint, but had subsequently become a Pennsylvania resident and entered into contract of employment in Pennsylvania with Pennsylvania corporation, order directing issuance of garnishee execution against debtor's wages was held void for lack of jurisdiction on the ground that the res was the contract of employment and was beyond the court's jurisdiction.—Commercial Credit Corporation v. Young, 16 N.Y.S.2d 324, 258 App.Div. 323.

(2) "Prior to 1936 it was well settled that a garnishment of salary due or to become due from a foreign corporation only authorized to do business in this state would not lie where the non-resident debtor performs no services and in fact receives no remuneration here."—Brock v. Brock, 18 N.Y.S.2d 648, 173 Misc. 173.

72. N.Y.—Brock v. Brock, 18 N.Y.S.2d 648, 173 Misc. 172—Tishman Realty & Construction Co. v. Spencer, 24 N.Y.S.2d 297.

Retroactive operation

The amendment of section of civil practice act relating to garnishee execution, providing that managing agent of foreign corporation authorized to do business in the state should be deemed to represent the corporation for purposes of carrying out provisions of such section, was inapplicable to garnishment proceeding instituted prior to effective date of such amendment.—Commercial Credit Corporation v. Young, 16 N.Y.S.2d 324, 258 App.Div. 323.

73. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236. 23 C.J. p 904 note 24.

Assignment

A judgment creditor's cause of action against an employer who has not complied with the garnishee order and execution may be assigned.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App.Div. 194, affirming 189 N.Y.S. 673.

74. N.Y.—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, 221 N.Y.S. 758, 129 Misc. 512.

23 C.J. p 904 note 25.

75. N.Y.—Keve v. Columbia Kid Hair Curlers Mfg. Co., 145 N.Y.S. 1072, 161 App.Div. 918—Penrose & McEniry v. Manogue, 221 N.Y.S. 758, 129 Misc. 512.

76. N.Y.—Matter of Pratt, 143 N.Y.S. 1025, 158 App.Div. 695.

77. N.Y.—Demuth v. New York Life Ins. & Trust Co., 150 N.Y.S. 981, 165 App.Div. 77—Van Wie v. Delaware & Hudson Co., 127 N.Y.S. 184, 71 Misc. 25. 23 C.J. p 904 note 24 [b].

78. N.Y.—Rosenstock v. New York, 89 N.Y.S. 948, 97 App.Div. 337, affirmed 74 N.E. 1125, 181 N.Y. 550 —Lutkins v. Lutkins, 148 N.Y.S. 174, 85 Misc. 148—Reynolds v. Harlem Constr. Co., 128 N.Y.S. 642 71 Misc. 446—Van Wie v. Delaware & Hudson Co., 127 N.Y.S. 184, 71 Misc. 25. 23 C.J. p 904 note 24 [c].

79. N.Y.—Saks v. McDonald, 164 N.Y.S. 756.

23 C.J. p 904 note 24 [d].

amount equal to or exceeding the minimum specified in the statute.⁸⁰ Recovery in such an action is limited to the amount due under the garnishee for the period between the service of the garnishee execution and the commencement of the action.⁸¹ An employer may raise the defense that the debtor was not in its employ at the time of the service on it of the garnishee execution;⁸² but such defense will not prevail where the debtor subsequently became an employee, and the employer retained the execution without having moved to vacate or modify it.⁸³

c. Under New Jersey Statutes

In New Jersey, an installment execution may issue under which a judgment creditor may obtain a portion of certain income regularly derived by the judgment debtor.

Under the New Jersey statutes, provisions similar to those in New York, see supra subdivision b of this section, permit a judgment creditor to obtain a percentage of the debtor's income through the issuance of an installment execution, by order of a judge or court, on an unsatisfied judgment, after the return of an execution unsatisfied, where the wages, debts, earnings, salary, income from trust funds, or profits due and owing to the judgment debtor, or thereafter to become due and owing to him, exceed a designated sum.⁸⁴ With respect to its intended effect, the statute is remedial and must be liberally construed,⁸⁵ in pari materia with other acts dealing with the subject of executions.⁸⁶ An installment execution may issue on an order or decree of the court of chancery as well as on a judgment of a court of law;⁸⁷ but the right to issue an installment execution under this section does not carry with it any authority to make an order directly requiring the debtor to pay a designated sum per week.⁸⁸ The execution creates a lien in favor of the judgment creditor on the wages due and to become due to the judgment debtor.⁸⁹

The debtor's salary cannot be reached unless it exceeds the minimum set forth in the statute.⁹⁰ The salary of a public officer can be reached.⁹¹

Proceedings. The statute is in derogation of the procedure at common law⁹² in that it takes from the debtor without notice and without a hearing, property which, except for the statute, is exempt from execution.⁹³ The procedure, therefore, must be in strict compliance with the express requirements of the statute,⁹⁴ and no intendment will be made to enable the court or a judge to assume jurisdiction, in the absence of the jurisdictional facts properly evidenced.⁹⁵

Enforcement. The employer or garnishee is obliged to pay the amount called for in the execution, and if he fails to do so an action of debt will lie

80. N.Y.—Wood v. Dock & Mill Co., 184 N.Y.S. 225, 193 App.Div. 236. 23 C.J. p 903 note 21 [a], [b].

81. N.Y.—Decorative Furniture Frame Corporation v. Strand Art Period Furniture Co., 257 N.Y.S. 631, 144 Misc. 1.

82. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, 189 N.Y.S. 673, affirmed 192 N.Y.S. 121, 199 App. Div. 194.

83. N.Y.—Smith v. Endicott-Johnson Corporation, supra.

84. N.J.—Morris Plan Industrial Bank of New York v. Kemeny, 8 A.2d 769, 123 N.J.Law 389. 23 C.J. p 904 notes 28-30.

Trust income

This statute has been held to supersede a previous statute which afforded immunity from execution to trust income which did not exceed four thousand dollars per annum.—Harcum v. Greene, 166 A. 717, 111 N.J.Law 129.

Statute held retroactive

N.J.—Peterson v. Jersey City, 97 A. 963, 89 N.J.Law 98—Russell v. Mechanics' Realty Co., 96 A. 657, 88 N.J.Law 532. 23 C.J. p 902 note 12.

Effort to collect by ordinary execution

It must appear that a bona fide effort to collect by ordinary execution had been made and failed before resort can be had to the provisions of this legislation.—Trapp v. Brown, 104 A. 302, 303, 91 N.J.Law 481, affirmed 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171—23 C.J. p 904 note 28 [a].

85. N.J.—Harcum v. Greene, 166 A. 717, 111 N.J.Law 129—Russell v. Mechanics' Realty Co., 96 A. 657, 88 N.J.Law 532.

86. N.J.—Trapp v. Brown, 104 A. 302, 91 N.J.Law 481, affirmed 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171.

87. N.J.—White v. White, 120 A. 419, 94 N.J.Eq. 278—Poeter v. Poeter, 194 A. 792, 15 N.J.Misc. 691.

88. N.J.—Berkowitz v. First Dist. Court of Jersey City, 156 A. 666, 108 N.J.Law 345, reversing 152 A. 240, 8 N.J.Misc. 847.

Orders for payment see supra § 383.

89. N.J.—Credit Adjusters & Collectors v. Bergen Essex Const. Co., 11 A.2d 755, 124 N.J.Law 382.

90. N.J.—Georges v. Wegrocki, 4 A. 2d 274, 122 N.J.Law 109. 23 C.J. p 904 note 29 [b] (2).

91. N.J.—Peterson v. Jersey City, 97 A. 963, 89 N.J.Law 98. 23 C.J. p 904 note 29 [b].

Judge

N.J.—Cross v. La Corte, 168 A. 849, 11 N.J.Misc. 941.

Member of legislature

N.J.—Georges v. Wegrocki, 4 A.2d 274, 122 N.J.Law 109.

92. N.J.—Varbalow v. Philadelphia, Nat. Bank, 14 A.2d 548, 125 N.J.Law 147—Trapp v. Brown, 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171, affirming 104 A. 302, 91 N.J.Law 481.

93. N.J.—Varbalow v. Philadelphia Nat. Bank, 14 A.2d 548, 125 N.J.Law 147—Trapp v. Brown, 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171, affirming 104 A. 302, 91 N.J.Law 481.

94. N.J.—Varbalow v. Philadelphia Nat. Bank, 14 A.2d 548, 125 N.J.Law 147—Trapp v. Brown, 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171, affirming 104 A. 302, 91 N.J.Law 481. 23 C.J. p 904 note 28.

The order must state the amount or percentage which is to be deducted from the debtor's wages and applied to the judgment.—Bond Stores v. Friedman, 13 A.2d 493, 125 N.J.Law 80.

95. N.J.—Trapp v. Brown, 104 A. 302, 91 N.J.Law 481, affirmed 107 A. 413, 93 N.J.Law 171.

against him.⁹⁶ If the garnishee is a corporation, liability extends not only to the corporation, but also to the person, agent, treasurer, or other fiduciary officer to whom the execution was presented.⁹⁷

XVI. EXECUTION AGAINST PERSON

A. NATURE, RIGHT TO, AND PROCEEDINGS TO PROCURE

§ 407. Nature, Purpose, and Effect

Execution against the person is effected by a writ of capias ad satisfaciendum, under which the sheriff arrests the defendant and imprisons him until he satisfies the judgment or is discharged by proceeding of law. The taking out of a body execution precludes proceeding against the debtor's property while it is in force.

Execution against the person is effected by the writ of capias ad satisfaciendum, under which the sheriff arrests defendant and imprisons him until he satisfies the judgment or is discharged by proceeding of law.⁹⁸ Such an execution is an extraordinary remedy which as a general rule is not to be resorted to if the amount due on a judgment may be made by an ordinary execution against the property of the judgment debtor.⁹⁹ According to some decisions the purpose of such execution is the collection of the amount due,¹ but according to other authorities statutes allowing imprisonment for debt in certain cases have for their object both the enforcement of payment and the punishment of fraudulent debtors.² It is not intended as punishment for failure to pay the judgment, but is permitted for the purpose of compelling the debtor to reveal property presumably withheld by him in fraud of his creditor, from which the judgment may be satisfied.³ Proceedings to procure an execution against the person are a "civil action" within the meaning of codes and statutes.⁴

Effect. The taking out of a body execution precludes the right to proceed against the debtor's property, while it is in force.⁵ It extinguishes an order of arrest,⁶ and the latter is not revived by a reversal of the judgment.⁷ The arrest of the debtor does not, however, preclude the right of the creditor to retain collateral security.⁸

Imprisonment of one of several defendants. In the case of a judgment against several defendants, the taking of one does not affect plaintiff's right to pursue the others until there is a payment in fact,⁹ and each may be successively arrested and imprisoned if they were all originally brought into court; but imprisonment of one of the defendants, so long as it continues, is a good defense to a joint action on the judgment against all the defendants.¹⁰ On a joint judgment against several defendants the service of a capias ad satisfaciendum on one does not extinguish the lien of the judgment on the land of the others.¹¹

§ 408. Constitutional and Statutory Provisions

Statutory provisions in the various jurisdictions provide for proceedings by capias ad satisfaciendum, and such statutes have been held constitutional.

Proceedings by capias ad satisfaciendum are statutory.¹² Statutes providing for imprisonment on a capias ad satisfaciendum or body execution have been held not unconstitutional as denying equal

96. N.J.—Credit Adjusters & Collectors v. Bergen Essex Const. Co., 11 A.2d 755, 124 N.J.Law 382.

97. N.J.—Credit Adjusters & Collectors v. Bergen Essex Const. Co., supra.

98. U.S.—In re Teuscher, C.C.Mo., 23 F.Cas.No.13,846.
9 C.J. p 1277 note 15.

Body execution and close-jail execution distinguished

A "body execution" is an "execution" which directs that, in accordance with the provisions therein set forth, the body of the defendant therein named be committed to jail, whereas a "close-jail execution" is a body execution which has indorsed in or on it the statement that the cause of action arose from the willful and malicious act or neglect of defendant, and that defendant ought to be confined in close jail.—Ex parte Thompson, 9 A.2d 107, 111 Vt. 7.

Object of capias ad satisfaciendum is to take and retain body of defendant as pledge for payment of debt, and hence requirement of bond therein is irregular.—Commonwealth, to Use of Blystone v. Davis, 186 A. 382, 122 Pa.Super. 280.

99. Ind.—Baker v. State, 9 N.E. 711, 109 Ind. 47.
23 C.J. p 905 note 34.

1. Colo.—Hershey v. People, 12 P. 2d 345, 91 Colo. 113.
23 C.J. p 905 note 35.

The normal function of a "capias ad satisfaciendum" is the compulsory surrender of judgment debtor's property for the benefit of his creditors.—Duro Co. v. Wishnevsky, 16 A.2d 64, 126 N.J.Law 7.

2. N.Y.—Matter of Prime, 1 Barb. 296, 1 Edm.Sel.Cas. 479.
23 C.J. p 905 note 36.

3. Mich.—McDonell v. Collingwood, 193 N.W. 283, 222 Mich. 516.

4. Ind.—Baker v. State, 9 N.E. 711, 109 Ind. 47.

5. Mich.—Baehr v. Decker, 274 N.W. 339, 280 Mich. 590.
23 C.J. p 906 note 53.

6. N.Y.—People v. Bowe, 81 N.Y. 43, 8 Abb.N.Cas. 234.

7. N.Y.—People v. Bowe, supra.

8. Me.—Smith v. Strout, 63 Me. 205.

9. N.Y.—New York Guaranty & Indemnity Co. v. Rogers, 71 N.Y. 377.
23 C.J. p 906 note 58.

10. N.Y.—Chapman v. Hatt, 11 Wend. 41.

11. Va.—Leake v. Ferguson, 2 Gratt. 419, 43 Va. 419.

12. Mich.—Behrens v. Chevrie, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

protection of law.¹³ An act providing that the right to issue or enforce executions against the body on judgments theretofore rendered in particular causes of action is abolished abolishes the right to enforce such executions even when issued before the effective date of the act on judgments in such cases,¹⁴ and such an act is not unconstitutional.¹⁵ A statute providing for cases wherein an offender may be relieved from imprisonment does not authorize a stay of body execution.¹⁶ A statutory provision for the release of civil prisoners confined under body execution does not repeal a provision for execution against the body of any defendant where judgment is obtained for a tort or trespass committed by such defendant.¹⁷

§ 409. Time for

The time within which the plaintiff is entitled after judgment to charge the body of the defendant in execution is generally provided for by statute; otherwise he must be allowed a reasonable time.

At common law the practice seems to have been to sue out the writ at any time within a year from the rendition of the judgment, and if a defendant had been arrested under mesne process he remained in the custody of the sheriff or his bail until he was charged in execution.¹⁸ The time within which a plaintiff is entitled after judgment to charge the body of defendant in execution is sometimes expressly prescribed by statute;¹⁹ and where this is the case defendant must be charged within such time or the execution will be vacated unless reasonable cause is shown to the contrary.²⁰ Where, however, such provision is not made, plaintiff must be allowed a reasonable time within which to charge his debtor.²¹ Delay in issuance is not excused by the pendency of supplementary proceedings,²² or the absence of the debtor from the state,²³ or the fact that an execution would have brought nothing in satisfaction,²⁴ or a scire facias against the debtor's bail,²⁵ but is excused where caused by negotiations for settlement²⁶ or where defendant is confined in a penitentiary.²⁷ The debtor's coming into court for surrender by bail does not operate as a waiver of time with respect to the issuance of an execution.²⁸

13. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N. E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

14. Ill.—Bleiweis v. Gawlinski, 9 N. E.2d 263, 290 Ill.App. 609—In re Monaco, 5 N.E.2d 755, 287 Ill.App. 540.

Mich.—Ex parte Landaal, 262 N.W. 897, 273 Mich. 248.

15. Mich.—Ex parte Landaal, supra.

16. N.Y.—Razer v. Himmel, 2 N.Y. S.2d 855, 166 Misc. 563.

17. Colo.—Erisman v. McCarty, 236 P. 777, 77 Colo. 289.

18. U.S.—Norman v. Manciette, C.C. Or., 18 F.Cas.No.10,300, 1 Sawy. 484.

19. Colo.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

23 C.J. p 905 note 40.

In Michigan

(1) Comp.L.1915 § 12838, providing that, when any defendant at the time judgment shall be rendered against him shall be in custody, either on process in the suit in which such judgment shall have been rendered, or on being surrendered in discharge of bail in such suit, plaintiff shall charge defendant in execution thereon within twenty days after judgment, applies only when defendant at the time the judgment is rendered is in custody, either on capias ad respondendum or by reason of his having been surrendered in discharge of his bail.—McDonell v. Collingwood, 193 N.W. 283, 222 Mich. 516.

(2) Comp.L.1915 § 12839, providing that when any defendant shall be in custody on a surrender in discharge of his bail, made after a judgment obtained against him, and such bail shall be thereafter exonerated, plaintiff must charge defendant in execution thereon, within twenty days after such surrender, or, if an execution against the property of such defendant shall have been issued, within twenty days after the return day of such execution, applies only when defendant is not in custody at the time the judgment is rendered, but is thereafter surrendered to the custody of the officer and his bail exonerated.—McDonell v. Collingwood, supra.

(3) The purpose of Comp.L.1915, §§ 12838 and 12839, relating to charging defendant in execution, is to compel a plaintiff who has procured the incarceration of a defendant to move with promptness in the enforcement of his rights; if defendant be actually in custody when judgment is rendered, plaintiff must cause execution against the body to be issued within twenty days thereafter, and, if not in custody by reason of compliance with the provisions as to bail, plaintiff must issue execution against defendant's property and have it returned before he can secure an execution against his body.—McDonell v. Collingwood, supra.

(4) Comp.L.1915 § 12838 does not apply where defendant is at large under jail-limits bond.—Weurding v. Ottawa Circuit Judge, 203 N.W. 87, 230 Mich. 300.

(5) Statute requiring plaintiff in judgment to charge defendant in execution within twenty days where defendant is in custody of officer applies only to cases commenced by capias ad respondendum, and did not apply to case begun by summons.—Lindow v. Mudge, 253 N.W. 196, 266 Mich. 11.

In New York, where no order of arrest was obtained by plaintiff and defendant was not imprisoned under any process issued in action in which judgment was entered pursuant to stipulation, failure to move for body execution for sixteen months after execution against property was returned unsatisfied did not constitute "laches," barring right to body execution.—Siegel v. Tobias, 19 N.Y.S. 2d 337, 173 Misc. 868.

23 C.J. p 905 note 40 [b].

20. N.Y.—Levison v. Harris, 134 N. Y.S. 12.

23 C.J. p 905 note 41.

21. U.S.—Norman v. Manciette, C.C. Or., 18 F.Cas.No.10,300, 1 Sawy. 484.

22. N.Y.—Newgas v. Solomon, 20 Abb.N.Cas. 175.

23. Vt.—Yatter v. Smilie, 47 A. 1070, 72 Vt. 349.

24. Vt.—Yatter v. Smilie, supra.

25. Vt.—Yatter v. Smilie, supra.

26. Mich.—Lapham v. Oakland Cir. Judge, 136 N.W. 594, 170 Mich. 564.

27. Colo.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

28. Vt.—Yatter v. Smilie, 47 A. 1070, 72 Vt. 349.

§ 410. Jurisdiction and Authority to Issue

Jurisdiction and authority to issue the writ depend largely on the statutory provisions of the particular jurisdiction.

The rules as to jurisdiction and authority to issue the writ vary in different jurisdictions and depend largely on statutory provisions and the writ may be issued by, and only by, a court properly authorized to do so.²⁹ Where a body execution is issuable against a debtor who defrauds his creditors, the court of the state where a judgment against such debtor is recovered may award such execution against him, although some of the fraudulent acts were committed by him during his temporary absence from the state.³⁰ Imprisonment for debt on process from federal courts having been abolished by act of congress in all states which have abolished it by law, the federal courts in such states have no jurisdiction of a suit for the enforcement of a state statute, highly penal in its nature, with regard to fraudulent debtors.³¹

§ 411. Right to

The right to a capias ad satisfaciendum exists at common law in the case of trespass vi et armis, but in other cases the right depends on the statutes authorizing such execution, and one seeking to exercise such right must bring his case clearly within the statute.

The right to imprison by means of a capias ad satisfaciendum exists at common law and has long been authorized by statute.³² Originally the capias ad satisfaciendum lay at common law only in trespass vi et armis.³³ Owing to the difficulty experienced in procuring the appearance of defendants statutes were enacted from time to time giving the capias ad respondendum as the mesne process in certain other cases,³⁴ and the capias ad satisfaciendum was held to follow as a common-law incident,³⁵ the rule being that a capias ad satisfaciendum would lie in all cases where a capias ad respondendum might have been used as the process to bring defendant before the court.³⁶ It follows then that the right to issue an execution against the body is dependent on statutes either expressly authorizing such execution or authorizing arrest on mesne process.³⁷ Such statutes have been held to be penal in their nature and to be subject to the rule of strict construction.³⁸ To entitle one to such an execution he must bring his case clearly within the provisions of the statute.³⁹ When this is done, however, he is entitled thereto, although other remedies may be available.⁴⁰ Where the statutes are uncertain, the common law is applicable.⁴¹ In determining plaintiff's right to execution against the person the court is not concerned with the wisdom of plaintiff's procedure.⁴² Under some statutes, execution against the person may issue in any action in which defendant may be civilly arrested because of the nature of the action.⁴³

29. N.Y.—Adolf Gobel, Inc. v. Weil, 31 N.Y.S.2d 317, 263 App.Div. 817—Wilson & Co. v. Hershkowitz, 298 N.Y.S. 14, 163 Misc. 721, 23 C.J. p 905 note 49.

30. Nev.—Ex parte Bergman, 4 P. 209, 18 Nev. 331.

31. U.S.—Curtis v. Feste, D.C.La., 6 F.Cas.No.3,502.

32. Ill.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 367 Ill. 632, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 1057, 304 U.S. 583, 83 L.Ed. 1545.

33. Mich.—Forsythe v. Washtenaw Cir. Judge, 147 N.W. 549, 180 Mich. 633, 23 C.J. p 906 note 62.

34. Ill.—People v. Walker, 122 N.E. 92, 286 Ill. 541, 23 C.J. p 906 note 64.

35. Ill.—Petition of Fetz, 239 Ill. App. 250, 23 C.J. p 906 note 65.

36. Mich.—Forsythe v. Washtenaw Cir. Judge, 147 N.W. 549, 180 Mich. 633, 23 C.J. p 906 note 66.

37. Mich.—Forsythe v. Washtenaw Cir. Judge, supra, 23 C.J. p 906 note 69.

38. Ill.—Peiffer v. French, 33 N.E. 2d 591, 376 Ill. 376, affirming 28 N.E.2d 983, 306 Ill.App. 326, 23 C.J. p 906 note 70.

39. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N.Y. 349.

40. Kan.—Tatlow v. Bacon, 165 P. 835, 101 Kan. 26.

Mandatory statutes

The provisions of the Civil Practice Act conferring the right to body execution are "mandatory."—Pacific Finance Corporation v. Trombino, 24 N.Y.S.2d 297.

Discretion of court

(1) Under the statute providing that an applicant for a body execution shall set forth certain specified things and "such other matters as the judge, justice, or court issuing the same may require," court must decide whether, despite the showing of the facts necessary to confer jurisdiction, the application should be denied in the exercise of a sound discretion.—Williams v. Smith, 12 N.Y.S.2d 124, 171 Misc. 501.

(2) Application by one, who had obtained judgment in personal injury action not involving a willful tort, for body execution would be denied, where judgment debtor was seventy-five years old, was on relief, and had no property other than a building, the rentals of which were being collected by a mortgagee.—Williams v. Smith, supra.

(3) Pedestrian who obtained judgment against motorist for injuries sustained when struck by automobile was not entitled to execution against motorist's person where motorist had no property applicable to satisfaction of the judgment, had only earned approximately five hundred dollars on odd jobs during preceding year and a half, was married, although without children, had made an unsuccessful application for employment insurance benefits and received occasional assistance from his mother and his wife's mother.—Morgan v. Cohen, 5 N.Y.S.2d 615, 168 Misc. 251.

41. Mich.—Westerhouse v. Ottawa Circuit Judge, 180 N.W. 378, 212 Mich. 457.

42. N.Y.—Condon v. Derringer, 12 N.Y.S.2d 647, 171 Misc. 381.

43. U.S.—B. I. P. (Export), Limited, v. Isaacs, D.C.N.Y., 10 F.Supp. 872, N.Y.—White v. Denny, 15 N.Y.S.2d 849, 258 App.Div. 144—Siegel v. Tobias, 19 N.Y.S.2d 337, 173 Misc. 868.

Cause of action and cause of arrest
(1) Under a statute authorizing a

*That property has been attached on mesne process does not preclude the writ, since plaintiff may elect between the alternative remedies.*⁴⁴

*The filing of a creditor's bill by the judgment creditor does not preclude a body execution.*⁴⁵

Agreements as affecting. A defendant may by agreement be exempted from execution against the person.⁴⁶ So also, notwithstanding statutory specifications of cases in which an order of arrest may be issued, a defendant may consent in writing to the entry of a judgment against him which will authorize an execution against his person.⁴⁷

§ 412. — Constitutional or Statutory Prohibitions

Constitutional prohibitions against imprisonment for debt and statutory provisions of like effect prevent the use of a capias ad satisfaciendum in certain cases.

As shown in Constitutional Law § 204, the constitutions of most of the states contain provisions prohibiting imprisonment for debt or restricting the right to imprison debtors to certain cases. Under the statutes, in some jurisdictions, imprisonment for debt has been abolished, in whole or in part.⁴⁸ Such statutes do not prevent the arrest of a judgment debtor about to leave the state, the writ of arrest in such case not being, in effect, a capias ad satisfaciendum.⁴⁹ Under a statute so providing, all modifications, conditions, and restrictions on imprisonment for debt provided by the laws of any state are applicable to process issuing from federal courts to be executed therein.⁵⁰

*A law of a foreign country which protects the party to a contract from execution will, in the courts of the United States, protect the same individual from arrest upon the same contract.*⁵¹

§ 413. — As Dependent on Nature of Action

- a. Actions ex contractu
- b. Actions to recover fines, penalties, or forfeitures
- c. Actions ex delicto
- d. Actions for breach of promise to marry
- e. Ejectment
- f. Loss of right by joinder of different causes of action

a. Actions ex contractu

Constitutional and statutory prohibitions against imprisonment for debt prevent, in most jurisdictions, execution against the body of defendant in actions ex contractu.

Under the provisions of the constitutions and statutes in most jurisdictions defendants in actions arising out of, or founded on, a contract, express or implied, are not subject to executions against the person,⁵² unless, as considered infra § 414, they body execution, judgment is not cause of action referred to in statute.—Ex parte Teeters, 280 P. 660, 130 Or. 631.

(2) A record, showing question of fraud was never adjudicated, and containing no findings of fact thereon, did not show cause of action was also cause of arrest and did not authorize body execution; and a body execution against defendant, where cause of action and cause of arrest are same, requires more than mere allegation charging fraud denied by answer.—Ex parte Teeters, supra.

Plaintiff held entitled to body execution

N.Y.—Barney Cohen Realty Co. v. Cagino, 264 N.Y.S. 518, 239 App. Div. 844.

Arrest held not warranted

N.Y.—Horowitz v. Harris, 221 N.Y.S. 185, 129 Misc. 236.

44. Mass.—In re Plympton, 82 N.E. 715, 196 Mass. 571.
23 C.J. p 907 note 78.

45. Ill.—Nelson v. Swanson, 186 Ill. App. 632.

46. N.H.—Chickering v. Greenleaf, 6 N.H. 51.
23 C.J. p 907 note 85.

47. N.Y.—Steinbock v. Evans, 25 N.E. 929, 122 N.Y. 551, affirming 18 N.Y.St. 325, 55 N.Y.Super. 278.

48. Ill.—Manaster v. Kioebge, 100 N.E. 989, 257 Ill. 431.
23 C.J. p 907 note 82.

49. La.—Hannagriff v. King, 123 So. 391, 11 La.App. 467.

50. U.S.—Low v. Durfee, C.C.Mass., 5 F. 256.
23 C.J. p 907 note 83.

51. U.S.—Camfrange v. Burnett, Pa., 4 F.Cas.No.2,342, 1 Wash.C.C. 340.

52. N.H.—Hogan v. Finn, 111 A. 271, 79 N.H. 526.

Pa.—Ross v. Dever, 148 A. 75, 298 Pa. 146.

23 C.J. p 907 note 87.

Actions ex contractu as within constitutional prohibitions against imprisonment for debt see Constitutional Law § 204.

Body execution in equity suits see Equity § 617.

Statute relating to execution in favor of wage earner securing judgment for salary is complete and exclusive as to right of wage earner to execution against person and as to duty of clerk to grant execution, and is sole criterion of propriety of such execution and manner in which it is to be executed, and statutes relating to arrests and body executions are not applicable.—People ex rel. Sirotta v. Sampson, 295 N.Y.S. 61, 162 Misc. 601.

Punishment for contempt

(1) Statutory provision for punishment of judgment debtor for contempt for failure to pay installments directed to be paid on judgment in supplementary proceedings is constitutional, even as applied to federal employee, as against contention that statute would result in imprisonment for debt, contrary to statute, and would interfere with operation of federal instrumentality, in absence of showing that order directing payment was inequitable or harsh.—Reeves v. Crownshield, 8 N.E.2d 283, 274 N.Y. 74, 111 A.L.R. 389, affirming 292 N.Y.S. 756, 162 Misc. 118.

(2) Act abolishing imprisonment for debt expressly excepts contempts to enforce civil remedies.—Commonwealth v. Heston, 140 A. 533, 292 Pa. 63.

(3) Order directing judgment debtor to pay to receiver all salary received in excess of one hundred dollars monthly is obnoxious to statute forbidding imprisonment for debt have been guilty of fraud. It has been held that if a judgment is based in part on a cause of action upon contract there can be no execution against the body, even though it is based in part also on a cause of action in tort.⁵³ Such an execution cannot issue, although the action is in form ex delicto where it is in fact ex contractu.⁵⁴ The mere fact that contractual relations exist between the parties will not, however, prevent the issuing of a capias ad satisfaciendum, where the gist of the action is tort, although the existence of the relations afforded occasion for the commission of the tort.⁵⁵

Since the form of action adopted will not necessarily determine whether the cause of action is for a tort or breach of contract, the allegations of the declaration or complaint will be looked to in order to ascertain whether the acts complained of constitute a tort within the meaning of statutes allowing imprisonment of a defendant on an execution against the person.⁵⁶ Where it is doubtful whether a cause of action, as stated in a complaint, is in contract or in tort, it is presumed to be the former rather than the latter for the purpose of determining the right to a body execution.⁵⁷

Where the action is ex contractu, allegations of fraud do not change the character of the action so as to authorize a body execution.⁵⁸ However, the action is ex delicto, where damages for fraud are sought, although the complaint sets forth a contract as the inducement to the right of action.⁵⁹

According to some decisions, where plaintiff elects, to rest his action as on contract and not on tort, he cannot, after obtaining judgment upon that theory, have an execution against defendant's person;⁶⁰ but it has been held that, where plaintiff waives the tort and sues in contract to recover money wrongfully converted to his own use by defendant, and the record shows that a tort has been actually committed, he is entitled to a body execution, notwithstanding the form of action adopted.⁶¹ Where one is sued as a common carrier for the nondelivery of goods, in the form of an action on contract, a body execution cannot be issued.⁶² However, a defendant is not entitled to be discharged from arrest on a body execution issued on a judgment against him as a common carrier, in an action on the case, for negligence.⁶³

b. Actions to Recover Fines, Penalties, or Forfeitures

Where fines, forfeitures, or penalties are not regarded as debts, a body execution may be had in actions for their recovery.

Where fines, forfeitures, or penalties imposed by law are not regarded as debts, actions for the recovery or collection thereof are not within the purview of prohibitions against imprisonment for debt.⁶⁴ However, where a penalty is, by statute, directed to be recovered "as debts of like amount are by law recoverable," a body execution cannot issue in an action for the recovery thereof.⁶⁵

The proper mode of recovering a fine or penalty for the violation of a municipal ordinance, where it is not otherwise provided, is by a civil action in the form of debt or assumpsit, and a person imprisoned by virtue of an execution against the body for such violation is entitled to the benefit of a statute for the relief of persons imprisoned on civil process.⁶⁶

c. Actions ex Delicto

- (1) In general
- (2) Actions for injuries to person or reputation
- (3) Actions for injuries to, or conversion of, property
- (4) Actions to recover personal property

(1) In General

Statutes providing for issuance of body executions to enforce judgments in actions ex delicto ordinarily do not conflict with provisions against imprisonment for debt. Where the statutes so provide, the writ will issue in actions involving embezzlement, misapplication, etc., by since it threatens imprisonment for contempt.—McGrew v. McGrew, 38 F.2d 541, 59 App.D.C. 230, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 349, 281 U.S. 739, 74 L.Ed. 1153.

53. N.Y.—Miller v. Scherder, 2 N.Y. 262.

Wis.—State v. Helms, 77 N.W. 104, 101 Wis. 280.

54. Pa.—Connolly v. Decker, Wilcox 133.

23 C.J. p 908 note 90.

55. Pa.—Lancaster Supply Co. v. Butt, 22 Pa.Dist. 170.

56. N.Y.—Ellis v. Cohen, 24 N.Y.

S.2d 23, affirmed 24 N.Y.S.2d 24, 175 Misc. 349.

23 C.J. p 908 note 92.

57. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N.Y. 349, 10 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 238, affirming 9 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 99.

58. Ill.—People v. Healey, 20 N.E. 692, 128 Ill. 9, 15 Am.S.R. 90.

23 C.J. p 908 note 94.

59. N.Y.—McDuffie v. Beddoe, 7 Hill 578.

60. N.Y.—Goodwin v. Griffin, 88 N.Y. 629, reversing 25 Hun 61.

23 C.J. p 908 note 96.

61. U.S.—Barney v. Chapman, C.C. Ill., 21 F. 903.

Ill.—In re Paar, 264 Ill.App. 372.

62. N.Y.—Catlin v. Adirondack Co., 81 N.Y. 379, 11 Abb.N.Cas. 377, reversing 20 Hun 19.

63. N.Y.—Burke v. Ellis, 4 How.Pr. 288.

64. S.D.—Deadwood v. Allen, 68 N.W. 333, 9 S.D. 221.

23 C.J. p 908 notes 2, 3.

65. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Myers, 5 Lanc.Bar No. 2—Commonwealth v. Trewetz, 7 Leg.Gaz. 293.

66. N.J.—Brophy v. Perth Amboy, 44 N.J.Law 217.

fiduciaries and in actions to recover public property unlawfully received or disposed of.

Statutes in the various states provide for the issuance of body executions to enforce judgments in actions ex delicto.⁶⁷ Although in some jurisdictions such statutes have been held to conflict with provisions prohibiting imprisonment for debt,⁶⁸ ordinarily prohibitions of imprisonment for debt apply only to actions arising out of contract, express or implied, and do not extend to actions ex delicto.⁶⁹

Under some statutes a body execution will not issue on a judgment in tort unless malice is the gist of the action.⁷⁰ Under other statutes a body ex-

67. S.C.—Blackmon v. Kirven, 175 S.E. 814, 173 S.C. 322.

Actions "founded upon tort"

Action growing out of tort is "founded upon tort" within statute authorizing issuance of body execution in action founded on tort. Where the right of action grows out of tort, body execution may issue whether action is in tort for damages or in assumpsit for money had and received, and an action of assumpsit for money had and received by defendant who induced plaintiff by means of fraudulent representations to purchase stock grew out of tort, and hence body execution could issue in such assumpsit action.—Wheeler v. Wilkin, 58 P.2d 1223, 98 Colo. 568.

Statute regulating issuance as limitation on right to writ

Statute relating to issuance of writ of capias ad satisfaciendum on judgment in tort actions constitutes a limitation on the right to a capias ad satisfaciendum in actions ex delicto, since under pre-existing law the writ ordinarily issued as a matter of course in such actions.—Duro Co. v. Wishnevsky, 16 A.2d 64, 126 N.J.Law 7.

68. Wash.—Bronson v. Syverson, 152 P. 1039, 88 Wash. 264, 279, L.R.A. 1916B 993, Ann.Cas.1917D 833.
23 C.J. p 909 note 8.

Actions ex delicto as within constitutional prohibition against imprisonment for debt see Constitutional Law § 204.

69. Ill.—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill.App. 556.

Mich.—Kirker v. Larson, 236 N.W. 896, 254 Mich. 648.

N.Y.—In re Perine, 287 N.Y.S. 535, 158 Misc. 597.

S.C.—Blackmon v. Kirven, 175 S.E. 814, 173 S.C. 322.
23 C.J. p 909 note 7.

70. Ill.—Granlie v. Valha, 37 N.E. 2d 931, 312 Ill.App. 181—Ingalls v. Raklios, 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill. App. 1, reversed on other grounds 26 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404—Holub v. Paitl, 5 N.E.2d 751, 287 Ill.App. 629—Corwin v. Tillman, 255 Ill. App. 280.
23 C.J. p 909 note 10.

Malice as gist of action

As respects propriety of capias ad satisfaciendum under amended statute, a defendant could be actuated by malice in committing tort against plaintiff and yet malice not be the "gist of the action".—Ingalls v. Raklios, 26 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1.

Necessity of finding of malice as gist of action

(1) Under section of the Judgments Act requiring that, before body execution shall issue, judgment shall show that it was obtained for tort committed by defendant and that it shall appear from a special finding that malice is the gist of action, a capias ad satisfaciendum is not lawful where a case is tried before a court without a jury, unless the court includes in its judgment a special finding that malice is the gist of the action or where, in a case submitted to a jury, the jury makes a special finding of facts from which it shall appear that malice is the gist of the action and unless in such a case the judgment includes a special finding that malice was the gist of the action; and where jury in action for injuries returned a verdict in favor of plaintiffs, and made a special finding that conduct of defendant in operation of automobile was of such reckless character as to amount to willful and wanton misconduct, but judgment did not contain finding that malice was the gist of the action, a capias ad satisfaciendum could not properly issue against defendant.—Peiffer v. French, 33 N.E.2d 591, 376 Ill. 376, affirming 28 N.E.2d 983, 306 Ill.App. 326.

(2) The amendment to the Judgments Act requiring that no execution shall issue against the body of a defendant except when it appears from a special finding that malice is the gist of the action affects only the remedy and presupposes that the finding was on a charge of malice, as against contention that since enactment of amendment presumption that a general verdict not specifying count on which it is based is based on cause of action of which malice is the gist does not obtain.—Greene v. Noonan, 23 N.E.2d 720, 372 Ill. 286, reversing Greene v. Citro, 18 N.E.2d 237, 298 Ill.App. 25.

(3) The provisions of amended statute requiring that before body execution shall issue judgment shall show that it was obtained for tort committed by defendant and that malice was gist of action are mandatory, and, if such findings do not appear on face of judgment, clerk is without authority to issue writ and a complaint which states cause of action having malice as the gist does not alone authorize clerk to issue writ.—Ingalls v. Raklios, 26 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1—Peiffer v. French, 28 N.E.2d 983, 306 Ill.App. 326, affirmed 33 N.E.2d 591, 376 Ill. 376—Miles v. Glad, 19 N.E.2d 844, 299 Ill.App. 185.

(4) Prior to amendment of statute respecting capias ad satisfaciendum, issuance of a writ was not dependent on finding or reference to malice in judgment, but if action was in tort, clerk, on application, issued the writ.—Ingalls v. Raklios, supra.

(5) Plaintiff could have capias ad satisfaciendum, regardless of whether malice was gist of action, it being considered that whether malice is gist of action is material only when the judgment debtor sought for discharge from custody under Insolvent Debtors' Act.—In re Paar, 264 Ill.App. 372—Reinwald v. McGregor, 239 Ill.App. 240.

(6) Amended statute providing that no execution should issue against body of defendant except when judgment was for tort and it appeared from special finding that malice was gist of action is not controlling in determining whether malice was gist of judgment rendered prior to time statute as amended was in force.—Chalukonis v. Jozwiak, 4 N.E.2d 782, 287 Ill.App. 170.

Reference to statement of claim to resolve ambiguity in judgment

Where there is ambiguity in judgment, reference may be had to statement of claim to determine whether malice is gist of action in support of body execution.—Brandtjen & Kluge v. Fargue, 20 N.E.2d 616, 299 Ill. App. 585.

Correction of finding to warrant writ Ill.—Krautseider v. Miley, 35 N.E.2d 392, 311 Ill.App. 242.

Finding of malice held proper

In suit to rescind land purchase contracts for fraud, allegations, supported by proof, relating to false representations and purchaser's reliance thereon, implied that subdividers and salesmen were actuated by improper motives and sustained execution may not issue unless the injury is willful or malicious;⁷¹ such statutes contemplate the intentional doing of a wrongful act without just cause or excuse.⁷²

Among the tort actions in which the writ is generally allowed are actions involving fraud or deceit,⁷³ and actions for neglect or misconduct in office or professional employment.⁷⁴

Actions for misapplication, embezzlement, etc., by fiduciaries. Under some statutes the writ will issue in actions involving embezzlement, misapplication, and the like by officers, attorneys, agents, and other persons acting in a fiduciary capacity.⁷⁵

Actions to recover public property unlawfully received or disposed of. Under statutes so providing, the writ is proper in actions to recover money, funds, credits, or property held or owned by the state, or held or owned officially or otherwise for or in behalf of a public or governmental interest by a municipal or other public corporation, board, office, custodian, agency, or agent of the state, or finding of malice, notwithstanding failure to allege malice specifically, as basis for execution on a capias ad satisfaciendum.—Veazey v. Summers, 26 N.E.2d 626, 304 Ill.App. 340.

Findings held sufficient to warrant issuance of writ.—Brandtjen & Kluge v. Fergie, 20 N.E.2d 616, 299 Ill.App. 585—Miles v. Glad, 19 N.E.2d 844, 299 Ill.App. 185—In re Galda, 270 Ill.App. 247.

Findings held insufficient to warrant issuance of writ.—Centracchio v. Hill, 28 N.E.2d 315, 306 Ill.App. 278—Ingalls v. Raklios, 28 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1.

71. N.H.—Hogan v. Finn, 111 A. 271, 79 N.H. 526.

N.J.—Duro Co. v. Wishnevsky, 16 A. 2d 64, 126 N.J.Law 7.

N.C.—Braxton v. Matthews, 154 S.E. 735, 199 N.C. 484.

Affirmative findings of malice held necessary

(1) In action for slander.—Crowder v. Stiers, 1 S.E.2d 353, 215 N.C. 123—Swain v. Oakley, 129 S.E. 151, 190 N.C. 113.

(2) In false arrest action.—Harris v. Singletary, 137 S.E. 724, 193 N.C. 583.

(3) In malicious prosecution action.—Klander v. West, 171 S.E. 782, 205 N.C. 524—Watson v. Hilton, 166 S.E. 589, 203 N.C. 574.

Abuse of process

(1) Person of defendant cannot be taken in execution for abuse of process in absence of finding of express malice or willful abuse of process.—Klander v. West, 171 S.E. 782, 205 N.C. 524.

(2) In an action for abuse of process, it is not necessary that there be a finding of malice to support a capias ad satisfaciendum, where the jury finds a willful abuse of process.—Ledford v. Smith, 193 S.E. 722, 212 N.C. 447.

Findings held sufficient

Vt.—Callahan v. Disorda, 16 A.2d 179, 111 Vt. 331.

Findings held insufficient

Under a statute authorizing an execution against the person of the judgment debtor if the action is one in which defendant might have been arrested, an execution against the person of the judgment debtor after execution against his property had been returned unsatisfied cannot issue where the verdict does not show an injury to plaintiff's person was inflicted intentionally or maliciously; and where complaint alleged unlawful, willful, and malicious assault, and answer pleaded self-defense as officers of the law in attempting to arrest plaintiff, and the reply alleged gross negligence in discharge of their duties, the finding of the jury that defendant "wrongfully and unlawfully" injured plaintiff's person "as alleged in the complaint," but awarding no punitive damages, is not a finding that the injury was inflicted intentionally or maliciously so as to permit execution against the debtor's person.—Coble v. Medley, 119 S.E. 892, 186 N.C. 479.

72. N.J.—Duro Co. v. Wishnevsky, 16 A.2d 64, 126 N.J.Law 7.

Vt.—North Adams Beef & Produce Co. v. Cantor, 156 A. 879, 103 Vt. 514.

Term "willful and malicious act or neglect," as used in execution statute, signifies wrongful act done intentionally without just cause or excuse, and malice contemplated is involved in intentional doing of wrongful act in disregard of what one knows to be his duty to injury of another.—Healy v. Moore, 187 A. 679, 108 Vt. 324, followed in 187 A. 693, 108 Vt. 351.

Omission or neglect

Omission or neglect may be willful and malicious under execution statute, and that defendant did not intend injurious result which flowed from intentional act or omission does not warrant denial of certified execution; and, where verdict established that motorist's negligence caused death of pedestrian who was walking on highway in village at night, motorist's failure to sound warning was "willful and malicious neglect" so as to entitle plaintiff to close-jail certificate.—Healy v. Moore, supra.

73. Colo.—Clark v. Giacomini, 277

P. 306, 85 Colo. 530—Schul v. Wilson, 266 P. 1112, 83 Colo. 528. 23 C.J. p 909 note 11.

Absence of fraud

Defendant's failure to deliver plaintiff new car for old car and cash consideration did not involve fraud, precluding capias ad satisfaciendum.—Carroll v. Mickens, 145 A. 620, 7 N. J. Misc. 409.

Writ held authorized

N.J.—Duro Co. v. Wishnevsky, 16 A. 2d 64, 126 N.J.Law 7.

74. N.C.—Olinger v. Camp, 1 S.E. 2d 870, 215 N.C. 340.

Vt.—Domina v. Pratt, 13 A.2d 198, 111 Vt. 166, followed in 13 A.2d 204, 111 Vt. 178.

23 C.J. p 910 note 12.

75. Colo.—Ferguson v. Turner, 194 P. 1103, 89 Colo. 504.

NY—White v. Denny, 15 N.Y.S.2d 849, 258 App.Div. 144—Wirth v. Franzese, 25 N.Y.S.2d 122.

N.C.—East Coast Fertilizer Co. v. Hardee, 191 S.E. 725, 211 N.C. 653.

Or.—Wemme v. Hurlburt, 289 P. 372, 133 Or. 460.

Vt.—Lyon v. Prescott, 156 A. 679, 103 Vt. 442.

23 C.J. p 911 note 29.

Foreign corporation which was entitled to judgment against corporate and individual defendants for willful and fraudulent conversion and misappropriation of trust moneys was entitled to a body execution against the individual defendants.—Knight Products v. Donnen-Fuel Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 135.

Requirement of actual fraud

A body execution may not be issued to enforce a judgment obtained pursuant to stock corporation law regarding preferences to officers and directors where the misapplication of funds of corporation was not accompanied by actual as distinguished from constructive fraud.—Ellis v. Cohen, 24 N.Y.S.2d 24, 175 Misc. 349, affirming 24 N.Y.S.2d 23—H. Schatla Co. v. Lampert, 24 N.Y.S.2d 25.

Findings of embezzlement, fraud, or other wrong is unnecessary.—Brown v. Father Divine, 26 N.Y.S.2d 570, 176 Misc. 10, affirmed Application of Brown, 29 N.Y.S.2d 508, 262 App.Div. 841.

of any other division or portion of the state, which defendant has without right obtained, received, converted, or disposed of, or to recover damages for so obtaining, receiving, paying, converting, or disposing of the same.⁷⁶

(2) Actions for Injuries to Person or Reputation

A body execution is generally proper in actions to recover for injuries to person or reputation.

A body execution is generally proper in actions to recover damages for injuries to person⁷⁷ or reputation,⁷⁸ including actions for libel or slander,⁷⁹ seduction,⁸⁰ criminal conversation,⁸¹ and malicious prosecution.⁸²

(3) Actions for Injuries to, or Conversion of, Property

In some jurisdictions a body execution may issue in actions to recover damages for injuries to property.

A body execution is proper, in some jurisdictions,

76. N.Y.—People v. Tweed, 5 Hun 382.

77. Conn.—Campbell v. Klahr, 149 A. 770, 111 Conn. 225.
N.Y.—Condon v. Derringer, 12 N.Y. S.2d 647, 171 Misc. 381.
42 C.J. p 1287 note 18.

Assault and battery

Body judgment against manager of company holding chattel mortgage and deputy constable employed by him to take possession of mortgaged property on condition broken, for assault and battery on, and false imprisonment of, mortgagor's wife by such deputy, is unauthorized where there is no showing of "malice, fraud or wilful deceit."—Fulton Inv. Co. v. Fraser, 230 P. 600, 76 Colo. 125.

Injury by servant

(1) Owner of an automobile, who was not present at accident resulting from negligence of one driving car, presumably on owner's business, is subject to body execution on judgment secured against him.—Dracup v. Lutgen, 211 N.Y.S. 305, 125 Misc. 775.

(2) Individual partner is liable to arrest under writ of capias ad satisfaciendum on judgment in suit for injuries caused by negligence of partnership's servants.—Baxter v. Wunder, 89 Pa.Super. 555.

(3) Willful, malicious act of servant cannot as matter of law be imputed to masters for purpose of warranting finding in tort action that they should be confined in close jail, but such finding is warranted only where masters directed wrongful act or participated in it or subsequently ratified it, since term "willful and malicious act or neglect" signifies wrongful act done intentionally without just cause or excuse, and refusal to award certified execution against all three defendants was not error, in absence of finding that masters directed wrongful act of servant or participated therein or subsequently ratified it.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258.

(4) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 910 note 13 [a].

Willful injury to person or property

(1) Complaints in action for injuries in automobile collision stated causes of action for "willful" injury, as regards right to execution against person.—Foster v. Hyman, 148 S.E. 36, 197 N.C. 189.

(2) Willful alienation of husband's affections being "willful injury to person and property" within statute permitting arrest in civil cases, wife on return of unsatisfied execution against defendant in action for alienation of affections was entitled to issuance of body execution against such defendant.—Holmatrom v. Wall, 268 N.W. 423, 64 S.D. 467.

78. N.C.—Michael v. Leach, 81 S.E. 760, 166 N.C. 223.

79. Ky.—Miller v. Howe, 53 S.W.2d 938, 245 Ky. 568.
23 C.J. p 910 note 15.

80. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.
23 C.J. p 910 note 16.

81. N.Y.—Ossman v. Crowley, 92 N.Y.S. 29, 101 App.Div. 597—Lasche v. Dearing, 53 N.Y.S. 58, 23 Misc. 722.

82. N.C.—Michael v. Leach, 81 S.E. 760, 166 N.C. 223.
23 C.J. p 910 note 18.

83. N.Y.—Marconi Realty Corporation v. Goldstein, 13 N.Y.S.2d 547.
23 C.J. p 910 note 19.

in actions to recover damages for injuries to property,⁸³ including the wrongful taking, detention, or conversion of personal property.⁸⁴ Where the statutes so provide, the injury to property must be intentional and not merely the result of negligence or accident.⁸⁵

It has been held that an action by an administrator to recover for the wrongful death of his intestate is an action to recover for injuries to the property rights of the beneficiaries, subjecting defendant to a body execution.⁸⁶

(4) Actions to Recover Personal Property

A body execution on a judgment in replevin may issue in those cases prescribed by statute.

At common law a body execution may not issue on a judgment in replevin,⁸⁷ and, where by statute a body execution is authorized in replevin, it may

Finding of "unlawful and willful" injury to realty warranting treble damages pursuant to New York Penal Law justified arrest on civil process, "unlawful and willful" being practically synonymous with "willful and malicious."—Ex parte Goldstein, D.C.N.Y., 30 F.Supp. 443.

Action of trespass to recover treble damages for cutting and removing timber is one in which close-jail execution could properly be granted.—Parker v. Cone, 160 A. 246, 104 Vt. 421.

84. Conn.—Sibley v. Krauskopf, 171 A. 4, 118 Conn. 158.
Ill.—Greener v. Brown, 153 N.E. 825, 323 Ill. 221, affirming Brown v. People, 237 Ill.App. 537—Gillies v. Marshall, 31 N.E.2d 982, 308 Ill. App. 443.
N.Y.—Meisel Tire Co. v. Ralph, 1 N.Y.S.2d 143, 164 Misc. 845.
23 C.J. p 910 note 20.

Debt based on conversion does not arise "upon a contract previously made," within Debtor and Creditor Law, so as to entitle insolvent judgment debtor to exemption from arrest on theory that, since tort had ripened into judgment, original cause of action was extinguished and original debt was based on contract, since a judgment is not a "contract."—In re Berman, 278 N.Y.S. 472, 244 App.Div. 95.

85. N.Y.—Scaranzello v. Paolone, 126 N.Y.S. 714, 70 Misc. 211.
N.C.—Oakley v. Lasater, 89 S.E. 1063, 172 N.C. 96.

86. N.Y.—People v. Gill, 83 N.Y.S. 135, 86 App.Div. 192, affirmed 68 N.E. 1112, 176 N.Y. 606.

87. Mich.—Fuller v. Bowker, 11 Mich. 204.

be issued only in those cases prescribed by the statute.⁸⁸ It has been held, however, that a body execution may issue in an action on a replevin or forthcoming bond,⁸⁹ and that in an action of replevin, where defendant's claim-property bond proves worthless, such an execution is proper.⁹⁰ Where a party elects in an action of replevin to take judgment for damages instead of for a return of the property in dispute, he cannot have execution against the body of defendant.⁹¹

Where the statutes so provide, a body execution may issue in actions to recover a chattel which it is alleged has been concealed, removed, or disposed of so that it cannot be found and taken by the sheriff, and with intent that it should not be so found or taken, or to deprive plaintiff of the benefit thereof.⁹²

d. Actions for Breach of Promise to Marry

Whether a body execution may be had in an action for breach of promise to marry depends on statutory regulations.

Under some statutes a body execution is expressly authorized in actions for breach of promise to marry,⁹³ while under other statutes it is not allowed.⁹⁴ Breach of promise and seduction under such promise constitute "fraud" or "obligation fraudulently incurred" within a statute authorizing execution against the body of the judgment debtor in such cases.⁹⁵

e. Ejectment

A body execution may be had in actions of ejectment.

An action of ejectment, including damages for withholding the property, is not based on contract so as to preclude a body execution,⁹⁶ and such an execution may issue for mesne profits recovered in this action.⁹⁷ Such an action is not, however, within a statute authorizing such an execution in actions for injuries to property,⁹⁸ nor is ejectment an action for the recovery of damages for "injuring, detaining or converting" property.⁹⁹

f. Loss of Right by Joinder of Different Causes of Action

The right to a body execution may be lost by the joinder of causes of action which are not grounds for arrest with those which are, but the writ may issue in such case where the verdict clearly shows that it was based solely on a cause which could support a judgment on which a body execution might issue.

If several causes of action are united, some of which are grounds of arrest and some of which are not, the right to an execution against the person is thereby lost,¹ except, it has been held, where the verdict or finding clearly shows that it was based solely on a cause which could support a judgment on which a body execution might issue.²

The rule, however, is not applicable to the case of a plaintiff who fails to recover in such an action, and, if costs are recovered against him, he will be deemed to have conferred on defendant the most beneficial remedy for the collection thereof, and may be imprisoned.³

§ 414. — As Dependent on Facts Extraneous to Cause of Action

Facts extraneous to the cause of action may, in some cases, justify the issuance of a body execution; fraud of defendant may warrant the issuance of a body execution in actions ex contractu.

In some jurisdictions a body execution may issue, even in actions based on contract, on a proper showing that defendant has been guilty of fraud, either in contracting or incurring the liability,⁴ in

Right to body execution at common law see supra § 411.

88. Mich.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Ellar, 220 N. W. 766, 243 Mich. 603.

On appeal to circuit court from justice

A body execution may be issued on a judgment of the justice's court in replevin, but the circuit court in replevin action may not issue the writ so that plaintiff in replevin is not entitled to body execution against defendant after appeal to circuit court from judgment of justice court.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Ellar, supra—23 C.J. p 910 note 23 [a].

89. Ky.—Scott v. Maupin, Hard. 122.

90. Pa.—List v. Firth, 15 Wkly.N.C. 548.

91. Wis.—Pomeroy v. Crocker, 4 Chndl. 174.

92. N.Y.—Barnett v. Selling, 70 N. Y. 492, modifying 9 Hun 236. 23 C.J. p 911 note 28.

93. N.Y.—Graves v. Waite, 59 N. Y. 156.

94. R.I.—Drury v. Merrill, 36 A. 835, 20 R.I. 2.

95. Ohio.—Soinski v. Wardaszko, 176 N.E. 460, 38 Ohio App. 388.

96. Wis.—Howland v. Needham, 10 Wis. 495.

97. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Sheriff, 3 Pa.Dist. 74.—Hopkinson v. Cooper, 8 Phila. 8.

98. N.Y.—Merritt v. Carpenter, 3 Abb.Dec. 285, 2 Keyes 462, 33 How. Pr. 428, reversing 30 Barb. 61—Griswold v. Sweet, 49 How.Pr. 171.

99. N.Y.—Fullerton v. Fitzgerald, 18 Barb. 441.

1. U.S.—B. I. P. (Export), Limited v. Isaacs, D.C.N.Y., 10 F.Supp. 872.

Colo.—Erisman v. McCarty, 236 P. 777, 781, 77 Colo. 289, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Moellis v. Dworkin, 22 N.Y.S. 2d 113.

N.C.—Stewart v. Bryan, 28 S.E. 18, 121 N.C. 46.

23 C.J. p 912 note 41.

2. Mich.—Lindow v. Mudge, 253 N. W. 196, 266 Mich. 11—Kirkner v. Larson, 236 N.W. 896, 254 Mich. 648.

S.D.—Hormann v. Sherin, 65 N.W. 434, 8 S.D. 36, 59 Am.S.R. 744.

3. N.Y.—Miller v. Scherder, 2 N.Y. 262.

4. N.Y.—Berkner v. Rubin, 260 N.Y. S. 747, 145 Misc. 666.

23 C.J. p 912 note 43.

Sufficiency of complaint

Complaint alleging that defendant falsely and fraudulently, with knowledge of falsity and to induce plain-avoiding the payment of judgment debts,⁵ or in disposing of property with intent to defraud creditors,⁶ or has been, subsequent to the creation of the debt, guilty of fraudulent conduct for the purpose of defeating his creditor in the recovery of the debt, by due process of law.⁷

In some jurisdictions it is a separate ground for the writ that the debtor has nonexempt property which he conceals or refuses to apply in satisfaction of the judgment against him.⁸ Under a statute providing that a body execution may issue where defendant refuses to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, it is not material whether the action is based on contract or on tort.⁹

§ 415. — As Dependent on Previous Order of Arrest

Where the right to arrest depends on the nature of the action, no previous order of arrest is required for the issuance of a body execution, but where the grounds of arrest are extrinsic to the cause of action, in some jurisdictions the writ may issue only after a previous order of arrest has been obtained and served.

As a general rule, where the right to arrest depends on the nature of the action and is a part thereof, an execution against the person may issue, although no previous order of arrest has been granted,¹⁰ as in the case of actions ex delicto.¹¹

Where, however, the grounds of arrest are extraneous to the cause of action, an execution against the person may in some jurisdictions issue only after a previous order of arrest has been obtained and served,¹² and has not been vacated.¹³ Although the allegations of the complaint show a ground for arrest, where such allegations are not necessary to the cause of action alleged, such execution cannot issue unless a previous order of arrest has been served.¹⁴ Where a previous order of arrest is necessary, if only one of two defendants is arrested on a capias ad respondendum and judgment is entered against both, defendant not originally arrested cannot be arrested on execution,¹⁵ although it is otherwise as to defendant originally arrested.¹⁶ If an order of arrest is obtained before judgment and is not vacated, an execution against the person predicated thereon may be issued on the judgment, according to the authorities in some jurisdictions, although the cause of action as stated in the complaint is not a ground of arrest and under these circumstances it is not necessary that the judgment record show liability of defendant to arrest.¹⁷ However, a directly opposite view has been taken, it being held that, even though an order of arrest has been obtained before judgment, the complaint must set out grounds sufficient to authorize the issuance of a capias ad satisfaciendum, whether extrinsic to the cause of action or not, and the judgment must state these facts.¹⁸

§ 416. — As Dependent on Previous Issue and Return of Execution against Property

At common law, plaintiff may sue out a fieri facias or a capias ad satisfaciendum in the first instance, but statutory provisions in many jurisdictions require that an execution against the property of the debtor be issued and returned unsatisfied in whole or in part before an execution against the person may issue.

At common law plaintiff might sue out a fieri facias, and if his debt was not thereby satisfied he might then, in a proper case, take out a capias ad satisfaciendum, but the latter writ might, at plaintiff's option, be sued out in the first instance, the two writs thus issuing simultaneously,¹⁹ and the tiffs to part with money, represented that corporation owned premises and that he was officer therein, and that plaintiffs, relying on representations, entered into lease with corporation and paid rent to defendant, was sufficient to warrant issuance of body execution, and the fact that plaintiffs, sought recovery of entire consideration paid for lease, did not make action one for rescission so as to prevent issuance of body execution.—Schwartz v. Jacobs, 279 N.Y.S. 214, 154 Misc. 846.

Arrest on mesne process

Statute providing for defendant's arrest, where obligation sued on was incurred by fraud, authorizes arrest only on mesne process and not after default.—Hittson v. Stanich, 258 P. 405, 34 Cal.App. 434.

5. Ind.—Baker v. State, 9 N.E. 711, 109 Ind. 47.
5 C.J. p 443 note 95.

6. Nev.—Ex parte Bergman, 4 P. 209, 18 Nev. 331.
23 C.J. p 912 note 45.

Complaint must allege fraud
N.Y.—Ellis v. Cohen, 24 N.Y.S.2d 23, affirmed 24 N.Y.S.2d 24, 175 Misc. 349.

7. N.J.—Ex parte Clark, 30 N.J. Law 648, 45 Am.D. 394.

8. Conn.—Morrison v. Martin, 80 A. 716, 84 Conn. 628.
23 C.J. p 912 note 47.

9. Ill.—Pappas v. Reabus, 20 N.E. 2d 327, 299 Ill.App. 499.

10. N.Y.—Sherman v. Grinnell, 53 N.E. 674, 159 N.Y. 50, affirming 34 N.Y.S. 1148.
23 C.J. p 912 note 48.

11. Mich.—Forsythe v. Washtenaw
Cir. Judge, 147 N.W. 549, 180 Mich. 832.

23 C.J. p 913 note 49.

12. N.Y.—Allen v. Fromme, 88 N.E. 645, 195 N.Y. 404.

23 C.J. p 913 note 50, p 918 note 32 [d].

13. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N.Y. 349, 10 Abb.Pr., N.S., 238.
23 C.J. p 913 note 51.

14. N.Y.—Prouty v. Swift, 51 N.Y. 594.
23 C.J. p 913 note 52.

15. N.Y.—Ballou v. Hulbert, 1 Johns. 62.

16. N.Y.—Whitman v. James, 62 How.Pr. 132.

17. N.Y.—Smith v. Knapp, 30 N.Y. 581.
23 C.J. p 913 note 55.

18. Cal.—Payne v. Elliot, 54 Cal. 339, 35 Am.R. 80—Davis v. Robinson, 10 Cal. 411.

19. Pa.—Pontius v. Nesbit, 40 Pa. 309.

23 C.J. p 914 note 58.

fact that a fieri facias has been issued and is at the time in the hands of the sheriff does not preclude the right to the issuance of a capias ad satisfaciendum,²⁰ although, since the execution of either writ is usually held to operate prima facie as a satisfaction of the judgment, the two writs cannot be contemporaneously executed,²¹ and if anything is done under a fieri facias, a capias ad satisfaciendum, which has been issued, cannot be executed until the former execution is returned,²² and a levy on a fieri facias having once been made, it cannot be abandoned or withdrawn, and the body of defendant taken in execution thereafter.²³

Under the statutory provisions in a number of jurisdictions an execution against the person cannot issue unless an execution against property has been previously issued and returned unsatisfied in whole or in part.²⁴ This prohibition, being for the benefit of the judgment debtor may, however, be waived by him.²⁵ Where goods taken under a fieri facias have been sold for a part of the amount due on the judgment, a capias ad satisfaciendum cannot be legally issued for the residue until the sheriff has made a final return of the fieri facias showing what has been done with the property.²⁶ When a party is entitled to an execution against the property and person of a debtor, the mere taking out of a fieri facias in the first instance without effect, or with only partial success, will not prevent the subsequent resort to the more stringent process of capias ad satisfaciendum.²⁷

In some states the execution may be issued in the alternative so as to permit the officer or creditor to elect whether to take property or the body of the debtor.²⁸ Under the provisions of some statutes, where malice is the gist of the action an execution requiring defendant to turn over his estate is not a prerequisite to a capias ad satisfaciendum.²⁹

Where an execution against the debtor's property has been returned unsatisfied, the pendency of supplementary proceedings will not prevent the issuance of a body execution.³⁰

§ 417. — On What Judgments Authorized

- a. In general
- b. Provisions in judgment

a. In General

A body execution may issue only on a judgment which is not within the prohibition of imprisonment for debt and the judgment must be in personam and must not be dormant.

As shown supra §§ 411-413, a judgment, in order to authorize the issuance of an execution against the person, must have been obtained in an action not within the prohibition of imprisonment for debt, but one in which an order of arrest is proper. The judgment must be one which has not become dormant at the time of the arrest,³¹ must be in personam,³² and must not be merely a cautionary judgment for a sum which may never become due.³³ Where defendant is not served with process and does not appear to a suit by attachment, the judgment, on publication of notice, is a special one, and does not authorize an execution against the body or against any property but that 20. Ky.—Leavison v. Rosenthal, 5 Ky.L. 132.

23 C.J. p 914 note 59.

21. Ky.—Cofer v. Woodyard, 5 Ky.L. 858, 12 Ky.Op. 608.

23 C.J. p 914 note 60.

22. Md.—Turner v. Walker, 3 Gill & J. 377, 22 Am.D. 329.

23 C.J. p 914 note 61.

If property is insufficient to satisfy judgment, capias ad satisfaciendum will issue.—Majeski v. Duzinski, 5 Pa.Dist. & Co. 22.

23. Pa.—State Bank v. Latshaw, 9 Serg. & R. 9.

21 C.J. p 914 note 62.

24. N.Y.—Jabitsky v. Solowachik, 267 N.Y.S. 781, 150 Misc. 713.

23 C.J. p 914 note 64.

Pendency of other proceedings

Statute providing that, in action for injury to person, execution could be issued against person of judgment debtor after return of execution against his property unsatisfied authorized arrest and imprisonment of judgment debtor who conveyed property to wife and daughter shortly after action of assault was brought against him, and the party who recovered judgment in action for assault, and who obtained appointment of receiver to recover property conveyed by judgment debtor to avoid payment of judgment, could proceed with execution against person of judgment debtor after return of execution against his property unsatisfied, as against contention that execution against person could not be had because of pendency of proceedings in execution against judgment debtor's property.—Blackmon v. Kirven, 175 S.E. 814, 173 S.C. 322.

25. N.Y.—New York Guaranty & Indemnity Co. v. Rogers, 71 N.Y. 377, affirming 43 N.Y.Super. 551.

26. Md.—Turner v. Walker, 3 Gill & J. 377, 22 Am.D. 329.

27. Mich.—Forsythe v. Washtenaw

Cir. Judge, 147 N.W. 549, 180 Mich. 633.

23 C.J. p 915 note 67.

28. Mass.—Dooley v. Cotton, 3 Gray 496.

23 C.J. p 915 note 68.

29. Ill.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 387 Ill. 632, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 1057, 304 U.S. 583, 82 L.Ed. 1545—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Greener v. Brown, 153 N.E. 825, 323 Ill. 221, affirming Brown v. People, 237 Ill.App. 537—In re White, 23 N.E.2d 401, 302 Ill.App. 69—Brandtjen & Kluge v. Forgue, 20 N.E.2d 616, 299 Ill.App. 585—Petition of Fetz, 239 Ill.App. 250.

30. N.Y.—White v. Denny, 15 N.Y.S.2d 849, 258 App.Div. 144.

31. Ga.—Strawbridge v. Mann, 17 Ga. 454.

32. La.—Hill v. Bowman, 14 La. 445.

33. Pa.—City Trust Bank v. Richards, 20 Wkly.N.C. 53.

attached.³⁴ A body execution cannot issue on a decree rendered solely on the unauthorized findings and conclusions of a referee.³⁵

Whether a body execution may issue on the judgment of a particular court sometimes depends on statutory provisions.³⁶ Under some statutes no person shall be imprisoned for nonpayment of a judgment in a civil action except on conviction by a jury or the formal waiver of a jury trial.³⁷

Consent judgment. A body execution may, in a proper case, be authorized when defendant consents to entry of judgment against him.³⁸

Scire facias judgment. The award in an original judgment of the right to a close-jail execution does not authorize the clerk to issue such an execution on a scire facias judgment.³⁹

Docketing of judgment. Unless required by statute the judgment need not be docketed in the county of the debtor's residence, in order to validate a body execution.⁴⁰

Amount of debt. In some jurisdictions whether or not an execution will issue against the person of defendant depends on the amount of the debt.⁴¹

b. Provisions in Judgment

A body execution is sometimes authorized by the judgment, and under some statutes cannot issue, unless the judgment makes express provision therefor.

A body execution is sometimes authorized by order of court contained in the judgment,⁴² and under some statutes a body execution cannot issue, unless it is so expressly provided in the judgment.⁴³ In the absence of such statutory requirement, this provision need not be incorporated in the judgment,⁴⁴ where the facts necessary to constitute a cause of action in which a body execution may issue are set out in the complaint,⁴⁵ and the proper findings to establish such cause of action have been made by the jury.⁴⁶

§ 418. — Persons Entitled to Writ

The assignee of a judgment is, in a proper case, entitled to a body execution. A successful defendant may be entitled to an arrest of plaintiff where the action is such that he could have been arrested if plaintiff had succeeded.

The assignee of a judgment in actions in which imprisonment is allowed is entitled to a body execution.⁴⁷ Where part of the judgment is assigned, the writ may issue in the name of the assignor for the full amount.⁴⁸ The assignment of a claim, based on contract, without the assignment of a claim for damages connected therewith, does not authorize the issue of a body execution at the instance of the assignee.⁴⁹

A statute, prohibiting in the same action the issuance of a second execution against a judgment debtor who is in custody under an execution against his person does not prevent a further execution against the debtor by another judgment creditor whose claim was litigated in the same action.⁵⁰

Defendant. The right of a defendant to arrest plaintiff on a body execution, where defendant has succeeded in the action, depends solely on the right of plaintiff to have defendant arrested, had the judgment been against defendant instead of against plaintiff.⁵¹

34. Mo.—Clark v. Holliday, 9 Mo. 711.

35. Or.—In re Level, 159 P. 553, 81 Or. 298.

36. Mich.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Ellar, 220 N. W. 766, 243 Mich. 603.
23 C.J. p 915 note 76.

37. Ill.—Kearns v. Choculowski, 223 Ill.App. 117.

38. N.Y.—Siegel v. Tobias, 19 N.Y. S.2d 337, 173 Misc. 868.

39. Vt.—Slayton v. Smilie, 28 A. 871, 66 Vt. 197.

40. N.Y.—Weinus v. Light, 170 N. Y.S. 173, 183 App.Div. 591.

41. Mass.—Hooper v. Cox, 117 Mass. 1.
23 C.J. p 915 note 78.

Joinder of plaintiffs

Under a statute providing for body execution for services rendered or remuneration earned, where the sum does not exceed one hundred dollars, painters, each of whom had claim against subcontractor in amount less than one hundred dollars for wages, did not, by joining together in a single action, waive right to have execution against defendant's person, although amount of combined claims exceeded one hundred dollars.—Changas v. C. & W. Construction Co., 279 N.Y.S. 84, 154 Misc. 824.

42. S.C.—Ex parte Hutto, 60 S.E. 34, 78 S.C. 560.
23 C.J. p 915 note 79.

43. N.Y.—Spitzer v. Ackerman, 194 N.Y.S. 447.
23 C.J. p 915 note 80.

Amendment of judgment

Where the summons did not contain the notice required by Mun.C. Code § 25, and the complaint was not verified, order amending judgment for plaintiff by directing body execution was erroneous.—Barud v. Secular, 182 N.Y.S. 693.

44. N.C.—Michael v. Leach, 81 S.E. 760, 166 N.C. 223.

Or.—Banning v. Roy, 82 P. 708, 47 Or. 119, 114 Am.S.R. 908.

45. N.C.—Michael v. Leach, 81 S.E. 760, 166 N.C. 223.

In New York, under Code Civ.Proc. § 549, plaintiff's right to a body execution is to be determined by the allegations in his complaint.—Fenton v. Duckworth, 115 N.Y.S. 686, 131 App.Div. 291—Bacon v. Grossmann, 86 N.Y.S. 66, 90 App.Div. 204.

46. N.C.—Michael v. Leach, 81 S.E. 760, 166 N.C. 223.

47. Ill.—Lasher v. Carey, 182 Ill. App. 147.
23 C.J. p 916 note 86.

48. N.Y.—Dougherty v. Gardner, 58 How.Pr. 284.

49. N.Y.—Birdsall v. Fuller, 11 Hun 204.

50. N.Y.—Parascandola v. Auditore, 213 N.Y.S. 463, 215 App.Div. 277, appeal dismissed 152 N.E. 432, 242 N.Y. 571.

51. N.Y.—Allen v. Fromme, 88 N.E.

Sureties. A surety who pays the debt being entitled to be put in the place of the creditor and to all means which the creditor possesses to enforce payment against the principal debtor, a body execution will issue, at the instance of such surety, against the principal where it would have issued at the instance of the creditor.⁵² The sureties on a promissory note who have paid a judgment and fieri facias going against the principal and sureties jointly have no right to return the fieri facias and take out a capias ad satisfaciendum for the arrest of the principal.⁵³

§ 419. — Persons Subject to Writ

- a. In general
- b. Joint defendants

a. In General

Various classes of persons are exempt from arrest and imprisonment on body execution, by statute, or otherwise. Under statutes females are exempt or are exempt except in certain cases.

Various classes of persons have been held to be exempt from arrest and imprisonment on execution against the person, by statute or otherwise.⁵⁴ Thus idiots, lunatics, or infants,⁵⁵ spendthrifts under guardianship,⁵⁶ witnesses during attendance on, and while coming from, the court,⁵⁷ parties attending to their causes in court,⁵⁸ members of the legislature while in the execution of their duties,⁵⁹ electors while going to or returning from the polls on days of election,⁶⁰ and persons enlisting in the army where the debt is less than a certain amount⁶¹ have been held to be exempt. An officer of a court, if arrested when not engaged in his official duties, nor on his way to or from his office, cannot claim exemption.⁶²

In an action for assault and battery, in which plaintiff has judgment, an order for a capias has been held error where defendant has been fined for the same assault.⁶³

Females. Under some statutes all females are exempt from body execution,⁶⁴ or are exempt except in certain cases.⁶⁵

b. Joint Defendants

Where the right to a body execution depends on the nature of the action, the execution must follow the judgment and be issued and run against all defendants sued jointly or jointly liable, unless otherwise provided by statute.

Where the right to execution against the person depends on the nature of the action, the execution must follow the judgment and be issued and run against all defendants jointly sued or jointly liable,⁶⁶ except where otherwise provided by statute.⁶⁷ A separate body execution against one defendant on a joint judgment against two cannot be supported.⁶⁸ This is so, even after the other defendant has been discharged,⁶⁹ although in jurisdictions where there must be a finding of malice to support a body execution, see supra § 413 c, a finding of malice against only one of several joint defendants justifies the issuance of a body execution against such defendant alone.⁷⁰ In an action against joint debtors, where an order of arrest has been granted

645, 195 N.Y. 404—Allen v. Becket, 84 N.Y.S. 1009.

52. N.Y.—Rapp v. Masten, 4 Redf. Surr. 76.

23 C.J. p 916 note 91.

53. Ga.—Elam v. Rawson, 21 Ga. 139.

54. Stockholders of a corporation are exempt on execution issued on a judgment against the corporation.—Ex parte Penniman, 11 R.I. 333.

55. N.Y.—Bush v. Pettibone, 4 N.Y. 300, Code Rep., N.S., 264. 23 C.J. p 916 note 95.

56. Mass.—In re Blake, 106 Mass. 501.

57. U.S.—In re Hurst, Pa., 4 Dall. 387, 1 L.Ed. 878. 23 C.J. p 916 note 97.

Arrest on execution for failure to pay valid judgment, while leaving court after hearing supplemental to issuance of execution, was held valid.—Wemme v. Hurlburt, 289 P. 372, 133 Or. 460.

58. Mass.—Ex parte McNell, 6 Mass. 245. 23 C.J. p 916 note 98.

59. N.Y.—Corey v. Russell, 4 Wend. 204.

60. Conn.—Swift v. Chamberlain, 3 Conn. 537. 23 C.J. p 916 note 1.

61. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Lammond, 3 Johns. 445, 540. Pa.—Wright v. Quinn, 1 Yeates 163.

62. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N. E. 346, 243 Mass. 252.

Mich.—Lindow v. Mudge, 253 N.W. 196, 266 Mich. 11. 23 C.J. p 916 note 4.

63. Colo.—Kennedy v. Simansky, 224 P. 233, 75 Colo. 103.

64. S.C.—Harrison v. Caudle, 139 S. E. 842, 141 S.C. 407. 23 C.J. p 916 note 6.

65. N.Y.—Ritz Carlton Apartments v. Fried, 235 N.Y.S. 624, 134 Misc. 347, reversing 232 N.Y.S. 519, 133 Misc. 607. 23 C.J. p 916 note 7.

Willful injury

Whether action involves willful injury affects right to procure order of arrest of woman, not right to body execution against her.—Ritz Carlton Apartments v. Fried, 235 N. Y.S. 624, 134 Misc. 347, reversing 232 N.Y.S. 519, 133 Misc. 607.

66. Del.—Fromberger v. Karsner, 6 Del. 290. 23 C.J. p 917 note 10.

Master and servant

In action of tort against employers and servant for willful, malicious act of servant, plaintiff was entitled to execution against bodies of all three defendants.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258.

67. Tenn.—Saunders v. Gallaher, 2 Humphr. 445.

68. N.C.—Judson v. McLelland, 44 N.C. 262. 23 C.J. p 917 note 12.

69. N.Y.—Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank v. Crane, 15 Abb.Pr., N. S., 434.

70. Ill.—Pappas v. Reabus, 20 N.E. 2d 327, 299 Ill.App. 499.

against one of them and execution against all has been returned unsatisfied, the requirement that the execution must follow the judgment does not apply, but an execution running against the person of only the one arrested is regular.⁷¹ Where, by proceedings subsequent to the judgment, the right of the judgment creditor to enforce a body execution against one of several defendants has been lost, the court may issue execution against only those liable to execution.⁷²

§ 420. Proceedings to Procure

- a. In general
- b. Affidavit or complaint
- c. Notice and hearing
- d. Evidence
- e. Order directing execution

a. In General

Statutory provisions governing the procedure to procure an execution against the person must be followed strictly. Such statutes variously involve application to, or certificate by, the court, motion before the clerk, submission of an issue to the jury, and demand on the debtor for delivery of his property in satisfaction of the judgment and a refusal by him.

71. N.Y.—Whitman v. James, 10 Daly 490, affirmed 89 N.Y. 635.

72. Mass.—Thomson v. Sleeper, 47 N.E. 106, 168 Mass. 373.

73. Pa.—Ritter v. Stricker, 20 Pa. Dist. & Co. 622.
23 C.J. p 917 note 16.

In New York

(1) Under the Municipal Court Code, a statement on the summons that plaintiff seeks defendant's arrest and imprisonment is a prerequisite to the issuance of a body execution, where no verified complaint is served with the summons.—Steiner v. Lewis, 288 N.Y.S. 640, 248 App. Div. 747—Jabitsky v. Solowachik, 267 N.Y.S. 781, 150 Misc. 713—23 C.J. p 917 note 16 [a].

(2) Plaintiff held entitled to a body execution, where the affidavit of service as amended showed that summons contained indorsement of defendant's liability to arrest and imprisonment.—Factrow v. Rothbart, 252 N.Y.S. 721, 141 Misc. 470.

(3) Where the summons, in an action for property damage sustained by reason of defendant's negligence, contained an indorsement as prescribed by statute and plaintiff recovered judgment, plaintiff was entitled as a matter of right to a body execution.—Pinkus v. Glass, 21 N.Y.S.2d 454, appeal denied 21 N.Y.S.2d 455, 259 App.Div. 1080.

74. N.Y.—In re Tannenbaum, 1 N.Y.S.2d 493, 165 Misc. 720.

Purpose of statute

The purpose of amending a statute authorizing a body execution, by requiring an application to the court for leave to issue execution, was to guard against the issuance of a body execution in cases not specifically authorized by law.—White v. Denny, 15 N.Y.S.2d 849, 258 App.Div. 144—In re Tannenbaum, 1 N.Y.S.2d 493, 165 Misc. 720.

Application of statute to particular courts

A statute requiring application for leave to issue body execution in actions in the supreme court does not affect the municipal court.—Rion Co. v. Zuckerman, 17 N.Y.S.2d 40, 173 Misc. 3.

Discretion to deny application

(1) Under a statute requiring application to court for leave to issue execution against person, the court does not have discretion to deny leave to issue body execution in cases where body execution is specifically authorized.—In re Tannenbaum, 1 N.Y.S.2d 493, 165 Misc. 720.

(2) Such statute merely modified the procedure for obtaining a body execution, and did not confer discretion upon the court affecting judgment creditor's right to such execution.—White v. Denny, 15 N.Y.S.2d 849, 258 App.Div. 144.

Prior to statutory amendment in New York, an application for leave to issue a body execution was unnecessary when authorized by the

The statutory provisions governing the procedure to procure an execution against the person must in all cases be strictly followed before the writ may issue.⁷³ In at least one jurisdiction, application for leave to issue a body execution is required to be made to the court.⁷⁴ Another method of obtaining a body execution is by motion before the clerk of the court;⁷⁵ from an adverse ruling, his action is subject to review on appeal.⁷⁶ Where a judgment is obtained in an action in which a body execution is authorized, it is the duty of the clerk to issue the writ on request,⁷⁷ and, if he refuses, plaintiff may apply for a writ of mandamus against him.⁷⁸

Submission of issue, finding and judgment. In construing certain provisions as to executions against the person, it has been held that in order that such an execution may issue there must be a submission to the jury of a distinct and separate issue as to the essential fact on which the right to the execution is based,⁷⁹ arising on proper allegations in the complaint,⁸⁰ an affirmative finding thereon,⁸¹ and a judgment entered in conformity therewith from which the liability of defendant to judgment.—Parascandola v. Auditors, 213 N.Y.S. 463, 215 App.Div. 277, appeal dismissed 152 N.E. 432, 242 N.Y. 571.

75. N.C.—Turlington v. Aman, 79 S. E. 1102, 163 N.C. 555.

76. N.C.—Turlington v. Aman, supra—Huntley v. Hasty, 43 S.E. 844, 132 N.C. 279.

77. Ill.—People v. Walker, 122 N.E. 92, 286 Ill. 541.

N.J.—Kintzel v. Olsen, Sup., 73 A. 962.

Ministerial act

The duty imposed by statute on the clerk to issue a writ of capias ad satisfaciendum is a "ministerial act" and the clerk is not permitted to refer to the pleadings to determine whether malice is the gist of the action, since the determination of such question is a "judicial act."—Ingalls v. Raklios, 26 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1—Peiffer v. French, 28 N.E.2d 983, 306 Ill.App. 326, affirmed 33 N.E.2d 591, 376 Ill. 376.

78. Ill.—People v. Walker, 122 N.E. 92, 286 Ill. 541.

79. N.C.—Crowder v. Stiers, 1 S.E. 2d 353, 215 N.C. 123—Foster v. Hyman, 148 S.E. 36, 197 N.C. 189.
23 C.J. p 917 note 21.

80. U.S.—Mitchel v. Porter, Alaska, 194 F. 49, 114 C.C.A. 69.
23 C.J. p 917 note 22.

81. N.C.—McKinney v. Patterson, 93 S.E. 967, 174 N.C. 483.
23 C.J. p 917 note 23.

arrest will appear.⁸² It has been held, however, that where the facts which authorize an arrest are extrinsic to the cause of action, it is not necessary, in order to sustain an execution against the person that the liability of defendant to arrest should appear from the judgment.⁸³

Certificate of judge. In some jurisdictions provision is made by statute, in certain cases, for a certificate from the court or justice before whom the action was tried, as a part of the procedure for issuing a body execution.⁸⁴

Demand and refusal. Under some statutes, before a body execution can issue it must appear that a demand was made on the debtor for the delivery of his property in satisfaction of the judgment against him and a refusal on his part.⁸⁵ However, a demand for payment of judgment has been held not necessary before the issuance of a body execution in a tort action.⁸⁶

b. Affidavit or Complaint

- (1) In General; Necessity
- (2) Requisites

(1) In General; Necessity

The necessity for filing an affidavit to obtain a body execution depends on statutory provisions and the grounds for such execution; a statute requiring an affidavit in all or certain cases must be obeyed. Authorities differ as to the necessity of an affidavit where an order of arrest obtained before judgment has not been vacated.

Whether it is necessary to file affidavits to obtain a body execution depends on the grounds for such execution, and on the statutes governing the procedure in this regard.⁸⁷ If the statute requires an 82. N.C.—Doyle v. Bush, 86 S.E. 165, 171 N.C. 10.

23 C.J. p 917 note 24.

83. N.Y.—Lovee v. Carpenter, 3 Abb.Pr., N.S., 309.

84. In Massachusetts

(1) The magistrate's certificate required by statute to be annexed to an execution in order to arrest the judgment debtor thereon need not in terms authorize an arrest in the daytime.—Manuel v. Bates, 104 Mass. 354.

(2) A certificate which sets forth that the magistrate, after due hearing, is satisfied that there is reasonable cause to believe the facts therein required to be sworn to, is correct in form, and is sufficiently signed by the magistrate if his surname is written at length, with the initial of his given name.—Webber v. Davis, 5 Allen 392.

In New Hampshire if the cause of action in any action of trespass or trespass on the case has arisen from the willful and malicious act or neglect of defendant, the court or justice before whom the action is tried shall cause a certificate thereof to be made on the back of the execution issued in such action; a court which refers a cause to a referee for trial, and afterward receives his report and renders judgment on it, may be said to try the cause, within a statute requiring a certificate.—Cooley v. Eastman, 57 N.H. 503.

In Vermont

(1) Under statute the court is required to issue execution with a certificate stated in, or indorsed on, such execution, where it is adjudged that the cause of action arose from the willful and malicious act or neglect of defendant.—Healy v. Moore, 187 A. 679, 108 Vt. 324, followed in 187 A. 692, 108 Vt. 351—Adams v. Wait, 42 Vt. 16.

(2) The granting of a close jail certificate is no part of the principal judgment in the cause, but is independent of it and collateral thereto.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258—Stowe v. Powell, 46 Vt. 471—Spaulding v. Woodworth, 42 Vt. 570.

(3) The statute providing for the certificate contemplates a separate and independent examination of the evidence by the trial court as the basis for awarding the certificate.—Domina v. Pratt, 13 A.2d 198, 111 Vt. 166, followed in 13 A.2d 204, 111 Vt. 178—Healy v. Moore, 187 A. 679, 108 Vt. 324, followed in 187 A. 692, 108 Vt. 351.

(4) A certified execution cannot be allowed without a consideration of the evidence to determine whether defendant's wrongful act was willful and malicious.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258.

(5) Whether the wrongful act of defendant was willful and malicious is usually for the trial court to determine, and may be determined on matters disclosed at trial or on a further hearing.—Jewett v. Pudlo, supra.

(6) Where the facts appear of record, whether a party is entitled to a certified body execution is a question of law.—Healy v. Moore, supra—Jewett v. Pudlo, supra—Lyon v. Prescott, 156 A. 679, 103 Vt. 442.

(7) The trial court must grant the certificate, if plaintiff is entitled thereto, as a legal right.—Healy v. Moore, 187 A. 679, 108 Vt. 324, followed in 187 A. 692, 108 Vt. 351—Styles v. Shanks, 46 Vt. 612.

(8) The burden of proof is on a plaintiff moving for a certified execution to show that the cause of action arose from the willful and malicious act or neglect of defendant.—Benway v. Hooper, 8 A.2d 658, 110 Vt. 497—Healy v. Moore, supra—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258—North Adams Beef & Produce Co. v. Cantor, 156 A. 879, 103 Vt. 514.

(9) Evidence held sufficient to justify the granting of a close jail certificate.—Benway v. Hooper, supra—Eastman v. Jacobs, 162 A. 382, 104 Vt. 536.

(10) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 919 note 55 [c].

85. Ill.—Huntington v. Metzger, 41 N.E. 881, 158 Ill. 272.
23 C.J. p 920 note 70.

86. Ill.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 367 Ill. 632—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—People v. Walker, 122 N.E. 92, 286 Ill. 541—Pappas v. Reabus, 20 N.E.2d 327, 299 Ill.App. 499.

87. In Illinois, where the judgment is in tort based on malice, an affidavit is not necessary as a prerequisite to the issuance of a capias.—Brandtjen & Kluge v. Forgue, 20 N.E.2d 616, 299 Ill.App. 585—Pappas v. Reabus, 20 N.E.2d 327, 299 Ill.App. 499—23 C.J. p 918 note 32 [a].

In Massachusetts, where a body execution is issued in an action of tort, no preliminary affidavit and certificate are necessary.—Brazill v. Green, 127 N.E. 535, 236 Mass. 93.

In Vermont an affidavit is not required where the right to the body execution is dependent on a finding by the court that the cause of action arose from the willful and malicious act or neglect of defendant.—Haskell v. Jewell, 7 A. 545, 59 Vt. 91.

affidavit in all or certain cases it must be obeyed.⁸⁸

Under some statutes if an order of arrest has been obtained before judgment, and is not vacated, an execution against the person issues as of course,⁸⁹ and no new affidavit is necessary,⁹⁰ while under other statutes a new affidavit is necessary.⁹¹ Where from the nature of the judgment a capias ad respondendum might have been properly issued in the first instance no affidavit is necessary.⁹² Under some statutes, where the cause of arrest set forth in the complaint and the facts stated as causes of arrest are essential to, or constitute, plaintiff's cause of action, no affidavit is needed,⁹³ provided the complaint has been duly verified;⁹⁴ and where the cause of arrest is set forth in the complaint but is only collateral and extrinsic to plaintiff's cause of action, the statement of the cause of arrest in the complaint will answer in place of an affidavit, but such statement must be as explicit as though set forth in an affidavit and properly verified.⁹⁵ Where, however, the cause of arrest is not set forth in the complaint, defendant can be arrested only by an order founded upon a sufficient affidavit.⁹⁶

Where an affidavit is necessary, the court or judge will consider only such grounds for execution as are included in the affidavit.⁹⁷

Amendment. The court in its discretion may permit the amendment of the affidavit as to matters of form.⁹⁸

(2) Requisites

The affidavit must comply with statutory requirements as to form and allegations; an affidavit on information and belief may be sufficient.

The affidavit must be in such form and contain such allegations as to comply with statutory requirements.⁹⁹ It should make out a plain case for the issuing of the writ,¹ and should show such conduct on the part of defendant as brings him within the exceptions to the prohibitions against imprisonment for debt.² Where fraud is the ground on which the issuing of the writ is sought, the facts constituting the fraud must be specifically stated in the affidavit.³ The affidavit should not be in the alternative.⁴ Defective grammar, where the sense is apparent, will not invalidate it.⁵

The affidavit must be made by the person authorized by statute so to do, usually the judgment creditor or his attorney,⁶ and may be sworn to before one authorized to administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses and others.⁷

Persons making affidavits to establish the fraud necessary to justify the issuing of a body execution should take care to swear only to facts and not to conclusions of law.⁸

An affidavit on information and belief may be sufficient;⁹ when it is so made, the sources and nature of the information must be set out and the reason given why a positive statement cannot be procured.¹⁰

c. Notice and Hearing

Notice to the defendant, and a hearing, are necessary if required by statute.

Statutory provisions for notice to defendant and for a hearing,¹¹ or for a rule to show cause why execution should not issue,¹² must be complied with. Under other statutes, notice¹³ or a rule to show cause, where the debtor has had notice of the cause of action and relief asked and opportunity to defend 88. Mass.—Bailey v. Bailey, 44 N.E. 143, 166 Mass. 226.

23 C.J. p 918 note 33.

89. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N.Y. 349—Corwin v. Freeland, 6 N.Y. 560.

90. Vt.—Converse v. Washburn, 43 Vt. 129.
23 C.J. p 918 note 35.

91. N.H.—Kidder v. Farrar, 20 N.H. 320.
23 C.J. p 918 note 36.

92. Mich.—Lindow v. Mudge, 253 N.W. 196, 266 Mich. 11.

93. N.C.—Huntley v. Hasty, 43 S.E. 844, 132 N.C. 279.
23 C.J. p 918 note 38.

94. N.C.—State v. Foote, 83 N.C. 102.

95. N.C.—State v. Foote, supra.

96. N.Y.—Mirkowits v. Jond, 161 N.Y.S. 258.

N.C.—State v. Foote, 83 N.C. 102.

97. Kan.—Newton First Nat. Bank v. Briggs, 50 P. 462, 6 Kan.App. 684.

98. Ill.—Doty v. Colton, 90 Ill. 453.
23 C.J. p 919 note 54.

99. Ga.—Dozier v. Dozier, 30 Ga. 523.
23 C.J. p 918 note 44.

1. N.Y.—People v. Albany, 6 Hill 429.

2. Mich.—Badger v. Reed, 39 Mich. 771.

3. Kan.—Tatlow v. Bacon, 165 P. 835, 101 Kan. 26.
23 C.J. p 919 note 47.

4. Ill.—Gorton v. Frissell, 20 Ill. 291.

N.Y.—People v. Albany, 6 Hill 429.

5. Mass.—Abbott v. Tucker, 4 Allen 72.

6. D.C.—Costello v. Palmer, 20 App. D.C. 210.

23 C.J. p 919 note 51.

7. Ill.—Fergus v. Hoard, 15 Ill. 357.
23 C.J. p 919 note 52.

8. N.J.—Klipp v. Chamberlin, 20 N.J.Law 656.

9. Cal.—Mattoon v. Eder, 6 Cal. 57.
23 C.J. p 919 note 49.

10. N.Y.—De Weerth v. Feldner, 16 Abb.Pr. 295.

11. Mass.—Lane v. Holman, 18 N.E. 602, 145 Mass. 221.
23 C.J. p 917 note 26.

Requirement held implied
Kan.—Tatlow v. Bacon, 165 P. 835, 101 Kan. 26.

12. Ind.—Krohn v. Templin, 2 Ind. 146.

13. R.I.—In re Keene, 3 A. 418, 15 R.I. 294.

against the same,¹⁴ is not necessary. A trial by jury has been declared not necessary to justify the issuance of an execution.¹⁵

d. Evidence

Satisfactory evidence of the existence of grounds for the issuance of a body execution must be presented to the court or officer hearing an application therefor.

Before issuing an order for a body execution, the court or officer hearing the application therefor must be satisfied, by the evidence presented in support of the application, that the statutory grounds for such order exist.¹⁶ The record of the judgment is sufficient prima facie evidence of debt.¹⁷ Plaintiff is a competent witness on an application for a capias ad satisfaciendum.¹⁸

A statement made by defendant when examined under a trustee act cannot afterward be sworn to as evidence of fraud to procure a capias ad satisfaciendum.¹⁹ nor can the testimony of a debtor taken on his examination in supplementary proceedings be used as evidence of his fraud, such supplementary proceedings being in the nature of a bill in equity.²⁰ Where a judgment has been rendered by consent, evidence offered by defendant for the purpose of limiting the amount of a certified execution is properly excluded.²¹ A stipulation on the part of the debtor, stating the cause of action to be money received, and allowing judgment to be entered, is not conclusive on a motion for execution against the person on the ground that the cause of action is one for which an arrest is allowed.²²

e. Order Directing Execution

A court order directing the issuance of the writ is necessary where an affidavit is required to be filed after judgment; such order is not necessary where, from the nature of the action and the facts stated in the complaint, the plaintiff would have been entitled to an order of arrest, or where an order of arrest was in fact granted and remains in force.

Where an affidavit is required to be filed after judgment, as appears in subdivision b of this section, an order of the court is usually necessary to the issuance of a body execution,²³ and the order should show that the proof was to its satisfaction;²⁴ but an execution against the person may issue without any special order of court directing it if the action is one in which, from its very nature, and from the facts necessarily stated in the complaint as the cause of action, plaintiff would necessarily have been entitled to an order of arrest;²⁵ and in some jurisdictions, if an order of arrest has been in fact granted, and remains in force, the body of defendant may be taken in execution without any further order, although the facts entitling plaintiff to an order of arrest are not inherent in the cause of action itself.²⁶

§ 421. The Writ

The form and requisites of the writ for body execution are considered in § 422, amendment thereof in § 423, alias or pluries writs in § 424, and return of writ in § 425.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 422. — Issuance, Form, and Requisites

- a. In general
- b. Reference to judgment
- c. Conformity to judgment

14. S.C.—Martin v. Hutton, 64 S.E. 421, 82 S.C. 432.

15. Ill.—Corwin v. Tillman, 255 Ill. App. 230.

Affidavit as to matters subsequent to judgment

However, where an affidavit is filed setting up matters accruing subsequent to the judgment as a ground for the issuing of the execution, defendant may be entitled to a trial by jury on such matters.—Boos v. White, 64 Ill.App. 177.

16. Kan.—Tatlow v. Bacon, 165 P. 835, 101 Kan. 26.
23 C.J. p 919 note 56.

Review

The officer making the order for the writ is to decide on the weight and credibility of the evidence, but its legality and applicability may be reviewed.—Wire v. Browning, 20 N. J. Law 364.

Disqualification of officer

A magistrate in determining whether the evidence laid before him is sufficient to satisfy him of such a state of facts as the statute requires, performs a judicial duty, and may therefore be disqualified from the performance thereof by reason of his relations to plaintiff, as where he is plaintiff's attorney.—McGregor v. Crane, 98 Mass. 530.

Fraudulent contracting of debt

A statement that defendant made certain representations to plaintiff, and that he had discovered recently they were false, is not sufficient evidence that the debt was fraudulently contracted.—Titus v. Bowne, 30 N.J. Law 340.

17. Pa.—City Trust Co. v. Richards, 20 Wkly.N.C., Pa., 53.

18. N.J.—Titus v. Bowne, 30 N.J. Law 340.

19. N.J.—Titus v. Bowne, supra.

20. N.Y.—Kelley v. Dusenbury, 2 Abb.N.Cas. 360.

21. Vt.—Manley v. Johnson, 81 A. 919, 85 Vt. 262.

22. N.Y.—Hall v. McMahon, 17 N.Y. Super. 649, 10 Abb.Pr. 103, modified on other grounds 10 Abb.Pr. 319.

23. N.J.—McKernan v. McDonald, 27 N.J. Law 541.

23 C.J. p 920 note 73.

24. N.J.—Kein v. Katz, 105 A. 210, 92 N.J. Law 406.

23 C.J. p 920 note 74.

25. N.Y.—Steamship Richmond Hill Co. v. Seager, 52 N.Y.S. 985, 31 App.Div. 288.

23 C.J. p 920 note 75.

Order contained in judgment see supra § 417.

26. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N. Y. 349.

23 C.J. p 920 note 76.

Dismissal of motion for leave to issue

Under these circumstances, if a motion for leave to issue an execution is made, it should not be denied, but dismissed.—Bull v. Melliss, 13 Abb.Pr., N.Y., 241.

d. Issuance and return of fieri facias
e. Directions to sheriff

a. In General

Statutory requirements as to what a body execution should state must be substantially complied with. The writ should be in the name of the state, directed to the sheriff of the proper county, and properly tested and signed.

Statutory requirements as to what a body execution should state must be complied with²⁷ in substance.²⁸ Facts not required need not be recited therein.²⁹ The writ is not void on its face even though it does not recite that the oath required by law to be made was made before it issued,³⁰ nor, in the absence of statutory requirement, is it essential to its validity that it recite on its face that the affidavit required by statute has been made.³¹ The writ need not state the nature of the action in which it was issued,³² or the facts authorizing the arrest,³³ although it is well for the execution in connection with its other recitals briefly to refer to the cause of arrest.³⁴

An execution against the body should recite that it is to pay and satisfy plaintiff in the judgment and not the state or commonwealth.³⁵ A mistake in the date of the execution which is the result of a manifest clerical error, admitting of correction by an inspection of the entire writ, will not invalidate it.³⁶

The writ should be in the name of the state;³⁷ it should be directed to the sheriff³⁸ of the proper county,³⁹ and be properly tested⁴⁰ and signed;⁴¹ and a writ which is directed outside the county of issuance should bear a seal.⁴² The venue should be properly laid.⁴³

b. Reference to Judgment

The writ should recite the recovery of a judgment by the plaintiff against the defendant, the date, the amount, and the court in which recovered.

The writ should recite the recovery of a judgment by plaintiff against defendant, the date, the amount, and the court in which it was recovered.⁴⁴ It need not recite the incidents of the judgment.⁴⁵ Where the execution states a recovery and docketing of judgment in a certain county, and an issue and return unsatisfied of an execution in another county, it is immaterial that it does not recite a docketing in the second county.⁴⁶

c. Conformity to Judgment

A capias ad satisfaciendum must, generally, strictly follow the judgment and be warranted by it.

As a general rule a capias ad satisfaciendum must strictly follow the judgment, and be warranted by it.⁴⁷ The execution should issue in the name of plaintiff in the judgment,⁴⁸ and, it would seem, in the name of all the plaintiffs, if there are more than one.⁴⁹ An execution against two per-

27. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325—Finley v. Smith, 15 N.C. 95.

Form and contents of executions against property see supra §§ 69–84.

28. Vt.—Ex parte Hunt, 82 A. 178, 85 Vt. 345.
23 C.J. p 920 note 80.

29. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Brand, 9 N.Y. 208, affirming 6 How.Pr. 73.

30. Ill.—Lattin v. Smith, 1 Ill. 361.

31. Tenn.—Street v. Vandervoort, 7 Yerg. 436.

32. Ill.—Feld v. Loftis, 88 N.E. 281, 240 Ill. 105, affirming 140 Ill.App. 530.
23 C.J. p 921 note 93.

33. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Brand, 9 N.Y. 208, 1 Seld. 201.
23 C.J. p 921 note 94.

34. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.

35. Ky.—Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. 339.

36. Mass.—Currier v. Bartlett, 122 Mass. 133.

37. Ind.—Webster v. Farley, 6 Blackf. 163.

38. N.C.—Walker v. Vick, 19 N.C. 99.

23 C.J. p 921 note 85.

39. N.J.—Drake v. Cochran, 18 N.J. Law 9.

23 C.J. p 921 note 86.

In New York, by statute, the execution may be issued to any county, without regard to the debtor's legal residence.—Spilker v. Abrahams, 121 N.Y.S. 818, 136 App.Div. 841—Shaul v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 227 N.Y.S. 163, 131 Misc. 401, affirmed 230 N.Y.S. 910, 224 App.Div. 773.

40. Ga.—Jordan v. Porterfield, 19 Ga. 139, 63 Am.D. 301.
23 C.J. p 921 note 87.

41. Me.—Mahoney v. Aycoob, 125 A. 146, 124 Me. 20, 37 A.L.R. 85.

Facsimile signature

A statute requiring a disclosure commissioner to issue capias "under his hand and seal" for arrest of an execution debtor failing to get the benefit of an oath requires a signature in handwriting or written signature, and not facsimile signature impressed with a rubber stamp.—Mahoney v. Aycoob, supra.

42. N.C.—Finley v. Smith, 15 N.C. 95.

43. Vt.—Avery v. Lewis, 10 Vt. 332, 33 Am.D. 203.

23 C.J. p 921 note 89.

44. Conn.—Sibley v. Krauskopf, 171 A. 4, 6, 118 Conn. 158.

23 C.J. p 921 note 97.

"The chief object of describing the judgment in the execution is to refer the officer and others to the authority for its issuance, and if the recitals are sufficient to identify the judgment and it is shown to be intended, issued, and enforced as an execution upon that judgment it is not void even though there be variances—as in the names of parties."—Sibley v. Krauskopf, supra.

An execution omitting the day of the month on which the judgment was rendered is not void.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252.

45. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Brand, 9 N.Y. 208, affirming 6 How.Pr. 73.

46. N.Y.—O'Shea v. Kohn, 38 Hun 149.

47. Conn.—Sibley v. Krauskopf, 171 A. 4, 118 Conn. 158.
23 C.J. p 921 note 2.

48. Ky.—Abbott v. Daniel, 3 Metc. 339.

49. N.Y.—Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank v. Crane, 15 Abb.Pr., N.S., 434.

sons, in which the name of one only is erroneously stated, is not void as against the other; and a bond given by the latter to procure his release from arrest on such execution is valid.⁵⁰

Where the Christian names of plaintiffs are not inserted in the warrant or judgment, a capias ad satisfaciendum which properly pursues the judgment gives the officer authority to make the arrest and take bond, although such Christian names are not inserted in the writ.⁵¹ Where a person is sued by his Christian name only and judgment is rendered against him in such name, he may be arrested on a body execution issued against him in such name.⁵²

Where the clerk of court does not know that anything has been paid on a judgment, an execution for the full amount of the judgment in accordance with the record of the court is not irregular or void.⁵³

d. Issuance and Return of Fieri Facias

The issuance of a fieri facias and its return nulla bona should be stated, if required as conditions precedent to a capias ad satisfaciendum.

The issuance of a fieri facias and the return of the execution nulla bona should be stated if these steps are by statute made conditions precedent to the issuance of a capias ad satisfaciendum.⁵⁴ The writ should specify eo nomine the county to which the execution against the property was issued.⁵⁵

e. Directions to Sheriff

The writ should substantially comply with statutory requirements as to directions to be given the officer, such as those as to arrest and commitment of the debtor and return of the execution.

If there is a statute prescribing what directions shall be given the officer in the writ, it is well for the writ to use the language of the statute,⁵⁶ although it has been held that a substantial compliance with the requirements of the statute is sufficient.⁵⁷ The writ must conform to a statutory provision that it shall require the sheriff to arrest the debtor and commit him to the jail of the county until he shall pay the judgment or be discharged according to law⁵⁸ and to make due return of the execution.⁵⁹ It need not provide that the sheriff shall hold defendant to bail in a certain sum.⁶⁰ It is not void for failure to direct the time,⁶¹ or the place⁶² of the return, since such omission is a mere irregularity which may be amended or disregarded.⁶³ Failure to limit the imprisonment to a certain time is not fatal where there is no absolute right to discharge, until the execution has been satisfied at the rate of a certain sum per day for each day of imprisonment.⁶⁴

*A direction as to turning over moneys is mere surplusage.*⁶⁵

§ 423. — Amendment

An execution against the body may be amended in a proper case. A writ void because it is against both the body and property cannot be amended.

An execution against the body may be amended,⁶⁶ as where there is a mistake in the amount as stated

Conformity with respect to joint defendants see supra § 419.

Omission through clerical error

The omission of an additional plaintiff's name through a clerical error will not invalidate the body execution.—Sibley v. Krauskopf, 171 A. 4, 118 Conn. 158.

Where one of two joint plaintiffs dies after the rendition of the judgment, and no entry of his death is made in court, the execution should be taken out in the name of both plaintiffs so that it may conform to the judgment.—Stewart v. Cunningham, 22 Ala. 626.

50. Me.—Blake v. Blanchard, 48 Me. 297.

51. N.C.—Wall v. Jarrott, 25 N.C. 42.

52. Ill.—Hammond v. People, 32 Ill. 446, 83 Am.D. 286.

53. Vt.—Ex parte Hunt, 82 A. 178, 85 Vt. 345.

54. N.Y.—O'Shea v. Kohn, 88 Hun 149.

23 C.J. p 921 note 10.

As affecting right to writ see supra § 416.

55. N.Y.—People v. Reilly, 58 How. Pr. 218.
23 C.J. p 921 note 11.

56. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.

57. N.Y.—Hutchinson v. Brand, 9 N. Y. 208.

Vt.—Ex parte Hunt, 82 A. 78, 85 Vt. 345.

Written directions

Under statute, an officer is not required to arrest a debtor on an execution unless written directions to arrest, signed by the creditor or his counsel, are indorsed on the execution.—Dyer v. Tilton, 71 Me. 413.

58. N.Y.—Padreshefsky v. Walton, 73 N.Y.S. 979, 65 App.Div. 432.
23 C.J. p 922 note 12.

Definite term of confinement

A body execution is not void because it does not definitely fix the term of confinement, where the judgment and the execution directed confinement for a period not to exceed one year.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

59. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.

60. Ala.—Ex parte Cleveland, 36 Ala. 306.

61. N.Y.—Benedict & Burnham Mfg. Co. v. Thayer, 20 Hun 547.
23 C.J. p 922 note 15.

62. N.Y.—Fake v. Edgerton, 12 N.Y. Super. 681, 3 Abb.Pr. 229.

63. N.Y.—Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N.Y. 611, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 186, 14 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 311.

64. Ill.—Subim v. Isador, 88 Ill.App. 96.

65. Ala.—Stewart v. Cunningham, 22 Ala. 626.

66. Mich.—In re Davis, 187 N.W. 288, 218 Mich. 220.

N.Y.—Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N.Y. 611, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 186, 14 N.Y. Wkly. Dig. 311—People v. Seaton, 25 Hun 305—Benedict & Burnham Co. v. Thayer, 20 Hun 547.

23 C.J. p 922 notes 25, 26.

in the execution,⁶⁷ an omission of the testatum clause,⁶⁸ want of seal of the proper court,⁶⁹ defective teste or omission of teste,⁷⁰ a wrong attestation as to the name of the chief justice,⁷¹ failure to direct the time for its return,⁷² or erroneous direction as to the place to which returnable⁷³ or as to the time when returnable.⁷⁴ Although mesne process against the person returnable on Sunday, or out of term, is void, a capias ad satisfaciendum, being final process, may in such case be amended.⁷⁵

After delivery to the officer, the clerk of court cannot correct a mistake as to the amount thereof, without an order of court.⁷⁶

If the writ is void because it is both a body execution and one against property it cannot be amended.⁷⁷

§ 424. — Alias, Pluries, and Renewed Writs

An alias or pluries body execution may be issued in a proper case, as where the original writ is improperly issued, is defective, or is returned not found, or where the execution defendant has escaped. Such writ cannot be issued where the defendant has been discharged from imprisonment with the plaintiff's consent or by due course of law.

An alias or pluries execution against the person may be issued in a proper case,⁷⁸ as where the prior execution has been improperly issued,⁷⁹ or is found to be so defective as to be invalid,⁸⁰ or where the original is returned not found⁸¹ or is uncertified,⁸² or the return is defective.⁸³ An alias or pluries execution may also be issued where an order vacating the original writ has been reversed,⁸⁴ or in case of an escape of a defendant in execution with the sheriff's consent or through his negligence,⁸⁵ or in case of a rescue.⁸⁶

On the other hand, so long as defendant remains in custody on one execution, another execution on the same judgment cannot issue,⁸⁷ and if he has been discharged from imprisonment with plaintiff's consent,⁸⁸ or by due course of law,⁸⁹ as where plaintiff neglects to take him in execution within the proper time,⁹⁰ or neglects to pay or give security for prison fees,⁹¹ he cannot be again imprisoned on an alias writ issued in the same case.

A new capias ad satisfaciendum may issue where defendant is illegally discharged,⁹² since an illegal discharge amounts to nothing more than an escape.⁹³ If a defendant is arrested on a capias ad satisfaciendum and discharged because of some irregularity, he may be retaken on a second capias ad satisfaciendum.⁹⁴ An alias execution may issue where the discharge is on the ground that the court issuing the execution had no power to do so.⁹⁵ An Amendment of executions generally see supra § 82.

67. N.Y.—Holmes v. Williams, 3 Cal. 98, Col. & C.Cas. 449. 23 C.J. p 922 note 27.

68. N.Y.—McIntyre v. Rowan, 3 Johns. 144.

69. N.Y.—Dominick v. Eacker, 3 Barb. 17.

70. N.Y.—Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N.Y. 611, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 186, 14 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 311—People v. Seaton, 25 Hun 305.

An attorney in the cause has no right to alter the teste of the writ.—Merrill v. Townsend, 5 Paige, N.Y., 80.

71. N.Y.—Ross v. Luther, 4 Cow. 158, 15 Am.D. 341.

72. N.Y.—Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N.Y. 611, 2 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 186, 14 N.Y.Wkly.Dig. 311—Benedict & Burnham Co. v. Thayer, 20 Hun 547, 59 How.Pr. 272.

73. N.Y.—McConkey v. Glen, 1 Cow. 141.

74. Mich.—In re Davis, 187 N.W. 288, 218 Mich. 220.

N.Y.—Gibbons v. Larcom, 3 Wend. 363.

75. N.Y.—Stone v. Martin, 2 Den. 185.

76. Ky.—Johnson v. Scott, 121 S.W. 695, 134 Ky. 736.

77. Mich.—Sink v. Oceana Cir. Judge, 109 N.W. 115, 146 Mich. 121.

78. N.Y.—Wintner v. National Surety Co., 200 N.Y.S. 109, 120 Misc. 613. 23 C.J. p 922 note 40. Alias and pluries writs generally see supra § 85.

79. N.Y.—Wintner v. National Surety Co., supra.

80. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325. 23 C.J. p 923 note 43.

81. U.S.—Peyton v. Brooke, D.C., 3 Cranch 92, 2 L.Ed. 376. Mich.—People v. Kehl, 15 Mich. 330.

82. R.I.—McCrillis v. Sisson, 1 R.I. 143. 23 C.J. p 923 note 42.

83. N.Y.—Wintner v. National Surety Co., 200 N.Y.S. 109, 120 Misc. 613.

84. N.Y.—Carrigan v. Washburn, 9 N.Y.S. 541, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 79.

85. N.Y.—Wesson v. Chamberlain, 3 N.Y. 331. 23 C.J. p 923 note 45.

86. N.J.—State v. Blundell, 39 N.J. Law 612, reversed on other grounds 40 N.J.Law 372.

87. Mass.—In re Plympton, 82 N.E. 715, 196 Mass. 571. 23 C.J. p 923 note 47.

88. Va.—Windrum v. Parker, 2 Leigh 361, 29 Va. 361. 23 C.J. p 923 note 48.

In Louisiana under Act March 28, 1840, § 1 defendant arrested on a capias ad satisfaciendum, and discharged from imprisonment by plaintiff, may be imprisoned again on the second capias ad satisfaciendum.—Martin v. Ashcraft, 8 Mart.N.S., 313.

89. Pa.—Ritter v. Stricker, 20 Pa. Dist. & Co. 622. 23 C.J. p 923 note 49.

90. U.S.—Barnes v. Viall, C.C.R.I., 6 F. 661.

N.Y.—Masters v. Edwards, 1 Cal. 515.

91. U.S.—Barnes v. Viall, C.C.R.I., 6 F. 661. 23 C.J. p 923 note 51.

92. Ind.—Freeman v. Smith, 7 Ind. 582.

Pa.—Long v. Cherington, 28 A. 1086, 161 Pa. 248—Ritter v. Stricker, 20 Pa. Dist. & Co. 622.

93. Ind.—Freeman v. Smith, 7 Ind. 582.

94. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.

23 C.J. p 923 note 53.

95. N.Y.—Ginochio v. Figari, 4 El. D.Smith 227, 2 Abb.Pr. 185.

alias writ may also issue where defendant has been discharged on account of a temporary privilege, after the privilege has terminated.⁹⁶

Where there has been no return to the first writ, a second cannot issue;⁹⁷ but an alias may issue, or the same writ may be reissued, where there has been a return without service before the return day.⁹⁸ If, however, the writ has been served by an actual arrest of the body of defendant therein, it cannot ordinarily be used further for the purpose of a new arrest.⁹⁹

It has been held that where a judgment debtor after arrest enters into a poor debtor's recognizance and makes default, an alias body execution cannot be issued at the instance of the judgment creditor,¹ his only remedy being on the recognizance;² but there is authority to the contrary.³ An alias execution may be issued at the instance of the surety on the insolvent bond, who after forfeiture of the bond has paid the judgment creditor and taken an assignment of the judgment.⁴ Where one of two judgment debtors is arrested on execution and enters into a poor debtor's recognizance and makes default thereon, an alias execution against the other judgment debtor can be issued after the return of the original execution.⁵ Where bail have surrendered the principal on a scire facias, plaintiff is entitled to an alias execution against him, notwithstanding more than a year has elapsed since the return of the former execution.⁶

Proceedings to obtain. A pluries writ of capias ad satisfaciendum may be issued without a writ of fieri facias.⁷ If the original writ has not been returned, no scire facias is necessary.⁸ In case defendant has been arrested, and has escaped, the creditor may obtain an alias capias ad satisfaciendum either by scire facias⁹ or on motion after reasonable notice to the adverse party;¹⁰ and it has been held that, where a party has been discharged because of a defect in the original writ, no application to the court is necessary before the issuance of a new one.¹¹ The clerk cannot be required to issue an alias execution on a debtor's default on his poor debtor's recognizance until the facts entitling plaintiff to it have been found by the court, on plaintiff's application, and entered on the record.¹²

Form, requisites, and contents. A second execution is not invalidated by the omission of the statement that it is an alias execution or its failure to refer to the first.¹³ If the first writ is returned non est, the second may include the costs of issuing both.¹⁴ A writ purporting to be a pluries capias, but without date and signature, is void.¹⁵

§ 425. — Return

- a. In general
- b. Time for return
- c. Contents
- d. Amendment
- e. Effect

a. In General

The debtor's imprisonment does not end with the return or expiration of the writ.

The imprisonment of the debtor does not end with the return or expiration of the writ.¹⁶

No return of the execution is necessary to justify a commitment of defendant thereunder.¹⁷

b. Time for Return

Statutory requirements as to the time for returning the writ must be observed. In the absence of statute, it should be returned within a reasonable time. The officer need not retain it longer than is necessary for a search satisfying him that the defendant is not to be found.

In the absence of statute, what is a reasonable time for the return of the writ is a question of fact for the jury, depending on the circumstances of the case.¹⁸ The writ need not remain in the sheriff's office longer than is necessary to make such a 96. N.Y.—Humphrey v. Cumming, 5 Wend. 90.

23 C.J. p 923 note 55.

97. Md.—Fulton v. Wood, 3 Harr. & M. 99.

23 C.J. p 923 note 56.

98. Mass.—Goldis v. Gately, 47 N.E. 96, 168 Mass. 300.

99. Mass.—Goldis v. Gately, supra.

1. Mass.—Thomson v. Sleeper, 47 N.E. 106, 168 Mass. 373.

23 C.J. p 923 note 59.

2. Mass.—Thomson v. Sleeper, 47 N.E. 106, 168 Mass. 373.

N.J.—State v. Blundell, 40 N.J.Law 372, reversing 39 N.J.Law 612.

3. Pa.—Palethorpe v. Lasher, 2 Rawle 272.

4. N.J.—State v. Blundell, 40 N.J.Law 372, reversing 39 N.J.Law 612.

5. Mass.—Thomson v. Sleeper, 47 N.E. 106, 168 Mass. 373.

6. Mass.—Bartlet v. Falley, 5 Mass. 373.

7. Pa.—Edmonds v. Cooper, 10 Pa. Dist. & Co. 230.

8. Va.—Fawkes v. Davison, 8 Leigh 554, 35 Va. 554.

9. Va.—Fawkes v. Davison, supra.

23 C.J. p 923 note 66.

10. Va.—Fawkes v. Davison, supra.

11. N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 2d 97 N.C. 325.

12. Mass.—Thomson v. Sleeper, 47 N.E. 106, 168 Mass. 373.

23 C.J. p 924 note 69.

13. Conn.—Woods v. Brzezinski, 18 A. 352, 57 Conn. 471.

14. U.S.—Peyton v. Brooke, D.C., 3 Cranch 92, 2 L.Ed. 376.

15. Va.—Hickam v. Larkey, 6 Gratt. 210, 47 Va. 210.

16. Ill.—People v. Hanchett, 111 Ill. 90.

17. Md.—Fulton v. Wood, 3 Harr. & M. 99.

18. Conn.—Edwards v. Gunn, 3 Conn. 316.

search as satisfies the sheriff that defendant is not to be found in his district,¹⁹ and after he has made a return of non est inventus the court will presume that he has retained the writ a sufficient time to be sure of the truth of his return.²⁰

For the purpose of charging bail it may be required that the execution against the principal be returned to the next succeeding term of the court from which it issued,²¹ or to the day to which such term is adjourned,²² in which case no intermediate return is sufficient to fix the bail, nor can it be regarded as the return required by law.²³ Other jurisdictions require that there be a legal return of non est inventus within a prescribed time from the time of rendering final judgment,²⁴ or from the time of the receipt of the writ by the officer,²⁵ or that the execution be in the hands of the officer for a prescribed time before the return thereof,²⁶ or that it shall not be returned in less than a prescribed time.²⁷

c. Contents

A return of "cepi" is sufficient; or the return may show that the debtor is dead or too ill for the process to be executed. In a return of non est inventus, a strict compliance with the forms is unnecessary.

A return of "cepi" ("I have taken the body") is sufficient;²⁸ and a recital that the officer has the dead body of the prisoner is sufficient without stating where he died.²⁹ The return need not state that the officer has searched for goods.³⁰

In a return of non est inventus a strict compliance with the forms is unnecessary; a return of the facts by the officer is sufficient.³¹ The officer who makes the return of non est inventus on the execution against the principal may be required to state particularly in his return what notice he gave to the bail, or the bail cannot be charged.³²

A return that the debtor is ill must show that he is so ill that it would endanger his life to execute the process.³³ Where the successor of a sheriff lets defendant against whom a writ had been executed by the former sheriff, to bail before the return day of the writ, he should state the fact in addition to the former sheriff's return.³⁴

Although in arrest on mesne process a return of the arrest and of a rescue is a good return, yet in case of arrest on execution against the person such a return is not a good return, since the officer is bound to call to his aid the posse comitatus.³⁵

d. Amendment

An officer may amend his return on application to the court within a reasonable time.

On application made to the court within a reasonable time,³⁶ the officer may amend his return.³⁷ The amendment, when made, relates to the time when the writ was returned.³⁸

e. Effect

The return must be considered a true statement of the facts recited until the contrary is shown. It is conclusive on the parties and those claiming under them, but not on third persons whose interests are not connected with the suit.

The return must be considered as a true statement of the facts therein recited until the contrary is made to appear.³⁹ The return of a sheriff to a body execution "satisfied" is evidence that he received the money before the return day, although the execution is not, in fact, returned and filed until thereafter.⁴⁰

Although generally parol evidence is inadmissible, when offered by the parties or their privies or the officer, to contradict or vary a return of a body execution,⁴¹ yet proof of facts consistent with and not appearing on the face of the return may 19. S.C.—Saunders v. Hughes, 18 S. C.L. 504.

20. S.C.—Saunders v. Hughes, supra.

21. Ga.—Lichten v. Mott, 10 Ga. 138.

22. Ga.—Aycock v. Leitner, 29 Ga. 197.

23. Ga.—Lichten v. Mott, 10 Ga. 138.

24. Vt.—Muzzy v. Howard, 42 Vt. 23.

25 C.J. p 924 note 83.

25. Wis.—Reeg v. Adams, 87 N.W. 1087, 113 Wis. 175.

23 C.J. p 924 note 84.

26. N.J.—Paparo v. Farber, 153 A. 521, 107 N.J.Law 316—Boggs v. Chichester, 18 N.J.Law 209.

27. N.Y.—Stimmel v. Swan, 39 N. Y.S. 1074, 17 Misc. 354.

28. Md.—State v. Lawson, 2 Gill 62.

29. Md.—Christie v. Goldsborough, 1 Harr. & M. 540.

30. N.H.—In re Banfill, 46 A. 1088, 70 N.H. 132.

31. Mich.—Lichfelt v. Kopp, 38 Mich. 312.

23 C.J. p 924 note 89.

32. N.H.—Goodwin v. Smith, 4 N.H. 29.

33. Vt.—Bramble v. Poultney, 12 Vt. 342.

34. N.Y.—Richards v. Porter, 7 Johns. 137.

35. N.H.—Buckminster v. Applebee, 8 N.H. 546.

36. Ind.—Lines v. State, 6 Blackf. 464.

23 C.J. p 924 note 96.

Amendment of return of execution against property see supra § 322.

37. N.H.—Mahurin v. Brackett, 5 N.H. 9.

23 C.J. p 924 note 97.

38. Ky.—Malone v. Samuel, 3 A.K. Marsh. 350, 13 Am.D. 172.

39. Me.—Holmes v. Baldwin, 17 Me. 398.

40. N.Y.—Armstrong v. Garrow, 6 Cow. 465.

41. Ind.—Lines v. State, 6 Blackf. 464.

Pa.—Jordon v. Minster, 3 Pa.L.J.R. 457, 5 Pa.L.J. 542.

be heard.⁴² As in the case of the return on an execution against property, see supra § 329, the return upon a body execution is conclusive on the parties to the suit and those claiming under them,⁴³ but is not conclusive on third persons whose interests are not connected with the suit.⁴⁴

§ 426. Arrest, Custody, and Disposition of Debtor

- a. Arrest
- b. Custody and disposition; commitment
- c. Jail fees

a. Arrest

- (1) In general
- (2) Time
- (3) Mode

(1) In General

The arrest must be made by a proper officer and unless otherwise authorized by the court, within his territorial jurisdiction. He is not obliged, before making the arrest, to demand payment or to search for property.

The arrest must be made by a proper officer,⁴⁵ within his territorial jurisdiction,⁴⁶ although a court may have power to authorize an officer to make an arrest outside his own county.⁴⁷

In the absence of statutory restriction, a capias ad satisfaciendum is not confined in its operation to the county of defendant's residence;⁴⁸ and under at least one statute this writ may issue to the sheriff of any county without regard to defendant's legal residence.⁴⁹

Satisfaction of a debt by service on the part of a person imprisoned therefor, if no other means of payment can be found, may be provided for by statute.⁵⁰

Demand for payment; search for or acceptance of property. An officer having in his hands an execution authorizing the arrest of a judgment debtor or is not obliged, before making an arrest thereon, to demand payment,⁵¹ or to search for property on which to levy the execution.⁵² The diligence required of an officer in searching for property does not require inquiry on the subject by him of defendant before arresting the latter under an execution directing the officer to satisfy the judgment from the personal property of the debtor, and, if sufficient is not found, to arrest the debtor;⁵³ nor, after the arrest, can the officer be required to accept property in lieu of the debtor's person.⁵⁴

Direction to arrest without commitment. If a judgment creditor directs the officer to whom the writ of execution is delivered to arrest the debtor thereon, but not to commit him until further orders, the officer is justified in not arresting the debtor.⁵⁵

(2) Time

An officer may select the time of day he thinks most expedient for executing the writ.

In executing a precept where he is commanded to arrest the body of an individual, the officer has the right to select such particular time of day as he thinks most expedient under the circumstances.⁵⁶ If the debtor is under examination on a criminal complaint, the officer must await the result of such examination before executing the writ.⁵⁷

When the service of an execution has been begun before the return day thereof, it may be completed after the return day by an arrest of the debtor's person; the taking of the debtor into custody by the officer on the execution after the certificate of the refusal of the debtor's oath has been annexed to it is not a new or second arrest, but is a resumption or continuance of the original arrest which 42. Pa.—Jordon v. Minster, supra.

43. Me.—Francis v. Wood, 28 Me. 69.

44. Me.—Francis v. Wood, supra.

45. Mass.—Dalton-Ingersoll Co. v. Hubbard, 54 N.E. 862, 174 Mass. 307.

23 C.J. p 925 note 8.

Wrongful:

Arrest see infra § 455.

Execution generally see infra §§ 451-458.

46. N.Y.—Fisher v. Young, 85 N.Y.S. 115, 41 Misc. 552, affirmed 88 N.Y.S. 1101, 95 App.Div. 610.

23 C.J. p 925 note 9.

47. Colo.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

Debtor released from penitentiary in other county

A court had inherent power to direct a sheriff to act outside his own county in serving a writ of body execution on a debtor being released from a penitentiary in another county.—Roll v. Davis, supra.

48. Ala.—Ex parte Cleveland, 36 Ala. 306.

49. N.Y.—Spilker v. Abrahams, 121 N.Y.S. 818, 138 App.Div. 841—Shaul v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 227 N.Y.S. 163, 131 Misc. 401, affirmed 230 N.Y.S. 910, 224 App.Div. 773.

50. Conn.—Huntington v. Jones, Kirby 33.

51. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E.

203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L. Ed. 1246.

Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 127 N.E. 535, 236 Mass. 93.

52. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, supra.

53. N.Y.—Blakely v. Weaver, 10 N.Y.St. 793, 46 Hun 174.

54. N.Y.—Blakely v. Weaver, supra.

55. Mass.—French v. Bancroft, 1 Metc. 502.

56. Ky.—Johnson v. Scott, 121 S.W. 695, 134 Ky. 736.

23 C.J. p 925 note 13.

57. Vt.—Warner v. Lowry, 1 Alk. 55.

has been suspended during the proceedings under the recognizance.⁵⁸

Arrest on alias execution after return day of first. Where an execution on a judgment in tort is returned unsatisfied before its return day, and on the same day an alias execution is issued, an arrest on the alias execution made after the return day of the first execution is legal.⁵⁹

(3) Mode

Holdings differ as to the necessity of a manual touching of the body. An officer is authorized to use such force as is necessary, but may not break and enter a dwelling except in pursuit after an escape.

It has been held that in order to constitute a legal arrest the officer should lay his hand on defendant or otherwise take possession of his person, so as to make him his prisoner in an unequivocal form;⁶⁰ but there is authority that no manual touching of the body is necessary,⁶¹ and that the legality of the arrest depends on the intent and understanding of the parties at the time of the transaction.⁶² An officer is authorized to use such force as is necessary to accomplish the arrest.⁶³

Where the party sought to be charged is a prisoner, the lodging of the writ with the sheriff, whose prisoner he is, is a sufficient charging in execution.⁶⁴

Right of officer to break and enter dwelling. An officer, in order to be justified under the writ, must execute the same in a legal way, and if a sheriff, in attempting to execute the writ, breaks open the outer door of the dwelling house of the debtor, where the debtor then is, with a view of arresting the body of the debtor on the execution, such act is unlawful;⁶⁵ but if an arrest has been made, and the person arrested escapes and takes refuge in his dwelling house, the officer may break open the outer door of the house in pursuit of him after making known his business, and after having demanded and been refused admission.⁶⁶

b. Custody and Disposition; Commitment

- (1) In general
- (2) Commitment
- (3) Place of confinement
- (4) Duration of imprisonment

(1) In General

The arresting officer must retain the debtor in custody until the judgment is satisfied or the debtor duly discharged.

It is the duty of the officer to whom the writ is addressed, after arresting the judgment debtor, to retain him in custody⁶⁷ until the judgment has been satisfied or he has been discharged by due process of law.⁶⁸ It is also his duty to take the prisoner before the court at the time specified in the writ, where it so provides.⁶⁹

(2) Commitment

For a lawful commitment, there must be a delivery of the prisoner at the jail, to a person authorized to confine him.

It is not necessary that a return should be made on a body execution in order to justify a commitment.⁷⁰ In order to constitute a lawful commitment, there must be at least a delivery of the prisoner at the jail, to the sheriff or deputy, jailer, or someone authorized to confine in the jail.⁷¹ The leaving of a certified copy of the execution with the officer in whose custody the debtor is placed may be required.⁷² Where a debtor arrested on execution and carried before a magistrate does not ask to be admitted to take the poor debtor's oath, he may be committed to jail without examination.⁷³

(3) Place of Confinement

Some authorities have required commitment of the debtor to the jail of the county from which the body execution issued; another view is that the sheriff should commit him to the jail of the sheriff's own county.

Under some authorities a person arrested on an execution against the person should be committed to the jail of the county from which the execution issued;⁷⁴ but it has also been held that it is the 58. Mass.—In re Ruberg, 43 N.E. 911, 166 Mass. 33.

59. Mass.—Chesebro v. Barme, 39 N.E. 1033, 163 Mass. 79.

60. Del.—Lawson v. Buzines, 3 Del. 416.

61. N.J.—Richardson v. Rittenhouse, 40 N.J.Law 230.

62. N.C.—Jones v. Jones, 35 N.C. 448, 46 N.C. 491.
23 C.J. p 925 note 22.

63. Ky.—Johnson v. Scott, 121 S.W. 695, 134 Ky. 736.

Me.—Wright v. Keith, 24 Me. 158.

64. N.Y.—Matter of Johnson, 21 Abb.N.Cas. 172.

23 C.J. p 925 note 23.

65. Vt.—State v. Hooker, 17 Vt. 658.
Force in levying against property see supra § 96.

66. N.Y.—Allen v. Martin, 10 Wend. 300, 25 Am.D. 564.

67. Pa.—Commonwealth, to Use of Blystone v. Davis, 186 A. 382, 122 Pa.Super. 280.
23 C.J. p 926 note 31.

68. Ky.—Johnson v. Scott, 121 S.W. 695, 134 Ky. 736.

23 C.J. p 926 note 32.

69. Vt.—In re Jennison, 51 A. 1061, 74 Vt. 40.

70. Md.—Fulton v. Wood, 3 Harr. & M. 99.

71. N.H.—Skinner v. White, 9 N.H. 204.

72. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Waite, 2 Pick. 445.
23 C.J. p 926 note 29.

73. Mass.—Hart v. Adams, 7 Gray 581.

74. Ky.—Long v. Wood, 78 Ky. 392.
N.C.—Kinney v. Laughenour, 2 S.E. 43, 97 N.C. 325.

duty of the sheriff to commit him to the jail of the sheriff's own county, although the writ issued from the court of another county.⁷⁵ A debtor may be committed to any jail in the proper county, if the creditor so directs, although the debtor himself requests that the commitment may be to the jail nearest his own residence.⁷⁶

(4) Duration of Imprisonment

The duration of a debtor's imprisonment is determined by the provisions of applicable statutes.

In some jurisdictions, in certain cases of arrest on execution, the debtor must be imprisoned for a specific time before he can be discharged.⁷⁷ In others, no person may be imprisoned on execution beyond a certain designated period,⁷⁸ at the expiration of which he must be discharged without any order or proceedings on the prisoner's part.⁷⁹ Where no period of imprisonment is prescribed, the debtor can be discharged only in the manner prescribed by statute.⁸⁰

Contra Rutherford v. Allen, 4 N.C. 69.

75. Pa.—Avery v. Seely, 3 Watts & S. 494.

Jail of adjoining county

In Vermont where the jail in the county of arrest is destroyed, the debtor may be committed to a jail in an adjoining county.—Ex parte Hunt, 82 A. 178, 85 Vt. 345.

76. Mass.—Woodward v. Hopkins, 2 Gray 210.

77. Colo.—Hershey v. People, 12 P. 2d 345, 91 Colo. 113.
23 C.J. p 926 note 37.

Deductions from time of imprisonment

A statute providing for deductions from time of imprisonment of prisoners confined under "sentence" and providing for "parole" is inapplicable to a debtor confined under body execution.—Hershey v. People, supra.

78. N.Y.—Matter of Locke, 160 N.Y. S. 431, 174 App.Div. 287.
23 C.J. p 926 note 38.

79. N.Y.—Padreshesky v. Walton, 72 N.Y.S. 979, 65 App.Div. 432.
23 C.J. p 926 note 39.

80. Pa.—Commonwealth v. McAliese, 12 Pa.Co. 147.

81. S.C.—Thomasson v. Kerr, 27 S. C.L. 340.
23 C.J. p 926 note 42.

82. Mich.—Butcher v. Lovitt, 273 N. W. 734, 280 Mich. 369—Reinert v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 259 N.W. 340, 270 Mich. 607.

R.I.—Casey v. Viall, 21 A. 911, 17 R.I. 348.

Purpose and application of statute

A statute providing that a creditor must advance payment for the board of a prisoner held on body execution, and that failure to make such advance payment shall discharge the prisoner, was intended to protect the public against the expense of boarding the prisoner, and does not apply where the public is otherwise protected because the prisoner is allowed jail limits on bond, so that failure to prepay the board of the prisoner after he gives bond does not discharge him.—Schulter v. Kuswa, 186 N.W. 148, 176 Wis. 48.

The sending of a post office order by a creditor to pay debtor's board has been held to be payment in advance, as required by statute.—Gingras v. Linscott, 116 A. 195, 44 R.I. 112.

83. R.I.—Gingras v. Linscott, supra.
23 C.J. p 926 note 44.

84. N.J.—Potter v. Robinson, 40 N.J.Law 114.
23 C.J. p 926 note 43.

Expenses incurred; demand for payment

A statute obligating a creditor to pay the expense of board and keep of a person imprisoned on a writ of execution implies reimbursement and not a continuous charge under all conditions, and the creditors' failure to pay was not grounds for the debtor's release, unless expenses were incurred which the creditor, after demand, failed to pay.—Reinert v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 259 N.W. 340, 270 Mich. 607.

Place and nature of confinement as affecting obligation

The confinement of a judgment

c. Jail Fees

(1) In general

(2) Discharge for failure of creditor to pay

(1) In General

Where a debtor confined under execution has not the means to maintain himself, the person at whose instance the debtor is confined is ordinarily required to pay the jail fees. Such obligation is terminated by the release of the debtor from custody; and the creditor may recover of his debtor the amount paid the jailer for the latter's board.

It is the duty of a debtor confined under execution to maintain himself as long as he has the means.⁸¹ If he is unable to do so, the jail fees must usually be paid in advance⁸² to the jailer⁸³ by the person at whose instance the debtor is confined.⁸⁴ The release of the debtor from custody terminates the creditor's obligation to provide for the debtor's support,⁸⁵ as the creditor is liable only while the debtor is actually confined within the walls of the prison;⁸⁶ however, where the debtor debtor in a hospital under the custody and control of a doctor-deputy sheriff for an appendectomy, on transfer from county jail where he was in custody of sheriff on a writ of capias ad satisfaciendum, was "imprisonment" or "confinement at jail" within contemplation of statute requiring person at whose instance individual was put in jail to pay prisoner's lodging in advance.—Butcher v. Lovitt, 273 N.W. 734, 280 Mich. 369.

Payment of debtor's board by creditor's agent held not to entitle debtor to a discharge from custody.—People v. Traeger, 170 N.E. 214, 338 Ill. 101.

Creditor as poor person; sheriff's discretion

The mere filing with the sheriff of an affidavit that the judgment creditor is a poor person and unable to pay the costs of the judgment debtor's imprisonment satisfies the statute, and no authority is given the sheriff to hold a hearing and no discretion to pass upon truth of fact alleged.—Ex parte Thompson, 89 P. 2d 538, 104 Colo. 171.

85. Mich.—Reinert v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 259 N.W. 340, 270 Mich. 607.

N.J.—Potter v. Robinson, 40 N.J. Law 114.

Wis.—Schulter v. Kuswa, 186 N.W. 148, 176 Wis. 48.

86. Mich.—Reinert v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 259 N. W. 340, 270 Mich. 607.

N.C.—Phillips v. Allen, 35 N.C. 10.

Wis.—Schulter v. Kuswa, 186 N.W. 148, 176 Wis. 48.

is entitled to, and does, board at the jail while at liberty under bond, the creditor is obliged to pay the debtor's board.⁸⁷ The failure of the jailer to take a bond from the creditor for the payment of such fees will not release the creditor from his liability.⁸⁸

Provision may be made by statute for the relief of a destitute debtor in jail on execution, out of the public funds of the town in which the jail is situated.⁸⁹

Action to recover fees. The jailer may be given, by statute, a right of action against the creditor to recover jail fees⁹⁰ on due notice to the creditor of the debtor's imprisonment,⁹¹ and on a proper showing as to the prisoner's inability to pay.⁹² The creditor has a right to recover of his debtor the amount he has paid the jailer for his board while in prison on the creditor's execution.⁹³

(2) Discharge for Failure of Creditor to Pay

The creditor's failure to pay the jail fees for which he is responsible entitles the debtor to his discharge from imprisonment.

Where the creditor at whose instance a prisoner is confined on an execution neglects or refuses to pay the jail fees for which he is responsible, the debtor's imprisonment becomes illegal and the debtor is entitled to his discharge;⁹⁴ but the failure of the jailer to take a bond from the creditor for the payment of jail fees will not release the debtor from imprisonment.⁹⁵

Manner of discharge. In some jurisdictions, on the failure of the person at whose instance the debtor is imprisoned to pay or secure the payment of jail fees, after due notice and demand, the sheriff or jailer in whose custody the prisoner is may discharge him from confinement;⁹⁶ in others, the discharge must be on application to the proper court or magistrate.⁹⁷

§ 427. Supersedeas and Quashing or Vacating Writ

a. Supersedeas

b. Quashing, vacating, or setting aside

a. Supersedeas

The defendant is generally entitled to a supersedeas where he is not charged in execution within the time prescribed by statute, whether he is in actual custody or not; but the court has discretion to deny an application for a supersedeas, and will do so when reasonable cause for the delay is shown.

Unless defendant is charged in execution within the time required by statute, he will, in general, be entitled to a supersedeas, whether he is in actual custody⁹⁸ or not.⁹⁹ This includes the failure of plaintiff to charge the debtor in execution within the time prescribed by law, where he is under arrest at the time the judgment is rendered,¹ on application to a judge of the court in which the judgment was rendered,² as well as where defendant has not been charged in execution within the proper time after the return day of an execution against his property.³

Where the debtor is surrendered in exoneration of bail and plaintiff proceeds to judgment but suffers the prescribed term to elapse without charging ⁸⁷ Mich.—Reinert v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 259 N. W. 340, 270 Mich. 607.

Ohio.—Kirkup v. Stickney, 5 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 499, 6 Am.L.Rec. 300.

23 C.J. p 926 note 48.

⁸⁸ Ga.—Haas v. Bradley, 23 Ga. 345.

⁸⁹ Me.—Norridgewock v. Solon, 49 Me. 385.

23 C.J. p 927 note 51.

⁹⁰ N.C.—Bunting v. McIlhenny, 61 N.C. 579.

23 C.J. p 927 note 55.

⁹¹ Va.—Zimmerman v. Buzzard, 2 Va.Cas. 406, 4 Va. 406.

⁹² S.C.—Love v. Lowry, 12 S.C.L. 181.

⁹³ Me.—Spring v. Davis, 38 Me. 399.

23 C.J. p 927 note 58.

⁹⁴ R.I.—Casey v. Viall, 21 A. 911, 17 R.I. 348.

23 C.J. p 927 note 52.

Discharge in general see infra §§ 429-449.

⁹⁵ N.H.—In re Banfill, 46 A. 1088, 70 N.H. 132.

⁹⁶ Va.—Meredith v. Duval, 1 Munf. 76, 15 Va. 76.
23 C.J. p 927 note 53.

⁹⁷ N.J.—State v. Stiles, 12 N.J.Law 296,
23 C.J. p 927 note 54.

⁹⁸ N.Y.—Smith v. Knapp, 30 N.Y. 581.

⁹⁹ N.Y.—Longuemare v. Nichols, 7 N.Y.S. 157, 17 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 107, 23 Abb.N.Cas. 221.
23 C.J. p 927 note 60.

Computation of time

"The time within which a defendant must be charged on execution before a supersedeas can be moved for is to be computed from the time the judgment is actually entered, not from the time the plaintiff is entitled to judgment."—Lippman v. Petersberger, 9 Abb.Pr. N.Y., 209, 18 How.Pr. 270—Standacher v. Pregoner, 52 How.Pr. N.Y., 76.

The New York Municipal Court Act does not authorize a justice thereof to "stay an execution" by striking from the judgment a provision requiring defendant's arrest and imprisonment.—Scarangelo v. Pacione, 126 N.Y.S. 714, 70 Misc. 211.

1. Mich.—McDonell v. Collingwood, 193 N.W. 283, 222 Mich. 516.
23 C.J. p 927 note 61.

2. N.Y.—Smith v. Knapp, 30 N.Y. 581.

3. Mich.—Porrett v. Lauer, 151 N. W. 619, 184 Mich. 497.
23 C.J. p 927 note 63.

Statute held inapplicable

A statute allowing a supersedeas where a defendant has not been charged in execution within the prescribed time was held to apply only in cases where the action was commenced by a writ of capias ad respondendum and defendant apprehended thereunder.—McDonell v. Collingwood, 193 N.W. 283, 222 Mich. 516.

defendant in execution, the latter may obtain a rule to show cause why a supersedeas should not be granted, and it will be granted unless good cause to the contrary is shown.⁴ Although delivering a capias ad satisfaciendum to the sheriff is good cause against a supersedeas, yet if the sheriff returns the writ non est inventus, a supersedeas will be granted unless it is followed up by an alias, for the issuance of which the court may under special circumstances allow time.⁵ Where defendant is discharged, under the act abolishing imprisonment for debt, between the verdict and judgment, the court will order a perpetual stay of the capias ad satisfaciendum, although if the discharge is objected to by plaintiff the court may open the case so as to give him a chance to try the question, the judgment standing as security.⁶

There is authority that if plaintiff after service of the rule to show cause why a supersedeas should not issue, and before the time assigned to show cause, charges defendant in execution, he may show this for cause and it will be sufficient to prevent a supersedeas;⁷ and where a defendant in custody of the sheriff has been regularly charged in execution, after a rule to show cause why a supersedeas should not be granted, notwithstanding he was before supersedeable, he is no longer entitled to a supersedeas.⁸

A supersedeas destroys the operation of a bond given by the debtor for jail liberties as well as of the body execution,⁹ and after a supersedeas no formal discharge of a debtor who has given such a bond is necessary.¹⁰ Where a bond is required to stay execution on the taking of an appeal, bail cannot be substituted in lieu of such bond.¹¹

Discretion of court to refuse. It is within the discretion of the court to deny an application for a supersedeas, and it will do so when reasonable cause is shown for the delay.¹²

b. Quashing, Vacating, or Setting Aside

- (1) In general
- (2) Hearing
- (3) Effect of order setting aside

(1) In General

An execution against the person may be quashed, vacated, or set aside in a proper case, on application to the proper court, but not for mere irregularities. The motion to set aside must be timely made.

An execution against the person may be quashed, vacated, or set aside on application to the proper court in certain cases,¹³ as where a levy has been made on a feri facias and the property is not disposed of,¹⁴ or the writ has not been delivered to the sheriff within the statutory time,¹⁵ or the writ was not issued within the prescribed time,¹⁶ or no execution against property has been issued and returned unsatisfied,¹⁷ or there was no finding by a jury on a separate and distinct issue sufficient to justify an execution,¹⁸ or where defendant was a nonresident and it does not appear that the action

4. Mich.—Westerhouse v. Ottawa Circuit Judge, 180 N.W. 378, 212 Mich. 457.

23 C.J. p 927 note 64.

5. N.Y.—Gray v. Thornber, 5 Cow. 278.

6. N.Y.—Baker v. Taylor, 1 Cow. 165.

7. N.Y.—Minturn v. Phelps, 3 Johns. 446.

23 C.J. p 928 note 67.

8. S.C.—Robertson v. Shannon, 33 S.C.L. 419.

9. N.Y.—Warne v. Constant, 4 Johns. 32.

10. N.Y.—Warne v. Constant, supra.

11. N.C.—Howie v. Spittle, 72 S.E. 207, 156 N.C. 180.

12. Mich.—Lapham v. Oakland Cir. Judge, 136 N.W. 594, 170 Mich. 564.

23 C.J. p 928 note 72.

13. Ill.—Ingalls v. Raklios, 26 N.E. 2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1—Miles v. Glad, 19 N.E.2d 844, 299 Ill. App. 185—Kearns v. Choccolowaki, 223 Ill.App. 117.

Or.—Wempe v. Hurlburt, 289 P. 372, 133 Or. 460.

Pa.—Ritter v. Stricker, 20 Pa.Dist. & Co. 622.

23 C.J. p 928 note 75.

Audita querela to set aside execution see Audita Querela § 2.

Quashing execution against property see supra §§ 142-145.

Discretion of court

It was discretionary for the court to reverse its order for the issuance of a capias ad satisfaciendum after the judgment had been paid and the debtor released, on showing by affidavits that the debtor was in fact a freeholder, in a proceeding brought a year and a half later because of possible influence of the order on other litigation.—Ash v. Brown, 3 A.2d 125, 121 N.J.Law 456.

Jurisdiction

The supreme court did not acquire jurisdiction to vacate order of body execution issued in municipal court of the city of New York by virtue of statute governing debtor's discharge from imprisonment, where debtor did not comply with statute requiring notice to creditors.—Adolf Gobel, Inc. v. Weil, 31 N.Y.S.2d 317, 263 App.Div. 817.

Judgment in contract action

Where, under a statute providing that no person shall be arrested or imprisoned by virtue of any mesne process which shall issue on any contract made or entered into after a certain date, a judgment creditor took out an execution against the body of defendant on a judgment recovered in an action on a contract entered into subsequent to such date, and the body of the debtor was arrested thereon, such execution will be set aside.—Stanley v. McClure, 17 Vt. 253.

14. N.C.—Wheeler v. Bouchelle, 27 N.C. 584.

15. Pa.—Rodney v. Hoskins, 2 Miles 465.

16. Md.—Stump v. Hopkins, 3 Bland. 327.

Time for issuance see supra § 409.

17. N.Y.—Noe v. Christie, 15 Abb. Pr., N.S., 346.

Necessity of issuance of execution against property and return unsatisfied see supra § 416.

18. N.C.—Calhoun v. Stiers, 1 S.E. 2d 355, 215 N.C. 126—Crowder v. Stiers, 1 S.E.2d 353, 215 N.C. 123.

was one within the jurisdiction of the court.¹⁹ A defendant may move to set aside an execution against his person on the ground that it is not warranted by the facts, and it will be no answer to his application to say that he had allowed himself to be arrested by preliminary process.²⁰

When defendant is arrested on an execution defective enough to be voidable, but not void,²¹ or incapable of amendment,²² defendant's remedy is by motion to have the execution set aside, and not by habeas corpus.

On the other hand it has been held that the court should not interfere on an application to quash, or the like, based on mere irregularities,²³ such as irregularities in the method of obtaining the judgment,²⁴ in the entry of the judgment,²⁵ in the recitals of the writ,²⁶ in the recitals in the indorsement on the writ,²⁷ in the teste of the writ,²⁸ or in the manner of the service of the writ;²⁹ nor should the court interfere for reasons that existed at the time of the trial of the original suit and which might then have been presented by way of defense,³⁰ or for reasons set up in a prior motion which was denied.³¹ The insolvency of the debtor is not a ground for setting aside the writ;³² and the same has been held, in particular circumstances, as to the pendency of another proceeding.³³

Necessity for actual custody. It has been held that where defendant in execution is at large by virtue of a bond given under the insolvent act, he cannot move to quash the proceedings because the writ is voidable, although he might do so by placing himself again in actual custody.³⁴

Time of motion. Although if a motion to set aside an order of arrest is not made before judgment, a defendant may be imprisoned on a capias ad satisfaciendum issued on the judgment,³⁵ defendant may nevertheless, even after the entry of judgment, move to set aside the order of arrest, on showing that its issuance was unauthorized.³⁶ Where an order of arrest has been obtained on facts de hors the cause of action, and defendant omits to move to set it aside before judgment or fails in a motion to set it aside, he is concluded after judgment from questioning the right to an execution against his person.³⁷ Where, however, the action is one which gives plaintiff the right to an order of arrest, and the facts constituting it are identical with the facts constituting the cause of arrest, defendant can contest the right to arrest on a preliminary motion to set aside the order, and also contest the alleged cause of action upon the trial; he is not concluded by the order or the decision on the motion to set it aside, and may omit to make the motion altogether, as the trial on the alleged facts in the complaint will furnish an opportunity to contest the facts in a form preferable to that upon motion.³⁸ The motion may be made after the execution has been served and the debtor arrested and imprisoned thereunder.³⁹ A motion to quash is too late after the writ has been returned and defendant discharged on bonds to appear under insolvency laws, and after hearing on his petition in insolvency, and the forfeiture of his bond to appear therein.⁴⁰

(2) Hearing

A motion to set aside a body execution will not be heard in defendant's absence. Parol evidence as to matters of record is inadmissible, but the theory on which the action was decided may be shown in a proper case.

A motion to set aside an execution against the person will not be heard in the absence of defend-

19. N.Y.—Noe v. Christie, 15 Abb. Pr., N.S., 346.

20. N.Y.—Bridgewater Paint Mfg. Co. v. Messmore, 15 How. Pr. 12.

21. Va.—Hickam v. Larkey, 6 Gratt. 210, 47 Va. 210.

22. N.Y.—People v. Seaton, 25 Hun 305—Benedict & Burnham Mfg. Co. v. Thayer, 20 Hun 547.

23. Colo.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

24. N.Y.—Whiting v. Putnam, 16 Abb. Pr. 382.
23 C.J. p 929 note 86.

25. N.Y.—Crosby v. Root, 43 N.Y.S. 512, 19 Misc. 359.
23 C.J. p 929 note 87.

26. N.Y.—Fullerton v. Fitzgerald, 18 Barb 441.

27. C.J. p 929 note 88.

27. N.J.—State v. Ferguson, 31 N.J. Law 283.

23 C.J. p 929 note 89.

Failure to show true balance due
The failure of the indorsement on the capias to show the true balance due the creditor on the judgment is not ground for setting aside the writ.—Oshushek v. Malinowski, N.J. Sup., 144 A. 451.

28. Md.—Docura v. Henry, 4 Harr. & M. 480.

29. Colo.—Roll v. Davis, 277 P. 767, 85 Colo. 594.

Va.—Purcell v. Richardson, 4 Hen. & M. 404, 14 Va. 404.

30. Ill.—Galena & S. W. R. Co. v. Ennor, 9 Ill. App. 159.

31. N.Y.—Beyer v. Sadvoransky, 177 N.Y.S. 705, 108 Misc. 413.

32. N.J.—Oshushek v. Malinowski, Sup., 144 A. 451.

33. N.J.—Oshushek v. Malinowski, supra.

34. N.C.—Bryan v. Brooks, 51 N.C. 580—Dobbin v. Gaster, 26 N.C. 71.

35. N.Y.—Smith v. Knapp, 30 N.Y. 581—Elwood v. Gardner, 9 Abb. Pr., N.S., 99, affirmed 45 N.Y. 349, 10 Abb. Pr., N.S., 238.

36. N.C.—Crowder v. Stiers, 1 S.E. 2d 353, 215 N.C. 123.
23 C.J. p 929 note 94.

37. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, 45 N.Y. 349, 10 Abb. Pr., N.S., 238, affirming 9 Abb. Pr., N.S., 99.

38. N.Y.—Elwood v. Gardner, supra.

39. N.Y.—Pinckney v. Hegeman, 53 N.Y. 31.

40. Pa.—Stout v. Quinn, 9 Pa. Super. 179, 43 Wkly. N.C. 418.

ant.⁴¹ Parol evidence as to matters of record is not admissible;⁴² but the theory on which the action was tried and decided may be shown in a proper case,⁴³ and, where the judgment was by default in an action on contract with fraud alleged, affidavits denying the fraud may be presented.⁴⁴

A mere contradiction in affidavits, as to whether the records showed that the debtor was a freeholder, does not establish fraud in obtaining the issuance of an execution, in that the debtor was not a freeholder, since untruthfulness alone is not fraud.⁴⁵

(3) Effect of Order Setting Aside

A valid order setting aside an execution against the person justifies the sheriff in releasing the debtor from imprisonment.

An order setting aside an execution against the person, made by a court having jurisdiction to grant it, and valid upon its face, free from anything showing want of power or disclosing a vitiating irregularity, is a justification to the sheriff for releasing the debtor from imprisonment.⁴⁶

§ 428. Waiver of Defects

Irregularities in the writ or affidavits in connection therewith must be objected to properly and seasonably or are waived. A person giving a bond on being arrested waives the privilege of immunity from arrest and the irregularity of, and defects in, the writ.

If the judgment of the court below is correct and legal, irregularity in the writ of execution against the person cannot be taken advantage of on a writ of error.⁴⁷

Where an affidavit is necessary on an application for a certificate authorizing the arrest of a debtor, although the debtor appears after he has been defaulted in pursuance of a citation issued without an affidavit, such appearance will not constitute a waiver of the irregularity if he had no actual knowledge of the issuance of the citation before an affidavit had been made.⁴⁸ The objection that an affidavit is not sufficiently specific is waived by a failure to make it seasonably.⁴⁹ The falsity of an affidavit cannot be urged in an action on a recognition given in the proceedings.⁵⁰

Waiver by giving bond. Where the person arrested gives bond under the insolvent laws, he is held to have thereby waived the privilege of immunity from arrest,⁵¹ the irregularity of the writ,⁵² and his objections to the judgment on which the writ was issued,⁵³ and to defects in the writ.⁵⁴

B. DISCHARGE AND REARREST

§ 429. Discharge in General

A debtor can obtain his discharge from imprisonment under an execution against his person only on complying with the governing statutes.

The right of a debtor held under an execution against the person to obtain his discharge, where given or created by statute, can be enforced only in the manner prescribed by the statute,⁵⁵ on application to the court or judge designated in the statute,⁵⁶ and on a showing of the required facts.⁵⁷ A statute authorizing a discharge has been held retrospective, so as to be applicable to persons in prison at the time when enacted.⁵⁸

A debtor committed on a writ issued from a United States court cannot be discharged under the provisions of a state law relating to the discharge of 41. Md.—Guthers v. Langton, 3 Harr. & M. 185.

42. N.C.—McAden v. Banister, 63 N. C. 478.

43. N.Y.—Neftel v. Lightstone, 77 N. Y. 96—Booth v. Englert, 94 N.Y.S. 700, 105 App.Div. 284.

44. N.Y.—Humphrey v. Brown, 17 How.Pr. 481.

45. N.J.—Ash v. Brown, 3 A.2d 125, 121 N.J.Law 456.

46. N.Y.—Pinckney v. Hegeman, 53 N.Y. 31.

47. N.Y.—Dumond v. Carpenter, 3 Johns. 141.

48. Mass.—Williams v. Shillaber, 27 N.E. 767, 153 Mass. 541. 23 C.J. p 929 note 7.

49. Mass.—Rabovsky v. Sperling, 72 N.E. 949, 187 Mass. 202.

50. Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 14 N.E. 932, 146 Mass. 89, 4 Am.S.R. 284.

51. Pa.—Winder v. Smith, 6 Watts & S. 424.

52. N.J.—Ex parte Case, 20 N.J.Law 653.

N.Y.—Kelly v. McCormick, 28 N.Y. 318, affirming 2 E.D.Smith 503.

53. N.C.—Dobbin v. Gaster, 26 N.C. 71.

54. N.C.—Bryan v. Brooks, 51 N.C. 580.

23 C.J. p 929 note 13.

55. N.Y.—Bullymore v. Cooper, 46 N.Y. 236, affirming 2 Lans. 71.

23 C.J. p 929 note 15. Discharge on failure to pay jail fees see supra § 426.

56. Ky.—Sowle Mfg. Co. v. Bernard, 39 S.W. 239, 100 Ky. 658, 18 Ky.L.

1106—McGovern v. Maloney, 99 S. W. 935, 30 Ky.L. 801.

23 C.J. p 930 note 16.

Presumption of jurisdiction

Where a court order releasing prisoner on parole in custody of his attorney is regular on its face, jurisdiction of court will be presumed. —Land Finance Corporation v. Jacoby, 272 N.Y.S. 318, 151 Misc. 159, affirmed 275 N.Y.S. 890, 243 App. Div. 530, affirmed 198 N.E. 600, 267 N.Y. 600.

57. Evidence held sufficient to sustain verdict in favor of debtor on his application to be discharged from imprisonment for having unjustly refused to surrender his property.—In re Bartlett, 261 Ill.App. 259.

58. Vt.—Sommers v. Johnson, 4 Vt. 278, 24 Am.D. 604.

persons taken into custody under writs of execution.⁵⁹

A discharge on Sunday is proper where the debtor was legally arrested by virtue of an execution procured on that day.⁶⁰

§ 430. On Payment or Satisfaction of Judgment

Payment or satisfaction of the judgment entitles the debtor to a discharge.

A debtor is entitled to be discharged on paying the amount of the execution and fees.⁶¹ The debtor, however, is entitled to his discharge only on his making payment in money or its equivalent,⁶² unless another form of payment or satisfaction, such as a note, is authorized by statute,⁶³ or unless plaintiff agrees to another form of payment⁶⁴ or subsequently ratifies the act of the officer in taking something other than money in satisfaction of the judgment.⁶⁵

The fact that one joint obligor, against whom execution has been issued for costs, is discharged on the payment of such costs will not act as a discharge or release of the other obligor who has been taken on execution for the debt.⁶⁶

§ 431. On Consent of Creditor

The debtor may be discharged if the creditor or his duly authorized agent consents. A discharge, by consent, of one of several defendants taken on a joint capias ad satisfaciendum discharges all.

Plaintiff in a civil action may at any time order the discharge of a debtor confined under execution issued on the judgment,⁶⁷ and may make such agreement or take such security as he pleases, on discharging his debtor from arrest, so long as the officer has no beneficial interest therein.⁶⁸

By agent or attorney. It is commonly held that plaintiff's attorney as such has no power to allow a discharge of defendant without the actual payment of the money;⁶⁹ but there is authority to the contrary,⁷⁰ particularly where the judgment is merely for costs.⁷¹ The authority of a person, as special agent of plaintiff, to discharge defendant without satisfaction of the debt must be clearly and fully proved and strictly pursued.⁷²

Effect. The discharge of the debtor with the consent, or by the order, of plaintiff is not a payment of the debt so as to release a guarantor who consented to the discharge.⁷³ A discharge, by consent, of one of several defendants taken on a joint capias ad satisfaciendum is a discharge of all.⁷⁴

§ 432. On Motion

In some jurisdictions proceedings to obtain a discharge may be by motion, in a proper case. The order for discharge should show on its face that it was made by the court. The court may require, as a condition on discharge, a stipulation by defendant that he will not sue for false imprisonment, but not where the arrest was on an illegal execution.

In some jurisdictions the debtor may be discharged from imprisonment on motion in a proper case, as where he is exempt from arrest,⁷⁵ or where the judgment was recovered on a cause of action for which he could not have been arrested.⁷⁶ Such a motion is also proper where the debtor has been discharged as an insolvent and has had no opportunity to plead his discharge,⁷⁷ or where plaintiff has delayed the enforcement of his remedies for the purpose of compelling the debtor to remain in prison,⁷⁸ or where the court lost jurisdiction because 59. Pa.—Duncan v. Klinefelter, 5 Watts 141, 30 Am.D. 295.

23 C.J. p 930 note 17.

60. Ind.—King v. Strain, 6 Blackf. 447.

61. Colo.—Hershey v. People, 12 P. 2d 345, 91 Colo. 113.
23 C.J. p 930 note 20.

62. N.Y.—Codwise v. Field, 9 Johns. 263.

23 C.J. p 930 note 21.

63. Me.—Bates v. Butler, 46 Me. 387.
23 C.J. p 930 note 22.

64. Pa.—McCauley v. Kelly, 2 Wkly. N.C. 30.

65. N.Y.—Townsend v. Olin, 5 Wend. 207.

66. N.Y.—McLean v. Whiting, 8 Johns. 339.

67. Nev.—Ex parte Bergman, 4 P. 209, 18 Nev. 331.
23 C.J. p 930 note 24.

The issuance of an alias writ of capias ad satisfaciendum while the original writ is still outstanding has been held tantamount to a consent to the debtor's discharge under the original writ.—Ritter v. Stricker, 20 Pa. Dist. & Co., 622.

68. N.Y.—Williams v. Evans, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 235.
23 C.J. p 930 note 27.

69. N.Y.—Jackson v. Bartlett, 8 Johns. 361.
23 C.J. p 930 note 28.

70. Pa.—Scott v. Sellar, 5 Watts 235.
23 C.J. p 931 note 29.

71. N.Y.—Davis v. Bowe, 54 N.Y. Super. 520, 3 N.Y. St. 531, 25 N.Y. Wkly. Dig. 455, affirmed 23 N.E. 166, 118 N.Y. 55.
23 C.J. p 931 note 30.

72. N.Y.—Crary v. Turner, 8 Johns. 51.

73. Conn.—Terrell v. Smith, 8 Conn. 426.

23 C.J. p 931 note 34.

74. N.J.—Craig v. Allen, 14 N.J. Law 102.

23 C.J. p 931 note 35.

A discharge of appearance bail, arrested on a joint capias ad satisfaciendum against him and his principal, does not release the principal.—Watson v. Summers, D.C., 29 F. Cas. No. 17,289, 1 Cranch C.C. 200.

75. Or.—Wemme v. Hurlburt, 289 P. 372, 133 Or. 460.
23 C.J. p 931 notes 37, 38.
Motion to quash or set aside writ see supra § 427.

76. N.Y.—Smith v. Knapp, 30 N.Y. 581.

23 C.J. p 931 note 39.

77. N.Y.—Baker v. Judges Ulster C. Pl., 4 Johns. 191.

78. N.Y.—Hedges v. Payne, 32 N.Y. S. 969, 85 Hun 377, affirmed 42 N.E. 543, 146 N.Y. 397.

of an adjournment of the main action for more than the statutory time.⁷⁹

On the other hand, it is not a sufficient ground for granting a debtor's motion for a discharge from custody that the debtor is insane⁸⁰ or unable to endure the imprisonment,⁸¹ or that the sheriff violated the directions of a statute in respect of the mode of imprisonment,⁸² or that the debtor was recaptured in one state by the sheriff after a negligent escape from his custody in another.⁸³

A petition for discharge from imprisonment on the ground that the summons was served after death of the original plaintiff is properly denied where defendant appeared and answered, without objection, after plaintiff's executrix was substituted as party plaintiff.⁸⁴

Hearing and determination. On the debtor's motion for discharge from a commitment founded only on the facts alleged as the ground for arrest, the facts are to be examined in the same manner as if the motion were to discharge from arrest.⁸⁵

Where an execution against the person was allowed pursuant to a judgment claimed to be based on a charge of fraud, and the debtor was apprehended, it was held improper to discharge him without hearing evidence as to the truth of the charges.⁸⁶ A petitioner for a discharge may show that on the trial of the case the evidence was such that the verdict was necessarily on a count which would not warrant the issuing of the execution.⁸⁷ Where, in a proceeding by a debtor imprisoned for refusing to surrender his estate, he is charged with fraud, it is sufficient to sustain such charge by a preponderance of the evidence.⁸⁸

The order for discharge should show on its face that it was made by the court.⁸⁹ If the debtor has been out on bail pending the hearing of his petition, and the petition is denied, the order should remand the petitioner to the custody of the sheriff.⁹⁰

If the statutes provide no method for reviewing the order, the decision is final.⁹¹

Imposing conditions. The court, in granting a discharge when the arrest is made on an execution issued without authority of law, has no power to impose a condition that the party discharged shall not bring an action for false imprisonment.⁹² However, on discharging from imprisonment under an execution for irregularities therein, the court may compel defendant to stipulate that he will not sue for false imprisonment under the execution,⁹³ or will not bring a suit against plaintiff's attorney,⁹⁴ and such a condition may well be imposed where the court is satisfied that the arrest was without malice and on probable cause,⁹⁵ or where defendant has been guilty of laches and misleading conduct.⁹⁶

§ 433. On Affidavit or Certificate

In some jurisdictions a discharge may be obtained on making an affidavit, or obtaining a certificate, setting forth facts showing that the commitment was not warranted.

Under some statutes allowing plaintiff a capias ad satisfaciendum on making an affidavit of certain facts, the debtor may obtain his release from custody by making a counteraffidavit denying the facts alleged in plaintiff's affidavit,⁹⁷ or by submitting himself to an examination by the magistrate who signed the process⁹⁸ and obtaining a certificate as to the nonexistence of the facts stated in plaintiff's affidavit.⁹⁹

§ 434. On Prison-Limits Bond

- a. In general
- b. In what proceedings allowable
- c. Form, requisites, and validity
- d. Territorial limits of jail liberties
- e. Assignment of bond

a. In General

In some jurisdictions a debtor may avoid actual con-

79. Ill.—Sankstone v. Peo., 175 Ill. App. 653.
23 C.J. p 931 note 42.

80. N.Y.—Bush v. Pettibone, 4 N.Y. 300.

Reason for rule

The only order that can be made in such a case is to send the debtor to an asylum.—Bush v. Pettibone, 5 Barb. 273, Code Rep., N.S., 264, affirmed 4 N.Y. 300.

81. N.Y.—Moore v. McMahon, 20 Hun 44.

82. N.Y.—Lockwood v. Mercereau, 6 Abb.Pr. 206.

83. N.Y.—Lockwood v. Mercereau, supra.

84. Ill.—Ehrenwerth v. Moog, 23 N. E.2d 353, 302 Ill.App. 114.

85. N.Y.—Moore v. Calvert, 9 How. Pr. 474.

86. Ohio.—Soinski v. Wardaszko, 176 N.E. 460, 38 Ohio App. 388.

87. Ill.—Kitson v. Ellinger, 35 Ill. App. 55.

88. Ill.—First Nat. Bank v. Sanford, 83 Ill.App. 58.

89. N.Y.—Hayes v. Bowe, 12 Daly 193, 65 How.Pr. 347.
23 C.J. p 931 note 51.

90. Ill.—Biebel v. Kuttner, 147 Ill.App. 627.

91. R.I.—Shaw v. Silverstein, 44 A. 931, 21 R.I. 500.

92. N.Y.—Mayer v. Rothschild, 59 How.Pr. 510.

93. N.Y.—Walker v. Isaacs, 36 Hun 233—Deyo v. Van Valkenburgh, 5 Hill 242.

94. N.Y.—Davis v. Wiggins, 1 How. Pr. 159.

95. N.Y.—Northern R. Co. v. Carpenter, 4 Abb.Pr. 47.
23 C.J. p 932 note 57.

96. N.Y.—Sherwood v. Pierce, 50 N. Y. Super. 378.

97. Ala.—Marrow v. Weaver, 8 Ala. 288.

98. Vt.—Ex parte Davis, 18 Vt. 401
23 C.J. p 932 note 60.

99. Vt.—In re Proctor, 27 Vt. 118.
23 C.J. p 932 note 61.

finement within the jail by furnishing a prison-limits bond or depositing cash in lieu thereof. In legal contemplation, such a bond is in effect an extension of the prison walls to the jail limits, and a substitute for custody by the sheriff.

In a number of jurisdictions a debtor who is subject to imprisonment under an execution may be accorded the liberty of the jail limits, or the benefit of the prison bounds, on giving a prison-limits bond with proper security,¹ and otherwise complying with the statutory conditions.² The purpose of the bond is to enlarge the debtor's liberties by permitting him to avoid actual confinement within the physical limits of the jail, although at the same time requiring him to remain within designated territorial limits.³ To authorize such a bond, actual confinement in jail is unnecessary,⁴ provided the debtor has been arrested and is in the actual custody of the officer.⁵ The bond is required for the protection of both the sheriff and the judgment creditor,⁶ although it has been held that the indemnity of the bond is, in effect, to cover the liability of the sheriff to the judgment creditor by reason of the debtor's escape.⁷

Delivery and acceptance. A delivery of the bond to the jailer has been held to be a good delivery to the obligee.⁸ The acceptance of the bond may be implied from the conduct of the party whose duty it is to accept it.⁹

Effect. In legal contemplation a debtor released under a prison-limits bond is considered as still confined¹⁰ within the walls of the prison,¹¹ and the only effect of the undertaking, so far as the debtor is concerned, is to extend the walls of the jail to the jail limits.¹² A prison-limits bond is in effect a substitute for custody by the sheriff,¹³ and the sheriff can confine the debtor again only on his bails becoming insufficient.¹⁴

Cash deposit in lieu of bond. In New York a debtor who is entitled to be released on giving an undertaking for jail liberties may, in lieu thereof, deposit a sum of money.¹⁵ Plaintiff cannot have such moneys applied in satisfaction of the original judgment.¹⁶ A summary order directing that the moneys be turned over to a party can be made only if there is no dispute as to the right to the fund.¹⁷

b. In What Proceedings Allowable

The right to jail liberties under bond may be limited by statute to certain classes of actions or proceedings. In a few jurisdictions the debtor may be confined under a certified or close-jail execution, in which case he cannot obtain jail liberties.

The right to jail liberties under bond may be limited by statute to certain classes of actions or proceedings;¹⁸ thus it has been held, under various statutes, that bonds for the prison limits are allowable to persons in execution under an attachment for costs,¹⁹ a defendant in an action for malicious

1. Mich.—Behrens v. Chevrle, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

N.Y.—Sowma v. Roizen, 233 N.Y.S. 288, 133 Misc. 562.

Wis.—Rutsen v. Mitten, 288 N.W. 172, 232 Wis. 584.

23 C.J. p 932 note 63.

Prison-limits bond for relief from arrest on mesne process see Arrest § 80 c.

2. R.I.—McManaman Petitioner, 16 A. 148, 16 R.I. 358, 1 L.R.A. 561.

23 C.J. p 932 note 64.

Waiver by sheriff

Where a prisoner desirous of being admitted to the prison bounds applies to the sheriff and offers to prepare a bond with ample security, and the sheriff refuses to take any bond, the sheriff thereby waives the performance of any further act by the prisoner.—Mann v. Vick, 8 N.C. 127.

An assignment for benefit of creditors, given under a statute governing liberty of the jailyard, is valid, although not accompanied by a sworn itemized schedule of assets and list of creditors as required by a general statute with respect to common-law assignments for benefit of creditors.—Andrews v. Reynolds, 120 A. 61, 45 R.I. 74.

3. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 116 Conn. 22.

N.Y.—Wesenberg v. McCormack, 198 N.Y.S. 340, 119 Misc. 775.

4. Kan.—Doyle v. Boyle, 19 Kan. 168.

23 C.J. p 932 note 66.

5. Kan.—Doyle v. Boyle, 19 Kan. 168—Carthrae v. Clark, 5 Leigh 268, 73 Va. 268.

6. Mich.—Schwartz v. Golner, 224 N.W. 351, 246 Mich. 73.

7. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 116 Conn. 22.

8. Me.—Kimball v. Preble, 5 Me. 353.

9. Me.—Coffin v. Herrick, 10 Me. 121.

23 C.J. p 934 note 8.

10. N.Y.—Wesenberg v. McCormack, 198 N.Y.S. 340, 119 Misc. 775.

11. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 116 Conn. 22.

Ohio.—Buttles v. Carlton, 1 Ohio 32.

"An escape from the liberties is an escape from the prison."—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 599, 116 Conn. 22.

12. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, supra.

N.Y.—Wesenberg v. McCormack, 198 N.Y.S. 340, 119 Misc. 775.

13. Mich.—Smith v. Grosslight, 81 N.W. 975, 123 Mich. 87.

23 C.J. p 932 note 68—5 C.J. p 517 note 81 [a].

Loss of control by officer

After a debtor has given a bond for the prison limits, he is no longer in the hands of the officer and the latter has no control over him.—Wendover v. Tucker, 4 Ind. 381.

14. U.S.—McClellan v. Plumsell, D. C. 15 F.Cas.No.8,693, 4 Cranch C.C. 86—U. S. v. Noah, C.C., 27 F.Cas. No.15,894, 1 Paine 368.

15. N.Y.—Wesenberg v. McCormack, 198 N.Y.S. 340, 119 Misc. 775.

16. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449—Wesenberg v. McCormack, 198 N.Y.S. 340, 119 Misc. 775.

Moneys deposited by a third person may be returned to him in a proper case.—Wesenberg v. McCormack, supra.

17. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

18. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

19. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

20. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

21. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

22. N.Y.—World Exchange Bank v. Brown, 218 N.Y.S. 523, 128 Misc. 449.

prosecution,²⁰ or a defendant arrested under an execution issued for damages recovered in an action of trespass quare clausum fregit.²¹ Where a special statute provides for an execution against the person in a particular kind of action, but makes no provision as to jail liberties, the general statute relating to jail liberties is ordinarily applicable.²² A husband committed for contempt in not paying alimony is not entitled to the jail liberties on giving a bond to the sheriff, since such imprisonment is not pursuant to a body execution or an order of arrest.²³

If the sheriff admits the debtor to jail liberties in a case not provided for by statute, the bond taken may be held void, and the sheriff held guilty of a voluntary escape.²⁴

Certified or close-jail execution. In a few jurisdictions a defendant may be committed under a certified or close-jail execution where the cause of action on which the judgment is based is certified to have arisen from defendant's willful or malicious act, or from a misapplication of trust funds;²⁵ and a person so committed is not entitled to the jail liberties.²⁶

The facts warranting such an execution must be properly adduced before the court;²⁷ but, where a proper showing has been made, plaintiff is entitled to a close-jail execution as of right, and the court has no discretion to refuse it.²⁸

c. Form, Requisites, and Validity

A bond for the prison limits should be in proper form and should substantially comply with the governing statutes. It is commonly required to be for double the debt and costs, and has variously been held properly payable to the jailer, to the sheriff, or either to the officer or to the creditor.

A bond for the prison limits should be made pursuant to the statute in force at the time,²⁹ and should comply with the terms of the statute;³⁰ but the bond will suffice if it complies substantially with the statute without pursuing its very words,³¹ and a bond which is insufficient as a statutory bond may nevertheless be good at common law.³²

A bond is valid where blanks therein are afterward filled up by a third person by verbal authority

20. S.C.—Walker v. Briggs, 19 S.C. L. 118.

21. S.C.—Smith v. Hogg, 31 S.C.L. 86.

22. N.Y.—Peo. v. Monaco, 105 N.Y.S. 401, 54 Misc. 25.

23 C.J. p 932 note 78.

23. N.Y.—In re Clark, 20 Hun 551—Allen v. Allen, 58 How.Pr. 381.

24. Vt.—Lowrey v. Barney, 2 D. Chipm. 11.

25. Vt.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258—McAllister v. Benjamin, 121 A. 263, 96 Vt. 475.

23 C.J. p 933 note 79.

Distinction from ordinary body execution

A close-jail execution is a body execution which contains a statement that the action arose from defendant's willful or malicious act and that defendant should be confined to close jail; and the mere fact that the close-jail certificate on a close-jail execution is vacated does not entitle the debtor to a discharge from custody, since a body execution still remains.—Ex parte Thompson, 9 A.2d 107, 111 Vt. 7.

Trover

Plaintiff, recovering judgment in trover for willful and malicious appropriation of goods sold to defendant under consignment contract, is entitled to close-jail execution.—Smith v. Ladrie, 129 A. 302, 98 Vt. 429.

Motion in supreme court

(1) A motion for a certified execution will not be entertained in the supreme court where plaintiff had an opportunity to present it in the lower court.—Downer v. Battles, 152 A. 805, 103 Vt. 201.

(2) A plaintiff against whom judgment has been rendered in the lower court may, on prevailing in the supreme court, make a motion there for a certified execution, since he has not previously had an opportunity so to move.—North Adams Reef & Produce Co. v. Cantor, 156 A. 879, 103 Vt. 514—Smith v. Ladrie, 129 A. 302, 98 Vt. 429.

23 C.J. p 933 note 79 [e] (2).

A court of chancery has no power to issue a certified execution unless such power is conferred by statute.—Lyon v. Prescott, 156 A. 679, 103 Vt. 442.

26. Vt.—Jewett v. Pudlo, 172 A. 423, 106 Vt. 249, followed in 172 A. 428, 106 Vt. 258.

23 C.J. p 933 note 79.

"While a person in jail on a body execution may apply to be admitted to the liberties of the jail yard or for the privilege of taking the poor debtor's oath, one in jail on a close jail execution is not entitled to make either of these applications while the close jail certificate is in force."—Ex parte Thompson, 9 A.2d 107, 111 Vt. 7.

27. Vt.—Ex parte Thompson, supra. Judgment on agreement of counsel

The court cannot issue a close-jail certificate on a judgment rendered by agreement of counsel, without a hearing on the merits, notwithstanding the filing of an affidavit as to the facts.—Ex parte Thompson, supra.

28. Vt.—Ex parte Thompson, supra —Lyon v. Prescott, 156 A. 679, 103 Vt. 442.

29. Me.—Huntress v. Wheeler, 16 Me. 290—Gooch v. Stephenson, 15 Me. 129.

Approval by sheriff. preferably, although not necessarily, in writing, required.—Rutzen v. Mitten, 288 N.W. 172, 232 Wis. 584.

30. Mich.—Behrens v. Chevrle, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

23 C.J. p 933 note 85.

Justification or approval of sureties

(1) Surety held not required to justify.—Rutzen v. Mitten, 288 N.W. 172, 232 Wis. 584.

(2) Where a statutory provision that the sureties in the bond shall be approved by two justices is intended merely for the benefit of the debtor, to prevent his oppression by the creditor, and the creditor agrees to take the bond without such approval, the intent of the statute is fulfilled, and the bond cannot be avoided by the obligors for the want of such formality.—Bartlett v. Willis, 3 Mass. 86.

31. Mass.—Wiggin v. Peters, 1 Metc. 127.

23 C.J. p 933 note 86.

32. Conn.—Seymour v. Harvey, 8 Conn. 63.

23 C.J. p 933 note 87.

from the obligors.³³ It is not invalid because it bears a date prior to the commitment, if it was executed after commitment,³⁴ or because of a mistake in the recital of the writ under which the prisoner is confined, if it is at once corrected,³⁵ or because the records of the inferior court did not show at the time that a plan of the bounds had been returned by the sheriff, or that a survey of them had been made under the direction of such court as required by law.³⁶ Although the fact that a debtor is permitted at his own request to go outside the prison limits in company with the jailer may constitute a voluntary escape as between the sheriff and the creditor, yet it does not render void a bail bond afterward given.³⁷

A bond is void if it contains terms or obligations not authorized by statute,³⁸ is executed by the debtor under duress,³⁹ or is executed without consideration,⁴⁰ as where the debtor was arrested on an invalid writ.⁴¹

Amount of bond. Although the ordinary rule is that a prison-limits bond should be for double the debt and costs,⁴² yet a provision to this effect has been held merely directory;⁴³ and a bond in a less sum will be sufficient if accepted,⁴⁴ provided it is large enough to satisfy the judgment in favor of the creditor.⁴⁵

By and to whom executed. Execution of the bond by the sureties alone has been held sufficient,⁴⁶ while under other authority such a bond is incomplete and may be repudiated by either party.⁴⁷

The bond for the prison limits may be held properly payable to the jailer⁴⁸ or to the sheriff,⁴⁹ or either to the officer or to the creditor.⁵⁰ It has been held that a bond for prison liberties of a prisoner under federal process must be to the marshal, and that, if it is given to the sheriff, it is void.⁵¹

Joint bond. Two persons against whom there is a joint judgment and execution, and who are arrested and committed to prison, may execute a joint prison-bounds bond.⁵²

d. Territorial Limits of Jail Liberties

The limits of jail liberties may be made sometimes co-extensive with the county limits. Jail limits may be altered, in which case the prisoner must remain within the new limits. The prisoner has the same right as other persons to go anywhere within the jail limits.

A prisoner for debt is restricted to the jail limits fixed by the existing law, although they were more extensive when he gave his bond.⁵³ Under some statutes the limits of jail liberties are coextensive with the limits of the county,⁵⁴ and, in contemplation of law, the establishment of prison bounds co-extensive with the county extends the prison walls to the county line,⁵⁵ even though such line has been extended.⁵⁶

The power to establish and alter the territorial limits of jail liberties may be conferred on certain courts, such as the courts of sessions,⁵⁷ or on boards of supervisors on recommendation of the county courts.⁵⁸ The bounds may be required to be recorded,⁵⁹ but monuments are not necessary to define the limits.⁶⁰ Statutes of a state fixing bounds

33. Me.—Fullerton v. Harris, 8 Me. 393.

Redelivery has been held required in the case of a paper signed in blank with verbal authority given to fill it up as a prison-bounds bond.—Gilbert v. Anthony, 1 Yerg., Tenn., 69, 24 Am.D. 439.

34. Vt.—Clark v. Kidder, 12 Vt. 689.

35. Mich.—In re Fredrick, 71 N.W. 835, 113 Mich. 468.
23 C.J. p 933 note 93.

36. Ga.—Galloway v. Camp, 31 Ga. 586.

37. Conn.—Bulkley v. Finch, 37 Conn. 71.

38. Ky.—January v. Cartwright, Litt.Sel.Cas. 449, 12 Am.D. 331.
23 C.J. p 933 note 88.

39. N.Y.—Thompson v. Lockwood, 15 Johns. 256.
23 C.J. p 933 note 89.

40. Ind.—Gresham v. Bowen, 7 Blackf. 423.

41. Ind.—Gresham v. Bowen, 7 Blackf. 423.

42. Mich.—Behrens v. Chevrie, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

23 C.J. p 934 note 98.

43. Ala.—Croom v. Travis, 10 Ala. 237.

44. Me.—Pease v. Norton, 6 Me. 229.
—Kimball v. Preble, 5 Me. 353.

45. Vt.—Udall v. Rice, 1 Tyler 213.

46. Kan.—Hickman v. Fargo, 42 P. 381, 1 Kan.App. 695.

47. La.—Curtis v. Moss, 2 Rob. 367.

48. Ky.—Barns v. Williams, 2 Bibb 562.

49. Ky.—McMeekin v. Foster, 3 Bibb 48, 6 Am.D. 635.
23 C.J. p 933 note 81.

50. Me.—Pease v. Norton, 6 Me. 229.
23 C.J. p 933 note 82.

51. Vt.—Warren v. Russel, 1 D. Chipm. 193.
23 C.J. p 933 note 83.

52. Va.—McGuire v. Pierce, 9 Gratt. 167, 50 Va. 167.

53. Me.—Lewis v. Staples, 3 Me. 173.

23 C.J. p 935 note 22.

54. Mich.—Behrens v. Chevrie, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

N.Y.—Katz v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 178 N.E. 560, 257 N.Y. 365, reversing 246 N.Y.S. 796, 231 App.Div. 848, affirming 249 N.Y.S. 21, 140 Misc. 79.
23 C.J. p 935 note 34 [a].

55. Ohio.—Kirkup v. Stickney, 5 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 499, 6 Am.L. Rec. 300.

23 C.J. p 935 note 34.

56. La.—Guion v. Ford, 12 Rob. 123.

57. Mass.—Walter v. Bacon, 8 Mass. 468.
23 C.J. p 935 note 28.

58. N.Y.—Roach v. O'Dell, 33 Hun 320, affirmed 1 N.E. 408, 99 N.Y. 635.
23 C.J. p 935 note 29.

59. Va.—McGuire v. Pierce, 9 Gratt. 167, 50 Va. 167.
23 C.J. p 935 note 30.

60. Ohio.—Lucky v. Brandon, 1 Ohio 49.

do not govern prisoners confined under process from the federal courts.⁶¹

The prisoner has the same right to go anywhere within the jail limits that other persons have.⁶²

e. Assignment of Bond

The officer, or his deputy in the officer's name, or his successor in office, may assign the bond to the creditor after a breach thereof; and under some statutes such assignment releases the sheriff from liability for the debtor's escape.

The bond may be legally assigned by the officer to whom it is made to the party for whose benefit it was intended,⁶³ after a breach of the bond,⁶⁴ and in some jurisdictions, where a debtor gives the jailer a bond for the prison limits and escapes, it is the jailer's duty to assign the bond to the creditor;⁶⁵ but such assignment cannot be made to a third person.⁶⁶ The assignment may be made in the name of the officer who took the bond, by his deputy,⁶⁷ or, generally, by such officer's successor in office,⁶⁸ although it has been held that, if a bond taken by an outgoing officer is not assigned to the new officer within the time prescribed by statute, it is void in the hands of the undersheriff or his assignee.⁶⁹

Effect. Under some statutes the sheriff's assignment of the bond to the judgment creditor and the latter's acceptance thereof release the sheriff from liability for the debtor's escape.⁷⁰ It has been held that after an assignment of the bond the sheriff cannot accept a surrender of the debtor.⁷¹

§ 435. — Performance or Breach

a. In general

b. Escape

a. In General

The bond is forfeited if its conditions, or those of governing statutes, are not performed, as where the debtor fails to surrender himself or furnish a schedule of his assets. A discharge of the debtor under a poor debtors' act is generally considered a satisfaction of the bond.

The obligor in a prison-limits bond must faithfully perform the conditions of the bond and the governing statute, or the bond will be forfeited.⁷² The bond may be forfeited by failure of the debtor to surrender himself in accordance with the conditions of the bond.⁷³ In South Carolina, the bond is forfeited if the obligor does not furnish a schedule of his assets within a certain time;⁷⁴ and plaintiff may sue and recover for a breach in not rendering a schedule within the proper time,⁷⁵ even where the prisoner has been discharged without opposition,⁷⁶ and unless there is a valid excuse for such failure, in which case he will be allowed to file it afterward nunc pro tunc.⁷⁷

Creditor's receipt for satisfaction. The bond is discharged by the creditor's receipt, given to the debtor, in satisfaction of the judgment and execution, on an agreement fairly made by the creditor and a third person, although the creditor is not able to obtain any benefit from such agreement.⁷⁸

Discharge as poor debtor. The general rule is that a discharge under a poor debtors' act is a release from, and a satisfaction of, the jail-limits bond,⁷⁹ even though the discharge was obtained by fraud.⁸⁰ Thus the failure of the debtor to surrender himself does not effect a breach of the bond if he has within the required time assigned his property for the benefit of his creditors and has obtained a discharge under an act for the relief of poor debtors.⁸¹

61. Ky.—Moore v. Allen, 7 J.J. Marsh. 651.

62. N.Y.—Rosenzweig v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 151 N.Y.S. 237. Ohio.—Lucky v. Brandon, 1 Ohio 49.

63. Mich.—Kruse v. Kingsbury, 60 N.W. 443, 102 Mich. 100. 23 C.J. p 935 note 37.

64. Wis.—Muirhead v. Bruns, 223 N.W. 565, 198 Wis. 104. 23 C.J. p 936 note 33.

Assignment before particular breach
Where the bond has been breached several times, an assignment is valid where made after one breach, although before the particular breach for which liability is subsequently sought to be imposed.—Schwartz v. Golner, 224 N.W. 351, 246 Mich. 73.

65. Ky.—Barns v. Williams, 2 Bibb 562. 23 C.J. p 936 note 38.

66. S.C.—Wicker v. Pope, 47 S.C.L. 387, 75 Am.D. 732. 23 C.J. p 936 note 40.

67. Mich.—Hughes v. Hally, 100 N.W. 591, 137 Mich. 433. 23 C.J. p 936 note 41.

68. S.C.—McElwee v. White, 31 S.C.L. 95. Va.—Vanmeter v. Giles, 1 Rob. 328, 40 Va. 328.

69. N.Y.—Ridgway v. Barnard, 28 Barb. 613.

70. Mich.—Schwartz v. Golner, 224 N.W. 351, 246 Mich. 73. Wis.—Muirhead v. Bruns, 223 N.W. 565, 198 Wis. 104.

71. U.S.—U. S. v. Noah, C.C.N.Y., 27 F.Cas.No.15,894, 1 Paine 368.

72. S.C.—Wigfall v. Smyth, 13 S.C.L. 135.

73. R.I.—In re McManaman, 16 A. 144, 16 R.I. 358, 1 L.R.A. 561. 23 C.J. p 935 note 23.

74. S.C.—Wigfall v. Smyth, 13 S.C.L. 135.

75. S.C.—McElwee v. White, 31 S.C.L. 95. 23 C.J. p 954 note 16.

76. S.C.—McElwee v. White, supra.

77. S.C.—Crovat v. Coburn, 14 S.C.L. 14. 23 C.J. p 934 note 9 [a] (2), p 954 note 18.

78. Me.—Ellenwood v. Dickey, 9 Me. 125.

79. S.C.—Hamilton v. Hamilton, 45 S.C.L. 351. 23 C.J. p 970 note 87.

80. U.S.—Ammidon v. Smith, R.I., 1 Wheat. 447, 4 L.Ed. 132.

81. U.S.—Mason v. Halle, R.I., 12 Wheat. 370, 6 L.Ed. 660. 23 C.J. p 935 note 24.

b. Escape

An escape occurs, so as to breach the bond, when the prisoner goes outside the jail limits without any legal excuse, unless the obligee consents to such departure.

A prisoner having jail liberties is bound at his peril and at the risk of his sureties to keep within the proper limits; and, if the lines are in any part vague and indefinite, he should confine himself within the places where they are not so.⁸² The conditions of the bond are broken where the debtor departs from such limits,⁸³ without the consent of the obligee in the bond;⁸⁴ unless a statute prescribes otherwise, such consent may be oral or in writing, or may be manifested by conduct indicating acquiescence.⁸⁵

According to some decisions, an unauthorized departure constitutes a breach of the bond however innocent the departure, whatever the distance, and however soon the prisoner returns;⁸⁶ but according to others there will be no forfeiture where such transgression of the limits is unintentional and the debtor returns as soon as he is aware of his fault.⁸⁷

It has been held that it is not a breach of the bond for the debtor to leave the prison limits where the judgment creditor refuses to pay in advance the prison fees for the subsistence of the judgment debtor;⁸⁸ or where the debtor escapes while insane;⁸⁹ or where the escape is made from necessity and without the consent of the debtor, as by his being carried out of the jail in a fit of sickness.⁹⁰

Liberty during daytime only. Under some statutes, the debtor's liberty is during the daytime only; at night he is supposed to return to the apartments of the prison assigned for that purpose, and if he does not do so it constitutes an escape.⁹¹ However, he is not guilty of an escape if he passes the night in a house appropriated by the county to the use of prisoners, although the jailer exercises no control over the house or prisoner.⁹²

§ 436. — Liability of Sureties

The liability of sureties depends on the provisions of the bond and the statutes. A surrender, discharge, or escape of the debtor may discharge or release the sureties in some circumstances, but not in others.

The liability of the sureties on a prison-limits bond depends on the terms of the undertaking which they have executed,⁹³ and of the statute under which it was executed.⁹⁴ The sureties are liable where the debtor escapes before the time is out for charging him in execution.⁹⁵ The liability of the surety to the creditor is fixed as soon as the bond has been breached and the creditor has acquired his right to the bond by assignment.⁹⁶ Where a new bond is taken in place of an old one, an addi-

82. N.Y.—Kip v. Brigham, 7 Johns. 168.

83. Ky.—Rudd v. Hanna, 4 T.B.Mon. 528.

Mich.—Schwartz v. Golner, 224 N.W. 351, 246 Mich. 73.

23 C.J. p 934 note 13.

Only act of God or enemies of the country will excuse an escape.—Optner v. Bolger, C.C.A.Mich., 95 F.2d 241—5 C.J. p 517 note 81 [a].

Professional engagements outside limits

In the absence of statutory authority therefor, an attorney who has given a jail-limits bond cannot excuse his going outside the limits on the ground of professional engagements in the supreme court.—Hughes v. Hally, 100 N.W. 591, 137 Mich. 433—23 C.J. p 937 note 85—5 C.J. p 530 note 41 [a].

84. Wis.—Muirhead v. Bruns, 223 N. W. 565, 198 Wis. 104.

23 C.J. p 934 note 14.

Consent of creditor as defense to action on bond see infra § 437.

Power of court

The court cannot over the creditor's objection permit the debtor to go into another county to attend to his business.—Behrens v. Chevrle, 237 N.W. 551, 255 Mich. 79.

85. N.Y.—Katz v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 178 N.

E. 560, 257 N.Y. 365, reversing 246 N.Y.S. 798, 231 App.Div. 848, affirming 249 N.Y.S. 21, 140 Misc. 79.

Conduct showing acquiescence

Acquiescence is shown by the creditor's acceptance of a release furnished by the debtor pursuant to a court order extending the jail limits on condition that the debtor release the creditor from any liability for having caused the arrest.—Katz v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., supra.

Termination of assent

An assent to the extension of jail limits pending the determination of an appeal terminates only when the order of the appellate court is remitted to the court below.—Katz v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., supra.

86. Ky.—Crump v. Bennett, 2 Litt. 209.

23 C.J. p 934 note 15.

Voluntary return as defense to action on bond see infra § 437.

"A going at large beyond the limits, even for a short time and followed by a return to custody, is an escape for which the sheriff is liable and a breach of the conditions of the bond."—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 599, 116 Conn. 22.

Return before service of process

A breach occurs by the prisoner's going beyond the jail limits whether he returns before or after service of process.—Muirhead v. Bruns, 223 N. W. 565, 198 Wis. 104.

87. Vt.—Downer v. Dana, 19 Vt. 338. 23 C.J. p 934 note 16.

88. Ohio—Kirkup v. Stickney, 5 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 499, 6 Am.L. Rec. 300.

89. U.S.—Hazard v. Hazard, C.C.Vt., 11 F.Cas.No.6,278, 1 Paine 295.

90. Mass.—Baxter v. Taber, 4 Mass. 361.

23 C.J. p 935 note 19.

91. Mass.—McLellan v. Dalton, 10 Mass. 190.

23 C.J. p 935 note 20.

92. Mass.—Jacobs v. Tolman, 8 Mass. 161.

93. Kan.—Hickman v. Fargo, 42 P. 381, 1 Kan.App. 695.

94. N.Y.—Rosenzweig v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 151 N.Y.S. 237.

23 C.J. p 936 note 46.

95. Ky.—Hubbard v. Harrison, 1 Bibb 550.

Escape as breach of bond generally see supra § 435.

96. S.C.—McCarley v. Davis, 26 S. C.L. 34.

Assignment of bond see supra § 434.

tional surety who signs after delivery to, and on requirement of, the sheriff is bound.⁹⁷

Where a debtor enjoying the jail limits is confined under a new commitment, and then escapes, his surety is not liable for the subsequent escape from the new commitment.⁹⁸

Surrender of principal. If the debtor has escaped, the surety cannot surrender him in discharge of the condition of the bond.⁹⁹ Thus, while it has been held that the sureties may surrender their principal at any time before judgment is rendered against them on the bond,¹ they cannot, by a surrender made after suit has been commenced on the bond for an escape, have the bond given up and their liability discharged for such escape.² It has also been held that sureties on prison-limits bonds cannot release themselves from responsibility by surrendering the debtor.³ If the bond requires the prisoner to surrender himself at the expiration of a certain period, and he voluntarily surrenders himself before that time, such surrender discharges his sureties,⁴ unless the surrender is colorable merely and not intended to have that effect.⁵

Discharge of principal. The sureties to the bond are released where the debtor is discharged by plaintiff,⁶ or by a judge in the absence of the sureties.⁷

The release of the surety on a bail bond by the discharge in bankruptcy of the principal is considered in the title Bankruptcy § 581 b (2) (c).

Escape caused by creditor. Sureties are released where the creditor, without the knowledge of the sureties, makes a contract with the debtor which induces the debtor to depart or escape the liberties.⁸ The sureties are not, however, released because an escape by the debtor was induced by threats of the creditor to put him in close confinement.⁹

Right of surety against principal. To preserve his rights against the surety, the creditor must so conduct his proceedings as to be at all times able to subrogate the surety to all rights of the creditor against the debtor.¹⁰ A surety who pays a sum of money and receives a discharge with the knowledge of the principal may recover that amount as well as counsel fees for defending a suit on the bond, even though judgment was entered up for its full amount against the principal.¹¹

§ 437. — Proceedings to Enforce Bonds

- a. Form of remedy
- b. Defenses
- c. Parties
- d. Pleadings
- e. Evidence and trial
- f. Damages
- g. Judgment, enforcement, and review

a. Form of Remedy

A prison-limits bond may be enforced by an action thereon, or, in some jurisdictions, by a petition in the nature of a scire facias or by motion for summary judgment.

Generally the remedy on a prison-limits bond is by an ordinary action which must be brought within the time fixed by statute.¹² If the bond is forfeited by the prisoner's voluntarily leaving the jail limits, the sheriff has his option to retake and recommit him to close confinement or to sue on the bond.¹³

Scire facias. In some jurisdictions, where a bond for the jail liberties is taken and duly returned and enrolled, the court has jurisdiction of a petition in the nature of a scire facias on such bond,¹⁴ which scire facias must issue from the court having the record on which it is founded.¹⁵ The scire facias may be amended to an action of contract at any time before final judgment.¹⁶

Summary proceedings. A motion will lie in some

97. Mich.—Krusse v. Kingsbury, 60 N.W. 443, 102 Mich. 100.

98. N.Y.—Bradford v. Consaulus, 3 Cow. 128.
23 C.J. p 936 note 50—5 C.J. p 530 note 41 [b].

Commitment held new

Where the debtor, after giving a prison-limits bond, applies for the benefit of the honest debtor's act, but being convicted of fraud is ordered into custody until a full and fair surrender of his property is made, this is a new commitment, and no action will lie on the prison-limits bond for a subsequent escape. —Lamar v. Foley, 26 Ga. 180.

99. Ind.—Buford v. Ganson, 5 Blackf. 585.

1. N.Y.—Betts v. Livermore, 3 N.Y. Super. 684.

2. N.Y.—Betts v. Livermore, supra.

3. La.—Bryan v. Turnbull, 8 Mart. N.S., 108.

4. Ala.—Morrow v. Weaver, 8 Ala. 288.

5. Ala.—Morrow v. Weaver, supra.

6. La.—Elkins v. Zacharie, 6 La. 646.

23 C.J. p 936 note 55.

7. Kan.—Hickman v. Fargo, 42 P. 381, 1 Kan.App. 695.

23 C.J. p 936 note 56.

8. Vt.—Conant v. Patterson, 7 Vt. 163.

9. Escape with obligee's consent generally see supra § 435.

9. Ky.—Hubbard v. Harrison, 1 Bibb 550.

10. La.—Comstock v. Creon, 1 Rob. 528.

11. Vt.—Bancroft v. Pierce, 27 Vt. 668.

12. One year

Mass.—Call v. Hagger, 8 Mass. 423.

13. N.Y.—Barry v. Mandell, 10 Johns. 563—Jansen v. Hilton, 10 Johns. 549.

14. U.S.—Campbell v. Hadley, D.C. Mass., 4 F.Cas.No.2,358, 1 Sprague 470.

15. Mass.—Sewall v. Sullivan, 108 Mass. 355.

16. Mass.—Sewall v. Sullivan, 108 Mass. 355.

23 C.J. p 936 note 64.

jurisdictions for summary judgment on a prison-limits bond where the conditions thereof are in conformity with the requirements of the statute.¹⁷ In New York, if judgment has been rendered against the sheriff in an action for escape, and notice of the pendency of the action was given to the prisoner and his sureties, the court must order a summary judgment for the sheriff in an action by him on the bond;¹⁸ and the recovery in the action for escape may be set up by supplemental complaint in a summary proceeding on the bond.¹⁹

b. Defenses

Apart from numerous particular circumstances held or held not to constitute a defense to an action on a prison-limits bond, the obligors may, in general, assert by way of defense facts showing that the bond had no valid inception, that it was not in fact breached, or that it ceased to be effective and binding. Whether defendant's voluntary return to the bounds before commencement of the suit is a defense is in dispute.

It has been held a good defense to an action on the bond that a statute was subsequently passed abolishing imprisonment for debt,²⁰ although there is authority to the contrary.²¹

A surety in a bond for jail liberties has no equities to entitle him to any other defense than would avail his principal.²²

Validity of levy or execution. The fact that the levy and imprisonment were illegal has been held not necessarily to relieve the debtor and his surety of their liability on a jail-liberties bond;²³ thus the debtor and his surety cannot escape liability on the ground that execution had been stayed at the time of the levy by reason of the pendency of a writ of error.²⁴ On the other hand, it has been held that defendant may interpose a valid defense to an action on a prison-bonds bond by showing that the execution under which the debtor was imprisoned was illegal,²⁵ or has been quashed for irregularity,²⁶ or rendered of no effect by a writ of super-sedeas and certiorari obtained by defendant, under which the cause is ordered placed on the trial docket before a motion is made on the bond.²⁷

Voluntary return. Defendant's subsequent voluntary return to the bounds before commencement of the suit has been held no defense;²⁸ but there is authority to the contrary,²⁹ particularly in jurisdictions where the statutes make such a return a defense.³⁰

Miscellaneous defenses held valid. It has been held to constitute a valid defense to an action on the bond that the judgment and execution have been vacated on conditions which have been performed;³¹ that the debtor left the bounds with the consent and license of the creditor³² or with the consent of the sheriff;³³ that the debtor had been duly committed to an asylum as a lunatic;³⁴ that the bond was executed under duress;³⁵ that the debt has been paid;³⁶ that the debtor had been discharged as an insolvent and presented his discharge to the sheriff who there-

17. N.C.—Northam v. Terry, 30 N.C. 175.

23 C.J. p 937 note 65.

18. N.Y.—Buttling v. Hatton, 51 N.Y.S. 305, 30 App.Div. 191.

23 C.J. p 937 note 66.

19. N.Y.—Buttling v. Hatton, 53 N.Y.S. 1009, 33 App.Div. 551.

20. Conn.—Sedgwick v. Knibloe, 16 Conn. 219.

23 C.J. p 937 note 90.

21. Ala.—Croom v. Travis, 10 Ala. 237.

23 C.J. p 937 note 91.

22. Ala.—Tait v. Frow, 8 Ala. 543. 23 C.J. p 938 note 3.

23. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 116 Conn. 22.

Waiver of illegality

So far as liability on the bond is concerned, the debtor and his surety, by their execution of the bond, waive whatever illegality may have existed in the levy.—Geddes v. Sibley, supra.

Voluntary bond by privileged person

Where a witness or other person privileged from arrest on capias ad satisfaciendum, instead of causing himself to be discharged by habeas corpus, gives a prison-bonds bond, it is a voluntary act, which he cannot afterward avoid.—Tipton v. Harris, 1 Peck, Tenn., 414.

24. Conn.—Geddes v. Sibley, 163 A. 596, 116 Conn. 22.

25. Vt.—Witt v. Marsh, 14 Vt. 303. 23 C.J. p 937 note 86.

Unauthorized writ

The obligors on a bond for jail limits may defend on the ground that the writ of capias ad satisfaciendum was void because not warranted by the nature of the action underlying the judgment.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Ellar, 220 N.W. 766, 243 Mich. 603.

26. N.Y.—Battle v. National Surety Co., 138 N.Y.S. 46, 78 Misc. 253. Ohio.—Hyatt v. Robinson, 15 Ohio 372.

27. N.C.—Gidney v. Hallsey, 9 N.C. 550.

28. Va.—McGuire v. Pierce, 9 Gratt. 167, 50 Va. 167. 23 C.J. p 938 note 98.

29. Ala.—Morrow v. Parkman, 14 Ala. 769.

30. Mich.—Smith v. Grosslight, 81 N.W. 975, 123 Mich. 87.

N.Y.—Milanese v. Lexington Surety & Indemnity Co., 270 N.Y.S. 530, 151 Misc. 44, affirmed 267 N.Y.S. 990, 240 App.Div. 888, appeal denied 268 N.Y.S. 925, 240 App.Div. 1020 and affirmed 195 N.E. 189, 266 N.Y. 538.

23 C.J. p 938 notes 1, 2.

Prevention of return

Action could not be maintained against surety by plaintiff who prevented prisoner's voluntary return to jail limits.—Milanese v. Lexington Surety & Indemnity Co., supra.

31. N.Y.—Battle v. National Surety Co., 138 N.Y.S. 46, 78 Misc. 253.

32. Vt.—Hobbs v. Whitney, 2 Tyler 409.

23 C.J. p 937 note 92.

Departure with creditor's consent as constituting escape see supra § 435.

33. N.Y.—Buttling v. Hatton, 45 N.Y.S. 720, 18 App.Div. 128.

23 C.J. p 937 note 93.

34. Mass.—Fuller v. Davis, 1 Gray 612.

35. Ky.—Jones v. Turner, 5 Litt. 147.

36. Vt.—Allen v. Ogden, 12 Vt. 9.

23 C.J. p 938 note 97.

upon liberated him;³⁷ or that at the time of the alleged escape the debtor had been discharged from imprisonment by virtue of a statute limiting the length of time that a debtor could be imprisoned.³⁸

Miscellaneous defenses held invalid. It has been held no defense to a proceeding on a prison-limits bond that the debtor's property has been sold under a fieri facias;³⁹ that the penalty of the bond is more or less than required by statute;⁴⁰ that there was a collateral promise not to arrest defendant on the particular execution;⁴¹ that subsequently to the escape, plaintiff assented thereto;⁴² that the sheriff promised that, if defendant escaped, he would not sue him until he had first sued the bail;⁴³ that the sheriff misinstructed the prisoner as to the limits;⁴⁴ that there was a discharge by a commissioner of special bail;⁴⁵ that there was a custom of the jailer to permit prisoners for debt who had the liberty of the yard to keep apartments not appropriated to their use by law;⁴⁶ or that action was not brought against the sheriff within a specified time;⁴⁷ and in addition to the foregoing, other particular facts have been held not to constitute a defense.⁴⁸

c. Parties

The party to whom the bond was made, or his assignee, may sue thereon; but some authorities do not permit the sheriff to sue unless he shows injury to himself.

A suit on a prison-limits bond may be maintained by the party to whom it was made⁴⁹ or by his assignee.⁵⁰ Plaintiff may sue the surety on a prison-bonds bond without joining the principal and before judgment against the latter.⁵¹ According to some decisions, a bond given to the sheriff for the prison liberties is for his indemnity only, and neither the sheriff nor his assignee can recover on such bond without showing that he has been injured;⁵² however, where the bond is held to be not merely for indemnity, the necessity for damage is obviated,⁵³ and plaintiff is required only to show an escape,⁵⁴ or at least is not required to prove any special damage.⁵⁵

A sheriff who has a right of action on the bond may maintain such action notwithstanding the recovery of a judgment by the creditor against his successor in office for the same escape;⁵⁶ but the former sheriff cannot maintain the action where the escape occurred after the prisoner had been assigned to the new sheriff.⁵⁷

d. Pleadings

In an action on a prison-limits bond, it is sufficient for the declaration to assign the breach according to the substance of the condition. Facts asserted by way of defense, such as performance of the condition or a discharge, must be properly pleaded.

In an action on a prison-limits bond, it will be sufficient for the declaration to assign the breach according to the sense and substance of the condition;⁵⁸ and it is not necessary to plead a statutory requirement which is merely for the protection of the sheriff and is not a part of the bond.⁵⁹ A declaration averring a breach of condition of the bond must also allege the existence of the judgment and execution under which the prisoner was committed and the bond was given.⁶⁰

37. N.Y.—Hayden v. Palmer, 2 Hill 205.

23 C.J. p 938 note 94.
Discharge of principal as releasing surety see supra § 436.

38. N.Y.—Sowma v. Roizen, 233 N.Y.S. 288, 133 Misc. 562.

39. S.C.—Miller v. Bagwell, 14 S.C.L. 429.

40. Ohio.—Hyatt v. Robinson, 15 Ohio 372.

41. U.S.—Hawes v. Marchant, C.C.R.L., 11 F.Cas.No.6,240, 1 Curt. 136.

42. U.S.—Slocum v. Hathaway, C.C.Vt., 22 F.Cas.No.12,952, 1 Paine 290.

23 C.J. p 937 note 71.

43. Vt.—Rice v. Pollard, 1 Tyler 230.

44. Mass.—Call v. Hagger, 8 Mass. 423.

45. S.C.—Williams v. Jones, 20 S.C.L. 431.

46. Mass.—Clap v. Cofran, 10 Mass. 373.

47. N.Y.—Hinds v. Doubleday, 21 Wend. 223.

48. Waiver on terms

An agreement to waive performance of the condition of the bond, on certain terms, is not a defense where the debtor has not complied with such terms.—Smith v. Burlingame, 4 R.I. 45.

Omission induced by debtor's deception

The failure of the creditor to advance money for the debtor's support, although ordinarily a ground for discharge, will be no defense in an action on a jail-limits bond, where such failure was induced by the debtor's deception which was known to the sureties.—Eldridge v. Bush, Smith, N.H., 288.

49. Vt.—Weeks v. Stevens, 7 Vt. 72.—Lowrey v. Hine, 2 D.Chipm. 59.

Sheriff

Mich.—Schwartz v. Golner, 224 N.W. 351, 246 Mich. 73.

50. Mich.—Schwartz v. Golner, supra.

23 C.J. p 938 note 5.

51. La.—Wood v. Fitz, 10 Mart. 196.

52. Conn.—Sedgwick v. Knibloe, 16 Conn. 219.

N.Y.—Barry v. Mandell, 10 Johns. 563.

53. N.J.—Camp v. Allen, 12 N.J.Law 1.

23 C.J. p 937 note 80.

54. Va.—Meredith v. Duval, 1 Munf. 76, 15 Va. 76.

55. Kv.—Hubbard v. Harrison, 1 Bibb 550.

56. N.Y.—Hinds v. Doubleday, 21 Wend. 223.

57. N.Y.—Hinds v. Doubleday, supra.

23 C.J. p 937 note 82.

58. N.J.—Camp v. Allen, 12 N.J.Law 1.

59. Ohio.—Lamborn v. Bowen, Tapp. 342.

23 C.J. p 938 note 13.

60. Vt.—Dyer v. Cleaveland, 18 Vt. 241.

23 C.J. p 938 note 14.

Where the declaration shows that the bond sets forth a judgment of a different date from that on which the execution issued, the variance is fatal;⁶¹ and, where it is pleaded that no such execution issued as was described in the bond, which plea is traversed, a misdescription as to the damages and costs mentioned in the execution is a variance, and, if the execution offered varies from the one described in the bond and judgment, it will not support the action.⁶²

Plea or answer. The facts asserted by way of defense must be properly pleaded.⁶³

In an action of debt on the bond, a plea of performance in the words of the condition will be sufficient,⁶⁴ except that it is not a sufficient answer to a specific breach of a condition to plead generally a performance of the condition, but it should be specifically stated how the condition was performed.⁶⁵ A plea in avoidance of a bond on the ground of a discharge under a statute should show a discharge as provided for by the statute.⁶⁶

An amendment should be allowed at the trial, to cover a point then brought for the first time to the attention of counsel.⁶⁷

A replication setting out the condition of the bond and other pertinent facts should aver the existence of a judgment on which the execution issued and should conclude with a verification.⁶⁸ Since the right of action on a jail bond is in the sheriff until assignment, a replication to a plea of a release from him that he had no equitable interest therein has been held to be insufficient.⁶⁹

A rejoinder in an action on a prison-limits bond is bad if it departs from the plea.⁷⁰

e. Evidence and Trial

General rules pertaining to the trial of civil cases and the evidence adduced therein have been applied in actions on prison-limits bonds.

In an action on a jail bond, where the execution issued in pursuance of a rule of court, an inquiry cannot be made as to whether the execution issued regularly, or whether the rule was complied with.⁷¹ Proof of actual damages is ordinarily not necessary.⁷²

The burden of proving a breach of the bond is on plaintiff,⁷³ while the burden of showing a discharge by due course of law is on defendant.⁷⁴

Evidence of reputed jail limits is the best evidence of the actual limits, where the limits as described in a map or survey on record are uncertain and contradictory;⁷⁵ but evidence of the habit of prisoners of going to certain places as within the bounds is not admissible to control the construction of a recent statute and return of officers.⁷⁶ Proof of the liability of an officer for neglect to levy an execution is not admissible to show that the officer was interested in the demand;⁷⁷ and evidence that the debtor, a short time before his discharge, had made a fraudulent disposition of his property is not admissible to invalidate his discharge from imprisonment as an insolvent.⁷⁸

Questions of law and fact. Questions of fact, such as the debtor's intention in surrendering to the sheriff, are ordinarily to be determined by the jury.⁷⁹

f. Damages

The measure of damages depends on the applicable statutory provisions; assessment by a jury has been required. Plaintiff cannot recover of the surety more than the penalty of the bond.

In some jurisdictions the measure of damages in an action on a forfeited bond for the prison limits is the amount of the debt on which defendant was confined,⁸⁰ together with interest and costs;⁸¹ but it has been held that the debtor is not liable for the interest accruing on the debt, if he pays the amount due on the execution at the time of the commit-

61. Vt.—Sherwin v. Bliss, 4 Vt. 96.

62. Vt.—Avery v. Lewis, 10 Vt. 332, 33 Am.D. 203.

63. Creditor's failure to pay for debtor's support
La.—Wood v. Fitz, 10 Mart. 196.

64. Me.—Fisher v. Ellis, 6 Me. 455. 23 C.J. p 938 note 17.

65. Ala.—Morrow v. Parkman, 14 Ala. 769.

23 C.J. p 939 note 18.

66. N.C.—Langley v. Lane, 10 N.C. 313.

23 C.J. p 939 note 19.

67. Mich.—Smith v. Grosslight, 81 N.W. 975, 123 Mich. 87.

23 C.J. p 939 note 20.

68. Ind.—Spader v. Frost, 4 Blackf. 190.

69. Vt.—Weeks v. Stevens, 7 Vt. 72.

70. S.C.—Walker v. Riley, 44 S.C.L. 87.

71. Vt.—Gibson v. Scott, 7 Vt. 147.

72. N.J.—Smith v. Allen, 1 N.J.Eq. 43, 21 Am.D. 33.

73. Mass.—Thornton v. Adams, 11 Gray 391.

74. Va.—Meredith v. Duval, 1 Munf. 76, 15 Va. 76.

75. N.Y.—Ballou v. Kip, 7 Johns. 175.

76. Mass.—Trull v. Wheeler, 19 Pick. 240.

77. Vt.—Fletcher v. Crooker, 8 Vt. 314.

78. Ala.—Morrow v. Parkman, 14 Ala. 769.

79. Ala.—Morrow v. Weaver, 8 Ala. 288.

80. N.Y.—Flynn v. Union Surety & Guaranty Co., 70 N.Y.S. 403, 61 App.Div. 170, affirmed 63 N.E. 61, 170 N.Y. 145.

23 C.J. p 939 note 37.

81. Va.—McGuire v. Pierce, 9 Gratt. 167, 50 Va. 167.

Wis.—Muirhead v. Bruns, 228 N.W.

565, 198 Wis. 104.

23 C.J. p 939 note 38.

ment before departing the liberties.⁸² In Massachusetts, the measure of damages has been declared to be the whole penalty of the bond,⁸³ except that, where the bond is not conformable to the statute, the debtor and sureties may be relieved against the whole penalty of the bond, by a judgment for the amount due on execution, with interest from the time of escape.⁸⁴

Plaintiff cannot recover of the surety therein more than the penalty of the bond.⁸⁵ The measure of recovery cannot be reduced below what the statute prescribes by proof of the inability of the principal to have discharged the judgment on which the execution issued, either in whole or in part.⁸⁶

A sheriff may recover the expenses of retaking an escaped prisoner on a bond giving the prisoner the liberties of the prison;⁸⁷ but, where the creditor fraudulently induced the escape, the sheriff can recover only nominal damages and costs.⁸⁸

Assessment by jury. Where default has been made, the damages have been required to be assessed by a jury.⁸⁹

g. Judgment, Enforcement, and Review

A judgment in an action of debt on a bond is not erroneous merely because it designates as damages the sum due. On a judgment for the whole penalty, plaintiff cannot have execution for more than the original debt with interest and costs. A judgment against a surety is reversible unless the record shows that the debtor passed beyond the prison bounds.

In an action of debt on a jail-limits bond, a judgment for the whole sum due in equity to the creditor is not erroneous merely because it designates the sum as damages, instead of debt.⁹⁰ Although judgment for plaintiff is for the whole penalty, he cannot have execution for more than the original debt with interest and costs.⁹¹

An appeal may be prosecuted by the surety in the name of a sheriff on a judgment against him for an escape.⁹² A judgment against a surety on a jail-limits bond will be reversed unless the record affirmatively shows that the debtor has been guilty of an escape by passing beyond the prison bounds.⁹³

§ 438. On Bond to Proceed under Insolvent or Poor Debtor Acts

- a. In general
- b. Designation of amount
- c. Computation of time

a. In General

Persons arrested on execution against the person may, under some statutes, be released on giving proper and sufficient bond that they will take the benefit of the insolvent or poor debtor law, or surrender to the officer if not discharged within a specified time; and courts will construe such statutes liberally to avoid forfeiture of such bonds, a substantial compliance with such statute being sufficient. Where the arrest is unauthorized, such a bond may be regarded as void or voidable.

Under some statutes persons arrested on execution against the person may be released on their giving bond that they will take the benefit of the insolvent or poor debtor law of the state, or surrender to the officer if not discharged within a specified time.⁹⁴ Such a bond is not an engagement to the court, but is an obligation prescribed by statute as a security for creditors.⁹⁵ If one illegally arrested gives bond, with surety, conditioned for his appearance to take the benefit of the insolvent law, instead of suing out a habeas corpus, the surety will be bound by his obligation.⁹⁶ The question as to who may take the recognizance is governed by the local practice or statute.⁹⁷

Except to the extent that the statutory requirements may be and are waived by the party for whose benefit they were intended,⁹⁸ the bond or recognizance must be made in conformity with the statutory provisions in force at the time, in all its material parts, or it will not be a good statutory bond,⁹⁹ although it may be good as a common-law obligation.¹ The bond is sufficient if it substan-

82. Vt.—Allen v. Adams, 15 Vt. 16.

83. Mass.—Smith v. Stockbridge, 9 Mass. 221.

No interest

Mass.—Bartlett v. Willis, 3 Mass. 86.

84. Mass.—Clap v. Cofran, 7 Mass. 98.

23 C.J. p 939 note 41.

85. N.J.—Tunison v. Cramer, 5 N.J. Law 498.

86. Ala.—Croom v. Travis, 10 Ala. 237.

87. Conn.—Lord v. Benton, 2 Root 335.

88. Conn.—Lord v. Atwood, 2 Root 336.

89. N.J.—Beatty v. Ivens, 3 N.J. Law 628.

90. Vt.—Sinclair v. Gadcomb, 1 Vt. 32.

91. N.Y.—Sprague v. Seymour, 15 Johns. 474.

92. N.Y.—People v. Judges Monroe C. Pl., 1 Wend. 19.

93. Ala.—Stewart v. Warfield, 37 Ala. 446.

94. N.J.—Carboy v. Smolensky, 165 A. 97, 11 N.J. Misc. 110. 23 C.J. p 940 note 51.

95. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Grimes, 9 A. 665, 116 Pa. 450.

96. Pa.—Johnston v. Coleman, 3 Watts & S. 69.

97. Special justice
Mass.—Gibbs v. Taylor, 9 N.E. 976, 143 Mass. 187.

Magistrate
Mass.—Cook v. Harrington, 29 N.E. 218, 139 Mass. 38.

98. N.C.—Hardison v. Benjamin, 31 N.C. 331. 23 C.J. p 940 note 55.

99. Ga.—Roberts v. Green, 31 Ga. 421. 23 C.J. p 940 note 56.

1. S.C.—General Motors Acceptance

tially follows the statute,² and it will not be invalidated by a mere verbal departure from the statute, imposing no additional specific obligation,³ or by the fact that it does not recite matters which are not required to be recited.⁴ The bond is void and unenforceable, however, if it materially differs from that prescribed by the statute,⁵ as where it exacts more than the statute requires.⁶ Any objection to the bond must be made at the court to which the bond is returnable and before judgment is rendered on it.⁷

Execution. In order to constitute a statutory bond, a bond must ordinarily be executed by the debtor as well as by the sureties,⁸ although it may be good as a common-law bond if signed only by the sureties.⁹ The bond is usually required to be made payable to the party at whose instance the arrest is made,¹⁰ but, if the statute does not provide to whom the bond is to run, it may be given either to the creditor or to the officer.¹¹

Conditions. The bond may provide that within a certain time after its date the debtor will cite the creditor before a designated tribunal, submit himself to examination, and take the poor debtor's oath, or pay the debt, interest, costs, and fees arising in the execution, or deliver himself into the custody of the keeper of the jail to which he is liable to be committed under such execution.¹² Such a bond or recognizance may be further conditioned that the debtor will abide by the order of the examining magistrate.¹³ If the bond is conditioned to be performed in a shorter time than is required by statute, it is invalid as a statutory bond, but may be good at common law.¹⁴

Approval. In some jurisdictions it is an essential of a valid statutory bond for the release of a poor debtor that such bond be approved in the manner provided by statute,¹⁵ and such bond must show that it was approved in the manner provided by law, or it can be held good, if at all, only as a common-law bond.¹⁶ In some jurisdictions the provision in relation to the approval of bonds given by poor debtors is not imperative and may be waived by the creditor,¹⁷ as where he voluntarily and without objection takes the bond without an approval.¹⁸

Return and recording. In the absence of a statute so requiring, it is not necessary that a poor debtor's recognizance should be returned or recorded in any court of record.¹⁹

Validity as dependent on authority to arrest. Where the arrest is unauthorized, a bond given under a statute to obtain release from such arrest is one which the obligor may avoid whenever it is attempted to be enforced,²⁰ and in some jurisdictions, if the arrest is made without authority of law, a recognizance entered into in consequence of it is absolutely void.²¹ Where, however, a debtor who is privileged from arrest, but, having the right to waive that privilege, does so, and is taken on execution, the poor debtor's bond given to obtain his release is not void for duress.²²

Construction. Courts will adopt liberal constructions to avoid forfeiture of such bonds.²³ A bond given by several joint debtors, as principals, is not a joint bond, but is a separate bond given by each; as between themselves, each is principal for the performance of the condition, so far as relates to himself and surety for his coobligor, that he will duly perform the conditions to be performed by him.²⁴

b. Designation of Amount

The bond should be for the sum designated by statute,

Corporation v. Hutto, 134 S.E. 232, 136 S.C. 207.
23 C.J. p 940 note 57.
2. Pa.—Lease v. Asper, 2 Rawle 182.
23 C.J. p 940 note 58.
3. Ala.—Thompson v. Pierce, 3 Stew. 427.
4. Mass.—Bent v. Stone, 68 N.E. 46, 184 Mass. 92.
23 C.J. p 940 note 60.
5. Pa.—Reuter v. Moskovitz, 65 Pa. Super. 229.
23 C.J. p 941 note 61.
6. Pa.—Power v. Graydon, 53 Pa. 198.
7. N.C.—Watts v. Boyle, 26 N.C. 331.
8. Me.—Howard v. Brown, 21 Me. 385.
23 C.J. p 941 note 64.

9. Me.—Howard v. Brown, supra.
10. N.C.—Wall v. Jarrott, 25 N.C. 42.
23 C.J. p 941 note 66.
11. Me.—Pease v. Norton, 6 Me. 229.
12. Mass.—Bliss v. Kershaw, 61 N. E. 823, 180 Mass. 99.
23 C.J. p 941 note 68.
13. Mass.—Adams v. Brown, 14 Gray 579.
Pa.—Crissy v. Vogt, 9 Pa. Super. 418, 43 Wkly. N.C. 527.
14. Me.—Hathaway v. Crosby, 17 Me. 448.
15. N.H.—Battle v. Knapp, 60 N.H. 361.
23 C.J. p 942 note 79.
16. Me.—Gould v. Ford, 39 A. 480, 91 Me. 146.
23 C.J. p 942 note 80.

17. Me.—Pease v. Norton, 6 Me. 229.
23 C.J. p 942 note 81.
18. N.H.—Battle v. Knapp, 60 N.H. 361.
19. Mass.—Thacher v. Williams, 14 Gray 324.
20. N.H.—Stearns v. Veasey, 33 N.H. 61.
21. Me.—Gibson v. Ethridge, 72 Me. 261.
23 C.J. p 942 note 85.
22. Me.—Chase v. Fish, 16 Me. 132.
23. U.S.—Simms v. Slacum, D.C., 3 Cranch 300, 2 L.Ed. 446.
23 C.J. p 942 note 92, p 953 note 87 [a].
24. Me.—Hatch v. Norris, 36 Me. 419.

usually in double the sum for which the debtor was arrested or imprisoned, with the legal cost of the execution.

In order to be a good statutory bond, the bond should be for the sum designated by statute,²⁵ usually in double the sum for which the debtor was arrested or imprisoned, with the legal cost of the execution;²⁶ but, where a statute so provides, a slight variance from the amount designated will not invalidate the bond,²⁷ as where the recognizance is taken in a sum less than double the amount of the ad damnum in the writ;²⁸ and it has been held that such a bond, although less than twice the amount of the arresting creditor's debt, is a valid bond, and binding on the parties,²⁹ and that it is no defense to a suit on the recognizance that it does not include the cost of the writ of execution.³⁰ In the absence of express authorization, the interest accruing on the judgment should make no part of the penal sum;³¹ but, where a statute requires the officer levying an execution to collect lawful interest on the debt from the rendition of judgment, a relief bond in which interest is omitted is not a statutory, but a common-law, bond.³²

c. Computation of Time

The time of performance of the conditions of a poor debtor's bond is computed from the date of the bond and its recital as to the day of arrest.

The time of performance of the conditions of a poor debtor's bond is computed from the date of the bond and its recital as to the day of arrest, although not in fact executed until a subsequent day.³³ In computing the number of days in which the debtor is to surrender himself according to the terms of his bond, fractions of a day are not to be included,³⁴ and, where the bond is conditioned that the prisoner shall surrender himself if he is not discharged in a certain number of days from the day of his commitment, such day of commitment is excluded.³⁵ So it has been held that, where a designated period was allowed the debtor from the date of the bond in which to take the oath or in default thereof surrender himself, the day of the date of the bond should be excluded.³⁶

Where the condition of the bond is that the debtor, if not allowed to take the poor debtor's oath, shall surrender himself into custody within a certain number of days, the time does not commence to run until the justices to whom the debtor has applied have disallowed the oath, provided the debtor has done all in his power to take it and in the computation of days the day appointed for taking the oath is excluded.³⁷

§ 439. — Performance or Breach

- a. In general
- b. Appearance and petition
- c. Departure of debtor
- d. Failure to give notice or procure judge
- e. Disclosure
- f. Oath
- g. Surrender
- h. Discharge

a. In General

To avoid forfeiture of a bond given to proceed under insolvent or poor debtor acts, the debtor must comply with its conditions within the time fixed by law, unless performance is legally excused or waived.

In order to avoid the forfeiture of a statutory bond given by a debtor to obtain his release from arrest on execution, he must comply with the conditions of such bond, within the time fixed by law,³⁸ unless such performance is prevented or excused by an act of the obligee,³⁹ by the law,⁴⁰ or by an act of God,⁴¹ or unless a strict performance is waived by the creditor.⁴² In fulfilling the condi-

25. Me.—Flowers v. Flowers, 45 Me. 459.

23 C.J. p 941 note 71.

26. Me.—Bradley v. Pinkham, 63 Me. 164.

23 C.J. p 941 note 72.

27. Me.—Keith v. Bolier, 43 A. 499, 92 Me. 550.

23 C.J. p 941 note 73.

28. Mass.—Gilmore v. Edmunds, 7 Allen 360—Thacher v. Williams, 14 Gray 324.

29. Ga.—Colley v. Morgan, 5 Ga. 178. Mass.—Thacher v. Williams, 14 Gray 324.

30. Mass.—Thacher v. Williams, supra.

N.C.—Williams v. Yarborough, 13 N. C. 12.

31. Mass.—Adams v. Brown, 14 Gray 579.

N.C.—Williams v. Yarborough, 13 N. C. 12.

32. Me.—Clark v. Metcalf, 38 Me. 122.

33. Me.—Scribner v. Mansfield, 68 Me. 74.

23 C.J. p 942 note 87.

34. Mass.—Clark v. Flagg, 11 Cush. 539.

35. Mass.—Wiggin v. Peters, 1 Metc. 127.

36. Me.—Moon v. Bond, 18 Me. 142. 23 C.J. p 942 note 90.

37. Me.—Pease v. Norton, 6 Me. 229.

38. Mass.—National Surety Co. v.

Reed, 160 N.E. 281, 262 Mass. 372. certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S.Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531—Adams v. Pierce, 58 N.E. 591, 177 Mass. 206.

N.J.—Carboy v. Smolensky, 165 A. 97, 11 N.J.Misc. 110. 23 C.J. p 942 note 94.

39. Me.—Fales v. Goodhue, 25 Me. 423—Moore v. Bond, 18 Me. 142.

40. Me.—Newton v. Newbegin, 43 Me. 293.

23 C.J. p 942 note 96.

41. Me.—Newton v. Newbegin, supra—Fales v. Goodhue, 25 Me. 423.

42. Mass.—Jordan Marsh Co. v. Collins, 150 N.E. 202, 254 Mass. 856—Vinal v. Tuttle, 10 N.E. 489, 144 Mass. 14.

tions of a bond which is good only at common law, the debtor is not required to perform any of the statutory provisions other than those named in the bond.⁴³

b. Appearance and Petition

A bond conditioned on the debtor's proceeding under the insolvent or poor debtor acts is forfeited by his failure to institute such proceedings in the time and manner fixed by the bond or prescribed by statute.

Where the condition of the bond is to petition for a discharge as an insolvent, the bond is forfeited unless the debtor applies for the benefit of the insolvent laws within the time fixed by the bond or prescribed by statute,⁴⁴ or in the alternative to procure a continuance to another term,⁴⁵ and takes and keeps in motion active steps to procure a discharge thereunder.⁴⁶

Where the condition of the bond is to apply for discharge as a poor debtor, the condition ordinarily is broken if the debtor fails to appear at the time fixed for his examination or at an adjourned day,⁴⁷ in the county where arrested,⁴⁸ or if he appears but objects to the commencement of the examination before the execution is produced,⁴⁹ or if there is a continuance but for no fixed time;⁵⁰ but the creditor may waive the condition as to appearance for examination so as to preclude his reliance thereon as a breach.⁵¹ Where the magistrate has no authority to adjourn the case after he decides to refuse the oath to the debtor, a bond conditioned that the debtor will deliver himself up for examination and abide the final order of the magistrate thereon does not cover such an adjournment.⁵²

Where the day to which an examination was adjourned falls on Sunday, or a day which is dies non juridicus, it has been held to be the duty of the debtor to procure a further adjournment,⁵³ and, although the magistrate is absent at the time to which the first adjournment is made, the debtor, if he takes no further steps, is guilty of a breach of his recognizance.⁵⁴ A further adjournment ordered before the day to which an original adjournment was made is improper.⁵⁵

The debtor is not excused from appearing for examination as a poor debtor by the fact that insolvency proceedings have been commenced,⁵⁶ or by an agreement for a continuance on terms not complied with by him.⁵⁷ It has been held sufficient, however, if the debtor appears and submits himself to examination at the time and place fixed for that purpose, and is discharged and allowed to go at large without taking the oath, although the magistrate may have erred in the performance of his duty;⁵⁸ and the fact that the record shows that the debtor first called the court's attention to his presence in court a few minutes after the hour set had elapsed does not show that he then appeared for the first time so as to constitute a breach of the recognizance.⁵⁹

A failure to appear at the appointed time to take

43. Me.—Ross v. Berry, 49 Me. 434. 23 C.J. p 942 note 99.

44. N.J.—General Contract Purchase Corporation v. Weltchek, 168 A. 624, 111 N.J.Law 402—General Contract Purchase Corporation v. Bronstein, 167 A. 762, 11 N.J.Misc. 290—Jaskiewicz v. Salamander, 131 A. 387, 3 N.J.Misc. 1247. 23 C.J. p 943 note 1.

45. Pa.—Stanko v. Bianucci, 74 Pa. Super. 508. 23 C.J. p 943 note 2.

46. N.J.—Koch v. Costello, 108 A. 225, 93 N.J.Law 367. 23 C.J. p 943 note 3.

47. Mass.—Di Ruscio v. Popoli, 169 N.E. 548, 269 Mass. 482—Di Ruscio v. Popoli, 165 N.E. 403, 266 Mass. 434—H. B. Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 N.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190. 23 C.J. p 943 note 5—5 C.J. p 530 note 42.

23 C.J. p 943 note 5—5 C.J. p 530 note 42.

The debtor's freedom from arrest because of impending bankruptcy proceedings did not deprive the court of the power to declare him in default on his recognizance, when he failed to appear at appointed time.—National Surety Co. v. Reed, 160 N. E. 281, 262 Mass. 372, certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S.Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531.

Clerk's refusal to file application of debtor arrested on mesne process to begin statutory supplementary proceedings to secure discharge and to issue notice because another supplementary proceeding was pending was improper.—Giantsi v. Christopher, 177 N.E. 807, 277 Mass. 47. 23 C.J. p 943 note 6.

48. Mass.—Dalton-Ingersoll Co. v. Hubbard, 54 N.E. 862, 174 Mass. 307.

49. Mass.—Simpson v. Trivett, 120 Mass. 147.

50. Mass.—Adams v. Pierce, 58 N.E. 591, 177 Mass. 206.

Court has no power to adjourn the examination of a debtor to a place and time when there is to be no session of the court, and to leave the case open under a general continuance.—Bliss v. Kershaw, 61 N.E. 823, 180 Mass. 99.

51. Mass.—Sturman v. McCarthy, 121 N.E. 522, 232 Mass. 42. 23 C.J. p 943 note 4.

Failure to take default Judgment creditor, not taking defaults until debtor's third failure to attend for examination, waived no right of which surety on debtor's recognizance could complain.—National Surety Co. v. Reed, 160 N.E. 281, 262 Mass. 372, certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S.Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531.

52. Mass.—Russell v. Goodrich, 8 Allen 150.

53. Mass.—Hooper v. Cox, 117 Mass. 1—Morrill v. Norton, 116 Mass. 487.

54. Mass.—Sanford v. Quinn, 16 N. E. 570, 147 Mass. 69—Morrill v. Norton, 116 Mass. 487.

55. Mass.—Sanford v. Quinn, 16 N.E. 570, 147 Mass. 69. 23 C.J. p 963 note 89.

56. Mass.—Demelman v. Hunt, 46 N.E. 436, 168 Mass. 102.

57. Mass.—Driscoll v. Hurlburt, 45 N.E. 754, 167 Mass. 327.

58. Mass.—Haskell v. Cunningham, 108 N.E. 915, 221 Mass. 49—Willis v. Howard, 7 Allen 266.

59. Mass.—Warburton v. Gourse, 79 N.E. 270, 193 Mass. 203.

the poor debtor's oath is not a breach, where there remains sufficient time before the expiration of the statutory period to give a new notice;⁶⁰ and, hence, if the debtor fails to appear at an adjourned day, the judge cannot refuse the discharge because thereof, and if thereafter a new notice is served by the debtor as provided for by statute and the debtor discharged thereon, there is no breach of the recognizance.⁶¹

A petitioner who has given a bond cannot, instead of appearing before the court to exhibit an inventory and account, surrender himself to the sheriff and give a new bond to apply again for his discharge.⁶²

c. Departure of Debtor

It is a breach of the bond for the debtor, after appearing, to depart from the court, with the intent to absent himself permanently, before the final order is made in some form.

If, having appeared, the debtor departs from the presence of the magistrate with the intent permanently to absent himself, before the final order is in some form made, declared, or announced, it constitutes a breach of his recognizance or bond,⁶³ and, where a debtor appears for examination and his counsel enters a general appearance, the fact that the citation is not in court does not justify the debtor in departing without leave.⁶⁴ It is competent for the magistrate to suspend the proceedings for a brief period and to resume them again, and, where he does so on the return of the debtor, he by implication sanctions his absence as being for a legitimate purpose.⁶⁵ A creditor who is present, ready to proceed with the debtor's examination, cannot be held to have waived his rights if he sees the debtor leave and makes no objection to his doing so.⁶⁶

d. Failure to Give Notice or Procure Judge

In order to avoid forfeiture of the bond, notice must be given to the creditor, in the time and manner prescribed by statute, of the debtor's intention to appear for examination and take the poor debtor's oath; and he may be required to provide for the attendance of a judge.

Liability on a bond to proceed under the insolvent or poor debtor acts depends on compliance with statutes governing the notice to be given the creditor of the intention of the debtor to appear for examination and take the poor debtor's oath.⁶⁷ Thus a failure to give such notice is a breach of the recognizance,⁶⁸ and it is no excuse that the court refused to issue the notice.⁶⁹ The debtor must furnish proper proof of service of the notice;⁷⁰ but the condition of a recognizance by a poor debtor that within thirty days from the day of the arrest he will deliver himself up for examination, giving notice of the time and place thereof, does not require him to have the notice served on the creditor within the thirty days.⁷¹

The failure to give notice of the time and place at which the debtor would present his application cannot be collaterally questioned.⁷²

It may be held a breach of the bond if the debtor does not make provision for a competent judge to attend at the time and place fixed for examination, and have him there at such time.⁷³

e. Disclosure

A poor debtor bond is forfeited where the debtor refuses to disclose his affairs, or where his disclosures show that he has property which he does not cause to be appraised and set off for his creditor.

In the case of poor debtor bonds, a refusal by a debtor to submit to examination or to make disclosures before a tribunal having authority to act is a breach of his bond;⁷⁴ and the disclosure by the debtor, if undertaken, must be concluded and the oath taken within the time fixed by the bond, and it will not relieve from forfeiture that the disclosure was seasonably commenced,⁷⁵ unless the delay was at the request of the creditor or the objection is waived by him.⁷⁶ A breach of his bond

60. Mass.—Millet v. Lemon, 113 Mass. 355.

61. Mass.—Radovsky v. Sperling, 75 N.E. 949, 189 Mass. 507. 23 C.J. p 943 note 14.

62. N.J.—Ohlmeyer v. Kent, 2 N.J.L. J. 52.

63. Mass.—Knight v. Sampson, 99 Mass. 36. 23 C.J. p 943 note 15.

64. Mass.—Manning v. Reynolds, 41 N.E. 62, 164 Mass. 150.

65. Mass.—Toll v. Merriam, 11 Allen 395.

66. Mass.—Spiers Fish Co. v. Robina, 65 N.E. 25, 182 Mass. 128.

67. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

Attempt to make legal service
If debtor relies on not being able to make service of proper notice in poor debtor proceedings, it must appear that service was attempted at time when legal service was possible.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, supra.

68. Mass.—H. B. Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 N.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190. 23 C.J. p 944 note 19.

69. Mass.—Ryder v. Ouellett, 79 N. E. 820, 194 Mass. 24.

70. Mass.—Buckley v. Mitchell, 42 N.E. 557, 165 Mass. 106.

71. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494—H. B.

Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 N.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190.

23 C.J. p 958 note 86.

72. N.J.—Louis v. Kaskel, 17 A. 120, 51 N.J.Law 236.

73. Mass.—Bliss v. Kershaw, 61 N. E. 823, 180 Mass. 99. 23 C.J. p 944 note 23.

74. Me.—Blake v. Peck, 1 A. 828, 77 Me. 588. 23 C.J. p 944 note 24.

75. Me.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243—Morrison v. Corliss, 44 Me. 97.

76. Me.—Guilford v. Delaney, 57 Me. 589.

by the debtor in refusing to make disclosure is not waived by the creditor's subsequent participation in a disclosure by such debtor.⁷⁷

A poor debtor's bond will be forfeited where the debtor when disclosing his affairs shows that he has money on hand or debts due him which he does not cause to be appraised and set off for his creditor;⁷⁸ but it has been held that, where a poor debtor, after he had given a relief bond, disclosed that he had a certain sum of money which he afterward paid to the creditor, and it was indorsed on the execution, the creditor could not sustain an action on the bond.⁷⁹

f. Oath

In order to prevent a breach of the conditions of a poor debtor's bond, the debtor must take the poor debtor's oath, in the county in which he was arrested, unless legally excused.

Unless the creditor has done some act excusing or waiving the performance within the prescribed time,⁸⁰ or unless such performance has been rendered impossible by the act of the law or the act of God,⁸¹ the debtor, in order to prevent a breach of the conditions of a poor debtor's bond, must show to the satisfaction of the justices that he is entitled to take, and must take, the oath, in accordance with the provisions of the statute.⁸² The taking of the poor debtor's oath before a magistrate having no jurisdiction,⁸³ or in a county other than the one in which the debtor was arrested,⁸⁴ is not a performance of the condition.

It has been held, however, that the condition of the bond is not broken where the debtor is prevented from complying with the condition by a failure of one of the justices to attend,⁸⁵ or where the justice refused to permit the debtor to take the oath;⁸⁶ or where the debtor is in court at the appointed time and at the opening of the court, the proceeding is called to the attention of the judge but is not taken up within the statutory hour.⁸⁷ The certificate of justices of the administration of the poor debtor's oath will not support a plea of performance of the condition of the bond in a suit thereon, if it incorrectly states the amount of the judgment and the date of its rendition.⁸⁸

g. Surrender

On failure to procure his discharge the debtor, in order to avoid a forfeiture on the bond, must surrender to the jailer in the time and manner prescribed by statute or fixed by the bond.

There is no breach of the bond where the debtor surrenders himself into custody on failure to procure his discharge, as provided for in the bond.⁸⁹ So, by surrendering himself into the custody of the jailer before his disclosure is completed, the debtor terminates the disclosure proceedings and discharges his bond for his appearance for examination.⁹⁰ He must "deliver himself into the custody of the jailer" and be received into jail, or deliver himself to the jailer at the jail in such a manner as will make it the duty of the jailer to receive him into custody in the jail,⁹¹ but there is no breach if the jailer refuses to receive him.⁹² The commitment of the debtor against his will, by the surety, is not a performance of the condition.⁹³

The surrender must be within the time fixed by statute or the local practice or the bond;⁹⁴ and generally the surrender, after the refusal of a discharge, must be immediate;⁹⁵ but, if the sheriff is not at the jail to receive the debtor, the latter is entitled to a reasonable time to look for him.⁹⁶

77. Me.—Blake v. Peck, 1 A. 828, 77 Me. 588.

78. Me.—Bray v. Kelley, 38 Me. 595.
23 C.J. p 944 note 28.

79. Me.—Bailey v. McIntire, 35 Me. 106.

80. N.H.—Scovell v. Holbrook, 22 N.H. 269.
23 C.J. p 944 note 30.

81. Me.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243.
23 C.J. p 944 note 31.

82. Me.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243.
N.H.—Head v. Clarke, 45 N.H. 287.

83. N.H.—Manning v. Cogan, 49 N. H. 331.

84. N.H.—Manning v. Cogan, 49 N. H. 331.
23 C.J. p 944 note 34.

85. Ala.—Rust v. Paine, 16 Ala. 352.
86. Ala.—Briggs v. Hobson, 3 Ala. 404.

23 C.J. p 945 note 36.

87. Mass.—Niles v. Silverman, 103 N.E. 476, 216 Mass. 242.
23 C.J. p 945 note 37.

88. Me.—Perry v. Plunkett, 74 Me. 328.

89. Pa.—Greenwaldt v. Kraus, 24 A. 67, 148 Pa. 517.
23 C.J. p 945 note 39.

90. U.S.—Burnham v. Adams, C.C. Me., 13 F.Cas.No.2,173, 2 CHM. 569.
23 C.J. p 945 note 40.

91. Pa.—Wolfe v. McDevitt, 65 Pa. Super. 543.
23 C.J. p 945 note 41—5 C.J. p 529 note 34 [a].

Delivery held sufficient

Debtor who, while in jail awaiting removal to prison for serving sentence for criminal offense, told sheriff he surrendered himself under execution bond relieved bondsmen from liability.—Noyes v. Perkins, 152 A. 405, 129 Me. 385.

92. Pa.—Marks v. Drovers' Nat. Bank, 6 A. 774, 114 Pa. 490—Saunders v. Quigg, 3 A. 814, 112 Pa. 546.

93. Me.—Woodman v. Valentine, 24 Me. 551.

94. N.H.—Wojciechowski v. Wiltowski, 173 A. 380, 87 N.H. 41.
23 C.J. p 945 note 44—5 C.J. p 529 note 34 [b].

95. N.J.—Whitehead v. Moch, 89 A. 981, 85 N.J.Law 574.
23 C.J. p 945 note 45.

96. N.J.—Whitehead v. Moch, supra.

Where the statute requires a debtor surrendering himself to remain a designated time at the jail, his failure to remain for such time is a breach of the bond.⁹⁷ When the debtor has once seasonably surrendered himself into the custody of the jailer, the penalty of the bond is saved and he cannot be made liable thereon by reason of any misconduct or negligence of the jailer;⁹⁸ and, if the debtor is improperly discharged by the jailer, the forfeiture of the bond is nevertheless saved.⁹⁹ Where the debtor surrenders himself to the jailer within the time specified in the bond, it is satisfied, even though he does not furnish the jailer with a copy of the bond or execution or any other precept;¹ but in such case the jailer is not obliged to receive the debtor.²

Where surrender is made impossible by act of the law, the debtor's bail are entitled to relief.³

h. Discharge

A debtor who has been given a certificate of discharge by the magistrate must deliver it to the jailer, at least where the bond expressly so requires.

The debtor is not entitled to a discharge unless he complies with the conditions of the bond.⁴ There is authority that, when the debtor has been given a certificate of discharge by the magistrate, the certificate must be delivered to the jailer,⁵ or the going at large of the debtor will be a breach of his jail bond;⁶ but it has been held that where the condition of the bond does not expressly require that the certificate shall be filed with the keeper of the prison, the bond will not be forfeited by the omission to file it,⁷ and that it is not essential to the defense of a suit on a poor debtor's bond that the certificate should be filed with the prison keeper prior to the commencement of the suit.⁸

§ 440. — Liability and Discharge of Sureties

The sureties on the bond are not liable beyond the precise terms of their undertaking. In addition to other circumstances having the effect of discharging them, they are ordinarily discharged by the discharge or surrender of the principal debtor in the time and manner prescribed by statute or fixed by the bond; but other facts or circumstances, such as obvious clerical errors, have been held not to relieve them.

The sureties cannot be released, and the bond canceled, unless the principal acts in compliance with statute.⁹ On the other hand a surety is not liable beyond the precise terms of his undertaking, and his liability should not be extended by implication or intendment;¹⁰ and he is discharged by any contract between the creditor and the debtor which changes the nature of the surety's liability.¹¹ The sureties are released from liability on the bond by the death of the principal debtor within the time named in the bond to perform,¹² by a valid contract giving time to the principal,¹³ by the debtor's appearing or surrendering himself in accordance with the conditions of the bond,¹⁴ by a discharge of the debtor,¹⁵ although obtained by fraud, to which the surety was not a party,¹⁶ by the debtor's recommitment to jail,¹⁷ by a declaration of the invalidity of the bond by competent judicial authority,¹⁸ or by the passage of a statute abolishing imprisonment for debt pending appeal from a judgment involving fraud against a poor debtor arrested on execution.¹⁹ In some jurisdictions the appearance of the principal is all for which his sureties on the bond are liable, and if he fails to appear his sureties are liable.²⁰

97. N.H.—Woodham v. Chase, 47 N. H. 58—Scovell v. Holbrook, 22 N. H. 269.

98. Me.—Rollins v. Dow, 24 Me. 123. 23 C.J. p 945 note 48.

99. Me.—Blanchard v. Blood, 32 A. 891, 87 Me. 255—White v. Estes, 44 Me. 21.

1. Me.—March v. Barnfield, 76 A. 958, 107 Me. 40.

2. Me.—Putnam v. Fulton, 160 A. 775, 181 Me. 232. 23 C.J. p 945 note 50.

3. N.J.—Steelman v. Mattix, 38 N. J. Law 247, 20 Am.R. 389. 23 C.J. p 945 note 51.

4. N.J.—Carboy v. Smolensky, 165 A. 97, 11 N.J.Misc. 110.

5. Vt.—Holbrook v. Pearce, 15 Vt. 616—Stanford v. Barry, Brayt. 200.

6. Vt.—Haight v. Richards, 3 Vt. 77.

7. Me.—Granite Bank v. Treat, 18 Me. 340.

23 C.J. p 968 note 35.

8. Me.—Brown v. Watson, 19 Me. 452.

9. N.J.—Carboy v. Smolensky, 165 A. 97, 11 N.J.Misc. 110.

10. Pa.—Reuter v. Moskovitz, 65 Pa. Super. 229.

11. Mass.—Jordan Marsh Co. v. Collins, 150 N.E. 202, 254 Mass. 356.

12. Me.—Lowell v. Haskell, 45 Me. 112.

Pa.—Johnson v. Turner, 2 Ashm. 433.

13. Mass.—Abbott v. Tucker, 4 Allen 72.

23 C.J. p 945 note 56.

14. Ga.—Swinney v. Watkins, 22 Ga. 570.

23 C.J. p 946 note 57.

15. Pa.—Palethrope v. Lasher, 2 Rawle 272.

23 C.J. p 946 note 58.

Rescission of order refusing discharge

Where debtor was discharged on taking oath, after rescission of order refusing it, there was no breach of recognizances to abide magistrate's final order, so as to render surety liable to creditor.—Sallinger v. Hughes, 126 N.E. 278, 235 Mass. 104.

16. Ala.—Davis v. Cathey, 1 Stew. 402.

17. S.C.—Dixon v. Vanezara, 12 S.C. L. 373.

18. Pa.—Johnson v. Turner, 2 Ashm. 433.

19. N.C.—Bunting v. Wright, 61 N. C. 295.

23 C.J. p 946 note 62.

20. N.C.—Osborne v. Toomer, 51 N. C. 440.

23 C.J. p 946 note 63.

The sureties are not relieved because of obvious clerical errors subject to correction,²¹ because of the conviction and sentence to imprisonment of the principal for a criminal offense before a breach of the bond,²² by the continuance of a hearing on the debtor's petition for discharge, without their knowledge and consent,²³ or where, the principal not having attempted to perform any of the conditions of the bond within the prescribed time, it became forfeited by his afterward filing his petition and obtaining his discharge as a bankrupt.²⁴ In the absence of fraud, the sureties are not relieved from liability by the fact that they were misinformed as to the time when the conditions must be performed, where they did not read the bond but were truly informed of its date,²⁵ or by the fact that they were induced to sign by a mistake as to its contents produced by an incorrect statement of the judge as to its effect.²⁶

Surrender of principal by sureties. The right of sureties to release themselves from liability by the surrender of their principal is usually given,²⁷ provided such surrender is made to the proper court or officer;²⁸ and the surrender may be a constructive one by substituting a new surety.²⁹ However, under a statutory provision for the release of a poor debtor by his giving a bond conditioned to perform certain acts or deliver himself into the custody of the keeper of the jail, the surety of the poor debtor's bond has no authority to surrender the debtor against the latter's will.³⁰

§ 441. — Actions on Bonds

- a. In general
- b. Defenses
- c. Pleading
- d. Evidence
- e. Damages

a. In General

An action on a poor debtor's bond must be brought within the statutory period. It has been held that the remedy by action on the bond, after a breach thereof, precludes the enforcement of collection of the execution by other means.

An action on a poor debtor's bond must be brought within the time fixed by statute.³¹ The right of action on a forfeited bond is not waived by the issuance of an alias capias ad satisfaciendum and the giving of another bond pursuant to which the debtor was discharged as an insolvent debtor.³² The remedy by action on the bond, after a breach thereof, has been held to preclude the enforcement of collection of the execution by other means;³³ but it has been held that, where a debtor gives a bond to discharge an attachment of his goods on mesne process, and thereafter to obtain relief from arrest enters into a recognizance and is defaulted thereon, the creditor may sue on both instruments to the extent of obtaining the amount of his judgment with interest and costs.³⁴ If, during the pendency of a suit on a bond, there is another action against the debtor, alleging that he willfully made false disclosures, it cannot affect the rights of the parties to the suit on the bond.³⁵

b. Defenses

Generally, the only bar to an action for the enforcement of a valid debtor's bond to proceed under insolvent or poor debtor acts is that there was a complete fulfillment on the part of the debtor of one of its alternative conditions; and various particular facts and circumstances have been held or held not to constitute defenses in such actions. Defenses which might have been pleaded in the original action cannot be set up in an action on the bond.

Generally, the only bar to an action on the bond is a complete fulfillment on the debtor's part of one of its alternative conditions,³⁶ including the taking of the poor debtor's oath,³⁷ or a discharge.³⁸ It

21. Mass.—Currier v. Bartlett, 122 Mass. 133.

22. Pa.—Smith v. Barker, 6 Watts 508.

23. Pa.—Wolfe v. McDevitt, 65 Pa. Super. 543.

24. N.H.—Claffin v. Cogan, 48 N.H. 411.

25. C.J. p 946 note 67.

26. Me.—Wing v. Kennedy, 21 Me. 430.

27. N.Y.—Wheaton v. Fay, 62 N.Y. 275.

28. Ga.—Compton v. Williams, 27 Ga. 29.

29. C.J. p 946 note 70.

30. Mass.—Ryder v. Ouellette, 79 N.E. 820, 194 Mass. 24.

31. C.J. p 946 note 71.

32. Mass.—Pacific Mut. Ins. Co. v. Canterbury, 104 Mass. 433.

33. Me.—Woodman v. Valentine, 24 Me. 551.

34. Me.—Patten v. Kimball, 73 Me. 497.

35. C.J. p 946 note 75.

36. Pa.—Hellner v. Bast, 1 Penr. & W. 267.

37. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Padover, 161 N.E. 898, 264 Mass. 26—National Surety Co. v. Reed, 160 N.E. 281, 262 Mass. 372, certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S.Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531.

38. C.J. p 946 note 77.

39. Mass.—Moore v. Loring, 106 Mass. 455.

40. Me.—Robinson v. Barker, 28 Me. 310.

41. Me.—Hackett v. Lane, 61 Me. 31.

Clerk's refusal to file application of debtor arrested on mesne process to begin statutory supplementary proceedings to secure discharge, and judge's executed agreement, to allow application to be filed and notice to issue as of timely date, did not preclude recovery on debtor's statutory bond.—Giantsi v. Christopher, 177 N.E. 807, 277 Mass. 47.

42. Me.—Ayer v. Fowler, 30 Me. 347.

43. C.J. p 947 note 81.

44. N.J.—Skillman v. Baker, 18 N. J.Law 134.

45. C.J. p 947 note 82.

Certificate of justice that poor debtor has been discharged will not defeat an action on the bond, if it is also a good defense that defendant had been released by plaintiff,³⁹ that his arrest was illegal,⁴⁰ that the judgment or execution had been reversed or set aside,⁴¹ that the bond is void,⁴² or that the whole amount equitably due on the bond had been paid before suit was commenced thereon for the penalty.⁴³

It is no defense to liability on the bond, however, that the creditor has made proof of his claim in bankruptcy, from which nothing was received;⁴⁴ and, where the breach relied on is a failure to appear, it is no defense that application for the benefit of the insolvent law was made pending the suit on the bond.⁴⁵ It has been held no defense to a failure to perform that such failure was due to the debtor's sickness⁴⁶ or lunacy,⁴⁷ or to the death of a relative.⁴⁸ So, it is no defense that the creditor made no attempt to find property of the debtor subject to levy,⁴⁹ that the trial court was not a court of record,⁵⁰ that the affidavit on which the arrest was made was false,⁵¹ that the recognizance was taken in a sum less than the amount of the execution,⁵² that the place fixed for the debtor's examination was not inserted in the condition of the recognizance,⁵³ or that the justices before whom the disclosure of the debtor was made erroneously decided that the debtor, having disclosed enough, in their opinion, to pay the debt, was not bound to answer further, and that, having offered the property disclosed, he was entitled to his discharge.⁵⁴ Likewise, it is no defense that the officer omitted to return into the clerk's office, during the lifetime of the precept, an execution on which a poor debtor's bond was taken by such officer,⁵⁵ that the debtor was so destitute of property that he might legally have taken the poor debtor's oath,⁵⁶ or that the judge was absent from the county and disabled by sickness from hearing the case, on the day fixed for the hearing.⁵⁷

Defenses which might have been pleaded to the original action cannot be set up in an action on the bond;⁵⁸ and an act abolishing imprisonment for debt is no defense to a bond to take the benefit of the insolvent law.⁵⁹ A plea of performance of the condition of a bond according to the statute estops the debtor from claiming it to be a common-law bond by reason of its variance from the requirements of the statute.⁶⁰

c. Pleading

The declaration, in an action on a poor debtor's bond, should allege all facts necessary to constitute the cause of action; so it should show the authority to take the bond and make the arrest. Matters of affirmative defense should be set up by plea or answer.

The declaration should allege all facts which are necessary to constitute the cause of action;⁶¹ but it is not necessary for plaintiff in his declaration to count on any other than the penal part of the bond, and he may leave the condition to be pleaded by defendant if it affords him any defense.⁶² The declaration should show the authority to take the bond⁶³ and to make the arrest,⁶⁴ and so state the breach of the condition as to show clearly the necessity of defendant's appearance within the meaning of the bond.⁶⁵

The declaration need not aver affirmatively that the execution has not been paid,⁶⁶ or aver the truth does not appear affirmatively from such certificate, or from the proofs in the case, that the justices were "disinterested."—Scamman v. Huff, 51 Me. 194.

39. Mass.—Bullen v. Dresser, 116 Mass. 267.

23 C.J. p 947 note 83.

40. Mass.—Mann v. Cook, 81 N.E. 286, 195 Mass. 440.

41. Mass.—Whitton v. Bicknell, 3 Allen 472—Mason v. Benson, 9 Watts 287.

42. Pa.—Mankey v. Stocking, 62 A. 913, 213 Pa. 299.

23 C.J. p 947 note 86.

43. Me.—Grimes v. Turner, 16 Me. 353.

44. Mass.—National Surety Co. v. Reed, 160 N.E. 281, 262 Mass. 372, certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S.Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531.

45. N.J.—Glynn v. Kelly, 58 A. 178, 71 N.J.Law 10.

46. N.H.—Symonds v. Carleton, 43 N.H. 444.

47. Me.—Haskell v. Green, 15 Me. 33.

48. Pa.—Wolfe v. McDevitt, 65 Pa. Super. 543.

49. Mass.—Watts v. Stevenson, 47 N.E. 447, 169 Mass. 61.

50. Mass.—Chesebro v. Barme, 39 N.E. 1033, 163 Mass. 79.

51. Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 14 N.E. 932, 146 Mass. 89, 4 Am.S.R. 284.

52. Mass.—Whittier v. Way, 6 Allen 288.

53. Mass.—Whittier v. Way, 6 Allen 288.

54. Me.—Stone v. Tilson, 19 Me. 265.

55. Me.—Robinson v. Williams, 14 A. 67, 80 Me. 267.

Mass.—Chesebro v. Barme, 39 N.E. 1033, 163 Mass. 79.

56. Me.—Haskell v. Green, 15 Me. 33.

57. N.Y.—Cobb v. Harmon, 29 Barb. 472, affirmed 23 N.Y. 148.

58. Vt.—Allen v. Fisher, 1 D.Chipm. 277.

59. Pa.—McFadden v. Dilly, 2 Pa. 61.

60. Me.—Hackett v. Lane, 61 Me. 31.

61. Mass.—Stearns v. Hemenway, 37 N.E. 766, 162 Mass. 17.

23 C.J. p 947 note 6.

62. Me.—Colton v. Stanwood, 68 Me. 482.

63. Mass.—Webber v. Davis, 5 Allen 393.

23 C.J. p 947 note 8.

64. Mass.—Webber v. Davis, supra.

23 C.J. p 947 note 9 [a].

65. N.J.—Louis v. Kaskel, 17 A. 120, 51 N.J.Law 236.

66. Mass.—Webber v. Davis, 5 Allen 393.

of the affidavit on which a capias ad satisfaciendum issued, stating that defendant had refused to surrender his land, since the fact cannot be inquired into in such collateral action.⁶⁷

Where a motion is made for judgment on the bond, it is not necessary to describe the bond, capias ad satisfaciendum, etc., which are matters of record already before the court.⁶⁸

There is authority that a statement may be filed in an action on an insolvent's bond, on the theory that the action is within the compulsory arbitration law.⁶⁹

Plea or answer. Matters of affirmative defense should be set up by plea or answer.⁷⁰ Where a statute makes it a requisite to the discharge of a poor debtor that a certificate be delivered to the jailer, a plea of discharge under the poor debtor's oath must allege such delivery of the certificate to the jailer.⁷¹ If the breach of the condition alleged is the failure to appear at the next term of court, a plea merely averring that defendant appeared at a "subsequent" court is insufficient.⁷²

d. Evidence

Rules of evidence governing civil actions generally have been applied in actions for the enforcement of poor debtors' bonds, with respect to presumptions and burden of proof, and admissibility, weight, and sufficiency of evidence.

Burden of proof; presumptions. The burden of proof is on plaintiff to show a breach of the bond,⁷³ or other facts sufficient to make out at least a prima facie case for him;⁷⁴ and, if such burden is not sustained, a verdict for defendant should be ordered.⁷⁵ The burden is on defendant to prove matters of affirmative defense.⁷⁶

Where the case is submitted on an agreed statement of facts, such statement must be presumed to contain all the facts material to a correct decision of the case,⁷⁷ and, if it does not show an appraisal of the property disclosed, such appraisal will not be presumed to have been made.⁷⁸ Where the record shows that a certificate of arrest was made by a justice and attached to the execution, and it does not appear that no oath or affidavit was made and no objection seems to have been taken by the debtor when arrested, it may be assumed that there was an oath or affidavit which justified the certificate of arrest.⁷⁹

Admissibility. General rules have been applied in regard to the admissibility of evidence,⁸⁰ as on the question of waiver.⁸¹ Thus, in an action on the bond or recognizance, the record of the magistrate before whom the debtor was examined is admissible as evidence of the truth of the facts which it contains,⁸² as is also the certificate of the justices who admitted the debtor to take the oath;⁸³ and this includes its admission to corroborate the statement of one of them where their testimony is conflicting.⁸⁴ So, also, the written disclosure made, signed, and sworn to by the debtor is admissible,⁸⁵ but not statements made by him in relation to the subject matter of his disclosure, although made at the time of such disclosure.⁸⁶ If the debtor was not legally entitled to take the poor debtor's oath, on the evidence actually produced before the magistrate within the time limited in the bond, testimony is not admissible to show that evidence might have been introduced which would have authorized the taking of the oath.⁸⁷

The weight and sufficiency of the evidence has been adjudicated in a number of cases, in accordance with rules applicable thereto in civil actions generally.⁸⁸

e. Damages

The measure of damages for breach of a poor debtor's

67. Ill.—Fergus v. Hoard, 15 Ill. 357.

68. Tenn.—Hubbard v. Cole, 9 Yerg. 502.

69. Pa.—Bowman v. Sharp, 6 Watts 324.

70. Vt.—Staniford v. Barry, Brayt. 200.
23 C.J. p 948 note 15.

71. Vt.—Staniford v. Barry, supra.

72. N.J.—Hart v. Boyle, 38 A. 801, 60 N.J.Law 320.

73. Mass.—Di Ruscio v. Popoli, 165 N.E. 403, 266 Mass. 434—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252—McKeon v. Briggs, 123 N.E. 387, 233 Mass. 99.
23 C.J. p 948 note 19.

74. Mass.—Damon v. Carrol, 40 N.E. 185, 163 Mass. 404.
23 C.J. p 948 note 20.

75. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 127 N.E. 535, 226 Mass. 93.

76. Mass.—Browne v. Hale, 127 Mass. 158.
23 C.J. p 948 note 22.

77. Me.—Harding v. Butler, 21 Me. 191.

78. Me.—Harding v. Butler, supra.

79. Mass.—Bent v. Stone, 68 N.E. 46, 184 Mass. 92.

80. Mass.—McKeon v. Briggs, 123 N.E. 387, 233 Mass. 99—Way v. Lewis, 115 Mass. 26.
23 C.J. p 948 note 26—5 C.J. p 529 note 35 [g] (1).

81. Mass.—Lynde v. Richardson, 124 Mass. 557.
23 C.J. p 948 note 27.

82. Mass.—Barrett Mfg. Co. v. Shea, 114 N.E. 307, 225 Mass. 252—Lincoln v. Cook, 124 Mass. 383.

83. Me.—Granite Bank v. Treat, 18 Me. 340.
23 C.J. p 948 note 29.

84. Me.—Ayer v. Woodman, 24 Me. 196.

85. Me.—Jewett v. Rines, 39 Me. 9.

86. Me.—Jewett v. Rines, supra.

87. Me.—Robinson v. Barker, 28 Me. 310.

88. Mass.—Griffin v. Betts, 65 N.E. 386, 182 Mass. 223.
23 C.J. p 948 note 34.

Evidence held insufficient to prove breach of recognizance.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252.

bond has been variously held to be the actual damage caused by the breach, the amount of the debt or judgment and costs, with interest, or the full penalty of the bond; but in some instances damages may be nominal.

Statutes fixing the measure of damages for breach of a poor debtor's bond must be complied with.⁸⁹ It has been variously held that the measure of damages is the actual damage caused by the breach,⁹⁰ or the amount of the debt or judgment and costs, with interest,⁹¹ or the full amount of the penalty of the bond.⁹² In some cases, however, only nominal damages are recoverable,⁹³ as where the breach is failure to assign property the title to which is already vested in an assignee in insolvency.⁹⁴

§ 442. As Insolvent or Poor Debtor

- a. In general
- b. In what actions or proceedings allowable
- c. Grounds for refusing discharge

a. In General

Under some statutes, on compliance with certain conditions, a poor or insolvent debtor may obtain his discharge from an arrest on an execution.

In many states, the statutes expressly provide for the discharge of poor or insolvent debtors, including the procedure to obtain such discharge;⁹⁵ the purpose of such statutes being to abolish imprisonment on civil process where the debtor is willing to deliver up all his estate to his creditors toward the payment of his debts,⁹⁶ and to release from imprisonment debtors who have no property or who will assign what they have to their creditors.⁹⁷ These statutes differ as to details but are quite similar as to the general practice. In some states they are called the "insolvent debtor's act" and the basis of the proceeding is a schedule of the debtor's property which must be assigned for the benefit of the execution creditor, at least so far as necessary.⁹⁸ In other states, the governing statute is called the "poor debtor's act," and while it primarily applies to those debtors having no non-exempt property, provision is made for appraisal and assignment of any property disclosed on the hearing.⁹⁹ Such statutes are generally not retrospective,¹ but the procedure applies to pending applications.²

Poor debtor proceedings are in their main features of a civil, and not of a criminal, nature.³ Such proceedings are strictly statutory,⁴ and while such statutes express the spirit of liberality toward poor debtors, such liberality is to be exercised strictly within the limitations that hedge and direct its bestowal.⁵

89. N.H.—Wojciechowski v. Wiltowski, 173 A. 380, 87 N.H. 41.

90. Me.—Houghton v. Lyford, 39 Me. 267.
23 C.J. p 949 note 36.

91. Mass.—Di Ruscio v. Popoli, 169 N.E. 548, 269 Mass. 482—National Surety Co. v. Reed, 160 N.E. 281, 262 Mass. 372, certiorari denied Reed v. National Surety Co., 49 S. Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L.Ed. 531.
23 C.J. p 949 note 37.

92. Mass.—Giantsi v. Christopher, 177 N.E. 807, 277 Mass. 47.
23 C.J. p 949 note 38.

93. Me.—Webster v. Bailey, 57 Me. 364.
23 C.J. p 949 note 39.

94. Me.—Smith v. Dutton, 74 Me. 468.

95. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L. Ed. 1246.

96. N.J.—West Hudson County Trust Co. v. Wichner, 187 A. 579, 121 N.J.Eq. 157.

Object of statute permitting imprisoned judgment debtors to seek release is to abolish imprisonment for debt, and statute is designed as a remedial and humane statute, relieving from incarceration in prison the honest but unfortunate debtor who no longer has means of satisfying his creditor.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.

97. N.H.—Massachusetts Breweries Co. v. Colburn, 57 A. 658, 72 N.H. 472.
Pa.—Petition of Di Malo, 89 Pittsb. Leg.J. 227.

In North Carolina a person arrested on execution against the person may be discharged, after judgment and without payment, only by surrendering all of his property in excess of fifty dollars. The effect of an execution against the person, therefore, is to deprive defendant in execution of his homestead exemption and of any personal property exemption over and above fifty dollars.—Coble v. Medley, 119 S.E. 892, 186 N.C. 479.

98. Ill.—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167.
23 C.J. p 949 note 43.

In Pennsylvania

(1) The right to a discharge from arrest on civil process is granted by two statutes. The only difference between the acts is one of application to the particular case. The first act, 39 Pub.St. §§ 4-8, is available where the debtor possesses property and makes an assignment thereof for the benefit of his creditors, and the second act, 39 Pub.St. §§ 9-12, provides for the discharge of a debtor who has neither property nor means to pay the judgment, and for whom it would be a vain thing to make an assignment. Accordingly, where there is no evidence of ownership of property justifying an assignment, proceedings under the second act are not improper.—Petition of Young, 192 A. 911, 327 Pa. 267.

(2) Under 39 Pub.St. §§ 9-12 a debtor may be discharged at any time if he impresses the court by a presentation of facts as provided by the act.—Kubit v. Witt, 193 A. 81, 127 Pa.Super. 434.

99. Vt.—In re Blake, 175 A. 252, 107 Vt. 18.
23 C.J. p 949 note 44.

1. Me.—Gooch v. Stephenson, 15 Me. 129.

2. Me.—Barnard v. Bryant, 21 Me. 206.

3. Mass.—Noyes v. Manning, 37 N. E. 768, 162 Mass. 14.

4. Mass.—H. B. Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 S.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190.

Compliance with statutory terms is necessary to entitle a debtor to a discharge.—Warner v. Mullin, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 665, 76 Pittsb.Leg.J. 86.

Particular statutes construed

N.Y.—In re Perine, 287 N.Y.S. 535, 158 Misc. 597.

5. Me.—Karam v. Marden, 148 A. 691, 128 Me. 451.

Mere bankruptcy of the debtor does not entitle him to a release from arrest where the judgment on which he is imprisoned is not dischargeable in bankruptcy.⁶

b. In What Actions or Proceedings Allowable

Except as otherwise limited by statute, the debtor may apply, under the insolvent or poor debtor's laws, for his discharge from imprisonment in any action or proceeding.

Except where the imprisonment is under execution issued in proceedings of a criminal character,⁷ and except in so far as certain actions or proceedings are excluded from the benefit of the statute, the debtor may apply, under the insolvent or poor debtor's laws, for his discharge from imprisonment in any action or proceeding.⁸ Under some statutes, however, the insolvent or poor debtor cannot claim the benefit of the statute, where his imprisonment is under a judgment or execution in certain specified actions or proceedings;⁹ as where he is imprisoned for debts or penalties due to the state,¹⁰ or under a judgment or execution for a tort or trespass,¹¹ or for a malicious injury to the person.¹²

Malice gist of action. Under some statutes a discharge under the insolvent debtor's act is allowable only when malice is not of the gist of the action.¹³ The term "malice," as used in such a statute, applies to that class of wrongs which are inflicted with an evil intent, design, or purpose; implies that the guilty party was actuated by improper or dishonest motives; and requires intentional perpetration of an injury or wrong on another.¹⁴ However, the term does not necessarily mean that the person committing the injury bears any spite, grudge, or ill will toward the person against whom the wrong is inflicted.¹⁵ The term "gist of the action" means the essential ground or object of a suit, without which there is not a cause of action.¹⁶ Whether malice is the gist of the action is determined from the charges made in the declaration.¹⁷ In the absence of a statute to the contrary,¹⁸ it is not necessary that the jury should have by its ver-

6. N.Y.—In re Snyder, 280 N.Y.S. 257, 155 Misc. 616, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 259, 244 App.Div. 784.

7. N.J.—Perth Amboy v. Brophy, 43 N.J.Law 589, reversed on other grounds 44 N.J.Law 217.

Misuse of office

Where defendant was imprisoned for misuse of office and misappropriation of funds thereof, inability to pay judgment was insufficient to entitle him to a release based on the court's discretion under Judiciary L. § 775.—Weingart v. Whynman, 286 N.Y.S. 331, 247 App.Div. 814.

8. Pa.—Hefferon v. Sieminski, 43 Lack.Jur. 25.

23 C.J. p 950 notes 49–52.

Actions ex delicto

N.Y.—Creble v. Youzwak, 247 N.Y. S. 434, 138 Misc. 543.

9. S.C.—Smith v. Hogg, 31 S.C.L. 86—Glenn v. Lopez, 16 S.C.L. 105. 23 C.J. p 950 note 53.

10. N.J.—State v. Camden County Ct., 18 A. 118, 51 N.J.Law 424.

11. R.I.—In re Kimball, 41 A. 230, 20 R.I. 688. 23 C.J. p 950 note 55.

12. R.I.—Taylor-Symonds Co. v. Bliss, 76 A. 1, 30 R.I. 453—Taylor v. Bliss, 57 A. 939, 26 R.I. 16. 23 C.J. p 950 note 56.

Close jail execution

One in jail on a "body execution" may apply for the privilege of taking the poor debtor's oath, whereas one in jail on a "close-jail execution" is not entitled to make such application while the close-jail certificate is in force.—Ex parte Thompson, 9 A.2d 107, 111 Vt. 7.

13. U.S.—U. S. ex rel. Weber v. Meyering, C.C.A.Ill., 66 F.2d 347.

Ill.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 367 Ill. 632, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 1057, 304 U.S. 583, 82 L. Ed. 1545—Petition of Blacklidge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—Jernberg v. Mix, 65 N.E. 242, 199 Ill. 254—In re White, 23 N.E.2d 401, 302 Ill. App. 69—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E. 2d 502, 285 Ill.App. 50—In re Teiszerski, 272 Ill.App. 305—In re Paar, 264 Ill.App. 372—Fromm v. Seyller, 245 Ill.App. 392—In re Bobzin, 220 Ill.App. 470.

23 C.J. p 950 note 60.

14. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill.App. 556—In re Paar, 264 Ill.App. 372—In re Petition of Floren, 251 Ill. App. 569—Gannon v. Kiel, 251 Ill. App. 389—Scanlon v. Whalen, 249 Ill.App. 19—In re Todd, 246 Ill. App. 587—Kaplan v. Williams, 245 Ill.App. 542—Fromm v. Seyller, 245 Ill.App. 392—Stolke v. Bonasera, 243 Ill.App. 281—Abbrassart v. Bouchard, 241 Ill.App. 484—Brown v. People, 237 Ill.App. 537, affirmed Greener v. Brown, 153 N. E. 325, 223 Ill. 221.

23 C.J. p 950 note 61.

15. Ill.—Petition of Blacklidge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—Kaplan v. Williams, 245 Ill.App. 542.

Willful and wanton neglect in driving an automobile may constitute malice, even though no ill will was present.—Fromm v. Seyller, 245 Ill.App. 392. See Ratnofsky v. Wills, 2 N.E.2d 382, 284 Ill.App. 653.

16. Ill.—Petition of Blacklidge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill.App. 556—Stolke v. Bonasera, 243 Ill.App. 281—Petition of Schikowski, 239 Ill.App. 447.

23 C.J. p 951 note 62.

17. Ill.—Petition of Blacklidge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246—In re Paar, 264 Ill.App. 372.

If there is no count in the declaration of which malice is the gist, the debtor should be discharged.—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E.2d 502, 285 Ill. App. 50.

18. Prior to amendment of statute respecting capias ad satisfaciendum, when debtor made application to be released under Insolvent Debtors Act, issue was raised as to whether malice was gist of the action, and in determining such question, court referred to pleadings, and if allegations showed that malice was gist of the action, doctrine of res judicata applied and the issuance of the writ was sustained.—Ingalls v. Raklios, 26 N.E.2d 468, 373 Ill. 404, reversing 21 N.E.2d 856, 301 Ill.App. 1.

dict specifically recited that the jury found defendant guilty of malice,¹⁹ but a jury's finding that defendant was guilty of malicious conduct has been held to be conclusive in proceedings by defendant for a discharge.²⁰ Malice may be made the gist of the action in a tort action if properly pleaded, even though some other form of action might lie.²¹ Malice may be the gist of the action in an action for alienation of affections;²² assault;²³ fraud and deceit;²⁴ for forcibly, willfully and maliciously breaking and entering into plaintiff's office and conversion of chattels, and expulsion of plaintiff from the office so as to destroy his business;²⁵ obtaining money under false pretenses;²⁶ malicious prosecution;²⁷ slander;²⁸ or trespass for assault and battery.²⁹ On the other hand, malice has been held not to be the gist of an action for conversion,³⁰ negligence,³¹ or seduction.³²

c. Grounds for Refusing Discharge

Under the various statutes, particular circumstances, such as fraud and concealment, may be grounds for refusing a discharge to an imprisoned debtor.

19. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

20. Ill.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 367 Ill. 632, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 1057, 304 U.S. 583, 32 L.Ed. 1545—Mantske v. Rhutassei, 248 Ill.App. 492.

"Wantonly and willfully"

A finding that defendant "wantonly and willfully" injured plaintiff was held to be a finding that he maliciously injured him.—Kaplan v. Williams, 245 Ill.App. 542.

21. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

22. Ill.—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482.

23. Ill.—Miles v. Glad, 19 N.E.2d 844, 299 Ill.App. 185—In re Bobzin, 220 Ill.App. 470.

By an automobile

Ill.—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E.2d 502, 285 Ill.App. 50.

24. Ill.—In re Petition of Floren, 251 Ill.App. 569.

25. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

26. Ill.—Bussin v. Bestmann, 246 Ill.App. 166.

27. Ill.—Beckman v. Menge, 82 Ill.App. 228.

28. Ill.—Matter of Warnke, 207 Ill.App. 459.

23 C.J. p 951 note 64.

29. Ill.—Salomon v. Buechele, 127 Ill.App. 420.

23 C.J. p 951 note 63.

30. Ill.—Kellar v. Norton, 81 N.E. 1037, 228 Ill. 356—Mansfield's Petition, 120 Ill.App. 511.

23 C.J. p 951 note 67.

Malice, however, has been held to be gist of action for trover in view of the record.—McNamara v. Bird-Sykes Co., 252 Ill.App. 273.

"Guilty of conversion"

A verdict that defendant was "guilty of conversion" has been held to be equivalent to a finding by the jury that malice was the gist of the action.—Brown v. People, 237 Ill.App. 537, affirmed Greener v. Brown, 153 N.E. 825, 323 Ill. 221.

31. Ill.—Stoike v. Bonasera, 243 Ill.App. 281.

Automobile collision

Ill.—In re Todd, 246 Ill.App. 587.

Constructive or legal willfulness is not sufficient to show that malice was the gist of the action.—Gannon v. Kiel, 251 Ill.App. 389.

Recklessness is not malice

Ill.—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill.App. 556—Scanlon v. Whalen, 249 Ill.App. 19.

32. Ill.—People v. Greer, 43 Ill. 213.

33. R.I.—Fainardi v. Dunn, 128 A. 207, 46 R.I. 344.

23 C.J. p 951 note 68.

Failure to account

Defendant who, in his application for release, failed to account for total sums which he received from misuse of his office and misappropri-

Fraud and concealment generally deprive a debtor of the right to a discharge as an insolvent,³³ and the question whether the debtor has been guilty of fraud, or has secreted or assigned his property, is usually a matter of discretion dependent on the facts in each case.³⁴ In some jurisdictions a person committed for fraudulently disposing of property will not be discharged from imprisonment on his making an assignment of his property, since the statutory provisions for a discharge apply only to cases where there has been no disposal of property with intent to defraud creditors;³⁵ and it has been held that it is sufficient to prevent a discharge of the debtor that the fraudulent disposition of property was made by him before the commencement of the action, where the order for his imprisonment was based on the ground of such fraudulent disposition.³⁶ A discharge, however, should not be refused because of fraud or concealment of property at some prior time, where at the time of the application for discharge he is not guilty of fraud or concealment;³⁷ nor should a discharge be refused thereof, or his disposition of such moneys, was not entitled to vacation of execution and release from imprisonment.—Weingart v. Whyman, 286 N.Y.S. 331, 247 App. Div. 814.

Mortgage

The fact that the debtor gave a mortgage on her automobile during the pendency of the litigation is not, standing alone, sufficient to indicate bad faith. Likewise a surrender of the automobile to the mortgagee is not a fraudulent disposition of property where its value did not exceed the mortgage.—In re Savage, 22 A.2d 153, 112 Vt. 89.

Stated conversely, a debtor who has not secreted or assigned any of his property and is without means to pay his creditors, is entitled to a discharge from arrest or from imprisonment for debt, in the absence of a strong presumption of fraud arising from either the transaction on which the judgment is based, or the proceedings for discharge.—Petition of Young, 192 A. 911, 327 Pa. 267.

34. Pa.—Petition of Young, 192 A. 911, 327 Pa. 267.

35. N.J.—Iliff v. Banghart, 37 A. 894, 60 N.J.Law 400, affirmed 41 A. 1117, 61 N.J.Law 286.

23 C.J. p 951 note 69.

36. N.Y.—In re Brady, 69 N.Y. 215, 53 How.Pr. 128, affirming 8 Hun 437—In re Haigh, 11 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 227.

37. N.H.—Massachusetts Breweries Co. v. Colburn, 57 A. 653, 72 N.H. 472.

23 C.J. p 952 note 71.

because one liable to arrest on final process makes an assignment of his property for the benefit of creditors, which would be otherwise valid, before being charged in execution,³⁸ and after his arrest an insolvent debtor may in good faith pay or secure a preëxistent debt or sell his property;³⁹ nor should it be refused where at the time the debtor has no property subject to execution.⁴⁰ Other grounds for refusing a discharge, under the various statutes, are that the petitioner's actions or proceedings have not been "just and fair;"⁴¹ that the petitioner gave undue preferences within a fixed time before his imprisonment;⁴² that the petitioner is not of a "fair character;"⁴³ that a few days after his arrest he was adjudged a bankrupt on his own petition;⁴⁴ or that since the debt was contracted, he has hazarded and paid a certain sum or more in gaming prohibited by the laws of the state.⁴⁵ It seems that under some statutes the fact that defendant has a fairly substantial income does not affect his right to a discharge.⁴⁶ Where a statute prohibits a second discharge on bond to take the poor debtor's oath, after surrender on a bond previously given for that purpose, it does not preclude a discharge on taking the poor debtor's oath after such a surrender.⁴⁷

Debtor not imprisoned. As a general rule a discharge cannot be granted where applicant is not under arrest or in custody;⁴⁸ but a debtor in the prison limits has the same right to apply for the benefit of such laws as if he were in close confinement,⁴⁹ and one released from arrest on giving any other bond may make application.⁵⁰

Time of confinement. Under some statutes a discharge is unauthorized in some cases until the execution debtor has been confined a certain length of time.⁵¹ A statute providing that a person imprisoned under an execution for a sum in excess of five hundred dollars cannot present a petition for a discharge until he has been imprisoned, by virtue of the execution, for at least three months, has been held not to deprive the court of jurisdiction to release a judgment debtor prior to the expiration of such time where, due to his physical condition, further imprisonment may endanger his life.⁵²

Residence. Under some statutes residence for a specified time within the state or county is a condition precedent;⁵³ but this is not the rule where there is no statute so providing.⁵⁴

Violation of prison limits, where not done for purpose of escape, has been held not to be a bar to a discharge.⁵⁵ Under some statutes a debtor applying for the benefit of the insolvent laws is entitled to his discharge, even though he has gone beyond the jail limits between his release on bond and the day of the hearing, unless he has disintitiled himself to be discharged by failing to comply with the condition of the bond. Accordingly, where the condition of the bond is that he shall appear before the next court of common pleas to be held in the county and petition for the benefit of the insolvent laws, and shall in all things comply with such laws, and shall appear in person at every subsequent court until he shall be duly discharged, his discharge will not be denied because he has gone without the prison limits.⁵⁶ Also, in cases in which a statute, providing that the court shall stay all proceedings where it appears on examination of the debtor that he has gone without the prison limits, is applicable, it is improper to dismiss a petition for discharge where it appears that the debtor has gone without the prison limits.⁵⁷

38. N.Y.—Roswog v. Seymour, 30 N. Y. Super. 427.

39. Ga.—Johnson v. Martin, 25 Ga. 268.
23 C.J. p 952 note 73.

40. La.—Miles v. His Creditors, 6 Mart. 500.
Or.—Heckinger v. Swank, 153 P. 784, 78 Or. 526.

41. N.Y.—Matter of Benson, 10 Daly 166, 60 How. Pr. 314.
23 C.J. p 952 note 75.

42. S.C.—Brenden v. Gowing, 41 S. C. L. 459.
23 C.J. p 952 note 76.

43. Conn.—Betts v. Lockwood, 8 Conn. 487.
23 C.J. p 952 note 77.

44. N.Y.—Matter of Fitzgerald, 8 Daly 188, 5 Abb. N. Cas. 357, 56 How. Pr. 190.
23 C.J. p 952 note 78.

45. Mass.—Bradley v. Burton, 24 N. E. 778, 151 Mass. 419.
23 C.J. p 952 note 79.

46. Pa.—Hefferon v. Sieminski, 43 Lack. Jur. 25.

47. N.H.—Somersworth Sav. Bank v. Wooster, 5 A. 764, 64 N.H. 57.

48. Mich.—Griffin v. Helme, 54 N. W. 173, 94 Mich. 494.
23 C.J. p 952 note 81.

49. N.J.—Sabia v. Court of Common Pleas in and for Hudson County, 128 A. 583, 101 N.J. Law 281.
N.Y.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.
23 C.J. p 952 note 82.

50. Me.—City Bank v. Norton, 48 Me. 73.

51. Pa.—Petition of Doescher, 18 Pa. Super. 346.
23 C.J. p 952 note 84, p 950 notes 57-59.

Time for application for discharge see infra § 443a.

52. N.Y.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.

53. La.—Rhendorff v. His Creditors, 4 Mart. 329.
Ohio.—Loines v. Phillips, 2 Ohio 313.
23 C.J. p 952 note 85.

54. N.J.—Hogan v. Hutton, 20 N.J. Law 82.

55. N.J.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J. Misc. 139.

56. N.J.—Sabia v. Court of Common Pleas in and for Hudson County, 128 A. 583, 101 N.J. Law 281.

57. N.J.—Sabia v. Court of Common Pleas in and for Hudson County, supra.

Infancy. Under a statute providing that "every person" may petition for the benefit of the statute, an infant as well as an adult is entitled to the benefit of the act; and, since the relief from imprisonment is so highly beneficial, his act in making an assignment must be regarded as valid notwithstanding nonage.⁵⁸

§ 443. — Application for Discharge

- a. In general
- b. Schedules and affidavits
- c. Property of debtor

a. In General

The application for a discharge must be in substantial compliance with the statute as to form and requisites, and must be made, within the proper time, to the court, judge, or officer designated by statute.

The application for a discharge must be made within the time prescribed by statute or the bond,⁵⁹ and under some provisions the application cannot be made until after imprisonment for a certain length of time.⁶⁰

The application should be made to the court, judge, or officer designated by statute.⁶¹ Under some statutes, application for a discharge as a poor debtor must first be made to the jailer having him in custody, who in turn must apply to the proper magistrate or judge.⁶² Under some statutes, application may be made to a justice of the peace.⁶³

Although under some statutes the proceedings are summary, and without formal pleadings,⁶⁴ as a general rule an application or petition, under the insolvent or poor debtor's laws, for a discharge from imprisonment, should be in writing⁶⁵ and signed.⁶⁶ The application or petition must state facts which show such a compliance with the statute as to give the court or officer, to whom it is presented, jurisdiction;⁶⁷ and state all the facts which it is necessary to prove to entitle the debtor to the benefit of the statute,⁶⁸ and contain apt words to indicate his wish to be admitted to that benefit.⁶⁹ Thus it should show that the petitioner is so under arrest as to be entitled to a discharge,⁷⁰ describe the creditor,⁷¹ show in substance, where the application is under a poor debtor act, that the debtor is unable to pay the debt on which he is committed,⁷² and, under some statutes, show residence or imprisonment within the county where the offi-

58. N.Y.—People v. Mullin, 25 Wend. 698.

59. Mass.—Barnes v. Ladd, 130 Mass. 557.

R.I.—Taylor-Symonds Co. v. Bliss, 76 A. 1, 30 R.I. 453.
Performance or breach of bond given to proceed under insolvent or poor debtor's acts see supra § 439.

60. U.S.—Moran v. Secord, C.C.N.Y., 15 F. 509.

Mich.—Rusiewski v. Michalski, 98 N. W. 1, 135 Mich. 530.

N.H.—Priest v. Tarlton, 3 N.H. 93. 23 C.J. p 953 note 88.

Time of confinement as ground for refusal of discharge see supra § 442c.

In Rhode Island

(1) Under Gen.L.1923 § 5749, any person who shall be imprisoned for debt on any execution, except as limited by Gen.L.1923 § 5758, may request to be admitted to take the poor debtor's oath. A petitioner imprisoned on execution in an action of trespass on the case for negligence is not within the exceptions set forth in § 5758, and he may apply to take the oath under § 5749. —In re Kimball, 41 A. 230, 20 R.I. 688.

(2) Under Gen.L.1923 § 5775, providing that certain poor tort debtors who have been imprisoned for six months may petition to take the poor debtor's oath, a debtor imprisoned on execution in an action of trespass for less than a month cannot be admitted to the poor debtor's oath.—Read v. Dunn, 137 A. 9.

(3) Under the statute to recover for a death caused by wrongful act, the wrong to the estate may be considered as immediate and direct, warranting an action in trespass, if the wrongful act causing the death was immediate and direct. Accordingly, a debtor imprisoned on execution in trespass under such statute, cannot take the poor debtor's oath immediately after commitment.—Read v. Dunn, 138 A. 210, 48 R.I. 437.

(4) It has been questioned whether defendant, after permitting himself without objection to be sued in trespass and after allowing judgment to be entered against him in that form of action, and after imprisonment on execution on such judgment, can be heard to urge that he is being held on an execution in trespass on the case and not on an execution in trespass.—Read v. Dunn, supra.

61. Ky.—Bell v. Carter, 2 S.W.2d 389, 222 Ky. 734.

Vt.—In re Blake, 175 A. 252, 107 Vt. 18. 23 C.J. p 953 notes 89, 90.

62. Mass.—Dalton-Ingersoll Co. v. Hubbard, 54 N.E. 862, 174 Mass. 307.—Dunham v. Burlingame, 2 Metc. 271.

23 C.J. p 953 note 91.

63. Md.—Winingder v. Diffenderfer, 5 Harr. & J. 181.

23 C.J. p 953 note 93.

64. Ill.—Kitson v. Farwell, 23 N.E. 1024, 132 Ill. 327.

65. N.H.—Fernald v. Noyes, 30 N. H. 39.

23 C.J. p 953 note 95.

66. Me.—Neal v. Paine, 35 Me. 158.

67. N.Y.—Develin v. Cooper, 84 N. Y. 410, affirming 20 Hun 188.

23 C.J. p 953 note 97.

68. N.H.—Fernald v. Noyes, 30 N. H. 39.

23 C.J. p 953 note 98.

Affidavit presenting application of judgment debtor for release from custody of marshal by reason of imprisonment for failure to pay judgment would be deemed a "petition" on which application was required by statute to be based, where affidavit contained material matter required to be alleged in such petition. —Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.

69. N.H.—Fernald v. Noyes, 30 N.H. 39.

70. N.J.—Van Waggoner v. Coe, 25 N.J.Law 197.—Stagg v. Austin, 18 N.J.Law 82.

71. N.H.—Peck v. Wilson, 14 N.H. 587.

72. Mass.—Webster v. French, 11 Cush. 304.

23 C.J. p 953 note 2.

cer resides.⁷³ A mere misspelling of the debtor's name has been held not to bar a discharge where there is no question as to his identity.⁷⁴ Likewise, unless the statute so requires, the application need not state the amount of the execution,⁷⁵ nor describe the statute which contains the provision, and an erroneous description of it may be rejected as surplusage.⁷⁶ One application and notice, specifying that the oath is to be taken on two executions, may be sufficient.⁷⁷ It is no objection to the discharge of a poor debtor on his oath that the nature of the action in which the judgment was recovered is wrongly stated in his application, where such mistake is no injury to the creditor.⁷⁸

Filing. The petition need not be filed with the clerk of the court, if presented to a judge as provided by statute;⁷⁹ and where the statute does not require the petition to be filed but only to be presented to the court, the failure of the judge to whom the petition was presented to file it within a reasonable time is immaterial.⁸⁰

b. Schedules and Affidavits

Where the statute so requires, the debtor with his application must file, under oath, a schedule or inventory of his property.

Under some statutes, particularly under the insolvent debtor's acts, the debtor is required to file a schedule or inventory under oath of all his property,⁸¹ whether exempt or not,⁸² accompanied, under some statutes, by an affidavit in the prescribed form.⁸³ A failure to file a schedule will not bar a discharge where it appears from the papers filed by the debtor that a schedule could not be annexed for the reason that he is without any property, real or personal.⁸⁴

The schedule or inventory should set out the estate, choses in action, and money which the debtor has in possession or is entitled to,⁸⁵ or show that he has no property or effects of any kind, except such as is exempted in the oath prescribed by law for insolvent debtors.⁸⁶ If the petitioner has recently made a general assignment for the payment of his debts, it has been held that he must set forth in some way the property which passed by the assignment.⁸⁷ Under some statutes, the schedule should also contain a list of applicant's creditors;⁸⁸ but if the schedule is full and intelligible it is not necessary to give the residence of the creditor, the nature of the debt, and the consideration.⁸⁹ Under some statutes the accompanying affidavit must also state in effect that there have been no fraudulent transfers.⁹⁰ The schedule may be amended except in case of fraud,⁹¹ as by inserting matter omitted through ignorance or inadvertency⁹² or from an honest conviction of the worthlessness of a claim.⁹³

73. N.Y.—Develin v. Cooper, 84 N. Y. 410, affirming 20 Hun 188—People v. Machado, 16 Abb.Pr. 460. 23 C.J. p 953 note 4.

74. N.J.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J.Misc. 139.

75. N.H.—Allen v. Bruce, 12 N.H. 418. 23 C.J. p 954 note 5.

76. N.H.—Ladd v. Deming, 20 N.H. 487.

77. N.H.—Chesley v. Welch, 10 N.H. 251.

78. N.H.—Osgood v. Hutchins, 6 N. H. 374.

79. Md.—Bowie v. Jones, 1 Gill 208.

80. N.J.—Stokes v. Hardy, 60 A. 403, 71 N.J.Law 549, reversing 58 A. 650, 71 N.J.Law 116.

81. Ill.—In re Todd, 246 Ill.App. 587. 23 C.J. p 954 notes 11, 12.

Property sold

Where sale of automobile by petitioner to his wife was made months before right of action of plaintiff accrued, petitioner had no ownership in such automobile which his creditors could attach, regardless of whether legal title thereto passed or not, and such automobile was properly omitted from his inventory.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J.Misc. 139.

Surrender of insurance policy

The fact that defendant did not state in his schedule that he had turned back an insurance policy on his car for a small consideration did not bar his right to a discharge, where such surrender took place before he knew he was going to be sued for damages arising from a collision.—In re Todd, 246 Ill.App. 587.

82. Ill.—Stricker v. Kubusky, 35 Ill. App. 159.

N.Y.—Seward v. Wales, 58 N.Y.S. 42, 40 App.Div. 539, affirmed 167 N. E. 1120, 167 N.Y. 538. 23 C.J. p 954 note 13.

83. N.Y.—Develin v. Cooper, 84 N. Y. 410, affirming 20 Hun 188.

84. N.Y.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.

85. Ga.—Rome v. Dickerson, 13 Ga. 302.

23 C.J. p 954 note 19.

86. Ga.—Lindsey v. Hunter, 18 Ga. 50.

87. Pa.—Oliver's Case, 1 Ashm. 112 —Woodward's Case, 1 Ashm. 107.

88. N.Y.—Develin v. Cooper, 84 N. Y. 410, affirming 20 Hun 188—Matter of Andriot, 2 Daly 28.

Not bar to discharge

In application for discharge under Insolvent Debtors Act, failure of petitioner to list two creditors, to whom he owed sums of twenty-five dollars and fifty dollars respectively, will not bar discharge, where it does not appear that failure was intentional or fraudulent and neither of such creditors appeared at hearing.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J.Misc. 139.

89. La.—Wilson v. His Creditors, 19 La. 33.

N.Y.—People v. Behrman, Lalor 81. 23 C.J. p 955 note 23.

90. N.Y.—In re Brown, 39 Hun 27—Matter of Watson, 2 E.D.Smith 429 —In re Haight, 11 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 227.

23 C.J. p 955 note 24.

91. N.C.—McLeod v. Kirkham, 33 N. C. 509.

S.C.—Yeakle v. George, 46 S.C.L. 153 —Bingley v. Smart, 12 S.C.L. 29. 23 C.J. p 955 note 25.

92. N.Y.—Brodie v. Stephens, 2 Johns. 289.

S.C.—Prescott v. Hubbell, 13 S.C.L. 64.

23 C.J. p 955 note 26.

93. Pa.—Oliver's Case, 1 Ashm. 112.

c. Property of Debtor

Where the statute so requires, on application for a discharge the debtor must make an assignment of his property for the benefit of the execution creditor.

The fact that the inventory filed discloses the existence of no property except that which is exempt does not excuse the making of the assignment required by statute.⁹⁴ The assignment may be of an undivided interest in personalty;⁹⁵ and, under some statutes, may be made to the state as assignee.⁹⁶ The surrender of the property must be absolute;⁹⁷ and it has been held that applicant is bound to make actual delivery of the goods to his assignee, or to do that which is equivalent thereto, and that mere readiness and willingness to deliver is not enough.⁹⁸ Where the debtor's schedule shows that he has property in another state, it has been held that he is not compelled to bring the same into the jurisdiction,⁹⁹ unless he moved it out of the state since his arrest.¹

Title to and disposition of property. Under some statutes the title to the property of an insolvent debtor vests, on his discharge, in the sheriff of the county where it is situated,² who may sue to set aside fraudulent conveyances.³ Property in the possession of a third person cannot be sold until recovered in the mode prescribed by the statute.⁴ A sale of the schedule itself, as distinguished from the specific property, is improper, and the purchaser at such sale, if he acquires the legal title, will, in a court of equity, be treated as a trustee for the benefit of those interested.⁵

§ 444. — Notice of Application

- a. In general
- b. Service and proof of service

a. In General

Where the statute so requires, notice of the application to be discharged as a poor or insolvent debtor must be given to the creditor or creditors.

Notice of the application is generally required by statute to be given to the creditor or creditors,⁶ and the necessity therefor is not dispensed with by the fact that the bond to appear for examination does not require such notice.⁷ Under some statutes, a justice cannot refuse to issue the notification when application is properly made to him, but is to act forthwith without any hearing of parties on the subject.⁸

The notice should be issued by the court, judge, or officer authorized by the statute to do so.⁹ The justice who issues a citation to the creditor for the debtor's disclosure performs no judicial duties, but acts ministerially, and need not therefore be disinterested.¹⁰ Where two justices are required for the examination, it has been held that one alone cannot issue the notice and fix the time and place for hearing the debtor's application,¹¹ although, under some statutes, the citation may be issued by a justice other than the one before whom the debtor is to appear.¹² Under some statutes the court or magistrate acquires no jurisdiction to issue the notice unless the debtor personally delivers himself up.¹³

The person to whom the notice or citation should be given is the creditor or creditors,¹⁴ or their assignees,¹⁵ although it has also been held that, notwithstanding an assignment, notice could be served on plaintiff in the original case,¹⁶ and that notice to an assignee in bankruptcy appointed after the arrest and without the knowledge of the debtor is not necessary.¹⁷ Where the execution is in favor of several, notice should be given to all creditors living in the commonwealth, although they are partners;¹⁸ but it need not be given to plaintiff who is a nonresident and without the state.¹⁹ Under some statutes the service may also be made on the cred-

94. N.J.—Stokes v. Hardy, 60 A. 403, 71 N.J.Law 549, reversing 58 A. 650, 71 N.J.Law 116. 23 C.J. p 955 note 28.
95. S.C.—Bentley v. Long, 20 S.C. Eq. 43, 47 Am.D. 523. 23 C.J. p 955 note 29.
96. S.C.—Attorney-General v. Baker, 30 S.C.L. 521.
97. Me.—Call v. Barker, 27 Me. 97.
98. S.C.—Walker v. Riley, 21 S.C.L. 87. 23 C.J. p 955 note 32.
99. Ala.—Croom v. Davis, 6 Ala. 40. S.C.—Burns v. Evans, 21 S.C.L. 294.
1. S.C.—Burns v. Evans, supra. 23 C.J. p 955 note 34.
2. Va.—Clough v. Thompson, 7 Gratt. 26, 48 Va. 26. 23 C.J. p 955 note 35.

3. Va.—Clough v. Thompson, supra.
4. Va.—Clough v. Thompson, supra.
5. Va.—Clough v. Thompson, supra.
6. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252.
- N.J.—General Contract Purchase Corporation v. Weltchek, 168 A. 273, 11 N.J.Misc. 843. 23 C.J. p 955 note 40.
7. Mass.—Gilmore v. Edmunds, 9 Allen 379—Whittier v. Way, 6 Allen 288.
8. Mass.—Haskell v. Haven, 3 Pick. 404.
9. Clerk
Under some statutes the notice may be issued by the clerk of the court.—Betts v. Nixon, 32 S.C.L. 148.
10. Me.—Gray v. Douglass, 17 A. 320, 81 Me. 427.

11. Mass.—Paul v. Holden, 14 Allen 29.
12. Vt.—Paine v. Ely, 1 D.Chipm. 37.
13. Mass.—Howard v. Roach, 115 N.E. 289, 226 Mass. 80.
14. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252. 23 C.J. p 956 note 48.
15. N.H.—Cameron v. Little, 13 N.H. 23.
- N.Y.—Goodwin v. Griggs, 88 N.Y. 629, reversing 25 Hun 61.
16. Mass.—Brazill v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252.
17. Me.—Hayes v. Kingsbury, 22 Me. 400.
18. Mass.—Putnam v. Longley, 11 Pick. 487.
19. N.Y.—Goodwin v. Griggs, 88 N.Y. 629, reversing 25 Hun 61.

itor's agent or attorney of record,²⁰ especially where the creditor is a nonresident;²¹ and, under other statutes, where the creditor is dead or does not reside or have a place of business in the county where the arrest is made and has no agent or attorney therein, the debtor may give notice of his intention to take the poor debtor's oath to the officer making the arrest.²²

Form and requisites. The notice or citation to the creditor lies at the foundation of the proceedings, and hence it must be substantially according to the requirements of the statute;²³ and the notice is sufficient if it substantially complies with the statute.²⁴

Where the application is under the poor debtor act, the subject, of which notice is to be given, is the representation of the debtor that he is unable to pay the debt and is desirous of taking the benefit of the law for the relief of poor debtors;²⁵ and all that is required to make the notice effectual is that it shall contain an intelligible statement or recital of the facts which it is necessary or material for the party to be served to know.²⁶ The notice or citation should be in writing,²⁷ signed by the magistrate issuing it, and designating his official capacity,²⁸ and under seal.²⁹ It should inform the creditor of the time and place fixed for the examination³⁰ and should give such a description of the judgment and process to which it relates that the parties and case may be rightly understood,³¹ and correctly describe the person to be cited³² and the debtor.³³ A notice has been held not to be ineffective, however, because it described a single execution in favor of two joint creditors, which did not exist, in place of two executions in favor of distinct creditors.³⁴ The citation need not be a warrant commanding an officer to give notice, but may be addressed to the creditor himself,³⁵ and it need not name the magistrate before whom it is to be returned,³⁶ nor need it state the amount of the debt, nor describe the execution more particularly than as an execution at the creditor's suit, issued from a certain court at a certain date,³⁷ nor state the date of the judgment or of the execution.³⁸ An averment in the citation that the bond had not expired is unnecessary, when the citation gave the date of the bond, and the proceedings thereby appeared seasonable.³⁹

Mere formal or immaterial defects which may be corrected by amendment and which cannot mislead the creditor will not vitiate the proceedings.⁴⁰

Second notice. Some statutes providing for the giving of new notices are exclusive, and new notices may be given only in instances falling within the statute.⁴¹ Under some statutes the rule is that when a debtor has given notice of his desire to take the benefit of the act for the relief of poor debtors, no new notice can be given until after a certain number of days unless the former notice is insufficient in form or service.⁴² To entitle the 20. Mass.—Williams v. Kimball, 135 Mass. 411.

23 C.J. p 956 note 53.

21. Me.—Smith v. Bragdon, 48 Me. 101.

23 C.J. p 956 note 54.

22. Mass.—Homer v. Sinnott, 119 Mass. 191.

23 C.J. p 956 note 55.

23. Me.—Beaupre v. Schlosberg, 163 A. 653, 131 Me. 407.

23 C.J. p 956 note 56.

24. Ga.—Cheeseborough v. Van Ness, 12 Ga. 380.

N.Y.—People v. Behrman, Lator 81. 23 C.J. p 956 note 57.

25. Mass.—Pierce v. Phillips, 101 Mass. 313—Dunham v. Burlingame, 2 Metc. 271.

26. Mass.—Hill v. Bartlett, 124 Mass. 399—Dana v. Carr, 124 Mass. 397.

27. N.H.—Madison v. Rano, 4 N.H. 79.

N.J.—Hogan v. Hutton, 20 N.J. Law 82.

28. Mass.—Callaghan v. Whitmarsh, 14 N.E. 149, 145 Mass. 340. 23 C.J. p 956 note 51.

29. Me.—Beaupre v. Schlosberg, 163

A. 653, 131 Me. 407—Miller v. Weisman, 130 A. 504, 125 Me. 4.

23 C.J. p 956 note 62.

Statute inapplicable

Failure to affix seal in a poor debtor's citation does not come under a statute prohibiting abatement of process for want of form or incidental errors, since omission of seal is not correctible.—Miller v. Weisman, supra.

30. Mass.—Danforth v. Knowlton, 111 Mass. 76.

N.H.—Sanborn v. Piper, 10 A. 680, 64 N.H. 335.

23 C.J. p 956 note 63.

31. Mass.—Way v. O'Sullivan, 106 Mass. 118.

23 C.J. p 957 note 64.

32. Mass.—Slasson v. Brown, 20 Pick. 436.

23 C.J. p 957 note 65.

33. Mass.—Dwyer v. Winters, 126 Mass. 186—Collins v. Douglass, 1 Gray 167.

23 C.J. p 957 note 66.

34. Mass.—Benway v. Jarratt, 146 N.E. 686, 251 Mass. 506.

35. Mass.—Dunham v. Burlingame, 2 Metc. 271.

36. Mass.—Dunham v. Burlingame, supra.

37. Mass.—Davis v. Putnam, 5 Gray 321.

38. Me.—Rand v. Tobie, 32 Me. 450.

39. Me.—Farrington v. Farrar, 73 Me. 37.

40. Me.—Miller v. Weisman, 130 A. 504, 125 Me. 4.

23 C.J. p 957 notes 73, 74.

41. Mass.—H. B. Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 N.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190.

Successive applications see infra § 445.

42. Mass.—Merrill v. Kaulback, 33 N.E. 515, 158 Mass. 328.

23 C.J. p 957 note 82.

Conversely, if the first notice is insufficient in form or service, a new notice may be given within seven days from the service of the first.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

Insufficiency of service means something more than a mere omission to make service. The debtor does not prove insufficient service unless it appears that there has been reasonable effort to make service in accordance with the statute at a debtor to a new notice within seven days from the proper service of the previous one, he has the burden of proving such insufficiency.⁴³ It has been held that an insolvent who is in actual custody and whose discharge is not opposed may, where no motion is made on his behalf on the day appointed for hearing the creditors, be discharged subsequently without a new notice.⁴⁴

Waiver of objections. The right to notice,⁴⁵ or defects therein,⁴⁶ or objections to the notice as premature,⁴⁷ may be waived by the creditor or his attorney, as by appearing at the examination without objecting to defects or irregularities in the notice.⁴⁸ The length of notice required by statute may be waived by the creditor,⁴⁹ although it has been held that if the court orders an advertisement for a certain number of weeks, an order of assignment made by mistake before the expiration of such time is a nullity.⁵⁰ Whether there has been a waiver of defective service of notice is a question of fact.⁵¹

b. Service and Proof of Service

Service of notice of application, and proof thereof, should be made in accordance with statutory requirements.

The debtor has the duty to make proper service of the notice.⁵² The time for the service of the notice or citation on the creditor is usually fixed by statute.⁵³ Where the statute requires the notice to be served at least a certain number of days before the day of hearing, it is insufficient if it is served within that time.⁵⁴ In the absence of a statute to the contrary, the fact that service was made at night is immaterial.⁵⁵

Notice of the debtor's intention to take the benefit of the act for the relief of poor debtors may be served in a county other than that in which the arrest was made,⁵⁶ but a discharge on taking the poor debtor's oath has been held to be invalid if the notice was served outside of the serving officer's precinct.⁵⁷

Except in cases where the statute authorizes the service to be made by publication,⁵⁸ the statutes usually require the notice to be served personally on the creditor or creditors, or on their agents or attorneys, by delivering an attested copy,⁵⁹ or by leaving the same at their last and usual place of residence;⁶⁰ and where this is the case the reading of the notice by the officer to the creditor is not a legal service thereof.⁶¹ A constable is a competent officer to serve the citation, although the amount due the creditor is in excess of the amount which limits the service of writs by him in a personal action or one in which damages are claimed;⁶² and in some jurisdictions a copy of the application and order of the justice fixing a time and place of hearing, delivered to the proper party, is a sufficient notice, although the person attesting and delivering such notice, was not an officer.⁶³ Service time when service legally could be made.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, supra.

43. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, supra.

44. La.—Martin's Case, 2 Mart. 77.

45. Me.—Page v. Plummer, 10 Me. 334.

S.C.—Rice v. Sims, 21 S.C.L. 5. 23 C.J. p 957 note 75.

46. Ky.—Bryant v. Crittenden, 10 Ky.Op. 605. 23 C.J. p 957 note 76.

47. Mass.—McInerny v. Samuels, 125 Mass. 214.

48. Mass.—Sturman v. McCarthy, 121 N.E. 522, 232 Mass. 44. 23 C.J. p 957 note 78.

49. U.S.—U. S. Bank v. Weisiger, Ky, 2 Pet. 331, 481, 7 L.Ed. 441, 492.

50. N.Y.—Underwood v. Irving, 3 Cow. 59.

51. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

52. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

53. Me.—Durstin v. Dodge, 20 A. 2d 671. 23 C.J. p 957 note 84.

After hour set for examination

No service in poor debtor proceeding can be made by officer on notice received by him for service after hour set for debtor's examination.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

Discharge void

Discharge in poor debtor proceeding is void, if made on return that fails to show that time required by Gen.L. c 224 § 20, was allowed.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, supra.

54. N.H.—Sanborn v. Piper, 10 A. 680, 64 N.H. 335.

55. Me.—Durstin v. Dodge, 20 A.2d 671.

56. Mass.—Carroll v. Rogers, 86 Mass. 70.

57. Mass.—Henshaw v. Savil, 114 Mass. 74.

58. S.C.—Ex parte Cantey, 45 S.C. L. 520. 23 C.J. p 958 note 89.

Costs

Clerk was not required to publish notice under insolvent debtor's statute without tender of fees, costs, and expenses in advance.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Hutto, 134 S.E. 232, 136 S.C. 207.

59. N.H.—Eaton v. Miner, 5 N.H. 542.

23 C.J. p 958 note 90.

Seal

A copy of the seal is not an essential part of the attested copy of the citation to be served on the creditor.—Beaupre v. Schlosberg, 163 A. 653, 131 Me. 407.

60. N.H.—Flanders v. Thompson, 2 N.H. 421.

23 C.J. p 958 note 91.

Attorney's offices

Under a statute providing that notice shall "be served on or left at the usual place of residence of the attorney of the plaintiff," where notice of the application is served on the attorney, the place of service is not of vital concern, and service on a firm of attorneys representing plaintiff at their law office, and duly acknowledged by one of them, is sufficient.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J.Misc. 139.

61. Me.—Hanson v. Dyer, 17 Me. 96.

Mass.—Young v. Capen, 7 Metc. 287.

62. Me.—Bliss v. Day, 68 Me. 201.

63. N.H.—Rankin v. Nettleton, 2 N. H. 395.

may be made by a constable de facto.⁶⁴

Proof of service. Proof of service of the notice is usually necessary under the various statutes,⁶⁵ and it is the debtor's duty to prove to the court that there has been such service as will make it the duty of the tribunal to take jurisdiction.⁶⁶

While the return of service of notice should be before the proper officer,⁶⁷ be sworn to,⁶⁸ and contain a recital of the time of service,⁶⁹ great liberality is exercised in amendments to supply omissions or to correct palpable errors therein for the purpose of sustaining the proceedings when the justice of the case requires it.⁷⁰ A return on a copy of the notice has been held to be sufficient where the original notice was delivered by the officer to the creditor.⁷¹

The return of the officer as to his service of the citation is conclusive between the parties, and must be taken as true unless it contains some repugnancy;⁷² but where notice is served by a private person, his affidavit as to the service is not conclusive.⁷³

Waiver of defective service. The creditor may either personally or through his attorney as by accepting the service of notice,⁷⁴ or appearance at the hearing,⁷⁵ waive any informality and irregularity therein; and in a suit on a poor debtor's recognizance, the question whether plaintiff had waived service of the notice in due form should be submitted to the jury.⁷⁶

§ 445. — Successive Applications

Under some statutes, where there has been a determination on the merits on an application for a discharge, a second application cannot be made unless there has been a change of circumstances.

Where there has been a decision on the merits on an application for a discharge under the insolvent or poor debtor's laws, under some statutes a second application cannot be made, unless there has been a change of circumstances in the meantime,⁷⁷ or unless the second application is authorized by statute.⁷⁸ Under such statutes, the making of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors is a sufficient change of circumstances to justify a second application.⁷⁹ It is no bar to a second application that the petitioner withdrew his first petition,⁸⁰ or that a discharge was denied him on a former petition, when he was committed on an execution in favor of another creditor who has since been paid.⁸¹

§ 446. — Hearing and Procedure to Obtain

- a. In general
- b. Jurisdiction and authority

a. In General

The time and place for a hearing on an application for a discharge as a poor or insolvent debtor should be fixed in accordance with the requirements of the statute.

Under some statutes the time and place of the examination of a poor debtor is to be appointed by the magistrate and not fixed by the debtor;⁸² but the place appointed must be a convenient one,⁸³ and the time fixed must be at a reasonable hour,⁸⁴ and far enough ahead as to enable the statutory notice to be given to the creditor.⁸⁵ The hearing must be had at the time and place stated in the notice of hearing, unless such hearing is delayed by 64. Mass.—Elliott v. Willis, 1 Allen 461.

23 C.J. p 958 note 95.

65. Mass.—Buckley v. Mitchell, 42 N.E. 557, 165 Mass. 106.

S.C.—Bettis v. Nixon, 32 S.C.L. 148. 23 C.J. p 958 note 98.

66. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Isidor, 152 N.E. 48, 255 Mass. 494.

67. Conn.—Smith v. Huntington, 2 Day 562. 23 C.J. p 958 note 99.

68. N.H.—Allen v. Bruce, 12 N.H. 418. 23 C.J. p 958 note 1.

69. Mass.—Smith v. Randall, 1 Allen 456. 23 C.J. p 958 note 2.

70. Mass.—Shepherd v. Jackson, 16 Gray 599. 23 C.J. p 958 note 3.

71. Mass.—Callaghan v. Whitmarsh, 14 N.E. 149, 145 Mass. 340.

72. Mass.—Leach v. Hill, 3 Metc. 173.

23 C.J. p 958 note 5.

73. N.H.—Woods v. Blodgett, 15 N.H. 569.

74. Mass.—Williams v. Kimball, 132 Mass. 214—Mutual Safety Fire Ins. Co. v. Woodward, 8 Allen 148.

75. N.J.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N.J.Misc. 139.

76. Mass.—Goldenberg v. Blake, 14 N.E. 171, 145 Mass. 354.

77. R.I.—Di Iorio v. Easton, 167 A. 137, 53 R.I. 429—Carlin v. Easton, 155 A. 527, 51 R.I. 421. 23 C.J. p 959 notes 7, 8, 10.

Denial of two applications of insolvent debtor for discharge does not justify dismissal of third application on ground of res judicata without examination to ascertain whether new matter is presented or whether debtor's position has changed.—Cofer v. Corio, 174 A. 758, 113 N.J.Law 498, reversing 170 A. 221, 112 N.J.Law 225.

78. Mass.—Lockhead v. Jones, 137 Mass. 25.

23 C.J. p 959 note 9.

79. R.I.—Di Iorio v. Easton, 167 A. 137, 53 R.I. 429—Carlin v. Easton, 155 A. 527, 51 R.I. 421.

23 C.J. p 959 note 11.

80. U.S.—Crawford's Case, D.C., 6 F.Cas.No.3,365, 2 Cranch C.C. 454. 23 C.J. p 959 note 12.

81. U.S.—Holtzman v. Plumsel, D.C., 12 F.Cas.No.6,650, 4 Cranch C.C. 184.

82. Mass.—Ithaca First Nat. Bank v. Gogin, 19 N.E. 780, 148 Mass. 448.

83. Mass.—Haskell v. Haven, 3 Pick. 404.

84. Mass.—May v. Foote, 7 Allen 354—Haskell v. Haven, 3 Pick. 404. 23 C.J. p 959 note 17.

85. Mass.—Ithaca First Nat. Bank v. Gogin, 19 N.E. 780, 148 Mass. 448.

an adjournment regularly made.⁸⁶ Under some statutes the examination need not take place in the actual presence of the court or magistrate;⁸⁷ nor has the debtor a right to confront the witnesses against him.⁸⁸ The notice and time of trial of suggestions filed by creditors is discretionary with the officer who is to hear them.⁸⁹

Questions considered. By filing a petition for discharge the debtor recognizes the validity of the process under which he has been seized and imprisoned, and he cannot raise such question collaterally in a proceeding for a discharge.⁹⁰

Procuring attendance of officer. Under some statutes, the burden of doing the necessary preliminary acts in the proceedings is on the debtor,⁹¹ including the procuring of the attendance of the magistrate or other officer at the time and place fixed for examination.⁹² Under other statutes, where both the debtor and creditor select a justice, it is the duty of the creditor to procure the attendance of the justice selected by him at the time and place appointed in the citation,⁹³ and this duty to procure the attendance of the justice applies at every lawful adjournment of the tribunal.⁹⁴

The report of commissioners appointed to investigate the affairs of an insolvent, under some statutes, should be under seal.⁹⁵

Time for appearance in court. The statutes providing for the relief of poor debtors sometimes designate the time within which the magistrate and parties shall appear, a usual allowance being one hour after the time fixed for the examination,⁹⁶ or to which such examination is adjourned,⁹⁷ and there will be no default on the part of either the debtor or creditor until the expiration of the full time.⁹⁸ It has been held, however, that there is no inflexible rule that, at the moment the hour expires, there is a discontinuance of all cases not then brought before the consideration of the magistrates;⁹⁹ and that the magistrate may keep open the hearing after the expiration of the hour to which it has been adjourned.¹ If the debtor does not appear on the day set he cannot be discharged.²

b. Jurisdiction and Authority

Only the judge or justice designated by statute has jurisdiction to hear the proceedings for the discharge of poor or insolvent debtors.

The statutes providing for the relief of poor debtors usually designate the magistrate or justice before whom the proceedings, examination, administration of oath, etc., are to be had,³ and no other persons have jurisdiction;⁴ and if the justices who administer the oath to the debtor are not authorized in conformity to the provisions of the statute to act in the matter, their certificate of discharge has no validity whatever.⁵ It has been held that the examination must be by officers who are authorized to act in the county in which the arrest was made.⁶ The presumption is in favor of 86. N.H.—Banks v. Johnson, 12 N.H. 445.

87. Mass.—McKeon v. Briggs, 123 N.E. 387, 233 Mass. 99. 23 C.J. p 959 note 20.

88. Mass.—Simon v. Justices & Special Justices Boston Municipal Ct., 112 N.E. 608, 224 Mass. 122. 23 C.J. p 959 note 21.

89. S.C.—Rice v. Sims, 21 S.C.L. 5. 23 C.J. p 960 note 22.

90. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

Malicious conduct

Where defendant in tort action was found guilty by jury of malicious conduct, question was concluded, and defendant could not attack validity of process under which he was seized and imprisoned under capias ad satisfaciendum in subsequent collateral proceedings for discharge from imprisonment.—White v. Youngblood, 12 N.E.2d 650, 367 Ill. 632, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 1057, 304 U.S. 583, 32 L.Ed. 1545.

91. Mass.—Morrill v. Norton, 116 Mass. 487.

N.Y.—Cobb v. Harmon, 23 N.Y. 148, affirming 29 Barb. 472.

92. Mass.—Chesebro v. Barme, 39 N.E. 1033, 163 Mass. 79. 23 C.J. p 960 note 26.

93. Me.—Stanley v. Reed, 28 Me. 458.

94. Me.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243.

95. La.—Spencer's Case, 2 Mart. 149.

96. Mass.—Niles v. Silverman, 103 N.E. 476, 216 Mass. 242. 23 C.J. p 960 note 29.

97. Mass.—Lincoln v. Cook, 124 Mass. 383. 23 C.J. p 960 note 30.

98. Mass.—Hills v. Jones, 122 Mass. 412. 23 C.J. p 960 note 31.

99. Mass.—Niles v. Silverman, 103 N.E. 476, 216 Mass. 242—Niles v. Hancock, 3 Metc. 568.

1. Mass.—Lincoln v. Cook, 124 Mass. 383. 23 C.J. p 960 note 33.

2. La.—Bott v. His Creditors, 9 La. 40. 23 C.J. p 960 note 34.

3. Conn.—Anderson v. Durey, 100 A. 99, 91 Conn. 510. 23 C.J. p 960 note 35.

In Maine two disinterested justices of the peace may become a court, for the purpose of examining the debtor who has applied for this statutory procedure, after they have examined the citation and return and found it correct. If they do not find it correct, there is no court to examine the debtor.—Karam v. Marden, 148 A. 691, 128 Me. 451.

In New York under the Debtor and Creditor Law § 121, application for a discharge must be made by petition addressed to the court from which the execution issued, or to the county court of the county in which he is imprisoned, or, if he is imprisoned in the city of New York, to the supreme court.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858.

4. Mass.—Lang v. Bunker, 1 Allen 256—Barker v. Ryan, 1 Allen 72.

5. Me.—Williams v. Turner, 19 Me. 454. 23 C.J. p 960 note 37.

6. Mass.—Brazil v. Green, 137 N.E. 346, 243 Mass. 252. 23 C.J. p 960 note 38.

the jurisdiction and acts of justices administering the poor debtor's oath,⁷ and the authority of one acting as commissioner in insolvency to take a debtor's recognizance will be presumed, in the absence of evidence that it was usurped.⁸ Commissioners appointed under statute to take a defendant's disclosure need not be sworn.⁹

Under some statutes, the court, on vacating a close jail certificate, has jurisdiction to grant the power to the prisoner to petition the jail commissioners for liberation on taking the poor debtor's oath, but the court does not have jurisdiction to order the jail commissioners to admit the prisoner to oath.¹⁰

Selection. Under some statutes, one justice is selected by the debtor, and then one by the creditor if he desires;¹¹ and when this right of the creditor is denied, the justices taking the disclosure have no jurisdiction and their proceedings are void.¹² If the creditor is not present to select a justice, the appointment may be made for him by an officer.¹³ If the two justices selected do not agree, they may choose a third justice to act with them, and if they cannot agree on a third, a legally qualified officer may choose him;¹⁴ the three justices then constitute the tribunal, and although the concurrence of only two is required, all must act in deciding such questions as arise until the final decision is made.¹⁵ The debtor may select one of the justices to take his disclosure at any time after the citation to the creditor has been prepared, and before the tribunal has been organized.¹⁶

Qualification of justice. Under some statutes, in order that their acts may be binding the justices before whom the examination is conducted must be disinterested,¹⁷ and relationship to either party within a certain degree will disqualify a justice.¹⁸ The issuing of a citation to a creditor does not, however, disqualify the justice issuing the same from hearing the disclosure, as a justice selected on the part of the debtor,¹⁹ nor will the fact that a justice who heard a disclosure on the part of the debtor was counsel for the debtor in an action subsequently brought on the bond given to procure the release of the debtor from arrest under execution affect the validity of the disclosure.²⁰

§ 447. — Hearing and Further Proceedings on Application

- a. In general
- b. Contest by creditor
- c. Evidence
- d. Order

a. In General

Particular matters relating to hearings on applications for a discharge as a poor or insolvent debtor are, except as controlled by specific statute, governed by the general rules of procedure.

Except in so far as governed by statute,²¹ an adjournment or continuance is within the discretion of the examining officers,²² and they may postpone or delay the hearing or examination from time to time whenever it becomes proper or necessary in the performance of their duties,²³ and for reasons of which they are the proper judges.²⁴ The adjournment may be based on the consent of the parties,²⁵ in which case it may be for a longer time than that prescribed by statute.²⁶ There can be

7. Me.—Randall v. Bowden, 48 Me. 37.

23 C.J. p 960 note 39.

8. Mass.—Damon v. Carrol, 40 N.E. 185, 163 Mass. 404.

9. Me.—Lewis v. Foster, 65 Me. 555.

10. Vt.—In re Blake, 175 A. 252, 107 Vt. 18.

11. Me.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243.

23 C.J. p 960 note 42.

12. Me.—Spaulding v. Record, 65 Me. 220.

13. Me.—Burnham v. Howe, 23 Me. 489.

23 C.J. p 961 note 44.

Adjourned hearing

Where the creditor's justice for no good reason fails to attend an adjourned hearing, at least in the absence of the creditor or his attorney, the officer in charge of the debtor may choose a justice to act in place of him who failed to appear.—Tarr v. Davis, 176 A. 407, 133 Me. 243.

14. Me.—Ross v. Berry, 49 Me. 434 —Moody v. Clark, 27 Me. 551.

15. Me.—McDougall v. Ricker, 98 A. 1025, 115 Me. 357.

23 C.J. p 961 note 46.

16. Me.—Chamberlain v. Sands, 27 Me. 458.

17. Me.—Ware v. Jackson, 24 Me. 166.

N.H.—Osgood v. Thorne, 63 N.H. 375.

23 C.J. p 961 note 48.

18. Me.—Baker v. Carleton, 32 Me. 335.

23 C.J. p 961 note 49.

19. Me.—Cummings v. York, 54 Me. 386.

20. Me.—Cummings v. York, supra.

21. N.Y.—People v. Locke, 8 N.Y. Leg.Obs. 164.

22. S.C.—Bently v. Page, 27 S.C.L. 52.

23 C.J. p 962 note 78.

23. Mass.—Niles v. Silverman, 103 N.E. 476, 216 Mass. 242.

23 C.J. p 962 note 79.

24. N.J.—Stagg v. Austin, 18 N.J. Law 82.

25. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

23 C.J. p 962 note 81.

26. N.H.—Leach v. Pillsbury, 18 N.H. 525.

N.Y.—People v. Behrman, Lalor 81.

Reason for rule

The statute was enacted for benefit of petitioning judgment debtor and his consent to the adjournment waived the benefit of the statute.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

Record that debtor consented to adjournment for longer period than permitted by statute imports verity.—Lipman v. Goebel, supra.

no adjournment after a final decision,²⁷ nor to a place and time when there is to be no session of the court.²⁸ An adjournment by one only of the two justices is invalid, although consented to by the attorney of the creditor.²⁹ Payment of fees or any formal organization of the tribunal to hear the disclosure are not ordinarily a prerequisite to the exercise of the power to adjourn.³⁰

Where at the time and place to which the hearing was adjourned, the debtor appears but the creditor does not, this is an abandonment of charges of fraud, and of all opposition to the discharge of the debtor.³¹

Administration and requisites of oath. The governing statute usually prescribes the person or official by whom the poor debtor's oath should be administered,³² as well as the form and requisites of the oath.³³ If, on the examination and hearing of the parties, the magistrate or justice is satisfied that the debtor's disclosure is true, and they do not discover anything therein inconsistent with his taking the oath, they should administer the same to him;³⁴ but if the examiner is not satisfied that the disclosure is true or anything is discovered which is inconsistent with the taking of the oath,³⁵ as where the debtor is found guilty on the charge of fraud,³⁶ there is no authority to administer the oath. Under some statutes, however, it is the inescapable duty of the jail commissioners to admit the prisoner to the poor debtor's oath when the requisite facts have been found by them;³⁷ and it has been held that the magistrates to whom a debtor applies for the oath of insolvency have no discretion where he has complied with the requisites of the act in relation to notice, schedule, etc., but are bound to administer the oath, although they may be of the opinion that the debtor is about to commit perjury.³⁸ Under a statute requiring the jail commissioners to find that the prisoner is entitled to take the oath before admitting him thereto, the mere tacit admission of the truth of facts stated in the sworn petition of the prisoner, made in a subsequent proceeding, is not such a finding of facts as the statute requires.³⁹ The oath may be administered outside of the prison yard,⁴⁰ and may be administered before the expiration of the hour fixed by statute in some states, if the creditor or his agent has previously assented thereto.⁴¹ The officer administering the oath is not required, in some jurisdictions, to return to the clerk's office a certificate of the oath or a copy of the discharge, it being sufficient to return the schedule and to deliver the discharge to the jailer.⁴²

Appraisal and assignment of property. Under some statutes, where a debtor discloses in his examination that he possesses any property not exempt by law, which cannot be attached, appraisers must be selected to appraise such property before he can be discharged;⁴³ and he must deliver up his property,⁴⁴ or assign it to his creditor.⁴⁵ If the debtor voluntarily disables himself to make the assignment it is equivalent to a refusal by him to make it.⁴⁶ Under some statutes the debtor is not entitled to an absolute and immediate release from confinement on making a surrender of his property and on obtaining the judge's order of acceptance thereof, but he must await the action of the meeting of his creditors.⁴⁷

In the absence of statutory authorization, in proceedings based on the application of a debtor to take the oath for relief of poor debtors, the court has no authority to make an order for the transfer

27. Mass.—Russell v. Goodrich, 8 Allen 150.

28. Mass.—Bliss v. Kershaw, 61 N. E. 823, 180 Mass. 99.

29. Me.—Hovey v. Hamilton, 24 Me. 451—Williams v. Burrill, 23 Me. 144.

30. Me.—Gould v. Ford, 39 A. 480, 91 Me. 146.

31. Mass.—O'Connell v. Hovey, 126 Mass. 310—Doane v. Bartlett, 4 Allen 74.

32. Conn.—Betts v. Dimon, 3 Conn. 107.

R.I.—Wilcox v. Crowell, 19 A. 329, 16 R.I. 707.

23 C.J. p 965 note 52.

33. Me.—Little v. Cochran, 24 Me. 509.

In Massachusetts the material provisions of the oath are that debtor has not any property to the amount of twenty dollars except property which is by law exempt from being taken on execution, but not excepting intoxicating liquors; and that he has not any other property now conveyed, concealed, or in any way disposed of with the design to secure same to his own use nor to defraud his creditors.—First People's Trust v. District Court of Lawrence, 146 N.E. 353, 251 Mass. 206.

34. Conn.—Anderson v. Dewey, 100 A. 99, 91 Conn. 510. 23 C.J. p 965 note 54.

35. U.S.—Burnham v. Adams, C.C. Me., 4 F.Cas.No.2,173, 2 Cliff. 569. Me.—Butman v. Holbrook, 27 Me. 419—Little v. Cochran, 24 Me. 509.

36. Mass.—Noyes v. Manning, 34 N. E. 682, 159 Mass. 446.

37. Vt.—In re Savage, 22 A.2d 153, 112 Vt. 89.

38. Va.—Harrison v. Emmerson, 2 Leigh 764, 29 Va. 764.

39. Vt.—Gaffney v. Commissioners of Jail Delivery for Rutland County, 13 A.2d 192, 111 Vt. 196.

40. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Alden, 14 Mass. 388.

41. Mass.—Lord v. Skinner, 9 Allen 376.

42. Ky.—Bryan v. Perry, 5 T.B.Mon. 275.

43. Me.—Wingate v. Leeman, 27 Me. 174. 23 C.J. p 965 note 47.

44. Ala.—Wade v. Judge, 5 Ala. 130.

45. N.J.—Stokes v. Hardy, 60 A. 403, 71 N.J.Law 549, reversing 58 A. 650, 71 N.J.Law 116.

23 C.J. p 965 note 49.

46. N.H.—Head v. Clarke, 45 N.H. 287.

47. La.—Cawley v. Judge Fourth Dist. Ct., 13 So. 196, 45 La. Ann. 948.

of the debtor's property to the creditor.⁴⁸

Discontinuance, abandonment, or withdrawal. After service of notice the proceedings are not abated by the death of the creditor.⁴⁹ Failure of the petitioner to attend or have the proceedings adjourned discontinues the application.⁵⁰ The proceedings may be abandoned by the debtor on paying the debt.⁵¹

Reopening proceedings. Where the debtor's petition for discharge has been denied because he concealed some of his property,⁵² or on the ground that he omitted from his account some claims owned by him,⁵³ the proceedings may be reopened on his showing that he acted in good faith, and stating facts which explain or justify his conduct. Under some statutes where an application to take the poor debtor's oath is denied for want of service of notice on the creditor, the court's jurisdiction over the application is at an end, at least where there was no mistake on the judge's part as to the nature or effect of his decision, further power of the court to deal with the application is gone, and it has no power thereafter to entertain a request for a revision of the ruling and the issuance of a new notice.⁵⁴

Review. Under some statutes there is no appeal from the decision of the jail commissioners in denying an application for a discharge.⁵⁵ Under some statutes an appeal from an order refusing a discharge, with a prescribed bond, entitles the debtor to a discharge from custody;⁵⁶ a bond so given is not a mere cost bond, but is intended to protect the creditor's claim.⁵⁷ If the order of discharge is invalid because of failure to require an assignment, the appellate court, in reviewing the order of discharge, should remand the case to be proceeded with according to law and should not permit the creditors to sue on the bond given by the insolvent.⁵⁸

On review there is a presumption that the proceedings had for the discharge of an insolvent or poor debtor were regular.⁵⁹

Costs and fees. The creditor is entitled to recover of the debtor the expense of citing him on the execution to appear and make a disclosure.⁶⁰ The payment of the magistrate's fee is not a condition precedent to the discharge of a poor debtor.⁶¹ A defendant who is discharged by taking the insolvent's oath is not entitled to costs.⁶² Under some statutes, the debtor is not legally entitled to claim a discharge without paying the amount due the jailer for his support in jail; such a sum is a part of the jailer's fees.⁶³

Action for false disclosure. By statute, in some states, if the debtor willfully makes a false disclosure, or withholds or suppresses the truth on a material issue, the creditor may bring a special action on the case against him.⁶⁴ The false oath of the debtor must be alleged and proved, either by the testimony of the disclosure commissioner, the certificate of the magistrate, or by circumstantial evidence.⁶⁵

b. Contest by Creditor

Under some statutes the creditor may contest the debtor's right to a discharge as a poor or insolvent debtor, and the usual practice in such cases is to cause or permit a suggestion of fraud to be filed and an issue made up so that the matter may be tried as in other civil cases.

Under some statutes, when an insolvent debtor has made his application for a discharge and filed his schedule as provided by law, the creditor may contest his right to be discharged,⁶⁶ by traversing the schedule so filed, as by suggesting fraud or concealment of any property, money, or effects not embraced therein;⁶⁷ and if the issue is found against the debtor he may be imprisoned until he surrenders the property.⁶⁸ It has been held that a creditor, who is in no way injured or defrauded, 48. Mass.—First People's Trust v. District Court of Lawrence, 146 N.E. 353, 251 Mass. 206.

49. N.Y.—Cobb v. Harmon, 23 N. Y. 148, affirming 29 Barb. 472.

50. N.Y.—Comstock's Case, 16 Abb. Pr. 233, 25 How.Pr. 429.

51. S.C.—Sleeper v. Cohen, 46 S.C. L. 112, 23 C.J. p 965 note 63.

52. N.Y.—Matter of Thomas, 10 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 114.

53. N.Y.—Matter of Rosenberg, 10 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 450.

54. Mass.—H. B. Smith Co. v. Stone, 140 N.E. 750, 246 Mass. 190.

55. Vt.—In re Savage, 22 A.2d 153,

112 Vt. 89—In re Blake, 175 A. 252, 107 Vt. 18.

56. Ala.—Ex parte Whitehead, 23 Ala. 93.

Ill.—Strohm v. Facht, 185 Ill.App. 127.

57. Ill.—Strohm v. Facht, supra.

58. N.J.—Stokes v. Hardy, 60 A. 403, 71 N.J.Law 549, reversing 58 A. 650, 71 N.J.Law 116.

59. Pa.—Grissinger v. Miller, 180 A. 904, 119 Pa.Super. 283.

60. Me.—Emerson v. Lombard, 15 Me. 458.

61. Mass.—Coleman v. Hawkes, 120 Mass. 594.

62. Tenn.—Roberts v. Shell, 4 Yerg. 160.

63. Me.—McPheters v. Morrill, 66 Me. 123.

64. Me.—Doughty v. Sullivan, 93 A. 738, 113 Me. 243—Golder v. Fletcher, 71 Me. 76—Dyer v. Burnham, 48 Me. 298.

65. Me.—Doughty v. Sullivan, 93 A. 738, 113 Me. 243, 23 C.J. p 966 note 83.

66. Ill.—People v. Hanchett, 111 Ill. 90, S.C.—Lowden v. Moses, 12 S.C.L. 120.

67. N.C.—Hayes v. Lancaster, 163 S. E. 602, 202 N.C. 515, 23 C.J. p 963 note 92.

68. N.C.—Adams v. Alexander, 28 N. C. 501.

Pa.—Hassinger's Case, 2 Ashm. 287.

cannot contest the debtor's discharge.⁶⁹ Under some statutes, where a debtor arrested on execution applies to take the poor debtor's oath, the creditor may file charges of fraud against him⁷⁰ at any time before the announcement of the magistrate's decision, although the hearing of evidence and arguments has closed, and the case has been continued for the purpose of considering questions of law and fact involved;⁷¹ and where such charges are sustained,⁷² the debtor cannot be released but may be subjected to additional punishment.⁷³

Although it has been held that a creditor has the right to examine applicant before the judge or commissioner touching on the truth of his schedule,⁷⁴ without filing a suggestion of fraud,⁷⁵ the usual practice, under the statutes, is to cause or permit a suggestion of fraud to be filed and an issue to be made up so that the matter may be tried as in other cases.⁷⁶ The charges of fraud are in the nature of an action at law, notwithstanding the provision for punishment by imprisonment,⁷⁷ and are incidental to the debtor's application to be relieved from imprisonment, by taking the oath, and are set up by way of answer to that application.⁷⁸ The suggestions must allege fraud with sufficient fullness and certainty to indicate the charges the debtor must answer,⁷⁹ and the charges must be clear, distinct, and specific, and not founded on mere hearsay and rumor.⁸⁰ The suggestions, where filed, must also contain the charges and specifications to which the verdict must answer.⁸¹ Vague or insufficient allegations do not authorize the court to direct interrogatories to be filed or an issue to be tried.⁸² It is not, however, necessary to specify the time, place, sum, person, item, and other facts with the same precision required in an ordinary declaration, although advantage may be taken of defects in form or substance;⁸³ nor need charges of fraud be stated with the particularity requisite for an indictment, but only with sufficient clearness to inform the debtor of the nature and particulars of the transaction intended to be proved against him.⁸⁴ The charges may be alleged on belief, without venue, and as "on or about" a day named within the limitation presented by statute.⁸⁵ They may be signed and sworn to by one of several partners in behalf of his firm.⁸⁶ The question whether the charges of fraud were sufficient in form cannot be raised on motion in arrest of judgment,⁸⁷ and an objection to the specification on the ground that it is not sufficiently certain is too late after issue joined,⁸⁸ the remedy being to move for specifications.⁸⁹ It has been held that before requiring the debtor to join in an issue to try the fairness of his schedule, there should be some showing by affidavits, although the right to call therefor is waived by pleading to the suggestions.⁹⁰ Where the statute is specific in limiting the time in which to plead to the debtor's declaration, it has been held that the court cannot extend the time to plead or recognize a plea filed out of time.⁹¹

If the creditors do not appear and show cause at the time and place fixed there is a discharge by operation of law under some statutes;⁹² or if the

69. N.Y.—In re Brady, 69 N.Y. 215, 53 How.Pr. 128, affirming 8 Hun 437—In re Brown, 39 Hun 27.

70. Mass.—Leonard v. Bolton, 26 N. E. 1118, 153 Mass. 428, 23 C.J. p 963 note 95.

71. Mass.—Andrews v. Cassidy, 7 N. E. 545, 142 Mass. 96.

72. Mass.—Morse v. Dayton, 125 Mass. 47, 23 C.J. p 963 note 98.

73. Mass.—Leonard v. Bolton, 26 N. E. 1118, 153 Mass. 428—Everett v. Henderson, 23 N.E. 318, 150 Mass. 411.

R.I.—Matteson v. Choquet, 90 A. 161, 36 R.I. 271.

74. S.C.—Fleming v. Close, 34 S.C.L. 362, 23 C.J. p 963 note 1.

75. S.C.—Rosser v. Moye, 30 S.C.L. 62—Fabre v. Zylstra, 2 S.C.L. 147.

76. N.C.—Hayes v. Lancaster, 163 S. E. 602, 202 N.C. 515, 23 C.J. p 963 note 3.

No issue

Where debtor amends his schedule on the filing of a suggestion of its falsity, and in the amendment states what he affirms to be the true condition of the property specified, and adds that he is ready to include in his schedule and assign whatever interest he has in it, the truth or falsity of his statements cannot be tried by a jury, but it is sufficient for him to assign his interest in the property.—Craig v. Pinson, 29 S.C.L. 176.

77. Mass.—Morse v. O'Hara, 142 N. E. 40, 247 Mass. 183, 23 C.J. p 963 note 4.

78. Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 23 N.E. 318, 150 Mass. 411—Stockwell v. Silloway, 100 Mass. 287.

79. N.C.—Hayes v. Lancaster, 163 S.E. 602, 202 N.C. 515.

80. S.C.—Ex parte Maffet, 45 S.C.L. 358.

Allegations held insufficient

N.C.—Hayes v. Lancaster, 163 S.E. 602, 202 N.C. 515.

81. S.C.—Haviland v. Wolff, 48 S.C. L. 108—Robinsons v. Amy, 30 S.C. L. 289.

82. U.S.—Crawford's Case, D.C., 6 F. Cas.No.3,865, 2 Cranch C.C. 454.

83. S.C.—Gray v. Schroder, 33 S.C. L. 126.

84. Mass.—Anderson v. Edwards, 123 Mass. 273, 23 C.J. p 963 note 11.

85. Mass.—Stockwell v. Silloway, 100 Mass. 287.

86. Mass.—Brown v. Tobias, 1 Allen 385.

87. Mass.—Lamagdelaine v. Tremblay, 39 N.E. 38, 162 Mass. 339.

88. N.C.—Nixon v. Nunnery, 31 N. C. 28.

89. Mass.—Noyse v. Manning, 37 N. E. 768, 162 Mass. 14, 23 C.J. p 964 note 16.

90. S.C.—Baker v. Bushnell, 26 S. C.L. 66, 23 C.J. p 964 note 17.

91. N.J.—Compton v. Calvert, 72 A. 29, 77 N.J.Law 358.

92. La.—Toutain v. His Creditors, 14 La. 336—Caldwell v. Bloomfield, 2 La. 503—Martin's Case, 2 Mart. 77.

creditor has filed charges and does not appear at the time and place fixed, it constitutes an abandonment of his charges and of all opposition to the discharge of the debtor, even though the debtor promises to pay the execution,⁹³ and the magistrate has no further jurisdiction except to discharge the debtor.⁹⁴ The failure to appear, however, does not waive the right to attack the order of discharge, where the petition is on its face insufficient to give the court jurisdiction,⁹⁵ and even where charges have been filed, it has been held that petitioner must go on and prove his case, although the creditor does not appear.⁹⁶

A motion by the debtor to dismiss charges of fraud may be entertained if seasonably made.⁹⁷

Amendment. The charges contained in the suggestions filed are subject to amendment,⁹⁸ and where the creditor desires to file additional objections to the schedule, a new trial may be granted with leave to amend the suggestions.⁹⁹ It has been held, however, that the allegations of the contestor will not be allowed to be amended, after the jury is sworn, by inserting the name of another creditor.¹

Evidence. It is incumbent on the persons filing the counter allegations to show that they are creditors of the insolvent,² and the debtor may show that the contestor is not his creditor;³ and if fraud is relied on, the contestor must show that it was against creditors who were such at the time of the alleged fraudulent conveyance and at the time of the trial.⁴ The burden of showing fraud is on the contesting creditors,⁵ but the general rules of evidence in civil proceedings apply,⁶ and such charges need not be proved beyond a reasonable doubt as in criminal cases.⁷ Something more than a suspicion of artifice and deception is necessary to prove fraud.⁸ The creditor may show that the debtor was seen with money or other property shortly before his arrest,⁹ and may question the debtor as to his giving an inventory to the officer who arrested him.¹⁰ The debtor and his wife may be called by the creditor as witnesses.¹¹

A verdict must answer with reference to each charge and specification that it is true or untrue.¹²

Appeal. On the trial of charges of fraud, under some statutes, either party has a right of appeal from the decision and to a trial by jury,¹³ such appeal being in like manner as in civil actions,¹⁴ and statutes giving this right to the creditor are not unconstitutional as placing the debtor twice in jeopardy.¹⁵ Under some statutes providing for trial of charges of fraud, a decision and finding of fraud is but one step in the procedure and sentence is necessary before the case reaches the stage of judgment from which the debtor can appeal.¹⁶ An appeal will not be allowed merely for the purpose of enhancing the punishment.¹⁷ This right of appeal, although claimed by the creditor, does not make it less the duty of the examining magistrates to administer the oath to the debtor and issue the certificate thereof, where they decide that the charges of fraud are not maintained,¹⁸ nor will an appeal taken from the decision of the magistrate, finding the poor debtor guilty on charges of fraud filed, exempt the debtor from arrest on the execution.¹⁹

93. Mass.—O'Connell v. Hovey, 126 Mass. 310.

23 C.J. p 964 note 35.

94. Mass.—Longley v. Cleavland, 133 Mass. 256.

95. N.Y.—Seward v. Wales, 58 N.Y.S. 42, 40 App.Div. 539, affirmed 60 N.E. 1120, 167 N.Y. 538.

96. N.J.—Williamson v. Booram, 10 N.J.Law 351.

97. Mass.—Clatur v. Donegan, 126 Mass. 28.

98. Mass.—Lamagdelaine v. Tremblay, 39 N.E. 38, 162 Mass. 339, 23 C.J. p 964 note 19.

99. S.C.—Bowen v. Holleyman, 43 S.C.L. 65.

23 C.J. p 964 note 20.

1. U.S.—Newton's Case, D.C., 18 F.Cas.No.10,188, 2 Cranch C.C. 467.

2. U.S.—Newton's Case, supra.

3. U.S.—Mandeville v. Jamesson, D.C., 16 F.Cas.No.9,011, 1 Cranch C.C. 509.

4. U.S.—Ex parte Knowles, D.C., 14 F.Cas.No.7,895, 2 Cranch C.C. 576.

5. U.S.—Ex parte Knowles, supra.
La.—Parlange v. His Creditors, 18 La. 475.

Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 23 N.E. 318, 150 Mass. 411.

6. Mass.—Taylor v. Jacobs, 138 Mass. 148.

23 C.J. p 964 note 27.

7. Mass.—Anderson v. Edwards, 123 Mass. 273.

8. N.C.—Hayes v. Lancaster, 163 S.E. 602, 202 N.C. 515.

9. Ga.—Johnson v. Martin, 25 Ga. 268.

10. N.J.—Bond v. Cox, 30 N.J.Law 381.

11. Mass.—Anderson v. Edwards, 123 Mass. 273.

12. S.C.—Haviland v. Wolff, 48 S.C.

L. 108—Hedley v. Jordan, 31 S.C.L. 453.

23 C.J. p 964 note 33.

13. Conn.—Wheatley v. Dubuc, 105 A. 616, 93 Conn. 271.

Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 23 N.E. 313, 150 Mass. 411—Morse v. Dayton, 125 Mass. 47.

N.C.—Wilkins v. Baugham, 25 N.C. 86.

23 C.J. p 964 note 41.

14. Mass.—Everett v. Henderson, 23 N.E. 318, 150 Mass. 411.

15. Mass.—Stockwell v. Silloway, 100 Mass. 287.

16. Mass.—Morse v. O'Hara, 142 N.E. 40, 247 Mass. 183.

17. Mass.—Smith v. Dickinson, 3 N.E. 40, 140 Mass. 171.

23 C.J. p 965 note 44.

18. Mass.—Ingersoll v. Strong, 9 Metc. 447.

19. Mass.—Fletcher v. Bartlett, 10 Gray 491.

c. Evidence

In determining the truth and justice of the application, the court will hear any legal and competent evidence.

It is the duty of the court to hear and examine into the truth and justice of the application or petition²⁰ by hearing any legal and competent evidence adduced on the part of the petitioner,²¹ or of any one or more of the creditors.²² The opposing creditors may introduce proof on the subject of the arrest of the debtor,²³ or to show that the debtor has not complied with the provisions of the statute.²⁴ The debtor should answer under oath the questions put to him on examination;²⁵ and he may prove by his own oath that he has been arrested and given the bond required by the statute in such case.²⁶ On application to take the poor debtor's oath, any course of examination which would have a tendency to exhibit conduct of the debtor inconsistent with the oath is pertinent and appropriate,²⁷ and the oath may be refused where one of several charges is proved,²⁸ or where the debtor cannot account for the appropriation of money traced to his hands;²⁹ but no inquiry is permissible as to disposition of property prior to the contracting of the debt for which judgment was rendered.³⁰ The debtor must make a true disclosure of his business affairs and property under oath, and the creditor may propose to the debtor any interrogatories pertinent to the inquiry.³¹ Under some statutes the debtor has the burden of proving the facts stated in the oath and the facts stated in the certificate, and unless this burden is sustained the oath will be refused.³² It has also been held that if the debtor has property in his possession which is not included in his schedule, and on which he pays taxes as his own, the burden is on him to show that it does not belong to him.³³ It has been held, however, that the statement exhibited under oath by a petitioner for the benefit of the insolvent laws is prima facie correct; and the burden of proving it to be erroneous lies on the opposing creditors,³⁴ and whether the statements made by a poor debtor at his examination before the justices are true, and if so whether they are consistent with the oath, are questions for the final decision of the magistrates under the statute.³⁵ If petitioner departed from the state it is necessary, in some jurisdictions, to show that he went with a clear intention of returning.³⁶ If the application is a second one, proof of a change of circumstances may be required by the court before any examination.³⁷

As to nature of action. Whether the action belongs to the class in which a discharge may be granted cannot be determined by extrinsic evidence, but only from the record if such fact can be obtained therefrom;³⁸ but, in the absence of a statute to the contrary,³⁹ where the complaint contains several counts, on some of which a discharge may be granted, and where the verdict is a general one

20. N.J.—Wallace v. Coll, 24 N.J. Law 600.

Pa.—Hassinger's Case, 2 Ashm. 287. 23 C.J. p 961 note 53.

Evidence held sufficient to entitle debtor to discharge

N.J.—In re Walaska, 129 A. 418, 3 N. J. Misc. 139.

Evidence held insufficient to support finding that petitioner was insolvent or had made complete schedule of property.—Abbrassart v. Bouchard, 241 Ill.App. 484.

21. N.J.—Wallace v. Coll, 24 N.J. Law 600.

Pa.—Denney's Case, 1 Ashm. 261. 23 C.J. p 961 note 54.

22. Me.—Marr v. Clark, 56 Me. 542. N.H.—Bunker v. Nutter, 9 N.H. 554. N.J.—Wallace v. Coll, 24 N.J. Law 600.

23. N.J.—Bond v. Cox, 30 N.J. Law 381.

24. N.J.—Smick v. Opdycke, 12 N.J. Law 347.

23 C.J. p 961 note 57.

25. N.Y.—People v. Behrman, L. L. 81.

23 C.J. p 961 note 58.

26. N.J.—Hamilton v. Chevallier, 18 N.J. Law 433.

27. Me.—Little v. Cochran, 24 Me. 509.

28. Mass.—Macaig's Case, 137 Mass. 467.

29. Kan.—Heath v. Brown, 19 P. 363, 40 Kan. 33.

Ga.—Ex parte Bishop, T. U. P. Charlt. 267.

23 C.J. p 961 note 62.

30. Me.—Ledden v. Hanson, 39 Me. 355—Jewett v. Rines, 39 Me. 9.

31. Me.—Marr v. Clark, 56 Me. 542. N.H.—Bunker v. Nutter, 9 N.H. 554. 23 C.J. p 962 note 64.

32. Mass.—First People's Trust v. District Court of Lawrence, 146 N. E. 353, 251 Mass. 206.

33. S.C.—Walker v. Briggs, 19 S.C. L. 118.

34. Pa.—Hassinger's Case, 2 Ashm. 287.

35. Me.—Ledden v. Hanson, 39 Me. 355.

36. Pa.—Senior's Case, 2 Ashm. 118.

37. R.I.—In re Ballou, 7 R.I. 466.

38. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed.

1246—Buck v. Alex. 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill. App. 556—McNamara v. Bird-Sykes Co., 252 Ill.App. 273—In re Petition of Floren, 251 Ill.App. 569—Masterson v. Furman, 89 Ill.App. 291.

23 C.J. p 962 notes 72–74.

Matters considered

In determining the question the court must keep in mind the charge as laid in the declaration, and the construction placed on the language found therein, together with the finding of the jury.—Fromm v. Seyller, 245 Ill.App. 392.

Records of municipal court were properly received in evidence to determine if malice was of the gist of the action.—In re Hobzin, 220 Ill. App. 470.

39. In Illinois, since the amendment of July 11, 1935, Smith-Hurd St. c 77 § 5, it is no longer the province of the county court to determine whether malice was the gist of the action in which the judgment was recovered. That question, under the amendment, is left to the trier of facts in the action where the tort judgment is obtained.—In re Monaco, 5 N.E.2d 755, 287 Ill.App. 540.

responsive to all the counts, the court may hear evidence to determine such fact,⁴⁰ and the petitioner has the burden of proving that the verdict and judgment were based on a count authorizing a discharge.⁴¹ Evidence as to the occurrence on which the suit resulting in the judgment was based is not admissible, since the petitioner is not entitled to a new trial of such suit on the merits, the sole question being what determination was reached on the trial of the case.⁴²

d. Order

It is the duty of the court to make the proper and necessary orders.

It is the duty of the court hearing the application to make the requisite decisions and orders respecting the property, etc., surrendered, and the discharge of the prisoner,⁴³ if no sufficient cause is shown for disbelieving the prisoner's oath or affirmation and the proceedings are just and fair.⁴⁴

Although, in view of the harshness of the remedy, the debtor should be given the benefit of a doubt as to the regularity of the proceedings under which he was held,⁴⁵ the granting of a discharge ordinarily rests in the sound discretion of the court or officer hearing the petition therefor.⁴⁶ Under the constitutions and statutes of some states, it is the duty of the court to discharge the debtor if he is without means or property with which to pay the judgment and has not secreted or assigned his property, notwithstanding the length of time which has elapsed since his arrest.⁴⁷ The judgment of a court that the case is not one in which the debtor is entitled to a discharge on schedule and assignment of his property is final and conclusive until reversed or otherwise annulled.⁴⁸ It has been held that the discharge may be conditional.⁴⁹

The order for the prisoner's discharge should show on its face whether made in court or out of court,⁵⁰ and it will not per se protect an officer

40. Ill.—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E.2d 502, 285 Ill.App. 50—Stoike v. Bonasera, 243 Ill.App. 281—Abbrassart v. Bouchard, 241 Ill.App. 484.

Evidence held to establish prima facie that malice was not gist of action.—Abbrassart v. Bouchard, supra.

41. Ill.—Petition of Blackledge, 195 N.E. 3, 359 Ill. 482—Buck v. Alex, 182 N.E. 794, 350 Ill. 167, reversing 263 Ill.App. 556—Jernberg v. Mix, 65 N.E. 242, 199 Ill. 254, affirming 100 Ill.App. 264—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E.2d 502, 285 Ill.App. 50—In re Teiszerski, 272 Ill.App. 305—Gannon v. Kiel, 251 Ill.App. 389—Scanlon v. Whalen, 249 Ill.App. 19—Mantske v. Rhutassel, 248 Ill. App. 492—Kaplan v. Williams, 245 Ill.App. 542—Fromm v. Seyller, 245 Ill.App. 392—Stoike v. Bonasera, 243 Ill.App. 281—Abbrassart v. Bouchard, 241 Ill.App. 484—Petition of Pets, 239 Ill.App. 250—In re Meinhardt, 202 Ill.App. 266—Mahler v. Sinsheimer, 20 Ill.App. 401.

Evidence held insufficient to show that malice was not of the gist of the action.—Chalukonis v. Jozwiak, 4 N.E.2d 782, 287 Ill.App. 170.

42. Ill.—Rosenberg v. Ott, 1 N.E.2d 502, 285 Ill.App. 50.

43. Ala.—Morrow v. Weaver, 8 Ala. 288.

23 C.J. p 966 note 64.

Commitment for contempt

In view of Gen.L. c 224 § 11, where petitioner, taken on execution, during examination disclosed that after service he had assigned property for benefit of creditors which was not exempt, district court could commit him for contempt.—Petition of Connors, 149 N.E. 669, 254 Mass. 103.

44. N.Y.—Matter of Thomas, 10 Abb.Pr., N.S., 114, 23 C.J. p 966 note 65.

45. Ill.—Lipman v. Goebel, 192 N.E. 203, 357 Ill. 315, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 508, 294 U.S. 712, 79 L.Ed. 1246.

46. Pa.—Kubit v. Witt, 193 A. 81, 127 Pa.Super. 434.

Fraud

Whether the debtor has been guilty of fraud or assigning or secreting his property rests in the judicial discretion of the court.—Petition of Young, 192 A. 911, 327 Pa. 267.

Where debtor is sick and further imprisonment may be a menace to his life, the court may, in an otherwise proper case, grant a discharge.—Sam Kass Corporation v. Kass, 1 N.Y.S.2d 783, 165 Misc. 858—Wintner v. Aron, 260 N.Y.S. 226, 145 Misc. 313, affirmed 259 N.Y.S. 967, reargument denied 259 N.Y.S. 1023, 236 App.Div. 840.

Where continuance of confinement will serve no good purpose, the debtor may be discharged.—In re Snyder, 280 N.Y.S. 257, 155 Misc. 616, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 259, 244 App.Div. 784.

47. Pa.—Petition of Young, 192 A. 911, 327 Pa. 267—Bloomington v. Shapiro, 195 A. 642, 129 Pa.Super. 218—Hefferon v. Sieminski, 43 Lack.Jur. 25—Petition of Di Maio, 89 Pittsb.Leg.J. 227.

Discretion before sixty days

(1) Under 39 Pub.St. § 12 it has been held that, before the expiration of sixty days after the commitment, the court may exercise its discretion in granting a discharge, but after sixty days have expired, if defendant complies with the law, he is entitled to a discharge.—Kubit v. Witt, 193 A. 81, 127 Pa.Super. 434—De Turk v. Gackenbach, 96 Pa.Super. 38—Matz v. Haug, 80 Pa.Super. 583—Petition of Ostrowske, 79 Pa.Super. 311—McFadden v. Stamm, 7 Pa.Dist. & Co. 753—De Many v. Walner, 44 Pa.Co. 699—DeLeo v. Pachloli, 56 Montg.Co. 351.

(2) Cases so holding have been criticized on the ground that Const. art 1 § 16 was apparently not taken into account, since under that provision if a debtor is without means or property with which to pay the judgment, has not secreted or assigned any of his property, follows the procedure prescribed by statute, and there is not a strong presumption of fraud growing out of either the transaction which formed the basis of the judgment or the proceedings for discharge, he is entitled to a discharge without waiting sixty days.—Grissinger v. Miller, 180 A. 904, 119 Pa.Super. 283.

(3) Even conceding that a discharge before the expiration of sixty days is a matter of discretion, such discretion must not be abused.—Grissinger v. Miller, 180 A. 904, 119 Pa.Super. 283.

48. Ill.—People v. Hanchett, 111 Ill. 90.

49. Ohio.—Loines v. Philips, 2 Ohio 313.

23 C.J. p 966 note 67.

50. N.Y.—Hayes v. Bowe, 12 Daly 193, 65 How.Pr. 347.

23 C.J. p 966 note 68.

acting under it, unless it contains recitals of all the facts necessary to give jurisdiction to the court granting it;⁵¹ but if the order fails in these particulars the facts needful to give jurisdiction may be established aliunde.⁵² If a discharge is denied after a jury trial the judgment against the debtor is "that he be precluded from any benefit under the act entitled," etc.⁵³

Recommitment. Under some statutes, if the petition is refused, but the petitioner is out on a prison-bonds bond, he will not be ordered into close custody.⁵⁴ In some jurisdictions it has been held that the debtor may be recommitted if he fails to comply properly with the statute for the relief of honest debtors,⁵⁵ or if the court has reason to believe him guilty of fraud.⁵⁶ The court, on refusing a discharge, may verbally order the debtor back into the officer's custody without process in the name of the people.⁵⁷

Reconsideration of order. Where there has been no final order, the court has the power to reconsider its order refusing the oath to the debtor, and it may direct the clerk to remove the certificate for commitment from the execution, and, after rescinding the order, it may administer the oath and discharge the debtor.⁵⁸

§ 448. — Record

There should be a compliance with statutory requirements as to matters which should appear of record in proceedings of this character, and the usual rules as to conclusiveness of matters appearing of record apply. Where the statute so provides, a certificate of discharge should be given the debtor.

Under some statutes the jail commissioners in hearing an application for discharge do not constitute a tribunal of record, and they are not required to keep any record of their proceedings.⁵⁹ Under other statutes, however, the authority of the justices before whom the examination and disclosure of a poor debtor took place must appear from the record, and nothing will be presumed in favor of the jurisdiction;⁶⁰ but the record of the proceedings of justices administering a poor debtor's oath need not exhibit a compliance with statutory requirements which are merely directory.⁶¹ It is competent for a justice, before whom a poor debtor is examined, to amend his record.⁶² A statutory requirement that a record as to the administration of the oath to the debtor shall be returned to the court within a prescribed time is merely directory.⁶³

When the justices adjudicate, as appears by their record, that it does not appear from the debtor's disclosure that he had in his possession any account against anyone, the record is conclusive and cannot be contradicted by the debtor's disclosure, signed and sworn to by him.⁶⁴ Where, however, the justices adjudge property disclosed by the debtor not to be subject to a creditor's lien, when by the disclosure it is clearly liable to be taken on execution, such adjudication is not conclusive, but is subject to revision in a suit on the bond.⁶⁵ The record of one of the magistrates before whom application was made, that the other was necessarily absent at the time originally assigned for a hearing, and that the application was postponed for this cause, is sufficient evidence of a legal postponement.⁶⁶ The record of the discharge of an insolvent is, in an action on his bond, conclusive as to his compliance with all things required by law to entitle him to a discharge.⁶⁷ A discharge of a person by a court of competent jurisdiction, as a poor insolvent debtor, cannot be impeached in a collateral way by proof that at the time of his discharge he was in possession of a sufficient sum of money to pay the debt for which he was confined.⁶⁸

Even if certiorari lies to bring up the record of the proceedings of justices of the peace as to the disclosure of a poor debtor before them, only the record of the inferior tribunal can be brought up, and no facts to affect it are admissible.⁶⁹ The record of the justices of the peace, as to hearing the disclosure of and administering the oath to a 51. N.Y.—Bullymore v. Cooper, 46 N.Y. 236, affirming 2 Lans. 71—Seward v. Wales, 58 N.Y.S. 42, 40 App.Div. 539, affirmed 60 N.E. 1120, 167 N.Y. 538.

23 C.J. p 966 note 69.

52. N.Y.—Goodwin v. Griffls, 88 N.Y. 629, reversing 25 Hun 61.
23 C.J. p 966 note 70.

53. U.S.—Newton's Case, D.C., 18 F. Cas.No.10,188, 2 Cranch C.C. 467.

54. U.S.—Eckle v. Fitzgerald, D.C., 8 F.Cas.No.4,267, 4 Cranch C.C. 90 —McClellan v. Plumsell, D.C., 15 F. Cas.No.8,692, 4 Cranch C.C. 86.

55. Ga.—Mims v. Lockett, 20 Ga. 474—Governor v. Kemp, 12 Ga. 466.
23 C.J. p 966 note 73.

56. Pa.—Mullen v. Wallace, 2 Grant 389.

57. Ill.—People v. Hanchett, 111 Ill. 90.

58. Mass.—Sallinger v. Hughes, 126 N.E. 278, 235 Mass. 104.

59. Vt.—In re Blake, 175 A. 252, 107 Vt. 18.

60. Me.—Bowker v. Porter, 39 Me. 504—Granite Bank v. Treat, 18 Me. 340.

61. Me.—Clement v. Wyman, 31 Me. 50.

62. Mass.—Lincoln v. Cook, 124 Mass. 383.

63. N.H.—Allen v. Bruce, 12 N.H. 418.

64. Me.—Cannon v. Seveno, 4 A. 789, 78 Me. 307.

65. Me.—Jewett v. Rines, 39 Me. 9.

66. N.H.—Chesley v. Welch, 10 N.H. 251.

67. Pa.—Sheets v. Hawk, 14 Serg. & R. 173, 16 Am.D. 486.

68. Pa.—McKinney v. Crawford, 8 Serg. & R. 351.

69. Me.—Pike v. Herriman, 39 Me. 52.

poor debtor, is not affected by the granting merely of a writ of certiorari to bring it before the court.⁷⁰ Under some statutes, an order made by a proper officer on the application of an insolvent debtor for exoneration or discharge from imprisonment is not appealable, and the remedy in such a case is by certiorari.⁷¹

Certificate. Under some statutes it is the duty of the magistrates discharging a debtor to make out a certificate and deliver it to the debtor, this constituting the evidence on which the prison keeper is required to discharge him and the evidence of his exemption from imprisonment on that or any other execution, to be issued on the same judgment or any other judgment founded thereon,⁷² and is all that is required to complete the debtor's discharge.⁷³ In the absence of a statute to the contrary, they are not required to give the creditor a certificate of attachable interest in real estate disclosed by the debtor, when the creditor is present by his attorney, unless requested to do so by such creditor or attorney, and a failure to do so does not affect the debtor's discharge.⁷⁴

Where the statute prescribes the form, a compliance therewith is sufficient and nothing further need be inserted.⁷⁵ If the certificate states substantially the facts entitling the debtor to his discharge it will be sufficient.⁷⁶ Should a certificate be pleaded, it must, however, appear to apply with requisite certainty to the execution mentioned in the declaration.⁷⁷ The certificate of a justice that the poor debtor's oath has been administered to an imprisoned debtor, to be regular on its face, should contain a recital of all facts essential to give the justice jurisdiction to administer the oath.⁷⁸ The certificate need not be stamped.⁷⁹ A creditor can take no advantage of any informality in the certificate.⁸⁰

If seasonably moved for, an amendment of the certificate will be allowed.⁸¹ Where justices duly selected and qualified have administered the poor debtor's oath, after an examination, to a debtor who had been arrested on execution and had given bond, they may amend their certificate conformably to the truth of the case,⁸² not only after the commencement of a suit on the bond⁸³ but on the trial thereof.⁸⁴

The certificate of justices of their proceedings under an insolvent act is of itself evidence of the facts it contains,⁸⁵ and a party claiming under such proceedings is not compelled to prove such facts by evidence aliunde the certificate.⁸⁶ It is, however, evidence only of the facts required by the statute to be stated in the certificate.⁸⁷ A certificate of a debtor's insolvency is evidence only against plaintiff in the execution under which it was procured and his privies.⁸⁸

In some jurisdictions the doctrine is expressly recognized that a creditor may go behind the certificate of the magistrates and show irregularity in the preliminary proceedings, as for instance in the notice.⁸⁹ In others, however, the adjudica-

70. Me.—Clark v. Metcalf, 38 Me. 122.

71. N.Y.—In re Roberts, 70 N.Y. 5, 53 How.Pr. 199, reversing 10 Hun 253.

R.I.—Fainardi v. Dunn, 128 A. 207, 46 R.I. 344.

72. Conn.—Anderson v. Dewey, 100 A. 99, 91 Conn. 510, 23 C.J. p 967 note 8.

73. Mass.—Butler v. Fairbanks, 4 Gray 531.

74. Me.—Cannon v. Seveno, 4 A. 789, 78 Me. 307.

75. Mass.—Butler v. Fairbanks, 4 Gray 531.

N.H.—Chesley v. Welch, 10 N.H. 251 —Keay v. Palmer, 5 N.H. 43.

76. Conn.—Anderson v. Dewey, 100 A. 99, 91 Conn. 510, 512, 23 C.J. p 967 note 12.

Date of execution

Where it appears by the justices' certificate to what debt the proceedings related, their omission to insert the date of the execution on which the arrest was made will not render the proceedings void.—Burnham v. Howe, 23 Me. 489.

Date of judgment

Where the citation and bond describe the judgment on which the debtor was arrested as rendered at a certain term of court, it is not a misrecital in the discharge to describe it as rendered on a particular day of such term.—Gray v. Douglass, 17 A. 320, 81 Me. 427.

77. Vt.—Holbrook v. Pearce, 15 Vt. 616, 23 C.J. p 967 note 13.

78. Conn.—Anderson v. Dewey, 100 A. 99, 91 Conn. 510.

Adjournment

A certificate by justices that a poor debtor made a disclosure and they administered to him the oath required, on a day named, and that the hearing before them was pursuant to a previous adjournment without certifying any time from which such adjournment was had, is invalid.—Bowker v. Porter, 39 Me. 504.

79. Me.—Angier v. Smalley, 58 Me. 425.

80. N.H.—Keay v. Palmer, 5 N.H. 43.

81. Me.—Scamman v. Huff, 51 Me. 194, 23 C.J. p 968 note 20.

82. Me.—Burnham v. Howe, 23 Me. 489.

Mass.—Ward v. Clapp, 4 Metc. 455.

83. Mass.—Ward v. Clapp, supra.

84. Me.—Burnham v. Howe, 23 Me. 489.

85. Md.—Winingder v. Diffenderffer, 5 Harr. & J. 181.

N.H.—Osgood v. Hutchins, 6 N.H. 374.

23 C.J. p 968 note 24.

86. Md.—Winingder v. Diffenderffer, 5 Harr. & J. 181.

87. Me.—Winsor v. Clark, 39 Me. 428, 23 C.J. p 968 note 26.

88. Ky.—Smith v. Blunt, 2 A.K. Marsh. 522.

89. Mass.—Baker v. Moffat, 7 Cush. 259.

23 C.J. p 968 note 28.

tion of the magistrates respecting the notice and return is conclusive,⁹⁰ unless its effect is destroyed by an agreed statement of facts or by a voluntary admission of illegal testimony.⁹¹ The certificate, while prima facie evidence of jurisdiction of the justices, is not conclusive on the point, and want of jurisdiction may be shown.⁹² Evidence to show that no legal service of the citation was made is admissible, although it may contradict the record and certificate of the magistrate who administered the oath.⁹³

§ 449. — Validity and Effect of Discharge

Fraud and concealment on the debtor's part may invalidate his discharge, but mere irregularities will not render it void. An execution debtor regularly discharged as a poor or insolvent debtor cannot be rearrested or imprisoned on the same or a subsequent execution founded or issued on the same judgment.

Where an imprisoned debtor procures a discharge of the execution by false representation or concealment of the truth the discharge will be void.⁹⁴ A poor debtor's discharge is not rendered invalid by reason of a mistake honestly made,⁹⁵ by the fact that the oath was unnecessarily administered to him,⁹⁶ or by failure to pay an amount stipulated to be paid by him until the day of adjournment of the proceedings.⁹⁷ A discharge is not invalidated because a poor debtor, before commencing his disclosure, delivered to his attorney a sum of money as payment in part of the amount he was indebted to him, and also for the payment of the justices' fees for taking the disclosure.⁹⁸ A discharge under the insolvent laws is valid, although the petitioner does not mention in the list of creditors returned to the court the name of plaintiff at whose suit he is imprisoned, provided he has given the notice prescribed by the court.⁹⁹ The creditor does not waive his right to object to the validity of the discharge by not accepting an offer of assignment of property to him by the debtor.¹ Except in so far as otherwise provided by statute,² an execution debtor regularly discharged as a poor debtor cannot be again arrested or imprisoned on the same or a subsequent execution issued on the same judgment or one founded thereon,³ or, as it is provided in some jurisdictions, from arrest or imprisonment for the same debt, costs, or charges.⁴ Under some statutes, where he surrenders his estate to his creditors and is discharged, he is protected from arrest by any creditor to whom he was indebted at the time,⁵ or who was duly notified as required by law.⁶ This exemption does not extend to another cause which did not exist at the time of the first arrest or imprisonment.⁷ It only confers immunity from arrest on account of any debt provable under such proceed-

90. Me.—Gray v. Douglass, 17 A. 320, 81 Me. 427.

23 C.J. p 968 note 29.

91. Me.—Clement v. Wyman, 31 Me. 50.

92. Me.—Granite Bank v. Treat, 18 Me. 340.

23 C.J. p 968 note 31.

93. Me.—Cannon v. Seveno, 4 A. 789, 78 Me. 307—Lewis v. Brewer, 51 Me. 108—Baldwin v. Merrill, 44 Me. 55.

94. Mass.—Lewis v. Gamago, 1 Pick. 347.

95. Me.—Collins v. Lambert, 30 Me. 185.

96. Mass.—Hyatt v. Felton, 9 Allen 378.

97. Mass.—Osgood v. Kexar, 138 Mass. 357.

98. Me.—Levett v. Jones, 49 Me. 355.

23 C.J. p 968 note 40.

99. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cornman, 4 Serg. & R. 2.

1. Me.—Call v. Barker, 27 Me. 97.

2. S.C.—Man v. Lowden, 15 S.C.L. 485.

23 C.J. p 968 note 45.

Judgment in bastardy

Under some statutes, a discharge, under poor debtors' act, of defendant convicted of bastardy and imprisoned for failure to give bond precludes reimprisonment for obligations accruing to time of imprisonment, but contempt proceedings with same incidents as in divorce cases are available for collection of subsequent installments due under order for support of child.—People v. Johnson, 259 N.W. 343, 270 Mich. 622.

3. Va.—Quinling v. Commonwealth, 2 Va.Cus. 494, 23 C.J. p 969 note 46.

4. U.S.—U. S. v. Smith, D.C., 27 F.Cas.No.16,327, 3 Cranch C.C. 66, 23 C.J. p 969 note 47.

5. N.J.—West Hudson County Trust Co. v. Wichner, 187 A. 579, 121 N. J.Eq. 157.

Habeas corpus

If arrested on execution issued in a suit brought on the same judgment, the debtor is entitled to be discharged on habeas corpus.

Mass.—In re Davis, 111 Mass. 288. N.J.—State v. Ward, 8 N.J.Law 120.

On motion

The second execution will be set aside on motion, if there is no dispute as to the regularity of the discharge from the first execution.—In re Foord, 5 N.H. 310.

Subsequent judgment on prior debt

If a person while he is applying for the benefit of the insolvent laws, and previous to his liberation, has a judgment rendered against him for a debt contracted previous to his confinement, and, after his discharge as an insolvent debtor, is arrested by virtue of an execution issued on that judgment and committed to jail, such arrest and imprisonment is unlawful.—State v. Ward, 8 N.J.Law 120.

6. N.C.—Williams v. Floyd, 27 N.C. 649—Crain v. Long, 14 N.C. 371, 23 C.J. p 969 note 62.

7. Me.—McLaughlin v. Whitten, 32 Me. 21.

Future maturing debts

"The relief which such statutes intended to give was release against imprisonment for failure to pay a past due debt, which might be collected in that manner; but such release was clearly never intended to apply to future maturing debts of like character—and which were collectible by like procedure—throughout the natural life of the defaulting debtor, who in the meantime and in some manner might become possessed of property not reachable by the ordinary processes of enforcement, but which nevertheless enabled him to discharge the obligation at the time it became due and payable."—Smith v. Smith, 152 S.W.2d 944, 945, 287 Ky. 287.

ings and does not bar a subsequent suit for such a debt.⁸ Such discharge of one judgment debtor from imprisonment will not release his codefendants so as to prevent the subsequent issuance of an execution against their persons or property,⁹ and where a wife may be imprisoned on a body execution without her husband, the husband's discharge as a poor debtor will furnish no legal reason for the exoneration of the wife.¹⁰ It does not discharge a surety for a stay of execution.¹¹ It does operate as a release by act of law from performance of the condition of a bond for compliance with the requirements of the insolvency laws.¹² The discharge of one who gives bond for his appearance to take the benefit of the insolvent law is binding on the sheriff who has the debtor in custody, whether the bond given is legal or illegal.¹³ A discharge, although erroneous, prevents the sheriff or the debtor's bailor from holding or restraining the debtor from going where he chooses.¹⁴

As discharge of debt. In the absence of a statute to the contrary, the debtor's discharge from arrest, without the consent of the creditor, by taking the poor debtor's oath does not discharge the debt.¹⁵ Under the statutes in some jurisdictions the arrest of the debtor and his subsequent discharge does not have the effect to bar the creditor from collecting his claim out of the debtor's property.¹⁶ The property of an insolvent debtor acquired after his discharge is not exempted from the claims of his prior creditors, it is only his person which is protected.¹⁷ Under a statute providing that when the body of a party shall have been taken on an execution issued for that purpose, no other execution can be issued against him or his property, except in cases especially provided for by law, the exception means by statute or common law. Accordingly, such a statute does not change the common-law rule that the judgment creditor may have execution against the property of the debtor, notwithstanding his prior discharge under a body execution taken on the same judgment, where such discharge was obtained without the creditor's consent by taking the poor debtor's oath.¹⁸

Effect of discharge on second application. Where successive applications are allowed, a recognizance will be avoided by the discharge of the debtor by a qualified magistrate after due proceedings within the proper time, notwithstanding another application previously made with the proper time intervening to another magistrate by the debtor, and his failure to appear at the time and place fixed for this examination.¹⁹

Discharge in another state. A debtor's body will not be exempt from arrest under execution in one state because he has been committed in another state for the same debt and has been there discharged.²⁰

§ 450. Rearrest

In the absence of fraud or an illegal escape, as a general rule a debtor once taken in execution and discharged from imprisonment cannot be again rearrested on the same judgment or debt.

It is a general principle that a man shall not be taken twice in execution for the same cause,²¹ the arrest on execution by order of the creditor and discharge being considered at least to this limited extent as a satisfaction.²² Accordingly, in the absence of fraud,²³ or an illegal escape,²⁴ when a

8. N.J.—Bannister v. Miller, 32 A. 1066, 54 N.J.Eq. 121, affirmed 37 A. 1117, 54 N.J.Eq. 701.

9. Mass.—Kellogg v. Underwood, 40 N.E. 104, 163 Mass. 214.

10. Conn.—Hall v. White, 27 Conn. 488.

11. Pa.—Sharpe v. Speckenagle, 3 Serg. & R. 463.

12. N.J.—Sholes v. Eisner, 100 A. 213, 90 N.J.Law 151.

13. Pa.—Frick v. Kitchen, 4 Watts & S. 30.

14. Ill.—People v. Hathaway, 102 Ill.App. 628, affirmed 68 N.E. 1053, 206 Ill. 42.

15. N.J.—West Hudson County Trust Co. v. Wichner, 187 A. 579, 121 N.J.Eq. 157.

"It is undoubtedly true, as contended by defendant, that there are many statements in the books to the effect that at common law the taking of the body of the debtor in execution is a satisfaction of the debt. This statement of the rule is a general one and may be technically correct. It certainly is correct while the debtor is in prison, because during that period no other process can issue to enforce the judgment. But this general rule has its exceptions; the cardinal exception being when the debtor is released or discharged without the consent of the plaintiff, it is no satisfaction of the debt. If the debtor escapes, dies in prison, or is discharged by operation of law, it is adjudged to be without the consent of plaintiff, and therefore no satisfaction of the debt."—Stephenson v. Purchase, 182 N.W. 431, 214 Mich. 95, 14 A.L.R. 496.

16. Mich.—Stephenson v. Purchase, supra.

23 C.J. p 969 note 64.

17. Va.—Payne v. Dudley, 1 Wash. 196, 1 Va. 196.

18. Mich.—Stephenson v. Purchase,

182 N.W. 431, 214 Mich. 95, 14 A.L.R. 496.

19. Mass.—Sweeney v. Gillooly, 103 Mass. 549.

20. Conn.—Woodbridge v. Wright, 3 Conn. 523.

Ga.—Joice v. Scales, 18 Ga. 725. N.J.—Wood v. Malin, 10 N.J.Law 208. 23 C.J. p 969 note 66.

21. U.S.—Barnes v. Viall, C.C.R.I., 6 F. 661.

Mich.—Stephenson v. Purchase, 182 N.W. 431, 214 Mich. 95, 14 A.L.R. 496.

23 C.J. p 970 note 69.

22. Mass.—Little v. Newburyport Bank, 14 Mass. 443.

S.C.—Aiken v. Moore, 19 S.C.L. 432. 23 C.J. p 970 note 70.

23. Mass.—Little v. Newburyport Bank, 14 Mass. 443.

S.C.—Mack v. Garrett, 44 S.C.L. 79.

24. Conn.—Howard v. Lyon, 1 Root 107.

23 C.J. p 970 note 78.

judgment debtor has been taken in execution, and discharged by the creditor's consent, he cannot be again taken on that execution or on any other which may be issued on that judgment.²⁵ The debtor cannot be rearrested on the same execution against his body, where he enters into a recognizance in compliance with the statute;²⁶ where he is allowed to take the poor debtor's oath or is excused by the nonappearance of the creditor from doing so;²⁷ where the release is through the failure and neglect of the creditor to pay the sheriff his statutory fees for the debtor's keeping;²⁸ where the jailer refuses to receive and retain the body of the debtor delivered to his custody by the arresting officer;²⁹ or where the creditor elects to bring action against the sheriff for escape.³⁰ Where, however, the debtor is illegally discharged from arrest,³¹ or forfeits his prison-bonds bond by breaking the prison bounds,³² it has been held that he may be retaken on the original execution and committed to custody. Where a prisoner under execution becomes insane and is discharged and sent to an asylum, he may, it seems, on being restored to sanity, be arrested again by his creditors.³³

It seems that the debtor may sometimes by agreement,³⁴ or by his acts and conduct,³⁵ waive his right not to be arrested again on the same writ.

A statute, providing that no person shall be imprisoned within the jail liberties for a longer period than six months, and that on the expiration of such period he shall be discharged and that he shall not again be imprisoned on a like process issued in the same action or arrested in any action on any judgment under which the same may have been granted, refers only to a final process after an adjudication fixing the amount due, and it does not include orders of arrest issued at the time of the commencement of the action or before recovery. Consequently, the fact that the debtor has been imprisoned on mesne process and released on jail liberties does not prevent his further arrest on final judgment.³⁶

On subsequent writ. While a debtor is in the custody of the sheriff under an execution against the person, his creditor has no right to issue another execution against the person of defendant on the same judgment to the sheriff of another county,³⁷ and where, after arrest on an execution against the person, the writ is set aside as void, there cannot on a reversal of the order be a rearrest under the same process; but a new execution against the person will issue on the judgment.³⁸ It has also been held, in the absence of a statute to the contrary, that the fact that a debtor was once imprisoned for debt on a void process will not prevent his rearrest and imprisonment for the same debt on a valid execution.³⁹

After voluntary escape. Although there is authority to the contrary,⁴⁰ it has usually been held that if the officer voluntarily permits the escape of a defendant in execution he cannot afterward retake him⁴¹ without new process issued by the creditor,⁴² or at least without the permission of the creditor.⁴³ The sheriff may, however, rearrest defendant in case the escape is negligent.⁴⁴ If a defendant, taken into custody, has been released on

25. Mass.—Little v. Newburyport Bank, 14 Mass. 443.

Nev.—Ex parte Bergman, 4 P. 209, 18 Nev. 331.

23 C.J. p 970 note 71.

26. Mass.—Morgan v. Curley, 7 N. E. 726, 142 Mass. 107.

23 C.J. p 970 note 74.

27. Mass.—Doane v. Bartlett, 4 Allen 74.

23 C.J. p 970 note 75.

28. Mich.—Baehr v. Decker, 274 N. W. 339, 280 Mich. 590.

29. Mass.—Houghton v. Wilson, 10 Gray 365.

23 C.J. p 970 note 76.

30. Ind.—Ex parte Voltz, 37 Ind. 175, 10 Am.R. 86.

31. Ind.—Freeman v. Smith, 7 Ind. 582.

23 C.J. p 970 note 79.

32. U.S.—Owen v. Glover, D.C., 18 F.Cas.No.10,629, 10,630, 2 Cranch C.C. 522, 578.

33. N.Y.—Bush v. Pettibone, 4 N.Y. 300.

34. Mass.—Little v. Newburyport Bank, 14 Mass. 443.

N.Y.—Savage v. Sully, 153 N.Y.S. 532, 168 App.Div. 131.

Rule applied

Where a debtor who has been taken on execution is liberated by the creditor on an agreement that he will return on certain conditions, and the debtor afterward surrenders himself pursuant to the agreement, he may be again imprisoned on the same execution.—Little v. Newburyport Bank, 14 Mass. 443.

35. Mass.—Houghton v. Wilson, 10 Gray 365.

23 C.J. p 970 note 83.

36. N.Y.—Espro & Co. v. Mervis, 201 N.Y.S. 264.

37. N.Y.—Noe v. Christie, 15 Abb. Pr., N.S., 346, 46 How.Pr. 496.

38. N.Y.—Carrigan v. Washburn, 9 N.Y.S. 541, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 79.

39. Statute construed

The statute prohibiting an arrest on an execution, where defendant therein has been previously arrested on the original writ in same case, and has been released, and his bail, if any, discharged, applies only to defendant who was once arrested before trial on an original writ and does not apply to defendant who has been previously arrested on an execution.—Neary v. Barrows, R.I., 11 A.2d 618.

40. Ill.—People v. Hanchett, 111 Ill. 90.

Va.—Carthrae v. Clarke, 5 Leigh 268, 32 Va. 268.

41. N.Y.—Lansing v. Fleet, 2 Johns. Cas. 3, 1 Am.D. 142.

23 C.J. p 971 note 89.

42. N.H.—Cheever v. Mirrick, 2 N. H. 376.

N.Y.—Thompson v. Lockwood, 15 Johns. 256—Lansing v. Fleet, 2 Johns.Cas. 3, 1 Am.D. 142.

43. N.H.—Sherburn v. Beattie, 16 N.H. 437—Cheever v. Mirrick, 2 N. H. 376.

44. N.Y.—Lansing v. Fleet, 2 Johns. Cas. 3, 1 Am.D. 142.

23 C.J. p 971 note 92.

account of a temporary privilege, he may be arrested again on the same process after the privilege has expired.⁴⁵ The creditor may procure a second arrest of the party, who had been arrested or imprisoned, notwithstanding the escape voluntarily permitted by the jailer.⁴⁶ It has also been held that the right to sue out an alias execution can be assigned to the sheriff by parol or otherwise, and the sheriff may then exercise it in a manner as ample as could the creditor himself.⁴⁷ The right to imprison ceases where the creditor gives the debtor permission to go off the jail limits or to go at large,⁴⁸ unless it is otherwise provided by statute.⁴⁹

XVII. WRONGFUL EXECUTION

§ 451. Nature and Grounds of Liability

The wrongful issuance of execution, and wrongful levy, sale, and arrest are considered infra §§ 452-455.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 452. — Wrongful Issuance of Execution

An execution issued on a void, satisfied, or extinguished judgment is wrongful; and a party subjects himself to liability for abuse of process when he procures the issuance of an execution on a judgment which has been vacated or which he knows to have been obtained by fraud and perjury or to have been entered after the payment of the debt.

An execution is wrongful where the writ is issued on a void judgment,⁵⁰ or on a judgment which has been satisfied, either by payment⁵¹ or by an express agreement,⁵² or on a judgment which has been extinguished by a valid discharge in bankruptcy.⁵³

A party issuing an execution on a judgment for a debt which he knew to have been paid before the entry of the judgment is liable in an action for malicious abuse of legal process, whether or not he caused the judgment to be entered.⁵⁴ It is an abuse of process to procure the issuance of an execution on a judgment which has been vacated⁵⁵ or which was obtained by fraud and perjury, where the party suing out the execution knows that the judgment is false and fraudulent.⁵⁶

§ 453. — Wrongful Levy

A wrongful levy constitutes a trespass.

A wrongful levy constitutes a trespass;⁵⁷ a sale under such a levy is not necessary to consummate it.⁵⁸ A levy is wrongful where: It is made under a writ which was wrongfully issued;⁵⁹ events subsequent to the issuance of the writ have made it improper to proceed thereunder;⁶⁰ it is excessive;⁶¹ it is made in an unauthorized,⁶² or in an unreasonable and oppressive,⁶³ manner; or it is made on property of a person other than the judgment debtor,⁶⁴ or on property of the judgment debt-

45. N.Y.—Humphrey v. Cumming, 5 Wend. 9—Van Wezel v. Van Wezel, 1 Edw. 113.

46. Mass.—Brown v. Getchell, 11 Mass. 11.
23 C.J. p 971 note 95.

47. N.H.—Cheever v. Mirrick, 2 N. H. 376.

48. N.Y.—Vidrard v. Fradneburg, 53 How.Pr. 339.
23 C.J. p 971 note 97.

49. S.C.—Barnstein v. Eggart, 14 S. C.L. 162, 15 Am.D. 625.

50. Minn.—Gunz v. Heffner, 22 N.W. 386, 33 Minn. 215.
23 C.J. p 971 note 1.

51. Ky.—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486.
23 C.J. p 971 note 2.

52. Del.—Minus v. Stant, 1 Del. 445.
Neb.—Standard Oil Co. v. Goodman Drug Co., 95 N.W. 667, 1 Neb. Unoff., 443.

53. N.Y.—Ruckman v. Cowell, 1 N. Y. 505, 7 N.Y.Leg.Obs. 7—Deyo v. Van Valkenburgh, 5 Hill 242.

54. Pa.—Barnett v. Reed, 51 Pa. 190, 88 Am.D. 574.

Abuse of process generally see the C.J.S. title Process §§ 119-124, also 50 C.J. p 612 note 4-p 623 note 95.

Injury or prejudice as essential see infra § 456.

55. Minn.—Farmer v. Crosby, 45 N. W. 866, 43 Minn. 459.

56. Mich.—Antcliff v. June, 45 N.W. 1019, 81 Mich. 477, 21 Am.S.R. 533, 10 L.R.A. 621.

57. Pa.—Graham v. Lane, 3 Brewst. 92.

Tex.—Wollner v. Darnell, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1225, 1226, citing Corpus Juris.

58. Pa.—Graham v. Lane, 3 Brewst. 92.

59. Ga.—Boyd v. Merriam, 53 Ga. 561.
23 C.J. p 971 note 8.

Levy under execution issued on void judgment
Minn.—Beede v. Nides Finance Corporation, 296 N.W. 413.

60. N.H.—Breck v. Blanchard, 20 N. H. 323, 51 Am.D. 222.
23 C.J. p 971 note 9.

61. Ky.—Commonwealth, for Use and Benefit of Harding v. Bartholomew, 98 S.W.2d 882, 266 Ky. 270.
La.—Jackson v. Kirschman, App., 175 So. 105, affirming 173 So. 562.
23 C.J. p 972 note 17.

62. Tex.—Hillman v. Edwards, Civ. App., 74 S.W. 787.

63. Ill.—Snydacker v. Brosse, 51 Ill. 357, 99 Am.D. 551.

N.Y.—Rogers v. Brewster, 5 Johns. 125.

Tex.—Casey v. Hanrick, 6 S.W. 405, 69 Tex. 44.

64. Ga.—Investment Securities Corporation v. Cole, 194 S.E. 411, 57 Ga.App. 97, affirmed 199 S.E. 126, 186 Ga. 809.

Idaho.—Beloit v. Green, 251 P. 621, 623, 43 Idaho 265, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—Pressner v. White Bros. Co., 7 La.App. 603.

Mo.—State ex rel. Webb v. King, App., 73 S.W.2d 460, 461, citing Corpus Juris.

Okl.—Farris v. Castor, 99 P.2d 900, 902, 186 Okl. 668, citing Corpus Juris.

or which is exempt.⁶⁵ Further, a levy is wrongful if made first on a class of property which the statute provides shall not be taken until another class is disposed of⁶⁶ or, where the judgment debtor is allowed by statute the right to designate the property to be levied on, if he is denied this right,⁶⁷ or the levy is afterward made on property other than that designated;⁶⁸ but no action lies for a levy on land unless personal property sufficient to satisfy the judgment has been tendered to the officer.⁶⁹

In particular cases, the matters complained of in respect of the levy or execution of the writ may not constitute a trespass or conversion or give rise to liability for damages,⁷⁰ as where there is no interference with, or disturbance of, possession,⁷¹ there is a proper compliance with the writ and the judgment rendered is merely irregular and not void,⁷² the property is rightfully seized but is not sold because the mortgages thereon exceed in amount the highest bid,⁷³ or the levy is made before the expiration of the period within which the debtor may claim exemptions.⁷⁴

Motive. It has been held that the motive is immaterial where there is a wrongful levy;⁷⁵ but it has been also held that a person is not liable for an excessive levy where he acts on the advice of counsel who is honest in his belief that his client is entitled to the amount claimed.⁷⁶

§ 454. — Wrongful Sale

An execution sale may be wrongful because, among other things, it embraces the property or interest of a person other than the execution debtor or because the issuance or levy of the execution was wrongful.

A sale of property under execution is wrongful, and the injured party may recover in an appropriate action for the damages sustained, where the original levy was wrongful,⁷⁷ or where after the levy the judgment has been satisfied,⁷⁸ or a proper tender made of the amount due thereunder,⁷⁹ or where the sale is made under an execution issued on a judgment which is afterward reversed,⁸⁰ or on an execution issued for a larger sum than is due on the judgment.⁸¹

A sale of the property of another person after notice of his claim is a conversion;⁸² an unlimited sale of partnership property under an execution against only one of the partners is wrongful;⁸³ and where there has been a conditional sale of property, the title to remain in the seller until payment is made, a sale of such property under execution is wrongful unless made subject to the rights of the seller in the conditional sale.⁸⁴

§ 455. — Wrongful Arrest

Wrongfully causing the arrest of an execution debtor is a trespass for which an action may be maintained.

Causing the arrest of an execution debtor, where he has sufficient property to satisfy the judgment, is a trespass for which the person suing out the execution is liable,⁸⁵ provided it appears that the debtor was ready to acquiesce in the taking of his property.⁸⁶ An action of trespass will lie in cases where a person has been arrested on a process which was irregularly issued and void;⁸⁷ but where

Pa.—Shane v. Gulf Refining Co., 173 A. 738, 114 Pa.Super. 87.
23 C.J. p 972 note 11.

Constructive notice

Deed sufficient on face is entitled to be recorded, and imparts constructive notice to execution creditor.—Smith v. Jackson State Bank, C.C.A. Wyo., 63 F.2d 934.

65. Tex.—Wollner v. Darnell, Civ. App., 94 S.W.2d 1225, 1226, citing Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 972 note 12.

66. Ga.—Gorham v. Hood, 27 Ga. 299.

67. Tex.—Avindino v. Beck, Civ. App., 73 S.W. 539.

68. Tex.—Beck v. Avondino, 18 S. W. 690, 82 Tex. 314.

69. Tex.—Ellis v. Harrison, 57 S. W. 984, 24 Tex.Civ.App. 13.

70. Mont.—Beyerlein v. Whitcomb, 26 P.2d 349, 95 Mont. 293.

23 C.J. p 972 notes 11 [c], 17 [a], [b].

71. La.—Fontenot v. Stark, App., 192 So. 550.
23 C.J. p 972 notes 11 [e], 18.

72. Okl.—Schuman v. Wallace, 104 P.2d 432, 187 Okl. 535.

73. La.—Vinyard v. Stassi, App., 158 So. 24.

74. Ill.—Chrenka v. Meyering, 3 N. E.2d 160, 285 Ill.App. 594.

75. Mich.—Allen v. Kinyon, 1 N.W. 863, 41 Mich. 281.

76. La.—Hamilton v. Antoine, App., 157 So. 795.

Liability of execution creditor for acts directed by attorney see infra § 456 b (2).

77. Mo.—State ex rel. Webb v. King, App., 73 S.W.2d 460, 461, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 972 note 20.
Actions for wrongful execution see infra §§ 457, 458.

78. N.Y.—Vall v. Lewis, 4 Johns. 450, 4 Am.D. 300.

Tex.—Sanders v. Brock, Civ.App., 31 S.W. 311.

23 C.J. p 972 note 21.

79. N.Y.—Tiffany v. St. John, 5 Lans. 153, affirmed 65 N.Y. 314, 22 Am.R. 612.

23 C.J. p 972 note 22.

80. Cal.—Reynolds v. Hosmer, 45 Cal. 616.

81. N.Y.—Peck v. Tiffany, 2 N.Y. 451.

82. Minn.—Amick v. Exchange State Bank, 204 N.W. 639, 164 Minn. 136.

83. N.Y.—Bates v. James, 10 N.Y. Super. 45.

84. N.Y.—Herring v. Hoppock, 10 N. Y.Super. 20.

85. Pa.—Berry v. Hamill, 12 Serg. & R. 210—Allison v. Rheam, 3 Serg. & R. 139, 8 Am.D. 644.

Property execution as condition to execution against person see supra § 416.

86. Vt.—Warner v. Stockwell, 9 Vt. 9.

87. Ky.—Johnson v. Scott, 121 S.W. 695, 134 Ky. 736.

N.Y.—Allen v. Froome, 88 N.E. 645, 195 N.Y. 404.

the process is merely voidable, it is, until set aside, a justification for an arrest made thereunder.⁸⁸ Where a person is taken on a good and a bad execution at the same time, he can recover only for the damages which were suffered solely on account of the bad process.⁸⁹

A statutory penalty has been imposed in some jurisdictions for rearresting a debtor after discharge as an insolvent.⁹⁰

§ 456. Persons Entitled to Damages and Persons Liable

- a. Persons entitled to damages
- b. Persons liable

a. Persons Entitled to Damages

The owner of, or any person having an interest in, property wrongfully taken under an execution may maintain an action for damages, provided he has sustained injury or prejudice and there has been no waiver or estoppel on his part.

The owner of, or any person having an interest in, property who sustains an injury by the wrongful taking thereof under an execution may maintain an action for the damages sustained;⁹¹ and this right is not impaired by the fact that he purchased the property at the sale.⁹² However, damages will not be allowed to one whose rights are not prejudiced by the wrongful act,⁹³ or to a claimant of the property whose title is involved in litigation,⁹⁴ or to one who has no title or claim,⁹⁵ as, for instance, one holding under a conveyance void for fraud.⁹⁶ If a person who owns the property jointly with the execution defendant sells his interest to the purchaser and voluntarily surrenders the possession, which has never been disturbed, he has no cause of action against plaintiff in the execution unless he alleges and proves that he surrendered the property under a mistake of law or fact.⁹⁷

In case of a mere wrongful levy, where an action of trespass is brought, plaintiff must have had either the actual possession or the right of possession at the time of the levy.⁹⁸ In case of a wrongful sale, a conditional reversionary right of possession is sufficient to support the action.⁹⁹ The owner of an ultimate estate in chattels cannot maintain an action on the case for a wrongful sale, although the officer professed to sell the entire property, since the sale passes only such an interest as the debtor has and the ultimate estate is not thereby interfered with.¹

Mortgagee. Under some statutes a mortgagee may recover where his rights have not been protected.²

Waiver or estoppel. One may be estopped to allege that a sale was wrongful;³ but the receipt by plaintiff of the surplus produced by the sale, over and above the amount directed to be levied on the execution, is not an admission of the legality of the sale, so as to conclude him from subsequently questioning it;⁴ and, where there is timely complaint of an illegal seizure, a failure to take steps to prevent such seizure is not a waiver of the cause of action, even though such failure may be offered in mitigation of damages.⁵

b. Persons Liable

- (1) In general
- (2) Execution creditor

(1) In General

Persons who procure, direct, or assist in the commission of a wrongful act by an officer in issuing an execution, or in making a levy or sale thereunder, are liable to the person injured by the act.

All persons who have anything to do with the wrongful issuance or levy of an execution, including persons who procure, direct, or assist in the commission of the wrongful act by the officer, are liable to the person injured thereby.⁶ Even a stran-

88. N.Y.—Reynolds v. Corp, 3 Cal. 267.

89. Vt.—Lewis v. Avery, 8 Vt. 287, 30 Am.D. 469.

90. Ga.—Morgan v. Ely, 30 Ga. 768. 23 C.J. p 972 note 33.

91. Ky.—Pryse v. Hamilton, 7 Ky. L. 446, 13 Ky.Op. 817.

Mich.—Munroe v. Colling, 219 N.W. 605, 242 Mich. 530.

Minn.—Beede v. Nides Finance Corporation, 296 N.W. 413.

Pa.—Shane v. Gulf Refining Co., 173 A. 738, 114 Pa.Super. 87.

23 C.J. p 973 note 34.

92. N.Y.—Ford v. Williams, 24 N. Y. 359.

93. Ky.—Torian v. Caldwell, 181 S. W. 373, 167 Ky. 670. 23 C.J. p 973 note 36.

94. La.—Gilkerson-Sloss Commn. Co. v. Baldwin, 17 So. 246, 47 La. Ann. 696.

95. Ala.—Smiley v. Hooper, 41 So. 660, 147 Ala. 646.

La.—Pelletier v. State Nat. Bank, 41 So. 640, 117 La. 335. 23 C.J. p 973 note 38.

96. Mass.—Goodwin v. Hubbard, 15 Mass. 210.

97. Ky.—Clare v. Davis, 40 S.W. 380, 19 Ky.L. 353—Clare v. Davis, 15 Ky.L. 399.

98. Pa.—Dixon v. White Sewing

Mach. Co., 18 A. 502, 128 Pa. 397, 15 Am.S.R. 683, 5 L.R.A. 659.

99. Pa.—Dixon v. White Sewing Mach. Co., supra.

1. N.C.—Homesley v. Hogue, 49 N. C. 481.

2. Ky.—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486.

3. Pa.—Holfelder v. Schramm, 100 A. 267, 255 Pa. 493. 23 C.J. p 973 note 45.

4. N.Y.—Brown v. Feester, 7 Wend. 301.

5. La.—Haas v. Buck, 162 So. 181, 182 La. 566.

6. Ind.—Ault v. Phillips, App., 27 N.E.2d 379.

ger or person not a party to the suit who officiously directs an officer in making a wrongful levy,⁷ or who accompanies an officer and assists him in the commission of the wrongful act,⁸ is equally liable with the officer for the injury sustained. However, one who merely instructs an officer as to his right or duty in the premises is not liable as a trespasser where the officer is not influenced thereby;⁹ and one who merely requests the surety to sign an indemnity bond, and agrees to protect him from loss by reason thereof, does not thereby render himself liable for the trespass to the owner of the property.¹⁰

Obligors on bond of indemnity. Where a bond of indemnity is given to an officer to induce him to make a levy on certain property, the obligors on the bond are jointly liable with the officer in case the levy proves to be illegal.¹¹ This is also the rule where the indemnity bond is given, after seizure of the property by the sheriff or constable,¹² to induce him to proceed with the sale.¹³ It has been held, however, that this rule does not apply to mere sureties on the bond who do not act other than signing the bond;¹⁴ they are responsible only so far as they may have directed or assented to the doing of the acts complained of.¹⁵

The purchaser at an execution sale who does nothing more than purchase is not liable in trespass for the act of the officer in making a wrongful levy and sale; his purchase does not make him a trespasser by relation;¹⁶ neither is the purchaser liable in trespass for subsequently carrying away the goods purchased, provided he received possession of the goods from the officer at the time of the sale,¹⁷ but if the goods are not delivered at the time of the sale he may be liable in trespass for subsequently taking and carrying them away.¹⁸ If the purchaser causes any damage in removing the property he alone is liable therefor.¹⁹

A purchaser obtaining a judgment for possession of property under an execution sale is not liable for consequences of an erroneous judgment.²⁰

(2) Execution Creditor

The liability of an execution creditor for a wrongful levy or sale under an execution does not rest on his causing the writ to be issued and delivered to an officer, but rests on his direction or ratification, or assistance or participation in the commission, of the wrongful act, or on his authorization of directions or instructions given by his attorney.

When plaintiff places his execution in the hands of an officer for service, he is presumed to intend that no action shall be taken thereunder not authorized by the terms of the writ,²¹ and, in the absence of ratification, he will not be liable for a wrongful execution of the writ unless he ordered or directed the officer or participated directly or otherwise than by merely causing the issuance of the process and the delivery of it to the officer.²² However, if it is shown that the execution creditor advised, directed, or assisted in, the commission of the unlawful act he will be equally liable with the officer for the injury sustained.²³

Minn.—Beede v. Nides Finance Corporation, 296 N.W. 413.

Liability of:

Attorney see Attorney and Client § 52 b.

Clerk of court see Clerks of Courts, § 51.

Persons for wrongful execution issued by justice of peace see the C.J.S. title Justices of the Peace § 123, also 35 C.J. p 709 notes 91-93.

Sheriff or constable see the C.J.S. title Sheriffs and Constables §§ 62-90, also 57 C.J. p 817 note 97-p 870 note 36.

Sureties on sheriff's bond see the C.J.S. title Sheriffs and Constables §§ 184-187, also 57 C.J. p 1027 note 94-p 1033 note 6.

Agent

Ga.—Chambers v. Self, 186 S.E. 203, 53 Ga.App. 437.

Creditor

Ind.—Glover v. Horton, 7 Blackf. 295.

Body execution

N.Y.—Kreiser v. Scofield, 29 N.Y.S. 685, 9 Misc. 200.

7. Kan.—Fish v. Street, 27 Kan. 270.

Ky.—Youngs v. Moore, 7 J.J.Marsh. 646.

8. S.C.—McElhenry v. Wylie, 34 S. C.L. 284, 49 Am.D. 643.

9. Ala.—Stallings v. Gilbreath, 41 So. 423, 146 Ala. 483.

10. U.S.—Weller v. Hanaur, C.C.Pa., 95 F. 236.

11. N.C.—Martin v. Buffalo, 38 S. E. 902, 128 N.C. 305, 83 Am.S.R. 679.

23 C.J. p 975 note 76.

12. N.Y.—Hayes v. Davidson, 34 Hun 243, 6 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 377, reversed on other grounds 98 N.Y. 19, 7 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 46, 1 How.Pr., N.S., 310.

13. Mo.—Long v. Robinson, 281 S. W. 78, 222 Mo.App. 503.

14. U.S.—Weller v. Hanaur, C.C.Pa., 95 F. 236.

23 C.J. p 975 note 78.

15. U.S.—Weller v. Hanaur, supra, 23 C.J. p 975 note 79.

16. Pa.—Ward v. Taylor, 1 Pa. 238, 23 C.J. p 975 note 80.

17. Pa.—Gloss v. Black, 91 Pa. 418 —Hammon v. Fisher, 2 Grant 330.

18. Pa.—Talmadge v. Scudder, 38 Pa. 517.

19. Ky.—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486.

20. Ky.—Torian v. Caldwell, 181 S. W. 373, 167 Ky. 670.

21. Ala.—Brock v. Berry, 31 So. 517, 132 Ala. 95, 90 Am.S.R. 896.

23 C.J. p 973 note 58.

Limited implication of authority

Issuance of execution, without direction by judgment creditor as to its enforcement, implies authority of officer to whom issued to do only lawful act pursuant to its command. —Vangellow v. East Side Sav. Bank, 11 N.Y.S.2d 982.

22. Ill.—People, for Use of Boerger v. Martin, 29 N.E.2d 119, 306 Ill. App. 505—Bessermann v. Votupal, 11 N.E.2d 45, 292 Ill.App. 355.

Kan.—Custer v. Royse, 204 P. 995, 110 Kan. 397.

Minn.—Lundgren v. Western State Bank of Duluth, 250 N.W. 1, 2, 189 Minn. 476, 91 A.L.R. 919, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 973 note 59.

23. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 58 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

The execution creditor may be liable for a wrongful execution in cases where no action will lie against the officer,²⁴ there being defenses available to the officer which, as shown infra § 457 e, are not available to the execution creditor.

For acts directed by attorney. An execution creditor is liable for a wrongful execution directed by an attorney whom he has retained generally to conduct the suit, or to recover the amount of the judgment.²⁵ A fortiori, an execution creditor who refers an officer to his attorney for instructions is liable for an unlawful levy directed by the attorney.²⁶ The mere presence, however, of the attorney of the execution creditor at the levy or sale will not render the execution creditor liable;²⁷ nor is he liable where the attorney gives unwarranted directions to the officer.²⁸

For acts of officer subsequently ratified. An execution creditor who has not authorized or directed an unlawful levy or sale in the first instance may become liable by a subsequent ratification of the act of the officer.²⁹ Where he refuses, on demand, to direct a release of property wrongfully seized,³⁰ or where, with knowledge that a sale is wrongfully made, he becomes a purchaser of the property,³¹ or receives the proceeds of the sale,³² there is a ratification of the wrongful act which renders him equally liable with the officer; but he will not be liable where he receives the proceeds in ignorance of the fact that the sale was wrongfully made,³³ or where the officer makes a mistake of law in judging of his official duty, as distinguished from a mistake of fact.³⁴ It has also been held that, where the officer makes a wrongful seizure under a valid writ, a subsequent receipt of the proceeds will not, without any other participation, make the execution creditor liable as a trespasser for the wrongful taking.³⁵

Extent of liability. The liability of the execution creditor is limited to such damages as may have resulted from the particular act or acts which he has directed, authorized, or ratified.³⁶

§ 457. Actions

- a. In general
- b. Conditions precedent
- c. Time to sue and limitations
- d. Parties
- e. Defenses
- f. Pleading
- g. Evidence
- h. Trial

a. In General

The appropriate remedy to redress a wrongful execution or a wrongful act under an execution depends on the nature of the act complained of and the character of the relief sought.

The nature of the action to be resorted to in the case of a wrongful execution or a wrongful act under an execution depends on the circumstances of the particular injury and the character of the relief sought.³⁷ Thus, if the act is done under void

Fla.—Granat v. Biscayne Trust Co., 147 So. 850, 109 Fla. 485.

La.—Giangrosso v. Bernard, 127 So. 418, 13 La.App. 488—Chatman v. Wren & Turner, 123 So. 483, 11 La. App. 224—Connell v. David Bernhardt Paint Co., 6 La.App. 862, affirmed 112 So. 495, 163 La. 586. 23 C.J. p 974 note 60.

24. Wis.—Marks v. Wright, 51 N.W. 882, 81 Wis. 572. 23 C.J. p 974 note 62.

25. Mich.—Foster v. Wiley, 27 Mich. 244, 15 Am.R. 185. 6 C.J. p 671 note 47.

26. N.Y.—Armstrong v. Dubois, 1 Abb.Dec. 8, 4 Keyes 291. 23 C.J. p 974 note 66.

27. N.Y.—Welsh v. Cochran, 63 N.Y. 181, 20 Am.R. 519, reversing 2 Hun 675.

28. N.Y.—Welsh v. Cochran, supra. 6 C.J. p 671 note 48.

29. Minn.—Lundgren v. Western State Bank of Duluth, 250 N.W. 1, 2, 189 Minn. 476, 91 A.L.R. 919, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Goebel v. Clark, 275 N.Y.S. 43, 242 App.Div. 408.

Okl.—Farris v. Castor, 99 P.2d 900, 186 Okl. 668. Pa.—Shane v. Gulf Refining Co., 173 A. 738, 114 Pa.Super. 87. 23 C.J. p 974 note 69.

30. Minn.—Lundgren v. Western State Bank of Duluth, 250 N.W. 1, 189 Minn. 476, 91 A.L.R. 919.

31. N.Y.—Goebel v. Clark, 275 N.Y.S. 43, 242 App.Div. 408. 23 C.J. p 974 note 70.

32. Tex.—McKay v. Irion, App., 15 S.W. 123. 23 C.J. p 974 note 71.

33. N.Y.—Clark v. Woodruff, 83 N.Y. 518, affirming 18 Hun 419. 23 C.J. p 974 note 72.

34. Vt.—Hyde v. Cooper, 26 Vt. 552. 23 C.J. p 974 note 73.

35. Ohio.—Coe v. Higdon, 1 Disn. 393, 12 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 691. 23 C.J. p 975 note 74.

36. Ill.—Buchanan v. Goeling, 3 Ill. App. 635. 23 C.J. p 974 note 61.

Damages in actions for wrongful execution see infra § 458.

37. Suit in equity

(1) As the relief afforded by the legal remedies in the case of wrongful executions is full and ample, equity will not entertain a bill for this purpose except under extraordinary circumstances.—Van Norden v. Morton, La., 99 U.S. 378, 25 L.Ed. 453—23 C.J. p 976 note 6.

(2) If there is a remedy by injunction, in a case of wrongful seizure, it is not exclusive and does not deprive a person injured by the wrongful seizure of his cause of action for damages.—Jackson v. Kirschman, La.App., 175 So. 105, affirming 173 So. 562.

(3) That plaintiff did not enjoin sheriff's sale did not preclude her recovery for illegal seizure, where plaintiff had proceeded by intervention and third opposition.—J. E. Bell & Co. v. Trahan, La.App., 151 So. 682.

Actions to enforce and protect exemptions see the C.J.S. title Exemptions §§ 143–165, also 25 C.J. p 148 note 81–p 165 note 44.

process, trespass is the remedy,³⁸ while case is the proper remedy for taking property under voidable process,³⁹ or for maliciously suing out an execution on a voidable judgment,⁴⁰ or for suing out an execution on a satisfied judgment.⁴¹ Ordinarily trespass is the remedy for a wrongful levy on property of a person other than the judgment debtor;⁴² and this remedy is independent of the technical rules applicable to malicious use or abuse of legal process;⁴³ but, where it is sought to charge the wrongdoers with exemplary damages because of malice and want of probable cause, malicious prosecution is the proper remedy.⁴⁴ Persons may be liable for conversion, although not liable as trespassers.⁴⁵ An action to recover property or the value thereof, because wrongfully sold under execution, is properly treated as one for damages only, where plaintiff does not attempt to obtain possession.⁴⁶

The right to sue is not limited to an action on the indemnity bond.⁴⁷ Actions against officers or indemnitors are discussed in the C.J.S. title Sheriffs and Constables §§ 146-167 also 57 C.J. p 936 note 71-p 980 note 1.

Independent proceeding. The action in which the execution issued and a subsequent action in tort to recover damages for an unlawful and excessive levy are separate and independent proceedings,⁴⁸ and, therefore, service of summons on defendant in the subsequent action is necessary, even though he was plaintiff in the former action.⁴⁹

b. Conditions Precedent

In an action for wrongful execution plaintiff must comply with the necessary conditions precedent.

A party claiming that his goods had been unlawfully sold at sheriff's sale should, in order to maintain trespass, move to have the sale set aside.⁵⁰ A person whose property is wrongfully taken under an execution against another person is not bound to file a claim and obtain a favorable decision thereon, or to notify the officer that the property is his, or to oppose the sale, but may at once seek relief by suit.⁵¹ Where one not the owner of property pledges it to secure a note without authority so to do, and it is sold on execution as the property of the pledgor, the real owner, in an action for conversion, is not obliged to pay the note nor tender the amount thereof.⁵² Further prosecution of a pending claim of exemption is not a condition precedent where an alias execution has been issued and levied in violation of a stipulation.⁵³

Wrongful arrest. Where an execution debtor is arrested under process issued on a judgment which has been paid or otherwise discharged, it is not necessary to obtain a rule setting aside the process as a condition precedent to the right to maintain an action for the wrongful arrest,⁵⁴ but the rule is otherwise where the process is merely voidable.⁵⁵

c. Time to Sue and Limitations

In actions for wrongful execution, a right of action accrues, and the applicable statute of limitations commences to run, at the time of the wrongful act of which complaint is made.

The mere seizure of one's property under execution against another gives an immediate right to sue;⁵⁶ and where a writ is wrongfully levied a right of action accrues at the time of the levy⁵⁷ and the owner of the property may recover, although no sale was made until after his suit was brought.⁵⁸

In an action of trover for the taking of goods

38. S.C.—McCool v. McCluny, 16 S. C.L. 486.

23 C.J. p 976 note 98.

39. Ark.—Dixon v. Watkins, 9 Ark. 139.

40. Pa.—Barnett v. Reed, 51 Pa. 190, 88 Am.D. 574.

41. N.Y.—Brown v. Feeter, 7 Wend. 301.

42. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

Ga.—Baldwin v. Davis, 4 S.E.2d 458, 188 Ga. 587—Duncan v. Ellis, 11 S.E.2d 841, 63 Ga.App. 687. 23 C.J. p 976 note 2.

43. Ga.—Baldwin v. Davis, 4 S.E.2d 458, 188 Ga. 587—Duncan v. Ellis, 11 S.E.2d 841, 63 Ga.App. 687.

44. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

45. Ala.—Stallings v. Gilbreath, 41 So. 423, 146 Ala. 483.

Action for conversion for wrongful seizure and disposition of property under execution see the C.J.S. title Trover and Conversion § 40, also 65 C.J. p 33 note 65.

46. Utah.—Larsen v. Ryan, 180 P. 178, 54 Utah 250.

Replevin to recover property seized under execution see the C.J.S. title Replevin §§ 26-29, also 54 C.J. p 426 note 64-p 429 note 6.

47. La.—Hodge v. Monroe Mercantile Co., 30 So. 142, 105 La. 668. Mo.—State v. Donnelly, 9 Mo.App. 519.

48. Ark.—Bridwell v. Anderson, 156 S.W.2d 231.

49. Ark.—Bridwell v. Anderson, supra.

50. Pa.—Holfelder v. Schramm, 100 A. 267, 255 Pa. 493.

51. Ga.—Baldwin v. Davis, 4 S.E.2d 458, 188 Ga. 587.

La.—Duperron v. Van Wickle, 4 Rob. 39, 39 Am.D. 509.

52. Tex.—Stephenville First Nat. Bank v. Thomas, Civ.App., 118 S. W. 221.

53. Idaho.—Van Sickle v. Barnett, 216 P. 1038, 37 Idaho 407.

54. N.Y.—Deyo v. Van Valkenburgh, 5 Hill 242.

55. N.Y.—Deyo v. Van Valkenburgh, supra. 23 C.J. p 976 note 9.

56. Ky.—Brock v. Church, 5 Ky.L. 855.

Or.—Sabin v. Chrisman, 175 P. 622, 90 Or. 85.

57. La.—Haas v. Buck, 162 So. 181, 182 La. 566.

58. Pa.—Graham v. Lane, 3 Brewst. 92.

under an execution which is irregular and void, the statute of limitations runs from the date of the original taking of the goods and not from the date that the execution was set aside.⁵⁹ Where the action is for wrongfully suing out an execution on a satisfied judgment the statute begins to run from the time the execution is sued out,⁶⁰ and is not suspended by an injunction restraining the enforcement of the execution.⁶¹ The period of limitation depends on the statutes of the state where the action is brought. The application of particular statutes is considered in the C.J.S. title Limitations of Actions §§ 78, 79, also 37 C.J. p 779 note 37, p 780 note 60.

d. Parties

General rules relating to parties usually are applicable in actions for wrongful execution.

General rules relating to parties ordinarily apply in actions for wrongful execution.⁶² If property belonging to different persons is wrongfully taken under the same execution, the owner of each parcel should sue separately for the injury sustained.⁶³

Several defendants cannot be proceeded against jointly for a wrongful execution unless they are jointly liable, and to create such a liability there must have been a concert of action between them.⁶⁴ In actions by the execution defendant and a mortgagee of the property for wrongful execution by levying on mortgaged property after satisfaction of the judgment and without taking a bond to protect the encumbrancer, the purchaser at execution sale should be made a party defendant so as to settle the entire controversy in one suit.⁶⁵

Substitution of parties. Under statutory authority, the execution creditor may be substituted as a defendant where the action has been brought against the officer.⁶⁶

e. Defenses

In actions for wrongful execution, defenses appropriate to the form of action chosen may be presented where they have not been waived; but some defenses open to an officer are not available to an execution creditor or other defendant.

When plaintiff has an election of remedies to redress a wrongful execution, the form of action chosen is open to all the defenses peculiar to that form of action,⁶⁷ provided they have not been waived.⁶⁸ Fraud is a defense.⁶⁹ It is also a defense that the sale was abandoned and the property left in plaintiff's possession.⁷⁰ It is no defense that the judgment creditor derived no advantage from the levy,⁷¹ or that defendant was acting in aid of the officer, when the assistance was not rendered at the officer's request,⁷² or, to an action for a wrongful sale of exempt property, that the debtor had at the time of the levy and sale other property concealed sufficient to pay the debt.⁷³

If plaintiff claims as a purchaser from the judgment debtor, it is no defense that the sale was in violation of the revenue laws where neither of the parties had repudiated the contract and it has been fully executed.⁷⁴ If defendant does not show the legality of the execution, the invalidity of the transfer from the judgment debtor to plaintiff is no defense.⁷⁵

Recovery of the property wrongfully taken does not bar an action for the unlawful seizure and detention;⁷⁶ but a recovery of damages against the sheriff for the trespass is a bar to an action against the purchaser to recover the property.⁷⁷

There are some defenses open to an officer which are not available to another defendant, such as the execution creditor.⁷⁸ For example, statutes releasing an officer from liability for seizing property claimed to be owned by a person other than the judgment debtor where no demand is made,⁷⁹ or a claim is interposed,⁸⁰ or there is an interpleader

59. N.Y.—Read v. Markle, 3 Johns. 523.

60. Cal.—Wood v. Currey, 57 Cal. 208.

61. Cal.—Wood v. Currey, supra.

62. U.S.—Hoxsie v. Nodine, Alaska, 123 F. 379, 61 C.C.A. 223.

63. Ky.—Weddington v. McGuire, 12 Ky.L. 143.

64. U.S.—Hoxsie v. Nodine, Alaska, 123 F. 379, 61 C.C.A. 223. 23 C.J. p 976 note 14.

65. Ky.—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486.

66. Ky.—Gunn v. Gudehus, 15 B. Mon. 447.

23 C.J. p 976 note 15.

67. Ala.—Meredith v. Richardson, 10 Ala. 828.

68. La.—J. El Bell & Co. v. Trahan, App., 151 So. 682.

69. Ark.—Harris v. Stewart, 47 S. W. 634, 65 Ark. 566.

70. Ky.—Heard v. Higginbotham, 182 S.W. 846, 168 Ky. 668.

71. La.—Lawrence v. Hozey, 6 Rob. 385.

Mo.—State v. Mitchell, 1 Mo.App. 386.

23 C.J. p 978 note 54.

72. N.Y.—Merrill v. Near, 5 Wend. 237.

73. Mo.—Megehe v. Draper, 21 Mo. 510, 60 Am.D. 345.

74. Mich.—Wessels v. Beeman, 49 N.W. 483, 87 Mich. 481.

75. S.D.—Hewett v. Usher, 78 N.W. 993, 11 S.D. 512.

76. Ark.—Walker v. Fuller, 29 Ark. 448.

23 C.J. p 978 note 52.

77. Ky.—Seber v. Nelson, 5 Ky.Op. 101.

78. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

79. Minn.—Lundgren v. Western State Bank of Duluth, 250 N.W. 1, 189 Minn. 476, 91 A.L.R. 919.

80. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

23 C.J. p 972 note 11 [f].

issue⁸¹ do not apply where a person other than the officer is sought to be held liable. While a writ of execution, valid on its face and issued out of a court having jurisdiction of the subject matter and apparent jurisdiction in the particular case, affords complete protection to an officer from liability for any proper or necessary act done thereunder, see the C.J.S. title Sheriffs and Constables § 122, also 57 C.J. p 916 note 71, the execution creditor who caused the writ to be issued or directed the levy or sale must show a regular and valid judgment,⁸² and when once set aside, the judgment and execution can no longer be set up by the party causing the same to be entered and issued as a defense for anything done under them.⁸³ A party may, however, justify under a regular execution although the judgment is erroneous, until the judgment is set aside,⁸⁴ and the same rule applies to an execution which is irregular but not void.⁸⁵

f. Pleading

General rules of pleading apply in actions for a wrongful execution or a wrongful act under an execution.

General rules of pleading ordinarily apply in actions for a wrongful execution or for a wrongful act under an execution.⁸⁶ The declaration, petition, or complaint must state facts sufficient to show a cause of action.⁸⁷ If several articles are sold, it should state the particular articles and the value of each or show some reason why such statement cannot be given.⁸⁸ Where the fact that the act complained of was done maliciously is relied on, it is not necessary that the word "malice" should be used if language describing or defining it is used.⁸⁹ Immaterial allegations may be stricken out.⁹⁰

Plea or answer. If defendant attempts to justify, under a special plea of title and possession, he must aver every material fact necessary to constitute a title.⁹¹ A plea confessing the taking, but alleging that the property was taken under legal process, regularly issued out of a court of competent jurisdiction against the execution defendant, must also allege that the property was his, or it will be demurrable.⁹² Fraud as a defense must be specially pleaded.⁹³

Replication. In an action of trespass for a wrongful arrest, a replication to a plea of justification under legal process does not sufficiently allege a payment of the judgment unless it states facts showing that the payment was made and received in discharge of the debt and so as to extinguish it.⁹⁴

g. Evidence

General rules of evidence usually apply in actions for wrongful execution.

General rules of evidence ordinarily apply in actions for wrongful execution.⁹⁵ The burden of proving the ownership,⁹⁶ seizure,⁹⁷ conversion,⁹⁸

81. Pa.—Breyer Ice Cream Co. v. Rudley, 171 A. 96, 111 Pa.Super. 604.

Institution or abandonment of interpleader proceedings by claimant does not prevent recovery from judgment creditor in action of trespass.—Summit Hosiery Co. v. Gottschall, 141 A. 298, 292 Pa. 464.

82. Minn.—Beede v. Nides Finance Corporation, 296 N.W. 413, 415, citing Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 978 note 48.

83. Minn.—Beede v. Nides Finance Corporation, supra, citing Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 978 note 51.

84. U.S.—Bank of the United States v. Bank of Washington, D.C., 6 Pet. 8, 8 L.Ed. 299, reversing 2 F. Cas.No.947, 4 Cranch C.C. 86. Vt.—Allen v. Huntington, 2 Aik. 249, 16 Am.D. 702.

85. N.Y.—Rosenfield v. Palmer, 5 Daly 318.

86. Iowa.—King v. Nelson, 94 N.W. 1095, 120 Iowa 606.

87. Cal.—Miller v. Price, 284 P. 1035, 103 Cal.App. 650.

88. Brown v. Smith, 165 S.E. 243, 175 Ga. 470—George Muse Clothing Co. v. Lee, 156 S.E. 281, 42 Ga.App. 353.

89. Fontenot v. Stark, App., 192 So. 550.

23 C.J. p 976 note 18.

Tortious action of judgment creditor

(1) Judgment debtor suing estate of judgment creditor for unlawful seizure under execution should allege facts showing affirmative tortious action of deceased judgment creditor.—Granat v. Biscayne Trust Co., 147 So. 850, 109 Fla. 485.

(2) A complaint, not alleging expressly or impliedly that judgment creditor suggested to or directed co-defendant constable how he should keep automobile, seized by him under execution, pleaded no cause of action against judgment creditor for damage to automobile because of constable's negligent exposure thereof to cold.—Vangellow v. East Side Sav. Bank, 11 N.Y.S.2d 982.

Ownership at time of conversion is sufficiently alleged by pleading ownership on day levy was made.—Klus v. Lamire, 230 P. 364, 71 Mont. 445.

Complaint held to state cause of action

La.—Harris v. Creco, 1 La.App. 216, 23 C.J. p 976 note 18 [a].

88. Tex.—Beck v. Avondino, 18 S. W. 690, 82 Tex. 314.

89. Iowa.—Gensburg v. Field, 74 N. W. 3, 104 Iowa 599.

90. Iowa.—King v. Nelson, 94 N.W. 1095, 120 Iowa 606. 23 C.J. p 976 note 19.

91. Vt.—Gleason v. Howard, Brayt. p 190. 23 C.J. p 977 note 24.

92. Ala.—Hill v. Elmore, 79 So. 148, 16 Ala.App. 474.

93. Colo.—Koerner v. Wilson, 274 P. 737, 85 Colo. 140, 63 A.L.R. 227. Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, 63 Tex. 678.

94. N.H.—Breck v. Blanchard, 22 N. H. 303, 20 N.H. 323, 51 Am.D. 222.

95. Mont.—Kipp v. Silverman, 64 P. 884, 25 Mont. 296.

96. Mont.—Kipp v. Silverman, supra. Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, 10 S.W. 713, 72 Tex. 598.

97. N.C.—O'Brian v. Wilkerson, 30 S.E. 126, 122 N.C. 304.

Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, 10 S.W. 713, 72 Tex. 598.

23 C.J. p 977 note 29.

98. Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, supra.

and value⁹⁹ of the goods is on plaintiff, as is also that of proving any circumstances of oppression or malice attending the levy or sale, as a basis for exemplary damages.¹ However, where property wrongfully levied on is in possession of claimant at the time of the levy, his possession is prima facie evidence of ownership, and the burden is on defendant to show the contrary.²

Where a sale is made in a manner other than, that which the statute directs, the presumption is that the price realized is less than if the statute had been complied with.³ Where time is material, the burden is on plaintiff to prove that the levy was made at such a time as to be wrongful.⁴

Admissibility. Evidence which is competent, relevant, and material is admissible,⁵ provided it is within the issues raised by the pleadings.⁶ However, evidence having no tendency to throw light on the real issues,⁷ or which merely tends to arouse the animosity of the jury,⁸ is not admissible. Evidence of the cost price of property levied on,⁹ and also of what the property brought at the execution sale,¹⁰ is admissible to show actual value.

Weight and sufficiency. The sufficiency of the evidence to show the ownership,¹¹ amount,¹² and value¹³ of the property seized, a wrongful act,¹⁴ defendant's connection therewith,¹⁵ and actual damages resulting therefrom,¹⁶ as well as its sufficiency to warrant or sustain a verdict for plaintiff¹⁷ or defendant,¹⁸ depends on the evidence in the particular case. The existence of the execution must be established by the production of the writ itself, or by proof of its loss or destruction and of its contents.¹⁹

h. Trial

General rules governing the trial of civil actions ordinarily control the trial of actions for wrongful execution.

The trial of an action for wrongful execution is usually governed by the rules regulating the trial of civil actions.²⁰

Questions of law and fact. The question of ownership is ordinarily one for the jury,²¹ as is the question as to whether the judgment creditor is liable on the ground that he has ratified the acts of the levying officer,²² and the question as to whether circumstances exist justifying the imposition of exemplary damages.²³ The court should²⁴ or should not²⁵ direct a verdict for defendant accordingly as the evidence is insufficient or sufficient to authorize submission of the case to the jury.

Instructions. The necessity for,²⁶ and sufficiency of,²⁷ instructions in actions for wrongful execution are governed by the rules applicable to in-

99. Mont.—Kipp v. Silverman, 64 P. 884, 25 Mont. 296.
Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, 10 S.W. 713, 72 Tex. 598.

1. Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, supra.

2. Fla.—Mayer v. Wilkins, 19 So. 682, 87 Fla. 244.

3. Tex.—Gunter v. Cobb, 17 S.W. 848, 82 Tex. 598.

4. Or.—Hume v. Rice, 167 P. 578, 86 Or. 93.

5. N.Y.—Koenigsberg v. Blau, 119 N.Y.S. 708.

23 C.J. p 977 note 36.

6. Pa.—Lee v. Conard, 1 Whart. 155. 23 C.J. p 977 note 37.

7. Mont.—Kipp v. Silverman, 64 P. 884, 25 Mont. 296.

23 C.J. p 977 note 38.

8. N.Y.—Montignani v. E. V. Crandall Co., 54 N.Y.S. 517, 34 App.Div. 228.

23 C.J. p 978 note 39.

9. Mont.—Kipp v. Silverman, 64 P. 884, 25 Mont. 296.

Pa.—McElrath v. Kintzing, 5 Pa. 336.

10. N.Y.—Montignani v. E. V. Crandall Co., 54 N.Y.S. 517, 34 App.Div. 228.

Utah.—White v. Pease, 49 P. 416, 15 Utah 170.

23 C.J. p 978 note 41.

11. Cal.—Smart v. Sosey, 193 P. 167, 49 Cal.App. 332.

La.—Sims v. Matassa, App., 200 So. 666.

Minn.—Northern Timber Products Co. v. Stone-Ordean-Wells Co., 180 N.W. 920, 148 Minn. 69.

N.Y.—Stambler v. Walsh, 220 N.Y.S. 41, 219 App.Div. 732, modified on other grounds 222 N.Y.S. 904, 220 App.Div. 771.

23 C.J. p 978 note 43.

12. La.—Chatman v. Wren & Turner, 123 So. 483, 11 La.App. 224.

13. N.Y.—Dai v. Dimon, 126 N.Y.S. 91.

23 C.J. p 978 note 44.

14. Mont.—Beyerlein v. Whitcomb, 26 P.2d 349, 95 Mont. 293.

15. N.Y.—Schuler v. Roberts, 21 N.Y.S. 27.

16. Idaho.—Beloit v. Green, 251 P. 621, 43 Idaho 265.

Special or substantial damages

Ark.—Bridwell v. Anderson, 156 S.W.2d 231.

17. Cal.—Karst v. Finn, 178 P. 973, 39 Cal.App. 369.

18. S.D.—Drew v. Lawrence, 159 N.W. 274, 37 S.D. 620.

19. S.D.—Hewitt v. Usher, 78 N.W. 993, 11 S.D. 512.

20. Tex.—Mertens First Bank v.

Steffens, 111 S.W. 782, 51 Tex.Civ. App. 211.

Effect of admission of legality of levy

An admission on the trial that the levy was legal does not preclude objections to the validity of the sale.—Harvey v. McAdams, 32 Mich. 472.

21. Mich.—Jaddats v. Grace Harbor Lumber Co., 160 N.W. 587, 194 Mich. 273.

N.Y.—Koenigsberg v. Blau, 119 N.Y.S. 708.

Evidence held sufficient to justify submission of issue of ownership to the jury.—Farris v. Castor, 99 P.2d 900, 186 Okl. 668.

22. Ala.—Stowers Furniture Co. v. Brake, 48 So. 89, 158 Ala. 639.

23. U.S.—Hoxsie v. Nodine, Alaska, 123 F. 379, 61 C.C.A. 223.

23 C.J. p 979 note 81.

24. Wash.—Eald v. Connolly, 94 P. 188, 48 Wash. 584.

25. Ga.—Rollins v. Cox, 138 S.E. 76, 164 Ga. 231.

26. Tex.—Beck v. Avindino, 88 S.W. 827, 29 Tex.Civ.App. 500.

27. Pa.—Hurwitz v. Kelly, 28 Pa. Super. 104.

Utah.—Farr v. Swiart, 44 P. 711, 13 Utah 150.

structions in civil actions in general. Thus the instructions must be applicable to the pleadings and proof,²⁸ and must not be misleading,²⁹ or unduly emphasize particular issues,³⁰ or require too great a degree of proof,³¹ or, in some jurisdictions, express an opinion as to the weight of the evidence.³² These rules govern instructions as to the ownership of the property,³³ and the rules governing damages.³⁴

Verdict. A verdict merely finding for plaintiff in certain sums for actual damages, exemplary damages, and expenses is sufficient where the charge has taken from the jury the issue of the validity of the judgment.³⁵ A general verdict for plaintiff embraces a finding that the judgment was satisfied where the court charged that if the jury should find that the judgment had been satisfied prior to the issuance of the execution they might find for plaintiff the value of the property.³⁶

§ 458. — Damages

Unless exemplary damages are also warranted, the recovery in an action for wrongful execution should be such as will compensate the injured party for the actual loss sustained.

In the absence of any circumstances which would warrant the allowance of exemplary damages, the recovery in an action for wrongful execution should be such as will compensate the injured party for the actual loss sustained³⁷ and no more.³⁸ Where there is no showing of actual damages, the owner is entitled to nominal damages.³⁹ Remote or speculative damages,⁴⁰ or damages which are not the proximate result of the wrongful act,⁴¹ are not recoverable. As shown subsequently in this section, the damages sustained and recoverable may depend on whether the wrongful act deprived the complaining party wholly of the property or only of the use thereof during a limited period. The amount of damages which may be recovered may also depend on the nature of the action in which the relief is sought.⁴² Only actual damages are recoverable for wrongful issuance of the writ without malice.⁴³

Where there is merely a wrongful levy or seizure, recovery will be limited to the special damages sustained thereby,⁴⁴ and if no such injury is shown the damages will be nominal only,⁴⁵ as in case of a statutory levy on land⁴⁶ or where a crop is under seizure for one day only and no appreciable damage results;⁴⁷ but the owner is entitled to nominal damages where no special or actual damages are proved,⁴⁸ any unlawful seizure of private property being an invasion of private rights which is deemed to cause damage.⁴⁹

Where the property has been sold or lost to the owner, damages for the loss are recoverable.⁵⁰ Ordinarily, in such case, the value of the property,⁵¹ as distinguished from the price at which it was sold,⁵² may be recovered; but a third person

28. Pa.—Clemens v. Price, 34 A. 561, 174 Pa. 306.

23 C.J. p 979 note 72.

29. Tex.—Mertens First Bank v. Steffens, 111 S.W. 782, 51 Tex.Civ. App. 211.

30. Issue of exemplary damages

Tex.—Mertens First Bank v. Steffens, supra.

31. Tex.—Nelson v. Ashmore, Civ. App., 56 S.W. 938.

23 C.J. p 979 note 75.

32. Tex.—Willis v. Hudson, 10 S.W. 713, 72 Tex. 598.

33. Ala.—Smiley v. Hooper, 41 So. 660, 147 Ala. 646.

23 C.J. p 979 note 77.

34. Tex.—Haughn v. Allen, Civ. App., 68 S.W. 207.

23 C.J. p 979 note 78.

35. Tex.—Deleshaw v. Edelen, 72 S. W. 413, 31 Tex.Civ.App. 416.

36. Tex.—Mertens First Bank v. Steffens, 111 S.W. 782, 51 Tex.Civ. App. 211.

37. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

Ill.—Coplea v. Bybee, 8 N.E.2d 55, 290 Ill.App. 117.

La.—Durden v. Rosenberg, App., 148 So. 728.

23 C.J. p 979 note 88.

38. La.—Sala v. Phoenix Building & Homestead Ass'n, 162 So. 640, 182 La. 844—Williams v. D'Asaro, 152 So. 68, 178 La. 513—J. E. Bell & Co. v. Trahan, App., 151 So. 682.

23 C.J. p 979 note 89.

39. Idaho.—Beloit v. Green, 251 P. 621, 43 Idaho 265.

40. Tex.—Wollner v. Darnell, Civ. App., 94 S.W.2d 1225.

23 C.J. p 980 note 2.

41. Ky.—Buckner v. Fleming, 5 Ky. L. 607.

42. Ky.—Wickliffe v. Sanders, 6 T.B. Mon. 296.

23 C.J. p 981 note 11.

43. La.—Zion v. Bodie, 6 La.App. 816.

44. La.—Sims v. Matassa, App., 200 So. 666.

23 C.J. p 979 note 90.

45. La.—Presas v. Lanata, 11 Rob. 288.

Tex.—Slaughter v. American Baptist Pub. Soc., Civ.App., 150 S.W. 224.

23 C.J. p 979 note 91.

46. Tex.—Adoue v. Wettermark, 83 S.W. 797, 36 Tex.Civ.App. 585.

47. La.—Vinyard v. Stassi, App., 158 So. 24.

48. La.—Jackson v. Kirschman, App., 175 So. 105, affirming 173 So. 562.

Okl.—Farris v. Castor, 99 P.2d 900, 186 Okl. 668.

49. La.—Jones v. Dietrich, App., 186 So. 881.

50. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

51. Iowa.—Wertz v. Hale, 208 N.W. 859, 202 Iowa 305.

23 C.J. p 979 note 93.

Commercial value of property, or what plaintiff would have received for it if it had not been seized and sold, is the measure of damages.—Chatman v. Wren & Turner, 123 So. 483, 11 La.App. 224.

Grocery store stock

Retail value of wrongfully seized grocery store stock is not proper basis for determining stock's "market value," "market value" being what goods could have been promptly sold for in bulk or convenient lots.—J. M. Radford Grocery Co. v. Hothan, Tex. Civ.App., 42 S.W.2d 119.

52. Pa.—Rogers v. Fales, 5 Pa. 154. 23 C.J. p 980 note 94.

whose property has been levied on, and who has indemnified a receptor, may recover the full amount of the sum agreed to be paid by the receptor in case of the nondelivery of the property.⁵³ Where goods in the possession of a pledgee are wrongfully taken, the pledgee may recover the full value of the property, and not merely the amount of his lien against the pledgor.⁵⁴ Similarly, where a debtor assigns to his creditors property out of the proceeds of which a creditor is to pay himself and other creditors, and the property is wrongfully taken on execution by other creditors of the assignor, the assignee may recover the full value of the property, and not merely the amount due to the assignee from the assignor.⁵⁵ If an interest in property is wrongfully sold, the value of that interest, and not merely the selling price, is recoverable;⁵⁶ but where such interest has no actual value only nominal damages can be recovered.⁵⁷

Matters in mitigation. The owner of property wrongfully taken under execution cannot be compelled to receive it back,⁵⁸ but if it is received the fact will be considered in mitigation of damages.⁵⁹ Where the property is bid in by plaintiff or for his benefit, the measure of damages is not the value of the property but the price paid at the sale with interest and such special damages as may have been sustained by the detention.⁶⁰ If a person against whose property an execution is wrongfully issued voluntarily disposes of the property at a reduced price in order to apply the proceeds to the execution, the measure of damages is the amount received for the property and not the actual value.⁶¹

The owner may be required to accept less than the full value of the property at the time of conversion where he obtained an order restraining the sale and during the ensuing delay the property depreciated in value.⁶²

Surplus proceeds of the sale paid to plaintiff will be deducted from the damages allowed;⁶³ but the expense of levy and sale cannot be deducted.⁶⁴ Matter in mitigation of damages as to one co-trespasser should extend to the others also.⁶⁵

Exemplary damages generally. Exemplary damages may be allowed where it is shown that the act complained of was done wantonly, maliciously, or with a reckless disregard of the rights of the injured party;⁶⁶ but such damages may not be recovered where these circumstances do not exist,⁶⁷ and the creditor acted in good faith.⁶⁸ Exemplary damages are not recoverable where the evidence fails to show any actual damages,⁶⁹ or where exemplary or punitive damages are not allowable in civil actions.⁷⁰

Damage to property. An owner who has recovered the property is entitled to recover for any damage done to it during the period he was deprived of it,⁷¹ provided the damage was caused by some act or improper care by the officer as the agent of defendant.⁷²

Interest or loss of use of property. Recovery may be had of interest from the time of the conversion⁷³ or, according to some,⁷⁴ but not other,⁷⁵ authorities, of the value of the use of the property

53. N.Y.—Phillips v. Hall, 8 Wend. 610, 24 Am.D. 108.

54. Me.—Soule v. White, 14 Me. 436.

55. N.Y.—Robbins v. Flitz, 33 N.Y. 420.

56. N.Y.—Boyce Hardware Co. v. Saunders, 196 N.Y.S. 259, 119 Misc. 365.

57. Ind.—Geisendorff v. Eagles, 70 Ind. 418.

23 C.J. p 980 note 1.

58. Mo.—Howell v. Caryl, 50 Mo. App. 440.

Pa.—Mansfield v. Bell, 24 Pa.Super. 447.

59. Ark.—Walker v. Fuller, 29 Ark. 448.

Cal.—Nightingale v. Scannell, 18 Cal. 315.

23 C.J. p 981 note 14.

60. Idaho.—Moreland v. Mason, 260 P. 1035, 45 Idaho 143.

Pa.—Drabant v. Cure, 124 A. 340, 280 Pa. 181.

23 C.J. p 981 note 16.

61. Ark.—Walker v. Fuller, 29 Ark. 448.

62. Ohio.—Midland Acceptance Corporation v. General Motors Acceptance Corporation, 197 N.E. 120, 49 Ohio App. 243.

63. Mo.—Gilliam v. Globe Tailoring Co., 133 S.W. 628, 152 Mo.App. 464. 23 C.J. p 981 note 15.

64. Tex.—Hillman v. Edwards, Civ. App., 74 S.W. 787.

65. Colo.—Bowman v. Davis, 22 P. 507, 13 Colo. 297.

66. Ill.—Coplea v. Bybee, 8 N.E.2d 55, 290 Ill.App. 117.

23 C.J. p 981 note 20.

67. La.—Chatman v. Wren & Turner, 123 So. 483, 11 La.App. 224.

23 C.J. p 981 note 21.

Both malice and want of probable cause are essential to support an award of exemplary damages.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 108.

Where there is no established claim for exemplary damages, such damages are properly excluded from the case.—Ullmann, Stern & Krausse

v. Rogers, Tex.Civ.App., 288 S.W. 1109.

68. N.D.—Galvin v. Tibbs, 119 N.W. 39, 17 N.D. 600.

23 C.J. p 981 note 22.

69. Tex.—Adoue v. Wettermark, 82 S.W. 797, 36 Tex.Civ.App. 585.

70. La.—Mundy v. Phillips, 102 So. 519, 157 La. 445.

71. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

72. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, supra.

73. Iowa.—Werts v. Hale, 208 N.W. 859, 202 Iowa 305.

23 C.J. p 980 note 95.

74. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

La.—J. E. Bell & Co. v. Trahan, App., 151 So. 682.

Tex.—Ullmann, Stern & Krausse v. Rogers, Civ.App., 288 S.W. 1109.

23 C.J. p 980 note 96.

75. Iowa.—Werts v. Hale, 208 N.W. 859, 202 Iowa 305.

during the period of wrongful detention or deprivation.

Loss of, or injury to, credit, profits, or business. Loss of, or injury to, credit may be considered in assessing exemplary damages,⁷⁶ but it is not an element of actual damages, either general or special.⁷⁷ Some authorities take a like position with regard to loss or destruction of business, or loss of profits from the interruption of business,⁷⁸ although others hold that recovery may be had⁷⁹ where the amount of the damages on this account is alleged and proved with reasonable certainty⁸⁰ and the seized goods could not be readily replaced.⁸¹

Expenses of litigation or for recovery of property. The owner of property wrongfully seized on execution is entitled to compensation or reimbursement for reasonable efforts or expenditures to recover the property,⁸² including expenses of litigation.⁸³ He has been allowed recovery for the cost of transportation to attend trial,⁸⁴ but not for time consumed in preparing for, and attending, trial,⁸⁵ nor for the cost of printing briefs.⁸⁶

Some courts allow a recovery of the amount paid counsel to vindicate the client's ownership and secure a release of the property.⁸⁷ In some instances the fees have been allowed as an element of exemplary damages;⁸⁸ and it is held that they are not allowable as an element of actual damages,⁸⁹ or in cases where exemplary damages are not recoverable,⁹⁰ or in the absence of malice, bad faith, want of probable cause, or statutory provision for the allowance or recovery of such fees.⁹¹ They are not recoverable where there is no cause of action for any damages.⁹²

Mental anguish, pain, or suffering has been allowed as an element of exemplary,⁹³ but not of actual,⁹⁴ damages. No recovery may be had where the judgment creditor acted without malice and had reasonable grounds for his belief as to ownership.⁹⁵

Inconvenience and humiliation. Damages for humiliation and inconvenience or annoyance have been allowed,⁹⁶ but such damages have been refused where the owner was not deprived of the use and possession of the property, and the judgment creditor acted without malice and had reasonable grounds for his belief concerning ownership.⁹⁷

EXECUTIVE. The exact legal meaning of the word has been many times authoritatively fixed and defined.¹

As a noun, in modern commercial use, an "Exe-

76. Cal.—Birch Ranch & Oil Co. v. Campbell, 111 P.2d 445, 43 Cal.App. 2d 624.

Tex.—Ullmann, Stern & Krausse v. Rogers, Civ.App., 288 S.W. 1109.

77. Cal.—Birch Ranch & Oil Co. v. Campbell, 111 P.2d 445, 43 Cal.App. 2d 624.

Tex.—Ullmann, Stern & Krausse v. Rogers, Civ.App., 288 S.W. 1109. 23 C.J. p 980 note 4.

Too remote and speculative

Cal.—Birch Ranch & Oil Co. v. Campbell, 111 P.2d 445, 43 Cal.App. 2d 624.

78. Tex.—Wollner v. Darnell, Civ. App., 94 S.W.2d 1225—J. M. Radford Grocery Co. v. Hothan, Civ. App., 42 S.W.2d 119—Ullmann, Stern & Krausse v. Rogers, Civ. App., 288 S.W. 1109. 23 C.J. p 980 note 5.

79. Cal.—McPheeters v. Bateman, 53 P.2d 195, 11 Cal.App.2d 106.

80. Ark.—Summers v. Heard, 51 S. W. 1057, 66 Ark. 550. 23 C.J. p 980 note 6.

81. Ark.—Summers v. Heard, 51 S. W. 1057, 66 Ark. 550.

Mich.—McCauley v. Hoek, 124 N.W. 570, 159 Mich. 570, 18 Ann.Cas. 945. 23 C.J. p 980 note 7.

82. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

83. Ga.—O'Neal v. Spivey, 145 S.E. 71, 167 Ga. 176.

La.—Vinyard v. Stassi, App., 158 So. 24.

As exemplary damages

Kan.—Duff & Repp Furniture Co. v. Read, 88 P. 263, 74 Kan. 730.

84. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Weaver, 93 So. 899, 208 Ala. 280.

85. La.—Hardee v. Beard, App., 152 So. 359—Giangrosso v. Bernard, 127 So. 418, 13 La.App. 488.

86. La.—Giangrosso v. Bernard, supra.

87. La.—Alfano v. Franek, 105 So. 598, 159 La. 498—Sims v. Matassa, App., 200 So. 666—Jones v. Dietrich, App., 186 So. 881—J. E. Bell & Co. v. Trahan, App., 151 So. 682—Giangrosso v. Bernard, 127 So. 418, 13 La.App. 488—Chatman v. Wren & Turner, 123 So. 483, 11 La. App. 224.

88. Tex.—Deleshaw v. Edelen, 72 S. W. 413, 31 Tex.Civ.App. 416. 23 C.J. p 981 note 26.

89. Tex.—Neese v. Radford, 19 S. W. 141, 83 Tex. 585—Slaughter v. American Baptist Pub. Soc., Civ. App., 150 S.W. 224.

90. Miss.—Kalmia Realty & Insurance Co. v. Hopkins, 141 So. 903, 163 Miss. 556.

91. Idaho.—Beloit v. Green, 251 P. 621, 43 Idaho 265.

92. Cal.—Birch Ranch & Oil Co. v. Campbell, 111 P.2d 445, 43 Cal.App. 2d 624.

La.—Hamilton v. Antoine, App., 157 So. 795.

93. Kan.—Duff & Repp Furniture Co. v. Read, 88 P. 263, 74 Kan. 730.

94. Tex.—Slaughter v. American Baptist Pub. Soc., Civ.App., 150 S. W. 224. 23 C.J. p 980 note 9.

95. La.—Sims v. Matassa, App., 200 So. 666.

96. La.—J. E. Bell & Co. v. Trahan, App., 151 So. 682.

Presumption of damages

Damages to judgment debtors, whose household furniture was removed to constable's warehouse after illegal seizure thereof on writ of fieri facias, are presumed to have been caused by consequent inconvenience and humiliation.—Jackson v. Kirschman, La.App., 173 So. 562, affirmed 175 So. 105.

97. La.—Sims v. Matassa, App., 200 So. 666.

1. Fla.—Opinion on Executive Communication, 6 So. 925, 23 Fla. 297, 298.

utive" is a reasonably well understood term to designate one whose duties relate to active participation in control, supervision and management of a business,² defined generally as a person charged with administrative or executive work;³ and, more specifically, as one employed in an executive capacity, that is, one whose primary duty is the management of an establishment, or a recognized department thereof, who directs the work of others, has authority to hire and discharge, promote, or change the status of, such others, or whose recommendations and suggestions with regard thereto are given particular weight, and who customarily and regularly exercises discretionary power,⁴ being thus contrasted with, or distinguished from, "employee" see Employee 30 C.J.S. p 231 in Pocket Parts.

As designating the person, such as the governor or president, or the governmental department, charged with the duty of carrying out or enforcing the laws, see the C.J.S. titles Constitutional Law § 167 et seq; States § 60, also 59 C.J. p 114 note 10-p 115 note 34; and United States §§ 27-33, also 65 C.J. p 1270 note 55-p 1273 note 8.

As an adjective, it has been defined as qualifying for, or pertaining to, the execution of the laws.⁵

Usually the adjective is said to be synonymous or interchangeable with "administrative" see 2 C.J.S. p 56 note 64, and, while the terms "executive" and "ministerial" may be distinguishable, they have often been used as synonymous terms,⁶ since the fact that an act is ministerial is not inconsistent with the fact that it is also executive,⁷ for, in contradistinction with judicial duties, all executive duties are said to be ministerial.⁸ "Executive" has been compared with, and frequently distinguished from, "administrative" see 2 C.J.S. p 56 note 65, "judicial,"⁹ "legislative,"¹⁰ and "ministerial."¹¹

As relating to the separation of governmental powers and to the specific powers and functions of the law enforcement department see Constitutional Law §§ 104, 167 et seq. As to public executive officers and offices, together with the distinctions to be made between them and judicial, legislative, ministerial, or political officers and offices see the C.J.S. title Officers § 3, also 46 C.J. p 926 note 58-p 927 note 70, and 23 C.J. p 982 note 14-p 983 note 16.

Phrases employing the word are set out in the note.¹²

2. U.S.—Wilkinson v. Noland Co., D.C.Va., 40 F.Supp. 1009, 1011, 1012.

3. Webster New Int.D.

4. U.S.—Wilkinson v. Noland Co., supra—Devoe v. Atlanta Paper Co., D.C.Ga., 40 F.Supp. 284, 286.

Held not to include

A chemist acting as director of research for a mining company.—Eagle-Picher Mining & Smelting Co. v. National Labor Relations Board, C.C.A., 119 F.2d 903, 911.

5. Ind.—State v. Denny, 21 N.E. 252, 254, 118 Ind. 382, 4 L.R.A. 79.

6. Colo.—Sheely v. People, 129 P. 201, 203, 54 Colo. 136.

7. Mich.—People v. Salisbury, 96 N. W. 936, 940, 134 Mich. 537.

8. Colo.—Sheely v. People, 129 P. 201, 203, 54 Colo. 136.

N.J.—State v. Governor, 25 N.J.Law 331, 350.

9. Conn.—In re Gilhuly, 199 A. 436, 439, 124 Conn. 271.

Neb.—State ex rel. Good v. National Old Line Life Ins. Co., 261 N.W. 902, 904, 129 Neb. 473.

N.Y.—In re Rice, 226 N.Y.S. 585, 593, 131 Misc. 220.

S.C.—State v. Davis, 70 S.E. 417, 419, 88 S.C. 204.

23 C.J. p 981 notes 2, 4 [a].

10. Ind.—State v. Denny, 21 N.E. 252, 254, 118 Ind. 382, 388, 4 L.R.A. 79.

23 C.J. p 981 note 4.

11. Neb.—State v. Loechner, 91 N. W. 874, 875, 65 Neb. 814, 59 L.R.A. 913.

23 C.J. p 982 note 5.

12. Executive act

(1) Distinguished from "judicial act."—Yellowstone County v. Northern Pacific R. Co., 25 P. 1058, 1061, 10 Mont. 414—34 C.J. p 1179 note 58 [a].

(2) Held to include the transfer of prisoner from industrial institute to state penitentiary.—Uram v. Roach, 37 P.2d 793, 796, 47 Wyo. 335, 95 A.L.R. 1448.

"Executive function [or functions]"

(1) Defined or discussed generally. U.S.—Morgan v. Tennessee Valley Authority, C.C.A.Tenn., 115 F.2d 990, 994—Havemeyer v. Public Service Commission of Puerto Rico, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 74 F.2d 637, 642.

Ark.—Arkansas Amusement Corporation v. Kempner, 33 S.W.2d 42, 43, 182 Ark. 897.

N.H.—White v. Arnold Wood Heel Co., 8 A.2d 737, 739—In re Opinion of the Justices, 179 A. 357, 359, '87 N.H. 492, 110 A.L.R. 819.

23 C.J. p 982 note 12 [b].

(2) Distinguished from "judicial function" and from "legislative function."—Morgan v. Tennessee Valley Authority, supra.

(3) The creation of offices is a "legislative function"; but the appointment and removal of officers is an "executive function."—Tucker v. State, Ind., 35 N.E.2d 270, 282, 292.

(4) The term has been held to imply activity in the management of all or some part of a business and so is distinguished from "ordinary labor," and "routine work."—Arkansas Amusement Corporation v. Kempner, 33 S.W.2d 42, 43, 182 Ark. 897.

"Executive officer"

(1) Defined with relation to government generally see the C.J.S. title Officers § 3, also 46 C.J. p 926 note 58-p 927 note 70 and 23 C.J. p 982 note 14-p 983 note 16.

(2) Members of the board of canvassers and registration are not "executive officers" of the state.—Molloy v. Collins, R.I., 18 A.2d 639, 642.

(3) "Executive officer" of the court, as including a sheriff.—State v. Jacobs, 32 N.E.2d 574, 577, 66 Ohio App. 151.

(4) Defined or discussed with reference to a corporation, or other employing unit, and distinguished from "ordinary employee." N.Y.—Small v. Gibbs Press, 225 N.Y.S. 141, 142, 222 App.Div. 699.

N.C.—Rowe v. Rowe-Coward Co., 181 S.E. 254, 257, 208 N.C. 484.

Pa.—Nirenstein v. Camp Colang, 169 A. 404, 406, 111 Pa.Super. 72. See also the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 82, and 71 C.J. p 506 note 52-p 508 note 72.

EXECUTOR DE SON TORT. See Executors and Administrators § 1063.

EXECUTORIAL DUTIES. See Duty 28 C.J.S. 597 note 2 and Executors and Administrators § 14

(5) "Executive officer or employee," defined as one who assumes command or control and directs the course of the business, or some part thereof, and who outlines the duties and directs the work of subordinate employees.—Arkansas Amusement Corporation v. Kempner, 33 S.W.2d 42, 43, 182 Ark. 897.

Executive power

(1) The power to execute the laws, that is, to carry them into effect, as distinguished from the power to make the laws and the power to judge them.—Tucker v. State, Ind., 35 N.E.2d 270, 290, 291.

(2) The power to execute the laws, vested in the governor of the state, administrative officers of the state, counties, townships, town, and cities.—State v. Denny, 21 N.E. 252, 254, 118 Ind. 382, 4 L.R.A. 79—23 C.J. p 982 note 12 [c].

(3) The power to appoint the subordinate officers and employees through whom the laws are executed is a necessary incident to the power to execute the laws.—Tucker v. State, supra.

(4) Held to include those governmental powers properly assigned to executive department, that is, those which are necessary to be done to carry out legislative policies and purposes already declared by legislative body, or such as are devolved upon it by organic law of its existence.—Dickson v. Hardy, La.App., 144 So. 519, 526.

Other phrases construed

(1) "Administrative and executive power" as distinguished from "judicial power".—Miller v. State, 49 N.E. 894, 898, 149 Ind. 607, 40 L.R.A. 109—34 C.J. p 1179 note 58 [b].

(2) "Employed in a bona fide executive . . . capacity."—Wilkinson v. Noland Co., D.C.Va., 40 F.

Supp. 1009, 1012—Devoe v. Atlanta Paper Co., D.C.Ga., 40 F.Supp. 284, 286.

(3) "Executive administration" or "executive ministry," as a political term in England applicable to the higher and responsible class of public officials by whom the chief departments of the kingdom are administered. The number of these amounts to fifty or sixty persons. Their tenure of office depends on confidence of a majority of the house of commons, and they are supposed to be agreed on all matters of general policy except such as are specifically left open questions.—Black L.D.

(4) "Executive agency."—U. S. v. Paramount Publix Corporation, Cust. & Pat.App., 73 F.2d 103, 105.

(5) "Executive agreement."—State of Russia v. National City Bank of New York, C.C.A., 69 F.2d 44, 48. "Treaty" distinguished see the C.J.S. title Treaties § 1, also 68 C.J. p 826 note 9.

(6) "Executive appointment."—Harman v. Harwood, 58 Md. 1, 12—23 C.J. p 982 note 11 [a].

(7) "Executive authority."—Mass.—Commonwealth v. Hall, 9 Gray 262, 267. Ohio.—State ex rel. Tietje v. Collett, 35 N.E.2d 568, 570, 138 Ohio St. 425.

(8) "Executive business."—Altamus v. New York, 13 N.Y.Super. 446, 455.

(9) "Executive capacity," as relating to active participation in the control, supervision, and management of the business, and contrasted with "menial labor".—Arkansas Amusement Corporation v. Kempner, C.C.A.Ark., 57 F.2d 466, 473—Wilkinson v. Noland Co., D.C.Va., 40 F.Supp. 1009, 1011.

(10) "Executive class", as including all persons who have function in the administration of public affairs, as contradistinguished from legislative and judicial functions.—People v. Salsbury, 96 N.W. 936, 937, 134 Mich. 537.

(11) "Executive duties" see 28 C.J.S. p 597 notes 96–1.

(12) "Executive governmental agency," as exercising quasi-judicial powers.—Howlett v. Social Security Commission, Mo., 149 S.W.2d 806, 809.

(13) "Executive order reservation" see the C.J.S. title Indians § 29, also 31 C.J. p 499 note 41.

(14) "Executive or managing officer."—Gordon v. Industrial Accident Commission of California, Cal.App. 249 P. 844, 848.

(15) "Executive pardon" see the C.J.S. title Pardons § 1, also 46 C.J. p 1181 note 1.

(16) "Executive paroles," as intended for their effect on the convict himself to secure his moral reformation.—Law v. State, 191 So. 803, 806, 238 Ala. 428, citing Corpus Juris. See also the C.J.S. title Pardons §§ 18, 19, and 46 C.J. p 1204 notes 56–60, p 1205 notes 72–76.

(17) "Executive power or authority."—State v. Denny, 21 N.E. 252, 254, 118 Ind. 382, 4 L.R.A. 79—23 C.J. p 982 note 12.

(18) "Executive powers and duties," as meaning duties appertaining to the execution of the laws as they exist.—In re Advisory Opinion to the Governor, 111 So. 252, 254, 92 Fla. 989.

(19) "Executive trial" as executive process relating to mortgage foreclosure see Mortgages § 613.

(20) "Executive warrant" see the C.J.S. title Extradition § 16, also 25 C.J. p 268 notes 31–35.

EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS

This Title includes general administration of decedents' estates under testamentary or judicial appointment; rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of executors or administrators in respect to the collection, management, and disposition of their testators' or intestates' estates; and legal proceedings relating thereto.

Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this work, see Descriptive-Word Index

Analysis

I. ADMINISTRATION IN GENERAL, §§ 1-21

II. APPOINTMENT, QUALIFICATION, AND TENURE, §§ 22-94

- A. EXECUTORS, §§ 22-29
- B. ADMINISTRATORS, §§ 30-48
- C. PROCEEDINGS FOR APPOINTMENT, §§ 49-65
- D. QUALIFICATION AND FAILURE TO QUALIFY OR ACT, §§ 66-68
- E. ISSUANCE OF LETTERS, NOTICE, AND EVIDENCE OF APPOINTMENT OR AUTHORITY, §§ 69-71
- F. OPERATION AND EFFECT OF APPOINTMENT, §§ 72-77
- G. DURATION AND TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY, §§ 78-94

III. ASSETS, §§ 95-128

IV. INVENTORY AND APPRAISAL, §§ 129-140

V. AUTHORITY AND DUTIES IN GENERAL, §§ 141-152

VI. DISCOVERY OF ASSETS, §§ 153-166

VII. COLLECTION OF ASSETS, §§ 167-183

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE, §§ 184-322

- A. IN GENERAL, §§ 184-192
- B. ENGAGING OR CONTINUING IN BUSINESS, §§ 193-197
- C. CONTRACTS IN GENERAL, §§ 198-204
- D. INVESTMENTS AND LOANS, §§ 205-208
- E. INTEREST ON FUNDS OF ESTATE, §§ 209-216
- F. EXPENDITURES, §§ 217-238
 - 1. In General, §§ 217-222
 - 2. Particular Expenditures, §§ 223-238
- G. INDIVIDUAL INTEREST IN TRANSACTIONS, §§ 239-241
- H. WASTE, CONVERSION, OR EMBEZZLEMENT OF ASSETS, §§ 242-246
- I. LOSS OR DEPRECIATION OF ASSETS, §§ 247-249
- J. TORTS, §§ 250-251
- K. REAL PROPERTY AND INTERESTS THEREIN, §§ 252-298
 - 1. In General, §§ 252-268
 - 2. Sale in General, §§ 269-273
 - 3. Sale under Testamentary Authority, §§ 274-296
 - 4. Lease and Mortgage, §§ 297-298
- L. PERSONAL PROPERTY, §§ 299-322
 - 1. In General, §§ 299-304
 - 2. Sale, §§ 305-322

IX. ALLOWANCE TO SURVIVING SPOUSE OR CHILDREN, §§ 323-366X. ALLOWANCE AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMS, §§ 367-481

- A. LIABILITIES OF ESTATE, §§ 367-393
- B. PRESENTATION AND ALLOWANCE, §§ 394-435
- C. DISPUTED CLAIMS, §§ 436-456
 - 1. Contest of Claims Generally, §§ 436-441
 - 2. Proceedings for Determination, §§ 442-456
- D. PRIORITIES AND PAYMENT, §§ 457-481

XI. DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE, §§ 482-535

- A. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES, §§ 482-512
- B. PROCEEDINGS FOR PAYMENT OR DISTRIBUTION, §§ 513-535

XII. SALES UNDER ORDER OF COURT, §§ 536-666

- A. IN GENERAL, §§ 536-554
- B. PROCEEDINGS FOR SALE, §§ 555-586
- C. SALE, §§ 587-613
- D. ANNULLING SALE AFTER CONFIRMATION, §§ 614-633
- E. OPERATION AND EFFECT OF SALE, §§ 634-646
- F. CONVEYANCE, §§ 647-654
- G. DISPOSITION OF PROCEEDS, §§ 655-660
- H. LIABILITY OF REPRESENTATIVE, §§ 661-666

XIII. INSOLVENT ESTATES, §§ 667-687XIV. ACTIONS, §§ 688-826

- A. IN GENERAL, §§ 688-706
- B. CAPACITY IN WHICH REPRESENTATIVE SUES OR IS SUED, §§ 707-716
- C. SET-OFF OR COUNTERCLAIM, §§ 717-724
- D. JURISDICTION AND VENUE, §§ 725-728
- E. TIME TO SUE, LIMITATIONS, AND LACHES, §§ 729-736
- F. PARTIES, §§ 737-751
- G. PROCESS AND APPEARANCE, §§ 752-755
- H. PLEADING, §§ 756-783
 - 1. Rules Applicable to Actions Generally, §§ 756-771
 - 2. Pleadings in Particular Classes of Actions, §§ 772-780
 - 3. Issues, Proof, and Variance, §§ 781-783
- I. EVIDENCE, §§ 784-786
- J. TRIAL, DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT, AND NEW TRIAL, §§ 787-792
- K. JUDGMENT AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF, §§ 793-812
- L. REVIEW, §§ 813-818
- M. COSTS AND EXPENSES OF LITIGATION, §§ 819-826

XV. ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT, §§ 827-943

- A. IN GENERAL, §§ 827-836
- B. PROCEEDINGS FOR ACCOUNTING, §§ 837-849
- C. CHARGES AND CREDITS, §§ 850-851
- D. COMPENSATION, §§ 852-881
- E. STATING AND SETTLING ACCOUNTS, §§ 882-903
- F. OPERATION AND EFFECT, §§ 904-911
- G. OPENING, VACATING, OR SETTING ASIDE SETTLEMENTS, §§ 912-923
- H. REVIEW, §§ 924-938
- I. COSTS AND EXPENSES, §§ 939-943

XVI. LIABILITY ON ADMINISTRATION BONDS, §§ 944-987A. IN GENERAL, §§ 944-967*B. REMEDIES, §§ 968-987*1. Nature and Form, §§ 968-969*2. Actions on Administration Bonds, §§ 970-987*XVII. FOREIGN AND ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION, §§ 988-1015*XVIII. ADMINISTRATORS DE BONIS NON, §§ 1016-1030*XIX. ADMINISTRATORS WITH THE WILL ANNEXED, §§ 1031-1034*XX. TEMPORARY OR SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS, §§ 1035-1040*XXI. COEXECUTORS AND COADMINISTRATORS, §§ 1041-1047*XXII. REPRESENTATIVES OF DECEASED EXECUTORS OR ADMINISTRATORS, §§ 1048-1049*XXIII. PUBLIC ADMINISTRATORS, §§ 1050-1053*XXIV. COLLECTORS AND RECEIVERS, §§ 1054-1055*XXV. INDEPENDENT EXECUTORS, §§ 1056-1062*XXVI. EXECUTORS DE SON TOET, §§ 1063-1068Sub-AnalysisI. ADMINISTRATION IN GENERAL—p 877

- § 1. In general—p 877
- 2. What law governs—p 877
- 3. Definitions, nature and purpose of trust, and classes of estates and representatives thereof—p 878
- 4. Property subject to administration—p 882
- 5. Necessity and propriety of administration—p 882
- 6. — Existence of debts—p 886
- 7. — Effect of lapse of time—p 888
- 8. — Estates of particular classes of persons—p 888
- 9. — Determination as to necessity—p 889
- 10. Intermeddling in administration—p 889
- 11. Withholding or withdrawing estate from administration—p 889
- 12. Nature of administration proceedings—p 890
- 13. Jurisdiction—p 891
- 14. — Particular courts or officers—p 891
- 15. — Jurisdictional requisites in general—p 892
- 16. — Fact of death—p 892
- 17. — Existence of assets—p 893
- 18. — Domicile or place of business of decedent—p 895
- 19. — Place of death—p 897
- 20. — Situs of assets—p 897
- 21. — Where neither domicile nor assets within jurisdiction—p 903

II. APPOINTMENT, QUALIFICATION, AND TENURE—p 903

A. EXECUTORS—p 903

- § 22. Appointment—p 903
- 23. — Designation of more than one executor—p 907
- 24. — Conditional appointment—p 907
- 25. — Substitutionary or successive appointments—p 907
- 26. — Revocation of appointment—p 907
- 27. — Power and duty of court—p 908
- 28. Competency—p 909
- 29. Acceptance or renunciation—p 917

B. ADMINISTRATORS—p 920

- § 30. Intestacy requisite to appointment—p 920
- 31. Persons entitled to appointment—p 921
- 32. — Effect of priority of application—p 923
- 33. — Necessity for timely application—p 923
- 34. — Discretion of court—p 924
- 35. — Husband or wife of intestate—p 926
- 36. — Next of kin—p 930
- 37. — Guardian or trustee of person entitled—p 934
- 38. — Attorney of person entitled—p 936
- 39. — Guardian or conservator of deceased infant or incompetent—p 936
- 40. — Assignee of next of kin—p 936
- 41. — Creditors—p 936
- 42. — Strangers—p 939
- 43. — Foreign consuls—p 940
- 44. — Nominee of person entitled—p 940
- 45. — Joint administrators—p 945
- 46. Competency or suitableness to serve—p 945
- 47. Renunciation or waiver of right—p 953
- 48. Second appointment—p 955

C. PROCEEDINGS FOR APPOINTMENT—p 956

- § 49. Necessity—p 956
- 50. Nature of proceeding—p 956
- 51. Who may apply for administration—p 957
- 52. Time for application—p 958
- 53. Parties, and citation or notice—p 959
- 54. Joinder of proceedings—p 961
- 55. Petition or bill—p 961
- 56. Answer, traverse, or caveat—p 964
- 57. Objections to appointment—p 964
- 58. Abandonment of application—p 966
- 59. Issues—p 967
- 60. Evidence—p 967
- 61. Examination of applicant for letters before trial—p 970
- 62. Trial or hearing, and determination—p 970
- 63. Order or decree of appointment—p 971
- 64. Review—p 973
- 65. Costs—p 980

II. APPOINTMENT, QUALIFICATION, AND TENURE—ContinuedD. QUALIFICATION AND FAILURE TO QUALIFY OR ACT—p 980

- § 66. Oath—p 980
- 67. Bond—p 980
- 68. Failure to qualify or act—p 992

E. ISSUANCE OF LETTERS, NOTICE, AND EVIDENCE OF APPOINTMENT OR AUTHORITY—p 992

- § 69. Issuance of letters—p 992
- 70. Notice of appointment—p 994
- 71. Evidence of appointment or authority—p 994

F. OPERATION AND EFFECT OF APPOINTMENT—p 995

- § 72. In general—p 995
- 73. Effect of errors and irregularities—p 999
- 74. Matters concluded and presumptions—p 1000
- 75. Persons concluded—p 1002
- 76. Collateral attack—p 1003
- 77. Direct attack—p 1007

G. DURATION AND TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY—p 1008

- § 78. In general—p 1008
- 79. Final discharge—p 1011
- 80. Marriage of executrix or administratrix—p 1013
- 81. Death or insanity of representative—p 1013
- 82. Resignation—p 1014
- 83. Forfeiture of office—p 1016
- 84. Revocation of letters—p 1016
- 85. — Proceedings—p 1020
- 86. — Powers of representative pending proceeding for revocation—p 1030
- 87. — Effect of revocation—p 1030
- 88. — Issuance of new letters—p 1030
- 89. Removal—p 1030
- 90. — Grounds for removal—p 1031
- 91. — Proceedings—p 1038
- 92. — Operation and effect—p 1050
- 93. — Collateral attack on removal—p 1051
- 94. — Proceedings for reinstatement—p 1051

III. ASSETS—p 1051

- § 95. What are assets in general—p 1051
- 96. Legal and equitable assets distinguished—p 1051
- 97. Personal property in general—p 1051
- 98. Income, increase, and accretions—p 1053
- 99. Legacies and distributive shares—p 1053
- 100. Debts and rights of action—p 1054
- 101. — Debts due from representative—p 1056
- 102. — Claim for death of decedent—p 1058
- 103. Real property and interests therein—p 1059
- 104. — Proceeds of sale—p 1060
- 105. — Rents and profits, etc.—p 1061
- 106. — Crops and products—p 1063
- 107. — Mortgages—p 1064
- 108. — Leascholds—p 1065

III. ASSETS—Continued

- § 109. — Interests in public land—p 1065
- 110. — Mortgaged property—p 1065
- 111. — Real estate purchased by executor or administrator—p 1066
- 112. — Other interests in real property—p 1066
- 113. Interests in partnerships—p 1068
- 114. Proceeds of insurance policies—p 1069
- 115. Exempt property—p 1069
- 116. Foreign assets—p 1070
- 117. Ownership of property—p 1071
- ✓ 118. — Property held in fiduciary capacity—p 1073
- 119. — Estates for life or years—p 1074
- 120. — Reversions or remainders—p 1074
- 121. — Property subject to power of appointment—p 1074
- 122. — Equitable estates or interests—p 1075
- 123. — Property disposed of by decedent in general—p 1076
- ✓ 124. — Property fraudulently conveyed—p 1077
- ✓ 125. — Evidence as to ownership—p 1079
- 126. Property accruing after death—p 1083
- 127. Possession or control of property—p 1084
- 128. Estoppel to deny that property received is assets—p 1084

IV. INVENTORY AND APPRAISAL—p 1085

- § 129. Necessity and purpose—p 1085
- 130. Who required to make—p 1085
- 131. Time for making—p 1086
- 132. Form and requisites—p 1086
- 133. Property to be included—p 1086
- 134. Additional or supplementary inventory—p 1088
- 135. Making appraisal—p 1088
- 136. Proceedings—p 1089
- 137. Defects and amendment or correction—p 1092
- 138. Operation and effect—p 1093
- 139. Dispensing with inventory—p 1095
- 140. Effect of failure to make—p 1096

V. AUTHORITY AND DUTIES IN GENERAL—p 1096

- § 141. General statement—p 1096
- 142. Representative capacity—p 1099
- 143. Proof and defense of will—p 1103
- 144. Burial of decedent—p 1103
- 145. Executing provisions of will—p 1103
- 146. Delegation of powers—p 1105
- 147. Supervision and guidance of courts—p 1105
- 148. Submission to arbitration or reference—p 1110
- 149. Confession of judgment—p 1110
- 150. Estoppel—p 1111
- 151. Powers before qualification—p 1112
- 152. Powers pending appeal from appointment or probate—p 1114

VI. DISCOVERY OF ASSETS—p 1114

- § 153. Nature and form of remedy—p 1114
- 154. Right to institute proceedings—p 1115

VI. DISCOVERY OF ASSETS—Continued

- § 155. Proceedings against executor or administrator—p 1117
- 156. Time for proceedings—p 1117
- 157. Jurisdiction and venue—p 1117
- 158. Property or claims as to which proceeding proper—p 1118
- 159. Scope of inquiry and relief—p 1123
- 160. Parties, and process or notice—p 1126
- 161. Pleading—p 1127
- 162. Evidence—p 1130
- 163. Hearing and examination—p 1132
- 164. Dismissal—p 1133
- 165. Judgment or order and enforcement thereof—p 1133
- 166. Review and costs—p 1135

VII. COLLECTION OF ASSETS—p 1136

- § 167. Authority and duty in general—p 1136
- 168. Attempting collection by suit—p 1139
- 169. Proceedings for recovery of assets—p 1139
- 170. — Damages for conversion—p 1144
- 171. Possession or transfer by heirs or distributees—p 1145
- 172. Payments to heirs or distributees—p 1146
- 173. Secured claims—p 1146
- 174. Interest on debts—p 1147
- 175. Foreign assets—p 1147
- 176. Property claimed by third persons—p 1147
- 177. Receiving payment—p 1148
- 178. — Medium of payment—p 1149
- 179. — Extension of time for payment—p 1150
- 180. — Application of payments—p 1150
- 181. Compromise or release of claims and liens—p 1151
- 182. Debts due from representative—p 1156
- 183. Failure to collect assets—p 1158

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—p 1160

A. IN GENERAL—p 1160

- § 184. Duties and liabilities of representative in general—p 1160
- 185. Custody of assets, books, and papers—p 1164
- 186. Keeping accounts—p 1164
- 187. Deposits—p 1164
- 188. Gifts—p 1168
- 189. Performance of decedent's obligations—p 1168
- 190. Exoneration of estate from liability—p 1170
- 191. Persons acting in different capacities—p 1170
- 192. Rights of creditors—p 1171

B. ENGAGING OR CONTINUING IN BUSINESS—p 1171

- § 193. General rule—p 1171
- 194. Limitations of rule—p 1173
- 195. — Testamentary directions—p 1175
- 196. Liability for debts—p 1177
- 197. Partnership—p 1179

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—Continued

C. CONTRACTS IN GENERAL—p 1180

- § 198. In general—p 1180
- 199. Services—p 1182
- 200. Funeral expenses, tombstones, etc.—p 1184
- 201. Payment of decedent's debts—p 1185
- 202. Borrowing money—p 1185
- 203. Bills and notes—p 1187
- 204. Guaranty or suretyship—p 1188

D. INVESTMENTS AND LOANS—p 1189

- § 205. Right or duty to invest—p 1189
- 206. Duties and liabilities with respect to investments—p 1190
- 207. Liability for investing without authority—p 1192
- 208. Loans—p 1193

E. INTEREST ON FUNDS OF ESTATE—p 1194

- § 209. In general—p 1194
- 210. Propriety of charge as affected by particular circumstances—p 1194
- 211. — Failure to invest or deposit—p 1194
- 212. — Improper use of funds—p 1195
- 213. — Delay in settling estate—p 1197
- 214. — Reservation for contingencies—p 1198
- 215. — Other circumstances—p 1199
- 216. Rate, time, and computation of interest—p 1201

F. EXPENDITURES—p 1206

1. In General—p 1206

- § 217. Right to credit for expenditures in general—p 1206
- 218. Necessity of actual payment—p 1207
- 219. Improper or unnecessary expenditures—p 1208
- 220. Expenses caused by misconduct or unauthorized acts—p 1208
- 221. Representative improperly appointed—p 1208
- 222. Interest on expenditures—p 1208

2. Particular Expenditures—p 1209

- § 223. Counsel fees and costs—p 1209
- 224. — Employment by cofiduciaries—p 1215
- 225. — Charges in particular matters—p 1215
- 226. — Grounds for refusing allowance—p 1221
- 227. — Amount of allowance—p 1224
- 228. — Fund out of which allowance made—p 1228
- 229. Expenses of last illness—p 1228
- 230. Funeral expenses, tombstones, etc.—p 1229
- 231. Payment of decedent's debts—p 1233
- 232. Procuring bond—p 1233
- 233. Repairs and improvements—p 1234
- 234. Services—p 1236
- 235. Taxes and assessments—p 1237
- 236. Traveling expenses—p 1239
- 237. Expenditures for benefit of particular legatees or distributees—p 1239
- 238. Miscellaneous expenditures—p 1240

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—Continued

- G. INDIVIDUAL INTEREST IN TRANSACTIONS—p 1243
 - § 239. In general—p 1243
 - 240. Transactions with heirs, etc.—p 1246
 - 241. Rights of person dealing with representative—p 1247
- H. WASTE, CONVERSION, OR EMBEZZLEMENT OF ASSETS—p 1247
 - § 242. Liability and extent thereof in general—p 1247
 - 243. Waste—p 1250
 - 244. Conversion—p 1252
 - 245. Mingling trust and personal funds or property—p 1253
 - 246. Discharge from liability—p 1254
- I. LOSS OR DEPRECIATION OF ASSETS—p 1254
 - § 247. Liability and extent thereof in general—p 1254
 - 248. Cause of loss or depreciation—p 1256
 - 249. Grounds for relief from liability—p 1260
- J. TORTS—p 1260
 - § 250. In general—p 1260
 - 251. Fraud—p 1261
- K. REAL PROPERTY AND INTERESTS THEREIN—p 1262
 - 1. In General—p 1262
 - § 252. Title and authority in general—p 1262
 - 253. Actions relating to realty—p 1265
 - 254. — For trespass and waste—p 1265
 - 255. — To quiet title—p 1265
 - 256. — For injuries during decedent's lifetime—p 1266
 - 257. Possession and use—p 1266
 - 258. — Actions to recover or protect possession—p 1268
 - 259. Rents and profits—p 1269
 - 260. Repairs and improvements—p 1273
 - 261. Mortgaged and encumbered property—p 1273
 - 262. — Purchase of encumbrance by representative—p 1273
 - 263. — Discharge of encumbrance—p 1274
 - 264. — Mortgagee as administrator—p 1275
 - 265. Leaseholds—p 1276
 - 266. — Liability for rent—p 1276
 - 267. Contracts of decedent—p 1277
 - 268. Acquisition of property by representative—p 1282
 - 2. Sale in General—p 1285
 - § 269. Power to sell—p 1285
 - 270. Contract of sale—p 1287
 - 271. Status of purchaser—p 1288
 - 272. Liability of representative for unauthorized sale—p 1289
 - 273. Ratification of unauthorized sales—p 1289
 - 3. Sale Under Testamentary Authority—p 1290
 - § 274. Power to sell—p 1290
 - 275. — Implied power—p 1294
 - 276. — Extent of power; purpose of sale—p 1296

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—Continued

K. REAL PROPERTY AND INTERESTS THEREIN—Continued

3. Sale Under Testamentary Authority—Continued

- § 277. — Control of courts—p 1298
- 278. — Revocation or termination—p 1300
- 279. Who may exercise power—p 1301
- 280. — Delegation of power—p 1302
- 281. What property may be sold—p 1303
- 282. Notice to heirs—p 1305
- 283. Time for selling—p 1305
- 284. Manner and conduct of sale—p 1307
- 285. Terms and conditions—p 1309
- 286. Confirmation—p 1311
- 287. Who may purchase—p 1313
- 288. — Executor or administrator—p 1314
- 289. Conveyance—p 1316
- 290. Payment and recovery of purchase money—p 1318
- 291. Proceeds—p 1319
- 292. Nature, validity, and effect of sale—p 1321
- 293. Title and rights of purchaser—p 1322
- 294. Setting aside sale—p 1324
- 295. Divested purchaser's rights, remedies, and liabilities—p 1327
- 296. Liabilities of executor or administrator—p 1328

4. Lease and Mortgage—p 1329

- § 297. Lease—p 1329
- 298. Mortgage—p 1333

L. PERSONAL PROPERTY—p 1341

1. In General—p 1341

- § 299. Title and authority—p 1341
- 300. Possession and use—p 1345
- 301. Rights and duties as to pledged or mortgaged property—p 1346
- 302. Contracts of decedent—p 1348
- 303. Mortgage or pledge by representative—p 1348
- 304. Acquisition of property by representative—p 1349

2. Sale—p 1351

- § 305. Power to sell and transfer title—p 1351
- 306. — Choses in action—p 1354
- 307. — Stocks, bonds, and mortgages—p 1357
- 308. Duty to sell—p 1358
- 309. Time for sale—p 1359
- 310. Manner and conduct of sale—p 1359
- 311. By whom sale made—p 1361
- 312. Price, terms, and conditions—p 1361
- 313. Who may purchase—p 1363
- 314. — Personal representative—p 1363
- 315. Conveyance and transfer—p 1365
- 316. Payment or recovery of price—p 1365
- 317. Application of proceeds—p 1366
- 318. Validity and effect of sale—p 1366

VIII. CUSTODY AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—Continued

L. PERSONAL PROPERTY—Continued

2. Sale—Continued

- § 319. Ratification of sale; laches—p 1367
- 320. Title and rights of purchaser—p 1367
- 321. Setting aside sale—p 1369
- 322. Liability of representative—p 1370

§§ 323 to End in Volume 34

IX. ALLOWANCE TO SURVIVING SPOUSE OR CHILDREN

- § 323. Origin, nature, and purpose
- 324. Necessitous circumstances
- 325. Constitutional and statutory provisions
- 326. What law governs
- 327. Quarantine or other occupation or use
- 328. — Nature and extent of right
- 329. — Liabilities incident to occupancy
- 330. — Enforcement or defense of right
- 331. — Forfeiture of right
- 332. Maintenance and support
- 333. Amount or value
- 334. — Effect of dower and other interests
- 335. — Specific articles
- 336. Persons entitled
- 337. Property subject to allowance
- 338. Priority over other claims
- 339. Mode and medium of payment
- 340. Bar, waiver, or relinquishment
- 341. — Antenuptial or postnuptial agreement
- 342. — Testamentary provisions
- 343. — Separate estate or homestead
- 344. — Misconduct, separation, or divorce
- 345. — Relinquishment after death of decedent
- 346. — Remarriage
- 347. — Delay in applying
- 348. — Death of beneficiary
- 349. Selection or setting apart
- 350. — By persons entitled
- 351. — By executors, administrators, commissioners, or appraisers
- 352. — Appraisement
- 353. Allowance by court
- 354. — Time for application or allowance
- 355. — Jurisdiction
- 356. — Parties and notice
- 357. — Application or petition
- 358. — Objections and exceptions
- 359. — Evidence
- 360. — Trial or hearing, and new trial
- 361. — Judgment or order, review, and costs
- 362. Effect of allowance
- 363. Increase or further allowance
- 364. Decrease or revocation of allowance
- 365. Rights of creditors
- 366. Rights of heirs, distributees, or legatees

X. ALLOWANCE AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMSA. LIABILITIES OF ESTATE—p

- § 367. Obligations of decedent in general
- 368. Secured claims
- 369. Joint obligations
- 370. Services rendered to decedent
- 371. — Persons in family relation
- 372. — Amount of allowance
- 373. — Agreement to compensate by will
- 374. Loans or advances to decedent
- 375. Covenants of decedent
- 376. Contracts of guaranty or suretyship
- 377. Unmatured and contingent claims
- 378. Debts payable after death
- 379. Claims founded in tort
- 380. Taxes and assessments
- 381. Continuing obligations
- 382. Claims barred by limitation
- 383. Claims arising after death of decedent
- 384. — Funeral expenses
- 385. — Tombstones, monuments, and burial lots
- 386. — Services rendered to estate
- 387. — Loans or advances to estate
- 388. — Expenses of administration
- 389. — Support, etc., furnished to decedent's family
- 390. Claims of executors or administrators
- 391. Miscellaneous claims
- 392. Agreement of representative to pay
- 393. Purchase of claims against estate

B. PRESENTATION AND ALLOWANCE

- § 394. Necessity for presentation
- 395. — Effect of representative's knowledge of existence of debt
- 396. — Effect of suit on claim
- 397. Statutory provisions
- 398. What claims should be presented
- 399. — Public debts
- 400. — Contingent, unmatured, and unliquidated claims
- 401. — Claims arising after death of decedent
- 402. — Claims of representative
- 403. — Secured claims
- 404. Against whom statutes of nonclaim run
- 405. Time for presentation
- 406. — Computation of time.
- 407. — Postponement and interruption of statute
- 408. — Extension of time
- 409. Place of presentation
- 410. By and to whom presentation made
- 411. Notice to creditors
- 412. Notice of intention to present claims
- 413. Notice of presentation or filing
- 414. Presentation and filing in general
- 415. Sufficiency of presentation
- 416. Statement and verification of claims

X. ALLOWANCE AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMS—ContinuedB. PRESENTATION AND ALLOWANCE—Continued

- § 417. — Statement
- 418. — Verification
- 419. Evidence as to presentation
- 420. Withdrawal of claim
- 421. Effect of presentation
- 422. Effect of failure to make due presentation
- 423. — Excuses and relief
- 424. Waiver of due presentation
- 425. Allowance or rejection
- 426. — By personal representative
- 427. — By commissioners
- 428. — By court
- 429. — Set-off
- 430. — Setting aside allowance
- 431. — Effect of allowance or rejection
- 432. — Collateral attack
- 433. — Review
- 434. — Costs and allowances
- 435. Proof of claim at second audit

C. DISPUTED CLAIMS1. Contest of Claims Generally

- § 436. In general
- 437. Statutory provisions
- 438. Who may contest or object to claims
- 439. Duty of representative to contest claims
- 440. Grounds, time, and mode of objection
- 441. Waiver of objections and estoppel

2. Proceedings for Determination

- § 442. Arbitration
- 443. Reference
- 444. Hearing before commissioners
- 445. Proceedings in probate court
- 446. — Probate jurisdiction as to disputed claim
- 447. — Nature of proceeding
- 448. — Defenses
- 449. — Parties, citation or notice, and appearance
- 450. — Docketing claims
- 451. — Pleadings
- 452. — Evidence
- 453. — Hearing, findings, and decision
- 454. — Judgment
- 455. Review
- 456. Costs

D. PRIORITIES AND PAYMENT

- § 457. Authority and duty to pay
- 458. Classification and priorities of debts
- 459. — What law governs
- 460. — At common law

X. ALLOWANCE AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMS—ContinuedD. PRIORITIES AND PAYMENT—Continued

- § 461. — Under modern statutes
- 462. Claims of executor or administrator
- 463. Advances to pay claims
- 464. Interest on claims
- 465. Attorney's fees and expenses of creditors
- 466. Time of payment in general
- 467. Payment before allowance or order
- 468. Mode, sufficiency, and effect of payment
- 469. — Compromise
- 470. Application of payments
- 471. Improper payments
- 472. Liability for failure to pay claims
- 473. Proceedings to enforce payment
- 474. Deficiency of assets in hand
- 475. Reservation of assets
- 476. Liability of creditor to refund
- 477. Release by creditors
- 478. Property available for payment
- 479. — Real and personal property
- 480. — Rents of realty
- 481. — Marshaling assets

XI. DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATEA. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES

- § 482. Authority and duty to make distribution
- 483. — Admission of, or charging with, assets
- 484. Priority of debts over legacies, devises, and distributive shares
- 485. Assent to legacy or devise
- 486. Executor or administrator as legatee or distributee
- 487. Time for distribution
- 488. Evidence as to distribution
- 489. Receipt or release
- 490. Security and refunding bond
- 491. Advances and disbursements by representative
- 492. Mode and sufficiency of payment or distribution
- 493. — Distribution in kind
- 494. — Retaining indebtedness due by legatee or distributee
- 495. — Application of payments
- 496. — Notice and tender
- 497. — To whom payment should be made
- 498. — Equalization of payments
- 499. Payment of annuities
- 500. Effect of payment or distribution in general
- 501. Improper, erroneous, or premature payment or distribution
- 502. — Payment to wrong person
- 503. — Payment before order or decree for distribution
- 504. — Overpayment
- 505. — Liability of legatee or distributee to refund in general
- 506. — Restitution on reversal of decree
- 507. Delay in or failure to make payment or distribution
- 508. Interest on legacies or distributive shares

XI. DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE—ContinuedA. RIGHTS, DUTIES, AND LIABILITIES—Continued

- § 509. Reservation of assets
- 510. Liability to refund on deficiency of assets
- 511. — In absence of refunding bond or other indemnity
- 512. — Liability on refunding bond or other indemnity

B. PROCEEDINGS FOR PAYMENT OR DISTRIBUTION

- § 513. Nature and form of proceeding
- 514. Jurisdiction
- 515. Who may institute proceedings and conditions precedent
- 516. Time for proceeding
- 517. Right to object to distribution
- 518. Defenses
- 519. Parties, process or notice, and appearance
- 520. Pleading
- 521. Evidence
- 522. Proceedings of auditor or commissioner
- 523. Examination and settlement of accounts, and appraisal of estate
- 524. Hearing and determination
- 525. Order or decree for distribution
- 526. — Form and requisites
- 527. — Entry
- 528. — Setting aside, correcting, and modifying
- 529. — Construction, operation, and effect
- 530. — Collateral attack
- 531. — Enforcement
- 532. — Order for partial distribution
- 533. New trial
- 534. Review
- 535. Costs and attorneys' fees

XII. SALES UNDER ORDER OF COURTA. IN GENERAL

- § 536. Authority in general; statutory provisions
- 537. When authorized generally
- 538. For payment of debts
- 539. — Existence and validity of debts
- 540. — Debts created after death of decedent
- 541. — Insufficiency of personalty
- 542. — Account of administration
- 543. For payment of legacies
- 544. For distribution
- 545. Effect of testamentary provisions
- 546. Who may apply for sale
- 547. — Compelling application
- 548. Property or interests subject to sale
- 549. — Lands devised by decedent
- 550. — Property not owned by decedent at time of death
- 551. — Property held or claimed adversely to decedent
- 552. — Homestead
- 553. Amount to be sold
- 554. Payment or security to prevent sale

XII. SALES UNDER ORDER OF COURT—ContinuedB. PROCEEDINGS FOR SALE

- § 555. In general
- 556. Nature and form of proceedings
- 557. — Actions for sale
- 558. Joinder of proceedings
- 559. Time for proceeding
- 560. Jurisdiction
- 561. Parties
- 562. Petition or other application
- 563. — Collateral attack on sufficiency
- 564. Citation or notice
- 565. — Presumptions; collateral attack
- 566. Objections and exceptions
- 567. Interference of other proceedings involving land
- 568. Hearing and determination in general
- 569. Evidence
- 570. Proof and contest of claims
- 571. Determination as to sufficiency of personalty
- 572. Trial of title of decedent and adverse claims to property
- 573. Dismissal or discontinuance
- 574. Order or decree of sale
- 575. — Form and requisites
- 576. — Relief granted
- 577. — Amendment or vacation
- 578. — Operation and effect in general
- 579. — Collateral attack
- 580. — Staying execution of order
- 581. — Second order of sale
- 582. Essentials to be shown of record
- 583. Appraisal of property to be sold
- 584. Review
- 585. Enjoining sale
- 586. Failure to procure sale

C. SALE

- § 587. Authority and powers in making sale generally
- 588. Persons authorized to sell
- 589. Oath
- 590. Special bond for sale
- 591. — Liability on bond
- 592. Notice of sale
- 593. Manner and conduct of sale
- 594. — Time and place of sale
- 595. — Sale in bulk or in parcels
- 596. — Public or private sale
- 597. Terms and conditions
- 598. Who may purchase
- 599. — Executor or administrator
- 600. Bids or offers
- 601. Payment or recovery of purchase money
- 602. Rights and liabilities on failure or refusal of bidder to complete purchase
- 603. Proceedings to recover purchase money

XII. SALES UNDER ORDER OF COURT—ContinuedC. SALE—Continued

- § 604. Resale and recovery of difference in price
- 605. Equitable relief of purchaser
- 606. Report or return
- 607. Confirmation
- 608. ——— Necessity
- 609. ——— Evidence, hearing and determination
- 610. ——— Form and requisites of confirmation and entry of record
- 611. ——— Effect of confirmation or refusal to confirm
- 612. ——— Review
- 613. Second sale

D. ANNULING SALE AFTER CONFIRMATION

- § 614. In general
- 615. Right to attack sale •
- 616. ——— Estoppel and ratification
- 617. Time within which sale may be annulled; limitations and laches
- 618. Collateral attack
- 619. Grounds for annulling sales
- 620. ——— Defects in proceedings prior to order
- 621. ——— Improper order
- 622. ——— Defects in proceedings after order
- 623. Proceedings to annul
- 624. ——— Forum and form of remedy
- 625. ——— Parties and notice
- 626. ——— Pleading and evidence
- 627. ——— Trial or hearing, judgment, and review
- 628. Effect of setting aside
- 629. Settlement with purchaser when sale avoided
- 630. ——— Reimbursement for purchase money
- 631. ——— Reimbursement for improvements
- 632. ——— Liability for rents and profits
- 633. ——— Liability of purchaser who assumes mortgage

E. OPERATION AND EFFECT OF SALE

- § 634. In general
- 635. Divesting of titles and liens
- 636. ——— Title of heirs or devisees
- 637. ——— Dower or curtesy rights
- 638. ——— Encumbrances
- 639. ——— Leasehold interest
- 640. ——— Rights of purchasers from and creditors of heirs and devisees
- 641. Title and rights of purchaser
- 642. ——— Warranty and caveat emptor
- 643. ——— Protection of bona fide purchasers and curative statutes
- 644. ——— When title passes
- 645. ——— Proceedings to perfect rights of purchaser
- 646. Liabilities of purchasers

F. CONVEYANCE

- § 647. Necessity
- 648. Authority to convey

XII. SALES UNDER ORDER OF COURT—ContinuedF. CONVEYANCE—Continued

- § 649. — Duration and extent of authority
- 650. To whom conveyance made
- 651. Form, contents, and execution
- 652. Construction, operation, and effect
- 653. — Conveyance as evidence
- 654. Mortgage

G. DISPOSITION OF PROCEEDS

- § 655. In general
- 656. Satisfaction of mortgages and other liens
- 657. Payment of costs and expenses of sale
- 658. Disposition of surplus
- 659. By whom proceeds received and distributed
- 660. Duty of purchaser as to application of proceeds

H. LIABILITY OF REPRESENTATIVE

- § 661. In general
- 662. For purchase money
- 663. — Failure to collect
- 664. For negligence or misconduct in selling
- 665. For purchasing at his own sale
- 666. Estoppel

XIII. INSOLVENT ESTATES

- § 667. In general
- 668. What law governs.
- 669. Insolvency proceedings
- 670. — Jurisdiction
- 671. — Grounds for declaration of insolvency
- 672. — Procedure
- 673. Estoppel to assert insolvency
- 674. Effect of representation or declaration of insolvency
- 675. Commissioners or auditors
- 676. Collection and management of estate
- 677. — Actions
- 678. Sales and conveyances under order of court
- 679. Presentation and allowance of claims
- 680. — Proof of claims
- 681. — Allowance or rejection
- 682. — Review
- 683. Rights and remedies of creditors
- 684. — Actions
- 685. Payment of claims and distribution
- 686. — Proceedings and decree for distribution
- 687. — Accounting and settlement

XIV. ACTIONSA. IN GENERAL -

- § 688. Capacity of personal representative to sue or be sued
- 689. — Action by representative against himself
- 690. — Special or temporary administrator

XIV. ACTIONS—ContinuedA. IN GENERAL—Continued

- § 691. Statutory provisions
- 692. Rights of action by representative
- 693. Rights of action against representative
- 694. Rights of action by creditors or others interested in estate
- 695. Rights of action between coexecutors or coadministrators
- 696. Liabilities in respect of conduct of action or defense
- 697. Conditions precedent to action by representative
- 698. — To set aside fraudulent conveyance
- 699. — For injury to or conversion of personalty
- 700. Conditions precedent to action against representative
- 701. — For debts of decedent
- 702. — Other actions
- 703. Defenses in action by personal representatives
- 704. Defenses in action against personal representative
- 705. Form of actions by representative
- 706. Form of actions against representative

B. CAPACITY IN WHICH REPRESENTATIVE SUES OR IS SUED

- § 707. Actions by representatives
- 708. — Causes of action accruing in decedent's lifetime
- 709. — Causes of action accruing after decedent's death
- 710. — Particular actions
- 711. — Where representative has been charged with or has accounted for proceeds of contract
- 712. — Where representative is sole beneficiary
- 713. Actions against representatives
- 714. — Actions on contracts of decedent
- 715. — Actions on contracts of representative
- 716. — Actions based on tort

C. SET-OFF OR COUNTERCLAIM

- § 717. Actions by personal representatives
- 718. — Mutuality of demands
- 719. — Particular demands
- 720. — Actions between representatives of different estates
- 721. — Effect of insolvency of estate
- 722. — Necessity for presentment or demand
- 723. — Necessity of pleading set-offs.
- 724. Actions against personal representatives

D. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

- § 725. Jurisdiction
- 726. — Estoppel to object to jurisdiction
- 727. Venue
- 728. — Change of venue

E. TIME TO SUE, LIMITATIONS, AND LACHES

- § 729. Premature commencement of action
- 730. Limitations in actions by personal representatives
- 731. Limitations in actions against personal representatives
- 732. — Actions on claims against estate
- 733. — Other actions

XIV. ACTIONS—ContinuedE. TIME TO SUE, LIMITATIONS, AND LACHES—Continued

§ 734. Laches

735. — Claims of creditors

736. — Claims of legatees or distributees

F. PARTIES

§ 737. In general

738. Actions relating to personalty

739. Joining representative as party defendant on refusal to sue

740. Actions by creditors of estate

741. Actions relating to land

742. Actions or suits for legacies or distributive shares

743. Actions for torts committed by decedent and others

744. Actions based on wrongful acts of personal representative

745. Other actions

746. Joinder of coexecutors or coadministrators

747. Joinder of representatives of different estates

748. Personal representative as party in both individual and representative capacity

749. Personal representative as plaintiff and defendant in same action

750. Intervention

751. Joinder of personal representatives in actions by legatees or distributees

G. PROCESS AND APPEARANCE

§ 752. Process

753. — Coexecutors or coadministrators

754. — Defects, objections, and amendments

755. Appearance

H. PLEADING1. Rules Applicable to Actions Generally

§ 756. In general

757. Declaration, petition, complaint, or bill

758. — Allegations of representative capacity and authority to sue or be sued

759. — Profert and oyer

760. — Allegations negating premature commencement of suit

761. — Variance between process and declaration

762. Plea or answer

763. — Denial of representative capacity or authority to sue or be sued

764. — Plene administravit

765. — Statutes of limitations

766. — Premature commencement of action

767. — Filing and withdrawal of pleas

768. Replication and subsequent pleadings

769. Demurrer

770. Amendment

771. Verification

2. Pleadings in Particular Classes of Actions

§ 772. On claims in favor of estate

773. On claims against estate

774. — Declaration or complaint

775. — Plea, answer, and affidavit of defense

XIV. ACTIONS—ContinuedH. PLEADING—Continued*2. Pleadings in Particular Classes of Actions—Continued

- § 776. — Demurrer
- 777. To set aside fraudulent conveyances
- 778. For legacies or distributive shares
- 779. Miscellaneous actions
- 780. Answers in actions against several personal representatives

3. Issues, Proof, and Variance

- § 781. Issues and matters to be proved
- 782. Evidence admissible under pleadings
- 783. Variance

I. EVIDENCE

- § 784. Presumptions and burden of proof
- 785. Admissibility
- 786. Weight and sufficiency

J. TRIAL, DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT, AND NEW TRIAL

- § 787. Trial
- 788. — Questions of law and fact
- 789. — Instructions
- 790. — Verdict or findings
- 791. Dismissal and nonsuit
- 792. New trial

K. JUDGMENT AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF

- § 793. Rendition, form, and requisites of judgment
- 794. — Judgment by confession or consent
- 795. — Judgment by default
- 796. — Particular forms of judgment on trial of issues
- 797. — Judgments in particular actions
- 798. Entry and transcript of judgment
- 799. Amendment and correction of judgment
- 800. Operation and effect of judgment
- 801. — Establishing existence of assets
- 802. — Establishing indebtedness of estate
- 803. — Persons entitled to share in recovery
- 804. — Lien
- 805. Satisfaction and set-off
- 806. Execution and enforcement generally
- 807. — Property subject to execution
- 808. — Issuance, form, and requisites of execution
- 809. — Lien, levy, or extent and custody of property
- 810. — Stay, quashing, vacating, and relief against execution
- 811. — Sale under execution
- 812. Actions on judgments

L. REVIEW

- § 813. In general
- 814. Requisites and proceedings for transfer of cause
- 815. Parties
- 816. Presentation and reservation of grounds of review

XIV. ACTIONS—ContinuedL. REVIEW—Continued

- § 817. Dismissal or withdrawal
- 818. Determination and disposition of cause

M. COSTS AND EXPENSES OF LITIGATION

- § 819. Costs in general
- 820. — Personal liability of representative
- 821. — Liability of estate
- 822. — When personal representative entitled to costs
- 823. — Security for costs
- 824. — Award of costs
- 825. — Judgment and execution
- 826. Attorneys' fees and other expenses of litigation

XV. ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENTA. IN GENERAL

- § 827. Definitions
- 828. Duty to account
- 829. — Time for accounting
- 830. — Who entitled to require accounting
- 831. — Who may be required to account
- 832. — Person acting in different capacities
- 833. — Scope of liability and property to be included
- 834. — Relief from duty
- 835. — Effect of failure to account
- 836. Private accounting and settlement

B. PROCEEDINGS FOR ACCOUNTING

- § 837. In general
- 838. Nature of proceeding
- 839. Jurisdiction
- 840. — Probate courts
- 841. — Territorial jurisdiction
- 842. Limitations and laches
- 843. Audit or approval before settlement
- 844. Stay of proceedings
- 845. Voluntary accounting
- 846. — Citation or notice
- 847. Compulsory accounting
- 848. — By probate proceedings
- 849. — By action

C. CHARGES AND CREDITS

- § 850. Charges
- 851. Credits

D. COMPENSATION

- § 852. Right to compensation
- 853. — Statutory provisions
- 854. — What law governs
- 855. — Void or irregular appointment
- 856. — Necessity for judicial allowance
- 857. — Effect of testamentary provisions

XV. ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT—Continued

D. COMPENSATION—Continued

- § 858. — Effect of agreements
- 859. — Priority of claim
- 860. For what services allowed
- 861. From what fund payable
- 862. Commissions
- 863. — On what allowed in general
- 864. — Legacies and distributive shares
- 865. — Investments, income, receipts, and disbursements
- 866. — Real property and its usufruct
- 867. Amount of compensation
- 868. — Extra allowances
- 869. — Effect of testamentary provisions
- 870. — Effect of agreement
- 871. Temporary or special administrators
- 872. Coexecutors and coadministrators
- 873. Successive administrations
- 874. Where representative also trustee or guardian
- 875. Waiver or renunciation of compensation
- 876. Forfeiture or deprivation of compensation
- 877. Jurisdiction, proceedings, and review
- 878. — Jurisdiction
- 879. — Time for allowance
- 880. — Proceedings for allowance
- 881. Tax on commissions

E. STATING AND SETTLING ACCOUNTS

- § 882. Form and requisites
- 883. Objections and exceptions
- 884. — Persons entitled to object
- 885. — Time for making and filing
- 886. — Grounds
- 887. — Form and sufficiency
- 888. — Waiver and estoppel
- 889. — Exceptions to partial accounts
- 890. Hearing and reference
- 891. — Submission of issues to jury
- 892. — Matters to be determined
- 893. — Reference
- 894. Evidence in general
- 895. — Presumptions and burden of proof
- 896. — Admissibility
- 897. — Weight and sufficiency
- 898. Vouchers and proof of payment
- 899. Examination of representative
- 900. Production of books
- 901. Examination of legatees
- 902. Findings and conclusions
- 903. Order or decree

F. OPERATION AND EFFECT

- § 904. Final settlement
- 905. — Persons and matters concluded

XV. ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT—ContinuedF. OPERATION AND EFFECT—Continued

- § 906. — Effect on pending actions
- 907. — Effect on jurisdiction of probate court
- 908. — Collateral attack
- 909. Ex parte settlements
- 910. Annual or partial settlements
- 911. Settlement on resignation, removal, or death

G. OPENING, VACATING, OR SETTING ASIDE SETTLEMENTS

- § 912. In general
- 913. Jurisdiction
- 914. Grounds for relief
- 915. Time for application
- 916. Who may attack settlement
- 917. Parties and process
- 918. Pleading
- 919. Evidence
- 920. Hearing and determination
- 921. Effect of opening or setting aside
- 922. Effect of refusal to open accounting
- 923. Annual or partial settlements

H. REVIEW

- § 924. In general
- 925. Orders and decrees reviewable
- 926. Persons entitled to review
- 927. Presentation and reservation in lower court of grounds of review
- 928. Parties
- 929. Time for instituting proceeding
- 930. Requisites for review
- 931. Record
- 932. Scope and extent of review
- 933. — Presumptions in support of order or decree
- 934. — Discretion of lower court
- 935. — Findings of fact
- 936. — Former accounts
- 937. Hearing, determination, and disposition
- 938. Operation and effect of decree

I. COSTS AND EXPENSES

- § 939. In general
- 940. Counsel fees and expenses of settlement
- 941. Allowance or assessment to contestants
- 942. Personal liability of executor or administrator
- 943. Costs of appeal from accounting

XVI. LIABILITY ON ADMINISTRATION BONDSA. IN GENERAL

- § 944. Nature and extent of liability
- 945. — Bonds of corepresentatives
- 946. — Successive or additional bonds
- 947. — Public officer's bond

XVI. LIABILITY ON ADMINISTRATION BONDS—ContinuedA. IN GENERAL—Continued

- § 948. — Estoppel
- 949. — Indemnity to sureties
- 950. Property covered
- 951. — Property received or converted before execution of bond
- 952. — Debts of representative to estate
- 953. — Property not assets of estate
- 954. — Proceeds of sale of realty
- 955. — Property held in capacity other than as executor or administrator
- 956. Functions and acts covered
- 957. Discharge of sureties
- 958. — Settlement and discharge of principal
- 959. — Giving new bond
- 960. — Discharge by order of court
- 961. Breach of bond
- 962. — Failure to collect assets
- 963. — Failure or refusal to pay, or wrongful payment of claims
- 964. — Failure or refusal to pay legacies or make distribution
- 965. — Failure to account, or to turn over assets to successor
- 966. Conclusiveness of adjudication against principal
- 967. Who may enforce liability on bond

B. REMEDIES1. Nature and Form

- § 968. In general
- 969. Summary proceedings

2. Actions on Administration Bonds

- § 970. Right of action; actual injury necessary
- 971. Conditions precedent
- 972. — Establishing liability of estate
- 973. — Final settlement and accounting
- 974. — Prior judgment and return of execution against principal
- 975. — Establishing devastavit in separate suit against principal
- 976. — Leave to sue
- 977. Time to sue, limitations, and laches
- 978. Defenses
- 979. Set-off and counterclaim
- 980. Jurisdiction and venue
- 981. Parties and process
- 982. Pleading
- 983. Evidence
- 984. Trial, judgment, and review
- 985. — Equitable relief against judgment
- 986. Damages or amount of recovery
- 987. Costs

XVII. FOREIGN AND ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION

- § 988. Foreign appointment
- 989. Ancillary appointment
- 990. — Situs of assets
- 991. — Dependence on domiciliary appointment

XVII. FOREIGN AND ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION—Continued

- § 992. — Persons entitled to appointment
- 993. — Time for appointment
- 994. — Proceedings for appointment
- 995. — Bond
- 996. — Operation and effect of appointment
- 997. — Revocation of letters; removal
- 998. Relation between ancillary and domiciliary representatives
- 999. Title to assets
- 1000. Collection of assets
- 1001. Disposition of property
- 1002. Sales under order of court
- 1003. Presentation and allowance of claims
- 1004. Payment of claims
- 1005. Transmission of residue to domicile
- 1006. Distribution of estate
- 1007. Actions by foreign representatives
- 1008. — Right of actions, conditions precedent, and defenses
- 1009. — Waiver of objection as to incapacity
- 1010. — Limitations
- 1011. — Proceedings
- 1012. Actions against foreign representatives
- 1013. — Liability to suit
- 1014. — Proceedings
- 1015. Accounting

XVIII. ADMINISTRATORS DE BONIS NON

- § 1016. Appointment and qualification
- 1017. — Nature of office and source of title
- 1018. — Elements bearing on necessity or propriety of appointment
- 1019. — Right to appointment
- 1020. — Jurisdiction and proceedings
- 1021. — Operation and effect of appointment
- 1022. — Bond
- 1023. Assets to be administered
- 1024. Powers, duties, and liabilities
- 1025. — Powers and duties in general
- 1026. — Collection of assets
- 1027. — Distribution
- 1028. — Liabilities
- 1029. Effect of contracts and transactions of predecessor
- 1030. Administrators de bonis non with will annexed

XIX. ADMINISTRATORS WITH THE WILL ANNEXED

- § 1031. Appointment
- 1032. — Proceedings for appointment
- 1033. — Bond
- 1034. Powers and duties

XX. TEMPORARY OR SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS

- § 1035. In general
- 1036. Proceedings for appointment
- 1037. Bond

XX. TEMPORARY OR SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS—Continued

- § 1038. Setting aside appointment
- 1039. Duration and termination of authority
- 1040. Powers, duties, and liabilities

XXI. COEXECUTORS AND COADMINISTRATORS

- § 1041. In general
- 1042. Powers and duties
- 1043. — Collection and management of estate
- 1044. — Allowance and payment of claims
- 1045. Liabilities
- 1046. Acting executor or administrator
- 1047. Surviving executor or administrator

XXII. REPRESENTATIVES OF DECEASED EXECUTORS OR ADMINISTRATORS

- § 1048. In general
- 1049. Duties and liabilities

XXIII. PUBLIC ADMINISTRATORS

- § 1050. In general
- 1051. Appointment, qualification, and tenure
- 1052. Right and duty to administer
- 1053. Administration by other public officials

XXIV. COLLECTORS AND RECEIVERS

- § 1054. Appointment
- 1055. Powers, duties, and liabilities

XXV. INDEPENDENT EXECUTORS

- § 1056. In general
- 1057. Powers, duties, and liabilities
- 1058. Presentation of claims
- 1059. Actions
- 1060. Compensation
- 1061. Protection of estate in case of misconduct
- 1062. Abandonment of office

XXVI. EXECUTORS DE SON TORT

- § 1063. Definition and nature of office
- 1064. How office or liability assumed
- 1065. Rights and liabilities
- 1066. Effect of acts
- 1067. — Effect of subsequent issue of letters to executor de son tort
- 1068. Actions and proceedings by or against executors de son tort

I. ADMINISTRATION IN GENERAL

§ 1. In General

When a person dies leaving property, his estate is usually set apart to be administered under the supervision of courts constituted for the purpose, the main objects of which in assuming jurisdiction are to collect and preserve the assets, pay decedent's debts, and distribute the residue to the persons lawfully entitled thereto.

In modern practice, when a person dies leaving property, his estate is usually set apart to be administered or settled under the immediate supervision of the courts. The jurisdiction, powers, and functions connected with such settlement are usually confided to special tribunals, ordinarily styled probate, surrogate, or orphans' courts which are usually county tribunals with jurisdiction and powers defined or created by statute,¹ although in sparsely settled states the county court sometimes exercises such functions as a special branch of jurisdiction.²

The main objects of such jurisdiction are that the personality of the deceased, together with income and profits, be properly collected, preserved, and duly accounted for, that his just debts and the charges consequent on his death and the settlement of his estate be paid and adjusted,³ and that the residue of the estate be distributed among such persons and in such proportion as the will of the decedent, if there is one, or otherwise the statutes of distribution, may prescribe.⁴

Retroactive effect of statutes. It has been held that statutes relating to the administration and settlement of the estates of deceased persons may have a retroactive effect so that their provisions may govern the administration of the estates of persons who died before the statutes were adopted,⁵ but a statute changing the procedure⁶ or authorizing the entry of orders dispensing with the necessity of formal administration proceedings in certain cases⁷ does not apply to the administration of estates in the process of administration when the act became effective.

§ 2. What Law Governs

The law of the place from which the personal representative derives his authority, as it exists at the time of the administration, governs the administration of estates of decedents.

With regard to creditors the administration of the assets of a deceased person is governed exclusively by the law of the place where the executor or administrator acts and from which he derives his authority, and the domicile of the decedent or of the creditor cannot authorize the introduction of another law to defeat the law of the situs of the administration;⁸ and the local law also governs with respect to the general conduct of the administration up to the time of distribution.⁹ As shown in Conflict of Laws §§ 10, 18, 19, and Descent and Distribution §§ 3-5, with regard to heirs and dis-

1. Md.—Goldsborough v. De Witt, 189 A. 226, 171 Md. 225.
23 C.J. p 996 note 3.

Jurisdiction:

Generally see infra §§ 13-21.

Of chancery courts see Equity § 61.

Probate, establishment, and annulment of Wills see the C.J.S. title Wills §§ 307-585, also 68 C.J. p 873 note 86-p 1249 note 2.

Statute held constitutional

Tenn.—Commerce Union Bank v. Gillespie, 156 S.W.2d 425.

Ecclesiastical administration

(1) Ecclesiastical administration is inapplicable to conditions in the United States.—In re Vlosca, 47 A. 233, 197 Pa. 280, 51 L.R.A. 876, affirming 29 Pittsb.Leg.J., N.S., 299.

(2) In the absence of statutory directions the modes of procedure adopted by the ecclesiastical courts of England are necessarily in force in our probate courts.—Cowden v. Dobyns, 13 Miss. 82.

Ecclesiastical law as part of common law see Common Law § 7.

2. N.D.—In re Markhus' Estate, 249 N.W. 310, 63 N.D. 566.
23 C.J. p 996 note 4.

3. Cal.—In re Smith, 50 P. 701, 118 Cal. 462.

Ill.—Cotterell v. Coen, 92 N.E. 911, 246 Ill. 410, reversing 151 Ill.App. 463.

Purposes of administration see infra § 3 d.

4. Cal.—O'Day v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 116 P.2d 621.

Ill.—Cotterell v. Coen, 92 N.E. 911, 246 Ill. 410, reversing 151 Ill.App. 463.

Wyo.—Church v. Quiner, 224 P. 1073, 31 Wyo. 222.

5. U.S.—Hardy v. Harbin, C.C.Cal., 11 F.Cas.No.6,060, 4 Sawy. 536.

Cal.—People v. Senter, 28 Cal. 502.

23 C.J. p 998 note 35.

Constitutionality of retroactive laws generally see Constitutional Law §§ 414-420.

6. Kan.—State ex rel. Beck v. Good, 49 P.2d 633, 142 Kan. 434.

7. Fla.—Pitts v. Pitts, 162 So. 708, 120 Fla. 363.

8. N.Y.—In re Eaton's Estate, 211 N.Y.S. 845, 125 Misc. 629, affirmed In re Eaton's Will, 215 N.Y.S. 839, 217 App.Div. 704.

Va.—Denny v. Searles, 143 S.E. 484, 150 Va. 701.

23 C.J. p 1018 note 15.

Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988-1015.

Property considered as separate succession

When a person dies leaving property in two or more states, his property in each state is, for purpose of its administration, considered as a separate succession.—Jarel v. Moon's Succession, La.App., 190 So. 867.

9. Mass.—Hite v. Hite, 17 N.E.2d 176, 301 Mass. 294, 119 A.L.R. 517.
23 C.J. p 1019 note 16.

Sale of realty

The law of the situs of testator's realty merely regulates its sale, and has nothing to do with distribution of proceeds thereof among legatees and creditors, but that distribution is regulated by law of the testator's domicile.—Philadelphia Home for Incurables v. Philadelphia Sav. Fund Soc., 8 A.2d 193, 126 N.J.Eq. 104, affirmed 19 A.2d 349, 129 N.J.Eq. 243.—Jenkins v. Guarantee Trust & Safe Deposit Co., 53 N.J.Eq. 194, 32 A. 208.

tributees the rule is that personal estate is to be distributed according to the law of the decedent's last domicile, while real estate descends according to the law of the place where it is situated.

The validity of the acts of an administrator must be determined by the law in force at the time of the administration of the estate.¹⁰

§ 3. Definitions, Nature and Purpose of Trust, and Classes of Estates and Representatives Thereof

- a. In general
- b. Executors and administrators
- c. Legal representatives
- d. Administration
- e. Estates; testate; intestate; testator

- f. Probate
- g. Nature of trust

a. In General

The personal representatives of decedents on whom the duty of settling and distributing estates is confided are usually, although not necessarily, executors and administrators. At common law a "real" representative is an heir who succeeds to the real estate of his ancestor.

The duty of settling and distributing the estates of decedents under the supervision of the courts is confided to persons who are termed the "personal representatives" of the deceased, a term which, as ordinarily used, means executors and administrators.¹¹ Its meaning is not, however, necessarily so confined,¹² and it may sometimes mean heirs¹³ next of kin,¹⁴ descendants,¹⁵ or even include assigns¹⁶ or grantees.¹⁷

10. Tex.—Moore v. Wooten, Com. App., 280 S.W. 742, reversing, Civ. App., 265 S.W. 210, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 283 S.W. 153.

11. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236. Kan.—Nicholson v. Nicholson, 146 P. 340, 94 Kan. 153—Cox v. Kansas City, 120 P. 553, 555, 86 Kan. 298. La.—Penny v. New Orleans Great Northern R. Co., 66 So. 313, 135 La. 962.

Mo.—Casey v. Hoover, 94 S.W. 982, 983, 197 Mo. 62.

N.J.—Swank v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 111 A. 44, 47, 94 N.J.Law 546, certiorari denied 41 S.Ct. 12, 254 U.S. 638, 65 L.Ed. 451.

N.Y.—People v. Fitzgerald, 21 N.Y. S. 911, 29 Abb.N.C. 471.

Okl.—Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Lenahan, 135 P. 383, 385, 39 Okl. 283.

Or.—Murphy v. Tillson, 130 P. 637, 638, 64 Or. 558.

Tex.—Gutierrez v. El Paso & N. E. R. Co., 117 S.W. 426, 428, 102 Tex. 378, affirmed El Paso & N. E. R. Co. v. Gutierrez, 30 S.Ct. 21, 215 U.S. 87, 54 L.Ed. 106—Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Berkshire, Civ. App., 201 S.W. 1093, 1095, error refused.

Va.—Atkinson v. Washington & Jefferson College, 46 S.E. 253, 260, 54 W.Va. 32.

Wis.—In re Gallun's Estate, 254 N.W. 542, 544, 215 Wis. 314, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 996 note 8.

Special administrator

Minn.—Jones v. Minnesota Transfer Ry. Co., 121 N.W. 606, 607, 108 Minn. 129.

Wis.—Swan v. Norvell, 83 N.W. 924, 107 Wis. 625.

Temporary administrator

Ga.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Chaffin, 11 S.E. 891, 893, 84 Ga. 519—

Wilson v. Pollard, 10 S.E.2d 407, 409, 62 Ga.App. 781.

Executor held "representative of estate"

Ga.—Dougherty-Little-Redwine Co. v. Hatcher, 151 S.E. 796, 169 Ga. 858.

As endowed with deceased's rights and liabilities

Administratrix is not a "personal representative" in the sense that she becomes legally endowed with deceased's rights and liabilities.—In re Gorday Garment Co., D.C.Or., 2 F. Supp. 162, affirmed, C.C.A., Crocker v. Kay, 62 F.2d 391, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 506, 288 U.S. 615, 77 L. Ed. 988.

12. Conn.—H. G. Craig & Co. v. Uncas Paper Board Co., 133 A. 673, 104 Conn. 559.

Ga.—Tucker v. Knights of Pythias of North & South America, 68 S. E. 796, 797, 135 Ga. 56—Cooper v. Cooper, 119 S.E. 335, 30 Ga.App. 710.

Minn.—Appeal of City of Duluth, 101 N.W. 1059, 1061, 94 Minn. 95.

Neb.—Sorensen v. Sorensen, 98 N.W. 837, 840, 68 Neb. 483, affirmed on second rehearing 103 N.W. 455, 68 Neb. 483—Sorensen v. Sorensen, 77 N.W. 68, 69, 56 Neb. 729—Kroh v. Heins, 67 N.W. 771, 773, 48 Neb. 691.

23 C.J. p 996 note 9.

Meaning determined by testator's intent

Conn.—Newman v. Jennings, 98 A. 321, 90 Conn. 685—Lepard v. Clapp, 66 A. 780, 80 Conn. 29.

Md.—Albert v. Albert, 12 A. 11, 68 Md. 352.

N.Y.—In re Osgood's Estate, 217 N. Y.S. 313, 127 Misc. 437.

Pa.—In re Harton's Estate, 62 A. 1058, 1059, 213 Pa. 499, 4 L.R.A., N.S., 939.

13. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236.

Ga.—Tidwell v. Garrick, 99 S.E. 872, 149 Ga. 290—Ellard v. Coleman, 97 S.E. 111, 22 Ga.App. 693.

Kan.—Olson v. Frazer, 118 P.2d 505, 154 Kan. 310.

Mich.—Oldenburg v. Leiberg, 142 N. W. 1076, 177 Mich. 150.

Mo.—Wells v. Bente, 86 Mo.App. 264. N.Y.—Davidson v. Jones, 98 N.Y.S. 265, 266, 112 App.Div. 254.

Heirs held not "personal representatives"

Ga.—Rudolph v. Washington, 91 S.E. 560, 146 Ga. 605.

La.—Savaria v. U. S. Railroad Administration, 91 So. 661, 151 La. 156.

14. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236. Conn.—Davies v. Davies, 11 A. 500, 503, 55 Conn. 319.

N.Y.—Davidson v. Jones, 98 N.Y.S. 265, 266, 112 App.Div. 254.

Pa.—In re Harton's Estate, 62 A. 1058, 1059, 213 Pa. 499, 4 L.R.A., N.S., 939—Appeal of Trustees of University of Pennsylvania, 97 Pa. 187.

Next of kin not personal representatives

N.J.—Shaver v. Shaver, 1 N.J.Eq. 437.

15. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236.

Md.—Albert v. Albert, 12 A. 11, 15, 68 Md. 352.

16. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236. Minn.—Appeal of City of Duluth, 101 N.W. 1059, 1061, 94 Minn. 95.

Mo.—Wells v. Bente, 86 Mo.App. 264.

"Representatives" not usually designated "assignees"

U.S.—Sere v. Pitot, La., 6 Cranch 332, 336, 3 L.Ed. 240.

17. U.S.—Reed v. American-German Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 155 F. 233, 236.

Real representatives. At common law the heir succeeds to the real estate of the deceased ancestor, and for this reason he has been sometimes called a "real" representative.¹⁸

b. Executors and Administrators

Although the terms are frequently used synonymously, an "executor" is a personal representative appointed by a testator, while an "administrator" is one appointed to act where there is no executor. Executors and administrators are regarded as officers of the court, but are not generally considered to be public officers or agents. An executor or administrator as an official and as an individual is, legally, two separate persons.

The personal representatives of decedents are of two classes, executors and administrators; an executor is a person appointed by a testator to carry out the directions and requests in his will, and to dispose of the property according to his testamentary provisions after his decease;¹⁹ an administrator is a person authorized to manage and distribute the estate of an intestate or of a testator who has no executor.²⁰ However, the offices are very similar,²¹ and the terms "executor" and "administrator" are frequently used as synonymous.²²

Status. Executors and administrators are not public officers.²³ On the other hand, they are not mere employees,²⁴ but are distinctly officers without being invested with sovereign powers.²⁵ Executors and administrators are officers of the court²⁶ and occupy a fiduciary relation toward all parties having an interest in the estate.²⁷ They are not agents of Vendee held not "personal representative"

Conn.—Liquid Carbonic Co. v. Black, 128 A. 514, 102 Conn. 390.

18. U.S.—Louisville Trust Co. v. Kentucky Nat. Bank, C.C.Ky., 87 F. 143, 145.

Conn.—In re Wilcox & Howe Co., 39 A. 163, 70 Conn. 220.

N.Y.—Lee v. Dill, 39 Barb. 516, 520, 16 Abb.Pr. 92, affirmed 41 N.Y. 619.

19. Black L.D.

Other definitions

Ky.—Patterson's Ex'r v. Dean, 44 S. W.2d 565, 241 Ky. 671.

Miss.—Vicksburg Public Library v. First Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 150 So. 755, 756, 168 Miss. 88—Ricks v. Johnson, 99 So. 142, 145, 134 Miss. 676.

N.C.—In re Leonard's Will, 12 S.E. 2d 222, 218 N.C. 738.

Va.—Hofheimer v. Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk, 156 S.E. 581, 582, 154 Va. 896, affirming 153 S.E. 656, 154 Va. 392, and certiorari denied Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk v. Hofheimer, 51 S.Ct. 648, 283 U.S. 855, 75 L.Ed. 1462.

23 C.J. p 996 note 12 [a].

"Independent executor" defined see infra § 1056.

"Nonintervention executor" defined see infra § 1056.

Executress is a female executor.—Black L.D.

"Trustee" distinguished

An executor is a "trustee" in the broad sense of the term but not in the strict sense of the term, and many of the rules of law that are applicable to trustees are not applicable to executors.—Lockridge v. Citizens Trust Co. of Greencastle, Ind.App., 37 N.E.2d 728.

23 C.J. p 996 note 12 [c]—65 C.J. p 216 note 53.

Right of executor to administer estate undisposed of by will

In cases of partial intestacy, or where provisions of a will have become inoperative, the executor is entitled to administer and distribute the property undisposed of, and it is not necessary or even proper to appoint an administrator for that purpose.—Federal Trust Co. v. Ost, 186 A. 579, 120 N.J. 475, quoting Corpus Juris, and affirmed 191 A. 746, 121 N.J.Eq. 608—23 C.J. p 996 note 12 [b].

20. Va.—Hofheimer v. Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk, 156 S.E. 581, 582, 154 Va. 896, affirming 153 S.E. 656, 154 Va. 392, and certiorari denied Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk v. Hofheimer, 51 S.Ct. 648, 283 U.S. 855, 75 L.Ed. 1462, and quoting Bouvier L. D., tit Executors and Administrators.

23 C.J. p 997 note 13.

Kinds of general administrators

General administrators are of two kinds: First, when the grant of administration is unlimited; second, when the grant is made with the annexation of the will.—Clemens v. Walker, 40 Ala. 189, 198.

21. Mass.—Sheldon v. Smith, 97 Mass. 34.

23 C.J. p 997 note 14.

22. Md.—Linthicum v. Polk, 48 A. 842, 93 Md. 84.

23 C.J. p 997 note 15.

Word "administrator" within statute includes executor

Md.—Baker v. Forsythe, 16 A.2d 921.

23. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

Me.—Glidden v. Rines, 128 A. 4, 124 Me. 286.

23 C.J. p 997 notes 13 [b], 17 [a].
Contra Henry v. Henry, 103 N.W. 441, 107 N.W. 789, 73 Neb. 746.

Public and private administrators distinguished

(1) Public administrator discharges function of government and is a "public officer" whose duties concern the state at large, or the general public, whereas, a private administrator acts in a private capacity for private persons, and is not an "officer" within the legal definition of that term.—Crews v. Lundquist, 197 N.E. 768, 361 Ill. 193—Ramsay v. Van Meter, 133 N.E. 193, 300 Ill. 193.

(2) Status of public administrator generally see infra § 1050.

24. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

25. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, supra.

Iowa.—In re Meinert's Estate, 213 N. W. 938, 204 Iowa 355.

Me.—Glidden v. Rines, 128 A. 4, 124 Me. 286.

N.Y.—In re Vosburg's Estate, 5 N. Y.S.2d 804, 167 Misc. 611.

26. U.S.—In re Gorday Garment Co., D.C.Or., 2 F.Supp. 162, affirmed, C.C.A., Crocker v. Kay, 62 F.2d 391, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 506, 288 U.S. 615, 77 L.Ed. 988.

Cal.—In re Conkey's Estate, 96 P.2d 383, 35 Cal.App.2d 581—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal. App.2d 253.

Iowa.—Irwin v. Keokuk Sav. Bank & Trust Co., 255 N.W. 671, 218 Iowa 477—In re Harsh's Estate, 218 N.W. 537, 207 Iowa 84.

Md.—Goldsborough v. De Witt, 189 A. 226, 171 Md. 225.

Minn.—A. L. Goetzmann Co. v. Gazette, 214 N.W. 895, 172 Minn. 68.

Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P. 2d 781, 194 Wash. 219.

Quasi court officer

Ga.—Dobbs v. First Nat. Bank of Atlanta, 16 S.E.2d 485, 65 Ga.App. 796.

27. Cal.—In re Conkey's Estate, 96 P.2d 383, 35 Cal.App.2d 581—In re Smith's Estate, 297 P. 927, 112 Cal. App. 680, followed in In re Brenhart's Estate, 297 P. 931, 112 Cal. App. 766, and In re Slingsby's Estate, 297 P. 931, 112 Cal.App. 767. Administrator or executor as trustee see infra § 142.

Executrix held a "fiduciary"

Ohio.—Schreiner v. Cincinnati Alten-

the estate,²⁸ or of the decedent,²⁹ and have no principal whom they can bind;³⁰ they are merely instrumentalities established for performing the acts necessary for the transfer of the effects left by the deceased to those who succeed to their ownership.³¹

An executor or administrator as an individual and as an official is, in the eyes of the law, two separate and distinct persons.³²

c. Legal Representatives

"Legal representatives" are ordinarily, but not always, executors or administrators.

The primary and ordinary meaning of the term "legal representatives," when there is nothing in the context to control its meaning, is "executors or administrators,"³³ and this is the meaning of the term when used in its strictly technical sense.³⁴ However, the term is not necessarily restricted to the personal representatives of one deceased,³⁵ but is sufficiently broad to cover all persons who, with respect to one's property, stand in his place and represent his interests, whether transferred to them by his act or by operation of law,³⁶ and may mean heirs³⁷ and next of kin.³⁸

d. Administration

Administration is the management of a decedent's estate for the purpose of collecting and preserving the assets, paying debts, and making distribution.

"Administration" is the management of the estate of a decedent and expresses the jurisdiction assumed by the proper court over it.³⁹ The purposes of administration are to collect the assets of the decedent, pay his debts and funeral expenses, etc., and make distribution to the persons entitled thereto,⁴⁰ and to do so expeditiously and efficiently.⁴¹ heim, 22 N.E.2d 587, 61 Ohio App. 344.

22. Minn.—A. L. Goetsmann Co. v. Gasett, 214 N.W. 895, 172 Minn. 68.

Agent of heirs held not personal representative

Minn.—Jones v. Tainter, 15 Minn. 512, 517.

Executors held agents to settle estate

N.Y.—Matter of Dorland, 166 N.Y.S. 616, 100 Misc. 236.

29. Neb.—Henry v. Henry, 103 N. W. 441, 73 Neb. 746, 107 N.W. 789.

30. Minn.—A. L. Goetsmann Co. v. Gasett, 214 N.W. 895, 172 Minn. 68.

31. N.Y.—In re Killough's Estate, 265 N.Y.S. 301, 318, 148 Misc. 73.

32. La.—Hargrave v. Turner Lumber Co., 193 So. 648, 194 La. 285.

N.Y.—Helme v. Buckelew, 128 N.E. 216, 229 N.Y. 363—In re Roth's Estate, 9 N.Y.S.2d 432, 256 App.Div. 181—In re Schwarzmans Estate, 21 N.Y.S.2d 912, 174 Misc. 834—In re Gourlay's Estate, 19 N.Y.S.2d 122, 173 Misc. 930—In re May's Estate, 14 N.Y.S.2d 730, 173 Misc. 137—In re Sullivan's Estate, 6 N.Y.S.2d 783, 169 Misc. 16, affirmed 8 N.Y.S.2d 533, 255 App.Div. 1008—In re Ferber's Estate, 268 N.Y.S. 360, 149 Misc. 840.

Tex.—Moore v. Wooten, Com.App. 280 S.W. 742, reversing, Civ.App. 265 S.W. 210, and rehearing denied Com.App., 283 S.W. 153—Moseley v. Evangelical Theological College, Civ.App., 34 S.W.2d 638, error refused.

Capacity in which representative sues or is sued see infra §§ 707-716.

Privity

As an individual, an executor is not a privy in estate, in blood, in representation, or in law, with himself as executor.—Eaton v. Walker, 138 N.E. 798, 244 Mass. 23.

Nonresidential status

There is no nonresidential status of a locally appointed representative of an estate, and his right to determine his personal domicile is not a right to determine the state in which he belongs in his representative capacity.—Lisbon Sav. Bank & Trust Co. v. Moulton's Estate, N.H., 22 A. 2d 331.

33. U.S.—Briggs v. Walker, Ky., 19 S.Ct. 1, 3, 171 U.S. 466, 43 L.Ed. 243.

36 C.J. p 977 notes 19-25, p 978 note 26.

Equivalent to "personal representatives"

Ala.—State v. Pearce, 71 So. 656, 657, 14 Ala.App. 628.

34. N.Y.—Davidson v. Jones, 98 N. Y.S. 265, 266, 112 App.Div. 254.

Wis.—Moyer v. Oshkosh, 139 N.W. 378, 380, 151 Wis. 586.

35. U.S.—New York Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Armstrong, N.Y., 117 U.S. 591, 6 S.Ct. 877, 879, 29 L.Ed. 997, reversing, C.C., 11 F. 573, 20 Blatchf. 493—Adrian v. Higgins, D.C.N.Y., 30 F.Supp. 70.

Ga.—Tucker v. Knights of Pythias of North & South America, 68 S.E. 796, 797, 135 Ga. 56.

36 C.J. p 978 note 26.

36. N.Y.—New York Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Armstrong, N.Y., 6 S. Ct. 877, 879, 117 U.S. 591, 29 L.Ed. 997, reversing, C.C., 11 F. 573, 20 Blatchf. 493—Adrian v. Higgins, D.C.N.Y., 30 F.Supp. 70, 75.

37. N.Y.—Davidson v. Jones, 98 N. Y.S. 265, 266, 112 App.Div. 254.

38. N.Y.—Davidson v. Jones, supra.

39. Ill.—In re Togneri's Estate, 15 N.E.2d 908, 296 Ill.App. 33.

23 C.J. p 977 note 22.

As administration of trust

An administration of an estate is an administration of a trust in whatever court the proceedings are pending.—Faulk v. Money, 181 So. 256, 236 Ala. 69—Birmingham Trust & Savings Co. v. Hightower, 169 So. 878, 233 Ala. 39—Keith & Wilkinson v. Forsythe, 151 So. 60, 227 Ala. 555.

Supervision by executor or administrator

The "administration of an estate" is the supervision by an executor or administrator.—Peterson v. Demmer, D.C.Tex., 34 F.Supp. 697.

Guardianship distinguished

Mo.—State v. Greer, 74 S.W. 881, 883, 101 Mo.App. 669.

17 C.J. p 404 note 18 [a].

40. U.S.—Ross v. Beacham, D.C.S.C., 33 F.Supp. 3.

Ariz.—Smith v. Normart, 75 P.2d 38, 51 Ariz. 134, 114 A.L.R. 1456.

Cal.—O'Day v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 116 P.2d 621—Lillienkamp v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 93 P.2d 1008, 14 Cal.2d 293, superseding, App., 85 P.2d 577.

III.—In re Trost's Estate, 10 N.E.2d 857, 292 Ill.App. 60.

Ind.—Condo v. Barbour, 200 N.E. 76, 101 Ind.App. 483.

Iowa.—In re Acken, 123 N.W. 187, 144 Iowa 519, Ann.Cas.1912A 1166.

S.D.—Thomas v. Morristown State Bank, 221 N.W. 257, 53 S.D. 499.

Wash.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P. 2d 310, 189 Wash. 641.

Distribution as act of administration

Distribution of an estate is not necessarily a part of the "administration of an estate".—Peterson v. Demmer, D.C.Tex., 34 F.Supp. 697.

41. Mont.—State ex rel. Steinfert v. District Court of Fourth Judicial Dist. in and for Ravalli County, 107 P.2d 890, 111 Mont. 216.

Ohio.—Naples v. Roberts, 132 N.E. 528, 42 Ohio App. 509.

Unnecessary delay or expense

It is the policy of the law to ex-

However, administration includes more than this; it involves all that may be done rightfully in the preservation of the assets, and all which may be done legally by the administrator in his dealings with creditors, distributees, or legatees, or which may be done by them in securing their rights, and includes all which may be done, and rightfully done, with relation to adverse claims to assets which have come to the possession of the administrator as the property of the testator or intestate.⁴²

e. Estates; Testate; Intestate; Testator

The "estate" of a deceased person is not a legal entity but is merely a name indicating the sum total of the decedent's assets and liabilities. It is "testate" if directions concerning it are embodied in a will, in which case the deceased is termed the "testator," or "intestate" if not included in a valid will, in which case the deceased is also termed the "intestate."

The estate of a deceased person is not an entity known to the law,⁴³ and is not a natural or an artificial person,⁴⁴ but is merely a name to indicate the sum total of assets and liabilities of a decedent.⁴⁵

Estates of deceased persons fall into two classes: First testate, which includes those estates as to the settlement of which the deceased has left directions embodied in a will, in which case the deceased is termed the testator.⁴⁶ Second intestate, which includes the estates of persons who have left no valid will.⁴⁷ The term "intestate" is also used to designate a person who has died without leaving a valid will.⁴⁸ There may, however, also be cases of partial intestacy, where the deceased has left a will containing directions as to the disposition of a portion of his property, but such instrument leaves a portion undisposed of.⁴⁹

f. Probate

In common usage "probate" refers to proceedings incident to the settlement of decedents' estates and means the settlement of estates.

The term "probate" in common usage includes all matters of which probate courts have jurisdiction.⁵⁰ It is used with reference to the proceedings incident to the settlement of decedents' estates and means the settlement of estates, including the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, collection of assets, allowance of claims, payment of debts, and sale of real estate, if necessary, for that purpose, and the distribution of the property to those entitled thereto by the laws of descent or by will.⁵¹ pedite administration of estates and to avoid unnecessary delay and expense.

Cal.—In re Dargie's Estate, 91 P.2d 126, 33 Cal.App.2d 148—In re Smith's Estate, 60 P.2d 574, 16 Cal. App.2d 239—In re Matthiessen's Estate, 52 P.2d 248, 10 Cal.App.2d 323—In re Morrison's Estate, 14 P.2d 102, 125 Cal.App. 504.
N.H.—White v. Chaplin, 148 A. 21, 84 N.H. 208.

42. Cal.—Rucker v. Tennessee Coal, Iron & R. Co., 58 So. 465, 176 Ala. 456.

23 C.J. p 997 note 24.

Protection of creditors

A primary purpose of "administration" is the protection of creditors of the estate.—Southern Underwriters v. Lewis, Tex.Civ.App., 150 S.W.2d 162.

Protection of property

The ultimate object of statutory provisions affecting estates is to protect property against waste and dissipation.—Lyles v. Oheim, Tex.Civ. App., 142 S.W.2d 959, error granted.

43. Cal.—Tanner v. Best's Estate, 104 P.2d 1084, 40 Cal.App.2d 442.
Minn.—A. L. Goetsmann Co. v. Gasett, 214 N.W. 895, 172 Minn. 68.
Wash.—Hansen v. Stanton, 31 P.2d 903, 177 Wash. 257, 92 A.L.R. 1037.

"Estate" is generally used as meaning property belonging to a decedent, a ward, a mentally incompetent person or a bankrupt, and which is being administered in the courts. Hansen v. Stanton, 31 P.2d 903, 904, 177 Wash. 257, 92 A.L.R. 1037.

"Decedent's estate" is the property, both real and personal, which he possesses at the time of his death.—Mathey v. Mathey, 98 P.2d 373, 109 Mont. 467—23 C.J. p 1126 note 74 [a].

Party to contract

An "estate" of person deceased is not a legal entity, and cannot become party to contract.—Miller v. Phoenix Ins. Co. of Hartford, Conn., 254 N.W. 915, 191 Minn. 586.

44. Cal.—Tanner v. Best's Estate, 104 P.2d 1084, 40 Cal.App.2d 442.

Minn.—Miller v. Phoenix Ins. Co. of Hartford, Conn., 254 N.W. 915, 191 Minn. 586.

Miss.—Life Ins. Co. of Virginia v. Page, 172 So. 873, 178 Miss. 287.

45. Cal.—Tanner v. Best's Estate, 104 P.2d 1084, 40 Cal.App.2d 442.

As trust estate

For the purpose of equity jurisdiction, a decedent's property is regarded as a trust estate, held by his administrator for the benefit of decedent's creditors according to their priorities and preferences in right, and the remainder, if any, for distributees.—Hafey v. W. C. Mitchell Co., C.C.A.N.D., 293 F. 27.

46. Black L.D.

Testatrix means a female testator; and the term "testator" includes testatrix.—Walker v. Hyland, 56 A. 268, 70 N.J.Law 69.

47. Colo.—In re Schmidt's Will, 283 P. 1041, 86 Colo. 576.
23 C.J. p 998 note 26.

Inoperative and potentially void will

Under a statute providing that a will not mentioning an afterborn child shall have no effect during the life of such child, and shall be void unless the child die without having been married and before attaining his majority, the estate must be administered as though testator had died intestate, so long as his child shall live.—Taylor v. Martin's Estate, 3 S.W.2d 408, 117 Tex. 302, reversing, Civ.App., 263 S.W. 1102.

48. N.Y.—Matter of Cameron, 62 N. Y.S. 187, 47 App.Div. 120, affirmed 59 N.E. 1120, 166 N.Y. 610.
23 C.J. p 998 note 27.

49. N.Y.—In re Haughian, 75 N.Y. S. 932, 37 Misc. 457.
Ohio.—Goff v. Moore, 20 Ohio Cir. Ct., N.S., 224, 3 Ohio App. 170.

50. Minn.—Johnson v. Harrison, 50 N.W. 923, 47 Minn. 575, 578, 28 Am. S.R. 382.

Neb.—In re Strelow, 219 N.W. 387, 116 Neb. 873, 877.

51. Ill.—London & Lancashire Indemnity Co. of America v. Tindall, 36 N.E.2d 334, 377 Ill. 308, reversing London & Lancashire Indemnity Co. of America, for Use of File v. Tindall, 29 N.E.2d 941, 307 Ill.App. 45.

50 C.J. p 423 notes 15, 16—48 C.J. p 873 note 87.

g. Nature of Trust

The trust arising from the appointment of an executor or administrator is highly personal, and involves no pecuniary interest on the part of the fiduciary.

The trust arising from an appointment as executor or administrator is highly personal. It is not commercial or contractual. It is not a property right and it involves no pecuniary interest on the part of the fiduciary.⁵²

§ 4. Property Subject to Administration

All property owned by a deceased at the time of his death is subject to administration; and even land vesting at once in the heir on the owner's death is subject to a cloud on the title until it appears that the representative will not be compelled to resort to it because of a deficiency in the personal assets.

As a general rule, all property which a deceased person owned at the time of his death is properly subject to administration and is regarded as being in the custody of the law for the benefit of all persons interested therein.⁵³ At the common law, as shown infra § 103, real property descends directly to the heir of the decedent, and with that the executor or administrator has no concern, the management, settlement, or administration of the estates of deceased persons relating primarily and fundamentally to personal property alone, but nevertheless debts and charges remain obligatory on the estate as long as property of the deceased may be found for their satisfaction, and hence if the personal assets prove insufficient the real estate may be applied to make up the deficiency on license of the court, modern statutes greatly enlarging all earlier facilities in this respect. Accordingly, although, in the absence of a will making inconsistent provisions, the land may still be said, as formerly, to vest at once in the heir, on the owner's death, an encumbrance or cloud on the title thereto remains, until it appears, from lapse of time or otherwise, that the representative will not be compelled to resort to the land because of some deficiency in the personal assets, for settling debts, legacies, or other legal charges against the estate.⁵⁴

§ 5. Necessity and Propriety of Administration

- a. In general
- b. For collection of assets
- c. For purpose of distribution
- d. To provide party to action
- e. Effect of liability to inheritance tax
- f. Small estates

a. In General

All estates of decedents are subject to administration, although in certain cases administration may be unnecessary. In the case of an escheated estate, administration is unnecessary unless the estate is indebted.

As a general rule all estates of decedents are subject to administration, as the policy and intent of the statutes on the subject clearly contemplate that property of decedents left undisposed of at death shall, for the purpose of collecting the same, ascertaining and protecting the rights of creditors and heirs, and properly transmitting the title of record, be subjected to the process of administration in the probate court, and indeed there is no other method provided by statute whereby the existence of creditors or heirs of decedent may be conclusive-

When estate "probated"

(1) The phrase "never been probated" as used in statute providing that in all cases where estate left by deceased person has descended from another deceased person whose estate has "never been probated," court may grant letters of administration on such estates jointly, and they may be administered the same as though they were but one estate, means that "administration has never been commenced" rather than that "administration has not been completed." The term "probate" or "probated," means the proving under a properly drawn petition of facts necessary to vest court with jurisdiction to proceed with the administration of the estate, the establishment of the death of the decedent, his residence, the existence of an estate and all other facts necessary and proper to call into existence and exercise the functions and powers of the court to seize upon, control, and administer the estate for the protection of creditors and the devolvement of the property on proper heirs, legatees, devisees and others entitled to receive or enjoy the property or the usufruct thereof. Deceased husband's estate had been "probated" within meaning of statute, so that, on death of his widow, both estates could not be probated as one estate, where on husband's death letters of administration were issued to widow, who qualified, caused notice to creditors of estate to present their claims to be published as required by law, and filed an inventory and appraisal of the property, showing the estate to be valued at one thousand four hundred dollars, notwithstanding nothing further was done in the probate proceeding.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 463, 119 A.L.R. 123.

(2) Record showed that succession of grandparent had not been administered and closed when heir applied for letters of administration.—Vull- lemont v. Gonsulin, 134 So. 419, 17 La.App. 661.

52. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 162 N.E. 217, 263 Mass. 444, modified on other grounds Ex parte Worcester County Nat. Bank, 49 S. Ct. 368, 279 U.S. 347, 73 L.Ed. 733, 61 A.L.R. 98.—Petition of Commonwealth-Atlantic Nat. Bank of Boston, 144 N.E. 443, 249 Mass. 440.

53. U.S.—McClellan v. Carland, S.D., 187 F. 915, 110 C.C.A. 49.

Mo.—Bartlett v. Hyde, 3 Mo. 490.

Assets generally see infra §§ 95-128. Sales under order of court see infra §§ 536-666.

Administration of part only of estate of decedent would be improper.—Moore v. Wooten, Tex.Com.App., 283 S.W. 153, denying rehearing 280 S.W. 742.

54. Aris.—Faulkner v. Faulkner, 203 P. 560, 562, 23 Ariz. 313, citing Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 938 note 34.

ly established and the estate distributed.⁵⁵ As shown infra § 1018, where anything remains to be done in execution of a will after the death of the executor, the appointment of an administrator de bonis non with the will annexed is proper, even though the debts and all charges of administration have been paid.

On the other hand, it is not necessary that an estate be administered merely for the sake of administration,⁵⁶ and where there is nothing to go into the hands of a personal representative, administration is unnecessary.⁵⁷ The principle that the title to the personal estate of decedent can be transmitted only through the instrumentality of letters of administration has no application where neither the title nor right to possession to the property in question was in decedent;⁵⁸ and no administration can be had where decedent's interest in the property was that of a life tenant⁵⁹ or joint tenant,⁶⁰ since on his death title passes directly to the remainderman or survivor. On the death of the husband, title to a homestead previously declared by the wife in community property immediately vests in her without administration,⁶¹ and on her death is subject to administration through probate of her will without requiring administration of the husband's estate.⁶² Administration may be had, however, to subject a homestead to payment of vendor's or mechanic's liens.⁶³ The mere fact that some of the heirs are minors and that the land needs protection against trespassers, does not authorize the appointment of an administrator;⁶⁴ there must be need of an administrator to collect and distribute the estate to justify an appointment.⁶⁵

55. U.S.—In re Gorday Garment Co., D.C.Or., 2 F.Supp. 162, affirmed, C. C.A., Crocker v. Kay, 62 F.2d 391, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 506, 288 U.S. 615, 77 L.Ed. 988.

La.—Succession of Harris, 121 So. 740, 168 La. 191.

Minn.—In re Daniel's Estate, 294 N. W. 465, 208 Minn. 420.

N.C.—Price v. Askins, 194 S.E. 284, 212 N.C. 583.

Pa.—In re Mickelson's Estate, 13 Pa. Dist. & Co. 686, 78 Pittsb.Leg.J. 537.

Tex.—Southern Underwriters v. Lewis, Civ.App., 150 S.W.2d 162.

Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

23 C.J. p 998 note 36.

Settlement without administration as favored

(1) Settlement of decedent's affairs without the aid of the courts is not favored by the laws.—In re Card's Estate, 222 P. 145, 64 Cal.App. 268.

(2) However, it has also been stated that the settlement of the estate of decedents by agreement between heirs without administration, where fairly made, and where the rights of creditors are not affected, is favored by the law.—Faulkner v. Faulkner, 203 P. 560, 23 Ariz. 313.

Presumption of necessity

Necessity for administration must be presumed in every case, unless facts be shown making exception to general rule.—Pitts v. Thompson, Tex.Civ.App., 71 S.W.2d 368, error dismissed.—Ferguson v. Mounts, Tex. Civ.App., 281 S.W. 616—23 C.J. p 998 note 36 [b].

Sale and distribution of proceeds of bank stock

If heirs of deceased owner of stock in private bank could not have personally disposed of stock without becoming liable as partners, administrator could have been appointed for estate of deceased owner and bank stock sold and proceeds divided.—Bickel v. Bibler, Ind.App., 32 N.E.2d 127.

56. Ill.—Robertson v. Yager, 158 N. E. 709, 327 Ill. 346—Van Meter v. Illinois Merchants' Trust Co., 239 Ill.App. 618.

Ind.—Cornet v. Guedelhoefer, 36 N. E.2d 933, mandate modified on other grounds 37 N.E.2d 681.

Inheritance of heirs

"Heirs inherit without the necessity of an administration."—Leal v. Leal, Tex.Civ.App., 291 S.W. 340, 342.

Statutory requirement of showing of necessity

Tex.—Pitts v. Thompson, Civ.App., 71 S.W.2d 368, error dismissed—Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Blankfield, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 956.

Administrator held unnecessary

Appointment of administrator of mother's estate was unnecessary to enforce child's rights against stepfather's estate.—In re Peterson's Estate, 241 P. 964, 137 Wash. 137.

57. Ky.—Allen v. Foth, 275 S.W. 804, 210 Ky. 343.

Minn.—McHugo v. Norton, 198 N.W. 141, 159 Minn. 90.

N.Y.—In re Tangerman's Estate, 235 N.Y.S. 213, 226 App.Div. 162.

Tex.—Hale v. Hannah, Civ.App., 56 S.W.2d 259.

Wis.—In re Kuntz's Estate, 220 N.W. 206, 196 Wis. 344.

Small estates see subdivision f of this section infra.

Exempt property

Where the only property of an intestate is exempt, no necessity for administration exists.—Parker v. Miller, Tex.Civ.App., 258 S.W. 602, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 268 S.W. 726.

Allowance for burial expenses

Statute providing for allowance toward funeral expenses and cost of burial lot for beneficiary of old age assistance does not manifest intent that administrator be appointed to receive and pay out the allowance, to undertaker, since legislature contemplated probability that beneficiary would not possess an estate.—State ex rel. Redgate v. Walcott, 3 A.2d 852, 125 Conn. 160.

58. Md.—Biemuller v. Schneider, 62 Md. 547.

23 C.J. p 999 note 38.

59. U.S.—Buder v. Franz, C.C.A.Mo., 27 F.2d 101.

Mo.—Woolery v. Todd, App., 139 S. W.2d 1005.

N.Y.—Ullmann v. Ullmann, 229 N.Y. S. 176, 223 App.Div. 636.

60. Wis.—In re Richardson's Estate, 282 N.W. 585, 229 Wis. 426.

61. Cal.—Spencer v. Stewart, 262 P. 331, 202 Cal. 695.

Where decedent's widow remained in possession of homestead no necessity for administration existed.—Hale v. Hannah, Tex.Civ.App., 56 S. W.2d 259.

62. Cal.—Spencer v. Stewart, 262 P. 331, 202 Cal. 695.

Death of child taking father's interest in community property

On the death of the husband, his half of the community property descends to his children, and, on the death of the only child during the life of the widow, the child's interest therein vested in the widow, so that she became the owner of all the property, and there was no necessity for administration of the estates of the husband and the child.—Succession of McGee, 91 So. 716, 151 La. 225.

63. Cal.—Hinkel v. Crowson, 206 P. 58, 188 Cal. 378.

64. Ala.—Ex parte Cone, 145 So. 571, 226 Ala. 64.

65. Ala.—Ex parte Cone, supra.

Discovery of will after intestate administration. Where, after the estate of decedent has been administered as intestate, the debts all paid, and the property assigned to a certain person as sole heir, a will is discovered and admitted to probate by which the real estate is devised to other persons, there is no need for the appointment of a new administrator.⁶⁶

Escheated estates. The appointment of an administrator is unnecessary in the case of an escheated estate⁶⁷ unless the estate is indebted.⁶⁸

b. For Collection of Assets

Administration is frequently held necessary for the collection of assets of the estate, although many cases hold that the heirs may collect and even sue for the debts due to, and the property of, the estate.

It has been frequently asserted that, where debts or assets of the estate are to be collected or choses in action are to be sued on, an administration is necessary in order that there may be some authorized representative of decedent to act in the premises, as the heirs are not, merely as such, entitled to sue for the recovery of his property or of debts due to him.⁶⁹ On the other hand, there are many cases holding that, where there are no debts of the estate the heirs may collect, and even if necessary sue for, the debts due to, and the property of, decedent,⁷⁰ although the existence of this right does not prevent the appointment of an administrator for the purpose of collecting such debts.⁷¹

Insurance policies. Where a policy of insurance on the life of decedent is, by its terms, payable to a designated beneficiary, there is no occasion for the appointment of an administrator to collect on the policy;⁷² and it has been said that it should be the policy of the law to enforce industrial insurance policies which are taken out chiefly for the purposes of procuring a decent burial without the necessity of administration.⁷³

c. For Purpose of Distribution

Administration is not necessary merely for the purpose of distribution where the entire estate goes to a single person or the several heirs are able satisfactorily to dispose of it among themselves; but administration may be necessary if, among other things, some of the heirs are not ad litem, or if some of the heirs demand it, or if there is a dispute among the heirs.

In a large number of jurisdictions, administration is not regarded as necessary merely for the purpose of distribution, and hence administration may be dispensed with where the entire estate goes to a single person,⁷⁴ or the several heirs or distributees are able to make a satisfactory distribution or disposition of the estate among themselves,⁷⁵ and where it further appears that there are no debts

66. Minn.—Thompson's Est., 58 N. W. 682, 57 Minn. 109.

67. Ga.—Smith v. Gentry, 16 Ga. 31. Prosecution of escheat proceedings pending administration proceedings see Escheat § 12.

68. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

69. Ky.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Barrett, 111 S.W.2d 631, 271 Ky. 163—Sowle v. Potter, 3 S.W.2d 174, 223 Ky. 136. 23 C.J. p 1001 note 54.

70. Ark.—Illinois Bankers' Life Assur. Co. v. Lane, 71 S.W.2d 189, 189 Ark. 261—Business Men's Acc. Ass'n of America v. Green, 227 S.W. 388, 147 Ark. 199.

71. Colo.—Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Lanigan, 222 P. 402, 74 Colo. 386.

72. Ill.—Weiland v. Weiland, 17 N.E.2d 625, 297 Ill.App. 239.

73. Miss.—Williams v. Sykes, 154 So. 267, 170 Miss. 88, suggestion of error overruled 154 So. 727, 170 Miss. 88.

74. Wash.—In re Peterson's Estate, 241 P. 964, 137 Wash. 137. 23 C.J. p 1001 note 55.

Continuance of business

Where all persons interested as distributees in estate are of full age, they may with consent of creditors wind up deceased's business without administration, but they cannot conduct business or wind it up in name of estate, and estate is not liable for debts created after deceased's death. —Beneux v. Brown Shoe Co., 87 S.W. 2d 28, 191 Ark. 579.

Statutory fund for immediate necessities of spouse

Under Code Civ.Proc. § 1454, authorizing a surviving husband or wife without administration to collect from any bank deposits of deceased, not exceeding one thousand dollars on making affidavit, a husband after his wife's death, having made the proper affidavit, was held entitled to withdraw a fund amounting to three hundred twenty dollars and seventy cents from a bank, but such withdrawal did not give the husband title thereto, the intent of the statute being to provide a temporary fund for immediate necessities. —Brezzo v. Brangero, 196 P. 87, 51 Cal.App. 79.

71. Ala.—Gilchrist v. Gilchrist, 137 So. 406, 223 Ala. 562. 23 C.J. p 1002 note 56.

72. Miss.—Young v. Roach, 61 So. 984, 105 Miss. 6.

73. Mo.—Wallace v. Prudential Ins. Co., 157 S.W. 1028, 174 Mo.App. 110.

74. N.Y.—In re Lynas' Estate, 175 N.Y.S. 723—Dickinson v. Hoes, 84 N.Y.S. 152, 33 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 101.

Pa.—Gibboney v. Derrick, 12 A.2d 111, 338 Pa. 317.

23 C.J. p 1002 note 60.

Minor undisputed sole heir

Ga.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.

Next of kin of next of kin

Where one of the next of kin dies before distribution, his share ordinarily will be decreed to be paid to his executor or administrator, but where he dies intestate, leaving no debts, or his administrator having paid all of his debts, the administrator's title to such distributive share would obviously be but a mere naked legal title, which he would be required immediately to transfer to the equitable owner, the next of kin of such deceased next of kin, and where next of kin has died intestate, leaving no debts, and no administrator has ever been appointed, the appointment of an administrator for the mere purpose of taking the distributive share is unnecessary, and equity will dispense with such administration and decree distribution directly to secondary next of kin.—In re Riley's Estate, 113 A. 485, 92 N.J.Eq. 567.

75. U.S.—De Lappe v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A.La., 113 F.2d 48—Title Guaranty & Surety Co. v. State of Missouri, C.

of decedent or that all of his debts have been paid⁷⁶ or cared for in a manner satisfactory to the creditors,⁷⁷ or have become barred by failure of the creditors to present their claims for payment within the time limited for that purpose,⁷⁸ or by the running of the general statute of limitations.⁷⁹ Even where there is a will, the persons beneficially interested in the estate may, it has been held, in case there are no debts or the debts have all been paid, divide the property among themselves without probating the will,⁸⁰ although it would be otherwise where, as is sometimes the case, the statute requires that all wills shall be probated.⁸¹ It has been held that distribution without administration is proper only when all the persons beneficially interested in the estate are sui juris,⁸² but it has also been considered that, where the guardian of a minor heir agreed to a settlement and distribution of the estate without administration, the protection of the minor was no concern of the public administrator, so as to authorize a grant of administration to him.⁸³

An administration of the estate is held to be necessary where any of the heirs or distributees demand it,⁸⁴ where the heirs cannot agree as to distribution,⁸⁵ where an attempt of the heirs to settle the estate results in a dispute,⁸⁶ or where a settlement out of court is challenged for fraud.⁸⁷

Where, after an agreement has been made to settle an estate without administration, it becomes necessary to administer in the usual way, such agreement, so far as it remains executory, becomes inoperative, and the rights of the parties are to be determined as if no such agreement had been made.⁸⁸

A court of chancery may decree a distribution of the property of decedent among the distributees when no administration has been granted in the state, without any letters of administration being

C.A.Mo., 105 F.2d 496, 527, citing Corpus Juris.

Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

Conn.—Westport Paper-Board Co. v. Staples, 15 A.2d 1, 127 Conn. 115.

Ill.—Martin v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 159 N.E. 312, 327 Ill. 622.

Iowa.—Heinz v. Vawter, 266 N.W. 486, 221 Iowa 714.

Kan.—Hampson v. Stanfield, 103 P.2d 910, 152 Kan. 333.

Ky.—McGehee v. Dorman, 103 S.W. 2d 279, 267 Ky. 720—Trent v. Griffy, 235 S.W. 22, 193 Ky. 124.

Ohio.—In re Heintz' Estate, 38 N.E. 2d 431, 434, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Scanlan v. Gulf Bitulithic Co., Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 877, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 44 S.W.2d 967, 80 A.L.R. 852.

Wash.—In re Lambrecht's Estate, 192 P. 1018, 112 Wash. 645.

Wis.—In re Kuntz's Estate, 220 N.W. 206, 196 Wis. 344.

23 C.J. p 1002 note 60.

Agreement as equivalent to administration

Where an estate has no creditors, and the heirs, who are sui juris, agree on a division of the property without administration, the division to be made by named arbitrators selected by them, and the arbitrators apportion the real estate and some of the personalty, but do not apportion the remainder of the personalty which is in possession of one of the heirs who refuses to permit division, the agreement is equivalent to an "administration", and the heirs own the undivided property as tenants in common.—Hemphill v. Hemphill, 7 S.E.2d 762, 62 Ga.App. 358.

76. Ga.—Owens v. Oliver, 97 S.E. 856, 148 Ga. 675.

Ill.—Martin v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 159 N.E. 312, 327 Ill. 622.

Iowa.—Heinz v. Vawter, 266 N.W. 486, 221 Iowa 714.

Kan.—Hampson v. Stanfield, 103 P.2d 910, 152 Kan. 333.

Ky.—McGehee v. Dorman, 103 S.W. 2d 279, 267 Ky. 720—Trent v. Griffy, 235 S.W. 22, 193 Ky. 124.

Wis.—In re Kuntz's Estate, 220 N.W. 206, 196 Wis. 344.

23 C.J. p 1002 notes 60–62.

Effect of absence of debts generally see infra § 6 c.

Debts and taxes

Where court of chancery is called on to render a decree directing distribution to next of kin, of those next of kin who have died before distribution and without administration, it must be made to appear by full and satisfactory proof that there were no debts owing by the next of kin of decedent, or that, if any debts existed, they have been paid, and that no transfer or succession taxes are leviable, or, if such be leviable, what they are, so that the decree may provide for their payment.—In re Riley's Estate, 113 A. 485, 92 N.J.Eq. 567.

Showing required by statute

Under statute authorizing settlement without administration when heirs are residents of state, and the estate is solvent, and no minors are insolvent, to pass title to deceased's property without administration, it is necessary to show absence of debts or payment thereof, and that estate is solvent.—Bell v. Kelly, D.C.Ill., 54 F.2d 395.

77. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

Wash.—In re Lambrecht's Estate, 192 P. 1018, 112 Wash. 645.

78. Minn.—Granger v. Harriman, 94 N.W. 869, 89 Minn. 303.

Presentation of claims against estate see infra §§ 394–424.

79. Kan.—Brown v. Baxter, 94 P. 155, 77 Kan. 97, 106.
23 C.J. p 1002 note 64.

80. Ala.—Carter v. Owens, 41 Ala. 127.

23 C.J. p 1002 note 65.

Dispensing with formalities after probate

Heirs or legatees and devisees, after a will has been probated, may by agreement dispense with formalities prescribed by statute which, in absence of agreement, are binding on an administrator or executor.—Corney v. Guedelhoefer, Ind., 36 N.E.2d 933, mandate modified on other grounds 37 N.E.2d 681.

81. Iowa.—Seery v. Murray, 77 N.W. 1058, 107 Iowa 384.

82. Mo.—Griesel v. Jones, 99 S.W. 769, 123 Mo.App. 45.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 67.

83. Ill.—Cotterell v. Coen, 92 N.E. 911, 246 Ill. 410, reversing 151 Ill. App. 463.

84. Ala.—Marshall v. Crow, 29 Ala. 278.

La.—Blake v. Kearney, 30 La. Ann. 388.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 69.

85. Mo.—Meyer v. Nischwitz, 199 S.W. 744, 198 Mo.App. 101—Griesel v. Jones, 99 S.W. 769, 123 Mo.App. 45.

86. Ind.—Bruning v. Golden, 64 N.E. 657, 159 Ind. 199.

87. Iowa.—Seery v. Murray, 77 N.W. 1058, 107 Iowa 384.

88. Ill.—Bennett v. Morris, 111 Ill. App. 150.

taken out.⁸⁹

d. To Provide Party to Action

Administration is frequently required to provide a party to an action in which the estate is interested.

The estate of decedent cannot be a party to an action without some representative,⁹⁰ and hence a grant of administration frequently becomes necessary for the purpose of providing a party to an action in which the estate is interested.⁹¹ Nevertheless, the fact that property in which decedent was interested is concerned in litigation does not always render it necessary to appoint a personal representative of decedent to appear therein.⁹²

e. Effect of Liability to Inheritance Tax

Administration may or may not be necessary for inheritance tax purposes.

Although a formal administration of an estate by probate proceedings has been held unnecessary to determine the amount of an inheritance tax due from such estate,⁹³ it has been also held that a statute providing for collateral inheritance taxes contemplates that an estate must be duly administered where collateral heirs are entitled to distribution, regardless of whether or not there are any debts owing by the estate.⁹⁴

f. Small Estates

Although the right to administration does not depend on the size or value of the estate, it is sometimes unnecessary to administer small estates.

The right to administer on the estate of deceased person does not depend on the size of the estate or the value thereof.⁹⁵ However, under some statutes administration is unnecessary where the estate of decedent does not exceed a specified amount,⁹⁶ and even independent of statute, it has been held that where the estate was not sufficient to defray the expenses of administration,⁹⁷ or the cost of burial of deceased,⁹⁸ it was not necessary to have an administrator appointed. A fortiori, where decedent left no estate, there is no necessity for administration.⁹⁹

§ 6. — Existence of Debts

- a. In general
- b. Character, amount, and number of debts
- c. Effect of absence of debts

a. In General

Administration is usually necessary where decedent left unpaid debts and property available to pay them.

Administration is usually necessary where a person dies leaving unpaid debts and property which may be made available to pay them,¹ and the mere ⁸⁹. Miss.—Wood v. Ford, 29 Miss. 57.

Jurisdiction in equity to administer estates see Equity § 61.

⁹⁰. Ga.—Knight's Pharmacy Co. v. McCall, 183 S.E. 497, 181 Ga. 617.

Ind.—Guernsey v. Pennington, 70 N.E. 1008, 33 Ind.App. 119.

⁹¹. Ind.—Loffin v. Johnson, 24 N.E. 2d 916, 216 Ind. 537.

Kan.—Hotchkiss v. Ogle, 109 P.2d 134, 137, 153 Kan. 156, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Faulkner v. Reed, Com.App., 241 S.W. 1002, reversing, Civ.App., 229 S.W. 945—Denton v. Meador, Civ.App., 268 S.W. 762.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 76.

Effect on estate's right to move for dismissal

Order directing administration of estate of deceased defendant was without prejudice to right of estate to move to dismiss suit for laches in prosecution.—In re Beach's Estate, 149 A. 492, 299 Pa. 293.

⁹². N.H.—Jones v. Herbert, 90 A. 854, 77 N.H. 282.

Tenn.—Crabb v. Cole, 84 S.W.2d 597, 19 Tenn.App. 201.

Tex.—Cook v. Baker, Com.App., 45 S.W.2d 161, reversing, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 893—Williams v. Tooke, Civ.App., 116 S.W.2d 1114, error dismissed—Pitts v. Thompson, Civ. App., 71 S.W.2d 368, error dismissed.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 77.

⁹³. La.—Succession of Watkins, 101 So. 395, 156 La. 1000.

Wash.—In re Lambrecht's Estate, 192 P. 1018, 112 Wash. 645.

⁹⁴. Me.—Whiting v. Farnsworth, 81 A. 214, 108 Me. 384.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 78.

⁹⁵. Ill.—In re Trost's Estate, 10 N.E.2d 857, 292 Ill.App. 60.

⁹⁶. N.J.—Romano v. Brown, 15 A.2d 818, 125 N.J.Law 293.

24 C.J. p 241 note 28.

Allowance to surviving spouse or children see infra § 333.

Construction of provision of banking law

Provision of Banking Law giving savings bank right to pay deposit not exceeding five hundred dollars, without administration, to husband, next of kin, funeral director, or other creditor who may appear to be entitled thereto, must be strictly construed.—Goldsmith v. Buffalo Sav. Bank, 282 N.Y.S. 783, 156 Misc. 889.

Deductions from estate of payments made by heir

An heir may not, after voluntarily paying ordinary obligations of deceased, claim the amounts of such payments, and thus reduce value of estate so as to entitle such heir to a summary distribution of the estate under exemptions allowed by statute, without the probate court assuming jurisdiction.—Columbia Trust Co. v. Anglum, 225 P. 1089, 63 Utah 353.

⁹⁷. La.—Soubiran v. Rivollet, 4 La. Ann. 328.

⁹⁸. Ill.—Van Meter v. Illinois Merchants' Trust Co., 239 Ill.App. 618.

⁹⁹. Ky.—Webb v. Trimble, 136 S.W. 870, 143 Ky. 375.

N.Y.—Roughan v. Chenango Valley Sav. Bank, 144 N.Y.S. 508, 158 App. Div. 786, affirmed 110 N.E. 1049, 216 N.Y. 696.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 3.

1. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

Ky.—Sowle v. Potter, 3 S.W.2d 174, 223 Ky. 136.

La.—Succession of Harris, 121 So. 740, 168 La. 191—Keith v. Lee, 127 So. 139, 13 La.App. 309.

Pa.—In re Martin's Estate, 19 Wash. Co. 122.

S.C.—Mitchell v. Dreher, 147 S.E. 646, 150 S.C. 125.

Tex.—Cook v. Baker, Com.App., 45 S.W.2d 161, reversing, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 898—Michigan Trust Co. v.

fact that there may be debts has been considered sufficient to render administration proper.² Where a person claiming to be a creditor of the estate applies for the appointment of an administrator, it is not necessary that he should conclusively prove the existence of the alleged debt, but if he makes a prima facie case this is sufficient to authorize and require the appointment of an administrator.³ In such case administration is necessary to protect the rights of creditors, for a creditor has no right to collect a debt due to the estate from another person and apply it on his own demand;⁴ and where there has been no administration, he cannot maintain an action against the estate of the debtor,⁵ nor can he ordinarily sue the heirs of decedent.⁶

b. Character, Amount, and Number of Debts

The debt forming the basis of a grant of administration must be a legal claim on the deceased or his estate, but the amount or number of debts does not generally affect the right to administration.

In order for an alleged debt to form the basis of a grant of administration it must be a legal claim on deceased or his estate.⁷ The fact that decedent's indebtedness is small does not render administration unnecessary;⁸ and where there is a single debt, the power to appoint an administrator exists,⁹ although refusal to do so in such case has been held not error.¹⁰

c. Effect of Absence of Debts

Administration may be granted although the estate is not indebted, but the absence of debts may render administration unnecessary.

While the power to grant administration is not restricted to cases in which the estate is indebted,¹¹ the absence of debts may render administration unnecessary,¹² it being considered, as shown supra §

Turney, Civ.App., 36 S.W.2d 787, error refused—Ferguson v. Mounts, Civ.App., 281 S.W. 616.
23 C.J. p 999 note 40.

Subsequent payment

For widow to sue under statute as personal representative of estate of husband leaving no lineal descendants, estate must be free from debts, and debts against estate defeats suit even though debts are subsequently paid.—Phillips v. Phillips, 137 S.E. 561, 163 Ga. 899.

Good faith of creditor

Trust company, named as coexecutor, to whom testator owed debt, could demand administration for purpose of collecting debt but not merely to earn executor's fees.—Martin v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 159 N.E. 312, 327 Ill. 622.

Devise to trustee with power to manage

That testator devised estate to trustee, with power to manage and limited power of disposition, does not oust probate court's jurisdiction to administer nonresident decedent's estate and pay its debts.—Michigan Trust Co. v. Turney, Tex.Civ.App., 36 S.W.2d 787, error refused.

2. S.C.—Cobb v. Brown, 17 S.C.Eq. 564.

Wash.—In re Collins, 173 P. 1016, 102 Wash. 697.

23 C.J. p 999 note 41.

3. Ga.—Conyers v. Bruce, 34 S.E. 279, 109 Ga. 190.

Ill.—In re McWhirter, 85 N.E. 918, 235 Ill. 607.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 42.

"One asserting a claim against an estate has the right to demand an administration so that his claim may be litigated even though it be defeated."—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 823, 214 Ind. 679.

4. Tex.—Cook v. Jordan, 21 Tex. 221.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 44.

5. Ga.—Knight's Pharmacy Co. v. McCall, 183 S.E. 497, 181 Ga. 617.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 45.

6. Ind.—Leonard v. Blair, 59 Ind. 510.

Mass.—Royce v. Burrell, 12 Mass. 395.

Right of action against heirs and distributees for debts of decedent see Descent and Distribution § 132.

7. Ga.—Summerlin v. Rabb, 31 S.W. 711, 11 Tex.Civ.App. 53.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 47.

Balance unpaid on mortgage debt, after application of credit resulting from foreclosure sale, was such a debt as gave mortgagee the right to provoke or bring about administration of mortgagor's succession.—Milburn v. Proctor Trust Co., D.C.La., 32 F.Supp. 635.

Cause of action for injuries

One claiming damages from nonresident's estate for personal injuries in automobile accident was a "creditor" so as to authorize appointment of administrator.—Furst v. Brady, 31 N.E.2d 606, 375 Ill. 425, 133 A.L.R. 558, reversing In re Brady's Estate, 24 N.E.2d 748, 303 Ill. App. 139.

8. Tex.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ. App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused—Rye v. J. M. Guffey Petroleum Co., 95 S.W. 622, 42 Tex.Civ.App., 185.

9. Ind.—Holtz v. Mercantile Trust & Savings Co., 100 N.E. 398, 53 Ind.App. 194.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 49.

10. Tex.—Rogers v. Barbee, Civ. App., 32 S.W.2d 666.

11. Ala.—Ex parte Cone, 145 So. 571, 226 Ala. 64.

Ill.—Robertson v. Yager, 158 N.E. 709, 327 Ill. 346.

Kan.—Hotchkiss v. Ogle, 109 P.2d 134, 153 Kan. 156.

Ky.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Barrett, 111 S.W.2d 631, 271 Ky. 163.

Tex.—Ferguson v. Mounts, Civ.App., 281 S.W. 616—Wallace v. Dubose, Civ.App., 242 S.W. 351.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 50.

12. U.S.—Title Guaranty & Surety Co. v. State of Missouri, C.C.A. Mo., 105 F.2d 496, 527, citing Corpus Juris—Fairchild v. Lohman, D.C.Mo., 13 F.2d 252.

Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

Ga.—Phillips v. Phillips, 137 S.E. 561, 163 Ga. 899.

Ill.—People v. Strom's Estate, 2 N.E.2d 94, 363 Ill. 241.

Ind.—Reed v. Reed, 14 N.E.2d 320, 105 Ind.App. 185.

Iowa.—Heinz v. Vawter, 266 N.W. 486, 221 Iowa 714.

La.—Succession of Davis, 168 So. 118, 184 La. 969—Crump v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 162 So. 800, 183 La. 55, annulling, App., 156 So. 35, followed in Thomas v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 156 So. 38, annulled 162 So. 799, 183 La. 53.

Mo.—Marshall v. Motten, App., 224 S.W. 8.

Ohio.—In re Heintz' Estate, App., 38 N.E.2d 431, 434, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—In re Railsback's Estate, 49 P.2d 934, 184 Wash. 42—In re Peterson's Estate, 241 P. 964, 137 Wash. 137.

23 C.J. p 1000 note 51.

Presumption of payment or bar

On petition for appointment of administrator more than eight years after decedent's death, it will be presumed, in the absence of showing to the contrary, that debts against 5 c, that in such case the heirs may properly take possession of the assets and make a division among themselves in kind or otherwise by mutual agreement.

§ 7. — Effect of Lapse of Time

A long lapse of time since the death of the decedent without administration may raise a presumption against the necessity for administration.

In some states there are statutes providing that administration shall not be granted after a certain time from the death of decedent,¹³ and where the statutory period has elapsed, it will be conclusively presumed that no administration was necessary.¹⁴

Even in the absence of statute a long lapse of time since the death of decedent without administration may raise a presumption against the necessity for any administration,¹⁵ and a claim that there is a necessity for administration may be waived by delay in making it.¹⁶ However, a grant of administration which is not prohibited by statute cannot be considered void merely because a number of years elapsed between the death of decedent and the issuance of the letters.¹⁷

Where no administration has been granted, and the time within which it might be granted has expired, the personal property of decedent passes to his distributees as of the date of his death.¹⁸

§ 8. — Estates of Particular Classes of Persons

a. In general

b. Husband and wife

a. In General

The estate of an infant is subject to administration in a proper case. It has been both asserted and denied that state courts have power to administer on the estate of a deceased Indian.

The power of a state court to issue letters of administration on the estate of a deceased Indian has been both asserted¹⁹ and denied.²⁰

Infants. Although, as shown in the C.J.S. title Wills § 8, also 68 C.J. p 419 notes 16-19, an infant is incapable of making a will, the estate of an infant is subject to administration in a proper case.²¹ As there is, however, no presumption that an infant had any creditors, it is considered by many authorities that administration on the estate of an infant is unnecessary²² where it does not affirmatively appear that there are any debts which properly constitute a charge on his estate.²³

b. Husband and Wife

The estate of a married person is subject to administration the same as any other estate, although administration is sometimes dispensed with.

As there is no presumption against a married woman having contracted debts during her lifetime, her estate is, as a general rule, subject to administration the same as any other estate.²⁴ However, under the community property system obtaining in some jurisdictions, on the dissolution of the community by death the survivor or the surviving husband has a right to administer the community property for the payment of community debts without any supervision of the probate court, as is discussed in the C.J.S. title Husband and Wife § 574, also 31 C.J. p 197 notes 80-86.

The statutes sometimes dispense with administration on the estate of a married person who dies the estate have been paid or are barred by the statute of limitations.—Faulkner v. Faulkner, 203 P. 560, 23 Ariz. 313.

Extinction by inheritance

Where widow inherited husband's estate, existence of debt by community estate to husband's separate estate was not ground for appointment of administrator, since the debt was extinguished by being inherited by sole heir.—Succession of Watkins, 101 So. 395, 156 La. 1000.

12. Conn.—Colburn's Appeal, 56 A. 608, 76 Conn. 378.

Iowa.—Cummings v. Lynn, 96 N.W. 857, 121 Iowa 344.

Pa.—In re Treat's Estate, 23 Erie Co. 43.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 80.

Time for application for administration see infra § 52.

Lapse of period fixed for order of right to make application for letters of administration is no obstacle to appointment of administrator by court.—Andrew v. Dunn, 210 N.W. 425, 202 Iowa 364.

14. Tex.—Tunnell v. Moore, Civ. App., 53 S.W.2d 324, affirmed Pure Oil Co. v. Tunnell, 86 S.W.2d 207, 126 Tex. 57.

15. Ariz.—Faulkner v. Faulkner, 203 P. 560, 561, 23 Ariz. 313, citing Corpus Juris.

Mo.—Marshall v. Motten, App., 224 S.W. 8.

23 C.J. p 1003 note 81.

16. Ill.—Jespersen v. Mech, 72 N.E. 1114, 213 Ill. 488.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 82.

17. Twenty years

Ga.—Gorham v. Montfort, 72 S.E. 893, 137 Ga. 134.

18. Iowa.—In re Acken, 123 N.W. 187, 144 Iowa 519, Ann.Cas.1912A 1166.

Time when personalty vests in distributees see Descent and Distribution § 67.

19. Ala.—Reed v. Brasher, 9 Port. 438.

20. U.S.—U. S. v. Payne, C.C.Kan., 27 F.Cas.No.16,014, 4 Dill. 387.

N.Y.—Dole v. Irish, 2 Barb. 639.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 98.

21. Fla.—Bowden v. Jacksonville Electric Co., 41 So. 400, 51 Fla. 152, 7 Ann.Cas. 859.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 93.

22. Ill.—McCleary v. Menke, 109 Ill. 294.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 94.

23. Ala.—Campbell v. Conner, 42 Ala. 131.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 95.

24. Mo.—Locke v. McPherson, 63 S.W. 726, 163 Mo. 493, 85 Am.S.R. 546, 53 L.R.A. 420.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 85.

leaving his or her wife or husband as sole heir,²⁵ in case there are no debts,²⁶ or, if there are debts, in case the heir will pay them.²⁷ In a case where testator's widow was the sole legatee, and all debts and expenses had been paid, it was held that there need be no administration of the estate.²⁸ Administration is also regarded as unnecessary where the entire estate does not exceed the amount allowed by statute to the surviving spouse.²⁹

§ 9. — Determination as to Necessity

The necessity for administration is to be determined by the probate court in the exercise of its discretion.

It may be stated generally that the question of necessity for administration is one for the court having probate jurisdiction,³⁰ and it appears to be a matter resting largely in the discretion of the court, especially where there are no debts, whether an administration shall be had or the estate awarded to the persons entitled to it without any administration;³¹ nor does the jurisdiction of the court to determine the question depend on the existence of assets of the estate.³² It cannot be regarded as necessary that there should be an administration of an estate unless this is demanded by a creditor or a person beneficially interested.³³ The necessity for an administration should be determined as of the time of the hearing on the application therefor.³⁴

In Philippines liquidation of the conjugal partnership after the wife's death must take place in a different proceeding from the administration of her estate.—Matter of Amancio, 13 Philippine 297—40 C.J. p 1481 note 95.

25. Ga.—Owens v. Oliver, 97 S.E. 856, 148 Ga. 675.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 87.

26. Ga.—McElhaney v. Crawford, 22 S.E. 895, 96 Ga. 174.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 88.

27. Ga.—McElhaney v. Crawford, supra.

23 C.J. p 1004 note 89.

28. Ind.—Block v. Butt, 84 N.E. 357, 41 Ind.App. 487.

29. Mo.—Parson v. Harvey, App., 195 S.W. 530.

30. La.—Vuillemont v. Gonsulin, 134 So. 419, 17 La.App. 661.

Okl.—Stock v. Sentinel Rural & Long Distance Tel. Co., 87 P.2d 656, 657, 184 Okl. 380, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Becknal v. Becknal, Civ.App., 296 S.W. 917.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court of State of Washington for Spokane County, 275 P. 694, 151 Wash. 289.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 4.

Matters to be considered

In determining the necessity for an administration, courts will take into consideration all the duties which under the prevailing laws an administrator is required to perform, and all the rights to be secured by an administration.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Tex.Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.

31. La.—Succession of Comeau, 104 So. 119, 158 La. 370—Vuillemont v. Gonsulin, 134 So. 419, 17 La.App. 661—Keith v. Lee, 127 So. 139, 13 La.App. 309.

Okl.—In re Carter's Estate, 240 P. 727, 113 Okl. 182.

Pa.—In re Beach's Estate, 149 A. 492, 299 Pa. 293.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 5.

Finding that there were no creditors of estate could not be made until statutory period for filing claims had expired.—Furst v. Brady, 31 N.E.2d 606, 375 Ill. 425, 133 A.L.R. 558, reversing In re Brady's Estate, 24 N.E.2d 748, 303 Ill.App. 189.

32. Okl.—Stock v. Sentinel Rural & Long Distance Telephone Co., 87 P.2d 656, 184 Okl. 380.

Existence of assets as jurisdictional requisite generally see infra § 17.

33. Ohio.—In re Heints' Estate, 38 N.E.2d 431, 434, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 6.

§ 10. Intermeddling in Administration

Executors de son tort are treated infra §§ 1063–1068.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 11. Withholding or Withdrawing Estate from Administration

An estate may be withheld from administration by the terms of the testator's will or withdrawn from administration by the heirs on giving bond for the payment of the debts of the decedent.

In some states, as shown infra §§ 1056–1062, by authority of statutes a testator is empowered, by provisions to that effect in his will, to withhold the settlement of his estate from the probate court; and in a case where a testator explicitly declared in his will that the executors named should not assume or exercise any duties as such until after the death of his widow to whom he gave the use of his property for life with the right to use the principal of the personalty if she chose and there were no creditors, it was held that the children to whom the property was given after the widow's death could not compel the executors to assume any functions during the widow's life.³⁵ The heirs may, when permitted by statute, withdraw the estate from administration by giving bond for the payment of the debts of decedent,³⁶ and, as shown supra § 5 c, 34. Tex.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ. App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

35. Pa.—Lininger's Appeal, 101 Pa. 161.

36. Pa.—In re Martin's Estate, 19 Wash.Co. 122.

Wash.—Fulmer v. Gable, 132 P. 641, 73 Wash. 684.

23 C.J. p 1005 note 9.

Payment or nonexistence of debts as rendering administration unnecessary see supra §§ 5, 6.

Estoppel

Where family agreement was entered into between administratrix and three sons of deceased under which estate was to be handled outside of the probate court and administratrix was to settle claims without filing or approval thereof, and to use insurance money for payment of debts and for her own support and maintenance, son who participated in the benefits both directly and indirectly and advised administratrix in carrying out the family agreement, with full knowledge of the manner in which the assets were handled, was precluded by an estoppel in pais from objecting to settlement, although administratrix failed to comply with statute in settling the affairs of the estate.—In re Helm's Estate, Mo.App., 136 S.W.2d 421.

where the heir or heirs have paid all of the debts, and no question of distribution arises, there is no necessity for administration. A creditor can collect a claim against the estate although there is no administrator or executor where the estate is withdrawn from administration.³⁷

Liability of sureties. Sureties on the bond of an heir given for the purpose of withdrawing the estate from administration under the statute are liable for all the unpaid debts of the estate, and their liability is not limited by the assets of the estate or to the share of the estate to which the heir whose sureties they are is personally entitled on distribution.³⁸

Defense in action on withdrawal bond. In an action brought by a creditor against one of the heirs, and his sureties on a bond given for the purpose of withdrawing the estate from administration, such heir cannot be heard to say in defense that the bond is invalid because an inventory and list of claims have not been returned.³⁹

§ 12. Nature of Administration Proceedings

An administration proceeding is not a civil action but is a probate proceeding, statutory in origin. In its most important bearing it is a proceeding in rem.

A proceeding for the settlement of a decedent's estate is a probate proceeding.⁴⁰ Such a proceeding is not a civil action;⁴¹ it is not an action at law or a suit in equity.⁴² While the proceeding is in some respects in personam, it is in its most important bearing a proceeding in rem.⁴³

The administration of decedent's estate is purely statutory, and the procedure outlined in the statutes is controlling,⁴⁴ and unless authorized by statute two or more separate estates may not be administered jointly.⁴⁵ The administration is one indivisible judicial proceeding from the order appointing the administrator until his discharge.⁴⁶

Guardian of minor heirs

Judgment of district court on the minutes on appeal from order of probate court appointing guardian for minor heirs, denying application of applicant to be appointed guardian, but not confirming appointment of appellee, is insufficient to sustain a judgment ordering the estate withdrawn from administration. That application of guardian of minor heirs for withdrawal of estate from administration did not state that applicant was guardian of estates as well as persons of minors did not deprive county court of jurisdiction to determine whether estate should be withdrawn, and to whom it should be delivered, if withdrawn, applicant having executed bond required by statute.—Drew v. Jarvis, 216 S.W. 618, 110 Tex. 136.

37. Tex.—Cook v. Baker, Com.App., 45 S.W.2d 161, reversing, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 893.

Allowance and payment of claims generally see infra §§ 367-481.

38. Tex.—Thomas v. Bonnie, 2 S.W. 724, 66 Tex. 635.

39. Tex.—Thomas v. Bonnie, supra.

40. Okl.—Boyes' Estate v. Boyes, 87 P.2d 1102, 184 Okl. 438.

41. Cal.—In re Raymond's Estate, 100 P.2d 1085, 38 Cal.App.2d 305.

42. Okl.—Boyes' Estate v. Boyes, 87 P.2d 1102, 184 Okl. 438.

43. Ala.—Nelson v. Boynton, 54 Ala. 368.

Cal.—Murray v. Superior Court of California in and for Marin County, 278 P. 1033, 207 Cal. 381.—In re Raymond's Estate, 100 P.2d 1085, 38 Cal.App.2d 305.

Ga.—Robinson v. Halsten, 11 S.E.2d 802, 63 Ga.App. 676.

Iowa.—Gibbs v. Beckett, 295 N.W. 165, 167, 229 Iowa 619, citing Corpus Juris—Van Iperen v. Hays, 259 N.W. 448, 219 Iowa 715.

Mass.—Anderson v. Qualey, 103 N.E. 90, 216 Mass. 106.

Minn.—Finnerty v. Gerlach, 223 N.W. 683, 176 Minn. 433—Fridley v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Sav. Bank, 162 N.W. 454, 136 Minn. 333, L.R.A. 1917E 544—Hutchins v. St. Paul M. & M. R. Co., 46 N.W. 79, 44 Minn. 5.

Miss.—Steen v. Steen, 25 Miss. 513.

Neb.—Nilson v. Tekamah Inv. Co., 274 N.W. 465, 133 Neb. 180.

N.J.—Buckley v. Howard Sav. Inst., 186 A. 52, 14 N.J.Misc. 620.

N.Y.—Roseman v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 277 N.Y.S. 471, 154 Misc. 320—Matter of Leland, 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419, reversed on other grounds 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62.

Tex.—Commander v. Bryan, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 1008—Dunaway v. Easter, Civ.App., 119 S.W.2d 421, reversed on other grounds 129 S.W.2d 286, 133 Tex. 309.

Va.—Denny v. Searles, 143 S.E. 484, 150 Va. 701.

Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P.2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L.R. 1220—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

Wis.—In re Mathews' Will, 223 N.W. 434, 198 Wis. 128.—In re Sipchen's Estate, 193 N.W. 385, 180 Wis. 504.

23 C.J. p 1006 note 14.

"In the particular that the grant of letters creates a repository of the abeyed title of the deceased owner of personal property, it operates upon the status, the thing, and is, hence, a proceeding in rem. . . . But in the aspect that the grant of letters of administration determines the right thereto . . . the proceeding is in personam."—White v. Hill, 58 So. 444, 446, 176 Ala. 480. Probate of will as proceeding in rem see the C.J.S. title Wills § 308, also 68 C.J. p 874 note 14.

44. Cal.—Perry v. Superior Court in and for Marin County, 84 P.2d 250, 29 Cal.App.2d 114.

Iowa.—In re Rugh's Estate, 234 N.W. 278, 211 Iowa 722.

S.C.—Seabury v. Green, 175 S.E. 639, 173 S.C. 235, certiorari granted 55 S.Ct. 143, 293 U.S. 549, 79 L.Ed. 652, reversed on other grounds 55 S.Ct. 373, 294 U.S. 165, 79 L.Ed. 834, 96 A.L.R. 1463.

Tex.—White v. Baker, Civ.App., 118 S.W.2d 319—Morrell v. Hamlett, Civ.App., 24 S.W.2d 531, error refused.

Wis.—In re Robinson's Will, 261 N.W. 725, 218 Wis. 596.

Statutory jurisdiction of court see infra § 13.

Construction of statutes

The administration of estates being wholly statutory, the court may construe the statutes so as to best accord with their purpose and spirit, without regard to the rigid rules of the common law.—In re Langill's Estate, 201 P. 28, 117 Wash. 268.

45. Ga.—Robinson v. Halsten, 11 S.E.2d 802, 63 Ga.App. 676.

Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

46. Cal.—In re Dobbins' Estate, 97 P.2d 1051, 36 Cal.App.2d 536.

§ 13. Jurisdiction

The states have exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of decedent's estates; the jurisdiction of the courts with respect to letters testamentary or of administration is purely statutory.

The jurisdiction of the courts with respect to letters testamentary or of administration is purely statutory,⁴⁷ and can be exercised only in the cases provided for⁴⁸ and in the manner prescribed⁴⁹ by the controlling statutes. In the grant of letters testamentary and of administration, the probate court is a court of general jurisdiction;⁵⁰ and in the conduct of estates the courts have a wide discretion.⁵¹

Exclusive jurisdiction of states. The general subject of the settlement of estates of deceased persons is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the state,⁵² and, as shown in the C.J.S. titles Equity § 61a, and Federal Courts § 12, also 25 C.J. p 695 notes 6-11, the United States courts have no constitutional jurisdiction to affirm or set aside the probate of a will in the proper state forum, or to disturb or interfere with the due administration of an estate under state probate direction, although an equitable jurisdiction of United States courts, incidental to the enforcement of trusts, the construction of wills, or other matters, is recognized.

§ 14. — Particular Courts or Officers

Statutory regulations determine what particular courts or officers have jurisdiction to administer decedent's estate. In the absence of statutory authorization courts of equity are without jurisdiction.

As shown supra § 13, the power to grant letters testamentary or of administration on decedent's estate is purely statutory, and in determining what particular courts have jurisdiction in the administration of estates, the statute regulating such matters in the particular jurisdiction must govern.⁵³ In

47. Idaho.—Russell v. Bow, 295 P. 437, 50 Idaho 264.

Ind.—Chicago I. & L. Ry. Co. v. Hemstock, 4 N.E.2d 677, 102 Ind. App. 654, followed in 5 N.E.2d 1010, 103 Ind.App. 705.

Wash.—In re Guye, 103 P. 25, 54 Wash. 264, 132 Am.S.R. 1111.

Wis.—In re Robinson's Will, 261 N. W. 725, 218 Wis. 596.

Jurisdiction of proceedings to probate will see the C.J.S. title Wills §§ 351-353, also 68 C.J. p 937 note 92-p 942 note 37.

Action under Confederate authority

(1) The probate of a will, and qualification of executors or the appointment of administrators by a probate court of one of the Confederate States during the Civil War, cannot be regarded by the courts of the same state after the close of the war as the acts of a foreign court, but such acts are in every respect legal and binding.—Nelson v. Boynton, 54 Ala. 368—23 C.J. p 1018 note 13.

(2) Letters of administration issued by a clerk of probate under the authority of a Confederate state constitution, after it had been superseded by a new and valid one, are null and void.—Page v. Cook, 26 Ark. 122.

48. Ill.—In re Panico's Estate, 268 Ill.App. 585.

Ind.—Chicago, I. & L. Ry. Co. v. Hemstock, 4 N.E.2d 677, 102 Ind. App. 654, followed in 5 N.E.2d 1010, 103 Ind.App. 705.

Mo.—State ex rel. Pryor v. Anderson, App., 112 S.W.2d 857, mandamus quashed 123 S.W.2d 181, 343 Mo. 895.

N.M.—Baca v. Buel, 210 P. 571, 28 N.M. 225.

49. Appointment contrary to exclusive method

Although jurisdiction over subject matter of estate authorized appointment by superior court of an administrator, where statutory provisions provided exclusive method for exercise of such authority, an appointment contrary to applicable statute would be in excess of court's "jurisdiction."—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

Inquiry as to jurisdiction

Jurisdiction of county court, in which administration on decedent's estate has been properly opened, attaches for purposes thereof, and inquiry respecting subsequent proceedings therein is merely whether court exceeded authority.—Kreis v. Kreis, Tex.Civ.App., 36 S.W.2d 821, error dismissed.

50. Ala.—Peek v. Haardt, 177 So. 634, 235 Ala. 145, 113 A.L.R. 1395—Smith v. Smith, 103 So. 557, 212 Ala. 522.

Ga.—Scarborough v. Long, 197 S.E. 796, 186 Ga. 412, certiorari denied 59 S.Ct. 107, 305 U.S. 637, 83 L.Ed. 410—Smith v. Scarborough, 185 S. E. 105, 182 Ga. 157.

Idaho.—Kline v. Shoup, 226 P. 729, 38 Idaho 202.

Ill.—People, for Use of Stough, v. Danforth, 12 N.E.2d 227, 293 Ill. App. 280.

Iowa.—In re Klaviv's Estate, 176 N. W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

"The probate court has general supervision of all estates."—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 785, 194 Wash. 219.

Entire and exclusive jurisdiction

U.S.—Cole v. Franklin Life Ins. Co., C.C.A.Tex., 93 F.2d 620.

Plenary jurisdiction

Wis.—In re Robinson's Will, 261 N. W. 725, 218 Wis. 596.

Conformity to statute

While probate court is court of general jurisdiction in matters of administration of estates, and as such may exercise certain equitable powers, it must administer estates in accordance with provisions of statute.—In re Grant's Estate, 20 N. E.2d 817, 300 Ill.App. 179.

Effect of escheat statute

Escheat statute did not curtail jurisdiction of probate court in respect of claims against estate and costs and expenses of administration.—In re Anderson's Estate, 71 P.2d 1013, 157 Or. 365.

On appeals from probate court to the circuit court, the circuit court has the same jurisdiction in the settlement of estates as the probate court has.—People, for Use of Stough, v. Danforth, 12 N.E.2d 227, 293 Ill.App. 280.

51. Utah.—In re Robison's Estate, 204 P. 321, 59 Utah 431.

52. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 162 N.E. 217, 263 Mass. 444, modified on other grounds Ex parte Worcester County Nat. Bank, 49 S.Ct. 368, 279 U.S. 347, 73 L.Ed. 733, 61 A.L.R. 98.

53. U.S.—Bacon v. Federal Land Bank of Columbia, C.C.A.Ga., 109 F.2d 285—Cuff v. U. S., C.C.A.Cal., 64 F.2d 624, certiorari denied 54 S.Ct. 96, 290 U.S. 676, 78 L.Ed. 583. Ga.—Stevens v. First Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 160 S.E. 243, 173 Ga. 332, certiorari denied First Nat. Bank & Trust Co. in Macon v. Stevens, 52 S.Ct. 201, 284 U.S. 684, 76 L.Ed. 578.

Ill.—Kerner v. Peterson, 12 N.E.2d some states the clerk of the court having probate jurisdiction has power to appoint an administrator during a vacation or recess of the regular sessions of such court⁵⁴ or where there is no contest.⁵⁵

The institution of a suit to partition the lands of decedent, thereby bringing such lands within the jurisdiction of the court in which the suit is brought, does not preclude the probate court from granting letters of administration on the personal estate of decedent.⁵⁶

Courts of equity. In the absence of statute, courts of equity are without jurisdiction to appoint executors or administrators, or their successors,⁵⁷ and a creditor, legatee, or distributee must, if such course is open to him, apply to the probate court for the appointment of an executor or administrator, and cannot resort to chancery in the first instance.⁵⁸ Some decisions, however, recognize the right of a creditor, legatee, or distributee, to resort to equity in the absence of an executor or administrator.⁵⁹

§ 15. — Jurisdictional Requisites in General

The probate court is authorized to determine whether the fundamental jurisdictional facts essential to the administration of a decedent's estate exist; and included among such facts is the erstwhile legal existence of the alleged decedent. The venue as fixed by statute is jurisdictional.

The probate court has the right to investigate and determine the existence of fundamental jurisdictional facts essential to the administration of a decedent's estate.⁶⁰ It is a requisite to the appointment of an administrator of a person alleged to be deceased that such person shall have had a legal existence;⁶¹ hence there can be no administrator appointed for the estate of an unborn child.⁶² Other jurisdictional requisites are treated infra §§ 16-20. Intestacy as a requisite to the appointment of an administrator is considered infra § 30.

The venue as fixed by statute is jurisdictional.⁶³

§ 16. — Fact of Death

Death of the person on whose estate administration is sought is a jurisdictional requisite; and while the presumption of death arising from absence may present a prima facie case sufficient to warrant a grant of administration, yet if it subsequently develops that such person was in fact alive, the administration is void.

It is absolutely essential to jurisdiction of the administration of an estate that the person on whose estate such administration is granted shall be dead.⁶⁴ Any administration on the estate of a living person is void.⁶⁵

884, 368 Ill. 59—Healea v. Verne, 175 N.E. 562, 343 Ill. 325.

Iowa.—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Kan.—Citizens Building & Loan Ass'n v. Knox, 74 P.2d 161, 146 Kan. 734.

Ky.—Big Sandy & C. R. Co. v. Measell's Adm'r, 42 S.W.2d 747, 240 Ky. 571.

Ohio.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. v. Wolfe, 126 N.E. 414, 100 Ohio St. 332.

Okl.—Secrest v. Secrest, 294 P. 91, 146 Okl. 235.

Pa.—Wolfe v. Lewisburg Trust & Safe Deposit Co., 158 A. 567, 305 Pa. 583, 81 A.L.R. 660—In re Wood, 16 Pa.Dist. & Co. 405—In re Martin's Estate, 19 Wash.Co. 122.

Tex.—St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smitha, 232 S.W. 494, 111 Tex. 285, affirming, Civ. App., 190 S.W. 237.

Wash.—In re Mundt Estates, 14 P.2d 59, 169 Wash. 593.

Wis.—In re Robinson's Will, 261 N.W. 725, 218 Wis. 596.

23 C.J. p 1006 note 19.

Order of county judge pro tempore, appointing administratrix, held valid

Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Bays' Adm'r, 295 S.W. 452, 220 Ky. 458.

54. Minn.—Drake v. Sigafos, 40 N.W. 257, 39 Minn. 367.

23 C.J. p 1006 note 20.

55. Iowa.—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

56. Mo.—Stevens v. Larwill, 84 S.W. 113, 110 Mo. 140.

57. U.S.—Bacon v. Federal Land Bank of Columbia, C.C.A.Ga., 109 F.2d 285.

Ga.—Goff v. First Nat. Bank, 153 S.E. 767, 170 Ga. 691.

S.C.—Campbell v. Charleston Bank, 3 S.C. 384.

58. Ill.—Houston v. Maddux, 53 N.E. 599, 179 Ill. 377, reversing 73 Ill.App. 203.

21 C.J. p 129 note 12.

59. Ky.—Shannon v. Dillon, 8 B.Mon. 389, 48 Am.D. 394.

21 C.J. p 129 note 13.

60. Ala.—Peek v. Haardt, 177 So. 634, 235 Ala. 145, 113 A.L.R. 1395.

23 C.J. p 1010 note 47.

Determination of jurisdictional question of residence or domicile see infra § 18.

61. N.Y.—In re Roberts' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 476, 158 Misc. 698.

62. N.Y.—In re Roberts' Estate, supra.

Infant dead when delivered

Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So.2d 4, 241 Ala. 626.

Mother killed before birth of child

N.Y.—In re Roberts' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 476, 158 Misc. 698.

63. Tex.—White v. Baker, Civ.App., 118 S.W.2d 319.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court of

State of Washington for Spokane County, 275 P. 694, 151 Wash. 289.

64. Ga.—National Surety Co. v. Wages, 173 S.E. 451, 48 Ga.App. 720, affirmed Wages v. National Surety Co., 179 S.E. 761, 180 Ga. 574—Bank of Jonesboro v. Wilson, 160 S.E. 653, 654, 43 Ga.App. 839, quoting Corpus Juris.

Kan.—Withers v. Root, 73 P.2d 1113, 1115, 146 Kan. 822, quoting Corpus Juris.

Minn.—Bornemann v. Ofsthun, 221 N.W. 876, 175 Minn. 493.

N.Y.—In re Wyllie's Estate, 236 N.Y.S. 370, 134 Misc. 715.

N.C.—Chamblee v. Security Nat. Bank, 188 S.E. 632, 211 N.C. 48.

Tex.—Pollock v. Wuntch, Civ.App., 116 S.W.2d 796.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

Wash.—State ex rel. Brisbin v. Frater, 95 P.2d 27, 1 Wash.2d 13.

Wis.—In re Ott's Estate, 279 N.W. 618, 228 Wis. 482.

23 C.J. p 1007 note 24.

Production of body is not required to prove death in a civil matter, such as the appointment of an administrator.—Philpott v. Vesta Coal Co., D.C.Pa., 21 F.Supp. 37.

65. Ga.—Bank of Jonesboro v. Wilson, 160 S.E. 653, 654, 43 Ga.App. 839, quoting Corpus Juris.

Kan.—Withers v. Root, 73 P.2d 1113, 1115, 146 Kan. 822, quoting Corpus Juris.

While it is true that the presumption of death arising from a person's absence, unheard from, for a considerable length of time, see Death § 6, may present a prima facie case sufficient to warrant a grant of administration on his estate,⁶⁶ the arising of such presumption does not take the case out of the operation of the general rule on the subject, and if it is made to appear that the person was in fact alive at the time such administration was granted, the administration is absolutely void.⁶⁷ Although there is authority to the contrary,⁶⁸ it has been held that payment to an administrator of an absentee who is not in fact dead is no defense against the absentee or his legal representative;⁶⁹ nor are costs and disbursements incurred by such administrator a legal charge against the absentee or his property;⁷⁰ but where the administrator has paid debts of the absentee, he is subrogated to the rights of the creditors whom he has paid.⁷¹ It has been considered, however, that the invalidity of the administration does not relate back, but that it is invalid only from the time when the presumption of death is rebutted;⁷² and the objection to administration of the estate of one presumed to be dead is obviated by a statute authorizing the courts to provide for administration of such an estate under reasonable regulations and adequate protection of the property rights of the absentee if he should turn out to be alive.⁷³

§ 17. — Existence of Assets

- a. In general
- b. Cause of action for wrongful death

a. In General

In order to render administration on a decedent's estate proper, assets within the jurisdiction are ordinarily necessary, at least where administration is sought elsewhere than in the domicile of decedent.

While it has been broadly asserted that, in order to render administration on the estate of a decedent proper, the decedent must have died possessed of

N.Y.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N. Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

N.C.—Clark v. Carolina Homes, 128 S.E. 20, 189 N.C. 703.

Okl.—Winter v. Klein-Schultz, 76 P. 2d 1051, 1052, 182 Okl. 231, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1007 note 25.

66. Ga.—Bank of Jonesboro v. Wilson, 160 S.E. 653, 654, 43 Ga.App. 839, quoting Corpus Juris.

Kan.—Withers v. Root, 73 P.2d 1113, 1115, 146 Kan. 822, quoting Corpus Juris.

Minn.—Bornemann v. Ofsthun, 221 N.W. 876, 878, 175 Minn. 493, citing Corpus Juris.

Mont.—Williams v. Hefner, 297 P. 492, 495, 89 Mont. 361, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1008 notes 26, 27.

Administration on estates of absentees as absentees see Absentees § 5 b.

Conclusiveness of judgment

Judgment of probate judge having jurisdiction, declaring death of person who had disappeared, was conclusive until set aside or shown that person was alive.—Marrero v. Nelson, 116 So. 722, 166 La. 122.

Extreme conservatism required

Courts must exercise extreme conservatism in granting administration based on presumption of death from absence.—In re Katz's Estate, 239 N. Y.S. 722, 135 Misc. 861.

Presumption held not to apply so as to give court jurisdiction in proceeding for appointment of special administrator where absentee had disappeared under circumstances tending to indicate suicide a few months before proceeding was instituted; and appointment under such circumstances was invalid for lack of court's jurisdiction where death of absentee was not proved.—In re Ott's Estate, 279 N.W. 618, 228 Wis. 462.

67. Ga.—National Surety Co. v. Wages, 173 S.E. 451, 48 Ga.App. 720, affirmed Wages v. National Surety Co., 179 S.E. 761, 180 Ga. 574.—Bank of Jonesboro v. Wilson, 160 S.E. 653, 654, 43 Ga.App. 839, quoting Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—Chamberlain v. Anderson, 190 N.W. 501, 195 Iowa 855, 26 A.L.R. 957.

Kan.—Withers v. Root, 73 P.2d 1113, 1115, 146 Kan. 822, quoting Corpus Juris.

Mich.—Beckwith v. Bates, 200 N.W. 151, 228 Mich. 400, 37 A.L.R. 819. Minn.—Bornemann v. Ofsthun, 221 N.W. 876, 175 Minn. 493.

Mont.—Williams v. Hefner, 297 P. 492, 495, 89 Mont. 361, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—Ericsson v. Streitz, 273 N.W. 17, 24, 132 Neb. 692, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Pollock v. Wuntch, Civ.App. 116 S.W.2d 796. 23 C.J. p 1008 note 28.

68. N.J.—Hamilton v. Orange Sav. Bank, 124 A. 62, 99 N.J.Law 503.

69. Ga.—Bank of Jonesboro v. Wilson, 160 S.E. 653, 654, 43 Ga.App. 839, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Marks v. Emigrant Industrial Sav. Bank, 107 N.Y.S. 491, 122 App. Div. 661.—In re Katz's Estate, 239 N.Y.S. 722, 135 Misc. 861.

70. N.D.—Clapp v. Houg, 98 N.W. 710, 12 N.D. 600, 102 Am.S.R. 539, 65 L.R.A. 757.

71. Ark.—Beam v. Copeland, 14 S. W. 1094, 54 Ark. 70.

72. Ga.—Sligh v. Whitley, 153 S.E. 237, 41 Ga.App. 428.

Ill.—Donovan v. Major, 97 N.E. 231, 253 Ill. 179.

73. Ill.—Eddy v. Eddy, 134 N.E. 801, 302 Ill. 446.

Purpose and effect of statute

(1) The purpose of the Fiduciaries Act in recognizing common-law presumption of death of person after seven years from time when he was last known to be living was to set up a conservator for his property within the state if facts raised legal presumption of death, and was not to supply procedure to determine whether the person was alive or dead, the conserving of the property and not the distribution of the estate being primary purpose of the act.—In re Wesner's Estate, 11 A.2d 521, 139 Pa.Super. 314.

(2) A proceeding under the act to have a person declared to be a presumed decedent is a "proceeding in rem" and not a "proceeding in personam."—In re Wesner's Estate, supra.

(3) Insurer which issued policy on life of insured who disappeared and was not heard of for more than seven years was not a "proper party" to such a proceeding.—In re Wesner's Estate, supra.

(4) Decree declaring insured to be a presumed decedent constituted merely an adjudication of insured's death prima facie, and on trial of an action on insured's life policies, insurer might rebut the presumption.—In re Wesner's Estate, supra.

some assets or property,⁷⁴ as shown infra § 18, this cannot be held to be established beyond dispute where administration is sought in the domicile of the decedent, although, as shown infra § 21, there is no doubt that assets within the jurisdiction are ordinarily necessary when administration is sought elsewhere than in the domicile.

Where property relied on to establish jurisdiction came into an absentee's beneficial ownership during his absence, jurisdiction must fail unless the applicant establishes the absentee's acquisition of the beneficial ownership prior to his death.⁷⁵

b. Cause of Action for Wrongful Death

Although there is some authority to the contrary, as a general rule the existence of a cause of action for wrongful death is a sufficient basis for a grant of administration in the jurisdiction where such cause of action arose or may be enforced, even though decedent was a nonresident and left no other assets therein.

The existence of a cause of action for wrongful death is usually regarded as a sufficient basis for a grant of administration in the jurisdiction where such cause of action arose,⁷⁶ or where it may be enforced,⁷⁷ even though decedent was a nonresi-dent⁷⁸ and left no other assets in the jurisdiction.⁷⁹ This view has been maintained notwithstanding a contention that the cause of action did not accrue in decedent's lifetime,⁸⁰ that, under the statute, no right of action arose in behalf of anyone until after an administrator had been appointed,⁸¹ or that the administration should properly be in the state of decedent's residence;⁸² and a statute providing that the sum recovered for decedent's death shall not be an asset in the hands of the administrator means only that it shall not be an asset subject to payment of decedent's debts.⁸³

There is, however, authority for the view that administration on the estate of a nonresident cannot be granted in the jurisdiction where the cause of action arose or was enforceable merely for the purpose of qualifying a representative to bring an action for the death, where decedent left no property in the jurisdiction,⁸⁴ and it has been held that such a claim will not warrant administration in one state where the decedent was a resident of another state in which the death and the negligence causing it occurred and under the statutes of which the right of action arose,⁸⁵ particularly where the

74. Minn.—Finnerty v. Gerlach, 223 N.W. 683, 176 Minn. 433.

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.
23 C.J. p 1008 note 33.

Showing of property not made

Nev.—In re Dickerson's Estate, 268 P. 769, 51 Nev. 69, 59 A.L.R. 84.

75. N.Y.—In re Katz's Estate, 239 N.Y.S. 722, 135 Misc. 861.

76. Mass.—McCarron v. New York Cent. R. Co., 131 N.E. 478, 239 Mass. 64.

N.Y.—In re Wenkhous' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 518, 158 Misc. 663.

Wash.—Lund v. City of Seattle, 1 P.2d 301, 163 Wash. 254.

23 C.J. p 1009 note 38.

Action for wrongful death by executor or administrator or by administrator ad prosequendum see Death § 58 a.

Cause of action:

As basis for local jurisdiction generally see infra § 20 b.

For wrongful death as asset of estate see infra § 102.

Statute held inapplicable

N.Y.—Van Dusen v. Sturm, 12 N.Y. S.2d 133, 267 App.Div. 914, reversing 8 N.Y.S.2d 757.

Applicability of foreign law

On petition for appointment of administrator by resident for estate of decedent, who was temporary resident, on claim of liability founded on cause of action arising in state, question of foreign law depriving court of jurisdiction was not involved.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

77. Minn.—Peterson v. Chicago, R. & Q. Ry. Co., 244 N.W. 833, 187 Minn. 228—State v. Probate Court in and for Hennepin County, 184 N.W. 43, 149 Minn. 464.

Tex.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

23 C.J. p 1009 note 39.

78. Mass.—McCarron v. New York Cent. R. Co., 131 N.E. 478, 239 Mass. 64.

Minn.—State v. Probate Court in and for Hennepin County, 184 N.W. 43, 149 Minn. 464.

N.Y.—Van Dusen v. Sturm, 12 N.Y. S.2d 133, 267 App.Div. 914, reversing 8 N.Y.S.2d 757.

Tex.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.
23 C.J. p 1009 note 40.

79. Mass.—McCarron v. New York Cent. R. Co., 131 N.E. 478, 239 Mass. 64.

Minn.—State v. Probate Court in and for Hennepin County, 184 N.W. 43, 149 Minn. 464.

Tex.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.

Wash.—Lund v. City of Seattle, 1 P.2d 301, 163 Wash. 254.

23 C.J. p 1009 note 41.

80. Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

23 C.J. p 1010 note 42.

81. U.S.—De Valle da Costa v.

Southern Pac. R. Co., C.C.Mass., 160 F. 216, reversed on other grounds 176 F. 343, 100 C.C.A. 313, certiorari denied 30 S.Ct. 696, 217 U.S. 606, 54 L.Ed. 900.

82. S.C.—In re Mayo, 38 S.E. 634, 60 S.C. 401, 54 L.R.A. 660.
23 C.J. p 1010 note 44.

83. Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

84. Ind.—Chicago, I. & L. Ry. Co. v. Hemstock, 4 N.E.2d 677, 102 Ind.App. 654, followed in 5 N.E.2d 1010, 103 Ind.App. 705—Mercer v. Dobbryn, 173 N.E. 338, 91 Ind.App. 682—Tri-State Loan & Trust Co. v. Lake Shore & M. S. Ry. Co., 131 N.E. 523, 76 Ind.App. 141.

Contra Mesker v. Bishop, 103 N.E. 492, 105 N.E. 644, 56 Ind.App. 455—Cleveland, C. & St. L. R. Co. v. Osgood, 73 N.E. 285, 36 Ind.App. 34—Ex parte Jenkins, 58 N.E. 560, 25 Ind.App. 532, 81 Am.S.R. 114—Toledo, St. L. & K. C. R. Co. v. Reeves, 35 N.E. 199, 8 Ind.App. 667.

Okl.—McCoubrey v. Pure Oil Co., 66 P.2d 57, 59, 179 Okl. 344, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1010 note 45.

85. Okl.—McCoubrey v. Pure Oil Co., supra quoting Corpus Juris. Wash.—In re Yarbrough's Estate, 216 P. 889, 890, 126 Wash. 85, quoting Corpus Juris, and affirmed 222 P. 902, 126 Wash. 85.

23 C.J. p 1010 note 46.

courts of the jurisdiction in which administration is sought are not impelled by comity to enforce the cause of action.⁸⁶

§ 18. — Domicile or Place of Business of Decedent

As a general rule, letters testamentary or of administration should be taken out in the county where decedent was domiciled at the time of his death; and where jurisdiction is based on domicile, assets are not necessary unless required by statute.

The general rule is that the place of decedent's last domicile determines the probate jurisdiction to grant letters and supervise the settlement of his estate, and the sole, or at least the principal, grant of letters ought to be taken out and the will proved in the country, the state, and indeed the very county where decedent was domiciled at the time of his death.⁸⁷ In accordance with the general rule stat-

86. Okl.—McCoubrey v. Pure Oil Co., 66 P.2d 57, 179 Okl. 344.

87. U.S.—Sealey v. U. S., D.C.Va., 7 F.Supp. 434.

Ark.—Watson v. Lester, 31 S.W.2d 955, 182 Ark. 506—Shelton v. Shelton, 23 S.W.2d 629, 180 Ark. 959.

Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

Conn.—Glennattasio v. Silano, 161 A.336, 115 Conn. 299.

Del.—Coca-Cola International Corporation v. New York Trust Co., Ch., 8 A.2d 511, reversed on other ground, Sup., New York Trust Co. v. Riley, 16 A.2d 772, certiorari granted Riley v. New York Trust Co., 61 S.Ct. 1105, 312 U.S. 555, 85 L.Ed. 1517, motion granted 62 S.Ct. 357, affirmed 62 S.Ct. 608, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 903—In re Beauchamp's Estate, Orph., 2 A.2d 900.

Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Pette-way, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 516.

Iowa.—Crawford County v. Kock's Estate, 290 N.W. 682, 227 Iowa 1235—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Ky.—Hite's Adm'r v. Gibson, 65 S.W.2d 731, 251 Ky. 651—Payne v. Payne, 39 S.W.2d 205, 239 Ky. 93—Bailey v. Norman's Adm'r, 15 S.W.2d 1005, 228 Ky. 790.

La.—Guidry v. Calre, 196 So. 56, 195 La. 167—Succession of Franklin, 114 So. 593, 164 La. 654—Succession of Hausmann, 112 So. 408, 163 La. 537—Taylor v. Williams, 110 So. 100, 162 La. 92—Gravet v. Gonsoulin, 119 So. 785, 10 La.App. 553, rehearing denied 120 So. 643, 10 La.App. 553—Taylor v. Williams, 3 La.App. 772—Carter v. Cambrice, 1 La.App. 156.

Md.—Norfolk v. Connor, 176 A. 618, 167 Md. 688.

Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

N.J.—Trust Co. of New Jersey v. Spalding, 4 A.2d 401, 125 N.J.Eq. 66—In re Gilbert's Estate, 15 A.2d 111, 18 N.J.Misc. 540.

N.Y.—In re Kelley's Estate, 17 N.Y.S.2d 22, 258 App.Div. 469—In re Curtis' Estate, 185 N.Y.S. 507, 194 App.Div. 334—Cornell v. Delehan-ty, 18 N.Y.S.2d 153, 173 Misc. 483—In re Handy's Estate, 7 N.Y.S.2d 893, 169 Misc. 504—In re Humpfner's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 309, 146 Misc. 461, affirmed In re Humpfner, 265 N.Y.S. 966, 240 App.Div. 745—In re Lyon's Estate, 190 N.Y.S. 488, 116 Misc. 640.

N.C.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 305, 188 N.C. 268.

N.D.—In re Langer's Estate, 219 N.W. 562, 56 N.D. 793.

Ohio—Hill v. Blumenberg, 19 Ohio App. 404.

Okl.—Griffin v. Hannan, 93 P.2d 1078, 185 Okl. 433—Wolfe v. Graham, 90 P.2d 1067, 185 Okl. 318—Breedlove v. Tulsa County Court, 58 P.2d 305, 177 Okl. 124—Sewell v. Christison, 245 P. 632, 114 Okl. 177—Presbury v. County Court of Kay County, 213 P. 311, 88 Okl. 273.

Or.—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 159 Or. 698.

Pa.—In re Pusey's Estate, 184 A. 844, 321 Pa. 248, certiorari denied Lavelly v. Young Women's Christian Ass'n of Pittsburgh, 57 S.Ct. 36, 299 U.S. 572, 81 L.Ed. 422, rehearing denied 57 S.Ct. 114, 299 U.S. 621, 81 L.Ed. 458—In re Blessing's Estate, 110 A. 76, 267 Pa. 280.

R.I.—Eckilson v. Greene, 1 A.2d 117, 61 R.I. 394.

Tex.—Balfour v. Collins, 25 S.W.2d 804, 119 Tex. 122, answer to certified question conformed to, Civ. App., 27 S.W.2d 185—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ.App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused—Kreiss v. Kreiss, Civ. App., 36 S.W.2d 821, error dismissed—Halverson v. Livengood, Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 588.

Va.—Denny v. Searles, 143 S.E. 484, 150 Va. 701.

Wis.—In re Read's Estate, 217 N.W. 709, 195 Wis. 128.

"Residence"

(1) Not synonymous with "domicile."—Wilkinson v. Spiller, 129 S.E. 235, 143 Va. 267—23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [a].

(2) Substantial equivalent of "domicile."

Kan.—Ford v. Peck, 225 P. 1054, 116 Kan. 74, rehearing denied 227 P. 527, 116 Kan. 481.

N.Y.—In re Daggett's Will, 174 N.E. 641, 255 N.Y. 243, 75 A.L.R. 1251, reversing In re Daggett, 241 N.Y.

S. 918, 229 App.Div. 760—In re Hone's Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 394, 158 Misc. 183, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 232, 250 App.Div. 635—In re Wendel's Estate, 259 N.Y.S. 260, 144 Misc. 467—In re Bennett's Estate, 238 N.Y.S. 723, 135 Misc. 486—In re Seymour, 177 N.Y.S. 702, 107 Misc. 330—In re Horth's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 262—23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [a].

(3) Imports legal residence or "domicile," as contradistinguished from "actual residence"; that is, where decedent may be temporarily abiding at time of demise.

Ky.—Burr's Adm'r v. Hatter, 43 S.W.2d 26, 240 Ky. 721.

Md.—Shenton v. Abbott, 15 A.2d 906, 178 Md. 526—Brafman v. Brafman, 125 A. 161, 144 Md. 413, certiorari denied 44 S.Ct. 633, 265 U.S. 588, 68 L.Ed. 1193.

Okl.—In re Davis' Estate, 43 P.2d 115, 171 Okl. 575—Anderson v. Jackson, 41 P.2d 815, 170 Okl. 612.

23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [b].

(4) Decedent's legal "residence" is prima facie in county where decedent made his abode for many years and died.—Burr's Adm'r v. Hatter, 43 S.W.2d 26, 240 Ky. 721.

"Domiciled" or "last dwelt"

Under statutes giving courts of probate jurisdiction of estate of a person who died "domiciled" or having "last dwelt" in the probate district, the quoted phrases mean a dwelling or residence as a permanent home, and hence probate court of a particular district properly assumed jurisdiction of estate of one who died a resident of, and owning property in, such district.—Palmer v. Palmer, D.C.Conn., 31 F.Supp. 861.

Automobile license not conclusive

Del.—New York Trust Co. v. Riley, 16 A.2d 772, reversing Coca-Cola International Corporation v. New York Trust Co., Ch., 8 A.2d 511, and certiorari granted Riley v. New York Trust Co., 61 S.Ct. 1105, 313 U.S. 555, 85 L.Ed. 1517, motion granted 62 S.Ct. 357, affirmed 62 S.Ct. 608, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 903.

Declarations of decedent not conclusive

Ariz.—Hiatt v. Lee, 81 P.2d 401, 48 Ariz. 320, 107 A.L.R. 444.

ed supra § 15, the jurisdictional question of decedent's residence or domicile is to be determined by the court whose jurisdiction is invoked,⁸⁸ and the court first assuming jurisdiction for the purpose must be allowed to pursue and exercise its jurisdiction to the exclusion of all co-ordinate tribunals.⁸⁹ Each case must be disposed of on its own

Del.—New York Trust Co. v. Riley, 16 A.2d 772, reversing Coca-Cola International Corporation v. New York Trust Co., Ch., 8 A.2d 511, and certiorari granted Riley v. New York Trust Co., 61 S.Ct. 1105, 312 U.S. 555, 85 L.Ed. 1517, motion granted 62 S.Ct. 357, affirmed 62 S.Ct. 608, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 903.

N.Y.—In re Strebelgh's Estate, 27 N.Y.S.2d 569, 176 Misc. 381.

Pa.—In re Nelson's Estate, 21 Pa. Dist. & Co. 29.

Place of voting not conclusive

Ky.—Burr's Adm'r v. Hatter, 43 S.W.2d 26, 240 Ky. 721.

Domicile in China

Where an American citizen died in China, where she had acquired a domicile, the United States district court for China had jurisdiction to administer on her estate.—In re Coppock's Estate, 234 P. 258, 72 Mont. 431, 39 A.L.R. 1152.

Domicile of married woman

(1) Domicile of married woman ordinarily follows the domicile of her husband.—See Domicile § 16 b.

(2) Domicile of deceased living apart from husband was fixed in city where husband lived, as regards jurisdiction of court to open succession.—Howell v. Kretz, 131 So. 204, 15 La.App. 454.

(3) Prima facie, the domicile of testatrix at time of execution of will was the matrimonial domicile in another state, in which husband was living.—Kahl v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., D.C.Ill., 299 F. 793.

(4) Where husband's domicile was in Michigan, and wife, while living apart from husband, recognized such state as her home and described herself in her will as a resident of such state, she was a resident thereof when she made the will, and not of Illinois, where she was temporarily residing.—Kahl v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., supra.

(5) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [g].

Infant

Where husband left state to escape prosecution, county, to which wife moved with infant child, became their domicile and remained their domicile when husband was apprehended and sent to penitentiary, so that, on death of infant son during father's stay in penitentiary, right to appoint administrator for son was not in court of county where father resided before flight.—Ferguson's Adm'r v. Ferguson's Adm'r, 73 S.W.2d 31, 255 Ky. 230.

Person of unsound mind

(1) One mentally incompetent is incapable of choosing legal residence after appointment of guardian, and court of county appointing guardian had jurisdiction to appoint administrator of her estate.—State v. Superior Court for Thurston County, 255 P. 376, 143 Wash. 358.

(2) County court of county in which decedent had resided prior to her alleged adjudication of lunacy has exclusive general jurisdiction to appoint administrator of decedent's estate, where it was not shown that decedent had been restored to competency, notwithstanding decedent had not resided in county after adjudication.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, 97 S.W.2d 805, 265 Ky. 747.

(3) Where guardian committed care of person of unsound mind to daughter in another county, and she lived with daughter until death, domicile was changed, and court of county of original residence could not appoint administrator.—Wilson v. Bearden, Tex.Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 214, error refused.

(4) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [i].

Residence in more than one county

Under Comp.St. § 2, the clerk of superior court who first gains and exercises jurisdiction of an estate thereby acquires exclusive jurisdiction, even if decedent had fixed place of domicile in more than one county.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 306, 188 N.C. 274.

Evidence as to domicile or residence

Del.—New York Trust Co. v. Riley, 16 A.2d 772, reversing Coca-Cola International Corporation v. New York Trust Co., Ch., 8 A.2d 511, and certiorari granted Riley v. New York Trust Co., 61 S.Ct. 1105, 312 U.S. 555, 85 L.Ed. 1517, motion granted 62 S.Ct. 357, affirmed 62 S.Ct. 608, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 903.

Kan.—Ford v. Peck, 225 P. 1054, 116 Kan. 74, rehearing denied 227 P. 527, 116 Kan. 481.

Ky.—Burr's Adm'r v. Hatter, 43 S.W.2d 26, 240 Ky. 721.—Stall v. Williams' Adm'r, 26 S.W.2d 8, 233 Ky. 441.

La.—Succession of Webre, 136 So. 67, 172 La. 1104.—Howell v. Kretz, 131 So. 204, 15 La.App. 454.

Md.—Pattison v. Firor, 126 A. 109, 146 Md. 243.

N.Y.—In re Baker's Estate, 16 N.Y.S.2d 425, 258 App.Div. 938, reargument denied In re Baker, 18 N.Y.S.2d 751, 259 App.Div. 783, reargument denied Baker v. New York Cent. R. Co., 20 N.Y.S.2d 844, 259 App.Div. 971, appeal dismissed In re Baker's Estate, 29 N.E.2d 657, 284 N.Y. 576, and order amended 24 N.Y.S.2d 872, 260 App.Div. 992.—In re Fischer's Estate, 271 N.Y.S. 101, 151 Misc. 74, affirmed 277 N.Y.S. 939, 243 App.Div. 685.—In re Betancourt's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 649, 144 Misc. 173, affirmed In re Betancourt's Will, 260 N.Y.S. 990, 237 App.Div. 811.—In re Crook's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 373, 140 Misc. 721.—In re Comincio's Estate, 240 N.Y.S. 691, 135 Misc. 733, affirmed In re Comincio, 243 N.Y.S. 814, 229 App.Div. 862, and reversed on other grounds Santovincenzo v. Egan, 52 S.Ct. 81, 284 U.S. 30, 76 L.Ed. 151.—In re Horth's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 262.

N.C.—In re Finlayson's Estate, 173 S.E. 902, 206 N.C. 362.

Ohio.—Cunningham v. Bessemer Trust Co., 178 N.E. 217, 39 Ohio App. 535.

Okl.—Franklin v. Beard, 42 P.2d 835, 171 Okl. 254.—Anderson v. Jackson, 41 P.2d 815, 170 Okl. 612.—In re Gray's Estate, 250 P. 422, 119 Okl. 219.—Wood v. Wood, 221 P. 24, 94 Okl. 86.

Pa.—In re Koleff's Estate, 16 A.2d 384, 340 Pa. 423.

W.Va.—First Nat. Bank v. Tate, 178 S.E. 807, 116 W.Va. 138.

23 C.J. p 1010 note 48 [k].

88. N.Y.—In re Humpfner's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 309, 146 Misc. 461, affirmed In re Humpfner, 265 N.Y.S. 966, 240 App.Div. 745.

Okl.—Anderson v. Jackson, 41 P.2d 815, 170 Okl. 612.

Pa.—In re Pusey's Estate, 184 A. 844, 321 Pa. 248, certiorari denied Lavelly v. Young Women's Christian Ass'n of Pittsburgh, 57 S.Ct. 36, 299 U.S. 572, 81 L.Ed. 422, rehearing denied 57 S.Ct. 114, 299 U.S. 621, 81 L.Ed. 458.—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

Motion to transfer matter of administration of estate to another county is question of law.—In re Ozias' Estate, Mo.App., 29 S.W.2d 240.

What law governs

Whether decedent had transferred his domicile prior to his death from New York to Nassau, Bahamas Islands, would be decided under New York law.—In re Strebelgh's Estate, 27 N.Y.S.2d 569, 176 Misc. 381.

89. Ala.—McDonnell v. Farrow, 31 So. 475, 132 Ala. 227.

peculiar facts.⁹⁰ A private act of the legislature removing the administration of decedent's estate from the county of his residence at the time of his death to another county has been held not violative of any constitutional provision.⁹¹

Where one was living away from his domicile at the time of his death, but had no intention of changing⁹² or no capacity to change⁹³ his domicile, jurisdiction with respect to administration of his estate is at his domicile. However, administration may be had in the county of decedent's residence, as distinguished from his domicile, where authorized by statute.⁹⁴

In case one dies while traveling, outside the state or country of his domicile, the foreign court should take no jurisdiction, unless it be ancillary merely,⁹⁵ although one who roams after leaving permanently one domicile is sometimes held to have acquired a domicile in the place where he died.⁹⁶

Necessity for assets. Where jurisdiction is based on domicile it is not necessary that there should be assets in order for the administration to be properly granted,⁹⁷ unless such a requirement is created by statute.⁹⁸ It has been considered, however, that it would be an abuse of discretion to appoint an administrator for deceased resident of the county, where there is no estate to be administered and no other statutory ground for the appointment.⁹⁹

Place where decedent engaged in business. Under a statute providing for the appointment of an administrator for a nonresident who had been engaged in business in the state at the time of his decease, it is not sufficient to show that decedent had been so engaged in business, but the fact that he was so engaged at the time of his death must be shown.¹

§ 19. — Place of Death

Jurisdiction over nonresidents' estates is sometimes given to the probate court of the county in which decedent died.

In some jurisdictions, where deceased had no fixed residence within the state, jurisdiction over the administration of his estate is conferred on the probate court of the county where he died,² but such jurisdiction is usually given in the alternative, to such court or to the court of the county wherein decedent's property or the greater part thereof is situated.³

§ 20. — Situs of Assets

- a. In general
- b. Character of assets
- c. Jurisdiction based on real estate
- d. Value of assets
- e. County jurisdiction
- f. Property brought into jurisdiction after decedent's death
- g. Where particular assets deemed located

a. In General

Personal assets of decedent's estate, situated within the territorial jurisdiction of the court, confer a local

90. Ky.—Hite's Adm'r v. Hite's Ex'r, 97 S.W.2d 811, 265 Ky. 786—Burr's Adm'r v. Hatter, 48 S.W. 2d 26, 240 Ky. 721.

91. Ala.—Wright v. Ware, 50 Ala. 549.

92. Ark.—Easterling v. Farrell, 12 S.W.2d 889, 178 Ark. 937.
N.C.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 305, 188 N.C. 268.
S.C.—Henson v. Wolfe, 125 S.E. 293, 130 S.C. 273.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 51.

93. N.J.—In re Collins' Estate, 165 A. 286, 11 N.J.Misc. 233.
Wash.—State v. Superior Court for Thurston County, 255 P. 376, 143 Wash. 358.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 52.

94. Va.—Wilkinson v. Spiller, 129 S.E. 235, 143 Va. 267.

95. Fla.—Murphy v. Murphy, 170 So. 856, 125 Fla. 855.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 53.
Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988-1015.

96. Iowa.—Olson's Will, 18 N.W. 854, 63 Iowa 145.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 54.

97. Ind.—Chicago, I. & L. Ry. Co. v. Hemstock, 4 N.E.2d 677, 102 Ind. App. 654, followed in 5 N.E.2d 1010, 103 Ind.App. 705.
N.Y.—In re Katz' Estate, 239 N.Y.S. 723, 135 Misc. 861.

Okl.—Griffin v. Hannan, 93 P.2d 1078, 1079, 185 Okl. 433, quoting Corpus Juris—Wolfe v. Graham, 90 P.2d 1067, 185 Okl. 318—In re Thompson's Estate, 65 P.2d 442, 179 Okl. 240, certiorari denied St. John v. Thompson, 58 S.Ct. 38, 302 U.S. 718, 82 L.Ed. 554—Okfuskey v. Corbin, 40 P.2d 1064, 1065, 170 Okl. 449, citing Corpus Juris—Wolf v. Gills, 219 P. 350, 96 Okl. 6.

Vt.—In re Holden's Estate, 1 A.2d 721, 110 Vt. 60, 119 A.L.R. 487—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

Wash.—State ex rel. Brisbin v. Frater, 95 P.2d 27, 1 Wash.2d 13.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 55.

98. Ky.—Holburn v. Pfanmiller, 71 S.W. 940, 114 Ky. 831, 24 Ky.L. 1613.

Nev.—In re Dickerson's Estate, 268 P. 769, 51 Nev. 69, 59 A.L.R. 84.
N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.
Okl.—Okfuskey v. Corbin, 40 P.2d 1064, 1065, 170 Okl. 449, citing Corpus Juris.

99. Okl.—Okfuskey v. Corbin, 40 P. 2d 1064, 170 Okl. 449—Wolf v. Gills, 219 P. 350, 96 Okl. 6.
Wis.—In re Barlass, 128 N.W. 58, 143 Wis. 497, 139 Am.S.R. 1111.

1. Ohio.—In re McCreight, 9 Ohio S. & C. P. 450, 6 Ohio N.P. 479.
2. Ky.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, 97 S.W.2d 805, 265 Ky. 717—Big Sandy & C. R. Co. v. Measell's Adm'r, 42 S.W.2d 747, 240 Ky. 571.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 59.

3. La.—Succession of Bibbins, App. 152 So. 592.
23 C.J. p 1012 note 60.

probate jurisdiction, regardless of the domicile or residence of the decedent.

Every state has plenary power with respect to the administration and disposition of the estates of deceased persons as to all property of such persons found within its jurisdiction.⁴ Accordingly, locality of personal assets belonging to the estate of decedent confers a local probate jurisdiction, regardless of the consideration of last domicile or residence of decedent,⁵ and such jurisdiction is not dependent on an ultimate determination of the existence of assets of the estate but is ordinarily invoked by a prima facie showing as to the existence of assets.⁶ It is, however, necessary, in order to support the local grant of administration, that the property within the jurisdiction should be assets of decedent liable for his individual debts or to be distributed among his widow and heirs.⁷

Effect of removal of property from jurisdiction. It has been held that administration might properly be granted in a county in which a nonresident had property at the time of his death, although after his death some one without authority sent such property to decedent's wife in another state.⁸

b. Character of Assets

The assets relied on as furnishing a basis for local administration need not be of a tangible nature, a mere claim or right of action being sufficient.

It is not necessary that the assets relied on as furnishing a basis for local administration should be of a tangible nature,⁹ but a mere claim or right of action arising or existing and enforceable within the jurisdiction is sufficient;¹⁰ and a bona fide

4. Cal.—In re Clark's Estate, 82 P. 760, 148 Cal. 108, 1 L.R.A., N.S. 996, 113 Am.S.R. 197, 7 Ann.Cas. 806.

Kan.—Thompson v. Parnell, 105 P. 502, 81 Kan. 119, 33 L.R.A., N.S., 658.

Tenn.—Woodfin v. Union Planters Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 125 S.W.2d 487, 174 Tenn. 367.

Tex.—Hare v. Pendleton, Civ.App., 214 S.W. 948, reversed on other grounds Pendleton v. Hare, Com. App., 231 S.W. 334.

Vt.—In re Holden's Estate, 1 A.2d 721, 110 Vt. 60, 119 A.L.R. 487.

5. U.S.—Palmer v. Palmer, D.C. Conn., 31 F.Supp. 861.

Cal.—In re Estrem's Estate, 107 P. 2d 36, 16 Cal.2d 563, prior opinion, App., 101 P.2d 510.

D.C.—Claudy v. Duvall, 5 F.2d 381, 55 App.D.C. 319.

Hawaii.—In re Estate of Grant, 34 Hawaii 559.

Ind.—Mercer v. Dobbyn, 173 N.E. 338, 91 Ind.App. 682.

Ky.—Payne v. Payne, 39 S.W.2d 205, 239 Ky. 99—Stell v. Williams' Adm'r, 26 S.W.2d 8, 233 Ky. 441—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Jones' Adm'r, 286 S.W. 1071, 215 Ky. 774, 53 A.L.R. 1255.

La.—Causey v. Opelousas-St. Landry Securities Co., 175 So. 448, 187 La. 659.

Mass.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

Minn.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N.W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

Mo.—First Nat. Bank v. Blessing, 98 S.W.2d 149, 231 Mo.App. 288.

N.Y.—Van Dusen v. Sturm, 12 N.Y. 8.2d 133, 257 App.Div. 914, reversing 8 N.Y.S.2d 757—In re Katz's Estate, 239 N.Y.S. 722, 135 Misc. 861—In re Bliss' Estate, 202 N.Y.S. 185, 121 Misc. 773.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

Wash.—State ex rel. Brisbin v. Frater, 95 P.2d 27, 1 Wash.2d 13—In re Rowley's Estate, 35 P.2d 34, 178 Wash. 460.

23 C.J. p 1012 note 61.

Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988-1015.

Order of probate

Probating of will in state of decedent's domicile before proving it in any other state in which he may own property might be better practice, but its probate in the first instance in some other state is not so illegal on its face as to give executors therein named no power or authority as such in that state.—Bowles v. R. G. Dun-Bradstreet Corporation, Del.Ch., 12 A.2d 392.

In absence of domicile in state assets in county will give jurisdiction to grant letters of administration.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 305, 188 N.C. 268.

Residence and property

Probate court's jurisdiction rests primarily on deceased's residence within county, and property therein requiring administration.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

Statute liberally construed

Statute providing for granting of administration for nonresident decedents having estate in commonwealth must be liberally construed.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

Statute held declaratory of common law

Vt.—In re Holden's Estate, 1 A.2d 721, 110 Vt. 60, 119 A.L.R. 487.

6. Property in name of decedent

Fact that property disposed of by will stood of record in testatrix' name was sufficient prima facie showing as to existence of assets and fair probability of right to give probate court jurisdiction to grant letters testamentary.—In re Helm's Estate, 45 P.2d 250, 6 Cal.App.2d 752.

Estate suspected of being concealed

Statute providing that person suspected of having concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away personal estate of deceased may, on complaint of administrator, be examined for discovery of estate, implies authority to appoint administrator where there is no other estate than what is suspected of being concealed.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

7. Me.—In re Shaw's Estate, 16 A. 662, 81 Me. 207.

23 C.J. p 1013 note 63.

8. Tenn.—Anderson v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 159 S.W. 1086, 128 Tenn. 244.

9. Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

Wash.—In re Rowley's Estate, 35 P. 2d 34.

23 C.J. p 1013 note 64.

Dower rights

County court of county in which decedent had died and in which decedent's rights to dower, if any, accrued had exclusive general jurisdiction to appoint administrator of her estate.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, 97 S.W.2d 805, 265 Ky. 747.

10. Idaho.—Russell v. Bow, 295 P. 437, 50 Idaho 264.

11.—Furst v. Brady, 31 N.E.2d 606, 375 Ill. 425, 133 A.L.R. 558, reversing In re Brady's Estate, 24 N.E.2d 748, 303 Ill.App. 139.

Ky.—Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Ryan's Adm'r, 209 S.W. 538, 183 Ky. 428.

Mass.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

Neb.—In re Buder's Estate, 219 N.W. 808, 117 Neb. 52.

Ohio.—Bucyrus Steel Castings Co. v. Farkas, 15 Ohio N.P., N.S., 609.

Tex.—St. Louis Southwestern Ry. Co. of Texas v. Smitha, 232 S.W. 494, 496, 111 Tex. 285, citing Corclaim will support a grant of administration even though it proves invalid or unenforceable after letters are issued.¹¹ The term "estate" as used in a statute relating to the granting of letters of administration includes all kinds of property which the deceased left at the time of his death.¹²

Unborn child. No property rights which would authorize the appointment of an administrator for an unborn child ever came into existence where the mother was killed in an accident, since an unborn child could not, after birth, enforce a claim for prenatal injuries.¹³

c. Jurisdiction Based on Real Estate

Local real property or an equitable claim thereto may afford a sufficient basis for the grant of administration.

Administration may be granted on the basis of local real property alone under suitable circumstances conformably to the legislative policy of many American states,¹⁴ and an equitable claim to real property has been held sufficient to authorize a grant of administration in advance of the establishment of the claim in a court of equity.¹⁵ However, a claim by a creditor of a nonresident decedent, that real estate in the state purchased by a relative of decedent, prior to and shortly after his death, was purchased with money belonging to decedent or his estate, is not property in the state, belonging to decedent, justifying the appointment of an administrator of his estate in the state.¹⁶

Real estate "devised." A statute authorizing proof of a will in any county where there is real estate "devised by the testator" does not give to the court of the county in which land is located jurisdiction to grant administration, where the owner died intestate in another county of which he was a resident.¹⁷

d. Value of Assets

In some states the existence of local assets, irrespective of their value, may support a local grant of administration, but in other states there must be property of a specified value.

In some states the mere existence of local assets, irrespective of their value, may support a local grant of administration,¹⁸ and even articles or money rights of trifling consequence, if bona fide within the local jurisdiction, will suffice;¹⁹ but in other states there must be personal property of a specified value, or debts to a fixed amount and local real estate chargeable therewith.²⁰ pus Juris, and affirming, Civ.App., 190 S.W. 237—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ.App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

Wash.—In re Rowley's Estate, 35 P. 2d 34, 178 Wash. 460.

23 C.J. p 1013 note 65.

Cause of action for wrongful death see supra § 17 b.

Life insurance policy

Ark.—Rice v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 238 S.W. 772, 152 Ark. 498, 24 A.L.R. 143.

23 C.J. p 1013 note 65 [1].

Automobile liability policy

(1) The right of exoneration and indemnity under automobile liability policy while driving automobile in commonwealth against liability for payment of damages for injuries, for property damage, and for consequential damage, is an "estate" authorizing granting of administration.

Mass.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

Or.—In re Villas' Estate, 110 P.2d 940.

(2) A contrary result has been reached.—Olson v. Preferred Automobile Ins. Co., 244 N.W. 178, 259 Mich. 612.

Right arising subsequent to appointment

The appointment of administratrix for estate of nonresident deceased was not invalid even if right of exoneration and indemnity under automobile liability policy issued to deceased was not an estate of deceased until judgment was recovered against him in tort action, since judgment recovered subsequently to appointment affords an occasion for administrator to act and appointment is valid.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

Right of stakeholder for claimants

If one or more of a number of claimants to property dies, right of stakeholder that there should be administrator for estate of decedent claimant would not be defeated by lack of proof of property belonging to decedent.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

11. Me.—Neely v. Havana Electric Ry. Co., 10 A.2d 358, 136 Me. 352.

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

N.Y.—Sullivan v. Fosdick, 10 Hun 173.

Good faith will be presumed in assertion of a claim on behalf of decedent's estate in absence of contrary proof.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Tex.Civ.App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

12. Mich.—Olson v. Preferred Automobile Ins. Co., 244 N.W. 178, 259 Mich. 612.

13. N.Y.—In re Roberts' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 476, 158 Misc. 698.

14. Cal.—Murphy v. Crouse, 66 P. 971, 135 Cal. 14, 87 Am.S.R. 90.

Pa.—In re Gates' Estate, 31 Berks Co.L.J. 316.

23 C.J. p 1014 note 67.

Word "assets," as used in the statute authorizing a grant of letters of administration on the estate of non-residents who die leaving assets, includes land situate in the county where the administration is granted.—Condo v. Barbour, 200 N.E. 76, 101 Ind.App. 483—23 C.J. p 1014 note 67 [b].

15. Cal.—In re Daughaday, 141 P. 929, 168 Cal. 63.

Claim of right to set aside deeds made by decedent constitutes property of the estate in the nature of real property on which administration may be had in the discretion of the court.—In re Rees' Estate, 212 P. 234, 60 Cal.App. 92.

16. Conn.—Beach's Appeal, 55 A. 596, 76 Conn. 118.

17. Or.—Henkle v. Slate, 68 P. 399, 40 Or. 349.

18. Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Jones' Adm'r, 286 S.W. 1071, 215 Ky. 774, 53 A.L.R. 1255.
23 C.J. p 1014 note 71.

19. Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Jones' Adm'r, supra,
23 C.J. p 1014 note 72.

20. Me.—In re Shaw's Estate, 16 A. 662, 81 Me. 207.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 73.

Bona notabilia

(1) "Bona notabilia," as used in

a. County Jurisdiction

In some states the probate court of the county where the property or the greater part of it is situated has jurisdiction to administer a decedent's estate; and where decedent leaves property in two or more counties it is provided in some states that the courts in each county shall have concurrent jurisdiction, so that the court which first acquires jurisdiction retains it to the exclusion of the others.

In many states jurisdiction over the administration of the estate of a decedent who had no fixed residence within the state is given to the probate court where his property or the greater part thereof is situated,²¹ but even within the same sovereign jurisdiction the locality of personal property may sometimes afford occasion for probate jurisdiction in two or more local courts, as where one domiciled abroad and intestate leaves effects in two different counties, in which case local statute regulates the matter of jurisdiction, which usually, however, belongs to the court of the county where proceedings are first commenced,²² the jurisdiction of the various county courts being concurrent.²³

f. Property Brought into Jurisdiction after Decedent's Death

In some jurisdictions, but not in others, the property must be within the jurisdiction at the time of the owner's death to afford a basis for a grant of administration.

According to some authorities the property must be within the jurisdiction at the time of the death of the owner in order to afford a basis for a grant of administration,²⁴ but other authorities find such a requirement too narrow to meet the practical wants of modern administration, and hence for the welfare of creditors or other interested persons local jurisdiction is usually upheld where there are local bona notabilia at the time when letters are applied for, notwithstanding the goods were brought into the county or the debtor removed thither after the death of the owner or creditor.²⁵

Property brought in temporarily or for a special purpose; and removed from the jurisdiction before an administrator is appointed, cannot serve as a basis for a grant of administration;²⁶ and the same is true where assets are brought into the state solely for the purpose of procuring the appointment of an administrator to prosecute a negligence action against a foreign corporation on a cause of action arising in another state between residents of such other state.²⁷

g. Where Particular Assets Deemed Located

- (1) In general
- (2) Simple contract debts; specialty debts
- (3) Judgment debts
- (4) Claims against United States
- (5) Corporate stock
- (6) Insurance policies

(1) In General

For the purpose of probate jurisdiction, tangible assets are deemed located where they happen to be, but the locality of intangible assets may depend on the exact nature of the particular asset.

The location of tangible assets, for the purposes of probate jurisdiction, is the place where such assets happen to be,²⁸ and this is true although a bill the probate law, means notable goods, or property worthy of notice, or of sufficient value to be accounted for.

GA.—Neal v. Boykin, 64 S.E. 480, 132 Ga. 400.

N.C.—In re Franks' Estate, 16 S.E.2d 831, 833, 220 N.C. 176.

Wash.—In re Rowley's Estate, 35 P. 2d 34, 178 Wash. 460.

(2) Where residents of Kentucky were killed in an automobile collision in North Carolina and immediately after collision automobile in which they met their deaths was worth two hundred dollars to three hundred dollars and motorist also left a watch of value of twenty-five dollars and cash and travelers' checks to amount of fifty dollars and greater portion of property was removed from North Carolina, giving rise to a cause of action against person or persons guilty of such removal, decedents had sufficient personality in North Carolina to constitute "bona notabilia" and justified appointment of an administrator.

The statute providing a method by which a debtor in the sum of three hundred dollars or less to an estate for which no administrator has been appointed may relieve himself of such debt by paying the amount thereof to the clerk of superior court provides the debtor with a permissive right and is in no wise "mandatory" and does not fix the amount of "bona notabilia" at three hundred dollars.—In re Franks' Estate, supra.

21. Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Shumaker's Adm'x, 56 S.W. 155, 108 Ky. 263, 21 Ky.L. 1701, 53 S.W. 12, 21 Ky.L. 803.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 74.

22. Cal.—Hill v. Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County, 205 P. 430, 188 Cal. 352.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 75.
Priority and retention of jurisdiction see Courts § 492.

23. Ga.—Neal v. Boykin, 64 S.E. 480, 132 Ga. 400.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 76.

24. Ky.—Payne v. Payne, 39 S.W.2d 205, 239 Ky. 99.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 78.

25. Ga.—Neal v. Boykin, 64 S.E. 480, 132 Ga. 400.
23 C.J. p 1015 note 79.

26. N.Y.—Kohler v. Knapp, 1 Bradf. Surr. 241.
23 C.J. p 1016 note 80.

27. N.Y.—Hoes v. New York, N. H. & H. R. Co., 66 N.E. 119, 173 N.Y. 435, 441, reversing 77 N.Y.S. 117, 73 App.Div. 363.
23 C.J. p 1016 note 81.

28. Tex.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.
23 C.J. p 1016 note 83.
Situs of property generally see Conflict of Laws §§ 18, 19.

Real assets

Notes received by testator for unpaid purchase price of devised land are real assets and subject to jurisdiction of situs for purpose of administration.—Phillips v. Phillips, 104 So. 234, 213 Ala. 27.

of sale transferring the chattel to decedent may be found in another state;²⁹ but with respect to intangible assets the locality for jurisdictional purposes may depend on the exact nature of the particular asset.³⁰ It has also been said that personal property, whether of a tangible or an intangible character, is considered as located, for the purposes of administration, in the territory of that state whose laws must furnish the remedies for its reduction into possession.³¹

(2) Simple Contract Debts; Specialty Debts

For the purpose of administration, simple contract debts are assets in the locality where the debtor resides. A specialty debt is an asset where the instrument happens to be unless a different situs has been fixed by statute.

The general rule is that simple contract debts are, for the purpose of administration, assets in the locality where the debtor resides,³² and it is usually considered that the locality of such a debt for this purpose is not affected by the fact that a bill of exchange or promissory note has been given for it, because the bill or note does not alter the nature of the debt, but is merely evidence of it, and therefore the debt is assets where the debtor lives, without regard to the place where the instrument is found or payable,³³ although it has also been held that such a debt is to be regarded as being located at the place where the instrument by which it is evidenced is found;³⁴ and that promissory notes are bona notabilia at the domicile of the decedent when they were left there at the time of his death.³⁵

The locality of a debt evidenced by the note of the debtor is not affected by the fact that the note is secured by a mortgage of real estate.³⁶

Specialty debts. Unless a different situs has been fixed by statute,³⁷ a specialty debt is an asset in the locality where the instrument happens to be.³⁸

Proceeds of draft drawn in foreign country

Distribution, under will bequeathing property in state, of proceeds of drafts drawn in Australia more than month before death, was not error in absence of showing that drafts did not or could not have reached the state before death of decedent.—In re Tymms' Estate, 247 P. 1091, 78 Cal.App. 79.

29. N.Y.—Holyoke v. Union Mut. L. Ins. Co., 22 Hun 75, affirmed 84 N. Y. 648.

30. Domicile of owner

Where testatrix' domicile was in another state, and, exclusive of choses in action, there was no substantial tangible personalty of testatrix within the state, there was reason for application of the usual rule that, for administrative purposes, intangibles have their situs at the domicile of the owner, and, even assuming that there was some personalty of testatrix in the state, the surrogate's court, in the exercise of sound discretion, should have declined jurisdiction.—In re MacKean's Will, 18 N.Y.S.2d 230, 259 App.Div. 728.

Violation of federal Safety Appliance Act

The surviving right of action for injuries resulting from violation of the federal Safety Appliance Act, for purposes of administration, must be regarded as having a situs in each jurisdiction where the injured person was authorized to maintain suit.—St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. of Texas v. Smitha, 232 S.W. 494, 111 Tex. 286, affirming, Civ.App., 190 S. W. 237.

Situs of cause of action for wrongful death see supra § 17 b.

31. Ala.—Phillips v. Phillips, 104

So. 234, 236, 213 Ala. 27, citing Corpus Juris.

W.Va.—Richards v. Riverside Iron Works, 49 S.E. 437, 56 W.Va. 510.

Unpaid purchase money of devised lands sold by testator prior to death, and held in state, was subject to administration and distribution by court of state, although testator at time of death was domiciled in another state.—Phillips v. Phillips, 104 So. 234, 213 Ala. 27.

32. Ala.—Phillips v. Phillips, 104 So. 234, 236, 213 Ala. 27, citing Corpus Juris.

Me.—Neely v. Havana Electric Ry. Co., 10 A.2d 358, 136 Me. 352.

Mass.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

N.Y.—In re DeBaun's Will, 293 N.Y.S. 836, 162 Misc. 111.

Tex.—Lancaster & Wallace v. Sexton, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 958.

Wash.—In re Rowley's Estate, 35 P. 2d 34, 178 Wash. 460.

23 C.J. p 1016 note 87.

Bank deposits

For purposes of administration of estate of deceased depositor, bank deposits which are simple contract debts are considered as having situs at domicile of debtor.—In re Lloyd's Estate, 52 P.2d 1269, 185 Wash. 61—23 C.J. p 1016 note 87 [b].

33. Mont.—State v. Jones, 261 P. 356, 80 Mont. 574, 60 A.L.R. 551.

23 C.J. p 1017 note 88.

34. Kan.—Toner v. Conqueror Trust Co., 293 P. 745, 750, 131 Kan. 651, quoting Corpus Juris.

In New York

(1) Statute relating to debts owed to decedent was intended to limit surrogate's jurisdiction based on situs of documents to "negotiable" or quasi-negotiable instruments, meaning those transferable by indorsement or delivery only, as distinguished from assignment, and in case of debt not evidenced by negotiable instrument, jurisdiction depends on debtor's residence.—In re DeBaun's Will, 293 N.Y.S. 836, 162 Misc. 111—In re Deveson's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 98, 158 Misc. 868.

(2) A debt evidenced by a negotiable instrument is, for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction, regarded as personal property at the place where the instrument is, whether within or without the state.—In re DeBaun's Will, supra—Matter of Miller, 5 Dem.Surr. 381.

35. Kan.—Toner v. Conqueror Trust Co., 293 P. 745, 131 Kan. 651.

23 C.J. p 1017 note 90.

36. U.S.—Eells v. Holder, C.C.Kan., 12 F. 668, 2 McCrary 622.

Iowa.—Chamberlin v. Wilson, 45 Iowa 149.

37. In New York, as shown supra this subdivision, under the statute relating to debts owed to decedent, in case of a debt not evidenced by a negotiable instrument jurisdiction depends on the debtor's residence. The rule announced by the court of appeals in Beers v. Shannon, 73 N.Y. 292, decided in 1878, that the situs of a specialty is where the instrument happens to be is consequently superseded.—In re DeBaun's Will, 293 N.Y.S. 836, 162 Misc. 111.

38. Ill.—Martin v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 159 N.E. 312, 327 Ill. 622.

23 C.J. p 1017 note 92.

Foreclosure of realty mortgage

An executrix appointed by Arizona court probating will of testator dying in Illinois was not entitled to foreclosure of Arizona realty mort-

(3) Judgment Debts

For the purpose of jurisdiction, judgment debts are assets in the locality where the judgment was recorded or the debtor resides.

It has been laid down that for the purpose of jurisdiction judgment debts are assets in the locality where the judgments are recorded,³⁹ but it has also been held that a judgment, like a simple contract debt, is an asset in the place where the debtor resides, and hence will support a grant of administration in the state and county of the debtor's residence on the estate of the deceased creditor who lived in another state.⁴⁰ Where an administrator sends into another state a judgment obtained by him in the state of his appointment, in order that realty situated in the former state may be subjected to its payment, the judgment constitutes assets there for purposes of administration.⁴¹

(4) Claims against United States

Except as to such claims as can be enforced only in the District of Columbia, for the purpose of probate jurisdiction claims against the United States have their situs in the locality where decedent resided.

A claim against the United States is not a local asset at the seat of government in the District of Columbia,⁴² but for the purpose of administration is deemed to have its locality in the state where decedent resided.⁴³ It has, however, been held otherwise with respect to claims of such nature that they can be enforced only in the District of Columbia.⁴⁴

Funds in the custody of the alien property custodian may be considered as having their situs in any state as regards the appointment of an administrator of the owner's estate.⁴⁵

(5) Corporate Stock

For purposes of administration, shares of stock have been variously held to be located where the corporate property is situated, where the corporation was organized or has its principal place of business, and at the domicile of the owner.

The location of certificates of stock does not determine the location of the property represented thereby for purposes of administration,⁴⁶ but shares of corporate stock are usually considered personal property in the place where the corporate property is located,⁴⁷ or where the corporation was organized⁴⁸ or has its principal place of business.⁴⁹ Nevertheless, under a statute designating corporate stock as personal estate, it has been held that the situs of such stock is at the domicile of the owner, rather than at the place where the corporation is organized and has its place of business.⁵⁰

(6) Insurance Policies

For the purpose of administration, insurance policies have been regarded as assets at the place of the insurer's residence, at the place where the insurer does business, at the place where the policy happens to be, and at the decedent's domicile.

According to some authorities, an insurance policy, although under the corporate seal of the insurer, is not regarded as a specialty for the purpose of administration, but is considered a simple contract debt having its situs at the place of the insurer's residence,⁵¹ or at a place where the insurer was doing business;⁵² but it has also been held gaged in possession of administrator with will annexed appointed by Illinois court probating will.—Smith v. Normart, 75 P.2d 38, 51 Ariz. 134, 114 A.L.R. 1456.

39. Iowa.—Edwards v. Popham, 220 N.W. 16, 206 Iowa 149, 23 C.J. p 1017 note 93.

40. Tenn.—Swancy v. Scott, 9 Humphr. 327.

In Texas

(1) Judgment debts are bona notabilia and have their situs at the residence of the debtor.—Saner-Ragley Lumber Co. v. Spivey, Com.App., 238 S.W. 912, 916, citing Corpus Juris, and reversing, Civ.App., 230 S.W. 878.

(2) Where decedent had no fixed domicile and no property save a judgment, administration should be taken in the county where decedent died and was not authorized in the county where the judgment was rendered.—Angier v. Jones, 67 S.W. 449, 28 Tex.Civ.App. 402.

41. N.C.—Morefield v. Harris, 36 S.E. 125, 126 N.C. 626.

42. D.C.—In re Grinnage's Estate, 101 F.2d 695, 69 App.D.C. 370, 23 C.J. p 1017 note 97.

43. U.S.—Wyman v. U. S. ex rel. Halstead, 3 S.Ct. 417, 109 U.S. 654, 27 L.Ed. 1068—King v. U. S., 27 Ct.Cl. 529.

44. Vt.—Manning v. Leighton, 26 A.258, 65 Vt. 84, 24 L.R.A. 684.

45. Neb.—In re Buder's Estate, 219 N.W. 808, 117 Neb. 52.

46. Ill.—Harris v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 170 N.E. 285, 338 Ill. 245, affirming 251 Ill.App. 240—Martin v. Central Trust Co. of Illinois, 159 N.E. 312, 327 Ill. 622, 23 C.J. p 1017 note 1.

Claim of ownership as affecting situs
That complainant claimed equitable ownership of stock of foreign corporation owned by nonresident at his death, but pledged as security with local creditor, cannot affect situs of property.—Harris v. Chicago

Title & Trust Co., 170 N.E. 285, 338 Ill. 245, affirming 251 Ill.App. 240.

47. N.Y.—In re Fitch, 54 N.E. 701, 160 N.Y. 87, 30 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 1, affirming 57 N.Y.S. 786, 39 App. Div. 609.

23 C.J. p 1018 note 2.

48. Okl.—Black Eagle Mining Co. v. Conroy, 221 P. 425, 94 Okl. 199.

49. Okl.—Black Eagle Mining Co. v. Conroy, supra, 23 C.J. p 1018 note 3.

50. Kan.—In re Miller, 136 P. 255, 90 Kan. 819, L.R.A.1915D 856, Ann. Cas.1915B 699, rehearing denied 136 P. 932.

51. Ill.—Furst v. Brady, 31 N.E.2d 606, 375 Ill. 425, 133 A.L.R. 558, reversing In re Brady's Estate, 24 N.E.2d 748, 303 Ill.App. 139, 23 C.J. p 1018 note 5.

52. Ind.—Rochford v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 164 N.E. 713, 88 Ind. App. 549.

that the policy is an asset where it happens to be at the time of decedent's death, if the insurer was doing business in that jurisdiction and could be sued therein,⁵³ and in some cases the policy has been regarded as an asset at the domicile of decedent.⁵⁴

§ 21. — Where Neither Domicile Nor Assets within Jurisdiction

Unless authorized by statute, administration cannot be granted on the estate of a nonresident decedent who left no property within the jurisdiction.

As a general rule a court cannot grant administration on the estate of a nonresident decedent who left no property within the jurisdiction,⁵⁵ although administration may be granted where the statutes contemplate administration under such circumstances.⁵⁶

II. APPOINTMENT, QUALIFICATION, AND TENURE

A. EXECUTORS

§ 22. Appointment

- a. In general
- b. Sufficiency of designation
- c. Delegation of power to nominate
- d. Rights under testamentary appointment

a. In General

A testator has the right to choose his executor, who derives his authority from the will and his power to act from his due qualification in compliance with the law.

A testator has the right to name the person who, after his death, shall have charge of his estate for the purpose of administering it,⁵⁷ provided such person is not disqualified by law.⁵⁸ The interest of

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

Or.—In re Villas' Estate, 110 P.2d 940.

53. U.S.—New England Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Woodworth, Ill., 4 S.Ct. 364, 111 U.S. 138, 28 L.Ed. 379.

54. N.Y.—Holyoke v. Union Mut. L. Ins. Co., 22 Hun 75, affirmed 84 N.Y. 648.

Temporary residence

Situs of insurer's liability on automobile liability policy was in county in which administration was sought, where decedent was temporary resident of that county and insurer was doing business in the state.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

55. Idaho.—Russell v. Bow, 295 P. 437, 50 Idaho 264.

Mass.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

Neb.—In re Buder's Estate, 219 N.W. 808, 117 Neb. 52.

Okl.—Griffin v. Hannan, 93 P.2d 1078, 1079, 185 Okl. 433, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1009 note 35, p 1018 note 11. Location of assets as giving jurisdiction to grant administration see infra § 20.

Action against nonresident decedent

(1) According to one view, the mere fact that a nonresident decedent is defendant in pending action which survives death does not authorize court to appoint administrator, there being no res for administration; and so, where counterclaim of nonresident decedent defendant had been disallowed, and no appeal taken, appointment of administrator was unauthorized.—Russell v. Bow, 295 P. 437, 50 Idaho 264.

(2) However, it has been held that the pendency of tort actions in a court of the commonwealth against nonresident defendant, where personal jurisdiction had been obtained over such defendant, was sufficient to support appointment of administratrix upon suggestion of defendant's death.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

56. Utah.—In re Tasanen, 71 P. 984, 25 Utah 396.

23 C.J. p 1018 note 12.

57. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S.E. 463, 464, 53 Ga.App. 443, citing Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—In re Birkholz's Estate, 197 N.W. 896.

N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 193 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602.—In re Kennedy's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 883, 149 Misc. 188.—In re Walsh's Will, 264 N.Y.S. 72, 147 Misc. 381.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P. 2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

Va.—Bruce v. Farrar, 158 S.E. 856, 156 Va. 542, 75 A.L.R. 872.

23 C.J. p 1019 note 18.

Policy of the law

It is broad general policy of law to give effect to testator's desires and see that his intentions are carried out so far as ascertainable, as by issuing letters testamentary to executor named in will.—In re Russell's Estate, 110 P.2d 718, 43 Cal. App.2d 319.

Right to appoint not vested right

The right to appoint an executor or trustee by will to carry its provisions into effect is in no sense a vested right, but is restricted and regulated by statute, as is the action of the court in issuing letters conferring authority on the person so appointed to act.

Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 99, 79 Ind.App. 537, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Matter of Avery, 92 N.Y.S. 974, 45 Misc. 529.

Request by family of testator that executor renounce, in order that administration with the will annexed may be issued in accordance with their wishes, is unreasonable and inconsistent with proper respect for the memory of the deceased, and is properly refused.

Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 99, 79 Ind.App. 537, citing Corpus Juris.

Pa.—In re McManus, 61 A. 892, 212 Pa. 267.

Conservator of incompetent is not, following his death, authorized to administer his estate under statutes providing that such conservator shall have full power under the letters issued to him to settle the estate of such deceased ward without further letters of administration in such manner as is required by law of the administrators of the estates of deceased persons, where the facts show that the deceased ward left a valid will appointing another as executor, since the statutes relate only to an intestate's estate.—Belleville Sav. Bank v. Schrader, 214 Ill.App. 388.

58. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

every executor in his testator's estate is what the testator gives him, and a testator may make the trust absolute or qualified respecting either the subject matter, the place where the trust shall be discharged, or the time when the executor shall begin, or during which he shall continue to act as such.⁵⁹ Testamentary appointment of an executor may be either express or constructive,⁶⁰ and may be by way of request or suggestion rather than mandate, on the testator's part.⁶¹

Source of authority. The common-law doctrine is that an executor derives his authority solely from the will by which he is appointed,⁶² and not from the probate of such will, which is held to be only evidence of his right.⁶³ However, the modern view is that, while an executor's authority is derived primarily from the will,⁶⁴ it is not derived solely therefrom in the sense that mere nomination in the will standing alone is sufficient to constitute one an executor,⁶⁵ but the full powers of an executor come from the court of probate jurisdiction, which, recognizing and confirming the testator's selection, clothes the executor therein named with plenary authority by issuing to him letters testamentary, which are usually granted in connection with the probate of the will.⁶⁶

The fact that an executor derives his authority primarily from the will serves to distinguish him from an administrator,⁶⁷ since the latter, as shown infra § 30, derives his source of power solely from his appointment by the court. The tendency of the courts is to assimilate the powers and duties of these two classes of legal representatives, and to require both executors and administrators to take out letters and qualify in the same special court, rendering their accounts on a similar plan and under a like judicial supervision;⁶⁸ and both derive their power to act from the order of the court.⁶⁹

b. Sufficiency of Designation

- (1) In general
- (2) Appointment by the tenor

(1) In General

The will must name or provide the means of identification of the executor intended and evidence the intention of the testator that such person shall act as executor.

A nomination of an executor cannot be operative unless there are some means of identifying with certainty the person whom the testator intended to serve, although a designation of a person who can be identified even if not specifically named may be sufficient.⁷⁰ Further, the will must show that it was the intention of the testator that such person should act in the capacity of executor.⁷¹ The in-

Subject of regulation

The right to make a will or appoint an executor is purely a matter of statutory regulation.—State ex rel. Burnes Nat. Bank of St. Joseph v. Duncan, 257 S.W. 784, 302 Mo. 130, reversed on other grounds State of Missouri ex rel. Burnes Nat. Bank of St. Joseph v. Duncan, 44 S.Ct. 427, 263 U.S. 361, 48 L.Ed. 339.

Testator's intent, as respects right to administration, as disclosed by will is controlling, unless violative of law.—In re Kelly's Will, 235 N.Y. S. 633, 134 Misc. 399.

59. U.S.—Hill v. Tucker, La., 13 How. 458, 14 L.Ed. 223.
23 C.J. p 1019 note 20.

60. N.Y.—In re Brocato's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 111, 143 Misc. 664.

Appointment by the tenor see infra subdivision b (2) of this section.

61. Ky.—Sauer v. Taylor, 212 S.W. 563, 184 Ky. 609.

62. Or.—State v. Tazwell, 283 P. 745, 746, 132 Or. 122, citing Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1019 note 21.

63. N.Y.—In re Bergdorf's Will, 99 N.E. 714, 206 N.Y. 309, affirming 133 N.Y.S. 1012, 149 App.Div. 529.
23 C.J. p 1019 note 22.

64. D.C.—Hutchins v. Hutchins, 48 App.D.C. 286.

Me.—Glidden v. Rines, 128 A. 4, 124 Me. 286.

Miss.—Ricks v. Johnson, 99 So. 142, 134 Miss. 676.

N.Y.—In re Cornell's Will, 196 N.E. 396, 267 N.Y. 456, 101 A.L.R. 1502, reversing 276 N.Y.S. 14, 242 App. Div. 562, reversing In re Cornell's Estate, 267 N.Y.S. 649, 149 Misc. 553, and reargument denied 198 N. E. 532, 268 N.Y. 637, 101 A.L.R. 1510, certiorari denied Alford v. Cornell, 56 S.Ct. 500, 297 U.S. 708, 80 L.Ed. 995, rehearing denied 56 S.Ct. 589, 297 U.S. 728, 80 L.Ed. 1011.—In re Kennedy's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 883, 149 Misc. 188.—In re Walsh's Will, 264 N.Y.S. 72, 147 Misc. 281.—In re Brocato's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 111, 143 Misc. 664.—In re Rath's Estate, 176 N.Y.S. 887, 107 Misc. 598.

Pa.—See In re Mayer's Estate, 53 York Leg.Rec. 101, 1 Fay.L.J. 123.
Va.—Harris v. Citizens Bank & Trust Co., 200 S.E. 652, 172 Va. 111.
23 C.J. p 1020 note 23.

65. Iowa.—In re Birkholz's Estate, 197 N.W. 896.

Or.—State v. Tazwell, 283 P. 745, 132 Or. 122.
23 C.J. p 1020 note 24.

66. U.S.—Lindley v. U. S., C.C.A. Cal., 59 F.2d 336.

Iowa.—Davenport v. Sandeman, 216 N.W. 55, 204 Iowa 927.

N.H.—Lisbon Sav. Bank & Trust Co. v. Moulton's Estate, 22 A.2d 381.

N.Y.—In re Forrest's Estate, 249 N. Y.S. 766, 140 Misc. 14, reversed on other grounds Grossman, In re, 254 N.Y.S. 1012, 234 App.Div. 890, affirmed 182 N.E. 177, 259 N.Y. 553.—In re Avery's Estate, 92 N.Y.S. 974, 45 Misc. 529.

Tex.—Anderson v. Caulk, Civ.App., 5 S.W.2d 816, affirmed Caulk v. Anderson, 37 S.W.2d 1008, 120 Tex. 253.

Va.—Harris v. Citizens Bank & Trust Co., 200 S.E. 652, 172 Va. 111.

Wis.—Saxe v. Saxe, 97 N.W. 187, 119 Wis. 557.

23 C.J. p 1020 note 25.

67. Me.—Glidden v. Rines, 128 A. 4, 124 Me. 286.

68. La.—McNeely's Succession, 24 So. 338, 50 La.Ann. 823.

Mich.—Attorney General v. Bay City First Nat. Bank, 159 N.W. 335, 192 Mich. 640.

N.Y.—In re Haughian, 75 N.Y.S. 932, 37 Misc. 457.

69. Cal.—Los Angeles County v. Morrison, 101 P.2d 470, 15 Cal.2d 368, 129 A.L.R. 443.

70. N.Y.—Matter of Hardy, 2 Dem. Surr. 91.

23 C.J. p 1020 note 26.

71. N.C.—In re Leonard's Will, 12 S.E.2d 222, 218 N.C. 733.

tent of the testator governs with respect to the appointment of an executor,⁷² and his desires in respect of the naming of an executor will be respected, although not expressed directly, if reasonably deducible from the language of the will.⁷³ Slight expressions in the will may suffice to determine testator's intent,⁷⁴ and in general each case of doubt must be resolved in the light of its own peculiar facts.⁷⁵ A will appointing as executor the priest of testator's church, without naming him, will be construed to mean the priest at the time of testator's death.⁷⁶ When the description of the executor is imperfect or ambiguous, extrinsic evidence may be admitted to identify the person actually intended.⁷⁷

(2) Appointment by the Tenor

An appointment of an executor by the tenor occurs,

"Have this in charge"

Where second page of holograph will was headed "All I have is this," statement therein that named person "have this in charge" was not sufficient to name such person as executrix.—In re Leonard's Will, supra.

72. Mo.—State v. Holtcamp, 185 S. W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918 D 454.

23 C.J. p 1020 note 29.

73. Cal.—In re Russell's Estate, 110 P.2d 718, 43 Cal.App.2d 319.

74. N.Y.—Matter of Robitscher, 158 N.Y.S. 265, 92 Misc. 653.

75. Cal.—In re Spencer's Estate, 264 P. 765, 203 Cal. 424.

76. Ga.—Mueller v. First Nat. Bank of Atlanta, 156 S.E. 662, 663, 171 Ga. 845, quoting Corpus Juris.

La.—Lefort's Succession, 71 So. 215, 139 La. 51, Ann.Cas.1917E 796.

77. N.Y.—Matter of Hardy, 2 Dem. Surr. 91.

78. Cal.—In re Spencer's Estate, 264 P. 765, 203 Cal. 424.—In re Parker's Estate, 259 P. 431, 202 Cal. 138.

La.—Succession of Rassat, App., 157 So. 412, 414, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—In re Gorra's Will, 236 N.Y. S. 709, 135 Misc. 93.

S.C.—Des Portes v. Des Portes, 154 S.E. 426, 430, 157 S.C. 407, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1021 note 33.

If word "executor" is wholly omitted from will, but there is cast on some named person an affirmative duty to collect debts, adjust claims, and make distribution of assets, an appointment of that person as executor is validated.—In re Hazen's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 293, 175 Misc. 851.

79. Cal.—In re Parker's Estate, 259 P. 431, 202 Cal. 138.

La.—Succession of Rassat, App., 157 So. 412, 414, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Dulin v. Dulin, 148 S.E. 175, 178, 197 N.C. 215, citing Corpus Juris.

S.C.—Des Portes v. Des Portes, 154 S.E. 426, 430, 157 S.C. 407, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1021 note 34.

Particular directions

A will directing testator's brother to pay legacy, educate testator's nieces, and divide rest was held to designate brother as executor.—Dulin v. Dulin, 148 S.E. 175, 197 N.C. 215.

"Have charge of my affairs"

Where holographic will provided for bequest of property to each of testatrix's children, and also to one F. C., husband of daughter, and contained clause, "and request that F. C. have charge of my affairs," it was held that latter legatee was not, in view of Code Civ.Proc. §§ 1350a and 1365, improperly appointed executor.—In re Henderson's Estate, 238 P. 938, 196 Cal. 623.

80. La.—Succession of Rassat, App., 157 So. 412, 414, quoting Corpus Juris.

S.C.—Des Portes v. Des Portes, 154 S.E. 426, 430, 157 S.C. 407, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1021 note 34.

Language held sufficiently definite

A will, although not directly nominating one as executor and trustee, is sufficiently definite to constitute him an executor by the tenor, where in different parts of the will testator shows an intention that such a one shall have charge of carrying out provisions of will, and provision is made for the appointment of a substitute executor to be appointed on his death.—In re Tactikian's Estate, 179 N.Y.S. 188, 109 Misc. 519.

and may be sufficient, where the will confers the rights, powers, and duties of an executor on a particular person, either expressly or by implication, although not designating him as executor or although designating him by some other name.

It is not necessary to the designation of an executor that the word "executor" should be used,⁷⁸ but any words which substantially confer on a person, whether expressly or by implication, the rights, powers, and duties of an executor, amount to a due appointment under the will;⁷⁹ and the person thus clothed with the essential functions of the office is said to be an executor under the will according to the tenor.⁸⁰ Thus one to whom the essential powers and duties of the office of executor are committed by the will is to be deemed an executor although the testator may have misnamed his appointee,⁸¹ as by calling him an administrator,⁸² cus-

81. N.Y.—In re Hazen's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 293, 175 Misc. 851.

Naming woman "executor" sufficient to make her executrix

Where holographic will named certain woman as "executor" and provided that any one breaking will "is debarred from same, with payment of $5.00," language was effective to make named woman executrix of will.—Andrew's Ex'x v. Spruill, 112 S.W.2d 402, 271 Ky. 516.

82. Colo.—Frazier v. Frazier, 263 P. 413, 33 Colo. 188.

Ky.—Sauer v. Taylor, 212 S.W. 583, 184 Ky. 609.

Will asking that court appoint certain person "administrator" of the testator's estate warrants the issuance of letters testamentary to such person.

Ky.—Sauer v. Taylor, supra.

La.—Succession of Rassat, App., 157 So. 412, 414, quoting Corpus Juris.

Expressing wish that one should "administer"

Where deceased in writing to nephew informed him as to location of her valuables, expressed desire that public administrator should not handle her property, and told him to keep letter in safe depository, an addendum to letter reading: "I have stated to you before that I wish you to administer on my estate, when it has to be. So will put it in writing. Distributed equally among my nieces and nephews. You receive your pay besides out of the estate"—was written in view of possible death, and should be construed as a holographic will making nephew executor.—In re Dexter's Estate, 176 P. 168, 179 Cal. 247.

Lack of power to appoint "administrator"

Since a testator has no authority to appoint an administrator, such authority being reposed in judge of todian,⁸³ guardian,⁸⁴ or trustee.⁸⁵

The intention of the testator must be sufficiently definite, and the court, in determining whether the will effectively appoints an executor, cannot proceed on loose conjectural interpretation, or by considering what a man might be imagined to do in the testator's circumstances,⁸⁶ nor spell out the designation of one as executor by the tenor from the mere mention of his name in the will.⁸⁷ So executorship according to the tenor will not be granted where the will does not import that the person named shall collect dues, pay debts and legacies, and settle the estate, like an executor, as in the mere designation to perform some trust or to be guardian,⁸⁸ where the will makes the nugatory direction that the testator's property shall go at once to the legatees or to trustees as if to dispense with administration and the payment of debts altogether,⁸⁹ or where the will does not sufficiently confer an executor's rights and duties on anyone or on the person claiming the office,⁹⁰ and it may be stated generally that the appointment of executors by construction or implication from the terms of the will should not be favored, but in doubtful cases administration with the will annexed should be resorted to.⁹¹ A fortiori, a provision in the will authorizing or directing the executor to consult or employ a certain person as adviser does not constitute such person an executor.⁹²

c. Delegation of Power to Nominate

A testator may by provision in his will delegate to others the power to appoint an executor.

A testamentary appointment may be either an immediate designation or an appointment by others by authority of the will.⁹³ A testator may delegate to some person or persons named in the will, or to the probate court, the power to name an executor, and letters testamentary may be issued to a person nominated pursuant to such power,⁹⁴ and it has been held that a provision in the will that "I authorize and empower and request my said executors" to appoint others to act with them in case the number of executors should fall below the certain number, imposed on the acting executors the duty to appoint, which they could be compelled to perform.⁹⁵

d. Rights under Testamentary Appointment

The person designated as executor by the testator has a right to administer the estate, of which he may be deprived only by his ineligibility or his failure or refusal to act.

Where a testator designates an executor, the person so designated has a right to administer the es-court of probate in which mortuary proceedings are instituted, where his will in terms appoints a person as "administrator of my estate after my death," person appointed will be deemed a testamentary "executor" entitled to letters testamentary without requirement of giving security, since word "administrator" did not render invalid nomination of a person as executor.—Succession of Rasat, La.App., 157 So. 412.

83. Cal.—In re Spencer's Estate, 264 P. 765, 203 Cal. 424.

Colo.—Frazier v. Frazier, 263 P. 413, 83 Colo. 188.

84. Cal.—In re Spencer's Estate, 264 P. 765, 203 Cal. 424.

85. N.Y.—In re Hazen's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 293, 175 Misc. 851.

S.C.—Des Portes v. Des Portes, 154 S.E. 426, 430, 157 S.C. 407, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1021 note 36.

86. S.C.—Des Portes v. Des Portes, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1021 note 38.

Designation held insufficient

(1) Widow was held not entitled to letters testamentary under will merely directing that all testator's property should go to wife, with remainder in children on wife's remarriage.—In re Brocato's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 111, 143 Misc. 664.

(2) Under will requesting certain bequest to be placed in trust with bank, and appointing testator's wife and the bank as trustees, which will made no use of word "executor", the joinder of wife with bank as "trustees" standing alone was not enough to warrant a holding that executorial functions were conferred by will on bank jointly with widow.—In re Hazen's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 293, 175 Misc. 851.

To establish right to letters testamentary, applicant must seek and find in the will a designation of himself as executor.—In re Healy's Will, 8 N.Y.S.2d 394, 255 App.Div. 361.

87. N.Y.—In re Hazen's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 293, 175 Misc. 851.

88. Mo.—In re Hill, 77 S.W. 110, 102 Mo.App. 617.
23 C.J. p 1022 note 39.

89. Md.—Hunter v. Bryson, 3 Gill & J. 483, 25 Am.D. 313.
Mass.—Drury v. Natick, 10 Allen 169—Newcomb v. Williams, 9 Metc. 525.

90. Tex.—Frisby v. Withers, 61 Tex. 134.
23 C.J. p 1022 note 41.

91. Mo.—In re Hill, 77 S.W. 110, 102 Mo.App. 617.
N.Y.—Conklin v. Egerton, 31 Wend. 430.

23 C.J. p 1022 note 42.

Administration with the will annexed is discussed generally infra §§ 1031-1034.

92. Cal.—In re Ogier, 35 P. 900, 101 Cal. 381, 40 Am.S.R. 61.
Tenn.—Young v. Alexander, 16 Lea 108.

93. N.Y.—In re Brocato's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 111, 143 Misc. 664.

94. Ala.—Thomas v. Field, 98 So. 474, 210 Ala. 502.
Conn.—Bishop v. Bishop, 14 A. 803, 56 Conn. 208.
23 C.J. p 1023 note 51.

Exhaustion of power

(1) Where it was clear testator desired administration, either by four brothers, or one of them, or some fit person selected and nominated by two named daughters as long as they lived, the right of the daughters to select an executor did not terminate on the selection of one who failed to act and resigned, but continued while the estate remained unadministered and undivided.—Thomas v. Field, 98 So. 474, 210 Ala. 502.

(2) A testamentary power given to the survivor of two executors to appoint a successor is exhausted by such appointment.—Bonning's Estate, 14 Pa.Dist. 236.

95. N.J.—Hutton v. Hutton, 3 A. 882, 41 N.J.Eq. 267, 268.

tate,⁹⁶ of which he can be deprived only by his refusal or neglect to prove the will and take out letters,⁹⁷ or his inability or unsuitableness to execute the trust, as discussed infra § 28; and no other person can execute the trust while any of the executors is living and has not declined the office nor been shown to be unsuitable.⁹⁸ It has been held, however, that where there are no debts nor legacies to be paid, the appointment of an executor became inoperative.⁹⁹

§ 23. — Designation of More than One Executor

On the naming of two or more as executors all available should qualify. In case all do not qualify, the powers of all may be exercised by those who do qualify.

Where several executors are named or designated together they are presumably intended to be co-executors and should be qualified together, all being thus legally regarded as an individual in place of a sole executor, and of various persons named as co-executors he or they who may be alive and willing and competent to accept the trust on the testator's decease can alone be deemed qualified for the office.¹ Where a testator nominates two or more persons as executors but only one qualifies, that one has all the authority which all would have had if all had qualified.²

§ 24. — Conditional Appointment

An executor's appointment may be made conditional, and in such case letters testamentary may be issued only on compliance with the conditions named.

The executor's appointment may be made conditional, as on his giving security for paying the debts and legacies, or possessing certain qualifications at the time of the testator's decease, or provided he prove the will within a specified time after the testator's death, or otherwise, and unless the conditions are fulfilled the nomination goes for naught.³ Where a testator appoints his wife executrix if she survives him and appoints another executor on condition that testator and wife die at the same time, where the wife survives the testator but dies very shortly thereafter, meanwhile expressly renouncing her executrixship, such other is not entitled to letters testamentary since the condition of testator and wife dying at the same time has not been fulfilled.⁴

§ 25. — Substitutionary or Successive Appointments

A testator may properly provide for succession or substitution of executors and designate who they shall be.

A testator may name two or more persons as his executors, not to serve as co-executors, but by way of providing for succession or substitution in case the person or persons primarily designated die, or fail or are unable to serve,⁵ and a successor thus duly appointed to discharge the duties which were left unperformed by his predecessor, or to act in the place of the primary appointee is an executor by substitution and not a mere administrator de bonis non with the will annexed.⁶ A testator may also name several executors, each of whom will be entitled to qualify and become a co-executor with the others on the happening of a certain event, as for instance where the will provides that each of testator's sons, on becoming of age, shall be an executor.⁷

§ 26. — Revocation of Appointment

A testator may revoke his designation of an executor by a subsequent testamentary instrument.

96. Pa.—In re Miller, 65 A. 681, 216 Pa. 247.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 37 P.2d 209, 211, 179 Wash. 198, citing Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1023 note 58.

97. Pa.—In re Miller, 65 A. 681, 216 Pa. 247.

98. La.—Downing's Succession, 47 So. 604, 122 La. 275.

Pa.—In re Miller, 65 A. 681, 217 Pa. 247.

23 C.J. p 1023 note 61.

Application of heirs

The appointment of an executor rests with the testator and not with his heirs and legatees, or with the court, his motive in making such appointment not being open to inquiry, so that, under Burns St.Annot.1914 § 2787, the court on application of the heirs has no authority to substitute one trust company for another named by the testator.—Farmers'

Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 79 Ind.App. 537.

Beneficiaries under the will may not select a representative for the estate in disregard of the selection made by the testator.

Ill.—Belleville Sav. Bank v. Schrader, 214 Ill.App. 388.

N.Y.—In re Phelps' Estate, 295 N.Y. S. 840, 162 Misc. 703.

99. La.—Walker's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 321—Depuy's Succession, 4 La. Ann. 570.

1. Hawaii.—Matter of Parker, 19 Hawaii 393.

N.Y.—Steisel v. Cruikshank, 4 Dem. Surr. 352.

23 C.J. p 1022 note 44.

2. Miss.—Bodley v. McKinney, 20 Miss. 339.

Mo.—Phillips v. Stewart, 59 Mo. 491.

3. N.J.—Knox v. Newman, 15 A. 415, 44 N.J.Eq. 309.

4. Cal.—In re Kimball's Estate, 253 P. 591, 200 Cal. 247.

5. Ill.—Kinney v. Keplinger, 50 N. E. 131, 172 Ill. 449, reversing 71 Ill.App. 334.
23 C.J. p 1022 note 47.

Appointment of successor before probate

Appointment of successor by testamentary executor and trustee before probate of will or issuance of letters testamentary is valid, where will granted him power to name successor and letters testamentary were subsequently issued to testamentary executor and trustee.—In re Walsh's Will, 264 N.Y.S. 72, 147 Misc. 251.

6. Del.—State v. Rogers, 6 Del. 569.
Ill.—Kinney v. Keplinger, 50 N.E. 131, 172 Ill. 449, reversing 71 Ill. App. 334.

7. Tex.—Frisby v. Withers, 61 Tex. 134.

The appointment of executors under a will may be revoked by the substitution of others in a codicil⁸ or a subsequent will;⁹ but a contract stipulation not in direct conflict with a provision of the will appointing an executor has been held insufficient to preclude the appointment in accordance with the provisions of the will.¹⁰ In a case where the testator erased the name of the executor in his will, and wrote the name of another person over the erasure, and also wrote on the margin of the paper that the latter person was to be executor, and it appeared probable that the name of such person was inserted before the execution of a codicil to the will, it was held that such person was entitled to letters testamentary.¹¹ Death of the nominee before qualification as executor terminates his right to letters testamentary.¹²

§ 27. — Power and Duty of Court

The court may not appoint as executor a person not so nominated in the will and should appoint the nominee in the absence of an adequate reason for refusing. It has been held that the court has no discretionary power to refuse to appoint a duly qualified nominee, but there is contrary authority.

A court of probate has no power to appoint as executor a person not nominated as such in the will of the testator.¹³ In the absence of an adequate cause for disregarding the testator's designation, the court should appoint his nominee as executor,¹⁴ and properly does so where no objections are filed as required by statute,¹⁵ and in the absence of strict proof of statutory grounds of incompetency,¹⁶ it being the duty of the court to issue letters testamentary to the person named as executor on his application where the will has been proved and admitted to probate,¹⁷ and in the absence of a statutory disqualification or fraud on the part of the nominee¹⁸ or of his renunciation and waiver of the right to act.¹⁹

Statutes with reference to the issuance of letters testamentary must be strictly followed,²⁰ and, where mandatory, deprive the court of discretion to issue such letters to others than the testator's nominee unless he is incompetent or disqualified by law.²¹ However, in the absence of a contrary statute, it has been held that the court is not bound by the testator's nomination²² and may in its discretion either appoint the nominee or refuse to do so,²³ although the testator's selection should be followed in the absence of a strong showing to the contrary;²⁴

8. Cal.—In re Ringot, 56 P. 781, 124 Cal. 45.

La.—Bowles' Succession, 3 Rob. 31. N.Y.—Matter of Robitscher, 156 N. Y.S. 285, 92 Misc. 453.

9. Pa.—Nelson's Estate, 23 A. 373, 147 Pa. 160, affirming 3 Pa.Co. 552. 23 C.J. p 1023 note 55.

10. Cal.—In re Forrest's Estate, 110 P.2d 1023, 43 Cal.App.2d 347.

Revocation not shown by settlement agreement between separated spouses

Property settlement agreement executed after separation of husband and wife did not preclude wife from serving as executrix under husband's will, in absence of inconsistency, although agreement provided that each party relinquished the right to administer on the estate of the other, although it might have precluded the wife from being administratrix. —In re Forrest's Estate, supra.

11. N.J.—Smith v. Haines, 98 A. 317, 66 N.J.Eq. 224.

12. Cal.—In re Kimball's Estate, 252 P. 591, 200 Cal. 247.

13. Ill.—Sartain v. Davis, 154 N.E. 101, 323 Ill. 269.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 37 P.2d 209, 211, 179 Wash. 198, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1023 note 63.

14. Ala.—Thomas v. Field, 98 So. 474, 210 Ala. 502.

Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, 85 P.2d 45, 53 Ariz. 1.

Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P. 2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

Ind.—Abbott v. Appleton, 159 N.E. 167, 86 Ind.App. 607.

Ky.—Kuechler v. Rubbathen, 99 S. W.2d 193, 266 Ky. 390.

La.—Serres' Succession, 66 So. 342, 135 La. 1005.

Minn.—In re Betts' Estate, 240 N.W. 904, 185 Minn. 627, reversed in part on other grounds 243 N.W. 58, 185 Minn. 627.

Miss.—Ricks v. Johnson, 99 So. 142, 134 Miss. 676.

N.Y.—In re Cullen's Estate, 297 N. Y.S. 280, 163 Misc. 410—In re Rosenfeld's Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 491, 157 Misc. 686.

Testator's intent as controlling

In appointing executors, the court must follow so far as possible what was plainly the testator's intention. It must put aside technicalities, fill in as necessary that which is missing, and interpret liberally that which is written, and once ascertained, that intention will be carried out in so far as it is not inimical to law.—In re Healy's Will, 8 N. Y.S.2d 394, 256 App.Div. 361.

15. Cal.—In re Maddux' Estate, 32 P.2d 392, 128 Cal.App. 430.

16. N.Y.—In re Erlanger's Estate, 242 N.Y.S. 249, 136 Misc. 793.

17. Ill.—Nonnast v. Northern Trust Co., 29 N.E.2d 251, 374 Ill. 248, modifying In re Nonnast's Estate, 21 N.E.2d 796, 300 Ill.App. 537.

Utah.—Welsh, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, 232 P. 911, 914, 64 Utah 579, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1023 note 64.

18. Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A. L.R. 819.

Administrators with the will annexed generally see infra §§ 1031-1034.

19. Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, supra.

20. Mo.—State ex rel. Fanasher v. Guinotte, 58 S.W.2d 1005, 227 Mo. App. 902.

21. Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, 85 P.2d 45, 53 Ariz. 1.

Ill.—Belleville Sav. Bank v. Schrader, 214 Ill.App. 388.

Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 133 N.E. 97, 79 Ind.App. 537.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P. 2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

Tex.—Hutcherson v. Hutcherson, Civ. App., 135 S.W.2d 757, error refused.

22. Wash.—In re Robinson's Estate, 270 P. 1020, 149 Wash. 307—In re Bredl's Estate, 201 P. 296, 117 Wash. 372.

23. Iowa.—Davenport v. Sandeman, 216 N.W. 55, 204 Iowa 927—In re Birkholz's Estate, 197 N.W. 896, 23 C.J. p 1024 note 66.

24. Iowa.—In re Schneider's Estate, and to justify the court in the exercise of its discretionary power to disregard the testator's choice, there must be some basis more substantial than the contrary wishes of collateral relatives.²⁵ Further, it has been held that the designation by the testator must control unless it sufficiently appears that it would not have been made had the testator known the facts and conditions as they exist at the time the court is asked to confirm the appointment.²⁶

The court may disregard the testator's wishes where his nominee is for some reason legally disqualified, as where he is incompetent,²⁷ or dishonest,²⁸ or has attempted to suppress the will,²⁹ or even, it has been held, where the court determines that under conditions as they have changed since the execution of the will the selection would not have been made by the testator.³⁰

Insolvency of an estate does not affect the right of a qualified person to be appointed executor, but affects only the manner in which he shall administer the estate.³¹

Exhaustion of court's power. It has been held that where a probate court has made a decree appointing one of two executors named in a will as sole executor, its power in the premises is exhausted, and while such decree stands it cannot appoint the other person named as coexecutor.³²

277 N.W. 567, 224 Iowa 598—In re Birkholz's Estate, 197 N.W. 896.

25. Iowa.—In re Schneider's Estate, 277 N.W. 567, 224 Iowa 598.

Presumption of testator's belief as to fitness

The court is not bound to recognize the nomination of an executor by will, and the court has discretion in such matters, but where person is named as executor in will, it is presumed that in the judgment of the testator such person possessed a special fitness for the discharge of the trust.—In re Schneider's Estate, supra.

26. Iowa.—In re Schneider's Estate, supra.

27. Neb.—In re Cachelin's Estate, 247 N.W. 422, 124 Neb. 558.

N.Y.—In re Leland's Will, 161 N.Y. S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419, and affirmed 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387, 23 C.J. p 1024 note 65.

28. N.Y.—In re Cullen's Estate, 297 N.Y.S. 280, 163 Misc. 410.

Charges of improvidence or dishonesty not sustained

N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602—In re

Rosenfeld's Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 491, 157 Misc. 686.

29. Wash.—In re Robinson's Estate, 270 P. 1020, 149 Wash. 307.

30. Iowa.—In re Birkholz's Estate, 197 N.W. 896.
23 C.J. p 1024 note 66 [a].

Straitened circumstances

Where an executor nominated by will had been in charge of testator's affairs for some six years before her death, necessitating an accounting, and was in straitened circumstances, with little property and many debts, at the time of his application for appointment, the court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to appoint him.—In re Birkholz's Estate, supra.

31. Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

Retention of administrators with will annexed was not justified over objection of one designated executor by will, even though estate may have been insolvent, as to which in any event there was no due adjudication.
—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, supra.

§ 28. Competency

- a. In general
- b. Character and habits of nominee
- c. Financial condition
- d. Interest adverse to estate
- e. Mental incompetence
- f. Alienage or nonresidence
- g. Infancy or marital status
- h. Official status as judge of probate
- i. Witness to will
- j. Corporations

a. In General

Generally speaking, and except as the rule may be changed by statute, all persons capable of making wills are eligible to become executors on nomination by the testator, the power to name an executor is co-extensive with the power to devise or bequeath the estate, and the testator's nominee may qualify although old and feeble or ignorant and inexperienced. This broad eligibility is, however, subject to statutory restrictions which must be observed by the courts and one failing to meet the statutory standard cannot qualify.

All persons, generally speaking, who are capable of making wills are capable of becoming executors,³³ and indeed the favor of the law extends even further in this respect,³⁴ the general rule being that a testator has the right to determine the qualifications and suitability of the person selected by him as executor,³⁵ that in the absence of controlling statute the power to name an executor is coextensive with the power to devise or bequeath

32. Mass.—Cogswell v. Hall, 67 N. E. 638, 183 Mass. 575, following Jewell v. Turner, 52 N.E. 1082, 172 Mass. 496.

33. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1024 note 69.

34. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1024 note 70.

35. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
Utah.—Welsh, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, 232 P. 911, 64 Utah 579.
22 C.J. p 1024 note 71.

Preferring individual to trust company

"Where the ties of kindred and long acquaintanceship lead the testator to choose the inexperienced wife or friend rather than the modern trust company the relative advantage to the beneficiaries will not justify a judicial veto on such choice."
—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 937, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602—Matter of Leland, 114 N.E. 854, 856, 219 N.Y. 387.

the estate,³⁶ and that testator may appoint anyone, whom he deems proper.³⁷ Accordingly, one named as executor is not disqualified by old age,³⁸ bodily infirmities,³⁹ lack of business experience,⁴⁰ or ignorance of law,⁴¹ and one named in the will as executrix may qualify although she was the testator's concubine.⁴² Neither is the appointment as executrix of a person nominated by the will as one of the executors improper because of the fact that she is the divorced wife of the testator and has a residuary claim under the will.⁴³

It has been said that where the eligibility or right to qualify is contested, the court will give greater consideration to one seeking an executorship than to applicant for letters of administration.⁴⁴

The legislature has power to provide who may or who may not act as executor,⁴⁵ the court may exercise judicial discretion in determining whether one nominated as executor complies with the statutory standard,⁴⁶ and any nominee failing to comply with the statutory standard of eligibility may be refused letters.⁴⁷ On the other hand, statutory limitations placed on the broad right of the testator to select his own executor should be strictly construed in favor of the eligibility of the nominee,⁴⁸ and where he is not shown to fall within the grounds of disqualification enumerated by the statute invoked, letters testamentary should issue.⁴⁹ Some courts state that they will not add disqualifications to those specified by statute,⁵⁰ but others hold that statutory disqualifications are not exclusive and that one nominated as executor may be disqualified on grounds other than those specified in the statute.⁵¹

Failure to comply with statutory formalities; offering will for probate. It is proper to refuse letters to applicant who fails or refuses to comply with statutory regulations respecting the furnishing of information or other essential formalities.⁵²

The fact that executors designated by testator fail

36. Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 99, 79 Ind.App. 537, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

23 C.J. p 1019 note 18 [a].

37. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1024 note 72.

38. N.Y.—In re Leland, 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387, affirming 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.

39. N.Y.—In re Leland, 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387, affirming 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.

40. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1024 note 75.

41. N.Y.—In re Leland, 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387, affirming 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

42. La.—Succession of Bankston, App., 166 So. 900.

43. Iowa.—In re Doolittle, 149 N.W. 373, 169 Iowa 539.

44. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S.W.2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

45. Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, 85 P.2d 45, 53 Ariz. 1.

46. Neb.—In re Blochowits' Estate, 245 N.W. 440, 124 Neb. 110.

Legal competency

(1) Probate court may exercise judicial discretion in determining whether one nominated as executor is "legally competent", as prescribed by statute.—In re Blochowits' Estate, supra.

(2) Words "legally competent" in statute prescribing qualifications of executor mean qualified to act according to judicial standards essential to proper course of justice.—In re Blochowits' Estate, supra.

47. Minn.—In re Holterman's Estate, 282 N.W. 132, 203 Minn. 519, 23 C.J. p 1026 note 3.

"Suitability"

The additional requirement on revision of the probate law, that an executor be "suitable" as well as "competent" to discharge his trust, must be given effect, and letters should be denied to an applicant found "unsuitable".—In re Holterman's Estate, supra.

48. N.Y.—In re Cohen's Will, 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, affirmed 2 N.Y.S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 278 N.Y. 584.—In re Canter's Will, 261 N.Y.S. 872, 146 Misc. 123.

Respect for testator's wishes

The courts will not disregard the solemnly expressed wishes of the testator by too liberal an interpretation of statutory disqualifications.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S.W.2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

49. Ala.—Kidd v. Bates, 23 So. 735, 120 Ala. 79, 74 Am.S.R. 17, 41 L.R.A. 154.

23 C.J. p 1027 note 4.

50. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S.W.2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602.

23 C.J. p 1027 note 4.

Statutory disqualifications only as generally controlling

Aside from the common-law doctrine which excludes idiots and lunatics, the desire of the testator is a controlling factor in determining the right to administer an estate, and it is only statutory disqualifications which may operate to defeat such desire.—In re Cardoner's Estate, 201 P. 1061, 27 N.M. 337, 18 A.L.R. 575.

51. Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

52. N.C.—In re Gulley's Will, 118 S.E. 839, 186 N.C. 78.

Failure to qualify or act see infra § 68.

Refusal to be sworn

Where applicant for letters testamentary refused to be sworn or examined, or give any information regarding the nature or value of the property of the estate in his possession, the clerk of the superior court was justified in refusing to allow him to qualify, in view of Comp.St. § 23, requiring the clerk to obtain the value of the personal property "by examination on the oath of the applicant or some other competent person."—In re Gulley's Will, supra.

to file the will of testator's wife, which is incorporated in his will, within the time specified by law for the filing of the wife's will, does not disqualify them;⁵³ and it has been held that, in any event, statutory provisions for appointment of an administrator where the designated executor fails to make a timely petition for probate of the will are not mandatory but commit the matter to the discretion of the court.⁵⁴

Grounds for removal. The existence of grounds which might warrant removal of an executor, which grounds are discussed infra § 90, does not in itself justify refusal of letters on the original application of one named in the will as executor.⁵⁵

b. Character and Habits of Nominee

Under statutes which have changed the common law in some respects, it is now generally held that to qualify as executor one nominated by the testator must have a character and habits suitable to a proper discharge of the duties of the office, although whether or not any particular characteristic or habits will disqualify him will depend on the terms of the particular statutes involved and their construction by the courts.

While the common law paid so great regard to a testator's wishes, that crime, drunkenness, or dissolute habits seldom disqualified one from serving as executor,⁵⁶ under statutes which in varying terms broadly disqualify one who is legally incompetent or unsuitable, the court may find a nominee unfit and refuse to issue letters to him where his dissolute or criminal habits, or his dishonesty or lack of integrity bring him within the condemnation of the statute.⁵⁷ It is now said to be the duty of the court, before appointing an executor, to make careful inquiry as to his character, integrity, soundness of judgment and general capacity, and to appoint him only after a favorable finding on these matters. Such is its duty under statutes requiring the court to find that a person named as executor is "legally competent and a suitable person" before issuing letters testamentary to him.⁵⁸ Under statutes of this character letters may be denied a nominee of the testator where it is sufficiently shown that he has been convicted of crime,⁵⁹ or is addicted to gambling,⁶⁰ or that he is by character dishonest,⁶¹ immoral,⁶² or improvident,⁶³ or that he is lacking in in-

53. Cal.—In re Martin's Estate, 88 P.2d 234, 31 Cal.App.2d 501.

54. Cal.—In re Martin's Estate, supra.

55. Minn.—In re Betts' Estate, 243 N.W. 58, 185 Minn. 627, reversing in part 240 N.W. 904, 185 Minn. 627.

56. Ky.—Berry v. Hamilton, 12 B. Mon. 191, 54 Am.D. 515.

Pa.—Sill v. McKnight, 7 Watts & S. 244.

57. Colo.—Deeble v. Allerton, 143 P. 1096, 58 Colo. 166, Ann.Cas.1916C 863.

23 C.J. p 1026 note 3.

Broad construction of "legally incompetent"

Notwithstanding executor named in will is otherwise qualified, county court may refuse to appoint him on ground that he is incapable or unsuitable to discharge trust, since this renders him "legally incompetent."—In re Cachelin's Estate, 247 N.W. 422, 124 Neb. 556.

58. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 162 N.E. 217, 263 Mass. 444, modified on other grounds Ex parte Worcester County Nat. Bank, 19 S.Ct. 368, 279 U.S. 347, 73 L.Ed. 733, 61 A.L.R. 98.

59. La.—Townsend's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 535.

Convicted by court within jurisdiction

A testator's son, named as one of executors, who had been convicted in a court in New York of forgery in the first degree, which was punishable by imprisonment in a state prison, was a "felon" within statute disqualifying a "felon" from acting as executor and hence was incompetent to act as such.—In re Cohen's Will, 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 93 affirmed 2 N.Y.S.2d 764, 254 App. Div. 571, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 275 N.Y. 584.

60. N.Y.—McMahon v. Harrison, 6 N.Y. 443.

61. N.Y.—In re Cullen's Estate, 297 N.Y.S. 280, 163 Misc. 410.

Wash.—In re Bredt's Estate, 201 P. 296, 117 Wash. 372.

"Habit of mind" toward wrongful action

(1) A person is not rendered incompetent to act as an executor by reason of dishonesty and incapable of acting as an executor because of an isolated act of wrongdoing, but must be shown to have a tendency or "habit of mind" toward wrongful action.—In re Cohen's Will, 298 N.Y. S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, affirmed 2 N.Y. S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 275 N.Y. 584.

(2) A testator's son, who had been convicted of petty larceny and at time of his application for appointment stood charged with the crime of perjury, a felony, was disqualified from receiving letters at such time under statute making a person incompetent to receive letters by reason of dishonesty at time of application.—In re Cohen's Will, supra.

Character of crime as misdemeanor or felony

In determining whether a person was disqualified by reason of dishonesty, fact that crime of which he was convicted was a misdemeanor and not a felony would be immaterial.—In re Cohen's Will, supra.

Offering improperly obtained paper for probate

A testatrix' nominee for executor would be refused letters testamentary on ground of his dishonesty, where former judgment established that nominee by undue influence had sought to obtain for himself a greater part of testatrix' property, and that nominee had offered for probate a paper so improperly obtained and sought to procure its admission as genuine will of testatrix.—In re Cullen's Estate, 297 N.Y.S. 280, 163 Misc. 410.

62. Colo.—Deeble v. Allerton, 143 P. 1096, 58 Colo. 166, Ann.Cas.1916 C 863.

Woman who sustained mere meretricious relations with a testator, whose estate is insolvent, should not be appointed executrix.—Deeble v. Allerton, supra.

63. Ala.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587.

Habits of mind and conduct rendering nominee unfit

(1) Under Surrogate's Court Act § 94, providing no person is competent to serve as an executor who is incompetent by reason of improvidence, the word "improvidence" refers to habits of mind and conduct which become a part of the man and render him generally, and under all ordinary circumstances, unfit for the trust or employment in tegrity.⁶⁴

On the other hand, statutes of this description have been subjected to a strict construction in favor of the eligibility of the testator's nominee, as shown in the preceding subdivision of this section, and where the particular ground of objection does not fall within the contemplation of the statute as interpreted by the court, the nominee will not be disqualified to serve as executor by reason of his character or habits,⁶⁵ and may be appointed to act by the court although he has been convicted of crime,⁶⁶ and despite evidence to show that he has been guilty of some degree of dishonesty⁶⁷ or immorality,⁶⁸ or where the facts fail to support the charge that the executor is improvident⁶⁹ or wanting in integrity.⁷⁰ Statutes broadly providing that the court shall appoint an administrator cum testamento annexo in place of an executor who is "incapable" do not empower the court to reject a designated executor on the ground that he is lacking in honesty, integrity, or business experience.⁷¹

c. Financial Condition

Except as the matter may be otherwise controlled by statute, the poverty or insolvency of a nominee is ordi-question.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N. E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602.

(2) "Improvvidence" which will defeat a right to act as executor means a lack of care, foresight, or business capacity endangering the safety of the estate, and capacity for care and foresight need not be evidenced by the accumulation of any considerable estate.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587.

64. Cal.—In re Plaisance, Myr.Prob. 117.

Gross immorality as shown by the mode of life of the person named as executor is evidence of such "lack of integrity" as will authorize the court to refuse to qualify him.—In re Plaisance, supra.

Want of integrity not shown

A simple conflict of interest in regard to the estate between the legatees and the executor does not show a "want of integrity" on the part of the latter so as to authorize the court under the statute in refusing to qualify him.

Cal.—Bauquier's Estate, 26 P. 178, 532, 88 Cal. 302.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P. 2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.

65. La.—Serres' Succession, 66 So. 342, 135 La. 1005.

23 C.J. p 1027 note 4.

Delay in qualifying

Executor's delay in qualifying or offering to qualify is insufficient evidence of unfitness to discharge trust to justify refusal to permit executor to qualify.—Kuechler v. Rubbathen, 99 S.W.2d 193, 266 Ky. 390.

Lack of sympathy with legatees

Insistence that executor is not in sympathy with legatees, and therefore would not or might not accord them fair treatment in settlement and distribution of estate, is insufficient to justify refusal to permit executor to qualify, since the law presumes honesty and fair dealings until the contrary has been shown.—Kuechler v. Rubbathen, supra.

66. N.Y.—In re Cohen's Will, 2 N.

Y.S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirming 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, and affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 278 N.Y. 584.

Strict construction

The disqualification of the right to act as an estate fiduciary because of conviction of a crime is an additional punishment inflicted on the individual for the offense, and must for that reason be strictly construed.

—In re Cohen's Will, 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, affirmed 2 N.Y.S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 278 N.Y. 584.

Crime not felony under state law

(1) A person convicted in another jurisdiction of a crime which is there a felony is not guilty of "felony" within Penal Law, and consequently such person is not a "felon" within Surrogate's Court Act so as to be incompetent to receive letters testamentary.—In re Cohen's Will, 2 N.Y. S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirming 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, and affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 278 N.Y. 584.

(2) Conviction in federal court for felony does not disqualify nominee from acting as executor under state statute disqualifying "felon," where offense was not felony under state law.—In re Canter's Will, 261 N.Y.S. 872, 146 Misc. 123.

67. N.Y.—In re Canter's Will, supra.

Conviction for single criminal offense of conspiracy to defraud United States was held not to disqualify nominee as executor by reason of "dishonesty," where no other acts of dishonesty were proved.—In re Canter's Will, supra.

"Dishonesty" as referring only to money matters

(1) Dishonesty within a statute declaring one incompetent to serve as an executor who, on proof, is found by the surrogate to be incompetent to execute the duties of such trust by reason of dishonesty, means dishonesty in money matters from which a reasonable apprehension may be entertained that the funds of the estate would not be safe in the hands of the executor.—Matter of Latham, 130 N.Y.S. 535, 145 App.Div. 849.

(2) Where record did not reveal that crime for which applicant for letters testamentary was convicted involved money matters, applicant was not disqualified to receive letters by reason of "dishonesty" within Surrogate's Court Act, since "dishonesty" contemplated by statute referred to dishonesty in money matters.—In re Cohen's Will, 2 N.Y.S.2d 764, 254 App.Div. 571, affirming 298 N.Y.S. 368, 164 Misc. 98, and affirmed 16 N.E.2d 111, 278 N.Y. 584.

Intermingling of funds

The fact that an attorney has intermingled his own funds with those of a client does not of itself show such dishonesty as to disqualify him from acting as executor.—Matter of Haag, 165 N.Y.S. 401, 99 Misc. 164.

68. Ill.—Clark v. Patterson, 73 N.E. 806, 214 Ill. 533, 105 Am.S.R. 127, affirming 114 Ill.App. 312.

Ky.—Berry v. Hamilton, 12 B.Mon. 191, 54 Am.D. 515.

Sexual immorality is not ground of rejection.—Clark v. Patterson, 73 N.E. 806, 214 Ill. 533, 105 Am.S.R. 127.

69. Ala.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587.

N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602.

70. Cal.—In re Kelley's Estate, 186 P. 1041, 182 Cal. 81.

Discourtesy

Showing that the executor named in a will was not courteous to testator's widow and disregarded her requests or wishes concerning the selection of an attorney to advise him in administration is no support of the claim that he is incompetent to act as executor by reason of want of integrity.—In re Kelley's Estate, supra.

71. Conn.—Appeal of Smith, 24 A. 273, 61 Conn. 420, 16 L.R.A. 538.

narly no ground for refusing to issue him letters testamentary, although it may be proper to require a bond or other security.

Mere poverty, or even insolvency, constitutes no legal cause for refusing the executorship to the testator's chosen appointee,⁷² and courts have thus respected the testator's choice even where the insolvency occurred after the testator's death.⁷³ A fortiori it is no ground for withholding letters that the person named as executor is worth less than the testator⁷⁴ or is indebted to the estate.⁷⁵ However, courts of equity have intervened in consequence of the hardships thus inflicted on creditors and legatees, and appointed receivers under strict judicial direction, restraining the bankrupt or insolvent from committing acts injurious to the estate,⁷⁶ or they have required the insolvent executor to furnish security,⁷⁷ further the court may refuse letters unless a bond is given,⁷⁸ although aside from statute they have hesitated to control the executor thus, where it was shown that the testator made his choice while fully aware of his appointee's insolvency.⁷⁹

d. Interest Adverse to Estate

The fact that one nominated as executor has interests adverse to the estate or legatees under the will does not necessarily disqualify him, but under statute or otherwise he may be held disqualified where he claims for himself property given by the will to others or where he is engaged in litigation hostile to the estate.

A person is not rendered incompetent to act as executor of an estate because he claims individually property which ostensibly belongs to the estate,⁸⁰ and the fact that the person nominated as executor has some claim or interest adverse to that of the estate or legatees under the will will not in itself serve to disqualify him.⁸¹ On the other hand, it has been held that one claiming property which the will directs to be sold and the proceeds thereof divided is not a suitable person to execute the will,⁸² unless he renounces such right.⁸³ It has been held that a person named in the will as one of the executors should not receive letters testamentary during the pendency of a suit by him on a claim against the estate,⁸⁴ but it has also been considered that no disqualification of an executor results from the fact that he is the executor of a prior executor between whom and the estate of the testator there are unsettled accounts, or that he is a trustee under the will of a large amount of real and personal estate

72. Ky.—Berry v. Hamilton, 12 B. Mon. 191, 54 Am.D. 515.

N.Y.—Matter of Riede, 122 N.Y.S. 600, 138 App.Div. 88, affirmed 95 N.E. 1127, 201 N.Y. 596.
23 C.J. p 1026 note 94.

73. La.—Gourjon's Succession, 7 Rob. 422.

74. N.Y.—Grubb v. Hamilton, 2 Dem.Surr. 414—Ballard v. Charlesworth, 1 Dem.Surr. 501.

75. Mich.—Breen v. Kehoe, 105 N. W. 28, 142 Mich. 58, 113 Am.S.R. 558, 1 L.R.A.N.S., 349.

N.Y.—In re Rosenfeld's Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 491, 157 Misc. 686.
23 C.J. p 1026 note 97.

76. N.Y.—Elmendorf v. Lansing, 4 Johns.Ch. 562.

S.C.—Stairley v. Rabe, 16 S.C.Eq. 22.

77. N.Y.—Mandeville v. Mandeville, 8 Paige 475.

78. N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N. E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602.

79. Ky.—Bowman v. Wootton, 8 B. Mon. 67.
23 C.J. p 1026 note 1.

80. Ala.—Marcus v. McKee, 151 So. 456, 227 Ala. 577, citing Corpus Juris.

N.M.—Woodson v. Reynolds, 76 P.2d 34, 38, 42 N.M. 161, citing Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P. 2d 1136, 1139, 151 Or. 475, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1027 note 5.

81. U.S.—U. S. Nat. Bank & Trust

Co. of Kenosha, Wis. v. Sullivan, C.C.A.Wis., 69 F.2d 412.

Minn.—In re Betts' Estate, 240 N.W. 904, 185 Minn. 627, reversed in part on other grounds 243 N.W. 58, 185 Minn. 627.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P. 2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

Utah.—Welsh, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, 232 P. 911, 64 Utah 579.

Claim of corporation in which executor a stockholder

One was held not disqualified to act as executor under will with respect to claim against the estate by corporation in which he was a stockholder.—Welsh, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, supra.

Creditor

Under will and trust agreement, bank, although creditor of estate, may be entitled to act as executor.—U. S. Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Kenosha, Wis. v. Sullivan, C.C.A.Wis., 69 F.2d 412.

Honest claim

Claim individually, by person named as executor in will, to property which other legatees insist belongs to estate, does not show want of integrity or disqualify him from serving as executor, if adverse claim is honestly made.—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 151 Or. 475.

Inactive officer of corporation dealing with estate

Executor appointed in will who was inactive officer and held qualifying shares in corporation which held trust deed for property belonging to testator was held not disqualified, where executor had little interest in corporation and knew little about it, no controversy regarding trust property was shown, and there was no refusal by corporation to furnish written declaration of trust.—In re Workman's Estate, supra.

Indebtedness to estate as affecting the eligibility of one nominated as executor is discussed supra subdivision c of this section.

82. Mo.—Arrington v. McCluer, 34 S.W.2d 67, 326 Mo. 1011.

83. Mo.—Arrington v. McCluer, supra.

84. Mass.—Cogswell v. Hall, 67 N.E. 638, 183 Mass. 575.
23 C.J. p 1027 note 6.

"Unsuitable" within statute

Where it appears that by pending litigation one named in the will as executor is put in a position of hostility to numerous legatees and their interests, and that the latter are in an attitude of ill will toward such nominee, he is "unsuitable" within the meaning of statutory provisions requiring an executor to be "suitable and competent," and his application for letters should be denied.—In re Holtermann's Estate, 282 N.W. 132, 203 Minn. 519.

Legal incompetency

Person nominated as executor, whose duties would require him to prosecute, on behalf of adversary litigants, suit which he would defend as individual, was not "legally competent".—In re Blochowits' Estate, 245 N.W. 440, 124 Neb. 110.

respecting which there are unsettled accounts, or that a lawsuit is pending between him and the estate of the testator, respecting the title of certain real estate which he holds adversely to claimants under the will of such testator.⁸⁵ A person is not disqualified as executor because he claims the benefit of a contract between himself and the testator, although there is strong evidence that the testator was of unsound mind at the time of the execution of the contract, and by such contract the executor secured great pecuniary advantage to the detriment of the estate.⁸⁶ A surviving husband's renunciation of devises and bequests made to him in the will and election to take his legal rights in lieu thereof is not in itself so hostile to the will as to preclude his qualifying as executor,⁸⁷ but administration of an estate will not be granted to one who has entered into a contract with the heirs to renounce, and has renounced, letters testamentary.⁸⁸

e. Mental Incompetence

Mental incompetence disqualifies a nominee for an executorship.

Idiots and lunatics are incapable of becoming executors.⁸⁹ Letters may be refused to one who is in fact incompetent, although he has never been adjudged to be so,⁹⁰ and it is also proper to refuse to issue letters to one who is unable, by reason of incurable bodily disease, to understand his duties sufficiently to safeguard the interests of the estate.⁹¹ Under some statutes there is a disqualification in case of want of understanding,⁹² by which is meant, however, a lack of intelligence,⁹³ and not mere ignorance of legal rights.⁹⁴

f. Alienage or Nonresidence

In the absence of contrary statute neither nonresidence nor alienage disqualifies a testamentary nominee as executor, although either may under statutes disqualify him or commit the matter to the discretion of the court.

Except as the rule may be changed by statute, one nominated in the will as executor may qualify although he is a nonresident⁹⁵ or an alien.⁹⁶

Under some statutes it has been held discretionary with the court to appoint a nonresident or alien executor or to refuse to do so,⁹⁷ and under statutes of this character it has been held that the testator's nomination is entitled to substantial consideration even though the nominee be a nonresident,⁹⁸ although the fact of nonresidence is a factor against his appointment.⁹⁹ Under other statutes it has been held that a nonresident alien may not qualify as executor.¹ Under statutes requiring the court to appoint as executor the person named as such in the will provided he appears and submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court, the fact that one is not a permanent resident of the state but is there only for the purpose of administering on the estate of the decedent does not disqualify him.² Under statutes providing that no person not a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state shall be "appointed" as a personal representative of an estate, it has been held that a nonresident designated as executor by will may qualify as executor, since such statutes refer exclusively to appointments by the courts of administrators and not to testamentary designations of executors.³ Under statutes in terms forbidding nonresidents to act as executors, but also providing that if a nonresident is named in the will

85. R.I.—Perry v. DeWolf, 2 R.I. 103.

86. N.Y.—Matter of Gleason, 41 N.Y.S. 418, 17 Misc. 510.

87. Md.—Tillinghast v. Lamp, 176 A. 629, 168 Md. 34.

88. N.Y.—In re Johnston's Will, 299 N.Y.S. 43, 164 Misc. 412.

89. Ala.—Kidd v. Bates, 23 So. 734, 120 Ala. 79, 74 Am.S.R. 17, 41 L.R.A. 154.

N.Y.—McGregor v. McGregor, 3 Abb. Dec. 82, 1 Keyes 133, 33 How.Pr. 456.

90. N.Y.—In re Leland, 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387, affirming 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419.

91. N.Y.—In re Leland, supra.

92. N.Y.—Matter of Leland, 161 N.Y.S. 316, 175 App.Div. 62, reversing 160 N.Y.S. 372, 96 Misc. 419, and affirmed 114 N.E. 854, 219 N.Y. 387.

93. Cal.—Li Po Tai's Estate, 41 P. 486, 108 Cal. 484.

N.Y.—Matter of Manley, 34 N.Y.S. 258, 12 Misc. 472.

23 C.J. p 1025 note 86.

94. N.Y.—In re Shilton, Tuck Surr. 73.

95. Cal.—Brown's Estate, 22 P. 233, 80 Cal. 381.

N.J.—In re Acker, 62 A. 556, 70 N.J. Eq. 669.

23 C.J. p 1025 note 88.

"Under the general rule, and independent of statute, a nonresident of the state in which the will is admitted to probate may qualify and act as executor."—Hecht v. Carey, 78 P. 705, 706, 13 Wyo. 154, 110 Am.S.R. 891.

96. Mich.—Breen v. Kehoe, 105 N.W. 28, 142 Mich. 58, 112 Am.S.R. 558, 1 L.R.A., N.S., 349.

23 C.J. p 1025 note 88.

Nonresident alien may qualify.—Breen v. Kehoe, supra.

97. Mich.—Breen v. Kehoe, supra.

Wis.—Cutler v. Howard, 9 Wis. 309.

Nature of duties to be performed for a particular estate is a proper consideration for the court in the exercise of its discretion relative to appointment of a nonresident executor.—In re Gray's Estate, 208 N.W. 358, 201 Iowa 876.

Abuse of discretion not shown.—Iowa.—In re Gray's Estate, supra.

98. Iowa.—In re Gray's Estate, supra.

99. Iowa.—In re Gray's Estate, supra.

1. N.Y.—Matter of Taylor, 3 Redf. Surr. 259.

23 C.J. p 1026 note 89.

2. Cal.—In re Kelley's Estate, 186 P. 1041, 182 Cal. 81.—Brown's Estate, 22 P. 233, 80 Cal. 381.

3. Fla.—In re Sherman's Estate, 1 So.2d 727, 146 Fla. 643.

as executor he may qualify within a specified time of the removal of such disability, it has been held that the residence required for qualification as executor is an actual residence and nothing more.⁴

It has been said that, in determining whether one nominated in the will is qualified under statutes relating to residence, the rules for determination of residence should be applied liberally in favor of the nominee,⁵ and it has been held that the court should permit a testamentary nominee to qualify as executor where he has been in the state for several days and declared his intention to remain there even though prior thereto he was a resident of a different state.⁶

What law governs. The eligibility of a nonresident to act as executor of a domestic will should be determined by the law existing at the time the will take effect,⁷ and subsequent legislation affecting eligibility will not be construed retrospectively.⁸

g. Infancy or Marital Status

An infant may be designated as executor by the will but his right to qualify is suspended during minority. A married woman may qualify as executrix and common-law restrictions formerly attaching to her rights in this respect, such as the requirement of the husband's consent, have very generally been removed by statute.

While a testator may by will appoint an infant executor of his will, and such infant may become entitled to letters testamentary on attaining his majority,⁹ he may not qualify as executor during his minority.¹⁰

At common law and in the absence of statutory restriction a married woman nominated as executrix in the will may qualify as such,¹¹ although it was at one time held that her husband's consent was essential¹² and that on the marriage of a feme sole acting as sole executrix her husband became a joint administrator with her.¹³ In an early case discussing the right of a feme covert to qualify as executrix it was stated that the tendency of legislation and of public sentiment was to expand rather than to restrict women's rights,¹⁴ and under present statutory provisions a married woman may qualify as executrix,¹⁵ and where a feme sole does so qualify her subsequent marriage will not abate her right,¹⁶ unless the testator so provides, which it has been held he may validly do in respect of his widow nominated executrix without imposing an illegal restraint against marriage.¹⁷ The purpose of statutes in terms conferring on married women the right to act as executrices is not to confer a vested right which testator may not alter, but merely to remove restrictions formerly attaching to the right of a married woman to be an executrix.¹⁸

h. Official Status as Judge of Probate

The official status of one as judge of probate disqualifies him from acting as executor within his own jurisdiction.

A probate judge or ordinary cannot act as executor in the county of which he is probate judge,¹⁹ and a petition seeking his appointment may be dismissed on demurrer.²⁰

i. Witness to Will

It has been both affirmed and denied that a subscribing witness to a will may qualify as executor thereunder.

Under some statutes, where the person named as executor in the will is also an attesting witness, he may be compelled to testify in probate proceedings, where his testimony is necessary to establish the

4. N.M.—In re Cardoner's Estate, 201 P. 1061, 27 N.M. 337, 18 A.L.R. 575.

5. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S.W. 2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

6. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, supra.

7. Ga.—Stevens v. Duncan, 7 S.E. 2d 745, 189 Ga. 730.

Former provisions of law construed
(1) Where testator died Sept. 29, 1934, before effective date of code of 1933, which codified for the first time an old statute making appointment of nonresident as executor conditional on his being heir at law "of equal, greater or sole interest," nonresident son of testator to whom one third of the estate was devised was eligible to serve as executor, under provisions of former codes which superseded the old statute.—Stevens v. Duncan, supra.

(2) Under former code sections authorizing nonresidents to act as executor of resident's will "when such executor has the interest in the estate of the deceased," the word "the" before "interest" should be construed as "an."—Stevens v. Duncan, supra.

8. Ga.—Stevens v. Duncan, supra.

9. Pa.—McKernan's Estate, 14 Pa. Dist. 693.
23 C.J. p 1025 note 80.

10. N.Y.—In re Tippet's Will, 13 N.Y.S.2d 971.
Pa.—McKernan's Estate, 14 Pa. Dist. 693.
23 C.J. p 1025 note 81.

Qualifying at eighteen under statute
In Mississippi under statute eighteen years has been held the legal age for an executor, and if a testator directs that his son shall be executor when he becomes of age, he will be entitled to act as soon as he arrives at the age of eighteen years.—Christopher v. Cox, 25 Miss. 162.

Administration of estate during minority of nominated executor see infra § 1035.

11. Me.—Stewart's Appeal, 56 Me. 300.

23 C.J. p 1024 note 78.

12. Me.—Stewart's Appeal, supra.

13. Mass.—Barber v. Bush, 7 Mass. 510.

14. Me.—Stewart's Appeal, 56 Me. 300.

15. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S.E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.

16. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, supra.

17. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, supra.

18. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, supra.

19. Ga.—Marshall v. Walker, 170 S.E. 267, 47 Ga.App. 195.
23 C.J. p 1026 note 90.

20. Ga.—Marshall v. Walker, supra.

will, but the result is to disqualify him to act as executor,²¹ and such a statute has been held to disqualify a corporation named as executor, one of whose stockholders was an attesting witness whose testimony was necessary.²² On the other hand, it has been held that a subscribing witness has no interest in the estate and would acquire none by accepting an executorship, and therefore is not disqualified to act in such capacity²³ and that a trust company named as executor may qualify even though its officers or agents were subscribing witnesses to the will.²⁴

J. Corporations

Broadly speaking, corporations possessing the requisite charter powers may qualify as executors. The right of a successor or foreign corporation to act as executor is governed by statutory provisions under which such right may be affirmed or denied.

While it was once held on technical grounds that a corporation could not act as executor,²⁵ this doctrine has been abrogated and it is now generally held that a corporation possessed of the appropriate corporate powers may qualify as an executor.²⁶ The right to act as executor is usually restricted to corporations of a fiduciary character,²⁷ and will ordinarily be denied a corporation designated by the will as executor where its charter powers do not include the right to act in such capacity,²⁸ but a corporation not of such character may qualify as executor where it is named in the will as residuary legatee and where the statutes permit such a corporation so named to qualify as an administrator cum testamento annexo.²⁹

Successor corporations. Ordinarily a corporation succeeding to the rights and privileges of another by merger or otherwise succeeds to its rights to the office of executor.³⁰ Where a testator after the date of merger executes a will naming the former and merged corporation as executor, it has been held that its appointment as executor by the court is voidable, although not open to attack by a defendant in an action brought by the executor for the wrongful death of testator.³¹ On the conversion of a state bank into a national bank, some authorities have held that the latter cannot qualify for an executorship conferred on the state bank,³² although other authority has held that the national bank may act as executor under the designation of the state bank,³³ and it has been stated that the difference in the holdings arises in part from differences in the legislative policy of the states concerned, as favoring or not favoring continuance of trust powers on consolidation of corporations.³⁴

Domestic corporation in different county. The fact that a domestic corporation has its place of business in a county distant from that of the testator's residence does not disqualify it from becoming executor of his will.³⁵

21. Ill.—Jones v. Grieser, 87 N.E. 295, 238 Ill. 183, 15 Ann.Cas. 787, followed in Fearn v. Postelthwaite, 88 N.E. 1057, 240 Ill. 626.

22. Ill.—Olson v. Larson, 150 N.E. 387, 320 Ill. 50—Scott v. O'Connor-Couch, 111 N.E. 272, 271 Ill. 395, L.R.A.1916D 179.

23. Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 79 Ind.App. 537.

24. Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, supra.

25. Md.—Georgetown College v. Browne, 34 Md. 450, 14a C.J. p 295 note 43.

26. Conn.—Equitable Trust Co. v. Plume, 103 A. 940, 92 Conn. 649. N.Y.—In re Rath's Estate, 176 N.Y.S. 887, 107 Misc. 598.

23 C.J. p 1026 note 92—14a C.J. p 295 note 34.

Trust companies may act as executors and as trustee under express statutory provisions.—Mahoney v. McBirney, 84 F.2d 600, 184 Okl. 75.

27. N.Y.—In re Esmond's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 961, 144 Misc. 609.

28. Md.—German-American Bank v. Kopp, 103 A. 1009, 132 Md. 422, 23 C.J. p 1026 note 93.

29. N.Y.—In re Esmond's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 961, 144 Misc. 609.

Validity of provisions in will Provisions of will naming corporation as executor, directing it to invest specified sum for named individual for life, and that principal should remain corporation's property, held valid.—In re Esmond's Will, supra.

30. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153. N.Y.—In re Bergdorf, 99 N.E. 714, 206 N.Y. 309, affirming 133 N.Y.S. 1012, 149 App.Div. 529.

Consolidation during lifetime of testatrix

Where national bank named executor was consolidated with another bank during testatrix's lifetime, consolidated bank could qualify as executor.—Mueller v. First Nat. Bank, 156 S.E. 662, 171 Ga. 845.

Validity of statute for succession of rights upheld

Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

31. N.Y.—In re Barmeler's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 318, 248 App.Div. 636, modifying 282 N.Y.S. 695, 156 Misc.

657, and affirmed 5 N.E.2d 351, 272 N.Y. 601.

32. Mass.—Petition of Commonwealth-Atlantic Nat. Bank of Boston, 144 N.E. 443, 249 Mass. 440. Va.—Hofheimer v. Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk, 153 S.E. 656, 154 Va. 392, affirmed 156 S.E. 581, 154 Va. 896, and certiorari denied Seaboard Citizens' Nat. Bank of Norfolk v. Hofheimer, 51 S.Ct. 648, 283 U.S. 855, 75 L.Ed. 1462.

Designation as executor not "property right"

Naming of trust company as executor in will was not a thing which passed as property or an asset when trust company was converted into national bank, or when that bank was consolidated into another national bank, designation as executor not conferring any property right.—Petition of Commonwealth-Atlantic Nat. Bank of Boston, 144 N.E. 443, 249 Mass. 440.

33. S.C.—Citizens & Southern Nat. Bank of South Carolina v. Conner, 11 S.E.2d 271, 195 S.C. 203, 131 A. L.R. 748.

34. S.C.—Citizens & Southern Nat. Bank of South Carolina v. Conner, supra.

35. Ind.—Farmers' Loan & Trust

Foreign corporations. The right of foreign corporations to act as executors of domestic estates depends on the public policy of the forum as manifested in its legislative enactments. Where such policy permits the designation of such a corporation, and testator has nominated one as his executor, it is erroneous to refuse it appointment on the ground of nonresidence,³⁶ and where the statutes broadly authorize a trust company incorporated under the laws of the forum to be an executor and provide that a foreign corporation whose articles empower it to act as executor shall on qualification in the forum enjoy the same privileges as a domestic corporation, a foreign corporation nominated by a domestic testator may act as executor of his will.³⁷ On the other hand, a foreign corporation may not qualify as executor of a domestic will where it is expressly or by necessary implication prohibited from doing so by the statutes of the forum.³⁸ Where the statutes of the forum permit foreign corporations to transact only such business as may be transacted by domestic corporations organized under the general corporation law, and where domestic corporations organized under such law are not permitted to act as executors, the courts will not permit a foreign corporation to qualify as executor even though it was so designated by the testator and is by the laws of its creation empowered to act as executor.³⁹

§ 29. Acceptance or Renunciation

a. In general

b. Time and manner of acceptance or renunciation

c. Effect of renunciation

d. Retraction of renunciation

a. In General

A testamentary nominee is ordinarily free to accept or renounce an executorship, but it has been held that he may not renounce for a consideration.

Renunciation, as it has been defined with reference to the executor of a will, is an act whereby a person named in a will as executor declines to take on himself the burden of that office.⁴⁰ A person nominated as an executor cannot be compelled to act as such,⁴¹ but the office may be accepted or refused at discretion,⁴² and acceptance of the office is essential to constitute one nominated by testator, executor of his will.⁴³ If the nominee does accept the executorship he should carry out the trust in accordance with law.⁴⁴ An executor has, however, no right to the property of the testator unless he accepts the executorship.⁴⁵ The right of renunciation is available only in the tribunal of the testator's domicile, and after the executor has qualified as such in that tribunal a renunciation in an ancillary jurisdiction is void.⁴⁶ While it has been said that one should either accept entirely or not at all,⁴⁷ it has also been held that the nominated executor may impose conditions on his acceptance,⁴⁸ and that an executor may accept the office free of illegal conditions sought to be imposed by the testator.⁴⁹

Renunciation for consideration. It has been considered that a renunciation of executorship,⁵⁰ or an agreement to renounce⁵¹ in consideration of some benefit to the person named as executor, is

Co. of Columbia City v. Security Trust Co. of Indianapolis, 138 N.E. 97, 79 Ind.App. 537.

36. Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, 85 P.2d 45, 53 Ariz. 1.

37. Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, supra.

38. N.Y.—Matter of Avery, 92 N.Y. S. 974, 45 Misc. 529.

Trust company organized under federal law is not eligible to accept a testamentary nomination as executor under statutes forbidding any corporation to be so nominated unless subject to supervision of the state banking department, where such corporation was not so subject, and this was true although the will was executed prior to the enactment of such statute, where the testator died after its enactment.—In re Trust Companies Organized under Federal Law, 3 Pa.Dist. & Co. 431.

39. Conn.—Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Smith, 51 A. 609, 74 Conn. 625, 14a C.J. p 1327 note 48.

40. N.J.—In re Maxwell, 3 N.J.Eq. 611, 614.

41. N.Y.—In re Chapin's Will, 3 N.Y.S.2d 932, 167 Misc. 388.

S.C.—Beacham v. Ross, 2 S.E.2d 690, 190 S.C. 219.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 12.

Refusal for cause

Representative of estate is not required to accept office as such if office is encumbered with personal liability to action for libel appearing on face of will.—In re Payne's Estate, 290 N.Y.S. 407, 160 Misc. 224.

42. Mo.—State ex rel. Abercrombie v. Holtcamp, 185 S.W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918D 454.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 13.

43. N.J.—Donnelly v. Slaughter, 168 A. 762, 114 N.J.Eq. 302, affirmed 174 A. 507, 116 N.J.Eq. 542.

44. S.C.—Beacham v. Ross, 2 S.E.2d 690, 190 S.C. 219.

45. Ind.—Calloway v. Doe, 1 Blackf. 372.

46. Mo.—State v. Holtcamp, 185 S.

W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918D 454.

Pa.—Ross v. Barclay, 18 Pa. 179, 55 Am.D. 616.

47. Mo.—State v. Holtcamp, 185 S.W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918D 454.

Pa.—Ross v. Barclay, 18 Pa. 179, 55 Am.D. 616.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 14.

48. N.Y.—In re Chapin's Will, 3 N.Y.S.2d 932, 167 Misc. 388.

49. Pa.—In re Schwalbe's Estate, 26 Pa.Dist. & Co. 131.

50. N.Y.—Staunton v. Parker, 19 Hun 55.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 19.

51. Mont.—In re Cummings' Estate, 298 P. 350, 352, 89 Mont. 405, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 20.

Invalidity of entire contract

Where contract in which party renounced executorship contained single consideration, and therefore was not severable, illegality of void as against public policy and unenforceable; but, on the other hand, a renunciation in consideration of a share of the commissions from a coexecutor has been upheld as legal.⁵²

b. Time and Manner of Acceptance or Renunciation

One should accept an executorship within a reasonable time, but may renounce at any time prior to acceptance. As a rule neither acceptance nor renunciation need be made in any set or formal manner, but may be implied from circumstances or acts in pais, although it has been held that a renunciation should be formal or of record.

One designated by will as executor is entitled to a reasonable time within which to accept, and where he does so without undue delay will not be deemed to have waived his rights.⁵³ The right of an executor to renounce is unlimited only so long as he has not proved the will, or done any act as executor, or otherwise accepted the office,⁵⁴ but the court may permit him to renounce after acceptance, although he has no longer an absolute right to do so.⁵⁵

Although there may be a formal acceptance or renunciation in writing of the office of executor,⁵⁶ and, in case of renunciation, a formal act is sometimes required under statute,⁵⁷ the more general view is that an acceptance or renunciation may be by matter in pais,⁵⁸ and no formal or particular act of the person named as executor is necessary.⁵⁹

What constitutes acceptance. Any acts of the executor with relation to his decedent's estate showing his intention to assume the trust confided to him may evidence an election to take the office.⁶⁰ An intention to accept is sufficiently evidenced by proving the will,⁶¹ taking out letters testamentary,⁶² taking the oath of office as executor,⁶³ and giving bond,⁶⁴ and where the executor intermeddles with the estate he loses his right to renounce, and may be compelled to take up probate;⁶⁵ but mere inaction or delay, unaccompanied by intermeddling, cannot amount to an acceptance,⁶⁶ neglect affirmatively to renounce appointment as executor does not forestall a subsequent renunciation if meanwhile the nominee has not acted in such a way as to indicate his acceptance of the office,⁶⁷ and one named as ex-agreement to renounce executorship rendered entire contract void.—In re Cummings' Estate, 298 P. 350, 89 Mont. 405.

52. Md.—Ohlendorf v. Kanne, 8 A. 351, 66 Md. 495.

53. Ill.—See In re McClary's Will, 32 N.E.2d 316, 308 Ill.App. 668. Okl.—Secrest v. Secrest, 294 P. 91, 146 Okl. 235.

Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A. L.R. 819.

Good cause for delay, as where the nominee is in excusable ignorance of his designation and proceeds with due dispatch after learning thereof, precludes waiver of rights and warrants appointment.—Secrest v. Secrest, 294 P. 91, 146 Okl. 235.

Delay until contest showed necessity for probate

Where testator's property, except fifty dollars in bank, was transferred by him to his wife after execution of his will and before his death, and the widow after the death did not seek to probate the will until forced to do so by subsequent conduct of contestant in bringing action to set aside testator's deed to his wife, by failing to file the will for probate within thirty days after testator's death the court in its discretion was justified in holding that his widow did not forfeit her right to letters testamentary under code provisions and had not renounced her right to such letters.—In re Vernon's Estate, 187 P. 11, 182 Cal. 91.

54. Mass.—Sears v. Dillingham, 12 Mass. 358.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 17.

55. N.C.—Sawyer v. Dozier, 27 N.C. 97—Mitchell v. Adams, 23 N.C. 298. Pa.—Malone's Estate, 9 Pa.Dist. 115.

56. Mo.—State v. Holcamp, 185 S. W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918D 454.

N.Y.—In re Cornell, 41 N.Y.S. 255, 17 Misc. 468.

57. N.Y.—Staunton v. Parker, 19 Hun 55.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 23.

58. Mo.—State ex rel. Abercrombie v. Holcamp, 185 S.W. 201, 267 Mo. 412.

N.J.—Donnelly v. Slaughter, 168 A. 762, 763, 114 N.J.Eq. 302, quoting Corpus Juris, and affirmed 174 A. 507, 116 N.J.Eq. 542.

23 C.J. p 1028 note 24.

59. Va.—Thornton v. Winston, 4 Leigh 152, 31 Va. 152.

60. N.J.—Donnelly v. Slaughter, 168 A. 762, 763, 114 N.J.Eq. 302, quoting Corpus Juris, and affirmed 174 A. 507, 116 N.J.Eq. 542.

23 C.J. p 1029 note 26.

61. Md.—Decker v. Fahrenholts, 68 A. 1048, 72 A. 339, 107 Md. 515.

23 C.J. p 1029 note 27.

62. Md.—Hanson v. Worthington, 12 Md. 418.

N.C.—Worth v. McAden, 21 N.C. 199.

63. N.Y.—Seaman v. Jamison, 131 N.Y.S. 155, 146 App.Div. 428—Oakeshott v. Smith, 98 N.Y.S. 659, 104 App.Div. 384, affirmed 78 N.E. 1108, 185 N.Y. 583.

Pa.—Bowman's Appeal, 62 Pa. 166.

64. Mass.—Sears v. Dillingham, 12 Mass. 358.

65. Md.—Decker v. Fahrenholts, 68 A. 1048, 72 A. 339, 107 Md. 515. 23 C.J. p 1029 note 34.

66. N.J.—Donnelly v. Slaughter, 168 A. 762, 114 N.J.Eq. 302, affirmed 174 A. 507, 116 N.J.Eq. 542.

Pa.—In re Ralston, 28 A. 139, 158 Pa. 645.

Wis.—In re Howey's Estate, 256 N. W. 620, 216 Wis. 94.

Estoppel not shown

That bank nominated as executor of estate immediately prior to bank holiday tendered resignation about four months later when bank was closed permanently, did not estop bank from denying it had ever acted as executor or accepted appointment.—In re Howey's Estate, supra.

67. Wis.—In re Howey's Estate, supra.

Determination as to acceptance by bank closed after nomination

(1) In determining whether bank which was nominated executor immediately prior to national bank holiday accepted executorship, it would be presumed that bank did not act in way which would be violation of spirit of emergency rules under which it had been placed by proclamation of president, and in way which would act as detriment to its creditors, and subsequently appointed administrator had burden of proving by concrete evidence acceptance of executorship by bank.—In re Howey's Estate, supra.

(2) Evidence warranted finding that bank which failed to reopen aftecutrix of her husband's will, who did not qualify as executrix or presume to act as such, cannot be held to have accepted the office merely by being made the grantee of land for which her deceased husband held a bond for a deed, where no estate funds were used to purchase it.⁶⁸ One who is appointed both executor and trustee under a will does not by accepting the trust accept also the executorship.⁶⁹

What constitutes renunciation. Except as the rule may be altered by statutes to the contrary, no particular form of renunciation is required,⁷⁰ and without an express declaration to that effect one's renunciation may be implied from circumstances,⁷¹ and on such a showing the court may commit the trust to others, as discussed in subdivision c of this section infra. Renunciation may be implied from inexcusable delay in offering the will for probate,⁷² or in seeking or qualifying for the office of executor,⁷³ or from assumption of a position inconsistent with that of an executor under the will,⁷⁴ as where the nominee qualifies as administrator with the will annexed instead of as executor,⁷⁵ or takes a position antagonistic to rights conferred by the will.⁷⁶ Acting as administrator under due appointment of the court is not to be deemed a renunciation of the executorship under a will, should such a will be afterward proved;⁷⁷ and it has been held that filing a caveat or otherwise opposing the probate of a will is not equivalent to a renunciation,⁷⁸ although there is authority for the contrary view.⁷⁹ The election of a testator's widow to take under statute instead of under the will does not preclude her from acting as executrix under the will.⁸⁰

Record of renunciation. In some jurisdictions it has been required that a renunciation should appear of record.⁸¹

c. Effect of Renunciation

Renunciation of a sole executorship vacates the office and permits appointment of an administrator with the will annexed, and following renunciation by one of two or more executors ordinarily the other or others may accept and qualify.

Renunciation has been said to effect a disclaimer of the title and office of executorship, including all its burdens, rights and powers.⁸² In case of renunciation by a sole executor, or all of several executors, the administration is left vacant,⁸³ and letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to the renouncing executor or to others, as discussed infra § 1031. In case one of several executors renounces, letters testamentary are properly issued to the other executor,⁸⁴ but the common-law rule is that under such circumstances the executor who renounced does not finally lose his right to letters testamentary, but may secure such letters either jointly with the other executors, or in case of a vacancy, as where the acting executors died, resigned, or are removed, at any time before letters of administration with the will annexed have been issued,⁸⁵ although it has been held that, where the probate court has issued letters testamentary to one of two executors named in the will, his power to appoint is exhausted and a subsequent petition by the declining executor cannot be entertained.⁸⁶

d. Retraction of Renunciation

Ordinarily one who renounces an executorship conferred by the will may retract his renunciation at any time before issuance of letters of administration, and retraction may also be permitted after qualification of another who subsequently dies, resigns, or is removed.

er banking holiday and which was appointed executor did not accept executorship, so that funds of estate on deposit in bank when appointment was made did not become assets in hands of bank which must be accounted for to subsequently appointed administrator.—In re Howey's Estate, supra.

68. Ill.—Gall v. Stoll, 102 N.E. 225, 259 Ill. 174.
23 C.J. p 1029 note 33.

69. N.Y.—Cocks v. Barlow, 5 Redf. Surr. 406.

70. Mo.—State ex rel. Abercrombie v. Holcamp, 185 S.W. 201, 267 Mo. 412.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mateer, 16 Serg. & R. 416.
23 C.J. p 1029 note 36.

71. Conn.—Ayres v. Weed, 16 Conn. 291.
23 C.J. p 1029 notes 37, 38.

72. Cal.—In re Alfrey's Estate, 83 P.2d 291, 12 Cal.2d 255.

73. Ind.—Abbott v. Appleton, 159 N. E. 167, 86 Ind.App. 607.

Iowa.—In re Van Vleck, 98 N.W. 557, 123 Iowa 89.
23 C.J. p 1029 note 38 [d].

74. Cal.—In re Phillips' Estate, 261 P. 709, 202 Cal. 490.

Refusal to sign petition for probate
Where contestant named as executor refused to sign petition for probate of will, he renounced right to serve as executor.—In re Phillips' Estate, supra.

75. Ky.—Briscoe v. Wickliffe, 6 Dana 157.

76. Iowa.—In re Van Vleck, 98 N.W. 557, 123 Iowa 89.

77. Ky.—Taylor v. Tibbatts, 13 B. Mon. 177.

78. Ga.—Gaither v. Gaither, 23 Ga. 521.

N.J.—In re Maxwell, 3 N.J.Eq. 611.

79. R.I.—Briggs v. Westerly Prob. Ct., 50 A. 335, 23 R.I. 125.
23 C.J. p 1030 note 42.

80. Kan.—Tomb v. Bardo, 114 P.2d 320, 153 Kan. 766.

81. Ark.—Newton v. Cocke, 10 Ark. 169.
23 C.J. p 1030 note 43.

82. N.J.—In re Horvath's Estate, 22 A.2d 194, 19 N.J.Misc. 608.

83. Va.—Thornton v. Winston, 4 Leigh 152, 31 Va. 152.
Renunciation as affecting testamentary power to sell real property see infra § 279.

84. N.Y.—Matter of Stevenson, 3 Paige 420.

Pa.—Miller v. Meetch, 8 Pa. 417.
R.I.—Briggs v. Westerly Prob. Ct., 50 A. 335, 23 R.I. 125.

85. Ala.—Pruett v. Pruett, 32 So. 638, 131 Ala. 578.
23 C.J. p 1030 notes 48, 49.

86. R.I.—Briggs v. Westerly Prob. Ct., 50 A. 335, 23 R.I. 125.

As a general rule an executor nominated in the will who has renounced may retract his renunciation and assume the office at any time before final issuance of letters to others,⁸⁷ and where a coexecutor has renounced and the court has erroneously refused to issue letters to the other coexecutor and appointed administrators with the will annexed, it has been held that the renouncing coexecutor may thereafter retract,⁸⁸ although it has been considered by some authorities that the acceptance of a retraction rests in the discretion of the probate court.⁸⁹ Where the designated executor has been excused from the office on his own request and due renunciation, and another has been appointed and qualified instead, the election once made is for the time being irrevocable.⁹⁰ It has been stated that under such circumstances a fresh opportunity to accept the office is afforded the declining executor, whenever a vacancy occurs, especially should a new state of things arise, as in case of the death, resignation, or removal of the person appointed in his stead,⁹¹ although this has been denied.⁹²

B. ADMINISTRATORS

§ 30. Intestacy Requisite to Appointment

The grant of ordinary administration on the estate of a decedent and the appointment of an administrator necessarily involves and is based on a finding of intestacy, the administrator deriving his power from the statutes and his appointment by the court.

While there may of course be a grant of administration with the will annexed, and the law also provides for various kinds of special administration which recognize the existence or possible existence of a valid will, it is a necessary prerequisite to a grant of ordinary administration on the estate of a decedent that he should have died intestate.⁹³ A grant of such administration necessarily involves, and is based on, a finding or adjudication of intestacy,⁹⁴ but such a determination does not preclude any party in interest from subsequently instituting proceedings to establish a will.⁹⁵ Moreover, the mere fact that there was a will in existence at the time of appointment of an administrator does not necessarily deprive the court of jurisdiction to make the appointment,⁹⁶ or render the appointment void,⁹⁷ and the subsequent probate of a will does not invalidate the official acts of the administrator or destroy the jurisdiction of the court up to the time of probate.⁹⁸ A grant of administration as in case of intestacy, where the decedent left a valid will which was not known of at the time, but is afterward produced and probated, is voidable only and not void;⁹⁹ and the court may grant letters of administration although a purported will has been placed on file, where probate thereof

87. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S. W.2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

Pa.—In re McNichol's Estate, 127 A. 461, 282 Pa. 187.

23 C.J. p 1030 note 56.

88. Ky.—Nunn v. Hamilton, 26 S. W.2d 526, 233 Ky. 663.

89. N.Y.—Matter of Baldwin, 50 N. Y.S. 872, 27 App.Div. 506, appeal dismissed 53 N.E. 218, 158 N.Y. 713.—In re Cornell, 41 N.Y.S. 255, 17 Misc. 468.

23 C.J. p 1031 note 57.

90. R.I.—Briggs v. Westerly Prob. Ct., 50 A. 335, 23 R.I. 125.

23 C.J. p 1031 note 58.

91. N.Y.—Judson v. Gibbons, 5 Wend. 224.

Pa.—Gallagher v. Gallagher, 6 Watts 473.

23 C.J. p 1031 note 59.

92. Va.—Thornton v. Winston, 4 Leigh 152, 31 Va. 152.

93. Cal.—In re Danford's Estate, 238 P. 76, 196 Cal. 339.

Ga.—Walden v. Mahnke, 174 S.E. 538, 542, 178 Ga. 825, citing Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.

Ky.—Hite's Adm'r v. Gibson, 65 S.W. 2d 781, 251 Ky. 651.

N.M.—Baca v. Buel, 210 P. 571, 28 N.M. 225.

23 C.J. p 1031 notes 62-64.

Presumption

(1) Where letters of administration were issued the day after deceased's death, the presumption was that deceased's dying intestate was notorious or was proved.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, Md., 19 A.2d 701, 133 A.L.R. 1479.

(2) Notorious intestacy as affecting time of application see infra § 52.

Validity of will

The statute providing that letters of administration may not be granted where there is a will refers to a valid will.—In re Friedman's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 103, 164 Misc. 440.

Where deceased dies testate, the surrogate may not issue letters of administration in the absence of proof that will is invalid.—In re Wedemeyer's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1201, 253 App.Div. 766.

94. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.

Kan.—Weichold v. Day, 61 P.2d 1328, 1332, 144 Kan. 432, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1031 note 65.

95. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.

Kan.—Weichold v. Day, 61 P.2d 1328, 1332, 144 Kan. 432, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Bulkley v. Redmond, 2 Bradf. Surr. 281.

96. Iowa.—Murphy v. Hahn, 223 N. W. 756, 208 Iowa 698.

97. Alaska.—In re Person's Estate, 7 Alaska 489.

98. Wis.—Simpson v. Cornish, 218 N.W. 193, 196 Wis. 125.

99. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1032 note 67.

Where existence of a valid will is not proved at time of application for letters of administration and no document purporting to be an original will is in court, the probate court has jurisdiction to appoint an administrator, even though it may later have to revoke the letters of administration should the existence of a valid will subsequently be established.—Di Biasi v. Di Biasi, 159 A. 477, 114 Conn. 529.

has been denied;¹ but general letters of administration granted during the pendency of a contest respecting the probate of an alleged will are utterly null and void,² and cannot be supported as a grant of administration pendente lite;³ and letters of administration issued after a will has been admitted to probate and an executor qualified, and while the action of the court with respect to the will remains unrevoked and unreversed, would seem to be necessarily void.⁴

Other administrators. The appointment of administrators de bonis non is discussed infra §§ 1016-1022, that of administrators with the will annexed in §§ 1031-1033, and that of temporary or special administrators infra §§ 1035-1039.

Source of authority. The source of an administrator's power should be sought in the statutes⁵ and he derives his authority primarily from his appointment by the court,⁶ in contradistinction to an executor who, as shown supra § 22, derives his powers primarily from the will which designates him.

§ 31. Persons Entitled to Appointment

Since the rights of particular persons to administer on the estates of decedents are not inherent, letters of administration must be granted to the persons entitled and in the order prescribed by statute.

The right to letters of administration is statutory,⁷ not inherent,⁸ and is a valuable right,⁹ which may be given or withheld in the wisdom of the legislature.¹⁰ Since the rights of particular persons to administer on the estates of decedents are entirely regulated by statute,¹¹ letters must be granted in the order and under the rules thereby prescribed;¹² where the person first entitled waives his right, administration should go to the next in statutory order of preference,¹³ and the right to appointment as administrator cannot be delegated to another to the exclusion of the person on whom the statute casts such right.¹⁴

The status of the parties and the conditions existing at the time of the application for letters control the right thereto rather than the status and conditions prevailing at the time of intestate's death.¹⁵ Questions as to who is most suitable for appointment arise only when there is a contest by rival claimants,¹⁶ and it has been held that statutory preferences apply only where there is a con-

1. Ga.—Scarborough v. Long, 197 S. E. 796, 186 Ga. 412, certiorari denied 59 S.Ct. 107, 305 U.S. 637, 83 L.Ed. 410.—Smith v. Scarborough, 185 S.E. 105, 182 Ga. 157.

2. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 117, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1032 note 68.

Not merely voidable

Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 223 Iowa 91.

3. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 117, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Slade v. Washburn, 25 N.C. 557.

4. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 116, 117, 223 Iowa 91, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1032 note 70.

Executor appointed by another court

Appointment of administrator by superior court of county in which testator died after appointment of executor of his estate by superior court of county in which he resided was void, and decree against such administrator, reforming deeds from testator to plaintiff, had no legal effect on testator's heirs, from whom defendants, in plaintiff's subsequent action to quiet title to realty covered by reformed deeds, claimed title thereto, and did not perfect any record or color of title in plaintiff.—Jordan v. Clausen, 56 P.2d 240, 13 Cal. App.2d 16.

5. Utah.—In re Harris' Estate, 105 P.2d 461, 99 Utah 464, certiorari granted Harris v. Zion's Sav. Bank & Trust Co., 61 S.Ct. 611, 312 U.S. 670, 85 L.Ed. 1112, and certiorari dismissed 61 S.Ct. 840, 313 U.S. 541, 85 L.Ed. 1509.

6. Mo.—In re Thompson's Estate, 97 S.W.2d 93, 339 Mo. 410.
R.I.—Glidden v. Rines, 128 A. 4, 124 Me. 286.

7. Cal.—In re Herriott's Estate, 28 P.2d 355, 219 Cal. 529.
Ill.—In re Barker's Estate, 214 Ill. App. 275.

8. Wis.—Welsh v. Manwaring, 98 N. W. 214, 120 Wis. 377.

9. Md.—Phillips v. Clark, 6 A.2d 220, 176 Md. 578.

Deprivation without cause

Right to be appointed or to designate person to be appointed as administrator is valuable one, of which party legally entitled thereto cannot be deprived without cause.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 338.—Hood v. Higgins' Curator, 9 S.W.2d 1078, 225 Ky. 718.

10. Wis.—Welsh v. Manwaring, 98 N.W. 214, 120 Wis. 377.

11. Mo.—State ex rel. Fansher v. Guinotte, 58 S.W.2d 1005, 227 Mo. App. 902.

N.D.—Borner v. Larson, 293 N.W. 836, 70 N.D. 313.

12. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 919, 27 Ariz. 167, citing Corpus Juris.

N.D.—Borner v. Larson, 293 N.W. 836, 70 N.D. 313.
23 C.J. p 1032 note 72.

Consent of person first entitled

(1) Under Code art 93 § 15, the court cannot grant administration of an intestate's estate to two or more persons without the consent of the person first entitled.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167.

(2) Right to administer on estate is valuable one that cannot be denied to person given priority without his consent.—State ex rel. Fansher v. Guinotte, 58 S.W.2d 1005, 227 Mo. App. 902.

"Grantee of interest"

Under statute providing for administration of intestate's estate by widow, husband, or next of kin, or "grantee of the interest" of one or more of them, "grantee of the interest" does not include one who receives his interest from a deceased person by operation of law, such as sole heir at law of intestate's deceased widow.—In re Halsted's Estate, 276 N.W. 438, 282 Mich. 253, 114 A.L.R. 272.

13. Ky.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

14. Ala.—Bivin v. Millsap, 189 So. 770, 238 Ala. 136.

15. Cal.—In re Herriott's Estate, 28 P.2d 355, 219 Cal. 529.

Mich.—In re Halsted's Estate, 276 N. W. 438, 282 Mich. 253, 114 A.L.R. 272.

23 C.J. p 1032 note 73.

16. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

test as to the appointment.¹⁷

Under a statute providing that, if there be no next of kin or creditor competent and willing to take administration, the same may be committed to such other person as the court may think proper, where surviving next of kin fail for an unreasonable time to apply for appointment they may be deemed "unwilling" to act and the court may appoint the administrator of the estate of a relative of the intestate as administrator of the intestate's estate.¹⁸

A grant to the wrong person, although erroneous, is not void.¹⁹

Interest in estate. The policy of the law is to commit the administration of a decedent's estate to those having a beneficial interest therein,²⁰ persons interested being as a general rule preferred,²¹ and statutes conferring priority of right to administration on certain classes have for their purpose the effectuation of such policy.²² Ordinarily one not entitled to share in the estate is not entitled to letters of administration,²³ and interested parties are the only ones who can demand an administration of the estate.²⁴ On the other hand, if it is necessary or provident to appoint an administrator, the fact that the person selected is not directly interested in the estate will not per se disqualify him;²⁵ the court may exercise a discretion in the matter,²⁶ and under special circumstances it may be both proper and advisable for the court to appoint one because he is disinterested and therefore impartial.²⁷ An "interested applicant" under statutory provisions providing for issuance of letters to any "interested applicant," is not entitled to receive them until after expiration of the statutory period given to those with prior right to apply for administration.²⁸ Where the statute provides that if neither next of kin nor creditor apply for administration within a designated period, anyone in whose favor a cause of action exists, which cannot be maintained without appointment of an administrator, may apply for and obtain the appointment, the administrator of the estate of a relative of intestate may, on the ground of the interest of such relative's estate in the estate of the intestate, be considered as having a cause of action warranting his appointment as administrator of the intestate's estate.²⁹

Construction of statutes. Statutes relating to appointment of administrators and preferences accorded in making such appointments should be construed together so as to give effect to each provi-

17. La.—Succession of Hair, App., 195 So. 43.

18. Wis.—In re Reilly's Estate, 243 N.W. 506, 208 Wis. 557.

19. Ky.—Buckner v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 87 S.W. 777, 120 Ky. 600, 27 Ky.L. 1009.
23 C.J. p 1033 note 74.

20. Ind.—Abbott v. Appleton, 159 N. E. 167, 86 Ind.App. 607.

Beneficial interest in estate as affecting right to administer as next of kin see infra § 36.

Right of stranger to administration see infra § 42.

"Historically, the right of administration was placed on the ground of interest in the estate . . . administration should only be granted to those having an interest in the estate."—In re Friese's Estate, 176 A. 225, 227, 317 Pa. 86.

One not named in statute may be appointed administrator although there be survivor therein named, if appointee has interests to be protected superior to survivor's interests.—In re Reilly's Estate, 243 N.W. 506, 208 Wis. 557.

Who are directly interested

Widow, heirs, and distributees or their successors in interest and creditors are only persons directly interested in estate, as respects administration.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

21. N.J.—In re Tenneson's Estate, 12 A.2d 363, 18 N.J.Misc. 245.

Pa.—See In re Henry's Estate, 51 York Leg.Rec. 185.

Wis.—In re Bartz' Estate, 242 N.W. 171, 207 Wis. 639.

22. Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A. L.R. 123.

Object of conservation of estate

Statutes providing that surviving spouse, next of kin, and largest resident creditor shall be preferred in the order indicated, and that if none applies within the reserved period any other competent resident may be appointed administrator, rest on the theory that a person with an interest in the estate of the decedent will be more likely to conserve the rights of all concerned than would a person who is an utter stranger.—Union Savings & Trust Co. v. Eddingfield, 134 N.E. 497, 78 Ind.App. 286.

23. N.Y.—In re Bunimowitz's Estate, 219 N.Y.S. 763, 128 Misc. 518.

Next friend of decedent

Court of ordinary is without jurisdiction to appoint next friend of decedent, who is without interest in the estate, administrator of estate.—Stanley v. Metts, 149 S.E. 786, 169 Ga. 101.

24. U.S.—Fairchild v. Lohman, D.C. Mo., 13 F.2d 252.

25. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127

So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

26. Mo.—State ex rel. Smith v. Hull, 152 S.W.2d 106, transferred, see, App., 147 S.W.2d 214.

Nonmandatory preference

Although statute requires the probate court, in appointing an administrator to continue administration, to give preferential consideration to those entitled to distribution, it is not compelled to appoint either distributee but must exercise discretion, which cannot be controlled by those entitled to preference.—State ex rel. Smith v. Hull, supra.

27. Iowa.—In re Tracy's Estate, 243 N.W. 309, 214 Iowa 881.

Wis.—In re Edward's Estate, 289 N. W. 605, 234 Wis. 40.

Nonresident and incompetent heirs

Where decedent's sole heirs were a sister residing in foreign country and an incompetent brother, and sister sought appointment of herself or son as administrator, while incompetent brother's guardian sought appointment of himself, court properly appointed a disinterested, competent third person with sister's consent.—In re Edwards' Estate, supra.

28. Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L. R. 123.

29. Wis.—In re Reilly's Estate, 243 N.W. 506, 208 Wis. 557.

sion so far as feasible.³⁰ Statutes regulating appointments of administrators must be strictly followed,³¹ and the court has only such discretion in the matter as may be granted by the statute.³²

What law governs. The law of the place where the estate is to be administered, and not the law of the domicile of the decedent, governs in determining who is entitled to administer.³³ With respect to time, the law in force at the time when the application is made or when letters are granted governs, rather than the law in force at the time of decedent's death.³⁴

Partnership estate. Where the surviving partner who, as shown in the C.J.S. title Partnership § 286, also 47 C.J. p 1062 note 93—p 1063 note 21, may become executor or administrator of his deceased partner waives appointment as administrator of the partnership estate, the administration of the assets and property of the partnership devolves on the general administrator of the deceased partner.³⁵

§ 32. — Effect of Priority of Application

Priority of application is not ordinarily a ground for preference except as among creditors, since the nearness of relationship governs preference as among kindred.

As among kindred, the scheme of preferences is based on nearness of kin to the intestate, and hence priority of application has been considered not a ground for preference, except among creditors.³⁶ although there is authority to the effect that the person first seeking the appointment has some claim to precedence.³⁷

§ 33. — Necessity for Timely Application

Ordinarily one loses a preferential right to appointment as administrator by failing to apply within a specified or reasonable time, although the court may in its discretion thereafter appoint such a person if not thereby violating the rights of others.

In some jurisdictions the right to priority is conditioned on an application for appointment being made within a certain time after the intestate's death, and if the application is not made within the specified time the court may appoint one of the next class,³⁸ and even where no time is fixed by statute it has been considered that the application must be made within a reasonable time³⁹ and one failing to make timely application for appointment thereby waives his prior right.⁴⁰ Where there is no resident relative entitled to letters, the court may appoint an administrator on motion of a creditor without waiting the time prescribed by statute in case there is a resident relative so entitled,⁴¹ and even where there are next of kin entitled to administration the court may, it has been held, in its discretion appoint another without waiting where the security of the estate and the rights of creditors require immediate action;⁴² but administration cannot in general be granted to a creditor or 30. Mo.—In re Wilson's Estate, App., 16 S.W.2d 737, transferred, see 8 S.W.2d 973, 320 Mo. 975.

31. Mo.—State ex rel. Fansher v. Guinotte, 58 S.W.2d 1005, 227 Mo. App. 902.

32. Mo.—State ex rel. Fansher v. Guinotte, supra.

Discretion of court as to appointments generally see infra § 34.

33. N.Y.—Public Administrator v. Hughes, 1 Bradf.Surr. 125.

34. Cal.—In re McLaughlin, 37 P. 410, 103 Cal. 429.

Md.—Griffith v. Coleman, 61 Md. 250.

Mont.—In re Connor, 41 P. 271, 16 Mont. 465.

35. Or.—Anderson v. Johnson, 45 P. 2d 168, 150 Or. 386.

36. N.Y.—In re Hawley, 76 N.Y.S. 461, 37 Misc. 667.

Priority among creditors see infra § 41.

37. La.—Baraud's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 666.

38. Ga.—Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 76 S.E. 1001, 139 Ga. 224, 43 L.R.A., N.S., 236, Ann.Cas. 1914D 996.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N. W. 529, 137 Neb. 374.

N.M.—In re Miller's Estate, 38 P. 2d 1116, 39 N.M. 40.

Utah.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606.

23 C.J. p 1033 note 78.

Application to court of different state as not a compliance

Widow who within forty days after deceased's death applied to probate court in Kentucky for appointment of administrator did not thereby comply with Washington statute which limits widow's preference right to apply for letters of administration to forty-day period, and widow lost her statutory right of nomination where no one applied for letters of administration in Washington during statutory forty-day period.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P.2d 310, 189 Wash. 641.

Intestacy as prerequisite to appointment see supra § 30.

Time of application generally see infra § 52.

39. Tenn.—Rodes v. Boyers, 61 S.W. 776, 106 Tenn. 434.

23 C.J. p 1033 note 79.

40. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

41. Ky.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's

Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584.

42. Md.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, 19 A.2d 701, 133 A.L.R. 1479.

Allowance of time for court's discretion

The matter of the allowance of time to apply for letters of administration by one who is not a next of kin when none of the next of kin has applied for letters of administration must be left to the judgment and discretion of the orphans' court.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, supra.

Appointment of brother-in-law creditor upheld

Where deceased had no next of kin living within the state, and her brother-in-law paid her funeral expenses, and was probably the only creditor which she had, and before deceased's death she had asked him to look after her affairs, the application of the brother-in-law for letters of administration the day after deceased's death did not constitute "fraud" on her next of kin who lived outside the state, and the granting of the letters of administration was regular, although it was open to correction if necessary on petition by next of kin.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, supra.

other third person until after the lapse of the statute time allowed for the application of husband, widow, next of kin, or others entitled to priority and suitable, or except upon their failure to pursue their respective rights notwithstanding a due citation;⁴³ and the appointment of one who is not next of kin to the deceased within the time allowed by law for the next of kin to apply for administration is irregular.⁴⁴ It has been held that failure to apply for appointment within the proper time does not forfeit the right to administer,⁴⁵ and that, where no one else has been appointed in the interim, the person entitled to preference may secure appointment even after expiration of the time limited by statute.⁴⁶ In other words, after expiration of the statutory period the possessor of the preference, while still qualified to act, has no greater right than anyone else to appointment as administrator.⁴⁷

§ 34. — Discretion of Court

As a general rule, statutes regulating the order in which administration may be granted are mandatory and leave the court no discretion except as between members of a particular class.

Statutes regulating the order in which administration may be granted are ordinarily construed as mandatory and as leaving the courts no discretion in the matter,⁴⁸ save where there are two or more persons equally entitled under the statute,⁴⁹ or where a question arises as to the fitness or qualifications of the person or persons primarily entitled to the appointment.⁵⁰

42. Mo.—Pikey v. Riles, 20 S.W.2d 550, 223 Mo.App. 921.
28 C.J. p 1033 note 80.

Premature appointment of nephew not entitled to share

Under statute thirty days must expire after death before person other than surviving spouse or one entitled to distribution of estate can be appointed administrator, and appointment of intestate's nephew, not entitled to share in estate, as administrator, twelve days after death, was revocable at instance of brother of intestate.—In re Wilson's Estate, App., 16 S.W.2d 737, transferred, see 8 S.W.2d 973, 320 Mo. 975.

44. Wis.—Brunson v. Burnett, 1 Chandl. 136, 2 Pinn. 185.
Appointment as void or voidable see infra § 73.

45. R.I.—In re Randall, 63 A. 806.

46. N.M.—In re Miller's Estate, 38 P.2d 1116, 39 N.M. 40.

47. Utah.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606.

Discretion of court

Where parties interested in estate sought appointment of administrator more than three years after death of intestate, appointment of competent person other than party interested in estate was discretionary.—In re Smith's Estate, supra.

42. Ala.—Marcus v. McKee, 151 So. 456, 227 Ala. 577.

Colo.—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 470.

Ga.—Sims v. Horne, App., 15 S.E. 2d 549.

Idaho.—Vaught v. Struble, 120 P.2d 259, 261, citing Corpus Juris.

Ind.—State v. Jeffries, 149 N.E. 373, 83 Ind.App. 534.

Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 338.

Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R. Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 428, citing Corpus Juris.

Mo.—In re Wilson's Estate, App., 16 S.W.2d 737, transferred, see 8 S.

W.2d 973, 320 Mo. 975—Linder v. Burns, App., 243 S.W. 361.

Neb.—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.

Nev.—In re Taylor's Estate, 114 P.2d 1086, 1088, 135 A.L.R. 580, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214—In re Karp's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 903, 163 Misc. 855—In re Winkhouse, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560—In re Conde's Estate, 259 N.Y.S. 129, 144 Misc. 357—In re Gant's Estate, 254 N.Y.S. 715, 142 Misc. 446—In re Albrecht's Estate, 196 N.Y.S. 765, 119 Misc. 554, affirming 194 N.Y.S. 432, 118 Misc. 737.

N.D.—Borner v. Larson, 293 N.W. 836, 838, 70 N.D. 313, quoting Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 302, 110 Or. 147, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1034 note 84.

Not merely directory

Burns St.Annot.1914 § 2742, fixing the order of preference in which administration shall be issued, is mandatory and not merely directory.—Union Savings & Trust Co. v. Edgingfield, 134 N.E. 497, 78 Ind.App. 286.

Where sole distributee, who is qualified, applies to be appointed administrator, county court has no discretion.—Hood v. Higgins' Curator, 9 S.W.2d 1078, 225 Ky. 718.

Insolvency of estate is no reason why one having statutory preference should not be granted letters of administration.—Johnston v. Pierson, 155 So. 695, 229 Ala. 85.

Relative qualifications of applicants

The probate court has no discretion in respect of enforcing the statutory preferential right to administer an estate, and may not weigh the relative qualifications of two applicants where one of them has a statutory preference, and the latter does not lose his right to appointment because the other may be found by the court to be better qualified unless there exists a statutory disqualification barring the possessor of the statutory preference.—Calvert v. Beck, 199 So. 846, 240 Ala. 442—Johnston v. Pierson, 155 So. 695, 229 Ala. 85.

49. Ky.—Hood v. Higgins' Curator, 9 S.W.2d 1078, 225 Ky. 718.

Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 302, 110 Or. 147, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1034 note 85.

Applicants of same class

(1) Under statute successively authorizing spouse, next of kin, creditors, and others to apply for administration, court has discretion as between applicants of same class.—In re Wright's Estate, 230 N.W. 552, 210 Iowa 25.

(2) Matter of selecting administrator within class is within discretion of orphan's court.—Baldwin v. Hopkins, 187 A. 884, 171 Md. 97.

(3) Trial judge has large discretion in selecting administrator as between contesting heirs of age and present in state, and should consider business capacity, experience, property, integrity, and other matters going to make up personal fitness, including applicant's indebtedness to estate.—Succession of Virgeta, 162 So. 53, 182 La. 491.

50. Colo.—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 470.

Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 338.

Mont.—State ex rel. McCabe v. District Court of Third Judicial Dist. in and for Deer Lodge County, 76 P.2d 634, 106 Mont. 272—In re Rinio's Estate, 30 P.2d 803, 96 Mont. 344.

Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 302, 110 Or. 147, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1034 note 86.

It has been held that a surrogate has no discretion to ignore the order of priority in appointment of an administrator as prescribed by statute except as may be expressly permitted therein,⁵¹ unless the person having the prior right is incompetent to receive letters for a cause specified by statute,⁵² but other authority is to the effect that statutes prescribing the order of priority create no absolute right⁵³ and are not mandatory,⁵⁴ and that a court finding one entitled to a preference to be disqualified on grounds not mentioned by statute may appoint another to act in his place.⁵⁵ In jurisdictions where the courts are not bound by mandatory statutes on the subject of preferential right of appointment, or by enumerated causes of disqualification to act, they may appoint another instead of the person ordinarily accorded preference where the latter is found to be in hostility to the estate or to those entitled to benefit from its assets,⁵⁶ and, where the statute broadly permits disqualification of a candidate for administrator for incompetence or other causes, the court may refuse letters to a preferred applicant because of incompetency or, in the exercise of a sound discretion, for other cause.⁵⁷ Where the statute enumerates the order of priority to be followed, but adds qualifying words such as "unless the court deems it proper to appoint some other person," the legislative enumeration is a strong,⁵⁸ but not imperative,⁵⁹ direction, and the court may vary the statutory order and appoint another for sound judicial reasons appealing to its wisdom and conscience, provided the interests of all persons concerned will thereby be promoted.⁶⁰

Where there is no one entitled to preference, the appointment of an administrator is committed to the sound discretion of the court,⁶¹ as where the intestate leaves no relatives residing within the state, and no creditor applies for letters,⁶² or where all persons having a prior right under statute have renounced or otherwise lost their preferential status.⁶³ In the selection of an administrator after expiration of the statutory preference the court should use its best judgment and discretion,⁶⁴ and if there is no necessity for any administration to conserve the rights of those directly interested in the estate the court will not appoint an administrator at the instance of one whose interest is remote or indirect.⁶⁵

Agent as not within preference. It has been held that the statutory order of preference may not be extended to an agent or other representative except to join a competent person with a competent distributee or to appoint a competent person on the

51. N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

52. Ala.—Calvert v. Beck, 199 So. 846, 240 Ala. 442.
N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609—In re McOwen's Estate, 185 N.Y.S. 907, 114 Misc. 151.

53. Wash.—State v. Superior Court for Thurston County, 255 P. 376, 143 Wash. 358—In re Stotts' Estates, 233 P. 280, 133 Wash. 100.

Discretion of court

The priorities granted by statute in the appointment of administrators cannot be insisted on as a matter of right, but a discretion rests in the court in the making of appointments.—In re Christensen's Estate, 296 N.W. 198, 229 Iowa 1162.

Appointment of person outside family sustained

Court was held not to have abused discretion in appointing as administrator one who had acted as guardian of decedent, where dissension made it advisable to appoint some one outside family.—In re St. Martin's Estate, 27 P.2d 326, 175 Wash. 285.

54. Wash.—In re Stotts' Estates, 233 P. 280, 133 Wash. 100.

55. Wash.—In re Stotts' Estates, supra.

56. Wash.—In re Stotts' Estates, supra.

57. Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

58. Mass.—In re Waverley Trust Co., 167 N.E. 274, 268 Mass. 181.

59. Mass.—In re Waverley Trust Co., supra.

60. Mass.—In re Waverley Trust Co., supra.

In determining suitability of proposed administrator, court must consider circumstances which would influence him in managing affairs of distributees, and be guided by nominee's personal fitness.—In re Bartz' Estate, 242 N.W. 171, 207 Wis. 639.

61. Md.—Schneider v. Hawkins, 16 A.2d 861, 179 Md. 21.

N.Y.—In re Cavendish's Will, 7 N.Y.S.2d 393, 255 App.Div. 854.

Not mere "legal discretion"

Under statute pronouncing priority to be given in appointment of administrators, probate court, in making appointment, where there are no persons entitled to priority, is not exercising a "legal discretion", which is the exercise of a discretion where there are two alternative provisions of law applicable, under either of which the court could proceed.—

Shannon v. Hendrixson, Ohio App., 32 N.E.2d 431.

Abuse not shown

Under statute pronouncing priority to be given in appointment of administrators, probate court did not abuse its discretion in appointing maternal grandmother of minor child of deceased, who had custody of child, as administrator, rather than deceased's brother.—Shannon v. Hendrixson, supra.

62. Md.—Schneider v. Hawkins, 16 A.2d 861, 179 Md. 21.

63. Hawaii.—In re Maalo's Estate, 31 Hawaii 97, 101, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1035 note 87.

Abuse of discretion not shown

(1) By appointment of qualified person of court's own selection, where petitioner and heirs disagree as to person to be appointed.—In re Maalo's Estate, 31 Hawaii 97.

(2) By appointing competent party which was not interested party three years after death of intestate.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606.

64. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

65. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, supra.
Creditor of a distributee
Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, supra.

consent of all distributees, provided the latter are themselves all competent to serve.⁶⁶

§ 35. — Husband or Wife of Intestate

- a. In general
- b. Husband of intestate
- c. Widow of intestate

a. In General

A surviving spouse is ordinarily entitled to preference in respect of appointment as administrator of the estate of the deceased intestate spouse; but the right may be lost by agreement before or after marriage.

Statutes providing that the surviving spouse shall, if entitled to succeed to some part of the estate, be preferred to other applicants for letters of administration have been said to make it mandatory on the court to appoint such a spouse, or his nominee, in preference to anyone else,⁶⁷ and under statutes of this character it has been held that a surviving spouse is entitled to preference over a creditor.⁶⁸ On the other hand, it has also been said that while the surviving spouse should, other things being equal, be accorded priority under a statute providing for the issuance of letters of administration to such spouse, his right thereto is not absolute.⁶⁹

Agreements between spouses. The right to administration of the estate of a spouse may be either expressly or impliedly renounced by antenuptial⁷⁰ or postnuptial⁷¹ agreement, but a mere agreement for alimony in contemplation of a divorce not secured before death is no bar to the right of the surviving spouse to administer the estate of the deceased spouse.⁷²

A woman who releases all her interest in her husband's estate by an antenuptial contract is generally held to lose her right to administer,⁷³ although there is authority to the effect that an antenuptial contract releasing the wife's right in the property of her husband does not bar her right to administer his estate.⁷⁴

A postnuptial contract, such as a separation agreement, which bars a widow's rights to share in her husband's estate ordinarily deprives her of the right to appointment as his administratrix;⁷⁵ but a postnuptial contract has been held not to have this effect at common law, because of the incapacity of a married woman to make binding agreements with her husband.⁷⁶ The fact that, after a husband and wife had executed a contract embodying a mutual waiver of all rights in each other's estates, they had sexual relations, but without occupying the same habitation as husband and wife, has been held not to entitle the wife to letters of administration on the husband's subsequent death.⁷⁷

b. Husband of Intestate

- (1) In general
- (2) Validity of marriage and effect of separation or divorce
- (3) Right to share in wife's estate
- (4) Representative of subsequently deceased husband

(1) In General

Ordinarily a surviving husband is preferred over all others as administrator of his deceased wife's estate, although this rule may be varied by statute or the right may be lost where the husband is for some reason disqualified to act.

The general rule is that, where it becomes necessary or proper to appoint an administrator of the estate of a deceased married woman, her surviving husband is entitled to the appointment in preference to all other persons,⁷⁸ if he has not forfeited his ⁶⁶ N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

⁶⁷ Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 819.

⁶⁸ La.—Succession of Kalish, App., 143 So. 524.

⁶⁹ Pa.—In re Boytor's Estate, 198 A. 484, 130 Pa.Super. 591.

⁷⁰ Mo.—In re Evans, 93 S.W. 922, 117 Mo.App. 629.

⁷¹ 23 C.J. p 1052 note 85. Agreements to renounce generally see infra § 47 b.

⁷² Cal.—In re Walker, 146 P. 868, 169 Cal. 400.

⁷³ 23 C.J. p 1052 note 85.

⁷⁴ Miss.—Kirby v. Kent, 160 So. 569, 172 Miss. 457, 99 A.L.R. 1303.

Widow

Contract between husband and wife in contemplation of divorce, whereby wife released all claims for alimony or property adjustment, held not to have affected rights of wife as widow where divorce was not granted before husband's death, as a mere agreement for alimony in contemplation of divorce is no bar to the right of the surviving spouse, if no divorce has in fact been granted.—Kirby v. Kent, 160 So. 569, 172 Miss. 457, 99 A.L.R. 1303.

⁷⁵ Cal.—In re Davis, 39 P. 756, 106 Cal. 453.

⁷⁶ Md.—Edelen v. Edelen, 11 Md. 415—Maurer v. Naill, 5 Md. 324.

⁷⁷ Mich.—In re Sprague, 84 N.W. 293, 125 Mich. 357.

⁷⁸ N.Y.—In re Bunimowits's Estate, 210 N.Y.S. 763, 128 Misc. 518.

Pa.—In re Friese's Estate, 176 A. 225, 317 Pa. 86.
23 C.J. p 1037 note 18.

⁷⁴ Mo.—State v. Thompson, 187 S. W. 804, 196 Mo.App. 12.

⁷⁵ Mich.—In re Berner, 187 N.W. 377, 217 Mich. 612.

⁷⁶ N.Y.—In re Gilmour's Estate, 260 N. Y.S. 761, 146 Misc. 113.

⁷⁷ Iowa.—Read v. Howe, 13 Iowa 50.

⁷⁸ Md.—Nusz v. Grove, 27 Md. 391.

⁷⁹ Cal.—In re Martin, 137 P. 2, 166 Cal. 399.

⁸⁰ N.J.—Skinner v. Reinhardt, 153 A. 632, 108 N.J.Eq. 24.

⁸¹ N.Y.—In re Rechtschaffen's Estate, 16 N.E.2d 357, 278 N.Y. 326, reversing 300 N.Y.S. 1005, 252 App. Div. 853, affirming 294 N.Y.S. 604, 162 Misc. 374, motion denied 1 N.

right and is entitled to share in her estate,⁷⁹ although under some statutes the husband is not entitled to administer on his wife's estate to the exclusion of her children who are also beneficially interested therein.⁸⁰ Where the husband has been guilty of misconduct or is otherwise an unfit person, he may be denied appointment,⁸¹ but his right to administer on his wife's estate cannot be denied because he claims land which the court believes to be community property.⁸²

(2) Validity of Marriage and Effect of Separation or Divorce

One may be regarded as a surviving husband entitled to administration of his deceased wife's estate although his marriage was voidable or was a common-law marriage, and even though he may be separated from his wife or the marriage bonds are in course of dissolution, but he will not be held entitled to letters as surviving husband where his former wife died after entry of a final decree of absolute divorce.

The right of a husband to administration is not affected by the fact that the marriage was voidable, in the absence of any annulment during the lifetime of the wife,⁸³ and his right to administration has been upheld in the case of a common-law marriage.⁸⁴

Separation or divorce. The right of the husband to administration is not affected by the fact that the spouses were separated,⁸⁵ or even, it has been held, by a judicial decree of separation from bed and board,⁸⁶ or by an incomplete decree of divorce,⁸⁷

and a void foreign decree of divorce will not deprive a surviving husband of the right to letters of administration of the estate of his deceased wife;⁸⁸ but where the former wife dies after a final decree of absolute divorce her former spouse is not entitled to letters of administration on her estate as surviving husband.⁸⁹ Statutes providing that a judgment dissolving a marriage in an action brought by the husband shall not impair his rights in any property then owned by the wife do not entitle him to letters of administration on his divorced and deceased wife's estate.⁹⁰

(3) Right to Share in Wife's Estate

It is ordinarily deemed prerequisite to the surviving husband's preferential right to letters of administration on the estate of his deceased wife that he be entitled to share in her estate.

A surviving husband is not entitled to letters as such where he has no right to share in his deceased wife's estate,⁹¹ and a husband who has released all his interest in his wife's estate is not entitled to administer thereon.⁹²

Preference of husband to illegitimate relatives; separate estate. Where the surviving husband is not entitled to any portion of his deceased wife's separate estate if she left surviving relatives, but is so entitled if she did not, on proof that the deceased wife left only illegitimate relatives the surviving husband is entitled to letters of administration on her estate as against the claims of cousins

Y.S.2d 652, 253 App.Div. 718.—In re Schwartz' Estate, 246 N.Y.S. 478, 138 Misc. 537.
23 C.J. p 1035 note 88.

Representative of community and separate estates

Where will executed by wife was void, the surviving husband had right to qualify as community survivor of the community estate and was entitled to be given preference in qualifying as administrator of the separate estate of the wife.—Cole v. Houston, Tex.Civ.App., 152 S.W.2d 522, error granted.

79. N.Y.—In re Rechtschaffen's Estate, 16 N.E.2d 357, 278 N.Y. 336, reversing 300 N.Y.S. 1005, 252 App. Div. 853, affirming 294 N.Y.S. 604, 162 Misc. 374, motion denied 1 N.Y.S.2d 652, 253 App.Div. 718.

80. Ala.—Randall v. Shrader, 17 Ala. 333.
23 C.J. p 1035 note 89.

81. Pa.—Coover's Appeal, 52 Pa. 427. Tenn.—Cooper v. Maddox, 2 Sneed 135.

82. Wash.—Buchser v. Buchser, 131 P. 193, 132 P. 239, 72 Wash. 675.
23 C.J. p 1035 note 91.

83. Cal.—In re Shiels, 52 P. 808, 120 Cal. 347.

84. N.Y.—In re Mahel's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 625, 153 Misc. 228.

85. Pa.—Altemus' Case, 1 Ashm. 49.

86. Pa.—Clark v. Clark, 6 Watts & S. 85.

87. La.—Barry's Succession, 17 So. 307, 47 La. Ann. 838.

Md.—Nusz v. Grove, 27 Md. 391.

88. N.Y.—In re Dorsett's Estate, 242 N.Y.S. 232, 136 Misc. 236.

89. N.Y.—In re Albrecht's Estate, 194 N.Y.S. 432, 118 Misc. 737.

90. N.Y.—In re Albrecht's Estate, 196 N.Y.S. 765, 119 Misc. 554, affirming 194 N.Y.S. 432, 118 Misc. 737.

91. N.Y.—In re Wagner, 20 N.Y.S.2d 470, 174 Misc. 203.

Wis.—In re Bartz' Estate, 242 N.W. 171, 207 Wis. 639.

Non beneficiary preferred to second husband

Guardian of intestate's son by first marriage should be appointed administrator in preference to second husband, where son was the sole beneficiary.—In re Bartz' Estate, supra.

Bar of right to share estate not shown

(1) Where there was no indication that husband had ever refused to provide support for his wife or that the wife or any person authorized to speak for her ever intimated that any contribution by the husband was needed or desired, the husband could not be deemed to be in default in respect of his obligation for support, so as to be denied the right to share in her estate and letters of administration on the death of the wife.—In re Wagner, 20 N.Y.S.2d 470, 174 Misc. 203.

(2) Where wife was adjudicated an incompetent and committed to state hospital, and subsequently regained her sanity, the wife who failed to return to her husband's home and accompanied another man to his home, and did not endeavor to resume her marital domicile, "abandoned" the husband.—In re Wagner, supra.

92. U.S.—Marshall v. Beall, D.C., 6 How. 70, 12 L.Ed. 347.
23 C.J. p 1035 note 97.

Effect of antenuptial or postnuptial contracts see supra subdivision a of this section.

and half sisters not legitimately related to deceased.⁹³

(4) Representative of Subsequently Deceased Husband

The courts have both affirmed and denied the right of the representatives of the estate of a husband to administration on the estate of his predeceased wife.

It has been held that, where the husband survives his wife, but afterward dies, his executor is entitled to administration on the estate of the wife,⁹⁴ and also, under statute, that in such case there can be no administration on the estate of the wife except through the administrator of the husband.⁹⁵ On the other hand, the right of the administrator of a surviving husband to administer the estate of the wife has been denied,⁹⁶ and it has also been held that if the husband died before taking out administration on his wife's estate his administrator is not entitled to letters.⁹⁷

c. Widow of Intestate

(1) In general

(2) Validity of marriage and effect of separation or divorce

(3) Right to share in husband's estate

(1) In General

A widow is ordinarily accorded the right to administer the estate of her deceased intestate husband unless she is disqualified. Under many statutes she is given a preferential right to letters of administration, which may or may not be absolute, but next of kin may be preferred.

The widow is very generally held to be entitled to administer on the estate of her deceased husband,⁹⁸ unless debarred by misconduct or other unsuitableness.⁹⁹ It has been held that the right of the widow is not affected by the fact that she had had adulterous relations with a person other than her husband where such relations had ceased several years before the husband's death.¹ It has been held that the widow may either administer the estate herself or nominate some competent person in whom she reposes confidence.²

Under the law prevailing in many jurisdictions the widow is preferred to all others as administratrix of her deceased husband's estate,³ even though she has interests adverse to those of the next of kin,⁴ and her right to letters, where she is qualified, has been held absolute and mandatory.⁵ She may not be excluded from her preferential right on mere speculation that from lack of business experience she will mismanage the estate.⁶ Under

93. La.—Succession of Young, 117 So. 150, 166 La. 285.

94. N.Y.—Matter of Harvey, 3 Redf. Surr. 214.

Husband's executors entitled to personality and administration

Where deceased wife left realty and personality worth about fourteen thousand five hundred dollars, of which personality was worth less than ten thousand dollars, her surviving husband's executors were entitled to take all of personality before resorting to realty in satisfaction of husband's share, under statute giving husband "ten thousand dollars and one half of the residue," and hence were entitled to letters of administration on wife's estate to exclusion of wife's sister.—In re Karp's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 903, 163 Misc. 855.

95. N.C.—Wooten v. Wooten, 31 S. E. 491, 123 N.C. 219.

96. N.Y.—Matter of O'Neil, 2 Redf. Surr. 544.

97. N.C.—Whitbie v. Frazier, 2 N.C. 775.

98. Okl.—In re Walker's Estate, 36 P.2d 10, 169 Okl. 106.
23 C.J. p 1036 note 4.

99. Pa.—Odiorne's Appeal, 54 Pa. 175, 93 Am.D. 683.
23 C.J. p 1036 note 7.

Improvidence, ignorance, and conflicting interests

Where evidence showed that widow was improvident and displayed want of care and foresight which would be likely to render intestate decedent's estate unsafe in her hands, that widow exhibited lack of knowledge of ordinary business dealings, that widow's interest as administratrix of her husband's estate would be in conflict with interest of widow as accountant for husband who had been administrator of husband's first wife's unsettled estate and in conflict with the interests of husband's child by first marriage and that antagonism existed between widow and husband's child by first marriage, widow was disqualified from being accorded usual preferential right to administer.—In re Mesler's Estate, 1 A.2d 322, 16 N.J.Misc. 434.

Disqualification not shown

That deceased left minor children by a former wife who were interested in estate was held, as a matter of law, not a disqualification of widow to serve as administratrix.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W. 2d 893, 230 Mo.App. 1.

1. Mich.—In re Dettman, 161 N.W. 836, 195 Mich. 231.

2. Mont.—State v. District Court of Fifth Judicial Dist. in and for Madison County, 197 P. 741, 59 Mont. 505.

Okl.—In re Walker's Estate, 36 P.2d 10, 169 Okl. 100.

3. U.S.—Sealey v. U. S., D.C.Va., 7 F.Supp. 434.

Ala.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

Ga.—Montgomery v. Paradise, App., 15 S.E.2d 899—Sampson v. Sampson, 163 S.E. 326, 44 Ga.App. 803—Maddox v. Maddox, 108 S.E. 304, 27 Ga.App. 369.

Okl.—In re Walker's Estate, 36 P.2d 10, 169 Okl. 100.

Wis.—In re Fink's Estate, 210 N.W. 334, 191 Wis. 349.

Preferred to son

Widow's right to letters of administration is prior to that of son.—In re Bunimowitz's Estate, 219 N. Y.S. 763, 128 Misc. 518.

4. Ala.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

5. Mont.—State v. District Court of Fifth Judicial Dist. in and for Madison County, 197 P. 741, 59 Mont. 505.

Pa.—In re Malinowski's Estate, 19 Pa.Dist. & Co. 335, 15 Erie Co.L.J. 224.

6. Ga.—Montgomery v. Paradise, App., 15 S.E.2d 899—Sampson v. Sampson, 163 S.E. 326, 44 Ga.App. 803—Maddox v. Maddox, 108 S.E. 304, 27 Ga.App. 369.

other statutes it has been held that while the widow is entitled to a preference,⁷ her right to administration is neither absolute nor exclusive,⁸ that the court may exercise its sound discretion in the matter of appointing the widow,⁹ and that statutes conferring a preference mean merely that where other things are equal the widow should be appointed,¹⁰ and that to construe the statute as conferring an absolute right would deprive the court of its inherent power to judge as to the qualification and fitness of an applicant for letters of administration.¹¹ Under a statute providing that administration shall be granted to some one or more of the persons enumerated in the following order, widow, husband, or next of kin, or such of them as the court may think proper, the widow has a preferential right to appointment as administratrix of her deceased husband's estate,¹² but proof that she is a suitable person does not under such a statutory provision give her an absolute right to the appointment,¹³ and the court may for sound reasons, such as dissension among the distributees, appoint a disinterested third person as administrator.¹⁴

Where the statute provides that in the choice of administrator the preference shall be given to the beneficiary heir over every other person, if of age and present in the state, the court lacks discretion to appoint the widow instead of such a beneficiary heir,¹⁵ and appointment of next of kin instead of the widow may be proper under either the discretionary power of the court or statutes affording preferential rights to the next of kin.¹⁶

(2) Validity of Marriage and Effect of Separation or Divorce

To become entitled to letters of administration as the widow of intestate the applicant must show a lawful marriage subsisting at the time of his death, although her right will not be defeated by proof that it was voidable. A final and absolute divorce precludes applicant from securing letters as the widow, but neither an interlocutory decree nor one which is void or subsequently annulled will have this effect. The mere separation of the spouses does not ordinarily disentitle the widow to letters, but the practice differs in respect of the effect of the wife's abandonment of the husband.

In order to entitle the widow to administration the parties must have been legally married,¹⁷ and the widow has no right where the marriage was void,¹⁸ as in such cases she is not really a "widow" within the meaning of statutes conferring the right

7. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, 1 A. 2d 322, 16 N.J.Misc. 434.

8. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, supra.

9. Ark.—Williamson v. Furbush, 31 Ark. 539.

Ohio.—Garretson v. Garretson, 3 Ohio Cir.Ct. 336, 2 Ohio Cir.Dec. 581.

Va.—Smith v. Lurty, 59 S.E. 403, 107 Va. 548.

10. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, 1 A.2d 322, 16 N.J.Misc. 434.

11. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, supra.

12. Mich.—In re Abramovitz' Estate, 270 N.W. 294, 278 Mich. 271.

13. Mich.—In re Abramovitz' Estate, supra.

14. Mich.—In re Abramovitz' Estate, supra.

15. La.—Succession of Rabe, 111 So. 658, 163 La. 149.

Second wife deferred to son by first wife

(1) Second wife could not be appointed administratrix in preference to son by first wife, although all intestate's property was interest in community with second wife.—Succession of Rabe, supra.

(2) That son had neglected to support child did not deprive him of right to preference as administrator of father's succession, as against second wife.—Succession of Rabe, supra.

16. Ind.—Haughey v. Haughey, 127 N.E. 454, 73 Ind.App. 318.

La.—Succession of Rabe, 111 So. 658, 163 La. 149—Coste's Succession, 9 So. 62, 43 La. Ann. 144. 23 C.J. p 1036 note 6 [b].

17. N.Y.—In re Merrill's Estate, 281 N.Y.S. 424, 245 App.Div. 323, reversing 256 N.Y.S. 923, 143 Misc. 110—In re Crook's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 373, 140 Misc. 721.

S.C.—Ex parte Blizzard, 193 S.E. 633, 185 S.C. 131.

23 C.J. p 1037 note 9. 18. N.Y.—O'Gara v. Eisenlohr, 38 N.Y. 296.

Bigamous second wife of deceased held not a "widow" or "distributee" of deceased and therefore not entitled to administer his estate.—Battalco v. Knickerbocker Fireproofing Co., 294 N.Y.S. 481, 250 App.Div. 258. Survivor of alleged common-law marriage

Survivor of alleged common-law marriage with deceased seaman, not being "wife" within statute governing letters of administration because of her preëxisting ceremonial marriage with another, was not entitled to preference over decedent's non-resident father as to limited letters for purpose of prosecuting death action under federal statute.—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

Void second marriage following invalid dissolution of first marriage

Attempted dissolution of marriage, solemnized by rabbi in Russia, at instance of husband by Jewish rabbis in New York, was invalid, precluding wife from obtaining letters of administration as widow of alleged second husband, since attempted divorce was not by due "judicial proceeding" and she was still married to the first husband at the time of her alleged marriage to intestate.—In re Goldman's Estate, 282 N.Y.S. 787, 156 Misc. 817.

Valid common-law marriage

Where rabbinical marriage was performed in 1923 following a rabbinical divorce granted to husband and another ceremonial marriage was performed in 1927 following husband's obtaining of void divorce decree from his first wife, and first wife died in 1929, second wife was held to have become lawful wife of husband immediately following death of his first wife, and hence could become administratrix of estate of husband who died in 1936, parties having evinced continuous desire and intention to live as husband and wife morally, and statute outlawing common-law marriages not having been passed until after death of first wife. The woman was not precluded from becoming administratrix of decedent's estate because of rule that relationship meretricious in its inception will be deemed to have continued to be of like nature, where parties had evinced a continuous desire and intention to live as husband and wife morally.—In re Cherney's Estate, 295 N.Y.S. 567, 162 Misc. 764.

of administration on "widows;"¹⁹ but the widow's right is not defeated by the fact that the marriage was voidable where it was not actually annulled during the lifetime of the husband,²⁰ or by subsequent bigamous marriages of both parties where the original and valid marriage between intestate and applicant for administration remains unannulled.²¹

Separation or divorce. Where the parties have been absolutely divorced, the surviving wife is not entitled to administration,²² but her right to letters is not defeated by an interlocutory decree of divorce,²³ or by a void decree,²⁴ such as one granted in another state but not regarded as valid in the state of the domicile where administration is sought,²⁵ or a decree which has been vacated and annulled, even after the husband's death;²⁶ neither is the widow's right necessarily lost by the fact that she and her husband were separated,²⁷ nor by a decree of separation from bed and board,²⁸ and the wife's abandonment of the husband has been held not to destroy her preferential right to letters of administration on his estate,²⁹ although there is contrary authority denying a widow the right to administer the estate of a husband whom she abandoned in his lifetime.³⁰

(3) Right to Share in Husband's Estate

The general view is that a widow without beneficial interest in her husband's estate lacks preferential or other right to administer it.

It has been held that where a widow has theretofore disposed of all interest in her husband's estate, aside from statutory allowances pertaining to administration, so that she can have no beneficial interest as distributee after payment of creditors, she is not entitled to preference respecting appointment as administratrix,³¹ and under statutory provisions expressly or impliedly requiring the administrator of an estate to have a beneficial interest therein, a widow without such an interest is not entitled to letters.³²

§ 36. — Next of Kin

- a. In general
- b. Preferences

a. In General

Where the rights of a surviving spouse are not involved, letters of administration will ordinarily be issued to next of kin of an intestate entitled to share in the distribution of his estate, as determined on the date of his death, and the right of administration may extend to relatives by affinity, to stepchildren and to adopted children, although illegitimates are ordinarily excluded in the absence of statutory provision for their appointment or special circumstances.

Apart from the claim of a surviving spouse, the right to administer belongs usually to the next of kin of the decedent, that is to say, those persons who are entitled under the statute of distributions to the decedent's property, the theory of the law being that the right to administer should follow the interest or right of property in the estate,³³ and 19. N.Y.—In re Crook's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 373, 375, 140 Misc. 721.

Definition

In connection with the right of the widow to administration, it has been pointed out that "a widow is a woman who has lost her husband by death and has not married again."—In re Crook's Estate, supra, quoting Webster D.

20. Mo.—In re Guthery's Estate, 226 S.W. 626, 205 Mo.App. 664.

N.Y.—In re Sanders' Estate, 227 N.Y.S. 543, 131 Misc. 266.
23 C.J. p 1037 note 11.

21. N.Y.—In re Elchelberger's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 535, 152 Misc. 834.

22. N.Y.—In re Ensign, 8 N.E. 544, 103 N.Y. 284, 57 Am.R. 717.

23. Cal.—In re Martin, 137 P. 2, 166 Cal. 399.

Husband's death before decree became final

Where husband died before divorce decree became final, wife became vested with every right which law grants to surviving spouse, and was entitled to have letters of administration of estate issued to her as matter of right, in absence of showing of some good and sufficient reason to contrary.—In re Johnson's Estate, 35 P.2d 305, 84 Utah 168.

24. N.Y.—In re Bennett's Estate, 238 N.Y.S. 723, 135 Misc. 486.
23 C.J. p 1037 notes 13, 14.

Decree not signed by judge

A judgment of divorce will not defeat the widow's right to administer unless it appears to have been signed by the judge.—Barry's Succession, 17 So. 307, 47 La. Ann. 838.

25. Cal.—In re Bruneman's Estate, 90 P.2d 323, 32 Cal.App.2d 606.
N.Y.—In re Bennett's Estate, 238 N.Y.S. 723, 135 Misc. 486.
23 C.J. p 1037 note 14.

26. Pa.—Boyd's Appeal, 38 Pa. 246.

27. Pa.—In re Malinowski's Estate, 19 Pa. Dist. & Co. 335, 15 Erie Co. L.J. 224.

23 C.J. p 1037 note 16.

Separation in fact

Wife from whom decedent was separated became decedent's widow on his death and was entitled to letters of administration on his estate, rather than woman with whom decedent had cohabited for fifteen years after separation, and whom decedent acknowledged as his wife, and who was so regarded, where decedent made no effort to annul marriage after separation and did not make diligent search to ascertain whether wife was alive.—In re Merrill's Estate, 281 N.Y.S. 424, 245 App.Div. 323, reversing 256 N.Y.S. 923, 143 Misc. 110.

28. Pa.—Fyock's Est., 19 A. 1056, 135 Pa. 522, affirming 7 Pa.Co. 425 —Heins' Estate, 22 Pa.Super. 31, affirming 18 Montg.Co. 177.

29. Ala.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

30. N.Y.—In re Banaszak's Estate, 1 N.Y.S.2d 15, 164 Misc. 829.

31. Mich.—In re Berner, 187 N.W. 377, 217 Mich. 612.

32. N.Y.—In re Bunimowitz's Estate, 219 N.Y.S. 763, 128 Misc. 518.
Pa.—In re Friese's Estate, 176 A. 225, 317 Pa. 86.

33. Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W. 2d 20, 246 Ky. 338.

Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

Or.—In re Paquet's Estate, 200 P. 911, 101 Or. 393.

Pa.—In re King's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist.

relatives of decedent without a beneficial interest in his estate will ordinarily be excluded from the right to letters of administration as next of kin.³⁴ The prescribed relationship and the right to share in the estate must coexist to entitle applicant to letters.³⁵ The term "next of kin" as employed in statutes providing for issuance of letters of administration as a general rule means those relatives whose relationship to the intestate is such that they are entitled to share in his estate as distributees under rules governing descent and distribution,³⁶ and under this view the right of a particular next of kin to letters of administration depends on whether he is given the right, by provision of statutes governing descent and distribution, to share in the net assets of the estate,³⁷ and not on whether there will be any assets available for distribution after completion of administration.³⁸ It has been held that where the statute of descent and distribution would exclude relatives from a distributive share in the estate they are not "next of kin" within the meaning of statutes conferring the right of administration on next of kin, even though they may be closely related to the decedent by consanguinity,³⁹ but other courts have construed the term "next of kin" as including persons who would be entitled to share in the estate if there was none nearer in relationship.⁴⁰

Ordinarily provisions for issuance of letters of administration to the next of kin of an intestate, or & Co. 483, 39 Lanc.L.Rev. 491, 39 York.Leg.Rec. 103. See In re Henry's Estate, 51 York Leg.Rec. 185. 23 C.J. p 1037 note 22.

Blood relative preferred to widow of decedent's son

Widow of decedent's son and administratrix of such son's estate is not entitled to letters of administration, as against decedent's cousin.—In re Crandall's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 797, 144 Misc. 58.

Son and sole heir entitled to letters
Ga.—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S.E. 591, 179 Ga. 696.

Heir of heir as not entitled to letters

(1) Son of intestate's surviving brother is not "beneficiary heir" of intestate, either by disposition of law or by representation of brother, on death of surviving brother who had inherited an interest in intestate's succession, notwithstanding brother died without either accepting or rejecting intestate's succession, and hence was not entitled to appointment as administrator of intestate's succession.—Succession of Coco, 171 So. 70, 185 La. 901.

(2) Statutes providing for transmission of succession to heirs of heirs, for suits by heirs in actions which deceased had right to institute, and suspending right of heir until acceptance or rejection of succession do not entitle son of intestate's surviving brother to appointment as administrator in intestate's succession where son acquired interest in intestate's succession as heir of surviving brother who had died without exercising his right to accept or reject succession.—Succession of Coco, supra.

34. Ky.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584. N.Y.—In re Grant's Estate, 3 N.Y.S. 2d 867, 253 App.Div. 504.—In re Franko's Estate, 7 N.Y.S.2d 594, 169 Misc. 356.—In re Brown's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 496, 153 Misc. 41.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court for King County, 291 P. 481, 158 Wash. 546, 70 A.L.R. 1460.

23 C.J. p 1038 notes 23, 27.

Interest in estate as affecting right to administration generally see supra § 31.

Blood relatives without interest in estate

Under statute prescribing order in which persons are entitled to administer decedents' estates, phrase "next of kin" does not include relatives by blood who have no interest in estate.—In re Covington's Estate, 33 P.2d 87, 177 Wash. 668.

Lack of resident distributees immaterial

Resident relatives of a decedent who are not distributees cannot qualify as administrators of estate of decedent when there are no distributees who are residents of Kentucky since "relations" referred to in statute providing for appointment of administrator are those entitled to distribution in the estate of the decedent.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584.

35. N.Y.—In re Wenkhous' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 518, 158 Misc. 663.

"Entitled to take or share"

(1) Phrase "persons entitled to take or share," in statute prescribing persons entitled to administration, means surviving spouse and next of kin, except those who have alienated their interest.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

(2) Words "persons entitled to take or share," in statute prescribing who is entitled to administration, do not include assignees, and others not distributees.—In re Kassam's Estate, supra.

"Any other next of kin entitled to share"

Assignee of sole surviving next of kin is not entitled to administration as "any other next of kin entitled to share in distribution of estate."—In re Kassam's Estate, supra.

36. Iowa.—In re Wright's Estate, 230 N.W. 552, 210 Iowa 25. Minn.—Long v. Christopher, 260 N.W. 314, 194 Minn. 238. N.J.—In re Stewart's Estate, 175 A. 360, 117 N.J.Eq. 256. Tex.—Gillespie v. Isbell, Civ.App., 51 S.W.2d 746, error refused.

37. N.Y.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.—In re Brown's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 496, 153 Misc. 41.

Father not entitled to share

Where intestate left six year old son as only next of kin, intestate's father was not "next of kin entitled to distribution" within statute, and therefore he could not object to granting of letters of administration to intestate's divorced wife, the mother of intestate's son.—In re Stewart's Estate, 175 A. 360, 117 N.J.Eq. 256.

38. N.Y.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.—In re Brown's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 496, 153 Misc. 41.

39. Minn.—Long v. Christopher, 260 N.W. 314, 194 Minn. 238.

40. Ill.—Sanders v. Buenger, 143 N.E. 431, 311 Ill. 572.

Qualification of cousin on waiver by brothers and sisters

"Next of kin" under Administration Act § 18 subd 8, relating to preferences to appointment as administrator, may include persons who would be next of kin if there were not others occupying that position, so that a cousin of deceased may so classify, although there are brothers and sisters of deceased living, where same have waived their right to administer or to nominate.—Sanders v. Buenger, supra.

to specified relatives, refer to and are limited to those related by consanguinity,⁴¹ but there may be circumstances and statutory provisions under which letters will issue to relatives by affinity,⁴² as under statutes providing for issuance of letters to the surviving kin of a predeceased spouse of the intestate.⁴³

Date of determining next of kin. Generally speaking, a person's next of kin, within statutes governing appointment of administrators, are to be determined as of the date of his death.⁴⁴

Adopted children. While there is authority to the effect that an adopted child acquires no right to administer the estate of his adopted parent,⁴⁵ other authorities regard an adopted child as entitled to letters of administration on much the same basis as a natural child would be,⁴⁶ and differences in viewpoint may perhaps find their explanation in differences in statutory provisions as well as in differences of judicial construction. The word "children," as employed in statutes regulating appointment of administrators, has been held to include children by adoption as well as children by birth,⁴⁷ but, unless the adoption has been completed in compliance with statutory formalities, persons claiming to be children by adoption will not be so classified.⁴⁸ If the adoption has been formally completed, however, the adopted child may be entitled to letters even though proceedings are pending to vacate the judgment of adoption.⁴⁹

Stepchildren. The stepchild of an intestate may become entitled to letters of administration.⁵⁰

Illegitimate relatives. Ordinarily illegitimate relatives are not entitled to letters of administration as kin of an intestate⁵¹ but the right of an illegitimate child to administer his deceased mother's estate has been recognized by some authorities,⁵² and where a bastard grantee predeceases his mother, and later she dies, her legitimate children may become entitled to administration on the land originally owned by their illegitimate half brother, deriving their rights through the mother and not direct from the illegitimate half brother.⁵³

b. Preferences

As a general rule kin of nearer degree to the intestate will be appointed administrators of his estate in preference to those of more remote degree. Where applicants are of equal degree of kinship, appointment may in the 41. Ala.—Clark v. Whorton, 194 So. 661, 239 Ala. 238.

"Nephew" and "niece"

The terms "nephew" and "niece" in their primary sense, and within meaning of statute conferring on "next of kin" entitled to share in distribution of an estate, second in preference to the right of appointment as administrator, include only relationship by consanguinity.—Clark v. Whorton, supra.

42. N.Y.—In re Gant's Estate, 254 N.Y.S. 715, 142 Misc. 446.

Discretion of court

In absence of application for letters of administration by next of kin not required to be notified, letters of administration could be issued to deceased's brother-in-law, in discretion of orphans' court, whether or not the brother-in-law was a creditor.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, Md., 19 A.2d 701, 133 A.L.R. 1479.

43. N.Y.—In re Ziesenitz's Estate, 218 N.Y.S. 233, 128 Misc. 100.

As intestate's next of kin

In absence of specified surviving relatives of intestate decedent, predeceased spouse's relatives are "next of kin" entitled to share in distribution of estate" as respects right of administration.—In re Gant's Estate, 254 N.Y.S. 715, 142 Misc. 446.

Preference to creditor

Sisters of deceased's predeceased wife are entitled to administration in preference to deceased's creditor.—In re Gant's Estate, supra.

44. Wash.—In re Covington's Estate, 33 P.2d 87, 177 Wash. 668.

45. Pa.—In re Smith, 74 A. 622, 225 Pa. 630, 133 Am.S.R. 894—McCully's Estate, 13 Phila. 296.

46. Cal.—In re Heaton, 73 P. 186, 139 Cal. 237, 67 P. 321, 135 Cal. 385.

Tenn.—Redmond v. Wardrep, 257 S. W. 394, 149 Tenn. 35.

Where deceased left no widow or natural children, adopted daughter was person next entitled to distribution of estate, and was entitled to appointment as administrator.—Hood v. Higgins' Curator, 9 S.W.2d 1078, 225 Ky. 718.

47. N.D.—Borner v. Larson, 293 N. W. 836, 70 N.D. 313.

48. N.D.—Borner v. Larson, supra.

49. Ky.—Hood v. Higgins' Curator, 9 S.W.2d 1078, 225 Ky. 718.

50. Cal.—In re Sweitzer's Estate, 11 P.2d 633, 215 Cal. 489.

Regarded as next of kin

Under statutory provisions defining the term "next of kin" as including all persons entitled under the provisions of law relating to distribution of personal property to share in the unbequeathed residue of the assets of decedent, a stepchild so entitled may be appointed administrator as next of kin.—In re Neukirchen's Estate, 186 N.Y.S. 240.

51. Cal.—In re Pico, 52 Cal. 84.

Ill.—Myatt v. Myatt, 44 Ill. 473.

N.Y.—Ferrie v. Public Administrator, 3 Bradf.Surr. 249—Public Administrator v. Hughes, 1 Bradf.Surr. 125.

Pa.—In re McLaughlin's Estate, 172 A. 107, 314 Pa. 574.

Nullius filius

Parents' alleged common-law marriage being invalid because of mother's preexisting ceremonial marriage, child of deceased seaman was held nullius filius as respects decedent, and hence, not being classifiable as "child" within statute governing letters of administration, was not entitled to preference over decedent's father as to limited letters for purpose of prosecuting action under federal statute for decedent's death.—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

In Rhode Island it has been held that even if a statute conferring rights of inheritance on illegitimates does not make them kindred in the sense permitting their appointment as administrators, the court should have under the circumstances prevailing in the case at bar appointed an illegitimate grandson of intestate administrator as a "suitable person."—Johnson v. Johnson, 23 A. 106, 15 R.I. 109.

52. La.—Succession of McGee, 91 So. 716, 151 La. 225.

N.J.—Matter of Potter, 8 N.J.L.J. 137.

53. Ga.—Langmade v. Tuggle, 3 S. E. 666, 78 Ga. 770.

sound discretion of the court be made in accordance with the best interests of the distributees after due consideration of the personal capacity, experience, and moral fitness of the applicants and of other pertinent factors. Next of kin are usually preferred to creditors and to strangers, although creditors may be preferred where the relatives lack substantial beneficial interest in the estate.

The right to administration arising from kinship being usually dependent on the right to share in the distribution of decedent's estate, as shown in the preceding subdivision of this section, the nearest of kin to decedent are as a rule preferred to those more remotely related,⁵⁴ since they, when entitled to share in the estate, are the "next" of kin, and relatives not so entitled are not "next" of kin within the statutes;⁵⁵ and, where the statute classifies the different kinds of relatives, as children, brothers and sisters, etc., and gives preference to one over another, the court should follow the statutory preference in issuing letters of administration.⁵⁶ Under some statutes the degree of kinship, with reference to determination of the right to administration, will be computed in accordance with the rules of the civil law,⁵⁷ beginning with the intestate and ascending from him to a common ancestor, descending from that ancestor to claimant, and reckoning a degree for each generation both in ascending and in descending.⁵⁸ Where the court has on petition appointed a next of kin as administrator, on a subsequent application within the statutory period by another kin more closely related, the court in its discretion may vacate the first appointment and issue letters of administration to the kin more closely related to intestate.⁵⁹ Where the statute relating to appointment of administrators places all the next of kin in one preferential class, it has been held that one nearer in kinship than another has no preferential right to administration over such other, the selection as between those in the same preferential class in respect of administration resting in the sound discretion of the court.⁶⁰ Equality of interest may give equality of right to administer;⁶¹ but it has been held that the test of the right to letters of administration is the nearness of relationship to intestate and not the relative proportion of the estate to which applicant may be entitled.⁶² From among two or more persons equally akin to deceased who seek the appointment, the court may choose the most suitable, judging fairly as to each one's fitness for the trust and exercising a sound discretion in the interests of the distributees generally;⁶³ and in making a selection among

54. Md.—Phillips v. Clark, 6 A.2d 220, 176 Md. 578.

N.Y.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

Tex.—Gillespie v. Isbell, Civ.App., 51 S.W.2d 746, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1039 note 28.

Brother may be preferred to niece and nephew

Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

Personal fitness of nonbeneficiary heir is not material.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

55. N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

56. Mont.—In re Mapes' Estate, 118 P.2d 755—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 164.

N.D.—Borner v. Larson, 293 N.W. 836, 70 N.D. 313.

Children preferred to sister

Under statute prescribing order in which letters of administration must be granted, decedent's children are placed in a class superior to that of a sister of decedent, and hence children have, within limits prescribed by statute, a right to administration of estate superior to right of a sister of decedent, although to be so entitled they must show that they are children within the meaning of the statute.—Borner v. Larson, supra.

57. Ala.—Calvert v. Beck, 199 So. 846, 240 Ala. 442—Johnston v.

Pierson, 155 So. 695, 229 Ala. 85. Computation of degree of kindred under rules regulating descent and distribution see Descent and Distribution §§ 22, 23.

58. Ala.—Calvert v. Beck, 199 So. 846, 240 Ala. 442.

Brother preferred over niece's husband

A brother of the whole blood of deceased was in the second "degree of kindred", and a husband of niece of deceased was in the third "degree of kindred", and hence brother had preferential right to administer estate of deceased and was entitled, as against husband of niece, to grant of letters of administration, where brother was not disqualified.—Calvert v. Beck, supra.

Uncle preferred over first cousin's husband

Uncle of intestate who died without widow, descendants, or parents, and who was not disqualified, was entitled to letters of administration as a relative in the third degree as against husband of intestate's first cousin, such first cousin being a relative in the fourth degree.—Johnston v. Pierson, 155 So. 695, 229 Ala. 85.

59. Colo.—In re Woody's Estate, 24 P.2d 754, 93 Colo. 169.

60. Iowa.—In re Wright's Estate, 230 N.W. 552, 210 Iowa 25.

Sister not preferred over niece

Under statute authorizing "next of kin" to request administration, in-testate's sister had no preferential right over niece.—In re Wright's Estate, supra.

61. Mich.—Rajnowski v. Detroit, B. C. & A. R. Co., 41 N.W. 847, 74 Mich. 20.

62. Tex.—Gillespie v. Isbell, Civ. App., 51 S.W.2d 746, error refused.

As between cousins

(1) First cousin of half blood, rather than second cousin of whole blood, was "next of kin" of deceased within statute prescribing preferential rights to letters of administration.—Gillespie v. Isbell, supra.

(2) That second cousin of whole blood of deceased would receive larger share of estate than first cousin of half blood was immaterial in determining right to letters of administration.—Gillespie v. Isbell, supra.

63. Ga.—Sims v. Horne, App., 15 S. E.2d 549.

La.—Succession of Eberle, 99 So. 464, 155 La. 603.

N.J.—In re Tenneson's Estate, 12 A. 2d 363, 18 N.J.Misc. 245.

23 C.J. p 1039 note 30.

Appointment sustained

Appointment as administratrix of beneficiary heir who was mature woman of experience, capacity, and business ability, who transacted her father's business exclusively for six months before his death, and who was the only applicant for administration not alleged to be indebted to such persons it is proper to regard moral fitness,⁶⁴ as well as age⁶⁵ and business experience.⁶⁶ Relatives of the whole blood are generally preferred to those of half blood in equal degree of relationship.⁶⁷ The policy of some jurisdictions distinctly places the male of kin before the female for receiving the appointment,⁶⁸ but this rule may be controlled by other considerations.⁶⁹ In some jurisdictions a feme sole is preferred to a married woman.⁷⁰ It has been considered that relatives on the male side should be preferred to those in the female line,⁷¹ but in a case where the estate was insolvent so far as personalty was concerned, but the intestate left real estate derived from his mother, it was held that administration would be granted to a maternal cousin in preference to a paternal uncle.⁷² One determining consideration as between next of kin in cases of doubt may be their relative extent of interest,⁷³ but another is the confidence reposed by kindred, and hence it is not uncommon to appoint the one on whom a majority of the parties in interest agree,⁷⁴ and the wishes of the person or persons having the largest amount of interest may in certain respects preponderate in the selection,⁷⁵ although the wishes of a majority do not impose an absolute duty on the court.⁷⁶ estate, was held proper.—Succession of Virgetts, 162 So. 53, 182 La. 491.

"Most solid"

In determining "most solid" within statute authorizing judge to select most solid of two or more beneficiary heirs as administrator, business capacity, experience, property, integrity, and everything else going to make up personal fitness should be considered.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 446, 184 La. 144.

64. N.J.—In re Tenneson's Estate, 12 A.2d 363, 18 N.J.Misc. 245. 23 C.J. p 1039 note 31.

65. Md.—Owings v. Bates, 9 Gill 463.

N.J.—In re Hill, 37 A. 952, 55 N.J.Eq. 764.

N.Y.—Wickwire v. Chapman, 15 Barb. 302.

66. La.—Chaler's Succession, 1 So. 820, 39 La.Ann. 308.

23 C.J. p 1039 note 33.

67. N.Y.—Matter of Tator, 141 N.Y. S. 927, 81 Misc. 83. 23 C.J. p 1039 note 34.

68. N.Y.—In re McOwen's Estate, 185 N.Y.S. 907, 114 Misc. 151. 23 C.J. p 1039 note 35.

69. N.Y.—Wickwire v. Chapman, 15 Barb. 302. 23 C.J. p 1040 note 36.

70. Md.—Smith v. Young, 5 Gill 197. N.Y.—In re Curser, 89 N.Y. 401, reversing 25 Hun 579. 23 C.J. p 1040 note 37.

71. Md.—Kearney v. Turner, 28 Md. 408.

72. Pa.—Cantlin's Estate, 2 Pa.Dist. 522, 13 Pa.Co. 381.

73. Ga.—Leverett v. Dismukes, 10 Ga. 98.

74. Ga.—Hill v. Akins, 194 S.E. 893, 57 Ga.App. 198.

Mont.—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 164.

23 C.J. p 1040 note 41.

Appointment as mandatory

Ga.—Sims v. Horne, App., 15 S.E.2d 549.

75. Pa.—McClellan's Appeal, 16 Pa. 110.

76. Ky.—Moran v. Moran, 189 S.W. 248, 172 Ky. 344.

77. Ga.—Sims v. Horne, App., 15 S.E.2d 549.

La.—Succession of Eugene, 120 So. 403, 10 La.App. 294.

Selection by less than majority as controlling

Where next of kin equally near in degree selected one of their number as administratrix, and there was no evidence that one selected was not a person of sound mind or that she was laboring under any disability, the ordinary could not appoint a creditor of deceased as administrator in preference to the one so selected, although it did not appear that the next of kin making the selection constituted a majority of the decedent's next of kin.—Sims v. Horne, Ga.App., 15 S.E.2d 549.

Preferred to creditors. As a general rule next of kin will be appointed administrators in preference to creditors of the intestate;⁷⁷ but it has been held that a creditor is entitled to preference over a relative who is not entitled to share in the estate,⁷⁸ or is not a member of any of the classes named in the statute providing the order in which administration may be granted.⁷⁹

The reason why a creditor is selected under these circumstances is that, should the estate be plainly inadequate for yielding a surplus over the debts, the next of kin have comparatively slight interest in settling it, while under no circumstances ought an honest creditor's claim be lost for want of an administrator.⁸⁰

Preference to strangers. It has been both affirmed⁸¹ and denied⁸² that relatives without beneficial interest in an intestate's estate should be preferred to strangers.

§ 37. — Guardian or Trustee of Person Entitled

In some, but not all, jurisdictions the guardian or trustee of an infant or other incompetent may qualify as administrator in place of his ward or cestui. Where

Solvency of estate

(1) Under mandatory statutes, next of kin, where no husband or wife survives, are entitled to administer, rather than creditor, whether estate is solvent or insolvent.—Parker v. Batchellor, 151 S.E. 118, 40 Ga. App. 669.

(2) Earlier cases from Georgia are to the contrary.—Sturges v. Tufts, R.M.Charlt., Ga., 17. 23 C.J. p 1042 note 64.

78. Ind.—Cooper v. Cooper, 88 N.E. 341, 43 Ind.App. 620.

23 C.J. p 1042 note 61.

79. Wash.—In re Hoss, 109 P. 1071, 59 Wash. 360.

80. Mich.—Aldrich v. Annin, 19 N. W. 964, 54 Mich. 230.

23 C.J. p 1042 note 63.

81. N.Y.—In re D'Adamo, 106 N.E. 81, 212 N.Y. 214, L.R.A.1915D 373. 23 C.J. p 1038 note 24.

82. Wash.—In re Covington's Estate, 33 P.2d 87, 177 Wash. 668.

Decedent's sister, appealing from order appointing stranger to estate as administratrix, was held to have no preferential right to appointment in absence of showing that she had interest in estate, where order appointing stranger recited that all of decedent's property was community property.—In re Covington's Estate, supra.

a cestui is competent, his trustee may be denied the right to serve in his place.

It has been said to be a rule of the common law that the trustee or guardian of an infant or person non compos mentis, who would otherwise be entitled to administer on an estate, is entitled to administer in the right of his cestui or ward;⁸³ and in some jurisdictions by virtue of the common law or statute, where a person entitled to administration is a minor or incompetent, letters of administration may be granted to the guardian of such person,⁸⁴ unless disqualified,⁸⁵ as where the tutor of minors is given the right to administer the succession of the ward's ancestor when the ward is the only person in interest or adult heirs and creditors raise no objection.⁸⁶ The natural guardian of an infant may qualify as administrator in the infant's place according to some authority,⁸⁷ but other authority has denied the right of administration to a natural guardian and restricted it to a guardian appointed by law.⁸⁸ The guardian of the estate of an incompetent will be preferred to the guardian of his person.⁸⁹ It has been held that, where, of several next of kin equally entitled, one is a minor, the guardian of the minor is postponed to the adult next of kin,⁹⁰ but there is also authority for the view that under such circumstances the court has power to grant letters to the guardian of the minor.⁹¹ Where the guardianship appointment is void, the person claiming to be guardian does not become administrator by operation of law.⁹²

Under the law of other jurisdictions letters of administration may be refused to a guardian seeking to take the place of his ward,⁹³ and it has been held that the guardian of the property of minor children has neither a statutory nor a natural right to administer on the estate of their ancestor,⁹⁴ and that the mere facts that the incompetent would have been entitled to letters if competent, and that statutes broadly give the guardian the right to represent the ward in all actions, suits, and proceedings, do not singly or together entitle the guardian to appointment as administrator of an estate to the residue of which his ward is not entitled.⁹⁵ Where 83. Ind.—Kinnick v. Coy, 81 N.E. 107, 40 Ind.App. 139.

84. La.—Dorsey v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., App., 145 So. 304.

N.Y.—In re Clark's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 282, 152 Misc. 723.—In re McGuire's Estate, 189 N.Y.S. 62, 115 Misc. 84.

Okl.—In re Copperfield's Estate, 12 P.2d 490, 158 Okl. 40.

W.Va.—Murphy v. Karnes, 106 S.E. 655, 88 W.Va. 242.
23 C.J. p 1040 note 45.

General guardian

The term "guardian," as used in Code Civ.Proc. c 18, applies to general guardian, and a "general guardian" is one appointed by the supreme or surrogate's court, under § 2642, for an infant, either over or under fourteen years of age.—In re McGuire's Estate, 189 N.Y.S. 62, 115 Misc. 84.

Ancillary guardian

(1) Ancillary guardian of illegitimate child of deceased seaman may be entitled to priority in issuance of letters of administration for purpose of enforcing liability for death of seaman as against father of seaman where no estate of seaman was involved except right to recover for his death.—In re Wenkhous' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 518, 158 Misc. 663.

(2) In determining right of priority to letters of administration to enforce claim for death of seaman where no other estate of seaman was involved, court could not adopt rule of discrimination based on selection of one attorney as against another, but substantive rights of parties alone would be considered and letters issued to guardian representing infant.—In re Wenkhous' Estate, supra.

Guardian of issue of miscegenetic marriage

Guardian of children born as result of marriage between Indian and negro held void for miscegenation is entitled on their father's death to preference over deceased father's half brothers and half sisters, in appointment of administrator.—In re Atkins' Estate, 3 P.2d 682, 151 Okl. 294, 84 A.L.R. 491.

85. N.Y.—In re Clark's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 282, 152 Misc. 723.

Wash.—In re Stotts' Estates, 233 P. 280, 133 Wash. 100.

86. La.—In re Scarborough, 8 So. 940, 43 La.App. 315—Dumestre's Succession, 4 So. 328, 40 La.App. 571—Succession of Story, 3 La. Ann. 502—Succession of Reed, App., 157 So. 765—Succession of Brierre, 135 So. 762, 19 La.App. 400, affirmed 140 So. 488, 174 La. 314.

Life policies not subject to creditors' claims

Rule that tutor's right to appear as representative of succession of deceased whose property is inherited by minor depends on absence of objection by creditors did not apply to suit by tatrix on life policies not subject to creditors' claims.—Dorsey v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., La.App., 145 So. 304.

87. W.Va.—In re Stollings' Estate, 95 S.E. 446, 82 W.Va. 18.

88. N.Y.—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

Must be guardian of person or property

Only "guardian" of infant distributtee within statute governing letters of administration is guardian of infant's person or property, or both, appointed by surrogate's court or supreme court, and hence illegitimate child's mother was not entitled, as alleged natural guardian, to issuance of letters in preference to father's father.—In re Winkhous, supra.

89. N.Y.—In re Blowstein's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 412, 147 Misc. 111.—In re McGuire's Estate, 189 N.Y.S. 62, 115 Misc. 84.

90. N.Y.—Cottle v. Vanderheyden, 56 Barb. 622.
23 C.J. p 1041 note 49.

91. Cal.—In re Turner, 77 P. 144, 143 Cal. 438.

92. Ga.—Payne v. Shirley, 104 S.E. 17, 25 Ga.App. 644.

Want of jurisdiction

Where an application for appointment of an administrator is filed, and a caveat thereto filed by one who had been appointed guardian of deceased, under a commission of lunacy issued under Civ.Code 1910 § 3092, on the ground that the caveator, as guardian, was by operation of law the administrator of the estate, such ground of the caveat cannot be sustained, where the guardianship appointment was void for want of jurisdiction.—Payne v. Shirley, supra.

93. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

94. Iowa.—O'Neill v. Read, 162 N.W. 775, 179 Iowa 1208.

95. Mass.—McDonald v. O'Dea, 152 N.E. 341, 256 Mass. 177.

statutes expressly providing for appointment of the guardian have been repealed, it has been held that such repeal did not reestablish the common-law rule that the guardian was entitled to letters of administration in place of his incompetent ward.⁹⁶

Competent cestui. A cestui que trust, if rational and competent, is entitled rather than his trustee.⁹⁷

§ 38. — Attorney of Person Entitled

It has been held proper to appoint as administrator of a decedent's estate the resident attorney in fact of a nonresident having an interest in the estate.

The resident attorney in fact of the nonresident guardian of a minor may be appointed curator of the estate of the deceased ancestor.⁹⁸

§ 39. — Guardian or Conservator of Deceased Infant or Incompetent

The administration of the estate of a deceased infant or mental incompetent may be entrusted to his guardian or conservator under some statutes.

Under some statutes the administration of the estate of an infant belongs to his guardian,⁹⁹ while the estate of a lunatic, drunkard, or spendthrift is to be administered by his conservator.¹

§ 40. — Assignee of Next of Kin

The assignee of a sole next of kin has been held not entitled to administer or to nominate an administrator in the absence of statutory provision.

It has been held that the assignee of the sole next of kin and distributee is not entitled to administration and cannot nominate an administrator.² Under statutes conferring the right of administration on the grantee of the interest of one entitled, a person securing his interest by operation of law is not to be deemed such a grantee.³ It has been held that the trustee in bankruptcy of a person having an interest in an unadministered estate may be appointed administrator.⁴

§ 41. — Creditors

- a. In general
- b. Status as "creditor"
- c. Priority among creditors

a. In General

Subject to those having prior rights, a creditor may be entitled to appointment as administrator in preference to noncreditors.

It is a very general rule, established by positive statute in many of the United States, that a creditor of deceased may be appointed administrator where no application for appointment is made within a suitable time by those having legal priority of right, or where the latter are unsuitable for appointment or incompetent.⁵

96. Nev.—In re Taylor's Estate, 114 P.2d 1086, 135 A.L.R. 580.

Effect of repeal discussed

(1) Where legislature in repealing statute specified persons entitled to letters of administration with their priorities and a guardian of a minor was not named, axiom "expressio unius est exclusio alterius" applied as against contention that repealed statute which had entitled a guardian to letters was merely declaratory of the common law, which was not repealed by repealing statute.—In re Taylor's Estate, supra.

(2) The repeal of statute which had made provision that, when person entitled to letters of administration was a minor, letters should be issued to guardian repealed the common law of which such statute was declaratory, where repealing statute was a revision of whole subject of settlement of estates of deceased persons and appointment of legal representatives.—In re Taylor's Estate, supra.

97. N.Y.—In re Thompson, 33 Barb. 334.

98. La.—Manson's Succession, 1 Rob. 235.

99. Ga.—National Lumber Co. v. Turner, 59 S.E. 15, 2 Ga.App. 750.

1. Ill.—Lang v. Friesenecker, 73 N.E. 329, 213 Ill. 598, 23 C.J. p 1041 note 54.

2. N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

Assignee of nonresident alien sole next of kin and distributee was not entitled to administration and could not nominate administrator; hence public administrator had right to administration.—In re Kassam's Estate, supra.

3. Mich.—In re Halsted's Estate, 276 N.W. 438, 282 Mich. 253, 114 A.L.R. 272.

Half sister preferred to widow's niece taking by operation of law

Under a statute providing that administration shall be given to an intestate's widow, or next of kin, or to a "grantee of the interest of one or more of them," where the intestate died leaving a widow and a half sister, and thereafter the widow died, leaving a niece as her own next of kin, letters of administration on the estate of the husband were properly issued to, or on the nomination of, his half sister to the exclusion of the widow's niece who, having secured her interest in the estate of the intestate husband by operation of law, was not a "grantee" of the widow's interest within the meaning of the statute.—In re Halsted's Estate, supra.

4. Mich.—Osmun v. Galbraith, 92 N.W. 101, 131 Mich. 577.

5. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

Ark.—Lineback v. Howerton, 26 S.W. 2d 74, 181 Ark. 433.

Ga.—Howard v. Davis, 15 S.E.2d 865—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

Ill.—In re Wynn's Estate, 35 N.E.2d 702, 311 Ill.App. 190—In re Bachner's Estate, 261 Ill.App. 547.

La.—W. B. Smith & Co. v. Lowe, 134 So. 707, 16 La.App. 425.

Mass.—McLaughlin v. Feerick, 176 N.E. 779, 276 Mass. 180—Bickford v. Furber, 170 N.E. 796, 271 Mass. 94, 70 A.L.R. 469.

Mich.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

Wash.—In re Utter's Estate, 191 P. 836, 112 Wash. 197—In re Fellin's Estate, 185 P. 604, 108 Wash. 626.

"May" appoint as meaning "must"

Word "may," as used, in connection with the appointment of creditors as administrators, in statute providing that county court may grant administration to any creditor who shall apply therefor, is equivalent

A creditor may be preferred to a person lacking priority of right and not a creditor,⁶ although the latter is supported in his application by some of the creditors;⁷ but it has been held, as shown infra § 43, that, where decedent was an alien, the consul of the country of which he was a citizen should be preferred to a creditor.

"Entitled to take or share." Provisions of a statute conferring preferential right to administer an intestate's estate on persons "entitled to take or share" such estate are confined to distributees and do not include creditors.⁸

b. Status as "Creditor"

An applicant for letters of administration as a creditor must show that he is such within the meaning of the statute, and a creditor of a distributee is not entitled as a creditor of decedent.

In order to entitle one to administration as a creditor, it is necessary that he should actually be a creditor⁹ and it has been held that he must be a creditor of decedent,¹⁰ and have a claim or demand which may properly be proved against the administrator when appointed,¹¹ although, under statutes granting the right of administration to a surviving spouse, next of kin, creditor and then, as a fourth class, to "any other persons showing good grounds therefor", the judgment creditor of an heir of the intestate has been held to have "good grounds" to administer the estate.¹² Where, however, applicant's status as a creditor is sufficiently lent to words "must" or "shall."—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 478.

Nonresident decedent

Probate court could appoint creditor as administrator of nonresident debtor, leaving assets in commonwealth.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

Default or waiver of persons having priority

Where sole distributee is deceased's brother, residing in Canada, whose general guardian, as deceased's general guardian, had been called to account for alleged misuse of funds, and deceased's attorney and creditor applied for letters of administration and citation was served on infant distributee's general guardian, public administrator, who renounced appointment, and British consul general, although it did not appear whether infant distributee was an alien, letters of administration should issue to deceased's attorney.—In re Clark's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 282, 152 Misc. 723.

6. Colo.—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 470.
23 C.J. p 1041 note 58.

Preferred to tutor

Creditor who objects to the administration of the estate by natural tutor may require the appointment of an administrator.—Succession of Reed, La.App., 157 So. 765.

7. Ga.—Tanner v. Huss, 6 S.E. 18, 80 Ga. 614.

Minn.—Austro-Hungarian Consul v. Westphal, 139 N.W. 300, 120 Minn. 122.

23 C.J. p 1041 note 59.

8. N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

9. N.J.—In re Killough's Estate, 182 A. 34, 119 N.J.Eq. 255.

Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.
23 C.J. p 1042 note 56.

Nonresident

Resident of another state asserting tort claim against estate of foreign decedent is not a bona fide "creditor" of estate within statute authorizing issuance of letters of administration on application of such creditor.—In re Killough's Estate, 182 A. 34, 119 N.J.Eq. 255.

Claim for damages

(1) The word "creditors," within statute providing that, if widow or surviving husband of deceased or his next of kin or other preferred persons without cause neglect for thirty days to petition for administration, one or more of principal creditors may file such petition, includes a person having a claim for injuries against deceased due to his negligence.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

(2) One claiming unliquidated damages as for conversion by deceased of trust property is not a "creditor" within Remington Comp.St. § 1431, so as to be entitled to preference right to appointment as administrator.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

Unauthorized debt incurred by administratrix

Where administratrix took oath and gave bond in December, 1927, and on March 14, 1928, petitioned the ordinary for authority to execute a crop mortgage in order to make a crop on decedent's farm during 1928, note and crop mortgage signed by administratrix created no debt for which estate was bound, and holder of instruments was not a "creditor" entitled to be appointed or to have someone appointed administrator of the estate on his application, since the ordinary had no authority to authorize administratrix to incur indebtedness to operate farm beyond calendar year in which she qualified.—Harris v. O'Quinn, Ga.App., 17 S.E. 2d 758.

10. D.C.—In re Pitchlynn, 20 D.C. 55.

23 C.J. p 1042 note 67.

Creditor lacking direct interest

Creditor of intestate's son does not have such direct interest in estate as to entitle him to administration against wishes of those directly interested, such as the next of kin and creditors of the estate.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

11. Kan.—In re Dumbach's Estate, 119 P.2d 476, 154 Kan. 501.

Claim and appointment barred

A creditor was not entitled to appointment of an administrator in order that creditor might establish claim against decedent's estate where appointment could not be made within one year after death of decedent and creditor could not have lawfully established his claim.—In re Dumbach's Estate, supra.

12. Iowa.—Moreland v. Lowry, 241 N.W. 31, 213 Iowa 1096.

Application not premature under facts

Where statute gave twenty days each to the surviving spouse, next of kin, and creditors within which to apply for letters of administration on a preferential basis, after which period of sixty days any other person showing good grounds could apply as a member of the fourth class entitled to letters, an application brought by a judgment creditor as one of such fourth class was not premature, although made within forty-five days of death, where it appeared that there was no surviving spouse, that the time for application of next of kin had expired at the end of forty days, and that no creditor member of the third class objected to the application. This was true without deciding whether heirs or next of kin had twenty days or forty days in which to apply where there was no spouse, since in either event their right to preference ex-shown, he may become entitled to letters of administration as such.¹³ When the status as creditor ceases, the right to appointment ceases also,¹⁴ and one who is indebted to the estate, in a sum greater than his claim against the estate, is not a creditor entitled to administration;¹⁵ but it is not a sufficient reason for rejection that the claim of one applying for administration would be barred by limitations if the statute were pleaded.¹⁶ One may be a creditor by representation, entitled to administer in certain cases,¹⁷ but it has been held that, where debts of a decedent are assigned after his death, the assignee does not become a creditor entitled to administer.¹⁸ Administration should not be granted to an officer of a corporation which is a creditor,¹⁹ or to one who claims as a trustee or fiduciary and not in his individual capacity.²⁰ A claimant whose claim arises in strictness after the death of the intestate and yet in close connection with the last offices, like an undertaker, has been held entitled to administration,²¹ but there is also authority for the contrary view,²² especially where the amount is small and the payment was made for the purpose of obtaining administration.²³

Survival of cause of action. One who has a cause of action against a decedent which survives the latter's death is a creditor entitled to administration,²⁴ but it is otherwise where the cause of action does not survive.²⁵

c. Priority among Creditors

Priority will ordinarily be accorded the principal creditor in selection of an administrator, although the choice will depend on the particular provisions of the applicable statute and the discretion of the court as exercised in the light of the fitness of the applicant and of other pertinent factors.

The priority of right among creditors is ordinarily regulated by statute, and under some statutes there may be a discretion vested in the court as respects choice of the creditor who is to act.²⁶ The usual determining factors are the respective amounts of the claim of different creditors²⁷ or priority of application;²⁸ but the rule in this respect is not imperative, and it is proper to consider the fitness of pired at the end of forty days.—Moreland v. Lowry, supra.

Judgment appealed from Right of judgment creditor of heir of deceased to apply for appointment of administrator was not affected by appeal from judgment and filing of supersedeas bond.—Moreland v. Lowry, supra.

Unconsummated agreement between heirs for distribution of property did not prevent application for appointment of administrator by judgment creditor of heir.—Moreland v. Lowry, supra.

13. Md.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, 19 A.2d 701, 179 Md. 417, 133 A.L.R. 1479.

Mortgagee is "creditor" of estate and as such entitled to injunction against tutor of decedent's minor heirs prohibiting further administration of estate where, after foreclosure of mortgage and sale of property, there appeared a substantial deficiency between proceeds of sale and amount due under mortgage.—Succession of Reed, La.App., 157 So. 765.

14. Ill.—Culley v. Mohlenbrock, 36 Ill.App. 84.

La.—Rust v. Randolph, 5 Mart. 89. N.M.—In re Englehart, 128 P. 67, 17 N.M. 299, 45 L.R.A., N.S., 237, Ann. Cas. 1915A 54.

23 C.J. p 1042 note 68.

15. Ill.—In re Wilson, 80 Ill.App. 217.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 69.

16. Ga.—Ex parte Caig, T. U. P. Charit. 159.

17. Ind.—Bowen v. Stewart, 26 N. E. 168, 28 N.E. 78, 128 Ind. 507.

La.—Vick's Succession, 19 La.App. 75.

S.C.—Ex parte Ostendorff, 17 S.C.

22.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 73.

Receiver of note holder

(1) The receiver of an alleged creditor of a decedent could not request appointment of administrator for decedent's estate, unless it appeared that decedent died owing debt to alleged creditor.—Thompson v. Carter's Estate, 177 So. 356, 180 Miss. 104.

(2) The possession and ownership of a decedent's note on which there was a balance due disclosed, prima facie, such a debt as entitled receiver of alleged creditor of decedent to request appointment of administrator for decedent's estate.—Thompson v. Carter's Estate, supra.

18. N.C.—Pearce v. Castrix, 53 N.C. 71.

Wash.—In re Hoss, 109 P. 1071, 59 Wash. 360.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 74.

19. Ga.—Meyers v. Cann, 22 S.E. 611, 95 Ga. 383.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 75.

20. Md.—Glenn v. Reid, 24 A. 155, 74 Md. 238.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 76.

21. Minn.—Austro-Hungarian Consul v. Westphal, 139 N.W. 300, 120 Minn. 122.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 77.

Person advancing funeral expenses

Deceased's brother-in-law who paid for deceased's funeral expenses was a "creditor" who was entitled to have letters of administration issued to him, in absence of application by deceased's next of kin, although deceased's estate was good for the amount of the funeral expenses.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, Md., 19 A.2d 701, 133 A.L.R. 1479.

22. Ind.—Hildebrand v. Kinney, 87 N.E. 832, 172 Ind. 447, 19 Ann.Cas. 788, reversing, App., 83 N.E. 379. 23 C.J. p 1043 note 78.

23. S.C.—In re Neubert, 36 S.E. 908, 58 S.C. 469.

23 C.J. p 43 note 79.

24. Mass.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 71.

25. Mass.—Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. 408—Stebbins v. Palmer, 1 Pick. 71, 11 Am.D. 146.

26. Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

Wyo.—In re Coolidge's Estate, 41 P. 2d 503, 507, 47 Wyo. 488, citing Corpus Juris.

"One or more of the principal creditors"

Under Remington Comp.St. § 1431, enumerating what and in which order persons shall be entitled to administer an estate, the phrase in subd 3, "one or more of the principal creditors," implies a choice, and vests discretion in the court to exercise such choice.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

27. S.C.—Ex parte Ostendorff, 17 S.C. 22.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 81.

28. N.Y.—In re Hawley, 76 N.Y.S. 461, 37 Misc. 667.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 82.

Priority of application generally see supra § 32.

applicants and the wishes of those who are interested in the estate.²⁹

§ 42. — Strangers

Generally speaking a stranger may not insist on administration of an estate or, where administration is requisite, be appointed administrator unless selected by interested persons or chosen by the court under special circumstances. It may become proper, however, for the court to appoint a stranger administrator where there is no qualified person entitled to a statutory preference or where special circumstances, such as antagonism between claimants of the estate, render it desirable.

In accordance with rules governing restriction of the administration of an estate to persons beneficially interested therein, which are discussed supra § 31, a stranger has no right to insist on administration of an estate,³⁰ nor may he apply for letters as matter of right,³¹ or be appointed administrator on his own unsupported application,³² and as a rule he may not be appointed unless selected by those who are beneficially interested in the estate,³³ or in other special cases hereinafter described, and generally speaking it is only where no one given statutory preference is competent and suitable that a stranger may be appointed administrator.³⁴ A stranger cannot be preferred to the next of kin without good cause,³⁵ and, where there is a suitable applicant falling within a preferred class, it is improper to appoint a stranger.³⁶ So, also, where the next of kin of decedent, a citizen of a foreign country, requested a cousin of decedent to take charge of decedent's estate, it was held that the court could not grant letters of administration to a third person on his application.³⁷

The court may, however, appoint a suitable stranger as administrator of an intestate's estate where there are no persons competent and entitled to preference under statute,³⁸ or where those entitled to appointment consent to selection of a stranger,³⁹ or where antagonism existing among claimants of the estate renders it desirable to appoint an impartial and disinterested person as administrator,⁴⁰ and, where the persons having the 29. Ga.—Freeman v. Worrell, 42 Ga. 401.

30. Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

Interested parties content to omit administration

(1) If decedent's heirs are content to let property remain in common or undivided ownership, and agree among themselves for care and use, a stranger has no right to interfere.—In re Cloward's Estate, supra.

(2) If there is only a spouse surviving, or minor children, or both, or disabled heirs of decedent who may need possession and usufruct of decedent's property, and other heirs, if any, permit them to have it, a stranger should not be permitted to decree otherwise and to institute probate proceedings.—In re Cloward's Estate, supra.

No right to subject property to debts and expenses

A stranger to an estate, who is not a creditor and who has no interest in the property of the estate on distribution, and who can receive nothing from it except fees and commissions as administrator or attorney, has no right to subject property to debts and expenses, or to disturb the use or occupancy of the property and change its title or ownership.—In re Cloward's Estate, supra.

31. Mo.—In re Hill, 77 S.W. 110, 102 Mo.App. 617.

32. Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

33. Ga.—Smith v. Collins, 7 S.E.2d 800, 61 Ga.App. 801.

Appointment of stranger not policy of law

It is not the policy of the law that an estate of a decedent should fall into the hands of strangers, and, where a relative applying for appointment is qualified, a stranger should not be appointed in his stead simply because his brothers and sisters could not work with him on account of enmity existing between them, under Rev.St. art 3282.—Dooley v. Dooley, Tex.Civ.App., 240 S.W. 1112.

34. Mo.—State ex rel. Fansher v. Guinotte, 58 S.W.2d 1005, 227 Mo. App. 902.

35. N.Y.—Matter of Clotto, 93 N.Y. S. 973, 105 App.Div. 143.

Pa.—Kelly's Estate, 15 Pa.Dist. 427. R.I.—In re Randall, 63 A. 806.

36. Mass.—McDonald v. O'Dea, 152 N.E. 341, 256 Mass. 177.

Neb.—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N. W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.

37. N.J.—In re Sinovcic, 86 A. 917, 80 N.J.Eq. 260.

38. Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W. 2d 20, 246 Ky. 338.

Md.—Schneider v. Hawkins, 16 A.2d 861, 179 Md. 21.

Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P. 2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 84.

Any fit applicant

In absence of any qualified kin of a deceased, the surrogate may grant letters of administration to any fit person applying therefor.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46.

Nonresident distributees

Under statute providing that letters of administration can be granted at any time to any person deemed suitable if proof be made of renunciation by preferred persons or that no persons entitled to preference reside in Missouri, probate court could appoint a stranger as administrator of intestate's estate prior to expiration of thirty days after death of intestate, notwithstanding distributees did not file a renunciation of their preference, where distributees were all nonresidents at the time of appointment.—State ex rel. Pryor v. Anderson, 123 S.W.2d 181, 343 Mo. 895, quashing mandamus, App., 112 S.W.2d 857.

39. Cal.—In re Silvar, 46 P. 296, 5 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 494.

40. Mich.—In re Abramovitz' Estate, 270 N.W. 294, 278 Mich. 271.

Wash.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P.2d 310, 189 Wash. 641.—In re Mundt Estates, 14 P.2d 59, 169 Wash. 593.—In re Thomas' Estate, 8 P.2d 963, 167 Wash. 127.

23 C.J. p 1043 note 84 [c] (2).

Duty to name one not related to disputants

Where none of the property of an estate was exempt from claims of creditors, and the estate was insolvent, but, notwithstanding that fact, the heirs and the beneficiaries under the will contested its validity, and a decree denying probate was affirmed, the district court should name as administrator some one not interested in or related to any of the proponents or contestants.—In re Jones' Estate, 202 P. 206, 59 Utah 99.

right, under the statute, to control the appointment of an administrator do not agree as to the management and disposition of the estate, it is not an abuse of discretion for the court to appoint a disinterested third person as administrator.⁴¹

§ 43. — Foreign Consuls

In case of the death of an alien leaving property within the jurisdiction, the consul of the country of which decedent was a citizen or subject has sometimes, by virtue of the provisions of treaties or statutes, the right to administer the estate. Administration by such an official is discussed infra § 1053.

§ 44. — Nominee of Person Entitled

- a. In general
- b. Qualification of person nominating
- c. Sufficiency of nomination
- d. Waiver of right to nominate and termination of nomination

a. In General

In the absence of contrary statute the courts are not obligated to appoint the nominee of one preferentially entitled to administration and will ordinarily appoint the next in statutory order, although in the exercise of its discretion the court may under some statutes appoint the nominee of one lacking express statutory authorization to nominate. Where the statute confers a right of nomination, it may become mandatory for the court to appoint the nominee, the rights of nominees in general depending on the particular statute and the circumstances disclosed.

In the absence of statutory authorization, express or implied, the right to letters of administration is personal and nondelegable,⁴² one entitled to letters in his own right lacks the right to nominate another to serve for him,⁴³ and a person entitled to precedence in administration cannot himself renounce the office and vest the right of appointment in his nominee to the exclusion of those who are next entitled in the statute order.⁴⁴ Where the statutes make no express provision for nomination or for delegation of the right to administer, it has been held that the prior right of one to administer an estate does not include the right to nominate an administrator,⁴⁵ and that the court lacks power to appoint the nominee of one personally entitled to preference but not accorded the express statutory right of nomination.⁴⁶ Other courts have taken the view that, even where there is no express provision in the statutes requiring recognition of the right of one belonging to a preferred class to renounce his right to qualify as administrator and at the same time to nominate another for appointment in his stead, they should so interpret statutes conferring preferential rights to administration as to give sanction to the right of nomination and substitution,⁴⁷ and should sustain the right of a suitable nominee of one preferentially entitled to appointment when the person nominating is himself competent by reason of residence, age, and capacity to act.⁴⁸ It has also been held that, where the person having the prior right has renounced in favor of a member of the class next in order, such nominee must be appointed unless personal unfitness or legal incompetency is shown.⁴⁹ Even where there is no right to nominate, the court may properly appoint the nominee of the person entitled in preference to another person having no right to letters under the statute.⁵⁰ One in a prior class will be appointed in preference to the nominee of one in a subsequent class.⁵¹

Under some statutes the court will as a general rule approve the nominee of next of kin against whom no objection exists,⁵² and may in its discre-

41. N.D.—Ellis v. Ellis, 174 N.W. 76, 42 N.D. 535.

42. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

N.Y.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed in re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 886, 235 App.Div. 609.

In Oregon

A petition by an alleged creditor for appointment of one therein named as administrator does not put the person so designated in the preferred class, under Or.L. § 1150.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 110 Or. 147.

43. Idaho.—Schwarze v. Logan, 90 P. 2d 692, 60 Idaho 251.

44. Ala.—Curtis v. Williams, 33 Ala. 570.

Ga.—Mabry v. Mabry, 15 S.E.2d 447, 449, 65 Ga.App. 132, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1045 note 97.

45. N.M.—In re Miller's Estate, 38 P.2d 1116, 39 N.M. 40.

46. Colo.—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 470.

Creditor

That alleged creditor of intestate nominated noncreditor as administrator does not empower county court to make the appointment since a creditor has no right of nomination.—In re Webb's Estate, supra.

47. N.C.—In re Smith's Estate, 188 S.E. 202, 210 N.C. 622.

48. N.C.—In re Smith's Estate, supra.

49. Pa.—In re Swarts, 41 A. 1000, 189 Pa. 71.

50. N.J.—In re Alpaugh, 91 A. 588, 83 N.J.Eq. 616.

51. Idaho.—Schwarze v. Logan, 90 P.2d 692, 60 Idaho 251.

Waiver of right not shown

A resident son of deceased person did not waive priority in right of administration over nominee of nonresident sister and creditor of deceased by waiting approximately ten months before filing petition, where the son appeared before the sister's nominee's appointment and objected to issuance of letters to him and at same time claimed letters for himself.—Schwarze v. Logan, supra.

52. N.J.—In re Tenneson's Estate, 12 A.2d 363, 18 N.J.Misc. 245, N.Y.—In re Steger's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 115, 164 Misc. 96.

23 C.J. p 1045 note 99.

tion appoint such nominee,⁵³ but is not bound to do so.⁵⁴

Statutes conferring right of nomination. Under some statutes the persons primarily entitled to administration have the right to nominate a person to serve in their stead who, if suitable for the office, should be appointed by the court,⁵⁵ and under statutes of this character it has been held that the right of nomination by those on whom the statute confers it is absolute and that appointment of the nominee, if qualified, becomes mandatory on the court.⁵⁶ Where, however, the person making the nomination is a nonresident and is not a surviving spouse, it has been said that the nomination is not binding on the court,⁵⁷ and in general the statutory right of nomination and its binding character will depend on the particular provisions of the statute invoked, as applied to the circumstances involved. Generally speaking, one with a prior right to appointment as administrator also has a prior right in respect of nominating another to act in his place.⁵⁸ The nominee has no greater rights than those of the person who nominated him.⁵⁹

Particular statutory provisions. Under statutes providing that, where there are "several" next of kin equal in degree, the court shall appoint the nominee of a majority of those interested as distributees, the word "several" means two or more,⁶⁰ and in the event of a disagreement between those who are next of kin, distributees not next of kin are entitled to vote on the selection of an administrator.⁶¹ In such a case the court should appoint

53. Mass.—In re Waverley Trust Co., 167 N.E. 274, 268 Mass. 181.

Nominee of creditor

On creditor's petition for appointment of administrator, creditor need not be appointed, but any suitable person may be appointed, and such appointee is not a stranger to the estate.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

Discretion properly exercised in favor of nonresidents

Appointing nominee of three nonresident daughters as administrator in preference to resident daughter was not abuse of discretion.—In re Cameron's Estate, 284 P. 143, 86 Mont. 455.

54. N.J.—In re Tenneson's Estate, 12 A.2d 363, 18 N.J.Misc. 245. 23 C.J. p 1045 note 98.

55. U.S.—Poten v. Southern Ry. Co., D.C.Tenn., 32 F.Supp. 901, applying Tennessee law.

Cal.—In re Mercer's Estate, 271 P. 1067, 205 Cal. 506.

Ga.—Mabry v. Mabry, 15 S.E.2d 447, 449, 65 Ga.App. 132, citing Corpus Juris—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S. E. 591, 179 Ga. 696.

Iowa.—In re Rugh's Estate, 234 N. W. 278, 211 Iowa 722.

Mont.—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 164.

Okl.—In re Walker's Estate, 36 P.2d 10, 169 Okl. 100.

Utah.—In re Johnson's Estate, 35 P. 2d 305, 84 Utah 168. 23 C.J. p 1044 note 96.

Illegitimate son

Where deceased properly acknowledged himself to be father of illegitimate son, a resident of Germany, the son was held a "child" within statute entitling nonresident child to nominate administrator.—In re Wehr's Estate, 29 P.2d 836, 96 Mont. 245.

In Texas

(1) It has been held that a granddaughter of decedent is not entitled to appointment as administratrix in preference to one unrelated but nominated by two children.—Eckeberger v. Stroud, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 803.

(2) In a case where the nephew of an intestate, being one of the next of kin, was held entitled to appointment as administrator in preference to one more distantly related, although such one had been designated as administrator by other nieces and nephews, it was said that sections of the statutes invoked by the nominee applied only in cases where decedent disposed of his property by will and not where, as in the case at bar, he died intestate.—Zamora v. Garza, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 401.

(3) A person later in statutory order of preference has been appointed in preference to the nominee of one of a higher order of statutory preference but disqualified by physical infirmity from acting.—Slay v. Davidson, Civ.App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.

(4) It has been held by the supreme court of Texas that a nonresident widow, qualified to act as executor and entitled to preference if seeking letters personally, may renounce the right to letters and nominate another who will be appointed in preference to the nominee of a creditor.—Stevens v. Cameron, 101 S. W. 791, 100 Tex. 515, reversing, Civ. App., 96 S.W. 1086.

56. Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

Mont.—In re Cameron's Estate, 284 P. 143, 86 Mont. 455—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 164.

Utah.—In re Johnson's Estate, 35 P. 2d 305, 84 Utah 168.

23 C.J. p 1045 note 1.

No discretion

Under Civ.Code 1910 § 3943 subd

3, if person selected for appointment as administrator by majority of interested distributees, capable of expressing a choice, be competent, qualified, and disinterested, neither ordinary nor jury on appeal have any discretion in matter of his appointment.—Davis v. Davis, 127 S.E. 779, 33 Ga.App. 628.

Nomination by sister sharing in estate

The nominee of a decedent's sister is prima facie entitled, as of right and not as a matter of discretion, to be preferred to decedent's nephew in granting letters of administration, if sister succeeds to any part of decedent's estate, even though nephew, and not such nominee, is entitled to share in some part of the estate.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

57. Cal.—In re Pardue's Estate, 70 P.2d 678, 22 Cal.App.2d 178.

Nomination by nonresident sister

Under probate code enumerating persons entitled to letters of administration, rendering only bona fide residents competent to serve as administrators, and permitting person entitled to letters of administration to designate appointee, request of nonresident sister of decedent that certain person be appointed administrator created no priority right and was not binding on court.—In re Pardue's Estate, supra.

58. Mont.—In re Mapes' Estate, 118 P.2d 755.

59. Cal.—In re Somerville's Estate, 55 P.2d 597, 12 Cal.App.2d 430.

60. Ga.—Walker v. Rowe, 154 S.E. 722, 41 Ga.App. 769—Rowe v. Walker, 148 S.E. 762, 40 Ga.App. 1.

61. Ga.—Walker v. Rowe, 154 S.E. 722, 41 Ga.App. 769.

the nominee favored by a majority of the distributees.⁶² Provisions of the statute giving preference to the next of kin apply only where there is a single next of kin or where all the next of kin in equal degree act as a unit in designating the person to be appointed as administrator,⁶³ and in such case the nominee of the nearest in kin will be preferred to the nominee of more distant kin, even though the latter may constitute a majority both in numbers and in interest;⁶⁴ but, where the majority of next of kin of equal degree select a nominee, he will be preferred to a single next of kin seeking administration for himself,⁶⁵ and their nominee may be preferred irrespective of the vote of distributees less closely related.⁶⁶ It has also been held that distributees not next of kin have the vote of their common ancestor and only such vote in a contest between distributees who are next of kin and distributees who are not next of kin.⁶⁷ Under provisions of the statute conferring preference on the widow or her nominee, where the widow is qualified to act, she may nevertheless nominate another to administer in her stead, and letters issued to her nominee are not void;⁶⁸ and, if the widow is disqualified, she may still nominate another who is qualified for such purpose even as against contesting claimants next entitled to letters of administration.⁶⁹ Where the widow is first in order of preference, her selection of a qualified person for administrator precludes the right of any persons in a lower order of preference to express any choice or to act personally as administrators.⁷⁰

Under statutes expressly giving preference only to the nominee of a surviving spouse, further providing for preference to specified next of kin and then authorizing the grant of administration to a person, although not entitled thereto, "at the written request of the person entitled, or, if otherwise entitled, is not competent to serve, filed in the court," the court may grant administration to any competent person on the request of a person entitled but incompetent to serve,⁷¹ the nominee of such entitled but incompetent person may be preferred to others listed later in the statutory classification of preferences,⁷² and under statutes of this character the nominee of the surviving spouse is given a mandatory preference but that of the nominees of other classes is discretionary with the court.⁷³ Where the surviving spouse of an intestate is mentally incompetent, his guardian may not nominate another to act as administrator to the exclusion of the right which the statute gives to those next in order.⁷⁴

Under statutes providing that the court has power to nominate one for administrator at the request of the "person entitled," such phrase refers to the entire class entitled,⁷⁵ and the nominee of one member of such class has, in the court's discretion, an

62. Ga.—Rowe v. Walker, 148 S.E. 762, 40 Ga.App. 1.

Nominee of majority preferred to sister

Where an intestate left a surviving sister and brother as his next of kin, and also nieces and nephews not next of kin but entitled to share in the estate as distributees, on a contest the court should appoint a fit and disinterested person nominated by the brother and the nieces and nephews in preference to the sister.—Rowe v. Walker, supra.

63. Ga.—Walker v. Rowe, 154 S.E. 722, 41 Ga.App. 769.

64. Ga.—Dawson v. Shave, 132 S.E. 912, 162 Ga. 126, answer to certified question conformed to 133 S.E. 313, 35 Ga.App. 343.

Sister's nominee preferred to that of nieces and nephews

Where intestate left one sister and children and grandchildren of deceased sisters and brother all being qualified, person selected in writing by sister was held entitled to letters of administration over person selected by majority of the others, although constituting majority numerically and in interest.—Dawson v. Shave, supra.

65. Ga.—Popwell v. Nail, 107 S.E. 364, 27 Ga.App. 97.

66. Ga.—Sullens v. Pierce, 164 S.E. 93, 45 Ga.App. 207.

Nominee of children preferred irrespective of grandchildren

Person selected in writing by majority of living children of intestate widow was entitled to letters of administration, regardless of vote of children of intestate's deceased children.—Sullens v. Pierce, supra.

Void deed as not precluding vote of children

Warranty deed made by intestate's children before intestate's death, attempting to convey their interests in intestate's land to another child, was void; hence it did not affect their right to select administrator.—Sullens v. Pierce, supra.

67. Ga.—Pierce v. Smith, 102 S.E. 648, 25 Ga.App. 101.

Children of intestate's deceased brother entitled to one vote

In a contest as to selection of an administrator of a decedent, who left no children, but several sisters and the children of two deceased brothers as his heirs at law, the children of a deceased brother would together have one vote, but only one, in the selection of the administrator, under applicable statutes.—Pierce v. Smith, supra.

68. Ga.—Rivers v. Alsop, 2 S.E.2d 632, 188 Ga. 75.

69. Ga.—Rivers v. Alsop, supra.

70. Ga.—Mabry v. Mabry, 15 S.E. 2d 447, 65 Ga.App. 132.

71. Ariz.—In re Gerard's Estate, 72 P.2d 952, 50 Ariz. 458, 113 A.L.R. 776.

72. Ariz.—In re Gerard's Estate, supra.

Brother's nominee preferred to creditor

The court may give preference to request of intestate's brother, incompetent to serve as administrator because of nonresidence, for appointment of competent person nominated by him, over petition of any person such as creditor, whose statutory right to administration is inferior to that of brother, for issuance of letters to petitioner.—In re Gerard's Estate, supra.

73. Ariz.—In re Gerard's Estate, supra.

74. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

75. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 391 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

equal right to be appointed with the members of a subsequent class,⁷⁶ but has no right as against any other member of the same class who demands letters in his own right.⁷⁷

Statutes providing that administration of an intestate's estate shall be granted in the named order to widow or husband, next of kin, or a grantee of the interest of one of them, or to such person as they request to have appointed, confer a priority on the widow not only as among relatives but also as among those who may request the appointment of some other person.⁷⁸ Where there is no widow entitled to letters, a child shown prima facie to be the lawful daughter of intestate is entitled to exercise the statutory right of nominating an administrator for her deceased father's estate,⁷⁹ and the right of nomination vested in next of kin is not divested by infancy or incompetency,⁸⁰ but may be exercised for the infant or incompetent by the general guardian.⁸¹ Statutes relative to public administrators, discussed infra §§ 1050-1052, which provide for appointment of a public administrator where there is no widow, husband, or next of kin entitled to a distributive share, resident in the United States and competent or willing to act, are not designed to deprive the probate court of the right to appoint a suitable resident of the state as administrator on request of the widow or next of kin.⁸²

Under statutes conferring priority first on the next of kin, in the absence of application by a surviving spouse, and next on the nominee of a next of kin, where there are two next of kin in equal degree, the next of kin applying for letters personally will be preferred to the nominee of the other next of kin.⁸³

Under statutes prescribing the order of preference and expressly granting preference to the nominee of a surviving spouse but to no other nominee, the only nominee entitled to preference is the nominee of the surviving spouse,⁸⁴ and other persons qualified to act must either accept appointment personally or waive the right absolutely,⁸⁵ and their preferential rights extend only to personal appointment and not to nomination of others for appointment.⁸⁶ Under statutes of this character the request or suggestion of next of kin of a fit and suitable person for appointment as administrator is entitled to serious consideration, but is not controlling on the court's discretionary power and ultimate decision respecting appointment of an administrator.⁸⁷

Delegation of power to nominate. It has been held that the power conferred by statute on a surviving spouse to nominate an administrator cannot be delegated.⁸⁸

b. Qualification of Person Nominating

In some jurisdictions the right to nominate is dependent on the right to administer in the sense that a person entitled to distribution but disqualified from serving as administrator may not nominate another to act in his place, while in other jurisdictions there is no such interdependence of the right to administer and the right to nominate an administrator. Hence one lacking financial interest in an estate may or may not be held empowered to nominate an administrator. One mentally incompetent cannot make a nomination, although under some statutes the guardian of an infant or incompetent may be permitted to do so.

There is much conflict of authority in the different states as to whether the right to nominate an administrator is or is not dependent on the right to administer, some courts holding that one disqualified from acting as administrator may nominate and others holding the contrary; and the decisions are frequently dependent on the language of a statute expressly conferring the right of nomination.⁸⁹

In some jurisdictions one himself incompetent to take letters of administration may not effectively nominate anyone in his stead,⁹⁰ as where it is expressly provided by statute that only such persons as are entitled to administer shall have the right to nominate,⁹¹ and the right of nomination has been denied to nonresidents,⁹² as in the case of nonresident aliens,⁹³ themselves ineligible for appointment. The dependence of the right to nominate on the

76. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, supra.

77. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, supra.

78. Mich.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

79. Mich.—In re Corby's Estate, 203 N.W. 877, 231 Mich. 235.

80. Mich.—In re Corby's Estate, supra.

81. Mich.—In re Corby's Estate, supra.

82. Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R. Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 270 Mich. 135.

83. Tenn.—Williams v. Stewart, 64 S.W.2d 194, 166 Tenn. 615.

84. Wash.—State v. Superior Court for King County, 291 P. 481, 158 Wash. 546, 70 A.L.R. 1460.

85. Wash.—State v. Superior Court for King County, supra.

86. Wash.—In re Utter's Estate, 191 P. 836, 112 Wash. 197.

87. Wash.—In re St. Martin's Estate, 27 P.2d 326, 175 Wash. 285.

88. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

89. Okl.—In re Johnson's Estate, 114 P. 2d 469.

89. N.C.—Boynton v. Heartt, 74 S. E. 470, 158 N.C. 488, Ann.Cas.1913D 616.

90. N.Y.—In re Marret's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 117, 152 Misc. 713. 23 C.J. p 1046 note 4.

91. Ill.—In re McWhirter, 85 N.E. 918, 235 Ill. 607.

92. Ky.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584.

93. N.Y.—In re Marret's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 117, 152 Misc. 713—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

right to administer has also been affirmed where there was no controlling statutory provision on the subject.⁹⁴ The next in statutory order will be preferred to one who has a prior statutory classification but who is disqualified to serve.⁹⁵

Under the practice prevailing in other jurisdictions, the fact that one is incompetent to serve as administrator personally does not per se deprive him of the statutory right to nominate an administrator,⁹⁶ and the courts have recognized the right of nomination in persons who were incompetent to serve personally because of nonresidence,⁹⁷ or because of ignorance of English.⁹⁸

One mentally deficient may not make a nomination of an administrator,⁹⁹ but an adjudication of incompetency subsequent to the appointment of the administrator is not evidence that the nominator was incompetent at the time of the nomination or at any other time prior to the date of the adjudication of incompetence.¹ Where incompetence to act arises from infancy or mental disability, some courts permit a nomination to be made by guardian,² but others refuse to accept such a nomination as against the claims to administration of others next in the statutory line of preference.³

Lack of financial interest. Under some decisions one lacking a financial interest in the estate has no standing to nominate an administrator,⁴ but under other decisions it has been held that next of kin who are not distributees may nevertheless have the right to nominate an administrator.⁵

c. Sufficiency of Nomination

Except as the matter may be otherwise regulated by statute, a nomination is sufficient if on file at the time of the hearing and need not be made in any particular form.

It is ordinarily sufficient if the nomination for appointment of an administrator is filed in court at the time of the hearing,⁶ and, in the absence of contrary statutory regulation, it would seem that nomination need not be made in any set form.⁷

d. Waiver of Right to Nominate and Termination of Nomination

While a statutory right to nominate is subject to waiver, the waiver of the right of personal administration is not per se a waiver of the right to nominate. A nomination is subject to revocation before it has been acted on but not thereafter. Death of the nominator before appointment of his nominee terminates the nominee's right to appointment.

A statutory right to nominate an administrator may be waived;⁸ but a widow's statutory right to control in limine the administration of her deceased husband's estate carries with it the continuing right to nominate administrators where necessary to such control,⁹ and the fact that she has waived her personal right to administer and has

Resident daughter of nonresident alien sole next of kin could not be appointed administratrix under power of attorney or assignment executed by her mother.—In re Kassam's Estate, supra.

94. N.C.—Boynton v. Heartt, 74 S. E. 470, 158 N.C. 488, Ann.Cas.1913D 616.

95. Tex.—Slay v. Davidson, Civ. App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.

96. Ga.—Rivers v. Alsup, 2 S.E.2d 632, 188 Ga. 75.

Minn.—Long v. Christopher, 260 N. W. 314, 194 Minn. 238.
23 C.J. p 1045 note 3.

97. Mont.—In re Cameron's Estate, 284 P. 143, 86 Mont. 455—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 184.
23 C.J. p 1045 note 3 [e].

98. Minn.—Long v. Christopher, 260 N.W. 314, 194 Minn. 238.

99. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

1. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, supra.

2. Mich.—In re Corby's Estate, 203 N.W. 877, 231 Mich. 235.

3. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

4. Pa.—In re Reamer's Estate, 172 A. 655, 315 Pa. 148.

5. Ill.—Lundberg v. Johnson, 231 Ill.App. 400, affirmed 143 N.E. 434, 312 Ill. 161.

Difference between resident and non-resident decedents

(1) Under Administration Act § 18, prescribing the preferences to be observed in the appointment of an administrator, it is not necessary, under subd. 8, that the next of kin be entitled to a distributive share of the estate in order to entitle them to nominate one for such appointment, where deceased was a resident of the state, the provision of the statute containing that requirement being applicable only to estates of nonresident intestates.—Sanders v. Buenger, 143 N.E. 431, 311 Ill. 572.

(2) A half brother of deceased, a nonresident of the state, was held not entitled, under Administration Act § 18, to nominate one for appointment of administrator, although he might classify as a "person interested," under § 46, if the estate involved was a proper one for administration by the public administrator.—Sanders v. Buenger, supra.

6. Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 97 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.

Need not be filed with petition

Under statute requiring that nomination of administrator be in writing and that it be filed with court, nomination by decedent's nonresident brother was not required to be filed at time petition for letters was made but it was sufficient that nomination was on file when hearing was had.—In re Mapes' Estate, Mont., 118 P.2d 755.

7. Nomination by telegram

A telegram from father, who was first in precedence of existing next kin of intestate dying in Tennessee, to coroner reading, "I hereby appoint you administrator of the estate", was authority from father to coroner to qualify as administrator.—Dolen v. Southern Ry. Co., D.C.Tenn., 32 F.Supp. 901.

8. Mont.—In re Infelise, 149 P. 365, 51 Mont. 18.

Tenn.—In re Wooten, 85 S.W. 1105, 114 Tenn. 289.
23 C.J. p 1046 note 6.

9. Mont.—State ex rel. McCabe v. District Court of Third Judicial Dist. in and for Deer Lodge County, 76 P.2d 634, 106 Mont. 272.

already made one nomination does not preclude her from making a second nomination on death of her first nominee.¹⁰

A nomination may be revoked at any time before it has been acted on,¹¹ but without adequate cause a nominator may not revoke his nomination after the court has acted on it by appointing the nominee,¹² or after a proceeding has been instituted by the nominee to obtain letters.¹³

Death of the nominator before the appointment of his nominee has been held to terminate the latter's right to appointment.¹⁴

§ 45. — Joint Administrators

While sole administration is ordinarily to be preferred to joint administration, the matter of appointing sole or joint administrators is ordinarily committed to the sound discretion of the court, as explained infra § 1041.

§ 46. Competency or Suitableness to Serve

- a. In general
- b. Mental and physical disabilities of applicant
- c. Business capacity and literacy
- d. Financial condition
- e. Improvidence, bad character, insobriety, or conviction of crime
- f. Nonresidence and alienage
- g. Married women and infants
- h. Hostility to estate or distributees; intermeddling

- i. Corporations
- j. Miscellaneous persons

a. In General

Broadly speaking, anyone of sound mind and morals, not under legal disability, is eligible to become an administrator, and the grounds of disqualification prescribed by express statute are regarded by some, but not all, courts as exclusive.

Generally speaking, anyone is competent to act as administrator, except such as are forbidden by law,¹⁵ and it has been broadly stated that any citizen of sound mind and good moral character resident in the state and laboring under no disability is eligible for appointment as administrator.¹⁶

It is the duty of the court before appointing an administrator or similar officer to make careful inquiry into his character, integrity, soundness of judgment, and general capacity;¹⁷ in many jurisdictions the court may pass over a person whose relation to the decedent would otherwise entitle him to preference, because of his unsuitableness for the trust;¹⁸ and, except as such appointment may be controlled by mandatory statutes, the court may refuse to appoint an applicant if for any reason he is unsuitable to administer the trust.¹⁹ In this connection it has been said that the best interests of the estate as a whole are to be considered,²⁰ that the court acts judicially and not ministerially in appointing an administrator,²¹ that an administrator should be qualified to administer the estate for the best interests of all concerned,²² and that an applicant may be unsuitable to become administrator because the problems involved in the settlement of the estate are unusual and troublesome and his appointment

10. Mont.—State ex rel. McCabe v. District Court of Third Judicial Dist. in and for Deer Lodge County, supra.

11. Cal.—In re Shiels, 52 P. 808, 120 Cal. 347—Bedell's Estate, 32 P. 1117, 97 Cal. 339.

Idaho.—McCormick v. Brownell, 136 P. 613, 25 Idaho 11.

No estoppel

Request for appointment of nominee does not estop person entitled to administration from revoking request.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

12. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

13. Cal.—In re Silvar, 46 P. 296, 5 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 494.

14. Cal.—In re Connick's Estate, 209 P. 356, 189 Cal. 498.

15. Ky.—Moran v. Moran, 189 S.W. 248, 172 Ky. 344.

N.Y.—Matter of Reichert, 69 N.Y.S. 944, 34 Misc. 288, 9 N.Y.Ann.Cas.

472—Matter of Haley, 49 N.Y.S. 397, 21 Misc. 777.

23 C.J. p 1046 note 13.

Competency of:

Administrators de bonis non see infra § 1019.

Administrators with the will annexed see infra § 1031.

Public administrators see infra § 1051.

Executors see supra § 28.

Surviving partner as executor or administrator of deceased partner see the C.J.S. title Partnership § 286, also 47 C.J. p 1062 note 93—p 1063 note 21.

16. Ga.—Walker v. Rowe, 154 S.E. 722, 41 Ga.App. 769.

17. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 162 N.E. 217, 263 Mass. 444, modified on other grounds Ex parte Worcester County Nat. Bank, 49 S. Ct. 368, 279 U.S. 347, 73 L.Ed. 733, 61 A.L.R. 98.

18. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, 1

A.2d 322, 324, 16 N.J.Misc. 434, citing Corpus Juris.

S.C.—Ex parte Small, 48 S.E. 40, 69 S.C. 43.

23 C.J. p 1046 note 14.

19. Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, 166 N.E. 747, 267 Mass. 388.

Unfit person

Since preference rights given by statute to administer an estate are not absolute, the rule does not require the court to appoint one as an executor or administrator who has given evidence of dishonesty of purpose in seeking the appointment or who is unfit to administer the trust.—In re Bredi's Estate, 201 P. 296, 117 Wash. 372.

20. Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, 166 N.E. 747, 267 Mass. 388.

21. Wash.—In re Langill's Estate, 201 P. 28, 117 Wash. 268.

22. N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, 1 A.2d 322, 16 N.J.Misc. 434.

ment would under the facts be likely to render execution of the trust perplexing or difficult.²³ In other words, unfitness may arise solely from the situation of the applicant in connection with the estate without proof of mental or physical incapacity,²⁴ and the person appointed administrator should be a fit person in the light of the special conditions of the particular estate and those interested in it as creditors, legatees, and next of kin.²⁵ Subject to statutory disqualifications, the probate court exercises a wide discretion in determining the persons who are suitable and competent to administer an estate,²⁶ and its discretion will not be reviewed in the absence of abuse.²⁷ Statutes broadly giving any person the right to apply for letters of administration must be construed in conjunction with other statutory provisions defining who are qualified to act.²⁸

Limitation of grounds of disqualification. Some authorities hold that statutory grounds of disqualification are exclusive and that the court may not refuse appointment to one otherwise entitled thereto for reasons not enumerated in the statute as a ground for disqualification,²⁹ but other authorities are to the contrary.³⁰

Where the statute accords one a preferential right to appointment if "suitable and competent," and where a fair issue of fact is raised by those opposing the appointment in respect of the applicant because of unsound mind, intemperance, dishonesty, want of integrity, dissolute habits, or other disqualifying moral delinquencies, there is some discretion reposed in the probate court as to whether or not it will make the appointment, but where no such issues are raised the court lacks discretion to appoint another in preference to an applicant having a prior statutory right to administer the estate, and may not appoint such other even though by comparison he is better qualified and more capable than the applicant having the prior statutory right to administer.³¹

Grounds for removal of an administrator, which are discussed infra § 90, authorize and require a denial of the right to qualify if existing at the time appointment is sought.³²

b. Mental and Physical Disabilities of Applicant

Mental disability amounting to insanity or want of understanding will ordinarily disqualify one from acting as administrator, but weakness of mind or ignorance of business or legal subjects not amounting to lack of a normal intelligence is not sufficient to do so. Neither old age nor physical disability is ordinarily regarded as a ground of disqualification.

Insane persons are incompetent to be appointed or serve as administrators,³³ as, for example, one legally adjudicated to be insane.³⁴

"Want of understanding," as the phrase is used in statutes rendering it a disqualification for service as administrator, means a want of common intelligence amounting to a defect in intellect,³⁵ which lack constitutes a ground for disqualification of one as administrator,³⁶ and it has been held that the want of understanding need not be such as would warrant a general adjudication of incompetency or the appointment of a committee;³⁷ but where one is possessed of common intelligence he may be qualified to serve as administrator,³⁸ and he will not be disqualified as in want of understanding merely because he is poorly informed on business or legal subjects.³⁹ While it has been held that weakness

23. Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, 166 N.E. 747, 267 Mass. 388.

24. Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, supra.

25. Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, supra—Petition of Davis, 129 N.E. 366, 237 Mass. 47.

26. Mo.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W.2d 893, 230 Mo. App. 1.

Facts of particular case

In determining whether a person is incompetent to be appointed administrator, each case must rest on its particular facts, and evidence of incompetency must be clear to defeat the right to letters of administration.—In re Taylor's Estate, Nev., 114 P.2d 1086, 135 A.L.R. 580.

27. Mo.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W.2d 893, 230 Mo. App. 1.

28. Tex.—Balfour v. Collins, 25 S.W.2d 804, 119 Tex. 122, answer to certified question conformed to, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 185.

29. Ala.—Bell v. Tulgham, 80 So. 39, 202 Ala. 217, 23 C.J. p 1047 note 15.

30. Wash.—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.—In re Langill's Estate, 201 P. 28, 117 Wash. 268.

31. Mich.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

Comparative capacity not the test

Widow may be "suitable and competent" to administer husband's estate within Comp.L.1915 § 13820, although there is another who by comparison is better qualified and more capable than she, such statute not requiring a comparison of widow's business knowledge and ability with that of some one else, or that she be skilled in husband's calling and familiar with the details of his business.—In re Morgan, supra.

32. Ky.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

33. Iowa.—O'Neil v. Read, 162 N.W. 775, 179 Iowa 1208.

Mass.—McGooch v. McGooch, 4 Mass. 348.

N.Y.—McMahon v. Harrison, 6 N.Y. 443.

34. Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

35. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

36. N.Y.—In re Phyfe's Estate, 182 N.Y.S. 729, 115 Misc. 699, 23 C.J. p 1050 note 63.

37. N.Y.—In re Phyfe's Estate, supra.

38. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

39. Cal.—Li Po Tai's Estate, 41 P. 484, 108 Cal. 484.

Illiteracy as not constituting want of understanding see infra § 46 c.

of mind not amounting to want of understanding will not debar one from his right to administer,⁴⁰ there is also authority for the view that weakness of mind or will, such as would or might subject one to sinister influence or coercion against the general interest of the estate, will constitute a sufficient objection.⁴¹ One possessing mental capacity sufficient for execution of a valid deed or contract has been held qualified for the post of administrator.⁴²

Old age⁴³ or mere physical disability⁴⁴ does not disqualify.

c. Business Capacity and Literacy

Ordinarily neither lack of business capacity and experience nor illiteracy will constitute a ground of disqualification.

As a general rule one otherwise entitled to letters of administration will not be disqualified because of lack of business capacity or experience,⁴⁵ and a widow of sound mind and preferentially entitled to administer the estate of her deceased husband may not be denied letters on the mere speculation that she will, on account of lack of business experience and want of capacity, mismanage the estate and prove unfit for the trust.⁴⁶ Knowledge of bookkeeping and business management is not a necessary qualification of an administrator,⁴⁷ but it has also been held that one who could not write or read writing, and had no experience in keeping accounts or settling estates, was incompetent.⁴⁸

Illiteracy of the applicant may furnish a sufficient ground for refusing to appoint him,⁴⁹ although one who is intelligent and upright in accounts and business is not necessarily incompetent simply because of illiteracy,⁵⁰ and illiteracy does not constitute the statutory disqualification contemplated by the ground of "want of understanding,"⁵¹ which latter is discussed in the preceding subdivision of this section.

d. Financial Condition

Poor financial condition is not ordinarily a ground of disqualification but actual insolvency may be.

A lack of means on the part of the applicant is not sufficient to preclude his appointment,⁵² but insolvency may make one ineligible for appointment as administrator.⁵³

e. Improvidence, Bad Character, Insobriety, or Conviction of Crime

In some jurisdictions the applicant's improvidence, bad character, or habitual drunkenness may disqualify him from acting as administrator, as may conviction of an infamous crime or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude. Conviction in a foreign jurisdiction of a crime there classified as infamous will not disqualify one if the crime is not so classified in the jurisdiction wherein appointment is sought.

A person may be disqualified by reason of improvidence,⁵⁴ which in this connection may be defined as such a lack of care and foresight as would endanger the administration of the estate if it were committed to the management of an applicant dis-

40. N.Y.—Matter of Ireland, 99 N.Y.S. 1079, 47 Misc. 545.

41. Mass.—Stearns v. Fiske, 18 Pick. 24.
23 C.J. p 1050 note 65.

42. Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

43. Cal.—In re Wright, 170 P. 610, 177 Cal. 274.
N.Y.—Matter of Ireland, 99 N.Y.S. 1079, 47 Misc. 545.
23 C.J. p 1050 note 66.

44. Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.
23 C.J. p 1050 note 67.

Feebleness

That person was not very strong physically did not render her incompetent as administratrix under statute.—In re Stege's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 115, 164 Misc. 95.

Paralysis is not necessarily a disqualification.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

Person "incapable"

Under a statute providing for appointment of others if one with a prior right was "incapable," it has been held that the word "incapable" did not include a new statutory disqualification but, since the clause wherein such word appeared was at the end of many provisions, should be regarded as merely a generalization to include various enumerated causes of disqualification and that, as physical incapacity was not so enumerated, one physically disabled was not to be deemed "incapable" of acting as administrator.—Mobley v. Mobley, supra.

45. Ga.—Davis v. Davis, 127 S.E. 779, 33 Ga.App. 628.
N.Y.—In re Stege's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 115, 164 Misc. 95.
23 C.J. p 1051 note 72.

46. Ga.—Montgomery v. Paradise, App., 15 S.E.2d 899—Maddox v. Maddox, 108 S.E. 304, 27 Ga.App. 369.

47. Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 30 P.2d 803, 96 Mont. 344.

48. N.C.—Stephenson v. Stephenson, 49 N.C. 472.

49. N.C.—Stephenson v. Stephenson, supra.
23 C.J. p 1048 note 29.

50. Ind.—Gregg v. Wilson, 24 Ind. 227.

Pa.—Bowersox's Appeal, 100 Pa. 434, 45 Am.R. 387.

23 C.J. p 1048 note 30.

51. Ala.—Bell v. Fulgham, 80 So. 39, 202 Ala. 217.

23 C.J. p 1050 note 62 [b].

52. N.Y.—Croft v. Williams, 88 N.Y. 384.

23 C.J. p 1048 note 26.

53. Pa.—Levan's Appeal, 3 A. 804, 112 Pa. 294.

23 C.J. p 1048 note 28.

54. N.Y.—McMahon v. Harrison, 6 N.Y. 443—Matter of Ferguson, 84 N.Y.S. 1102, 41 Misc. 465.
23 C.J. p 1051 note 68.

Incurring excessive funeral expenses In determining whether intestate's sister acted improvidently in ordering an expensive funeral service, so as not to be entitled to letters of administration over intestate's divorced wife, court was bound to consider fact that sister could not bind the estate for an excessive amount, and that in payment of the expense, not only value of estate, but extent of sister's personal resources, were to be considered.—In re Taylor's Estate, Nev., 114 P.2d 1086, 135 A.L.R. 580.

playing such lack.⁵⁵ It has been said that improvidence of a disqualifying character must amount to a lack of intelligence,⁵⁶ and cannot consist merely of failure to appreciate moral obligations.⁵⁷ One may also be disqualified from acting as administrator by reason of bad character⁵⁸ or a lack of integrity;⁵⁹ but it has also been held that such defects of character are not a ground for refusing administration to one entitled thereto under the statute and not within the provisions of the statute relating to disqualification.⁶⁰

Insobriety. Drunkenness may constitute a disqualification,⁶¹ but something more gross than occasional intoxication must appear in order to preclude the appointment of the person entitled.⁶²

Conviction of crime. Under some statutes letters of administration must not be granted to a person who has been convicted of an infamous crime⁶³ or of a felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.⁶⁴ If a person is convicted in a foreign jurisdiction of an offense which, if committed in the domestic state, would disqualify him on conviction from being an administrator, the foreign judgment will be received as evidence of his disqualification and will be sufficient, if unexplained, to require his disqualification.⁶⁵ On the other hand, conviction in a foreign jurisdiction of an offense there classified as an infamous crime will not disqualify the person convicted where the crime is a mere misdemeanor and not an infamous crime in the jurisdiction where appointment as administrator is sought,⁶⁶ although such foreign conviction might be considered as evidence of want of integrity if offered on that ground.⁶⁷

f. Nonresidence and Alienage

(1) Nonresidence generally

(2) Alienage

(1) Nonresidence Generally

Nonresidents are eligible to administer an intestate's estate unless made ineligible by statute, although the courts in the exercise of discretionary power may decline to appoint a nonresident. Temporary absence does not render one ineligible as a nonresident.

In the absence of statutory prohibition the court may appoint a nonresident as administrator of a decedent's estate,⁶⁸ or may appoint the nominee of nonresidents.⁶⁹ Statutes merely providing that an administrator's removal from the state warrants his removal from office do not of themselves alone render a nonresident ineligible for appointment.⁷⁰

A nonresident may not serve as administrator in violation of statutory prohibitions such as provisions rendering nonresidence a ground of disqualification.⁷¹ The courts have upheld the validity of statutes denying to nonresident heirs the right to administer on the property of decedents within the state.⁷²

Even where nonresidence is not expressly made a disqualification it is a matter to be considered in determining the propriety of the appointment;⁷³ nonresidence is ground for the exercise of discretion as to appointment of an administrator,⁷⁴ and as a general rule in the absence of special circumstanc-

55. Ala.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587.

56. N.Y.—In re Schwartz' Estate, 246 N.Y.S. 478, 138 Misc. 537. 23 C.J. p 1051 note 68 [b].

57. N.Y.—In re Schwartz' Estate, supra.

58. Mass.—Martin v. Otis, 124 N.E. 294, 233 Mass. 491. 23 C.J. p 1051 note 69.

Mother of bastard

The alleged fact that deceased's mother gave birth to a bastard thirty or more years before she sought appointment as administratrix did not require denial of her request to serve as administratrix, on ground that she was disqualified under statute because of bad character, where at time of request she was married and living with her husband and had been so for many years.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

59. N.J.—Cramer v. Sharp, 40 A. 962, 49 N.J.Eq. 558. 23 C.J. p 1051 note 70.

60. Mo.—State v. Thompson, 187 S. W. 804, 196 Mo.App. 12. 23 C.J. p 1051 note 71.

61. Ala.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587. 23 C.J. p 1050 note 51.

62. N.Y.—Matter of Reichert, 69 N. Y.S. 644, 34 Misc. 288, 289, 9 N.Y. Ann.Cas. 472. 23 C.J. p 1050 note 52.

63. Ala.—Nichols v. Smith, 65 So. 30, 186 Ala. 587. 23 C.J. p 1049 note 49.

64. Wash.—McLean v. Roller, 73 P. 1123, 33 Wash. 166.

65. Okl.—In re Dunham's Estate, 74 P.2d 117, 181 Okl. 407.

66. Okl.—In re Dunham's Estate, supra. 23 C.J. p 1049 note 49 [c].

67. Okl.—In re Dunham's Estate, supra.

68. Iowa.—Reidy v. Chicago, B. & Q. Ry. Co., 249 N.W. 347, 216 Iowa 415—Finnerty v. Shade, 228 N.W. 886, 210 Iowa 1838.

Tex.—Thacker v. Sams, Civ.App., 44 S.W.2d 391, dictum. 23 C.J. p 1048 notes 31 [a], 35.

69. Tex.—Stevens v. Cameron, 101 S.W. 791, 100 Tex. 515. 23 C.J. p 1048 note 35.

70. Ala.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

71. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 338—Fishel v. Dixon, 278 S.W. 545, 212 Ky. 2. Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 194 Wash. 219. 23 C.J. p 1048 note 34.

Competency of nonresident to nominate administrator see supra § 44 b.

Residence sufficiently shown

Mont.—In re Nix's Estate, 213 P. 1089, 66 Mont. 559.

72. Cal.—In re Barnes' Estate, 203 P. 100, 187 Cal. 566.

73. Conn.—Eva's Appeal, 104 A. 238, 93 Conn. 38. 23 C.J. p 1049 note 36.

74. Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R.

es a nonresident should not be appointed as long as any other distributee competent to act and willing to assume the trust is within the jurisdiction of the court.⁷⁵

A nonresident who has applied for letters of administration within the state and has obtained from the court an order of sale of the property of his intestate, even though he may as an individual be a nonresident, is officially an administrator of the state and will not be heard to assert that the courts of the state have no jurisdiction over him with reference to property of his intestate located within the state.⁷⁶

Temporary absence from the state for business purposes does not disqualify one whose intention it is to return and to retain his residence within the state.⁷⁷

Residence in different county. Under a statute authorizing appointment as administrator of a qualified person residing in the county wherein appointment is sought, one not residing in the county is ineligible.⁷⁸

(2) Alienage

Where the court is not bound by contrary statutory restrictions it may appoint an alien, or nonresident alien, although the matter may be confided to a judicial discretion which may be exercised against the appointment. Under restrictive statutes aliens may be ineligible for appointment, particularly where nonresident, although it has been held under statutes of this character that the single fact of alienage does not disqualify the applicant.

At common law and in the absence of contrary statute an alien may qualify as administrator of a decedent's estate,⁷⁹ even if a nonresident,⁸⁰ although it has been said that the courts ordinarily will frown on the practice of appointing aliens and in the exercise of discretion may and should as a rule refuse to make such an appointment.⁸¹

Under the practice prevailing in some jurisdictions there are statutory restrictions imposed on the granting of letters of administration to aliens, who may be ineligible to serve if nonresident,⁸² although under statutes of this character it has been held that alienage alone does not disqualify the applicant.⁸³

g. Married Women and Infants

Broadly speaking, an infant is ineligible to act as administrator, but a married woman may do so.

An infant is not competent to be appointed or serve as an administrator,⁸⁴ although an exception to this rule has been recognized in case of an infant who has been emancipated⁸⁵ otherwise than by marriage.⁸⁶ It has been held that letters issued to an infant are void,⁸⁷ but there is also authority to the effect that such letters are voidable only,⁸⁸ and that the right of the appointee to the office is complete where he ratifies after reaching majority.⁸⁹

Under the common law and statutes declaratory thereof a married woman can qualify as adminis-

Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 270 Mich. 135.

75. Iowa.—Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Gould, 20 N.W. 464, 64 Iowa 343. 23 C.J. p 1049 note 37.

76. Ga.—Faughnan v. Bashlor, 136 S.E. 545, 163 Ga. 525.

77. N.C.—Fann v. North Carolina R. Co., 71 S.E. 81, 155 N.C. 136.

78. Tex.—Balfour v. Collins, 25 S. W.2d 804, 119 Tex. 122, answer to certified question conformed to, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 185.

79. Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R. Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 270 Mich. 135. 23 C.J. p 1048 note 32.

80. Iowa.—In re Rugh's Estate, 234 N.W. 278, 211 Iowa 722.

81. Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R. Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 270 Mich. 135.

82. D.C.—Lely v. Kalinoglu, 76 F. 2d 983, 64 App.D.C. 213, 100 A.L.R. 1523, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 925, 295 U.S. 785, 79 L.Ed. 1707.

N.Y.—In re Franko's Estate, 7 N.Y. S.2d 594, 169 Misc. 356—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141

Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

23 C.J. p 1048 note 33.

Discretion of court

The fact that one is a nonresident alien will not as matter of law bar him from appointment as administrator, the propriety of appointing a nonresident alien being committed to the discretion of the court in the light of all the facts and circumstances involved, and a nonresident alien may be appointed if a suitable person, and also has the right to nominate a local corporation as administrator.—In re Rugh's Estate, 234 N.W. 278, 211 Iowa 722.

Alien brother not "inhabitant"

Decedent's alien brother, where not "inhabitant" of state, was incompetent to receive letters of administration.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

Alien enemies, if nonresidents, are incompetent.—Carthey v. Webb, 6 N. C. 268.

83. N.Y.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

Necessity that alien be inhabitant of state

"Inhabitant," as applied to aliens who must be inhabitants of state to be entitled to administration, comprehends fixed or permanent dwelling in state, as distinguished from transient or occasional visitor.—In re Gaffney's Estate, supra.

84. Ill.—In re Barker's Estate, 214 Ill.App. 275.

Miss.—Rea v. Englesing, 56 Miss. 463.

N.Y.—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

23 C.J. p 1049 note 41.

Next friend of infant has no greater rights in respect of appointment of administrator than the infant himself.—In re Barker's Estate, 214 Ill.App. 275.

85. La.—Gaines' Succession, 7 So. 788, 42 La. Ann. 699.

86. La.—Briscoe v. Tarkington, 5 La. Ann. 692.

87. N.Y.—Knox v. Nobel, 28 N.Y.S. 355, 77 Hun 230, affirming 27 N.Y. S. 206.

88. Ala.—Davis v. Miller, 17 So. 323, 106 Ala. 154.

89. Ala.—Davis v. Miller, supra.

tratrix with her husband's consent,⁹⁰ and statutes removing the disabilities of coverture, which are discussed generally in the C.J.S. title Husband and Wife § 166, also 30 C.J. p 716 notes 87-90, have so far broadened the rights and privileges of a married woman that she may possess an unrestricted right to qualify as administratrix.⁹¹ The purpose of statutes permitting women to act or continue as executors or administrators after marriage is merely to change former legal rules excluding them from such right and privilege, and such statutes do not create a public policy and vested right which cannot be changed by appropriate testamentary provision.⁹²

h. Hostility to Estate or Distributees; Intermeddling

- (1) In general
- (2) Persons indebted to estate
- (3) Intermeddling with estate

(1) In General

As a general rule serious hostility of interest between the applicant and the estate or other distributees is ground for holding the applicant disqualified, but mere personal antagonism between the applicant and other distributees does not disqualify, and under some authority not even an actual conflict of interest with the other distributees will render an applicant ineligible.

90. Ala.—English v. McNair, 34 Ala. 40.

23 C.J. p 1049 note 39.

91. Cal.—In re Dow's Estate, 64 P. 402, 132 Cal. 309.

S.C.—In re Nurnberger, 18 S.E. 935, 40 S.C. 334.

23 C.J. p 1049 note 40.

92. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S.E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.

93. Or.—In re Elder's Estate, 83 P. 2d 477, 160 Or. 111, 119 A.L.R. 802.

Farming for decedent

The fact that a son, entitled to letters of administration as next of kin in the absence of a surviving spouse, had farmed for his deceased father on shares did not adversely affect his competency to qualify as administrator.—In re King's Estate, 7 Pa.Dist. & Co. 483, 39 Lanc.L.Rev. 491, 39 York Leg.Rec. 103.

94. Iowa.—In re Christensen's Estate, 296 N.W. 198, 200, citing Corpus Juris—In re Tracy's Estate, 243 N.W. 309, 311, 214 Iowa 881, citing Corpus Juris.

N.J.—In re Messler's Estate, 1 A.2d 322, 16 N.J.Misc. 434.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 16.

95. Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

Ky.—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 333.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 17.

Proper matters for consideration

Ordinary, or jury on appeal, determining question of fitness of one selected for appointment as administrator by majority of interested distributees, can properly consider all proved facts and circumstances reasonably leading to belief that interest of such person is so adverse to that of estate as would be likely to jeopardize its interest.—Davis v. Davis, 127 S.E. 779, 33 Ga.App. 628.

Hostility not shown

A daughter of decedent's sister, nominated by sister to act as administratrix, must be treated as standing in the same position as sister in determining whether interest adverse to interests of the estate, which would disqualify daughter from acting as administratrix exists; and that cotenancy in land existed between decedent and husband of decedent's sister, and that sister subsequently acquired husband's interest, did not establish existence of partnership between sister and decedent, such as would disqualify sister's nominee for appointment as administratrix.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

96. Cal.—In re Wright, 170 P. 610, 177 Cal. 274.

Ky.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 16 [c], [d].

Where mandatory statutes confer priority on persons within designated classifications, and statutory grounds of disqualification not including hostility of interest are deemed exclusive in character, one otherwise entitled to appointment is not disqualified by the nonenumerated ground of hostility of interest.

Except as the rule may be changed by the application of mandatory statutes, a person whose individual interests are so adverse to the estate or to the interests of other distributees that both cannot fairly be represented by the same person is not a proper person to administer the estate,⁹³ and unsuitableness to serve as administrator may consist of an adverse interest of some kind, or hostility to those immediately interested in the estate, whether as creditors or distributees,⁹⁴ or of an interest adverse to the estate itself;⁹⁵ but an applicant for letters of administration is not necessarily disqualified by the mere existence of personal prejudice or antagonism between himself and other distributees,⁹⁶ or by some degree of adverse interest in respect of the estate,⁹⁷ and the fact that there is some degree of conflict between the interests of the applicant and those of other distributees is not always ground for holding him unsuitable for appointment as administrator.⁹⁸ A person otherwise suitable is not to be deemed incompetent merely because he is, or represents, a creditor;⁹⁹ and one

Family enmity

The fact that some of the brothers and sisters of one applying for letters of administration on the estate of his mother are his enemies and oppose his appointment is no ground for disqualification.—Dooley v. Dooley, Tex.Civ.App., 240 S.W. 1112.

97. Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 30 P.2d 803, 96 Mont. 344.

Appointment not clear abuse of discretion

Appointment of son of surviving brother of decedent as administrator on father's nomination, notwithstanding father's claim against estate, is not clear abuse of discretion.—In re Rinio's Estate, supra.

98. Ky.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

Tenn.—In re Wooten, 85 S.W. 1105, 114 Tenn. 289.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 16 [e].

Not "incapable to discharge trust"

The existence of various conflicting interests between the mother of intestate and the latter's husband did not disqualify the former from becoming administratrix where the evidence showed no interest being asserted by the mother incompatible with the interest of the estate.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

99. Wyo.—In re Coolidge's Estate, otherwise qualified to act as administrator is not disqualified because he had been the guardian of decedent for many years, where his accounts as guardian had been finally allowed.¹ It has also been held that a person is not disqualified because he claims the ownership of property which is also claimed to belong to the estate,² although where his claim is resisted the conflict of interests may become so serious that it would be improper for him to act as administrator.³ One holding stock in a corporation having a claim against an estate is not necessarily disqualified from administering the estate.⁴

Mandatory character of statutes. Under statutes mandatory in conferring prior rights to administration on specified classifications of persons and other statutes specifying the exclusive grounds for disqualification without including adverse interest as one of them, a court having exercised its discretion in determining that general letters of administration should issue has no discretion to refuse them to the widow or her nominee on the ground that she is disqualified by reason of her claim in adverse interest to the estate.⁵ Under statutes not mandatory in respect of appointment of those primarily entitled thereto, the court may refuse to appoint any of those within the statutory classification and appoint some other suitable person where ill feeling between next of kin exists which would be conducive to continuous litigation with resultant loss to the estate.⁶

(2) Persons Indebted to Estate

Where the courts are not controlled by mandatory statutes, some regard indebtedness to the estate as a ground for disqualification while others regard it as merely a matter for consideration but not necessarily conclusive against eligibility. Under statutes enumerating the grounds for disqualification and construed as exclusive, a nonenumerated ground of indebtedness to the estate will not disqualify an applicant.

Where statutory grounds of disqualification are exclusive and do not include indebtedness to the estate, the court cannot make such indebtedness a ground of disqualification,⁷ and irrespective of such a consideration it is held by some authorities that an applicant's indebtedness to the estate is not necessarily a ground of disqualification.⁸ Where, however, the court is not bound by contrary statutes the applicant's indebtedness to the estate is a proper subject for its consideration,⁹ and some authorities have held that it is against the policy of the law to appoint a debtor as administrator,¹⁰ and that the appointment of such a person is unauthorized.¹¹

(3) Intermeddling with Estate

A technical intermeddling with the estate does not per se disqualify one from becoming administrator, but material intermeddling may do so.

A technical intermeddling with the effects before appointment does not of itself, where not willfully wrong, disqualify the intermeddler from being appointed;¹² but it has been considered proper to refuse to commit the administration of an estate to one who has, without authority, removed personal property of decedent from the state, such removal tending to hinder or delay the collection of the collateral inheritance tax.¹³

1. Corporations

A corporation possessing corporate powers of a trust character may act as administrator under the view generally prevailing, although there is some authority holding corporations ineligible. The rights of national banks and of foreign corporations to act as administrators depend on applicable provisions of governing statutes.

It was at one time held, on the technical ground that it could not take an oath of office, that a corporation was at common law unable to act as administrator of a decedent's estate,¹⁴ and where there 41 P.2d 503, 508, 47 Wyo. 488, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 18.

Decedent's former trustee in bankruptcy

Appointment as administrator of person previously acting as trustee in decedent's bankruptcy may be justified, in view of involved conditions, decedent's fraudulent transactions, pending litigation, and possibility of hidden assets and where no personal interest of administrator was shown and no conflict of interest.—Morgan v. Morgan, 166 N.E. 747, 267 Mass. 388.

1. R.I.—Ballou v. Ballou, 75 A. 97, 80 R.I. 331.

2. Cal.—In re Brundage, 75 P. 175, 141 Cal. 538.

Mont.—In re Blackburn, 137 P. 381, 48 Mont. 179.

Utah.—Farnsworth v. Hatch, 151 P. 537, 47 Utah 62.

3. Utah.—Farnsworth v. Hatch, supra.

4. Utah.—Welsh, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, 232 P. 911, 64 Utah 579.

5. Cal.—In re Rees' Estate, 212 P. 234, 60 Cal.App. 92.

6. Wash.—In re Thomas' Estate, 8 P.2d 963, 167 Wash. 127.

7. Ariz.—In re Graham's Estate, 231 P. 918, 27 Ariz. 167.

8. Ala.—McFry v. Casey, 101 So. 449, 211 Ala. 649.

Kan.—Ford v. Peck, 227 P. 527, 116 Kan. 481, denying rehearing 225 P. 1054, 116 Kan. 74.

Md.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167.

23 C.J. p 1047 note 22.

9. Ala.—McFry v. Casey, 101 So. 449, 211 Ala. 649.

Md.—Kailer v. Kailer, 48 A. 712, 92 Md. 147.

10. Pa.—Neustadt's Estate, 12 Phila. 8.

11. N.M.—Territory v. Valdez, 1 N. M. 533, 539.

23 C.J. p 1048 note 25.

12. Ala.—Bingham v. Crenshaw, 34 Ala. 683.

Ga.—Carnochan v. Abrahams, T.U.P. Charit. p 210.

13. Pa.—Robertson's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 317.

14. Neb.—Continental Trust Co. v. Peterson, 107 N.W. 786, 110 N.W. 316, 76 Neb. 411.

14a C.J. p 295 note 43.

is no statutory repeal of the doctrine, and no public policy evidencing its abrogation, the old rule is still followed,¹⁵ and statutes providing for appointment of persons to such positions of trust are construed to apply to real and not to artificial persons.¹⁶ In most jurisdictions, however, this rule has been changed; where it is the established policy of a state to grant to corporations organized to do a trust company business the privilege of acting as executor or administrator, it is held that the common law of such a state does not deny to corporations the privilege of so acting,¹⁷ and, under the rule that a corporation has implied power to do all acts necessary to enable it to exercise the powers expressly conferred, an officer may execute the requisite oath for a corporation empowered to do a trust business and to act as administrator.¹⁸ The right of corporations possessing the requisite powers to act as administrators has been recognized under statutes expressly or by necessary implication providing for the appointment of corporations as administrators,¹⁹ and the courts have upheld the constitutionality of such statutes;²⁰ nor are they void because a corporation is incapable of taking the oath required by law of persons appointed to such positions of trust,²¹ although a corporation lacking the requisite charter powers may be denied the right to administer an estate.²²

National banks. A statutory prohibition against the appointment of a bank has been held to preclude the appointment of a national bank, although the federal reserve board has granted to it a special permit to act as administrator,²³ the reserve board having power under act of congress authorizing it to grant such permits only when not in contravention of state or local law,²⁴ and the courts have upheld the validity of statutes of this character.²⁵ Under statutes providing that trust companies organized under the laws of the state may act as administrators and federal statutes construed as requiring state courts to appoint national banks to fiduciary positions on the same conditions as state trust companies, a national bank is eligible to act as administrator under appointment by the courts of the state even though there is no state statute authorizing such appointment.²⁶

Foreign corporations. The power of a foreign corporation to act as administrator of a decedent's estate has been both affirmed²⁷ and denied.²⁸ Where a corporation may be organized under the laws of the state with power to act as administrator, and there is no statute prohibiting it, a foreign corporation which enjoys in the state of its domicile the privilege of acting as administrator may enter the state for the purpose of carrying on the business of administrator on the same basis as a domestic corporation.²⁹ Where a foreign corporation, by virtue of comity, has the right to acquire, hold, convey, or encumber real or personal property situated in a state other than that of its creation, it may, if authorized by its charter or governing statute, in the absence of prohibitions or limitations imposed by the laws of the domestic state, exercise such rights in the capacity of executor, or administrator.³⁰

j. Miscellaneous Persons

The attorney for an applicant for letters has been held unsuitable to administer the estate, and a judge of probate should not appoint himself or his immediate relatives. It has been held that a nun is not ineligible to act as administratrix and that a clerk of court may so act.

15. Neb.—Continental Trust Co. v. Peterson, supra.

16. Neb.—Continental Trust Co. v. Peterson, supra.

17. Conn.—Equitable Trust Co. v. Plume, 103 A. 940, 92 Conn. 649.

18. Nev.—In re McGill's Estate, 280 P. 321, 52 Nev. 35, 65 A.L.R. 1232.

19. Ga.—Mulherin v. Kennedy, 48 S. E. 437, 120 Ga. 1080.

Tenn.—Union Bank & Trust Co. v. Wright, Ch.A., 58 S.W. 755, 52 L. R.A. 469.

23 C.J. p 1050 note 55—14a C.J. p 295 note 35.

No inherent disability

"There is, then, no inherent disability or disqualification belonging to a corporation as such which excludes it from acting as an administrator, and it may accept the office if not prohibited by its charter, or forbidden by statute, whenever from the objects of its incorporation and the nature of its business it may become necessary and proper, and it is able to comply with the conditions prescribed by law as to giving bonds, etc."—Fidelity Ins. Trust & Safe Deposit Co. v. Nevin, 10 Del. 416, 430, 1 Am.S.R. 150.

20. Ky.—Coleman v. Parrott, 13 S.W. 525, 11 Ky.L. 947.

Tenn.—Union Bank & Trust Co. v. Wright, Ch.A., 58 S.W. 755, 52 L. R.A. 469.

14a C.J. p 295 note 49.

21. Tenn.—Union Bank & Trust Co. v. Wright, supra.

22. Md.—German-American Bank v. Kopp, 103 A. 1009, 132 Md. 422.

N.Y.—In re Rhoda, 93 N.Y.S. 973, 105 App.Div. 143—Matter of Thompson's Estate, 33 Barb. 334. 23 C.J. p 1050 note 54.

23. N.H.—Woodbury's Appeal, 96 A. 299, 78 N.H. 50.

Pa.—In re National Bank of Germantown and Southwark Nat. Bank, 30 Pa.Dist. 603.

24. N.H.—Woodbury's Appeal, 96 A. 299, 78 N.H. 50.

25. N.H.—Woodbury's Appeal, supra. 14a C.J. p 296 note 52.

26. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 161 N.E. 797, 263 Mass. 394.

27. Nev.—In re McGill's Estate, 280 P. 321, 52 Nev. 35, 65 A.L.R. 1232.

Presumption prevails that no public policy exists against qualification of foreign corporation as administrator, where it is qualified so to act in state of its domicile.—In re McGill's Estate, supra.

28. N.D.—Grunow v. Simonitsch, 130 N.W. 835, 21 N.D. 277.

29. Nev.—In re McGill's Estate, 280 P. 321, 52 Nev. 35, 65 A.L.R. 1232.

30. Del.—Fidelity Ins. Trust & Safe Deposit Co. v. Niven, 10 Del. 416, 1 Am.S.R. 150.

It has been held that an attorney of the applicant for administration is, by reason of his relation to the parties, an unsuitable person to receive letters of administration.³¹

Court officials and their relatives. For a judge of probate to be concerned in his own appointment as administrator is plainly unsuitable,³² and it has also been regarded as improper for such a judge to appoint one of his own immediate relatives.³³ On the other hand, under statutes enumerating persons who are incompetent to act as administrators and failing to embrace such official, it has been held proper to appoint the clerk of a district court administrator.³⁴

Nuns. The fact that the woman entitled to appointment is a nun does not disqualify her.³⁵

§ 47. Renunciation or Waiver of Right

- a. In general
- b. Agreements respecting renunciation
- c. Effect of renunciation
- d. Retraction of renunciation

31. Mass.—Dexter v. Brown, 3 Mass. 32.

32. Ga.—Echols v. Barrett, 6 Ga. 143.

33. Ala.—Plowman v. Henderson, 59 Ala. 559.

Mass.—Hall v. Thayer, 105 Mass. 219, 7 Am.R. 513.

34. Wyo.—Bamforth v. Ihmsen, 204 P. 345, 28 Wyo. 282, rehearing denied 205 P. 1004, 28 Wyo. 282.

35. Md.—Smith v. Young, 5 Gill 197.

36. Md.—Phillips v. Clark, 6 A.2d 220.

Mo.—State v. Norton, 191 S.W. 429, 269 Mo. 563.

23 C.J. p 1051 note 77.

Widow's waiver

Surviving wife may waive or relinquish her preferential right to administer deceased husband's estate under Code 1907 § 2520.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

37. N.Y.—Matter of Ireland, 95 N.Y. S. 1079, 47 Misc. 545.

38. Miss.—Muirhead v. Muirhead, 14 Miss. 451.
23 C.J. p 1051 note 79.

39. Pa.—Weidner's Estate, 39 Pa. Super. 120.

S.C.—Rowell v. Adams, 65 S.E. 207, 83 S.C. 124.

40. Mass.—Arnold v. Sabin, 1 Cush. 525.

41. Tex.—Vannoy v. Gibson, Civ. App., 102 S.W.2d 492.

Waiver not shown

(1) Appointing agent at time of making application for letters of administration is not renunciation or waiver of right to letters.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

(2) Instrument appointing another to collect funds due deceased's wife is not waiver of wife's statutory rights to administer deceased's estate.—Alexander v. Moyers, Tex.Civ. App., 22 S.W.2d 727.

(3) In view of Civ.Code art 1042, giving beneficiary heir preference to appointment as administrator, article 1043, authorizing the judge to select as such the most solid of the beneficiary heirs, article 883, defining a "beneficiary heir," as one who has accepted succession under the benefit of inventory regularly made, and Acts 1920 No. 160 § 1, relating to descent of community estates, a widow, by accepting her deceased husband's succession unconditionally by mere written declaration, does not lose her right to be appointed, in a contest with heirs who had accepted the succession with benefit of inventory.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036.

42. Tex.—Vannoy v. Gibson, Civ. App., 102 S.W.2d 492.

43. Md.—Silverwood v. Farnan, 22 A.2d 444.
23 C.J. p 1052 note 82.

Twenty-five years

Petitioner lost the preferential right given by Comp.L.1917 § 7596, to letters of administration of his father's estate, where he failed to appear within three months, as required by § 7598, but delayed nearly twenty-five years in applying for appointment, and then filed a cross petition, objecting to the appointment of de-

a. In General

The right of administration is subject to renunciation or waiver, as by written instrument or by conduct, and the facts in each case determine whether or not the writing or conduct constitutes a renunciation or waiver.

Renunciation or waiver of a precedent right to administer is clearly permissible,³⁶ and it has been held not a badge of fraud that persons entitled to administer waive their right after taking out letters jointly with a person not entitled.³⁷

Renunciation of the right to administer may appear by writing,³⁸ although it has been held that a writing is unnecessary.³⁹ Whether or not a writing amounts to a renunciation depends on its fair and reasonable import.⁴⁰

One may waive his right to administration by conduct,⁴¹ as well as by express declaration,⁴² as where one having a prior right delays an unreasonable time in asserting it,⁴³ or acquiesces in the appointment of another,⁴⁴ as by failure to interpose cedent's married daughter as being disqualified according to § 7600.—In re Slater's Estate, 184 P. 1017, 55 Utah 252.

Excusable delay in seeking appointment

(1) The whole purpose of testamentary laws is to guard against all needless delay and secure as prompt and speedy settlements of deceased persons' estates as practicable. Where decedent's surviving husband was engaged in ascertaining assets of decedent's estate, locating her heirs, and seeking legal information during time between her death and grant of letters of administration to him on application filed about three months after her death, and no injury inured to estate because of his delay in making application, such delay was not so unreasonable as to forfeit his right to administration and notice of another's appointment as administrator.—Silverwood v. Farnan, Md., 22 A.2d 444.

(2) Widow's failure to apply for letters of administration within thirty days after husband's death did not deprive her of right to be appointed under Comp.L.1915 § 13820, as against son who applied for letters within five days after father's death, the widow having the right of priority over her son, and the statutory provision as to application of widow within thirty days having reference only to the rights of creditors.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

44. Tex.—Lee v. Earnest, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 931.

timely objection,⁴⁵ or actively seeks another's appointment;⁴⁶ and one may become estopped to assert his right where he permits another to administer without objection.⁴⁷ Renunciation or waiver may be the result of nonappearance when duly cited.⁴⁸ The right to administration is not renounced by joining in a petition for the probate of an alleged will of the decedent, which is afterward declared invalid.⁴⁹ Waiver may be made only in the court having jurisdiction and not in a court lacking jurisdiction of the administration.⁵⁰ Where statute provides for waiver in open court or by the filing of a duly authenticated instrument in a court having jurisdiction of the estate, the fact that no formal statutory waiver is shown does not preclude the showing of waiver in other ways,⁵¹ and even in the absence of a formal waiver one contesting the right of applicant to appointment may show a waiver by acts, verbal statements, and conduct.⁵²

b. Agreements Respecting Renunciation

The courts have disagreed respecting the validity of an agreement to renounce administration in favor of another.

It has been held that a contract by a person entitled to administer to relinquish his right in favor of another person who is a stranger to the estate, in consideration of a share of the commissions, is valid and binding;⁵³ but it has also been held that an agreement to renounce the right to administer in favor of another is void as against public policy,⁵⁴ and for the same reason a promise to pay a person for securing a renunciation by the person having the right to administer and procuring the appointment of the promisor has been held void.⁵⁵

c. Effect of Renunciation

Renunciation devolves the right of administration on those next entitled by statute and, except as legislation may change the rule, the right of administration expires with the renunciation and may not be transferred to another. Some authorities permit one to renounce on condition that another designated person be appointed but others hold that the renunciation may not be so conditioned.

The effect of a renunciation is to devolve the right to administration on the class next entitled,⁵⁶ and, except as the rule may be changed by statute, one renouncing his right of administration may not transfer such right to another.⁵⁷

It has been held that, where one entitled to administer renounces in favor of a stranger, but other persons entitled do not ratify such nomination, the renunciation of the person entitled does not deprive him of his right to letters,⁵⁸ and also that, where letters were granted to the nominee of the person entitled, but subsequently revoked, the person who had renounced might then claim the right to administration.⁵⁹ A waiver in favor of another designated person has been held inoperative where such other person does not qualify as administrator.⁶⁰ On the other hand, however, it has been

45. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.
Tex.—Vannoy v. Gibson, Civ.App., 102 S.W.2d 492.

Delay amounting to acquiescence

Person having superior right to be appointed administrator, who, without valid excuse, fails to contest appointment of another person, or who, while in position to do so, fails to demand revocation of letters granted to such other person, will be held to have waived his right to letters testamentary or of administration. Adult son who returned home shortly after creditor, in the early part of December, 1933, was appointed administrator of estate of deceased intestate father, waived right to priority to administer father's estate, by acquiescing in such appointment until Aug. 10, 1934.—Vannoy v. Gibson, supra.

46. Ala.—Bivin v. Millsap, 189 So. 770, 238 Ala. 136.
23 C.J. p 1052 note 84.

47. Wash.—In re Hill, 33 P. 585, 6 Wash. 285.

Recognition of appointees by presentation of claims

Brother of deceased waived his right to appointment as administrator in first instance by failing to object to administrators who were appointed, and presenting to them his claims against estate.—Slay v. Davidson, Tex.Civ.App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.

48. Mass.—Stebbins v. Lathrop, 4 Pick. 33.

49. Md.—McIntire v. Worthington, 12 A. 251, 68 Md. 203.

50. Ky.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, 137 S.W.2d 1098, 282 Ky. 162.

Securing appointment of another in court lacking jurisdiction

The fact that deceased's mother, prior to appointment of an administrator for deceased's estate in the Lincoln County court, had secured the appointment of a third person as administrator in the Fayette County court, which did not have jurisdiction, was not a "waiver" of her right to qualify as administratrix in the Lincoln County court, and did not "estop" her from thereafter asserting her right to qualify as administratrix in the Lincoln County court.—Barnett's Adm'r v. Pittman, supra.

51. Tex.—Beeman v. Jones, Civ.App., 102 S.W.2d 490.

52. Tex.—Beeman v. Jones, supra.

53. Md.—Bassett v. Miller, 8 Md. 548.

23 C.J. p 1052 note 87.
Antenuptial or postnuptial agreements between spouses see supra § 35 a.

54. Pa.—Bowers v. Bowers, 26 Pa. 74, 67 Am.D. 298.

55. Ohio.—Swiggett v. White, 8 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 452, 8 Cinc.L.Bul. 22.

56. Md.—Slay v. Beck, 68 A. 573, 107 Md. 357.—McColgan v. Kenny, 11 A. 819, 68 Md. 258.

57. Md.—Phillips v. Clark, 6 A.2d 220.

Right to nominate an administrator see supra § 44.

Right as expiring with renunciation

A person entitled to letters of administration may renounce or decline the right to administer, but the right inheres in the person and expires with a renunciation or refusal to serve, so that the right may not be transferred.—Phillips v. Clark, supra.

58. Pa.—Loeffler's Estate, 8 Kulp 199. 23 C.J. p 1053 note 94.

59. Pa.—Gause's Estate, 1 Chest.Co. 105.

60. Cal.—In re Robinson's Estate, 224 P. 765, 65 Cal.App. 588.

held that a renunciation cannot be made conditional on the appointment of a particular person, but when once made is binding.⁶¹

One who has waived a preferential right to administer cannot object to mere prematurity of the issuance of letters to another.⁶²

d. Retraction of Renunciation

Broadly speaking a renunciation may be retracted before, but not after, appointment of another to the office of administrator, and in cases of doubt the matter is addressed to the discretion of the court.

While retraction of a renunciation of the right to administer a decedent's estate is not favored,⁶³ such retraction is ordinarily permissible prior to the grant of administration to another,⁶⁴ and it has been held that the question of permitting a retraction is committed to the sound discretion of the court.⁶⁵ Generally speaking, however, retraction should not be permitted while proceedings for the appointment of another are pending,⁶⁶ or after another person has been appointed to the office,⁶⁷ unless it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the renunciation was executed by a mistake.⁶⁸

§ 48. Second Appointment

There can be only one valid administration of an estate within the same jurisdiction and the administrator first appointed is the only person authorized to represent the estate. A second appointment may not be made until the office has become vacant and a purported second appointment made before such time is a nullity.

There cannot be two valid administrations of the same estate at the same time within the same state jurisdiction,⁶⁹ and the administrator first in time is first in right and the only person entitled to represent the estate.⁷⁰ No new appointment may be made until the office is vacated by the death or removal of the incumbent or in some other way,⁷¹ and it has been said that a vacancy must occur by order of court in the administration of an estate before the court has power to appoint an administrator to replace one who has been appointed to administer the affairs of an estate.⁷² A purported second appointment is a nullity while the first appointee retains his office⁷³ and, even though a will does not dispose of all the testator's property, an executor who has qualified thereunder is entitled to administer the entire estate, and an administrator should not be appointed for the intestate property.⁷⁴

The court first obtaining jurisdiction of an estate will retain it until the same is set aside by direct attack,⁷⁵ and even though the first appointment in one county is erroneous to the extent of being voidable, although not void, another appointment cannot

Limited or conditional character of waiver

Where decedent's daughter declined the administration and waived her right in favor of a designated person, she did not thereby waive her right except as to such person, and on his resignation her failure to contest the appointment of another as administrator did not, under Code Civ.Proc. § 1383 et seq. forfeit her preferential right to be appointed administratrix.—In re Robinson's Estate, supra.

61. Mo.—State v. Romjue, 118 S. W. 1188, 136 Mo.App. 650.

62. Ala.—Garrett v. Harrison, 77 So. 712, 201 Ala. 186.

63. Mo.—State v. Romjue, 118 S.W. 1188, 136 Mo.App. 650.
23 C.J. p 1053 note 99.

64. Idaho.—McCormick v. Brownell, 136 P. 613, 25 Idaho 11.

S.C.—Rowell v. Adams, 65 S.E. 207, 83 S.C. 124.
23 C.J. p 1053 note 98.

65. Cal.—In re Lowe, 172 P. 583, 178 Cal. 111.

66. Cal.—In re Kirtlan, 16 Cal. 161.—In re Silvar, 46 P. 296, 5 Cal. Unrep.Cas. 494.

67. Cal.—In re Keane, 56 Cal. 407.
Md.—Jones v. Harbaugh, 48 A. 827, 93 Md. 269.
23 C.J. p 1053 note 2.

68. Md.—Thomas v. Knighton, 23 Md. 318, 87 Am.D. 571.
23 C.J. p 1053 note 3.

Not fully advised of rights

Where widow on April 7 signed waiver of her right to administer the estate of her deceased husband and at the same time his sister filed a petition for her own appointment, and on April 13 the widow filed a retraction of her renunciation, the court accepted her retraction because she had executed the renunciation without being fully advised regarding her rights and the effect of the waiver.—In re Grant's Estate, 3 N. Y.S.2d 867, 253 App.Div. 504.

69. Cal.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, 265 P. 295, 89 Cal.App. 469.

Ill.—In re Graney's Will, 245 Ill.App. 407.—In re Purvechio, 188 Ill.App. 81.

Iowa.—Brown v. Tank, 297 N.W. 801, 230 Iowa 370.

W.Va.—Waynesboro v. Lopinsky, 182 S.E. 283, 284, 116 W.Va. 551, citing Corpus Juris.

Administration in two or more counties

Valid letters of administration cannot be granted in same estate in two or more counties.—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

70. Cal.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, 265 P. 295, 89 Cal.App. 469.

71. Ga.—Dame v. McGowen, 138 S.E. 785, 164 Ga. 332.

72. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

73. Ga.—Dame v. McGowen, 138 S.E. 785, 164 Ga. 332.

W.Va.—Waynesboro v. Lopinsky, 182 S.E. 283, 284, 116 W.Va. 551, citing Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1053 note 5.

74. Ga.—Knowles v. Knowles, 65 S.E. 128, 132 Ga. 806.

N.Y.—Matter of Maccaffil, 107 N.Y.S. 1115, 57 Misc. 264, affirmed 111 N.Y.S. 315, 127 App.Div. 21.
23 C.J. p 1054 note 6.

Appointment of administrator as improper

In cases of partial intestacy, or where provisions of a will have become inoperative, the executor is entitled to administer and distribute the property undisposed of, and it is not necessary or even proper to appoint an administrator for that purpose.—Federal Trust Co. v. Ost, 186 A. 579, 120 N.J.Eq. 475, quoting Corpus Juris, and supplementing 183 A. 830, 120 N.J.Eq. 43, affirmed 191 A. 746, 121 N.J.Eq. 608.
23 C.J. p 996 note 12 [b].

75. Iowa.—Brown v. Tank, 297 N.W. 801, 230 Iowa 370.

properly be made until due revocation of the former letters;⁷⁶ nor is an existing executor or administrator removed simply by the appointment of another person to his place in the same jurisdiction, but the office must have first been made vacant by an accepted resignation or a removal of the first appointee, or by the occurrence of such events as by law create a vacancy.⁷⁷ Where, however, the appointment of an administrator is void because of a lack of jurisdiction in the probate court of the county where it was granted, the court having jurisdiction may properly ignore such appointment and take any necessary steps for the settlement of the estate,⁷⁸ and if a sole administrator has become incapable as distinguished from incompetent, as where he becomes and is adjudged to be insane, the court may grant new letters without citing the incapable person.⁷⁹ It has been held also that, where administration has been granted to a stranger, and the sole distributee, who has not declined the appointment, appears and designates a suitable person for appointment, it is the duty of the court to appoint such person, and such appointment revokes the former appointment.⁸⁰ If the procedure is regular in the various steps, the probate court may at the same term appoint an administrator, remove him, and reappoint him, with or without an additional administrator, or appoint another in his place.⁸¹

Remedies in event of invalid second appointment.

The administrator first appointed may move to vacate a second appointment,⁸² may maintain an action in equity therefor,⁸³ or, in a proper case, may move to vacate a judgment in an action to quiet title against the administrator appointed by another court.⁸⁴

C. PROCEEDINGS FOR APPOINTMENT

§ 49. Necessity

An administration proceeding is necessary for the appointment of an administrator.

An administration proceeding has been said to be of necessity required for the appointment of a personal representative of a decedent;⁸⁵ but other authorities have held that the admission of a will to probate is in effect an appointment of the person designated therein as executor.⁸⁶

§ 50. Nature of Proceeding

Proceedings for the appointment of an administrator or for letters testamentary are special proceedings which are in rem or in the nature of proceedings in rem, although in certain respects they may assume the character of proceedings in personam. The granting of letters is a judicial act.

The proceedings for the appointment of an administrator are purely statutory, and must be conducted in conformity to the statute governing them.⁸⁷ Proceedings for letters testamentary are distinct from, and independent of, a proceeding to probate a will,⁸⁸ and an application for such letters should be a separate proceeding from an action to appoint a successor trustee under the will.⁸⁹

76. Ala.—Milbra v. Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co., 62 So. 176, 182 Ala. 622, 46 L.R.A., N.S., 274.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 7.

77. Cal.—Barboza v. Pacific Portland Cement Co., 120 P. 767, 162 Cal. 36 —Haynes v. Weeks, 20 Cal. 288.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 8.

78. Iowa.—In re Rowe, 161 N.W. 626, 179 Iowa 541—In re King, 75 N.W. 187, 105 Iowa 320.

Va.—Ex parte Barker, 2 Leigh 719, 29 Va. 719.

79. Cal.—In re Blinn, 33 P. 841, 99 Cal. 216.

80. W.Va.—Taylor v. Virginia-Pocahontas Coal Co., 88 S.E. 1070, 78 W.Va. 455.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 11.

81. U.S.—Goff v. Norfolk & W. R. Co., C.C.Va., 36 F. 299.

Tenn.—Harris v. Henderson, 7 Heisk. 315.

Va.—Lingle v. Cook, 32 Gratt. 262, 73 Va. 262.

82. Cal.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, 265 P. 295, 89 Cal.App. 469.

83. Cal.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, supra.

84. Cal.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, supra.

85. U.S.—In re Gorday Garment Co., D.C.Or., 2 F.Supp. 162, affirmed, C.C.A., Crocker v. Kay, 62 F.2d 391, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 506, 288 U. S. 615, 77 L.Ed. 988.

La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 14.

Proceedings for appointment of: Administrator de bonis non see infra § 1020.

Administrator with the will annexed see infra § 1032.

Public administrator, with respect to particular estate see infra § 1051.

Temporary or special administrator see infra § 1036.

86. Pa.—In re Miller's Estate, 65 A. 681, 216 Pa. 247—Miller v. Henderson, 61 A. 918, 212 Pa. 263.

87. La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 15.

Nature of administration proceedings generally see supra § 12.

Proceeding by tax commission for appointment of administrator to collect and pay inheritance tax on assets which had been held in joint tenancy with right of survivorship, invoked exercise of probate jurisdiction, which is limited, special and statutory, not plenary.—In re Swan's Estate, 79 P.2d 999, 95 Utah 408.

88. N.Y.—Matter of Mayer, 145 N. Y.S. 665, 84 Misc. 9.

23 C.J. p 1054 note 16.

A probate cannot be decreed in a proceeding for an administration.—In re Billet's Estate, 174 N.Y.S. 488, 106 Misc. 229, reversed on other grounds In re Billet, 175 N.Y.S. 482, 187 App.Div. 309.

89. N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

A proceeding for the appointment of an administrator has been considered a special proceeding, not governed by the rules applicable to civil actions generally;⁹⁰ but such a proceeding is an action within the meaning of a statute providing that there shall be but one form of civil action and that the word "action" shall include a special proceeding of a civil nature.⁹¹ It has been said that a proceeding for letters testamentary or for administration on the estate of a decedent is one in rem, or in the nature of a proceeding in rem,⁹² the res being the estate of the decedent, and the only identification of it being the name of the deceased as set forth in the petition;⁹³ but it has also been said that in certain respects such a proceeding may by the act of interested parties assume the character of a proceeding in personam,⁹⁴ and that such a proceeding is either in rem or in personam, being in personam so far as it determines the right to take letters, and in rem so far as it holds in abeyance the title to the personalty.⁹⁵

The granting of letters to personal representatives is a judicial act.⁹⁶

§ 51. Who May Apply for Administration

As a general rule, and unless otherwise provided by statute, only a person having an interest in an estate may apply for the administration thereof.

An application for the administration of an estate may be made by any person who is interested in the estate,⁹⁷ whether his interest is a beneficial one, as in the case of a distributee or legatee,⁹⁸ or exists by reason of his being a creditor of the estate;⁹⁹ but an assignee of a fund to which deceased was entitled is under no duty to procure an administrator's appointment as against another claimant to the fund.¹

Conversely, a person having no interest in the estate generally has no standing to apply for the administration thereof,² although a grant of administration made on the application of such a person

90. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

Dismissal of action

A petition for the appointment of an administrator is not an action within statute relative to the dismissal of actions by plaintiff.—In re Glover's Estate, 175 N.W. 1017, 104 Neb. 151.

91. Idaho.—Gwinn v. Melvin, 72 P. 961, 9 Idaho 202, 108 Am.S.R. 119, 2 Ann.Cas. 770.

92. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

Minn.—Samels v. Samels, 218 N.W. 546, 174 Minn. 133.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N.W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

N.J.—Charles Wiener & Sons v. Fischer, 179 A. 632, 118 N.J.Eq. 387.

Pa.—In re Garrett's Estate, 6 A.2d 858, 335 Pa. 287.

93. Mass.—Anderson v. Qualey, 103 N.E. 90, 216 Mass. 106.

Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

Nature of title

The proceeding is one in rem, notwithstanding title and possession of decedent's assets, if established, are fiduciary only, and not beneficial.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.

94. Ala.—Awbrey v. Estes, 112 So. 529, 216 Ala. 66.

95. Ala.—White v. Hill, 58 So. 444, 176 Ala. 480.

96. Pa.—In re Garrett's Estate, 6 A. 2d 858, 335 Pa. 287.—West v. Young, 2 A.2d 745, 332 Pa. 248.—In re Mc-

Nichol's Estate, 127 A. 461, 282 Pa. 187.—Snyder v. McGill, 108 A. 410, 265 Pa. 122.

S.C.—Mitchell v. Dreher, 147 S.E. 646, 150 S.C. 125.

Quasi-judicial capacity

Register of wills acts in quasi-judicial capacity in granting letters of administration.—In re Friese's Estate, 176 A. 225, 317 Pa. 86.—In re Phillip's Estate, 143 A. 9, 293 Pa. 351.

97. La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

23 C.J. p 1055 note 21.

Persons entitled to appointment as administrators see supra §§ 31-45.

Effect of specification in statute

A statute specifying the persons entitled to appointment does not limit the persons having the right to petition for administration, and any one sufficiently interested may so petition and thus give the court jurisdiction to act.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

98. La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

Va.—Cornwall v. Cornwall, 168 S.E. 439, 160 Va. 183, followed in Cornwall v. Cornwall, 168 S.E. 442, 160 Va. 193.

23 C.J. p 1055 note 22.

Distributee's assignee or creditor

(1) Distributee's assignee is "person interested" in estate and may petition for appointment of administrator.—In re Kassam's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 706, 141 Misc. 366, affirmed In re Kassam, 255 N.Y.S. 836, 235 App.Div. 609.

(2) However, mere creditor of heir theretofore assigning share of estate to another is without standing to petition for administration.—In re Leskela's Estate, 223 N.W. 133, 176 Minn. 223.

99. La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

Mass.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

23 C.J. p 1055 note 23.

Evicted grantee

In absence of administration on warrantor's estate, evicted grantee may have administrator appointed and present claim.—Harmon v. Nofire, 267 P. 650, 131 Okl. 1.

Pledges

Under particular statute, where no administration was granted within forty days after insured's death to persons given prior right, insurer, claiming share of policy as pledger, could procure administrator's appointment.—Missouri State Life Ins. Co. v. Robertson Banking Co., 134 So. 800, 223 Ala. 177.

1. Ala.—Missouri State Life Ins. Co. v. Robertson Banking Co., supra.

2. La.—Succession of Watkins, 101 So. 395, 156 La. 1000.

Mich.—Diem v. Drogmiller, 122 N. W. 637, 158 Mich. 380.

Minn.—In re Leskela's Estate, 223 N. W. 133, 176 Minn. 223.

Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

One owning land in common with estate cannot on that ground alone secure appointment of administrator is valid, where interested parties have consented thereto,³ or where it has not been reversed on appeal;⁴ but under some statutes a person petitioning for administration need have no beneficial interest in the estate,⁵ and it is within the discretionary power of the court to appoint an administrator regardless of who presents the petition and the facts.⁶

Foreign consul. Where decedent and his next of kin are aliens, the consul of the country of which decedent was a citizen or subject may apply for administration.⁷

§ 52. Time for Application

Application for administration must be made within the time limited by statute, or, in the absence of statute, within a reasonable time; but an application for letters testamentary should not be made until after the will has been admitted to probate.

Where express statutory provisions exist, the time within which original administration may or must be applied for is limited thereby;⁸ and it has been held that a proceeding for the appointment of an administrator is one for the protection of a private right, so that a general statute of limitations is applicable thereto.⁹ However, a grant of letters after the expiration of the statutory period is not beyond the jurisdiction of the court so as to subject its action to collateral attack.¹⁰

If, as may occur,¹¹ there is no express statutory provision limiting the time within which administration must be applied for, application may and should be made within a reasonable time.¹² Accordingly long acquiescence by persons sui juris in an informal distribution of an estate in which they are interested will debar them from seeking administration merely to disturb such settlement, there being no creditors interested.¹³ Likewise a creditor cannot secure administration after an unreasonable length of time,¹⁴ but an application for administration by a creditor a considerable number of years after the death of decedent has been held not too late.¹⁵ Under a statute providing that if a person named as executor fails to apply for letters testamentary within a specified time after probate of the will, and if any others named as executors apply for such letters, they must be issued to such persons, the court has no jurisdiction to grant letters to one who fails to apply therefor within the time limited.¹⁶

Premature grant. Compliance must be had with statutory provisions that administration shall not be granted until the expiration of a certain period after the decedent's death;¹⁷ but the appointment of an administrator after the lapse of the prescribed period is not invalidated by the mere fact that the application therefor was made before such time.¹⁸ In the absence of some such statute, letters granted merely to have his interest segregated.—Cyphers v. Birdwell, Tex.Civ. App., 32 S.W.2d 937, error refused.

3. Ga.—Hill v. Akins, 194 S.E. 893, 57 Ga.App. 198.

4. R.I.—Mowry v. Latham, 40 A. 236, 341, 20 R.I. 786.

5. Neb.—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.

6. Colo.—Rosenboom v. Cline, 6 P. 2d 453, 90 Colo. 1.

7. Mich.—Paperno v. Michigan R. Engineering Co., 168 N.W. 503, 202 Mich. 257.

8. Ky.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584—Equitable Trust Co. of Dover v. Bayes, 226 S.W. 390, 190 Ky. 91.

23 C.J. p 1055 note 27.

Lapse of time as affecting necessity and propriety of administration see supra § 7.

Necessity for timely action to entitle person to appointment see supra § 33.

Initiation of proceeding

A distributee is deemed to have applied for letters within meaning of statute if within limited period he has taken steps necessary to initiate a proceeding and if he prosecutes proceeding in due course.—In re

Braddell's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 1021, 164 Misc. 893.

9. Idaho.—Gwinn v. Melvin, 72 P. 961, 9 Idaho 202, 108 Am.S.R. 119, 2 Ann.Cas. 770.

10. Tex.—Nelson v. Bridge, 86 S. W. 7, 98 Tex. 523.

Grounds of collateral attack generally see infra § 76.

Attempted dismissal of petition

Where a creditor filed a petition within the time permitted by statute, the court acquired jurisdiction to appoint an administrator notwithstanding petitioner attempted to secure dismissal of petition after expiration of period of limitations and other parties failed to file petition until after such time.—In re Glover's Estate, 175 N.W. 1017, 104 Neb. 151.

11. Minn.—In re Daniel's Estate, 294 N.W. 465, 208 Minn. 420.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 30.

12. Ohio.—In re Patterson's Estate, 28 Ohio N.P., N.S., 580.

Delay not prejudicial

A delay of about four and one half years in applying for administration without resulting prejudice was no bar to the right to have an administrator appointed.—In re Daniel's Estate, 294 N.W. 465, 208 Minn. 420.

13. Mich.—Diem v. Drogmiller, 122 N.W. 637, 158 Mich. 380.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 31.

14. Ark.—Brewer v. Wilson, 46 S. W.2d 3, 185 Ark. 94.

Eighteen years

Ark.—Brewer v. Wilson, 46 S.W.2d 3, 185 Ark. 94.

15. Ga.—Gorham v. Montfort, 72 S. E. 893, 137 Ga. 134.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 32.

16. Ala.—Pruett v. Pruett, 32 So. 638, 131 Ala. 578.

Effect of failure to qualify or act see infra § 68.

17. Md.—Burgess v. Boswell, 116 A. 457, 139 Md. 669.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 34.

Notoriety of death and intestacy

Under some statutes administration may be granted forthwith if the fact that decedent died intestate is notorious, but otherwise a specified period must elapse before an application for administration can be made.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167—Burgess v. Boswell, 116 A. 457, 139 Md. 669—23 C. J. p 1056 note 34 [a].

18. R.I.—Mowry v. Latham, 40 A. 236, 341, 20 R.I. 786.

after the decedent's death, no matter how soon after, are valid;¹⁹ but a petition for administration may not be granted within a short time after decedent's death before reasonable time is afforded for a party having a prior right to administration to file petition therefor.²⁰ Even where a statute restricts premature application by one not entitled to preference, application by a person of such class before the termination of the prescribed period is not improper where there was no person eligible for preference.²¹

Where decedent left a will, an application for letters testamentary should not be made until after the will has been admitted to probate.²² Where litigation over the validity of a will has not yet terminated and the intestacy of decedent has not been finally determined, it is premature to apply for the appointment of a general administrator to supplant a special administrator theretofore appointed.²³

§ 53. Parties, and Citation or Notice

a. Parties

b. Citation or notice

a. Parties

All persons interested in an estate are proper parties to a proceeding for the administration thereof.

In a contest as to the right of administration, there are strictly no plaintiffs or defendants; all applicants are actors, and some may withdraw and others come in at any time during the progress of the cause, even after an appeal.²⁴ All persons who are interested in the estate are proper parties to the proceeding,²⁵ and a foreign consul, as such, has been held entitled to intervene in proceedings for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of a citizen or subject of his country.²⁶ Conversely, a person who is neither a creditor, a legatee, nor a distributee of the estate cannot make himself a party to the petition filed with the probate court for letters of administration,²⁷ and a person claiming the right to be heard in proceedings for the appointment of an administrator must show that he has an interest in the choice of an appointee.²⁸

Filing a caveat against an application does not amount to making one a party to such application in the full sense.²⁹

b. Citation or Notice

(1) Necessity

(2) Form and sufficiency; publication and record

(1) Necessity

As a general rule, notice of proceedings for letters of administration must be given to all persons who have a prior right to that of petitioner and who have not waived such notice, and to other persons specified by statute; citation of interested persons is likewise proper on a petition for letters testamentary.

The appointment of an executor or administrator may be made, under statute, on an ex parte application without previous notice.³⁰ As a general rule, however, before the granting of letters of administration, proceedings are required on the part of the petitioner tantamount to citing in or summoning those entitled to preference to appear and exercise their right if they so desire.³¹ To dispense 19. Pa.—Comfort's Estate, 12 Pa.Co. 571.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 36.

20. Ohio.—In re Patterson's Estate, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 580.

Or.—In re MacMullen's Estate, 243 P. 89, 117 Or. 505, rehearing denied 244 P. 664 (first case), 117 Or. 505.

21. Wash.—In re Utter's Estate, 191 P. 836, 112 Wash. 197.

22. N.Y.—In re Mayer, 144 N.Y.S. 438.

23. Iowa.—In re Whitehouse's Estate, 272 N.W. 110, 223 Iowa 91. Intestacy requisite to appointment of administrator see supra § 30.

24. N.C.—Atkins v. McCormick, 49 N.C. 274.

25. Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 40.

Particular persons held proper or necessary parties

(1) Public administrator.

Cal.—In re Graves, 96 P. 792, 8 Cal. App. 254.

Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

(2) Executor under will challenged by petitioner as invalid.—In re Garland's Estate, 294 N.Y.S. 538, 162 Misc. 42.

(3) Since property escheats in absence of surviving heirs, next of kin, or husband, and commonwealth have adversary interest.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

(4) Guardian or administrator of ward or estate having interest in decedent's estate may have duty of participating in proceedings.—In re Edwards' Estate, 289 N.W. 605, 234 Wis. 40.

Nonresidents

(1) In some jurisdictions a non-resident heir or distributee is entitled to be heard.

Cal.—In re Graves, 96 P. 792, 8 Cal. App. 254.

W.Va.—Butcher v. Kunst, 64 S.E. 967, 65 W.Va. 384.

(2) However, under statute a non-resident was held not a "necessary party" to proceeding for letters of administration on estate of her father, in absence of order by surrogate which directed citation of service upon her.—In re Mullens' Estate, 277 N.Y.S. 652, 243 App.Div. 779.

26. Minn.—Austro-Hungarian Consul v. Westphal, 139 N.W. 300, 120 Minn. 122.

27. N.Y.—In re Marshall's Estate, 262 N.Y.S. 528, 146 Misc. 601, affirmed 263 N.Y.S. 936, 239 App. Div. 768.

23 C.J. p 1056 note 42.

28. Ga.—Williams v. Williams, 39 S.E. 474, 113 Ga. 1006.

Mich.—Diem v. Drogmiller, 122 N.W. 637, 158 Mich. 380.

29. S.C.—Ex parte Crafts, 5 S.E. 718, 28 S.C. 281.

30. Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

31. D.C.—Morris v. Foster, 278 F. 321, 51 App.D.C. 238, certiorari denied 42 S.Ct. 586, 259 U.S. 582, 66 L.Ed. 1074.

with such citation, those of the class entitled to preference may and should renounce their claim or else signify their assent to the grant of the petitioner's request for appointment by indorsement of his petition or by other writing of record.³² Citation is usually required only where there are persons having a right prior to that of the person applying for letters of administration,³³ and formal citation may be dispensed with where several are equally entitled, among whom the court is free to select.³⁴

The grant of letters by the court should follow reasonably soon after such citation, as otherwise a new citation or notice may be requisite;³⁵ but on the hearing letters may be denied to the original applicant and granted to another person, and in such case no new citation is necessary with reference to those already cited.³⁶

On a petition for the probate of a will and letters testamentary to an executor, citation to the next of kin and others interested is likewise proper.³⁷

Foreign consul. It may be required by statute that notice be given to the consul of the country of which decedent was a citizen, or of which his heirs are citizens,³⁸ but only the foreign heirs can take advantage of a failure to give the required notice,³⁹ and they may waive such notice at any time before the estate is closed.⁴⁰ On the death of a naturalized citizen of this country, notice need not be given to the consul of the nation of his birth.⁴¹

Inheritance tax proceedings. A statute authorizing the court to appoint an administrator in inheritance tax proceedings without notice if no application for letters has been made within three months is not invalid because not requiring that notice be given, especially where property cannot be sold to satisfy the tax without notice.⁴²

(2) Form and Sufficiency; Publication and Record

The form and sufficiency of the required notice are determined by the provisions of the statute; but one having actual notice cannot ordinarily complain of the insufficiency of the notice. Requirements as to publication and recording must be observed.

The form and sufficiency of the requisite notice are ordinarily determined by the provisions of the statute.⁴³ Personal notice to parties interested in the estate has been held not required, it being suf-

Ga.—Callaway v. Arnold, 164 S.E. 773, 175 Ga. 55.

Md.—Hewitt v. Shipley, 181 A. 345, 169 Md. 221—Horton v. Horton, 145 A. 355, 157 Md. 127.

R.I.—Capwell v. Knight, 135 A. 699, 48 R.I. 81.

Utah.—In re Phillips' Estate, 44 P. 2d 699, 86 Utah 358, 23 C.J. p 1056 note 45.

Notice to heirs alone required.—Simpson v. Cornish, 218 N.W. 193, 196 Wis. 125.

Nonresidents

(1) It has been held that nonresidents need not be cited.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167—Chryssikos v. Demarco, 107 A. 358, 134 Md. 533.

(2) Under other authority, notice of application should be given to a nonresident relative having prior rights.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

(3) Provision that notice need not be given to a party "if he be out of the state" does not dispense with necessity of giving notice to party who makes intermittent trips out of state.—Silverwood v. Farnan, Md., 22 A.2d 444.

32. D.C.—Morris v. Foster, 278 F. 321, 51 App.D.C. 238, certiorari denied 42 S.Ct. 586, 259 U.S. 582, 66 L.Ed. 1074.

N.Y.—In re Rowe, 189 N.Y.S. 395, 197 App.Div. 449, affirming In re Rowe's Estate, 170 N.Y.S. 742, 103

Misc. 111, and affirmed 134 N.E. 569, 232 N.Y. 554.

Wis.—Simpson v. Cornish, 218 N.W. 193, 196 Wis. 125, 23 C.J. p 1057 note 46.

33. Md.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167.

N.J.—In re Stewart's Estate, 175 A. 360, 117 N.J.Eq. 256.

Okl.—Continental Oil Co. v. Helms, 105 P.2d 214, 187 Okl. 633—Appeal of Sim's Estate, 18 P.2d 1077, 162 Okl. 35, 23 C.J. p 1057 note 47.

Rule unaffected by time of application

Wash.—In re Brown's Estate, 16 P. 2d 823, 170 Wash. 450.

Requesting appointment of another Preferred party presenting petition need not give others notice even though such party asks for appointment of some one else as administrator.—Manning v. Alcott, 241 P. 287, 137 Wash. 13.

Females need not receive notice where the statute provides that males shall be preferred to females in equal degree or kin.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167.

Executor under worthless will is not entitled to notice.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46.

34. N.Y.—Peters v. Public Adm'r, 1 Bradf.Surr. 200.

23 C.J. p 1057 note 48.

35. Neb.—Elgutter v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 74 N.W. 255, 53 Neb. 748.

23 C.J. p 1057 note 49.

36. S.C.—Ex parte Small, 48 S.E. 40, 69 S.C. 43.

23 C.J. p 1057 note 50.

37. R.I.—Perry v. De Wolf, 2 R.I. 103.

23 C.J. p 1057 note 51.

38. Mich.—Rice v. Hosking, 63 N.W. 311, 105 Mich. 303, 55 Am.S.R. 448. Minn.—Austro-Hungarian Consul v. Westphal, 139 N.W. 300, 120 Minn. 122.

39. Mich.—Rice v. Hosking, 63 N.W. 311, 105 Mich. 303, 55 Am.S.R. 448.

40. Mich.—Rice v. Hosking, supra.

41. Minn.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N.W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

"Native of foreign country," within statute requiring notice to consul, means citizen of foreign country as distinguished from citizen of this country.—In re Eklund's Estate, supra.

42. Tex.—Dodge v. Youngblood, Civ. App., 202 S.W. 116.

43. Tex.—Williams v. White, Civ. App., 105 S.W.2d 1105.

Continued wrongful practice in the form of notice over a number of years does not make such practice right as against the requirements of the statute.—In re Phillips' Estate, 44 P.2d 699, 86 Utah 358.

Notice for probate as sufficient

A contestant of a will may, under ficient that a general notice is published as directed by the court;⁴⁴ nor need the citation state the name of any person as contemplated for appointment as administrator.⁴⁵

One who has actual notice and seasonably appears cannot complain that the citation was insufficient;⁴⁶ but actual notice of petitioner's intention to commence proceedings is insufficient to bind one who had a right to assume that his interests would not be affected until legal notice was given.⁴⁷

Publication or posting. It is usual to publish the citation in a newspaper, or post copies thereof in conspicuous places, or both, the manner of publication and the time at which it must be made or during which it must continue being regulated by statute or rule of court, or even by particular directions of the court in individual cases;⁴⁸ and failure to publish the notice as prescribed has been considered a jurisdictional defect,⁴⁹ even though it is shown that complaining creditors would not have received notice if it had been posted as prescribed, or that no claim could arise, or that creditors were guilty of conduct which would defeat their claim.⁵⁰ It will be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary that the required publication was made,⁵¹ and a statement or recital, in the order granting administration, that citation has been published as required by law is an adjudication that this has been done which cannot be inquired into in a collateral proceeding.⁵²

Record. Where the statute authorizes the filing of an affidavit of publication in cases in which notice of application for a judicial order is required to be published, a probate order appointing an administrator and based on such an affidavit is invalid where the affidavit did not conform to the statute.⁵³ An ex parte order for publication of an application for dative executorship is revocable by the court at any time without a hearing, if found to have been made improvidently.⁵⁴ Under a statute authorizing the clerk of the district court to exercise the powers and jurisdiction of the court in certain probate matters, and requiring administrators to publish such notice of their appointment as the court or clerk may direct, which direction shall be indorsed on the letters when issued, the clerk's direction to publish notice of the appointment of an administrator, whether made by him in his capacity as clerk, or while acting as the court, need only be indorsed on the letters and need not be entered on the records of the court.⁵⁵

§ 54. Joinder of Proceedings

One administrator cannot be appointed in a single proceeding for several persons' estates.

One administrator cannot be appointed in a single proceeding for the estates of several different persons.⁵⁶

§ 55. Petition or Bill

a. In general

b. Form, contents, and sufficiency statute, be appointed administrator without further notice than that given on original application for probate.—Williams v. White, Tex.Civ. App., 105 S.W.2d 1105.

Notice by legal process is not required by statute providing for "proper summons or notice."—Silverwood v. Farnan, Md., 22 A.2d 444.
Time of notice held sufficient
Mont.—In re Esterly's Estate, 34 P. 2d 539, 97 Mont. 206.

44. Mass.—McDonald v. O'Dea, 152 N.E. 341, 256 Mass. 177.

45. Fla.—Robinson v. Epping, 4 So. 812, 24 Fla. 237.

46. Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.

Md.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 187.
23 C.J. p 1057 note 57.

47. D.C.—Morris v. Foster, 278 F. 321, 51 App.D.C. 238, certiorari denied 42 S.Ct. 586, 259 U.S. 582, 66 L.Ed. 1074.

48. S.D.—Davey v. McShane, 197 N. W. 680, 47 S.D. 265.
23 C.J. p 1057 note 58.

Formal order for publication is unnecessary, where the statute does not require one, although the court has the right to make an order directing the method of publication, which order must be complied with.—Davey v. McShane, supra.

Place of posting

Where statute requires two notices to be posted in places in county, other than at courthouse, most likely to reach interested parties, notices should be so posted at conspicuously public points, and mere posting of all notices on-courthouse property is insufficient.—In re Phillips' Estate, 44 P.2d 699, 86 Utah 358.

49. S.C.—Hartley v. Glover, 33 S.E. 796, 56 S.C. 69.

50. Utah.—In re Phillips' Estate, 44 P.2d 699, 86 Utah 358.

51. S.C.—Hendrix v. Holden, 36 S. E. 1010, 58 S.C. 495.

52. Fla.—Robinson v. Epping, 4 So. 812, 24 Fla. 237.
23 C.J. p 1058 note 60.

53. Mich.—Gillett v. Needham, 37 Mich. 143.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 61.

Affidavit held sufficient

A statute providing that the affidavit of the printer of publication of notice of hearing for appointment of administrator "annexed to a printed copy of such notice taken from the paper in which it was published, and specifying the time when," etc., may be filed, etc., does not require that the notice shall be cut from the paper; and such an affidavit setting forth what appears to be a copy of the notice, attested as true, and stating that "the annexed notice has been duly published in said paper," etc., is sufficient.—Wilkinson v. Conaty, 32 N.W. 841, 65 Mich. 614.

54. La.—Downing's Succession, 47 So. 604, 122 La. 275.

55. Iowa.—Mosher v. Goodale, 106 N.W. 195, 129 Iowa 719.

56. Philippine.—Sy Hong Eng v. Sy Lioc Suy, 10 Philippine 209.

a. In General

A petition or bill is the usual and regular method of applying for administration.

The usual and regular method of applying for administration is by a petition or bill;⁵⁷ and it has been held that an administrator can be appointed only when a proper petition is filed for that purpose,⁵⁸ and not when the matter is raised by answer in another proceeding;⁵⁹ but there is also authority for the view that a petition is not jurisdictional.⁶⁰

Under some statutes the application for appointment need not be in writing;⁶¹ but it has been held, on the other hand, that a court acquires jurisdiction of an estate only by a written petition, and that an oral communication to the court prior to the filing of a petition is insufficient to entitle applicant to priority as against another petition first filed.⁶²

57. N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 110 Or. 147.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 66.

Petition asking for appointment of petitioner

N.Y.—Matter of Batchelor, 64 How. Pr. 350.

58. N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 68.

Petition by contestant

Petition supported by proof is essential where one contesting issuance of letters testamentary to another also seeks issuance of letters testamentary to himself.—In re Coolidge's Estate, 41 P.2d 503, 47 Wyo. 488.

59. N.Y.—In re Sabin, 191 N.Y.S. 766, 117 Misc. 656.

60. Fla.—Robinson v. Epping, 4 So. 812, 24 Fla. 237.

61. Md.—Baltimore Sav. Bank v. Weeks, 72 A. 475, 110 Md. 78, 22 L.R.A., N.S., 221.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 70.

62. Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 301, 110 Or. 147.

63. Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So.2d 4, 241 Ala. 626—Denson v. Crossley, 2 So.2d 916, 241 Ala. 445.

23 C.J. p 1058 notes 71, 72.

Petition held sufficient to confer jurisdiction.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199.

64. Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

N.Y.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N. Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

Tex.—Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Blankfield, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 956.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 73.

b. Form, Contents, and Sufficiency

(1) In general

(2) Signature, verification, and affidavit

(1) In General

A petition for administration should affirmatively show the existence of jurisdiction to make the appointment and should allege all the necessary facts; but a misnomer, inaccuracy, or omission in the petition is often indulgently treated, and an amendment may be permitted to remove an ambiguity.

A petition for the appointment of an administrator should affirmatively show the existence of jurisdiction to make the appointment sought,⁶³ and should allege all the necessary facts,⁶⁴ such as death,⁶⁵ the name⁶⁶ and last residence⁶⁷ of decedent, the existence, and situs if need be, of assets,⁶⁸ intestacy, where this is relied on,⁶⁹ and the right of the person who seeks administration, as

Identity of distributees

Under statute requiring enumeration of all persons concerning whom court is required to have information, petition must contain identified listing of all statutory distributees.—In re Anonymous, 300 N.Y.S. 292, 165 Misc. 62—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

In Nebraska the only averments essential to court's jurisdiction are that deceased died intestate and was at the time of his death a resident or inhabitant of the county where the petition was filed or, if a non-resident, that he left an estate in the county to be administered.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N.W. 529, 137 Neb. 374—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432—Larson v. Union Pac. R. Co., 97 N.W. 313, 70 Neb. 261.

Variance

Where petition for letters recited that petitioner was the public administrator of certain county, proof that petitioner was entitled to letters because of his nomination by decedent's brother did not constitute a "fatal variance."—In re Mapes' Estate, Mont., 118 P.2d 755.

65. Mont.—Williams v. Hefner, 297 P. 492, 89 Mont. 361.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 74.

Presumption of death from absence

(1) That it appeared allegation of death was based on presumption of death from seven years' absence did not affect sufficiency of petition.

Mont.—Williams v. Hefner, supra. Wash.—State v. Superior Court of State of Washington for Spokane County, 275 P. 694, 151 Wash. 289.

23 C.J. p 1058 note 74 [a].

(2) However, a petition which failed to conform to provisions of statute with respect to alleging that death was presumed from absence was insufficient.—Lee v. Allen, 59 A. 184, 100 Md. 7.

66. Ala.—Denson v. Crossley, 2 So. 2d 916, 241 Ala. 445.

23 C.J. p 1059 note 75.

Wrong name

A petition for administration of estate of named decedent was ineffective to invoke jurisdiction of court over decedent's estate where it was shown that decedent never adopted or used such name.—Denson v. Crossley, supra.

67. Fla.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.

23 C.J. p 1059 note 76.

Sufficient allegations

An allegation that decedent was "late of the county" is a sufficient allegation of residence.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, supra—23 C. J. p 1059 note 76 [a].

When jurisdiction is not founded on residence but on locality or assets, an allegation of residence is not necessary.—Rankin v. Anderson, 8 Baxt., Tenn., 240.

68. D.C.—In re Grinnage's Estate, 101 F.2d 695, 69 App.D.C. 370.

23 C.J. p 1059 note 77.

Petition held sufficient

A petition showing that District of Columbia resident died in Virginia and that his personality consisted of adjusted service bonds and treasury check averred that personality was in District of Columbia as required by statute.—In re Grinnage's Estate, supra.

69. Neb.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N.W. 529, 137 Neb. 374—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.

23 C.J. p 1059 note 78.

next of kin, creditor, or otherwise, to be appointed.⁷⁰

Details not necessary to jurisdiction, such as the exact value of the estate, need not be averred,⁷¹ and hence it is not necessary to aver that the petitioner is qualified for the office,⁷² to set out the amount or nature of the claim of one applying as creditor⁷³ or that he is a principal creditor,⁷⁴ or to deny the pendency of other applications.⁷⁵ It is not necessary that the petition should contain a description of either the real or the personal property belonging to the estate.⁷⁶

As jurisdictional facts and their correctness may be determined at the hearing, a misnomer or inaccuracy in the petition, or even the omission of essential allegations, is often indulgently treated;⁷⁷ and a fortiori a clerical error in the petition will not invalidate the grant of administration.⁷⁸ So, also, where limited letters of administration have been granted authorizing the administrator to maintain an action against the party or parties who wrongfully caused the death of decedent, it is immaterial that the petition for such appointment undertook to specify the person through whose negligence the death occurred, and that thereafter it appeared that the death was caused by the negligence of another person.⁷⁹

A creditor petitioning for appointment as administrator of the estate of a nonresident testator is not required to present a copy of the will.⁸⁰

Amendment. An amendment of the petition to remove an ambiguity therein may be permitted.⁸¹ However, a petition asking for the judicial administration of the affairs of a certain deceased person cannot be so amended as to include a request for the judicial administration of the estate of another deceased person.⁸² The filing of another petition referred to as an amended petition, without obtaining an order permitting the amendment, and without citation issued on such amended petition, should be disregarded.⁸³

(2) Signature, Verification, and Affidavit

Proper signature and verification of the petition may be required, but an impropriety in this respect or in respect of an accompanying affidavit has been held not a fatal defect.

While compliance must ordinarily be had with a statute requiring a petitioner to sign his petition for letters of administration,⁸⁴ the failure of a pe-

70. Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.
N.Y.—In re Murphy's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 446, 141 Misc. 272.
23 C.J. p 1059 note 79.

Failure of heirs to act

It is necessary for a creditor seeking letters of administration to plead and to prove that none of the heirs is willing to act and that none has filed a written designation of nominee in the court.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P.2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

Petition held sufficient

(1) A petition for administration is sufficient which alleges the invalidity of purported will and annexes copy thereof to petition.—In re Garland's Estate, 294 N.Y.S. 538, 162 Misc. 42.

(2) Petition by county administrator was not void on its face for failure to contain allegations showing that applicant was entitled to administration, where petition did not seek to have applicant appointed as administrator, but merely alleged the propriety and necessity of administration.—Walker v. Hall, 166 S.E. 757, 176 Ga. 12.

Petition held insufficient

(1) An application for letters of administration, failing to allege that applicant is an heir or creditor, or otherwise entitled to administration, will be dismissed on motion of the heirs appearing as caveators.—Towner v. Griffin, 42 S.E. 262, 115 Ga. 965.—Burkhalter v. Waters, 111 S.E. 73, 28 Ga.App. 296.

(2) Petition by stepchild, merely stating names of alleged next of kin, was held insufficient showing of effort to ascertain existence and identity of blood relatives entitled to preference.—In re Murphy's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 446, 141 Misc. 272.

Effect of proof

(1) Where application is defective for failure to show right of applicant to secure administration, the appointment of an administrator is not justified by proof of facts showing such right.—Galveston, H. & S. A. Ry. Co. v. Blankfield, Tex.Civ. App., 253 S.W. 956.

(2) On the other hand, a petition for administration which is valid on its face with respect to allegation of interest confers full jurisdiction to hear and dispose of the petition, although such allegation is ultimately not sustained.

Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.
Minn.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N.W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

71. N.Y.—In re Quinlan, 158 N.Y.S. 319.
23 C.J. p 1059 note 80.

Scandalous allegations

Court will not tolerate inclusion of unnecessary and scandalous allegations, reflecting on legitimacy or paternity of child, and will order filing of amended petition omitting such allegations.—In re Anonymous, 300 N.Y.S. 292, 165 Misc. 62.

72. Neb.—In re Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.
23 C.J. p 1059 note 81.

73. Mich.—Johnson v. Johnson, 33 N.W. 413, 66 Mich. 525.

74. Mich.—Johnson v. Johnson, supra—Wilkinson v. Conaty, 32 N.W. 841, 65 Mich. 614.

75. Mich.—Wilkinson v. Conaty, supra.
Wash.—Stern v. Sill, 81 P. 1007, 39 Wash. 557.

76. Neb.—In re Miller, 49 N.W. 427, 32 Neb. 480.

77. Fla.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.
23 C.J. p 1060 note 86.

78. Tex.—Steele's Unknown Heirs v. Belding, Civ.App., 148 S.W. 592.

79. N.Y.—Matter of Halligan, 100 N.Y.S. 622, 50 Misc. 481.

80. Mass.—Bianco v. Piscopo, 161 N.E. 605, 263 Mass. 549.

81. Mont.—In re Myer's Estate, 15 P.2d 846, 92 Mont. 474.

82. Philippine.—Sy Hong Eng v. Sy Lioc Suy, 10 Philippine 209.

83. N.Y.—Matter of Sheldon, 103 N.Y.S. 518, 118 App.Div. 488.

84. Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.

Where petitioner is nominated as administrator, petition is properly tioner to sign has been deemed not to prevent the court from acquiring jurisdiction to make an appointment.⁸⁵

Verification of the petition has been held not necessary,⁸⁶ and it has also been held that a defective verification is not necessarily fatal;⁸⁷ but there is also authority for the view that an unverified petition cannot be considered.⁸⁸ Under a statute requiring an oath as to the value of the property, in the administration of small estates, in the statement accompanying the petition, an oath to the best of the knowledge and belief of affiant is sufficient.⁸⁹

Accompanying affidavit. Where the statute requires that application for letters of administration shall be made by proper petition in writing, setting forth the facts essential to give the court jurisdiction of the case, and that such applicant at the same time shall make an affidavit stating to the best of his knowledge and belief the names and places of residence of the heirs of deceased, and that deceased died without a will, the jurisdiction of the court is based on the petition required by such statute, and is not dependent on the affidavit specified, and hence, where a petition for letters sets out all the facts required, the court is not deprived of jurisdiction by reason of the petitioner's failure to make the affidavit at the time of filing the petition.⁹⁰

§ 56. Answer, Traverse, or Caveat

Depending on the local practice, opposition to the petition may be raised by an answer, traverse, demurrer, or caveat; but petitioner need not answer objections to the petition.

An answer or traverse to the petition, or a demurrer, is found in the practice of some states,⁹¹ but opposition in the form of caveat is also recognized.⁹² The allegations of the caveat or answer must be sufficient in form and subject matter to withstand demurrer.⁹³

Affidavits in opposition to the appointment of the person applying for administration, claiming that such appointment would be improper because of litigation which might arise in which the interest of applicant would probably compel him to oppose the interests of the person objecting, are insufficient to preclude the appointment of applicant.⁹⁴

Under the practice of at least one state, no answer is necessary to objections to the petition.⁹⁵

§ 57. Objections to Appointment

- a. In general
- b. Who may object

a. In General

While a petition may be dismissed even in the absence of objection, an opposition to the petition made in proper time and on a proper ground, such as noncompliance with statutory requirements, or absence of necessity of administration, stands as an answer, and suspends the issuance of letters until its determination. The overruling of a demurrer to objections is an adjudication of the existence of facts warranting a refusal of letters.

An application for administration is not necessarily granted in the absence of objections, but the court may dismiss the petition on its own motion where the facts stated are insufficient to authorize the appointment of an administrator.⁹⁶

Time for objection. A limitation of time within which opposition to the appointment of a curator must be made has been held to apply only to cases where due and regular notice has been given of the application to be appointed.⁹⁷ Opposition to the appointment, made after the sale of property by the signed by him or his counsel, while, if he nominates another as administrator, it is sufficient if petitioner or counsel signs and that the nominee consents to act without signing petition.—In re Johnson's Estate, supra—Jerauld v. Chambers, 187 P. 33, 44 Cal.App. 771.

85. Neb.—In re Gaff, 125 N.W. 1091, 86 Neb. 535.
23 C.J. p 1060 note 89.

86. Ala.—Davis v. Miller, 17 So. 323, 106 Ala. 154.
Neb.—In re Miller, 49 N.W. 427, 32 Neb. 480.

87. N.Y.—Matter of Ireland, 95 N.Y. S. 1079, 47 Misc. 545.

88. Cal.—In re Pina, 71 P. 171, 138 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 101.
23 C.J. p 1060 note 92.

89. La.—Zuffe's Succession, 6 La.A., Orleans, 257.

90. Wash.—McLean v. Roller, 73 P. 1123, 33 Wash. 166.

91. Cal.—In re Wooten, 56 Cal. 322.
Mich.—In re Brooks, 67 N.W. 975, 110 Mich. 8.

92. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

11 C.J. p 43 note 95—23 C.J. p 1061 note 98.

"The office of a caveat in an estate is to arrest the proceedings, and it inures to the benefit of all parties interested in the subject."—In re Phillips' Estate, 143 A. 9, 293 Pa. 351.

Proof of probate of alleged will required

Allegation in caveat that alleged intestate had left valid will, and had not died intestate, and that, therefore, no administrator could be appointed, was not sustained without proof of probate of alleged will.—

Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga. App. 728.

93. Ga.—Sampson v. Sampson, 163 S.E. 326, 44 Ga.App. 803.

94. Ky.—Watkins v. Watkins' Adm'r., 124 S.W. 301, 136 Ky. 266.
23 C.J. p 1061 note 99.

95. Mont.—In re Mapes' Estate, 118 P.2d 755.

96. Ariz.—In re Wilson, 168 P. 502, 19 Ariz. 205.

Where court learned of existence of will in proceeding for appointment of administrator, will should have been ordered brought into court and general administrator should not have been appointed until validity of will was established in proper probate proceedings.—In re Larson's Estate, 49 P.2d 919, 184 Wash. 75.

97. La.—Yilden v. Kendrick, 3 La. 471.

administrator, is within the proper time where it did not appear until after the sale that the objector would have an interest in the estate.⁹⁸ An objection that a relative of deceased is a nonresident alien has been required to be urged against him if and when he applies for letters.⁹⁹

Grounds of objection. Objection to the petition may be made on the ground that the express requirements of the statute have not been complied with,¹ such as those with respect to the proper county in which to administer the estate;² and it is always proper to question the court's jurisdiction.³ So also an interested party may oppose the application of another for administration by raising the issue of the right of the applicant to secure administration,⁴ or by raising the issue of the existence of an estate to administer, or that of necessity vel non of administration;⁵ but the objection must show that the applicant for letters is incompetent on some ground specified by statute or is not entitled to the appointment.⁶ Allegations of fraud cannot be noticed in an opposition to an application for administration, as they form the subject of an independent litigation and should not be tried collaterally.⁷ An objection that executors seeking to qualify have interests adverse to that of the estate is not subject to general demurrer.⁸

Effect of objection. Objections stand as an answer to the petition for appointment,⁹ and, where objection has been duly made by a party in interest, the issuance of letters should be suspended until the determination of the objection or its withdrawal.¹⁰ An objection raised by one party inures to the benefits of all parties interested in the subject, and it is unnecessary that each separately file the same objection.¹¹

Demurrer to objections. A demurrer to objections to a petition to appointment as executor admits the truth of the allegations,¹² and, where such a demurrer is overruled, the effect is an adjudication that the facts alleged in the objections are sufficient to warrant a refusal to issue letters to the applicant.¹³ Where the objecting party has acquiesced to the ruling of the court in effect sustaining a demurrer to his objections and striking certain allegations therefrom, such allegations must be considered abandoned.¹⁴

b. Who May Object

Generally, objections to the petition may be made by a person having an interest in the estate, even though such person is not himself eligible for appointment; a creditor of the estate is generally a proper party to object, but a debtor is not. The sufficiency of the objector's interest may be disputed or its insufficiency waived.

98. La.—Succession of Reed, App., 157 So. 765.

99. N.Y.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

1. Md.—Pattison v. Firor, 126 A. 109, 146 Md. 243.

2. Md.—Pattison v. Firor, supra.

Sequence of objections

A party who claims the jurisdiction to be in a county other than that in which the petition for letters of administration has been filed, and who has a will in his possession, may resist the granting of letters for want of jurisdiction, without asking probate of the will, and, on failure to show want of jurisdiction, may then present his petition to the court to have the will probated in such county.—Hill v. Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County, 205 P. 430, 188 Cal. 352.

3. La.—Succession of Bibbins, App., 152 So. 592.

4. La.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036.

Question of validity of marriage may be raised to determine whether applicant is entitled to administration as surviving widow.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036.—Succession of Kalish, La.App., 143 So. 524.

Set-off against claim

However, where creditor sues for appointment of administrator, heirs may not object thereto on ground that set-off exceeds amount of petitioner's claim on note against estate, since such issue could be raised only in course of administration or in suit on note against administrator.—Thompson v. Carter's Estate, 177 So 356, 180 Miss. 104.

5. Ga.—Bearden v. Baldwin, 162 S.E. 802, 174 Ga. 191.

La.—Aronstein's Succession, 25 So. 932, 51 La. Ann. 1052.

When objection proper

(1) Ordinarily heirs may object to petition in order to prevent waste by unnecessary administration.—Bearden v. Baldwin, 162 S.E. 802, 174 Ga. 191.

(2) In so objecting, however, the heirs have no right to litigate the situation with one who asserts that he is a creditor.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

6. Ga.—Sampson v. Sampson, 163 S. E. 326, 44 Ga. App. 803, 23 C.J. p 1062 note 18.

Unsoundness of mind

Allegations of caveat that applicant was not mentally or temperamentally able to perform administrative duties, or to perform them fairly, was insufficient to show unsoundness of mind making applicant ineligible under terms of statute.—Sampson v. Sampson, supra.

Estoppel

Fact that heir joined in suit to cancel trust instrument executed by decedent on ground that decedent was of unsound mind at time of execution of the instrument did not estop the heir from seeking appointment as administrator where the petition in the former suit did not allege that there was no necessity for administration.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Tex. Civ. App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

7. La.—Martin's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 557.

8. Ga.—Thomasson v. Barber, 3 S. E.2d 858, 60 Ga. App. 327.

9. Ind.—Studabaker v. Faylor, 114 N.E. 772, 66 Ind. App. 175.

10. Pa.—In re Phillips' Estate, 143 A. 9, 293 Pa. 351, 23 C.J. p 1062 note 21.

11. Pa.—In re Phillips' Estate, supra.

12. Ind.—Studabaker v. Faylor, 114 N.E. 772, 66 Ind. App. 175.

13. Ind.—Studabaker v. Faylor, supra.

14. Mont.—State v. District Court of Second Judicial Dist. in and for Silver Bow County, 188 P. 137, 57 Mont. 315.

Except where otherwise provided by statute,¹⁵ objections to the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration can be made only by persons having an interest in the estate,¹⁶ but, where one has such interest, the fact that he himself is not eligible to appointment does not deprive him of the right to object to the appointment of another.¹⁷ The objector's right to appear may be disputed notwithstanding his affidavit,¹⁸ and, on the other hand, the incompetency of a caveator to make the objection may be waived.¹⁹

The public administrator has been held to be a person "interested" who may contest a petition for administration.²⁰

The state has a right to be heard, as an interested party, where the estate is subject to an inheritance tax;²¹ but the state's right of escheat is not such an interest as entitles it to intervene in administration proceedings,²² although there is authority apparently to the contrary.²³

Claimant of property. A mere claim to ownership of the property named in the petition for administration has been held not sufficient,²⁴ but, on the other hand, a person in possession of certain of the property under circumstances indicating a claim of right has been held to have such an interest in the matter as entitles him to appear and oppose the application.²⁵

Creditors and debtors. As a general rule, a creditor of the estate is a proper party to raise an objection in the proceedings for administration.²⁶ A person claiming under oath to be a creditor may raise an objection, although the person named as executor in the will alleges the objector to be a debtor instead of a creditor;²⁷ but ordinarily no right to raise an objection can be claimed by an alleged creditor who does not establish his status as such.²⁸

A debtor to the estate, or one against whom the administrator may assert a right of action, is not a party in interest in such sense as to be entitled to oppose the petition,²⁹ except on the ground that the appointment of the administrator is void on the face of the record;³⁰ nor is the garnishee of a debtor entitled to raise objection.³¹

Imputation of consent to appointment. Consent of a party to appointment of another as administrator will not ordinarily be imputed from acts done under a misapprehension.³²

§ 58. Abandonment of Application

An application for administration may be regarded as abandoned on the court's failure to take action or the withdrawal of an application for letters and the substitution of a nomination of another as administrator.

An application for administration must be regarded as abandoned where no action or steps whatever

15. Tex.—Balfour v. Collins, 25 S. W.2d 804, 119 Tex. 122, answer to certified question conformed to, Civ. App., 27 S.W.2d 185.

16. Ariz.—In re Miller's Estate, 92 P.2d 335, 54 Ariz. 58.

Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

Iowa.—Finnerty v. Shade, 228 N.W. 886, 210 Iowa 1338.

N.Y.—In re Barmeier's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 318, 248 App.Div. 636, modifying 282 N.Y.S. 695, 156 Misc. 657, affirmed 5 N.E.2d 351, 272 N.Y. 601—In re Crook's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 373, 140 Misc. 721.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 3.

"While ordinarily one to be qualified to caveat an application . . . must be either an heir at law or a creditor of the decedent, still the law includes any other person who has a real interest in the estate or an interest of his own to protect, by which he can prevent useless waste, annoyance, and injury to himself."—Beaden v. Baldwin, 162 S.E. 802, 807, 174 Ga. 191.

Extent of interest

Interested person, in order to move to set aside appointment of administrator, must have such interest that, on court's failure to act, he is entitled to statutory appeal.—In re Bacher's Estate, 261 Ill.App. 547.

Son omitted from will

Son of testatrix, omitted from will, could oppose appointment of executor without first reducing legacies to disposable portion of estate.—Succession of Kneipp, 134 So. 376, 172 La. 411.

Natural father of adopted child

Where adopted child is beneficiary under adopting parent's will, its natural father is a stranger to proceeding to appoint administrators.—Sutherland v. Barker, 132 S.E. 119, 35 Ga.App. 42.

17. W.Va.—Butcher v. Kunst, 64 S. E. 967, 65 W.Va. 384.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 4.

18. N.Y.—Burwell v. Shaw, 2 Bradf. Surr. 322.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 5.

19. Ga.—Berry v. Van Hise, 68 S.E. 423, 134 Ga. 615.

20. Cal.—In re Healy, 54 P. 736, 122 Cal. 162.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 7.

21. Pa.—Robertson's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 317.

22. S.D.—In re McClellan, 139 N.W. 1037, 27 S.D. 109, Ann.Cas.1913C 1029.

23. Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N. E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

24. Ga.—Williams v. Williams, 39 S. E. 474, 113 Ga. 1006.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 10.

25. Wis.—Wiesmann v. Daniels, 90 N.W. 162, 114 Wis. 240.

26. La.—Succession of Bibbins, App., 152 So. 592.

No estoppel by filing claim

Creditor by filing claim is not estopped to question improper appointment of administrator.—In re Bacher's Estate, 261 Ill.App. 547.

27. N.Y.—Ferris' Will, Tuck.Surr. 15.

28. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

29. Iowa.—Finnerty v. Shade, 228 N. W. 886, 210 Iowa 1338.

Minn.—State v. Probate Court in and for Hennepin County, 184 N.W. 43, 149 Minn. 464.

23 C.J. p 1061 note 13.

30. Minn.—State v. Probate Court in and for Hennepin County, supra.

31. Me.—Veazie Bank v. Young, 53 Me. 555.

32. N.J.—In re Hill, 37 A. 952, 55 N. J.Eq. 764.

23 C.J. p 1062 note 15.

are taken by the court in the proceeding for a substantial period after the date fixed in the notice to the next of kin of the time and place of the hearing.³³ A præcipe withdrawing an application for letters of administration and substituting therefor a nomination of another as administrator ipso facto works an abandonment of the petition, without formal order of the court.³⁴

§ 59. Issues

Generally it is not within the court's province to pass on matters not directly involved in the application before it for letters of administration, but it has been held that incidental matters may be adjudicated.

As a general rule, it is not within the province of the court, on an application for letters of administration, to determine questions of title or property rights³⁵ or other matters not directly involved in the application before it.³⁶ Accordingly, in a suit by a creditor for appointment of an administrator, the court is concerned only with the creditor's prima facie right to secure administration, and may not consider issues with respect to the validity or amount of the alleged indebtedness.³⁷ It has been held, however, that in determining the right to administration the court may adjudicate incidental matters arising from the principal question for determination,³⁸ such as the validity of applicant's marriage to deceased.³⁹

§ 60. Evidence

- a. Burden of proof and presumptions
- b. Admissibility
- c. Weight and sufficiency

a. Burden of Proof and Presumptions

A person seeking administration has the burden of showing that administration is necessary and proper and that he has a right to seek it; and one urging the disqualification of a person entitled to preference has the burden of showing the disqualification. Effect will be given to proper presumptions, such as the presumption of competency in favor of a petitioner for administration.

It is incumbent on the person seeking administration to establish the facts showing administration to be necessary or proper,⁴⁰ such as the death of the alleged decedent,⁴¹ the existence and locality of assets,⁴² and his right to seek administration.⁴³ Even where an application is wholly ex parte and unopposed, the court may require proof of essential facts, if it has any reason to doubt the validity of the asserted basis of the application.⁴⁴ A person urging the disqualification of one preferentially entitled to appointment as administrator has the burden of showing the basis of the disqualification.⁴⁵

33. Neb.—Elgutter v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 74 N.W. 255, 53 Neb. 748.

Nearly two years

Neb.—Elgutter v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., supra.

34. Mont.—State v. District Court of Fifth Judicial Dist. in and for Madison County, 197 P. 741, 59 Mont. 505.

35. N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

Tex.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ.App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 25.

36. Md.—Mobley v. Mobley, 131 A. 770, 149 Md. 401.

Mental capacity

Court has no power to try the question of the alleged unsoundness of mind of a person entitled to administration, but this question must be decided by a writ de lunatico inquirendo.—Mobley v. Mobley, supra—Kearney v. Turner, 28 Md. 108.

Validity of alleged will

In proceeding for appointment of administrator, court has not jurisdiction to determine validity of alleged will, probate of which had been revoked in previous proceeding.—Fletcher v. Superior Court of Sacramento County, 250 P. 195, 79 Cal. App. 468.

37. Miss.—Hancock's Estate v. Pyle, 193 So. 812, 187 Miss. 801.

Claim against creditor

In such a suit the heirs may not file a claim for judgment against the creditor for amounts due the decedent in excess of the creditor's claim.—Thompson v. Carter's Estate, 177 So. 356, 180 Miss. 104.

38. S.C.—Ex parte Blizzard, 193 S. E. 633, 185 S.C. 131.

39. S.C.—Ex parte Blizzard, supra.

40. Ind.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

N.Y.—In re Breeding's Estate, 291 N. Y.S. 750, 161 Misc. 322, affirmed 297 N.Y.S. 681, 251 App.Div. 737. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 27.

41. Iowa.—In re Barrett, 149 N.W. 247, 167 Iowa 218. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 28.

42. Md.—Grimes v. Talbert, 14 Md. 169.

Nev.—Wright v. Smith, 7 P. 365, 19 Nev. 143.

43. N.Y.—In re Wagner, 20 N.Y.S.2d 470, 174 Misc. 203—In re McCoy's Estate, 26 N.Y.S.2d 401.

Tex.—Brown v. Brown, Civ.App., 115 S.W.2d 786. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 30.

Fitness to discharge trust

It is incumbent on one applying to be appointed administrator to produce satisfactory testimony as to his fitness to discharge the trust.—In re

Pollard's Estate, 181 N.W. 133, 105 Neb. 432.

Status as creditor

(1) An alleged creditor, to be entitled to be appointed or to have someone appointed on his application, must establish the fact that he is a creditor.—Harris v. O'Quinn, Ga.App., 17 S.E.2d 758.

(2) It has been held, on the other hand, that a petitioning creditor need not prove his claim to be valid before the petition is granted.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

44. N.Y.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.

Judicial notice

Letters of administration must be denied where facts of which court may or should take judicial notice affirmatively demonstrate that grounds on which assertion of right to letters are predicated are untrue.—In re Reilly's Estate, supra.

45. Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

Colo.—In re Webb's Estate, 10 P.2d 947, 90 Colo. 470.

Mich.—In re Berner, 187 N.W. 377, 217 Mich. 612—In re Morgan, 176 N. W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

N.Y.—In re Stege's Estate, 299 N.Y. S. 115, 164 Misc. 95.

Effect will be given to proper presumptions.⁴⁶ There is a strong presumption of competency operating in favor of petitioner for administration; and the burden of disproof rests on a party claiming otherwise.⁴⁷

Intestacy. It has been held that where administration as of an intestate estate is sought, it is incumbent on the applicant to prove intestacy,⁴⁸ unless such fact is notorious;⁴⁹ but there is also authority for the view that intestacy will be presumed until proof of a will is made,⁵⁰ and the burden of proving a will is on the person denying intestacy.⁵¹

b. Admissibility

In a proceeding for administration, only relevant and material evidence is admissible.

Preponderance of evidence

Such proof must be by fair preponderance of evidence.—In re Stege's Estate, supra.

Mental incapacity

Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 189 P. 280, 182 Cal. 642.

Abandonment

Burden of establishing abandonment of wife by husband so as to entitle another to letters of administration on wife's death, in preference to husband, is on person asserting abandonment.—In re Rechtschaffen's Estate, 16 N.E.2d 357, 278 N.Y. 336, reversing 300 N.Y.S. 1005, 252 App. Div. 853, affirming 294 N.Y.S. 604, 162 Misc. 374, motion denied 1 N.Y.S.2d 652, 253 App.Div. 718.

Citizenship

Petitioner having offered proof in support of his citizenship, burden of proving change thereof was on party alleging it.—In re Ray's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 333, 150 Misc. 728.

Marriage

(1) Burden of proving that decedent's widow was not entitled to letters of administration, because she was never married to decedent, was on persons asserting it.—In re Brugnoli's Estate, 127 A. 165, 97 N.J.Eq. 349, 2 N.J.Misc. 422.

(2) So, where decedent's first wife, although present at the proceeding for granting letters of administration, offered no evidence to show that the marriage was still in effect when decedent contracted a second marriage, the second marriage must be held valid, and second wife entitled to letters of administration.—In re Hafner's Estate, 202 N.Y.S. 638, 122 Misc. 277.

46. Cal.—In re Rollins' Estate, 208 P. 280, 189 Cal. 392.

Particular presumptions

(1) It will be presumed that testator intended European and American executors to handle affairs in country in which each respectively resided.—In re Kelly's Will, 235 N.Y. S. 683, 134 Misc. 399.

(2) It will not be presumed that one having preferential right to appointment will not carry out duties of administrator faithfully and efficiently.—Succession of Strange, 177 So. 579, 188 La. 478.

47. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.—In re Rollins' Estate, 208 P. 280, 189 Cal. 392. Mich.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

48. Md.—Grimes v. Talbert, 14 Md. 169. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 31.

49. U.S.—Eslin v. D. C., 22 Ct.Cl. 160. Md.—Stouffer v. Stouffer, 72 A. 843, 110 Md. 368.

50. Ga.—Atkinson v. Hardaway, 73 S.E. 556, 10 Ga.App. 389. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 33.

51. N.Y.—In re Chapin's Will, 3 N.Y.S.2d 932, 367 Misc. 388. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 34.

52. Ariz.—In re Lawrence's Estate, 85 P.2d 45, 53 Ariz. 1. 23 C.J. p 1062 note 35.

Evidence held admissible

(1) Record of conviction of husband of decedent for disorderly conduct is admissible as evidence of abandonment forfeiting husband's right to appointment.—In re Rechtschaffen's Estate, 16 N.E.2d 357, 278 N.Y. 336, reversing 300 N.Y.S. 1005, 252 App.Div. 853, affirming 294 N.Y.S. 604, 162 Misc. 374, motion denied 1 N.Y.S.2d 652, 253 App.Div. 718.

(2) On an application for letters of administration by the public administrator, where there is no contest, sworn declarations taken before a notary in a foreign state are admissible to prove death and intestacy, although no commission to take depositions issued from the court, and no notice was given nor interrogatories prepared, as required by the statute.—In re Liter, 48 P. 753, 19 Mont. 474.

(3) Instrument executed and telegrams sent by interested party nominating administrator were admissible without affidavit of identity of person signing instrument, where instrument was acknowledged and there was oral testimony tending to identify signer.—In re Mapes' Estate, Mont., 118 P.2d 755.

On the other hand, evidence which is not relevant or material to the issues should be excluded.⁵⁷ Affidavits have been refused admission in administration proceedings.⁵⁸

53. La.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036.—Rust v. Randolph, 4 Mart. 370.

Assertion of doubtful claims
Where two children of decedent separately petitioned for appointment to administer the estate, evidence that one of them asserted doubtful claims to decedent's property was competent to aid the court in its discretionary choice.—In re Rollins' Estate, 208 P. 280, 189 Cal. 392.

54. La.—Pratt's Succession, 11 La. Ann. 201. 23 C.J. p 1063 note 37.

55. La.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036. 23 C.J. p 1063 note 38.

56. Mont.—In re Mapes' Estate, 118 P.2d 755.

57. La.—Succession of Patterson, 177 So. 692, 188 La. 635. 23 C.J. p 1063 note 40.

Destruction of will
That deceased had made a will and had been intimidated into destroying it is not relevant, on an application for administration on his estate, to negative the fact of intestacy.—Pate v. Pate, 113 S.E. 50, 28 Ga.App. 798.

58. Cal.—In re Paulsen, 170 P. 855, 35 Cal.App. 654.

c. Weight and Sufficiency

General rules as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence have been applied in proceedings for the appointment of executors and administrators, with respect to various matters pertinent to such application, such as decedent's domicile, testacy or intestacy, relation of the applicant to decedent, and qualification of the person seeking to act as executor or administrator.

General rules as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence have been applied in proceedings for the appointment of executors and administrators, with respect to such matters as decedent's domicile,⁵⁹ testacy or intestacy,⁶⁰ applicant's right to secure administration,⁶¹ relationship of applicant to decedent,⁶² qualification of the person seeking to act as executor or administrator,⁶³ legitimacy,⁶⁴ and presumption of marital relations.⁶⁵

One who claims administration as a creditor is not bound to make full proof of his claim as such, but a prima facie case is sufficient.⁶⁶ Much weaker proof is sufficient to raise the presumption of the death of an intestate on an application for the appointment of a temporary administrator to collect, than of a permanent administrator.⁶⁷ A statutory requirement that the death of a deceased be proved by the testimony of applicant or others is complied with where two separate applications are made and filed for the appointment of two different persons as administrator, and both petitions allege the death of the testator and the evidence supports the allegations.⁶⁸

Where it is sought to deny appointment to a preferred applicant by reason of a statutory disqualification, such disqualification must be clearly made to appear by competent and substantial proof.⁶⁹ Likewise, in order that one named as executor or administrator may be excluded from acting as such by reason of his character or habits, the proof of the disqualifying characteristic should be clear and convincing,⁷⁰ and should establish that the disqualification exists at the time when the nominee seeks 59. Tex.—Halverson v. Livengood, 4 S.W.2d 588, Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 588.

60. N.Y.—In re Friedman's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 103, 164 Misc. 440, 23 C.J. p 1063 note 49.

61. Minn.—In re Person's Estate, 178 N.W. 738, 146 Minn. 230.
N.Y.—In re Sultan's Estate, 294 N.Y.S. 207, 162 Misc. 265.

Spouse's abandonment of deceased precluding appointment

N.Y.—In re Rechtschaffen's Estate, 16 N.E.2d 357, 278 N.Y. 336, reversing 300 N.Y.S. 1005, 252 App.Div. 853, affirming 204 N.Y.S. 604, 102 Misc. 374, motion denied 1 N.Y.S. 2d 652, 253 App.Div. 718—In re Remlinger's Estate, 16 N.Y.S.2d 367, 258 App.Div. 911—In re Grant's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 867, 253 App.Div. 504—In re Wagner, 20 N.Y.S.2d 470, 174 Misc. 203—In re McCoy's Estate, 26 N.Y.S.2d 401.

Presence of unadministered assets

Minn.—In re Hokanson's Estate, 270 N.W. 689, 198 Minn. 428.
Pa.—In re Treat's Estate, 19 A.2d 354, 341 Pa. 342.

Prior right in another

An application for letters by decedent's half sister would be denied as a matter of law, where record in proceeding for letters established that decedent left husband surviving, contrary to allegation of petition.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.

62. Cal.—In re Morris' Estate, 264 P. 752, 203 Cal. 411—In re Purcell's Estate, 53 P.2d 784, 11 Cal.App.2d 237—In re Ganes' Estate, 299 P. 550, 114 Cal.App. 17.

Ga.—Montgomery v. Gable, 7 S.E.2d 426, 61 Ga.App. 859.

La.—Ledet's Succession, 47 So. 506, 122 La. 200.

N.Y.—In re Durham's Estate, 8 N.Y.S.2d 764, 255 App.Div. 941, reargument denied 11 N.Y.S.2d 541, 256 App.Div. 1043.

Child

Where the right of an applicant is denied on the ground that he is not the child of decedent, and the evidence is conflicting, weight should be given to a certificate of baptism and other testimony corroborative in character.—Ledet's Succession, 47 So. 506, 122 La. 200—23 C.J. p 1063 note 46.

Common-law marriage

In a proceeding by an alleged common-law widow for letters of administration, the next of kin denying that petitioner was the widow of deceased, the alleged marriage should be established very clearly to entitle her to administer the estate.—In re Maguire, 175 N.Y.S. 728.

63. Ga.—Stevens v. Duncan, 7 S.E.2d 745, 189 Ga. 730.

Mass.—Morgan v. Morgan, 166 N.E. 747, 267 Mass. 388.

Minn.—In re Holterman's Estate, 282 N.W. 132, 203 Minn. 519.

Neb.—In re Cachelin's Estate, 247 N.W. 422, 124 Neb. 556.

Okl.—Secrest v. Secrest, 36 P.2d 57, 168 Okl. 576.

Citizenship

N.Y.—In re Ray's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 333, 150 Misc. 728.

Honesty

N.Y.—In re Flood's Will, 140 N.E. 936, 236 N.Y. 408, reversing 198 N.Y.S. 693, 206 App.Div. 602—In re Aebly's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 993, 261 App.Div. 839.

Improvidence

Nev.—In re Taylor's Estate, 114 P.2d 1086, 135 A.L.R. 580.

Mental incapacity

Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 189 P. 280, 182 Cal. 642.

Ga.—Montgomery v. Paradise, App., 15 S.E.2d 899.

Hostility to other heirs

Utah.—In re Pingree's Estate, 279 P. 901, 74 Utah 384.

Interests adverse to estate

Cal.—De Brum's Estate v. Soares, 79 P.2d 414, 26 Cal.App.2d 319.

Residence within state

Cal.—In re Barnes' Estate, 203 P. 100, 187 Cal. 566.

Mont.—In re Myer's Estate, 15 P.2d 846, 92 Mont. 474.

Action as to other estate

Evidence that executor named in will had failed to administer another estate with diligence and proper efficiency, and that he was antagonistic to cestui que trust, sustained finding that he was person unsuitable for appointment.—Osborne v. Craig, 146 N.E. 263, 251 Mass. 169.

64. La.—Ledet's Succession, 47 So. 506, 122 La. 200.

65. Cal.—In re Martin, 137 P. 2, 166 Cal. 399.

66. Cal.—In re Mumford, 160 P. 667, 173 Cal. 511.

La.—Helmke's Succession, 62 So. 487, 133 La. 93.

67. N.Y.—Czech v. Bean, 72 N.Y.S. 402, 35 Misc. 729.

68. Idaho.—McCormick v. Brownell, 136 P. 613, 25 Idaho 11.

69. Nev.—In re Taylor's Estate, 114 P.2d 1086, 135 A.L.R. 580.

70. Cal.—Bauquier's Estate, 26 P. 178, 532, 88 Cal. 302.

to assume the duties of the office.⁷¹

§ 61. Examination of Applicant for Letters before Trial

Parties objecting to the physical and mental qualifications of an executor are not entitled to a physical examination before trial, and are not prejudiced by denial of a mental examination before trial, where he was examined on the hearing.

Where objections to the qualifications of an executor set forth that he is mentally and physically disqualified for the duties of the office, the objectors are not entitled to a physical examination of such person before trial,⁷² nor are they prejudiced by a denial of a mental examination before trial, where the ground of denial was that the person could be examined on the hearing, and such examination was had.⁷³

§ 62. Trial or Hearing, and Determination

- a. Trial or hearing
- b. Determination

a. Trial or Hearing

The essentials of judicial investigation and decree should be preserved in proceedings for the appointment of an executor or administrator; it is the court's duty to take proof of the facts, and it has discretion as to postponement of the proceedings.

While the proceedings in probate courts may be somewhat informal, as though in the disposition of executive business, and may be conducted without even the employment of legal counsel,⁷⁴ the essentials of judicial investigation and decree should be preserved in proceedings for administration.⁷⁵ It is the duty of the court to take proof of the facts,⁷⁶ and the original applicant is entitled to open and close.⁷⁷ The court may properly refuse to hear evidence in support of issues raised by the answer where no material issues were raised by the pleadings.⁷⁸

Where an opposition is filed to the appointment of a certain person as administrator, it should be tried with the original application for administration, and all the issues involved determined in one judgment.⁷⁹ However, where the opposition shows on its face that it is without legal foundation, it need not be tried on the merits.⁸⁰

Postponement of proceedings for appointment of an administrator or executor is peculiarly within the trial court's discretion.⁸¹ Where it appears that an alleged will is in existence, it is proper to postpone the consideration of an application for administration until the question of the validity or invalidity of such instrument has been determined,⁸² but the court may refuse a continuance because of the illness of caveator where none of the grounds of the caveat would have been aided by any possible testimony by her, and her presence in court was not apparently necessary.⁸³

b. Determination

The court has a sound discretion to investigate and determine as to the essential facts and to order the issuance of letters to a person eligible for appointment whom it finds qualified; in a proper case the court may direct a verdict, or grant a new trial after denial of an application.

The court or officer authorized to issue letters has in each case a sound discretion to investigate and determine as to death and other facts fundamental 71. Mass.—Drake v. Green, 10 Allen 124.

23 C.J. p 1063 note 48.

72. N.Y.—Matter of Leland, 161 N.Y.S. 315, 175 App.Div. 56, affirming 159 N.Y.S. 533, 95 Misc. 440.

73. N.Y.—Matter of Leland, supra.

74. Ga.—De Lorme v. Pease, 19 Ga. 220.

75. Md.—Horton v. Horton, 145 A. 355, 157 Md. 127.
23 C.J. p 1063 note 56.

76. N.Y.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.
23 C.J. p 1064 note 57.

Residence

Where question was raised whether decedent was resident of county, court should take proof on, and determine, jurisdictional question of residence.—In re Skerencak's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 533, 241 App.Div. 767.

Question held one of fact

Question whether due diligence was exercised by applicant in ascertaining existence of blood relatives entitled to preference is question of fact.—In re Murphy's Estate, 252 N.Y.S. 446, 141 Misc. 272.

Evidence held sufficient for jury as to decedent's domicile.—Halverson v. Livengood, Tex.Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 588.

77. Ga.—Weeks v. Sego, 9 Ga. 199.

78. Utah.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606.

79. La.—Miguez v. Delcambre, 38 So. 820, 114 La. 1032.

80. La.—Succession of Strange, 177 So. 579, 188 La. 478.

81. Wash.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P.2d 310, 189 Wash. 641.

Notice to heirs

Court had jurisdiction to continue hearing of petition for purpose of having notice given to heirs as required by statute, where no notices had been mailed to heirs named in petition of hearing at which continuance was granted.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.

Amended petition

Where, after the filing by a widow of a petition for letters of administration, various other persons also petitioned for letters, contesting the widow's petition, and thereafter the widow filed an amended petition contesting the other petitions, but stating no jurisdictional fact, the court had jurisdiction to hear all the petitions on the date set for the hearing of the widow's original petition, and was not required to wait until the time set for hearing her amended petition.—In re Turner, 77 P. 1099, 142 Cal. 549.

82. Cal.—In re Edwards, 97 P. 23, 154 Cal. 91.
23 C.J. p 1064 note 59.

83. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga.App. 728.

to the grant of administration, and to issue letters or not, in accordance with its determination;⁸⁴ but, where the proceeding is purely ex parte, and the verified application shows the person entitled to letters, they should be granted.⁸⁵ The court may ordinarily exercise its discretion in determining whom to appoint within the class of persons eligible for appointment;⁸⁶ but it cannot disturb the order of appointment prescribed by the statute,⁸⁷ and it should not appoint a person whose removal would be compulsory on application of a person of the class mentioned by statute as entitled to secure the revocation of letters granted to another.⁸⁸

The determination of the qualifications of an applicant for letters is ordinarily a matter within the discretion of the court which, it has been held, the court may decide without any trial or hearing;⁸⁹ but the court may not refuse appointment to a person entitled to preference without first affording an opportunity for a hearing,⁹⁰ and the court has been required to make and sign written findings in order to support its refusal of a petition for appointment of an administrator.⁹¹

Where the petition for administration sets forth all the jurisdictional facts necessary to be set forth under the statute, but applicant fails to qualify, the jurisdiction under the petition is sufficient to authorize the appointment of any person whom the court deems suitable, without formal application by him or by formal renunciation by applicant;⁹² but, where two children filed petitions, one filing opposition to that of the other, whose appointment the remaining children joined in requesting, it was held that the court, having found both competent, could only appoint one or both of the two petitioning, and that the appointment of one of the others was erroneous.⁹³ The court may grant a joint petition for administration as to one or more of the petitioners.⁹⁴

Directed verdict. The court may properly direct a verdict for the appointment of a person who is, as a matter of law, entitled to such appointment;⁹⁵ and likewise it may direct verdict against a caveator whose objection to the appointment of another is clearly without merit.⁹⁶

New trial. Newly discovered evidence may require the court to grant a new trial after denial of an application for administration.⁹⁷

§ 63. Order or Decree of Appointment

For the appointment of an executor or administrator,

84. Colo.—Rosenboom v. Cline, 6 P. 2d 453, 90 Colo. 1.

N.Y.—In re Johnston's Will, 299 N.Y. S. 43, 164 Misc. 412.

N.C.—In re Gulley's Will, 118 S.E. 839, 186 N.C. 78.

Pa.—Wiggins v. Western & Southern Life Ins. Co., 173 A. 751, 114 Pa. Super. 198.

23 C.J. p 1064 note 62.

Residence of deceased

Ariz.—Hiatt v. Lee, 61 P.2d 401, 48 Ariz. 320, 107 A.L.R. 444.

Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

Presumption of death

Court may decide whether legal presumption of death is made out from seven years' absence.—Wiggins v. Western & Southern Life Ins. Co., 173 A. 751, 114 Pa. Super. 198.

Submission to referee

Issues necessarily involved in the proceeding may be remitted to a referee for hearing and report.—In re Reilly's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 1285, 165 Misc. 214.

Issue not raised by conclusion of witness

Conclusion by witness that from his knowledge of widow he would say she was not a fit and proper person to manage an estate would not raise such an issue as to defeat her legal right to appointment.—Causey v. Causey, 97 S.E. 98, 23 Ga. App. 679.

Findings as to marriage relationship construed

Tex.—Manire v. Burt, Civ. App., 121 S.W.2d 630, error refused.

85. Ind.—Ex parte Jenkins, 58 N.E. 560, 25 Ind. App. 532, 81 Am. S.R. 114.

86. Pa.—In re Friese's Estate, 176 A. 225, 317 Pa. 86.

87. Pa.—In re Friese's Estate, supra.

88. Idaho.—Schwarze v. Logan, 90 P.2d 692—Estate of Daggett, 98 P. 849, 15 Idaho 504.

89. Mo.—Stevens v. Larwill, 84 S. W. 113, 110 Mo. App. 140.

Requisites of finding

Finding that person having prior right to administer estate is not a competent or suitable person must be clear and unequivocal to warrant disqualification of that person.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W.2d 893, 230 Mo. App. 1.

Time of determination

The qualifications of the person nominated must be determined as of the time when the appointment was made.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N. W. 363, 183 Wis. 506.

90. Mo.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W.2d 893, 230 Mo. App. 1.

91. Cal.—In re Ingram's Estate, 279 P. 208, 99 Cal. App. 660.

Oral opinion, stating reasons for denying petition, is not part of findings.—In re Ingram's Estate, 279 P. 208, 99 Cal. App. 660.

92. Wash.—In re Miller's Estate, 226 P. 493, 130 Wash. 199—Wilkie v. Bailey, 133 P. 388, 74 Wash. 241.

93. Wyo.—In re Barrett, 138 P. 865, 141 P. 95, 22 Wyo. 281.

94. Cal.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

Right of each joint petitioner is not to appointment of himself, but to have court exercise discretion and appoint one or more fit persons from those entitled, applying, and competent.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

95. Ga.—Pate v. Pate, 113 S.E. 50, 28 Ga. App. 798—Maddox v. Maddox, 108 S.E. 304, 27 Ga. App. 369.

Selection by heirs

Where evidence in contest for appointment of administrator showed that majority of living children of intestate widow selected in writing disinterested, competent, and qualified person, court properly directed verdict in his favor.—Sullens v. Pierce, 164 S.E. 93, 45 Ga. App. 207.

96. Ga.—Carson v. Blair, 124 S.E. 808, 32 Ga. App. 728.

97. Wash.—In re Anderson's Estate, 1 P.2d 231, 163 Wash. 228.

Evidence as to relationship of applicant to deceased

Wash.—In re Anderson's Estate, 1 P.2d 231, 163 Wash. 228.

there must be a proper and sufficient order or decree of appointment, to which should be attached no conditions other than those provided by law, and which need not be entered on the record; the making of such order by a clerk may be authorized, at least with ratification by the court. While an order with minor defects is not void and may to some extent be corrected or amended, vital defects may constitute the basis for a proceeding to vacate the order.

It is necessary to the appointment of an executor or administrator that there be a proper and sufficient order to that effect;⁹⁸ and reference should be made to such order for the purpose of determining the character and status of one assuming to administer an estate.⁹⁹ The decree or order must of course designate the estate on which administration is granted,¹ and it may incorporate the court's findings of fact on issues presented by objections to the appointment,² and decision respecting decedent's residence has been held an essential part of the order;³ but it is not necessary for the order to specify the relation which the appointee holds to the estate.⁴ Even though an order does not in apt language show the appointment of an administrator, it will be held sufficient if the language used shows that the appointment was intended.⁵

A court cannot attach to an order granting administration any conditions⁶ save such as are provided by law,⁷ and an order granting administration will not be construed as conditional where the language does not render such construction necessary.⁸ A decree granting letters of administration is limited in its effect to the grant of letters, and should not confirm a finding of a referee as to the date of the alleged intestate's death.⁹

An order of appointment under a petition setting forth no interest in the estate or other right to administration has been held void;¹⁰ but an order is not void because it was made without mailing a notice to the executor named in the will as required by statute,¹¹ because it was made after adjournment of the court for the day, without a formal reopening of the court,¹² because it was made permanent at a later term of court, without a statement in the order of temporary appointment that it should become permanent at the next term of court unless contested,¹³ or because it was prematurely entered.¹⁴

The administration proceeding is terminated by the entry of an order or decree granting letters.¹⁵ An order granting letters of administration notwithstanding a caveat that deceased had left a will is not res judicata in a proceeding by the caveator to probate the will.¹⁶ So, also, the court's adjudica-

98. Ark.—Groschner v. Winton, 226 S.W. 162, 146 Ark. 520.
23 C.J. p 1064 note 67.

Requisites for binding order

Where facts essential to jurisdiction over subject matter exist and court determines from evidence that it has authority to administer estate, order appointing executor or administrator is binding and effective.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N.W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

Support in record

Where record did not disclose what issues were considered, whether there was hearing of parties, or whether testimony was taken or opportunity afforded to offer proof, record did not support order appointing administratrix.—Phillips v. Clark, Md., 6 A.2d 220.

The publication of a citation for appointment of an administrator need not appear on the face of the judgment of appointment.—Davis v. Melton, 181 S.E. 300, 51 Ga.App. 686.

Lost or destroyed will

Surrogate, in issuing letters of administration on lost or destroyed will established in supreme court, acts ministerially and not judicially.—St. John v. Putnam, 220 N.Y.S. 141, 128 Misc. 714.

Effect of order dispensing with administration

Where the county court had found that the estate of a decedent was of less value than five hundred dollars, and had made an order vesting the entire estate in the widow and dispensing with letters of administration, a subsequent appointment of an administrator without any order revoking the first decision, or without notice to the widow, was voidable, but not void.—Ferguson v. State, 90 Ind. 38.

99. N.M.—Bull v. Bal, 130 P. 251, 17 N.M. 466.

1. Tex.—Harwood v. Wylie, 7 S.W. 789, 70 Tex. 538.

2. Cal.—In re Forrest's Estate, 110 P.2d 1023, 43 Cal.App.2d 347.

3. Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

4. Mich.—Wilkinson v. Conaty, 32 N.W. 841, 65 Mich. 614.

5. Ky.—Big Sandy & C. R. Co. v. Measell's Adm'r, 42 S.W.2d 747, 240 Ky. 571.

23 C.J. p 1065 note 71.

Presumption of correctness

County court finding that deceased was intestate resident of such county, and appointing administrator, was entitled to as strong presumption of correctness as findings of another county court that deceased died resident of latter county, leaving will and naming executor.—Hite's Adm'r v. Gibson, 65 S.W.2d 731, 251 Ky. 651.

6. Wyo.—Leach v. Misters, 79 P. 28, 14 Wyo. 239.

23 C.J. p 1065 note 72.

7. Tex.—Cain v. Haas, 18 Tex. 616, 23 C.J. p 1065 note 73.

8. N.C.—Spencer v. Cohoon, 18 N.C. 27.

23 C.J. p 1065 note 74.

9. N.Y.—Matter of Sanford, 91 N.Y.S. 706, 100 App.Div. 479.

10. Ga.—Stanley v. Metts, 149 S.E. 786, 169 Ga. 101.

11. Wyo.—Rice v. Tilton, 82 P. 577, 14 Wyo. 101.

23 C.J. p 1065 note 76.

12. Tex.—Reeves v. Fuqua, Civ. App., 184 S.W. 682.

13. Tex.—Eckeberger v. Stroud, Civ. App., 103 S.W.2d 803.

Citation of parties

That clerk failed to issue citation to all persons interested to appear at next term of court and contest temporary appointment did not make such appointment void so as to deprive court of jurisdiction to make appointment permanent at later term after citation was issued and served.—Eckeberger v. Stroud, supra.

14. Ky.—Leach v. Owensboro City R. Co., 125 S.W. 708, 137 Ky. 292.

15. N.Y.—In re Nocton's Estate, 162 N.Y.S. 215.

16. Ga.—Thomasson v. Hudmon, 196 S.E. 462, 185 Ga. 753.

tion of decedent's death is not conclusive of the matter with respect to an independent suit prosecuted by one not a party to the proceeding.¹⁷ The allowance or probate of a will and the granting of letters testamentary involve two different judgments of the judge of probate, dependent on different conditions, although the evidence of both decrees may be contained in the same paper.¹⁸

Record. The entry of the order on the record is not essential,¹⁹ and, where the record of the appointment of an administrator clearly shows that the appointment was made by the probate court, the words, "in vacation" at the top of such record will not invalidate the appointment.²⁰ It has been held that, where an administrator's bond and oath were executed in blank, and letters were issued in blank, but no record was made of the appointment, the record could be made subsequently nunc pro tunc, and that when it was made, the appointment was legal.²¹

Appointment by clerk. The clerk of the court may be given limited authority to order the appointment of an administrator, and his order of appointment is the full equivalent of the court's order, in the absence of a contest by the party aggrieved.²² Another view is that an appointment made by the clerk during vacation confers no authority on the appointee unless confirmed or ratified by the court;²³ but acts of the clerk in granting letters testamentary should be ratified by the court, unless good cause be shown for vacating such acts.²⁴

Correcting or amending order. The judge has a right to correct typographical errors in the order and make his records speak the truth;²⁵ but, where no mistake was made in entering an order appointing two persons as coadministrators, it cannot be amended nunc pro tunc to show that one of them had been found incompetent to serve alone.²⁶ A court order in term time, confirming one made during vacation, renders the former order valid ab initio.²⁷

Vacating order or decree. A court which has assumed jurisdiction over an estate by appointing an administrator has power to dismiss the proceedings for want of jurisdiction,²⁸ or to vacate its decree of appointment, in conformity with governing statutes.²⁹ The heirs of a decedent are proper parties to institute and maintain an equitable proceeding to vacate a judgment appointing an administrator;³⁰ but, where the party suing in equity shows no cause for equitable relief, the action is required to be dismissed,³¹ and a decree of appointment is not voidable on attack by nonresidents not embraced within any class designated by statute as qualified for appointment.³² Where a finding of residence is implicit in the court's assumption of jurisdiction, interested persons are limited to appeal from the challenged order of appointment, and are precluded from moving in another proceeding to vacate the order for lack of jurisdiction over the estate of a nonresident.³³ To warrant vacation of a judgment for fraud in the procurement, the fraud must have been actual and positive, done with knowledge, and not merely constructive fraud, committed in ignorance of the true facts.³⁴

§ 64. Review

a. In general

17. N.J.—Moyna v. Prudential Life Ins. Co., 125 A. 99, 96 N.J.Eq. 293.

18. Me.—In re Gurdy, 63 A. 322, 101 Me. 73.

19. Cal.—McNeill v. Morgan, 108 P. 69, 157 Cal. 373.

20. Kan.—Brubaker v. Jones, 23 Kan. 411.

21. N.C.—Dallago v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 81 S.E. 318, 165 N.C. 269.

22. Iowa.—Finnerty v. Shade, 228 N. W. 886, 210 Iowa 1338.

Appointment of nonresident, even if made without authority, was not void in the absence of contest by interested party.—Finnerty v. Shade, supra.

23. Ark.—Groschner v. Winton, 226 S.W. 162, 146 Ark. 520.

24. Ill.—Wilkinson v. Nowers, 317 Ill.App. 314.

Ind.—Barricklow v. Stewart, 68 N. E. 316, 31 Ind.App. 446.

25. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

26. Mo.—State ex rel. Gregory v. Henderson, 88 S.W.2d 893, 230 Mo. App. 1.

27. Mo.—Eulingberg v. Quick Payment Old Line Life Ins. Co., 261 S.W. 725.

28. R.I.—Eckilson v. Greene, 1 A.2d 117, 61 R.I. 394.
Revocation of letters see infra §§ 84-88.

29. R.I.—Capwell v. Knight, 135 A. 699, 48 R.I. 81.

Notice by advertisement is not required before order vacating decree appointing administrator on uncontested application.—Capwell v. Knight, supra.

Contested or uncontested application. Application to revoke decree of probate court entered on uncontested application for appointment does not refer back to time of original application so as to make the latter a contested one ab initio.—Capwell v. Knight, supra.

30. Ga.—Powell v. McKinney, 108 S. E. 231, 151 Ga. 803.

Petition not demurrable

Petition for vacation of judgment based on alleged fraudulent acts of person securing appointment as administrator was held not demurrable on ground that there was no necessity for suit and that adequate remedy existed at law.—Powell v. McKinney, supra.

31. Me.—In re Neely's Estate, 1 A. 2d 772, 136 Me. 79.

32. Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P.2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L. R. 1220.

33. R.I.—Eckilson v. Greene, 1 A.2d 117, 61 R.I. 394.

34. Ga.—Rivers v. Alsop, 2 S.E.2d 632.

- b. Proceedings to obtain review
- c. Questions reviewable
- d. Hearing on appeal
- e. Disposition of cause

a. In General

Where permitted by statute, review may be had of a determination on an application for administration, provided the order, judgment, or decree is final and appealable under the prevailing appellate court practice and the party appealing has some interest in the controversy which is adversely affected by the decision. The usual effect of an appeal from an appointment is to stay proceedings under the appointment.

35. Cal.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.

La.—Succession of Bibbins, App., 152 So. 592.

23 C.J. p 1065 note 87.

Certiorari

(1) Certiorari was proper, where probate court exceeded jurisdiction in appointing administrator in place of executrix.—State ex rel. Barlow v. Holtcamp, 14 S.W.2d 646, 322 Mo. 258.

(2) Widow contesting husband's will, and not referring to community property in petition for letters of administration, was not entitled to peremptory writ of certiorari to review denial of letters as to the community property pending appeal from denial of petition.—State v. Superior Court of Walla Walla County, 237 P. 301, 135 Wash. 202.

Devolutive appeal

(1) The appeal from a judgment dismissing an application for administration of a succession should be devolutive.—Wintz's Succession, 35 So. 377, 111 La. 40.

(2) Where a bond was furnished by one suspensively appealing from order appointing an administrator, appeal would not be dismissed but would be allowed to operate devolutively rather than suspensively.—Succession of Heinig, 188 So. 39, 192 La. 388.

Supervisory jurisdiction

(1) Supervisory jurisdiction will not be exercised to interfere with appointment of administrators, as between beneficiary heirs, the remedy of the aggrieved party being by appeal from the judgment denying his petition.—Succession of Guate, 109 So. 784, 161 La. 981.

(2) However, since no suspensive appeal can be taken by an opponent claiming appointment as administrator from an adverse judgment, radical defects and illegal proceedings with respect thereto are open to examination by the supreme court in the exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction.—State v. Hingle, 23 So. 616, 50 La. Ann. 683.

Under various statutory provisions, an appeal may usually be taken from an appointment of, or a refusal to appoint, a representative, by any aggrieved party in interest,³⁵ provided the order, judgment, or decree is final and appealable under the prevailing appellate court practice.³⁶ On the other hand, it has been held that, in the absence of statute allowing it, no appeal will lie from the determination on an application for administration.³⁷ One court may not exercise appellate jurisdiction over administration proceedings in another court, in the absence of statutory provision therefor.³⁸

Fraud or misrepresentation

Where petitioner for administration did not misrepresent facts and took no active part in administration, there was no fraud or misrepresentation within statute providing for appeal from probate to district court.—In re Eklund's Estate, 218 N. W. 235, 174 Minn. 28.

36. Wash.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, 35 P.2d 1095, 179 Wash. 55, 3 C.J. p 570 note 44 [b].

Particular orders held appealable

(1) Order appointing administrator.

Minn.—In re Firlie's Estate, 253 N.W. 889, 191 Minn. 233.

N.C.—In re Styers' Estate, 164 S.E. 123, 202 N.C. 715.

Philippine.—Sy Hong Eng v. Sy Lioc Suy, 8 Philippine 594, 5 Off. Gaz. 699.

S.C.—Ex parte Small, 48 S.E. 40, 69 S.C. 43.

Wash.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, 35 P.2d 1095, 179 Wash. 55.

(2) Order that executrix was entitled to administer estate as sole beneficiary.—Swarthout v. Swarthout, 86 N.W. 558, 111 Wis. 102.

(3) Order denying petition to set aside appointment of administrator. Utah.—In re Tasanen, 71 P. 984, 25 Utah. 396.

Wash.—In re Sutton, 71 P. 1012, 31 Wash. 340.

(4) Order denying application of executor for letters testamentary.—Shook v. Journeay, Civ.App., 149 S.W. 406, reversed on other grounds 152 S.W. 809, 105 Tex. 551.

(5) Decision of probate court in proceedings to probate will suspending executor and appointing an administrator pendente lite, on determining that a will contest proceeding was pending in the circuit court. State ex rel. Smith v. Williams, 275 S.W. 534, 310 Mo. 267.

(6) Order vacating order appointing administrator.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 20 Cal.App.2d 735.—In re Bouysson, 82 P. 1066, 1 Cal.App. 657.

Discretionary orders

(1) According to some decisions, court's selection of appointee from class of persons entitled thereto is solely within its discretion and hence not reviewable.—Schneider v. Hawkins, 16 A.2d 861, 179 Md. 21.—Baldwin v. Hopkins, 187 A. 884, 171 Md. 97.—Dorsey v. Dorsey, 116 A. 915, 140 Md. 167.—3 C.J. p 575 note 62 [a] (2)–(4).

(2) So, also an order vacating a stay on probate, denying letters testamentary, and granting administration with the will annexed, is not reviewable by the court of appeals, being within the surrogate's discretion.—In re Baldwin, 53 N.E. 218, 158 N.Y. 713, dismissing appeal 50 N.Y. S. 872, 27 App.Div. 506.

(3) However, the discretion to grant letters will be reviewed when acts are done in contravention of plain letters of statutes.—Horton v. Horton, 145 A. 355, 157 Md. 127.

37. Mo.—Lucitt v. Toohey's Estate, 89 S.W.2d 662, 338 Mo. 343.

N.C.—In re Suskin's Estate, 198 S.E. 661, 662, 214 N.C. 218, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1066 note 89.

Ex parte ruling denying appointment as administrator held not appealable because, among other reasons, appellant cannot comply with statute prescribing making and serving of cost bond; proceedings to review ex parte petition should make court or judge party thereto.—In re Spear's Estate, 242 P. 435, 29 Ariz. 377.

In Ohio, it has been held that the general code of the state does not give a right of appeal to the common pleas court from an order of the probate court appointing an administrator.—Luburg v. Luburg, 13 Ohio App. 220.

Apparently contra.—Schumacher v. McCallip, 69 N.E. 986, 69 Ohio St. 500.

38. Ark.—Nissen v. Elliott, 224 S.W. 958, 145 Ark. 540.

Chancery court

It is not within the jurisdiction of the chancery court to lift adminis-

Who may appeal. The right of appeal is, of course, dependent on the existence of some interest in the subject matter of the controversy, which is adversely affected by the decision.³⁹ One who, although not a party to the proceeding wherein an administrator was appointed, was a party in interest and had duly complied with the statutory requirements has been held entitled to an appeal from the order appointing an administrator.⁴⁰ A failure to demur below to a petition to set aside the appointment of an administrator is a waiver of the objection that, under a statute providing that any party to a judgment or decree may appeal therefrom, the petitioner cannot appeal from a denial of his petition because not a party to the probate proceedings.⁴¹ There is no such acquiescence as will prevent an appeal from a judgment contradictorily rendered in a contest between two applicants for the appointment of an administrator, because the unsuccessful party has thereafter joined issue on the merits with the successful party in a suit instituted by him as administrator of the succession.⁴² tration proceedings out of the probate court, the action of the probate court in appointing administratrix being conclusive of the necessity for administration and the chancery court not being entitled to assume jurisdiction to set aside the order of appointment for fraud.—Nissen v. Elliott, supra.

39. La.—Succession of Bibbins, App., 152 So. 592.

N.J.—Moyna v. Prudential Life Ins. Co., 125 A. 99, 96 N.J.Eq. 293.

Okl.—In re Johnson's Estate, 114 P. 2d 469.

23 C.J. p 1066 note 90.

Creditor may have right of appeal.—Succession of Bibbins, La.App., 152 So. 592—23 C.J. p 1066 note 90 [c].

Heirs

(1) On dismissal by the court of the petition of an heir at law against granting letters testamentary or of administration, on the ground of nonresidence of decedent, he could appeal without proof of special damage.—Pattison v. Firor, 126 A. 109, 146 Md. 243.

(2) Heirs losing their suit to annul will had no interest authorizing appeal from order appointing universal legatee testamentary executor.—Succession of Guglielmo, 105 So. 13, 158 La. 917.

Single joint petitioner for administration has right to appeal from denial of petition, and remaining joint petitioners failing to appeal lose right to have appointment made.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

Widow held entitled to appeal

Effect of appeal. The usual effect of an appeal from the appointment of an executor or administrator is to stay proceedings under the appointment,⁴³ at least where a supersedeas is issued by the appellate court.⁴⁴ Pending an appeal from such an order, the probate court is without jurisdiction to order the discharge of the administrators so appointed and appoint others in their stead;⁴⁵ and the effect of the appeal has been held to be to transfer to the appellate court complete and perfect jurisdiction of the litigation.⁴⁶

b. Proceedings to Obtain Review

Proper procedure may and should be followed in securing appellate review of proceedings for the appointment of an executor or administrator, with respect to such matters as time for taking the appeal, notice of appeal, parties, and record and bill of exceptions.

Proper procedure should be followed in securing appellate review of proceedings for the appointment of executors and administrators.⁴⁷

Time for taking appeal. The time within which an appeal must be taken is governed by the requirements of the statute;⁴⁸ but provision may be from judge's appointment of another as administrator and from judge's finding that widow was incompetent to act as administratrix, although she had filed no contest or objection to petition for appointment of administrator appointed.—In re Walker's Estate, 36 P.2d 10, 169 Okl. 100.

40. Okl.—Thompson v. State, 154 P. 508, 54 Okl. 647.

Purchaser of interest of heirs

Tex.—McCarthy v. Texas Co., Civ. App., 235 S.W. 679, error granted.

41. Utah.—In re Tasanen, 71 P. 984, 25 Utah 396.

42. La.—Lamm's Succession, 4 So. 53, 40 La. Ann. 312.

43. Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35, 23 C.J. p 1066 note 88.

Suspensive appeals are not permitted by statute in at least one jurisdiction.—Succession of Heinig, 188 So. 39, 192 La. 388—Succession of Beattie, 112 So. 802, 163 La. 831—23 C.J. p 1066 note 88 [c].

44. Ky.—Louisville Trust Co. v. Fidelity & Columbia Trust Co., 272 S.W. 759, 209 Ky. 289.

Supersedeas bond

Where a temporary administrator appealed from order appointing another as permanent administrator, probate court's order that bond of temporary administrator should operate as supersedeas bond on appeal was void, since court could not without consent of surety add to obligation of administrator's bond.—Ste- phenson v. Manire, Tex.Civ.App., 93 S.W.2d 559, error refused.

Order not superseded

(1) However, where order of superior court appointing widow administrator was not superseded on appeal therefrom, widow was authorized to proceed with the administration until the order was finally reversed, and the reversal certified to the court, so that when the administration thereby ended the court was empowered to settle accounts, and determine the disposition of the property and the credits to which she was entitled by way of compensation, etc.—In re Levy's Estate, 215 P. 811, 125 Wash. 240.

(2) Filing of a supersedeas on appeal by a party aggrieved does not stay proceedings against him by administrator, under a statute authorizing the court to require a person suspected of having taken wrongful possession of any of the effects of decedent to appear and submit to an examination, although the trial court may in its discretion stay the proceedings until the determination of the appeal.—In re Acken, 123 N.W. 187, 144 Iowa 519, Ann.Cas.1912A 1166.

45. N.J.—In re Hill, 37 A. 952, 55 N. J.Eq. 764.

46. Tex.—Ex parte Robertson, 72 S. W. 859, 44 Tex.Cr. 566, 23 C.J. p 1067 note 3.

47. Wash.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, 35 P.2d 1095, 179 Wash. 55.

48. Wash.—State ex rel. Barry v.

made for the allowance of an appeal after the statutory period, where the party seeking a review was without fault.⁴⁹

Notice of appeal. An appeal from an order appointing an administrator will not be dismissed because of the notice of appeal being entitled as in the superior court of a county other than that wherein the appointment was made, where the parties treated the notice as sufficient throughout the proceedings, and the appellee's attorneys were not misled.⁵⁰

Parties to appeal. Any real party in interest is a proper party to an appeal from the judgment.⁵¹ Where two persons petition for the issuance of letters of administration to both or either of them, both are necessary parties to an appeal from an adverse judgment.⁵² Where an individual has applied for, and obtained, an appointment as dative testamentary executor, and a party interested appeals from such appointment, the succession of the testator is not a necessary party, and the dative executor need not be cited.⁵³

Record; bill of exceptions. Where orders from which an appeal is taken were made in a summary proceeding and on the testimony of witnesses, the appeal may not be maintained if the evidence was not reduced to writing and incorporated in the record.⁵⁴ The record on appeal should not contain any matters having no bearing on the questions in issue;⁵⁵ the trial judge's oral opinion, stating his reasons for denying a petition for appointment as administrator, is not properly part of the record.⁵⁶

When an order denying an application for letters of administration is general in its terms, implying an adverse finding on all the allegations of the petition, and the bill of exceptions does not specify any insufficiency of evidence to sustain the decision, the order will not be reviewed on appeal.⁵⁷

Effect of death of appellant. An appeal by an applicant denied appointment as administrator will be dismissed without more where he dies pending the appeal.⁵⁸ However, where appellant from an order granting letters of administration to another died pending the appeal, the respondent was not entitled to have orders granted authorizing him to proceed with the administration; but such other parties as were interested should have been brought in, and the appeal determined, before the administration proceeded.⁵⁹

c. Questions Reviewable

The appellate court will consider only such questions as are properly within the scope of appellate review and are properly before it for determination.

Only matters properly within the scope of appellate review and properly before the court for determination will be considered on appeal from the lower court's decision on an application for administration.⁶⁰ Appellant is restricted in the higher court to the reasons for appeal filed within the time allowed by the statute.⁶¹

Superior Court in and for King County, supra.

23 C.J. p 1066 note 94.

Motion for new trial in proceeding wherein court appointed administrator was held not to prevent running of time within which certiorari proceedings should be commenced.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, supra.

49. Iowa.—Reynolds v. Miller, 6 Iowa 459.

23 C.J. p 1066 note 95.

50. Cal.—In re Damke, 65 P. 888, 133 Cal. 433.

51. Cal.—Sheldon v. Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Long Beach Department, 108 P.2d 945, 42 Cal. App.2d 406.

52. Ala.—White v. Hill, 58 So. 444, 176 Ala. 480.

53. La.—Henry's Succession, 37 So. 756, 113 La. 787.

54. Md.—Phillips v. Clark, 6 A.2d 220.

55. Miss.—Hancock v. Pyle, 200 So. 716.

56. Cal.—In re Ingram's Estate, 279 P. 208, 99 Cal.App. 660.

57. Cal.—In re Depeaux, 50 P. 387, 118 Cal. 290.

58. Ind.—Lampman v. De Dario, 6 N.E.2d 716, 103 Ind.App. 216.

59. Ga.—Glisson v. Carter, 28 Ga. 516.

60. Wash.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P.2d 310, 180 Wash. 641.

Residence

On appeal from order appointing an administrator, controversy between state and those interested in deceased's estate regarding whether deceased was resident of state or of another state at time of his death was not before court.—In re Mason's Estate, supra.

Separate appeals

In a case where proceedings for the appointment of an administrator were appealed, and thereafter another and separate appeal was taken by persons who were not parties at the time the proceeding was first removed to the appellate court, it was held that, irrespective of the question whether the last appeal was properly perfected, it was nevertheless sufficient to constitute a written opposition to the petitions of the parties to the original appeal, and hence to justify the appellate court in considering as one case all the questions raised by both appeals.—In re McClellan, 107 N.W. 681, 20 S.D. 498, 111 N.W. 540, 21 S.D. 209.

Preference

On an appeal by one who applied for letters of administration prior to the appointment of another against whom he claimed a preference, the question of preference is properly before the appellate court.—Cooper v. Cooper, 88 N.E. 341, 43 Ind.App. 620.

The rights of legatees to take under a will are not matters in issue on an appeal from an order appointing an executor, except in so far as disqualification of the executor is shown.—In re Forrest's Estate, 110 P.2d 1023, 43 Cal.App.2d 347.

61. Mass.—Hayden v. Keown, 122 N.E. 264, 232 Mass. 259, certiorari denied Keown v. Hayden, 40 S.Ct. 10, 250 U.S. 661, 63 L.Ed. 1195.

A motion to dismiss an application for administration on grounds not shown to have been urged below, and not filed until three months after perfecting the appeal in the supreme court, may be properly denied, in

The appellate court is precluded from considering issues or contentions not raised in the original proceedings for appointment;⁶² and accordingly the objection that a petitioner for letters of administration did not sign his petition⁶³ or that letters were issued without due notice to all persons interested⁶⁴ cannot be made for the first time on appeal; nor may a party complain of alleged error in the findings of facts where such corrections as were asked were granted in the court below.⁶⁵ So also the fact that a party alleged the necessity of administration in his petition for appointment precludes him, on appeal from an order appointing another, from raising the question of the necessity of administration.⁶⁶

An order not appealed from is not before the appellate court for review;⁶⁷ and a motion for appointment which was never acted on by the trial court will be considered by the reviewing court as abandoned.⁶⁸

Academic questions pertaining to the appointment need not be considered by the appellate court.⁶⁹ So, where a party could not have sustained an appeal from the judgment below, it was immaterial that his motion for a continuance was overruled.⁷⁰ Error assigned on the trial court's refusal to sustain objection to one petition for appointment will not be considered where another petition was before the trial court which was sufficient to give it jurisdiction.⁷¹

d. Hearing on Appeal

In some jurisdictions, the appellate court may try the matter de novo on the issues made in the lower court, but in others the review is purely appellate in character, on the proofs made below. The appellate court will give effect to such presumptions as are warranted by the state of the record.

In some jurisdictions the matter may be tried de novo in the appellate court.⁷² In such case the court has only power to render such judgment or order as the lower court might have made,⁷³ and trial de novo may be had only on issues made by the litigants in the lower court, so that amendments to the pleadings which inject new issues before the appellate court should not be allowed.⁷⁴ On the other hand, where the jurisdiction of the court of review is strictly of an appellate character, the review must be on the proofs which were before the trial court,⁷⁵ and the appellate court cannot receive view of such delay.—Mowry v. Latham, 40 A. 236, 341, 20 R.I. 786.

62. La.—Succession of Lewis, 189 So. 118, 192 La. 734—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

Failure to demur

Appellant, not demurring to opposition to his appointment as administrator, cannot urge its insufficiency to put his competency in issue.—In re Ingram's Estate, 279 P. 208, 99 Cal.App. 660.

Comparative merits of candidates

The court to which an appeal is taken from an order granting letters of administration ought not to take into consideration, in deciding on such appeal, the comparative merits of the grantee and of the party who opposed him as candidates for the office, unless it appears by some evidence from the record that a motion for the appointment of such opposing party was substantially made in the court below.—Bohn v. Sheppard, 4 Munf. 403, 18 Va. 403.

63. Neb.—In re Graff, 125 N.W. 1091, 86 Neb. 535.

64. N.Y.—In re Nesmith, 1 N.Y.S. 343.

65. Conn.—Appeal of Eva, 104 A. 238, 93 Conn. 38.

66. La.—Succession of Damico, 99 So. 862, 155 La. 1036.

67. Wis.—In re Richardson's Estate, 282 N.W. 585, 229 Wis. 426.

Order fixing time for appeal and bill of exceptions

Wis.—In re Richardson's Estate, 282 N.W. 585, 229 Wis. 426.

68. Tenn.—Crahb v. Cole, 84 S.W.2d 597, 19 Tenn.App. 201.

69. S.C.—In re Youman's Estate, 163 S.E. 884, 165 S.C. 337.

70. Ga.—Sutherland v. Barker, 132 S.E. 119, 35 Ga.App. 42.

71. Wash.—In re Mason's Estate, 66 P.2d 310, 189 Wash. 641.

72. N.M.—In re Miller's Estate, 38 P.2d 1116, 39 N.M. 40.
23 C.J. p 1067 note 9.

Severable judgments

Judgment accepting resignations of administrators and judgment appointing another person as administrator were severable; hence appeal from judgment appointing administrator did not require trial de novo in district court of both phases of proceedings.—Slay v. Davidson, Tex. Civ.App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.

Prior right

On appeal from probate to district court, trial de novo should have been had of issue of prior right between two claimants to administer estate of intestate.—In re Miller's Estate, 38 P.2d 1116, 39 N.M. 40.

73. Okl.—In re Copperfield's Estate, 12 P.2d 490, 158 Okl. 40.

Immaterial evidence is inadmissible.—In re Morgan, 176 N.W. 606, 209 Mich. 65.

Determination of facts by jury

Jury on appeal, determining question of fitness of appointee can properly consider all proved facts and circumstances reasonably leading to belief that interest of such person is adverse to that of estate; verdict sustaining judgment appointing administrator held not without sufficient evidence to support it.—Davis v. Davis, 127 S.E. 779, 33 Ga. App. 628.

Directed verdict in favor of appellant claiming right to appointment as administrator held proper on trial de novo where previously existing disqualification had been removed.—McSoley v. Sleprow, 173 A. 124, 54 R.I. 374.

Separate findings

In proceeding for issuance of letters wherein an appeal was taken to the circuit court after the probate court overruled motion to set aside appointment theretofore made, where there was no controversy over the facts, circuit court was not required to file separate findings of fact and conclusions of law.—In re Helm's Estate, Mo.App., 136 S.W.2d 427.

Affirmance of order on trial de novo held proper

Idaho.—Vaught v. Struble, 120 P.2d 259.

74. Okl.—In re Copperfield's Estate, 12 P.2d 490, 158 Okl. 40.

75. Mass.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E. 2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

further evidence or award an issue to be tried by a jury.⁷⁶

It has been held that the trial court's findings of fact will not be disturbed by the appellate court unless they are manifestly erroneous;⁷⁷ and the burden is on appellant to establish that the findings and judgment appealed from are against the clear weight of the evidence.⁷⁸ However, where evidence was improperly admitted by the trial court, the appellate court will make the finding of fact required after the elimination of such improper evidence.⁷⁹

Presumptions. The appellate court will make such assumptions as are warranted by the state of the record.⁸⁰ In the absence of evidence on which the court acted in appointing an administrator, it must be presumed on appeal that the person appointed was a proper person to act as administrator.⁸¹ The appellate court will also presume that a trial court which dismissed the petition for lack of jurisdiction did not decide the merits of questions involved;⁸² and, where a contest was dismissed because of insufficiency of interest to intervene as a party, the reviewing court in passing on such question will conclusively presume the truth of the facts alleged in the contest.⁸³

Qualifications of executor

In Nebraska the province of the clerk of the superior court is to pass on the qualification of an executor, subject to the right of the superior court to review his judgment on appeal, and subject to the right of appeal to the supreme court as to matters of law only.—In re Gulley's Will, 118 S.E. 839, 186 N.C. 78.

76. N.Y.—Devin v. Patchin, 26 N.Y. 441, 445.

23 C.J. p 1067 note 10.

77. S.C.—Ex parte Blizzard, 193 S. E. 633.

Weight and credibility of testimony

The appellate court will not pass on the credibility of witnesses before the trial court and the weight to be given to their testimony.—Manire v. Burt, Tex.Civ.App., 121 S.W.2d 630, error refused.

Domicile of decedent

Lower court's findings of fact as to domicile of decedent on grant of letters of administration, if supported by competent evidence, is conclusive.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 305, 188 N.C. 268.

72. Okl.—Secrest v. Secrest, 36 P.2d 57, 188 Okl. 576.

79. N.Y.—In re Lucey's Estate, 23 N.Y.S.2d 308, 260 App.Div. 936, re-argument denied 24 N.Y.S.2d 1012, 260 App.Div. 1028.

80. R.I.—Eckilson v. Greene, 1 A.2d 117, 61 R.I. 394.

Grounds for dismissing appeal

Where record did not show grounds on which superior court dismissed an appeal from probate court, reviewing court would assume that appeal was dismissed on grounds relied on by appellee to sustain such dismissal.—Eckilson v. Greene, supra.

Proof of nomination

Where trial court rejected petition for letters of administration of appellant, claiming to be nominee of deceased's surviving widow, appellate court would presume, in support of the order, that no proof that appellant's nomination was genuine was made, in absence of record showing evidence taken at the hearing.—In re Woodcock's Estate, Cal. App., 120 P.2d 96.

81. Mass.—Copeland v. Shapley, 100 N.E. 1080, 214 Mass. 132.

82. R.I.—Eckilson v. Greene, 1 A.2d 117, 61 R.I. 394.

83. Tex.—Balfour v. Collins, 25 S. W.2d 804, 119 Tex. 122, answer to certified question conformed to, Civ.App., 27 S.W.2d 185.

84. La.—Succession of Coco, 171 So. 70, 185 La. 901.

85. Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 65 P.2d 1395, 156 Or. 333, rehearing denied 68 P.2d 479, 156 Or. 333.

*A motion by appellee to dismiss the appeal is made too late where filed after the case was argued and submitted to the court.*⁸⁴

a. Disposition of Cause

The decision of the lower court with respect to the appointment of an executor or administrator will be affirmed if correct, or may be modified so far as incorrect, but a discretionary order or appointment will not be interfered with in the absence of manifest abuse of discretion. An erroneous decision will be reversed so far as needful, the case being remanded to permit the making of the proper appointment, although, according to some decisions, the appellate court may direct the appointment of a particular person or make the appointment itself.

The lower court's decision as to the appointment of an executor or administrator will be affirmed by the appellate court, if correct, or it may be modified by it so far as it is incorrect.⁸⁵ Unless the decree of appointment was unwarranted on the record or was inconsistent as a matter of law with the facts reported, the appellate court will permit the decree to stand,⁸⁶ and it will not interfere with a discretionary order in the absence of a demonstration of manifest abuse of discretion.⁸⁷ So the appellate courts are not disposed to set aside an appointment regularly made by the court or judge except where the latter has clearly abused the wide discretion which the law confides to it or him.⁸⁸

Assignments held not to present error

Utah.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606.

86. Ala.—McFry v. Casey, 101 So. 449, 211 Ala. 649.

Mass.—Gordon v. Shea, 14 N.E.2d 105, 300 Mass. 95.

Weight of evidence

Appellate court will weigh evidence, but will not reverse trial court's judgment determining jurisdictional facts unless clearly against weight of evidence.—Franklin v. Beard, 42 P.2d 835, 171 Okl. 254—Anderson v. Jackson, 41 P.2d 815, 170 Okl. 612.

Finding supported by evidence

The finding that one named as executor is not "suitable" as he is required by statute to be will not be disturbed on appeal, where it rests on adequate evidence.—In re Holterman's Estate, 282 N.W. 132, 203 Minn. 519.

87. N.Y.—In re Johnston's Will, 299 N.Y.S. 43, 164 Misc. 412.

Buling on application to retract re-annunciation of appointment
N.Y.—In re Johnston's Will, supra.

88. Cal.—In re Woodcock's Estate, App., 120 P.2d 96.

Hawaii.—In re Maalo's Estate, 31 Hawaii 97.

Ind.—Haughey v. Haughey, 127 N.E. 454, 73 Ind.App. 318.

An appeal from a decree refusing to grant letters testamentary will be dismissed where it does not appear that the will has been admitted to probate.⁸⁹

On the other hand, an erroneous order, judgment, or decree will be reversed,⁹⁰ although such action will not be taken where only harmless error occurred in the proceedings below,⁹¹ or where the ruling of the court below was more favorable to appellant than he had a right to expect.⁹²

Ordinarily the appellate court will reverse an erroneous judgment only so far as may be needful, once more remanding the cause so that the lower court may proceed to exercise a sound discretion in making the due appointment accordingly;⁹³ and it has been held that the abatement of appeal proceedings by the death of the person appointed as administrator does not entitle the court to appoint his successor on such appeal.⁹⁴ According to a few decisions, however, the remand may be with directions to appoint a particular person,⁹⁵ and under at least one statute the appellate court may itself make the appointment which it deems proper.⁹⁶

The appellate court's decision is determinative of issues disposed therein with respect to further proceedings in the cause;⁹⁷ but it cannot finally pass on the validity of claims asserted by or against decedent's estate.⁹⁸

Where a widow applied for letters of adminis-

Iowa.—In re Rugh's Estate, 234 N.W. 278, 211 Iowa 722.

La.—Succession of Virgetts, 162 So. 53, 182 La. 491—Succession of Eb-erle, 99 So. 464, 155 La. 603.

Mass.—Osborne v. Craig, 146 N.E. 263, 251 Mass. 169.

Mont.—In re Rino's Estate, 30 P.2d 803, 96 Mont. 344—In re Welscher's Estate, 250 P. 447, 77 Mont. 164.

Utah.—In re Smith's Estate, 40 P.2d 180, 85 Utah 606—In re Slater's Estate, 184 P. 1017, 55 Utah 252.
23 C.J. p 1067 note 12.

89. Me.—In re Gurdy, 63 A. 322, 101 Me. 73.

90. La.—Succession of Coco, 171 So. 70, 185 La. 901.

Minn.—In re Betts' Estate, 243 N.W. 58, 185 Minn. 627, reversing in part 240 N.W. 904, 185 Minn. 627.

Particular grounds for reversal

(1) Exclusion of material evidence.—Beeman v. Jones, Tex.Civ. App., 102 S.W.2d 490.

(2) Where, on the application of one to be appointed administrator of the estate of an intestate, a caveat was filed by another contesting such appointment, and praying that the caveator be appointed administrator, and the ordinary, after a hearing, passed an order vesting administration in the clerk of the superior court of the county where the application was made, it was error, on appeal by the original caveator from this order of the ordinary, for the presiding judge of the superior court to dismiss the appeal on the ground "that there had been no caveat to the appointment of the clerk."—Hancock v. Minshew, 36 S.E. 296, 111 Ga. 843.

Defective record

(1) Where record, on appeal, did not disclose what issues were considered or that hearing was had or that testimony was taken or opportunity afforded to offer testimony, appeal would not be dismissed, but orders would be reversed and case remanded so as to afford the respective parties an opportunity to have matter heard and duly determined.—Phillips v. Clark, Md., 6 A.2d 220.

(2) Record did not support finding that petitioner for administration was incompetent for "want of understanding" where finding was predicated only on trial court's opportunity to observe petitioner.—In re Olcese's Estate, 291 P. 193, 210 Cal. 262.

Demurrer to petition

On appeal from order sustaining demurrer to petition to set aside probate proceedings, court will order judgment dismissing petition set aside, but will not order probate proceedings set aside on theory that notices of hearing were improperly posted, where court was confined to facts set out in petition to set aside for information as to location of notices posted.—In re Phillips' Estate, 44 P.2d 699, 86 Utah 358.

Decision not deferrable

Appellee in suit opposing his appointment was not entitled to have court defer its decision of removal and remand case to await action of district court on provisional account of administrator as administrator ad interim and on the rule of certain heirs, to be placed in possession.—Succession of Coco, 171 So. 70, 185 La. 901.

91. Mont.—In re Meyer's Estate, 15 P.2d 846, 92 Mont. 474.

Tex.—Aldana v. Aldana, Civ.App., 42 S.W.2d 661, error dismissed.

Improper admission or exclusion of evidence may under the circumstances fail to constitute reversible error.

Mich.—In re Corby's Estate, 203 N.W. 877, 231 Mich. 235.

Tex.—Aldana v. Aldana, Civ.App., 42 S.W.2d 661, error dismissed.

Reservation of ruling on evidence

On application for letters of administration, that court reserved ruling on admissibility of testimony over objection, promising to disregard inadmissible testimony, was held harmless to opponent.—In re Myer's Estate, 15 P.2d 846, 92 Mont. 474.

92. Ga.—Popwell v. Nail, 107 S.E. 364, 27 Ga.App. 97.

93. Md.—Horton v. Horton, 145 A. 355, 157 Md 127.

Okl.—In re Barrett's Estate, 72 P.2d 482, 181 Okl. 262.

23 C.J. p 1068 note 13.

In North Carolina

(1) Judge after reversing clerk's order appointing administrator had no jurisdiction to appoint another of his own selection, since appointment by clerk was not "civil action" or "special proceeding" within statute authorizing judge to render final judgment in such cases; cause should have been remanded by court for further proceedings.—In re Styers' Estate, 164 S.E. 123, 202 N.C. 715—23 C.J. p 1068 note 13 [a] (1).

(2) Formerly the appellate court had jurisdiction to make the appointment on reversing the action of the lower court.—Blunt v. Moore, 18 N.C. 10.

94. La.—Succession of Coco, 164 So. 326, 183 La. 517.

95. Pa.—Gause's Estate, 1 Chest.Co. 105.

Wyo.—In re Barrett, 138 P. 865, 141 P. 95, 22 Wyo. 281.

96. La.—Bossu's Succession, 38 So. 878, 115 La. 13.

97. La.—Succession of Coco, 165 So. 646, 184 La. 144.

Failure to observe judgment

Where, on prior appeal, an administrator was directed to be appointed, a refusal by the trial court to enter an order substituting him for the acting administrators until they had fully settled their account is error.—State v. Superior Court for King County, 201 P. 25, 117 Wash. 376.

98. Tex.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Civ. App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

tration on her husband's estate, and asked that if she could not be appointed by reason of disabilities the letters be issued to another person selected by her, it was no ground for dismissing her appeal from the judgment of the ordinary awarding administration to a person other than the one named by her that the person so named was the security on her appeal bond.⁹⁹ It has been held that an administratrix who has been duly appointed should not be removed on a dilatory appeal from the order of appointment, unless she is indemnified against liability for acts properly performed by her as administratrix before the date of the filing of the petition to enter an appeal.¹

§ 65. Costs

A party failing in his application for a curatorship, and one contesting in bad faith petitioner's right to appointment, have been required to pay costs. The decedent's estate has been held not chargeable with the expense of litigating relative rights to letters.

It has been held that a party failing in his application for a curatorship must pay costs,² and, where the probate court finds that a party to a proceeding to appoint an administrator did not act in good faith in contesting the petitioner's right to the appointment, costs are properly awarded against such contestant.³ The right to costs on appeal from a decision as to the appointment of executors and administrators depends on the provisions of the applicable statute.⁴ It has been held that the estate of the decedent cannot be charged with the expense incident to parties' litigating their relative rights to letters of administration;⁵ but there is also authority holding that where the appeal proceeding is abated by the death of the party appointed, thus depriving other parties ordered to pay costs of the opportunity to set aside the order, liability for costs of the appeal may be imposed on the estate.⁶

A judgment for fees of an attorney who was not a party to the litigation should be rendered in favor of the party employing him and not in his own favor.⁷

D. QUALIFICATION AND FAILURE TO QUALIFY OR ACT

§ 66. Oath

An executor or administrator is generally required to take an oath of office, prescribed by statute, before entering on his duties. One who acts as administrator cannot escape liability by failure to take the oath.

As a general rule an executor or administrator is required, before entering on his duties as such, to take an oath of office prescribed by statute,⁸ but informalities in the taking of the oath are regarded with lenience.⁹ Where a contested will has been admitted to probate, it is neither requisite nor proper to insert in the oath of the executor a clause averring that the will is the true last will and testament of the testator.¹⁰

The taking and filing of the oath is an acceptance of the office,¹¹ but one who takes charge of an estate as administrator cannot escape liability by reason of his having failed to take the oath and file the bond required by law.¹² Letters of administration are presumptive evidence that the requisite oath has been taken,¹³ and that letters were not issued until the duty was performed.¹⁴

§ 67. Bond

- a. Requirement
- b. Amount
- c. Sureties

99. Ga.—Headman v. Rose, 53 Ga. 458.

1. Mass.—Nash v. Whitcomb, 114 N.E. 669, 225 Mass. 487.

2. La.—Succession of Miller, 83 So. 185, 145 La. 903.

23 C.J. p 1068 note 22.

Counsel fees and costs as expenditures recoverable by representative against estate see infra §§ 223-228.

3. N.Y.—In re Clark, 15 N.Y.S. 370.

4. La.—Succession of Miller, 83 So. 185, 145 La. 903.

5. Utah.—In re Pingree's Estate, 25 P.2d 937, 82 Utah 437, 90 A.L.R. 96.

6. La.—Succession of Coco, 164 So. 326, 182 La. 517.

7. Utah.—In re Pingree's Estate, 25 P.2d 937, 82 Utah 437, 90 A.L.R. 96.

8. Tex.—Reed v. Harlan, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused. 23 C.J. p 1068 note 24.

Change to permanent status

Temporary administrator, on being made permanent administrator, must take new oath as permanent administrator.—Reed v. Harlan, Tex. Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused.

Where the statute does not require an executor to take an oath as such, the fact that he does not take an oath will not affect his right to maintain an action to collect assets of the estate.—Leahy v. Haworth, Neb., 141 F. 850, 73 C.C.A. 84, 4 L.R. A.N.S., 657.

9. Tex.—Caddell v. Lufkin Land & Lumber Co., Com.App., 255 S.W. 397, affirming Civ.App., 234 S.W. 138.

23 C.J. p 1068 note 25.

Lack of caption

Where an oath filed by the administrator contained a recital, "I am the same person mentioned in the above letters of administration," and was at one time attached to the letters of administration, the oath was sufficiently identified as the one required, regardless of a lack of caption identifying the oath.—Moe v. Judd, 208 P. 82, 121 Wash. 14.

10. N.J.—In re Maxwell, 3 N.J.Eq. 611.

23 C.J. p 1069 note 26.

11. N.Y.—Seaman v. Jamison, 131 N.Y.S. 155, 146 App.Div. 428.

12. Idaho.—Harris v. Coates, 69 P. 475, 8 Idaho 491.

13. La.—Craig's Heirs v. Frost Lumber Industries, 120 So. 709, 10 La. App. 541.

23 C.J. p 1069 note 29.

14. La.—Brooks v. Walker, 3 La. Ann. 150.

N.Y.—Dayton v. Johnson, 69 N.Y. 419.

- d. Form and requisites
- e. Effect of failure to provide, or cancellation of, bond
- f. New or additional security
- g. Proceedings
- h. Relief or protection of sureties

a. Requirement

- (1) Of executors
- (2) Of administrators

(1) Of Executors

- (a) In general
- (b) Circumstances in which bond properly required

(a) In General

The general rule is that an executor must give bond, although some statutes leave the requirement within the court's discretion, while others dispense with it; but the court is usually empowered to dispense with this requirement where the will provides that no bond need be given, and it may permit the executor to furnish only a limited bond where he is residuary legatee.

Although the necessity of a bond is ordinarily dispensed with in the case of an executor under some statutes,¹⁵ at least where the will does not exact a bond,¹⁶ the general rule is that an executor must give a bond for the faithful performance of his trust,¹⁷ unless, as will appear, the testator by his will has dispensed with such security.

The bond is for the benefit of all interested in the testator's estate, and not merely for those who ask for security.¹⁸ Some statutes requiring executors to give bond have been regarded as mandatory,¹⁹ but others have been regarded as directory merely, leaving it within the discretion of the court to dispense with security under some circumstances.²⁰

Security may be required of an executor after letters testamentary have been issued without bond,²¹ and, indeed, it has been held that it is only after letters have been granted to an executor that the probate court acquires jurisdiction to compel him to give security.²²

Effect of testamentary provisions dispensing with security. The general rule, above stated, that an executor must give a bond does not apply where the testator by his will has dispensed therewith.²³ However, a testamentary provision that the executor need give no bond or need have no sureties on the bond given merely empowers the court to dispense with the bond or sureties which it would otherwise be its duty to require in case the court deemed it prudent to do so, but does not deprive the court of power to require the executor to give bond or sureties if this is deemed necessary or prudent, or some person interested in the estate demands it;²⁴ although the testator's directions in this respect will be regarded unless good reason to the 15. Pa.—In re Walker's Estate, 17 Pa. Dist. & Co. 713, 14 Erie Co. 128. 23 C.J. p 1069 note 34.

Absence of claims

Executor is not required to give bond, where there are no debts due from succession and no property in possession thereof claimed by other persons; right to appointment without bond is not affected by fact that in succession was included succession of testator's predeceased wife, since, when wife's succession consists only of community property, it is administered by, and rights of her heirs settled in, her husband's succession.—Succession of Rassat, La. App., 157 So. 412.

16. S.C.—Evans v. Adams, 185 S.E. 57, 180 S.C. 214.

17. Ky.—Hopkins v. Howard's Ex'x, 99 S.W.2d 810, 266 Ky. 685.

Miss.—Brown v. Franklin, 127 So. 561, 157 Miss. 38.

N.Y.—In re Gimbel's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 283, 176 Misc. 781.

Tex.—National Surety Corporation v. Ladd, 115 S.W.2d 600, 131 Tex. 295, reversing In re Turner's Estate, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1204—Land v. Land, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 207, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1069 note 35.

Liability on bond see infra §§ 944–987.

English rule see 23 C.J. p 1069 notes 31–33.

Reasonable construction of statute

Statute requiring executors to execute bonds to state and prescribing terms thereof must be given reasonable and effectual construction.—Neighbors v. Beck, 159 A. 748, 162 Md. 362.

Except for the reasons specified by statute executors cannot be called on to furnish bonds.—Sandford v. Bronx Boro Builders, 161 N.Y.S. 975, 175 App.Div. 384—23 C.J. p 1069 note 35 [e].

18. N.Y.—Holmes v. Cock, 2 Barb. Ch. 426.

19. U.S.—Wall v. Bissell, Ind., 8 S. Ct. 979, 125 U.S. 382, 31 L.Ed. 772, construing Indiana statute.

23 C.J. p 1069 note 37.

20. Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

23 C.J. p 1069 note 38.

The clerk has no such discretion but must always take bond and security when he issues letters.—Dillen v. Fancher, supra—Bankhead v. Hubbard, 14 Ark. 298.

21. Cal.—In re White, 53 Cal. 19.

Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 1085, 146 Kan. 121, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S.Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

Okl.—In re Dillard's Estate, 88 P.2d 639, 184 Okl. 534, 121 A.L.R. 947.

22. Pa.—Harberger's App., 98 Pa. 29.

Tex.—Daniels v. Jones, Civ.App., 224 S.W. 476, error refused.

23. Ky.—Hopkins v. Howard's Ex'x, 99 S.W.2d 810, 266 Ky. 685.

Ohio.—Tieiman v. Smith, 30 Ohio N. P.N.S., 544.

23 C.J. p 1069, note 36.

A direction in a will that no sureties shall be required does not relieve the executors of the necessity of giving their personal bonds.—Hammond v. Wood, 10 A. 623, 15 R.I. 566.

24. Ala.—Rudolph v. Hodo, 153 So. 238, 228 Ala. 170.

Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

Ga.—Powell v. Smith, 174 S.E. 341, 178 Ga. 737.

Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 146 Kan. 121, appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S. Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

contrary is made to appear.²⁵ Where a bond is required by the court notwithstanding direction to the contrary, it may continue to exercise such discretion with respect to abandoning or discontinuing the requirement on application by the executor.²⁶

Limited bond where executor is residuary legatee.

When the executor is residuary legatee and it appears that so extensive a security is not needful for the protection of any person interested in the estate, the usual bond may be dispensed with, and the executor allowed at his option to give a bond with condition merely to pay all funeral charges, debts, legacies, and statutory allowances.²⁷ By giving such a bond the executor, as appears infra § 944, conclusively admits assets sufficient to pay debts, legacies, and allowances, and binds himself and sureties absolutely in the penal sum to pay accordingly, even though the estate should prove insolvent. It has been held that the whole estate passes to the residuary legatee when the bond is given and the administration thereupon terminates,²⁸ but there is also authority for the view that the bond does not vest the assets in the residuary legatee, or close the administration, in any such sense as to prejudice other legatees or creditors.²⁹ Such a special bond cannot be canceled or surrendered and a bond in common form substituted after the lapse of considerable time from the date when an inventory should in ordinary course have been filed.³⁰ The bond is not invalidated, so far as the conditions contained therein are lawful, by the addition of unnecessary or illegal conditions, such as a requirement that the executor account.³¹

(b) Circumstances in Which Bond Properly Required

Circumstances under which a bond is properly required of the executor include nonresidence, financial circumstances affording inadequate security for due administration, conduct showing a want of fidelity, and actual or threatened waste or mismanagement of the estate; the existence of facts rendering a bond necessary is for the determination of the judge in the exercise of his discretion.

Reasons which may or must lead to a person nominated as executor being required to give bond include the fact that he is a nonresident,³² that he is insolvent,³³ and that his financial circumstances are precarious³⁴ or not such as to afford adequate security for the due administration of the estate.³⁵ On the other hand, it has been held that mere poverty of an executor does not render security necessary,³⁶ nor is such security required by the fact that the executor's property is not equal to the value of the estate,³⁷ especially if his property exceeds the amount which he will probably have in his hands

Ky.—Hopkins v. Howard's Ex'x, 99 S.W.2d 810, 266 Ky. 685.

La.—Succession of Bankston, App., 166 So. 900.
23 C.J. p 1070 note 48.

Rule applicable to bond for nonresident executor

N.Y.—In re Gimbel's Estate, 29 N.Y. S.2d 283, 176 Misc. 781.

Statutory provisions construed

(1) Statutory requirement of bond of executor, relieved therefrom by will, is only on a judicial finding that estate is likely to be wasted to prejudice of some person interested therein.—Naugher v. Hinson, 100 So. 221, 211 Ala. 278.

(2) Statute requiring executor to give bond under some circumstances, even though testator states none is required, is not for benefit of creditors only.—Brown v. Franklin, 127 So. 561, 157 Miss. 38.

25. Ala.—Rudolph v. Hodo, 153 So. 238, 228 Ala. 170.

Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

Ohio.—Tieiman v. Smith, 30 Ohio N. P.N.S., 544.

Pa.—In re Walker's Estate, 17 Pa. Dist. & Co. 713, 14 Erie Co. 128.

Wash.—In re Passage's Estate, 210 P. 370, 122 Wash. 249.

23 C.J. p 1070 note 49.

In New York

(1) No bond can be required of an executor in contravention of the terms of the will, where the fiduciary has qualified and is acting as such.—In re Berardini, 270 N.Y.S. 182, 241 App.Div. 753.—In re Kennedy's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 883, 149 Misc. 188.—Matter of Chisholm's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 423, 147 Misc. 99.—In re Van Deusen's Will, 181 N.Y.S. 330, 111 Misc. 74.

(2) However, direction in will that executrix serve without bond was held inapplicable after widow completed duties as executrix and turned over assets of estate to herself as widow and as trustee for remaindermen.—In re Ross' Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 53, 151 Misc. 366.

26. Okl.—In re Dillard's Estate, 88 P.2d 639, 184 Okl. 534, 121 A.L.R. 947.

Statutes held inapplicable

Statutes dealing with release on application of surety of executors or administrators were inapplicable to limit executrix' application to be relieved from retaining bond which county court, in its discretion, had required, where circumstances warranted discontinuance.—In re Dillard's Estate, supra.

27. Mich.—Greenberg v. Mosley's

Estate, 279 N.W. 904, 284 Mich. 683.

23 C.J. p 1070 note 42.

28. R.I.—Bowler v. Emery, 70 A. 7, 29 R.I. 310.

23 C.J. p 1070 note 44.

29. Mich.—In re Vedder, 81 N.W. 356, 122 Mich. 439.

23 C.J. p 1070 note 45.

30. R.I.—Adams v. Central Falls Prob. Ct., 58 A. 782, 26 R.I. 239.

23 C.J. p 1070 note 46.

31. R.I.—Central Falls Prob. Ct. v. Adams, 60 A. 769, 27 R.I. 97, 8 Ann.Cas. 1028.

32. N.Y.—In re Gimbel's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 283, 176 Misc. 781.

N.C.—In re Dexter's Estate, 189 N.Y.S. 366, 116 Misc. 17.

23 C.J. p 1071 note 50.

33. Pa.—In re Walker's Estate, 17 Pa. Dist. & Co. 713, 14 Erie Co. 128.
23 C.J. p 1071 note 51.

34. Ga.—Powell v. Smith, 174 S.E. 341, 178 Ga. 737.

23 C.J. p 1071 note 52.

35. Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

23 C.J. p 1071 note 53.

36. N.C.—Fairbairn v. Fisher, 57 N.C. 390.

37. N.Y.—Mandeville v. Mandeville, 8 Paige 475.

unadministered at any one time.³⁸

A bond is also properly required where the conduct of the executor shows a want of fidelity in the execution of the trust,³⁹ or where he has wasted or mismanaged the estate, or there is reasonable ground for apprehending that he will do so.⁴⁰ However, where the person committing such waste is by the will entitled to immediate possession of all the property, and it is not shown that there were any debts, the executor cannot be required to give bond.⁴¹

The existence of facts rendering a bond necessary is for the determination of the probate judge in the exercise of his discretion,⁴² and a surrogate under a state of facts warranting exercise of the power to revoke letters testamentary and direct and control the conduct of an executor, may, as a condition of not exercising such power, compel the executor to give a bond.⁴³

(2) Of Administrators

An administrator is universally required to give bond.

38. N.Y.—Mandeville v. Mandeville, supra—Martin v. Duke, 5 Redf. Surr. 597, criticizing Freeman v. Kellogg, 4 Redf. Surr. 218.

39. N.J.—Holcomb v. Coryell, 12 N. J.Eq. 289.

Failure to file inventory

However, where will relieved executors of giving bond, filing inventory or reporting to the courts, failure to file inventory was not a dereliction material to legatee's application to require executors to give bond.—Bowie v. Phenix-Girard Bank, 185 So. 363, 237 Ala. 44.

40. Ky.—Hopkins v. Howard's Ex'x, 99 S.W.2d 810, 266 Ky. 685. 23 C.J. p 1071 note 58.

"Endangered" interest

Beneficiary's interest is not "endangered", within statute fixing this as condition of requiring bond, unless prejudicial waste is likely to result.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

A bond will not be required where it does not appear that the executor is wasting or misapplying the assets, and there is no well grounded apprehension of such action.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995—23 C.J. p 1071 note 58 [f].

41. Ga.—Pass v. Pass, 192 S.E. 64, 56 Ga.App. 59.

42. Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S. W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 1085, 146 Kan. 121, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S.Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

Okl.—In re Dillard's Estate, 88 P.2d 639, 184 Okl. 534, 121 A.L.R. 947. 23 C.J. p 1071 note 59.

43. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 1085, 146 Kan. 121, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S. Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502. N.Y.—Matter of Wischmann, 80 N. Y.S. 789, 80 App.Div. 520.

44. U.S.—The Linseed King, D.C.N. Y., 48 F.2d 311, affirmed, C.C.A., In re Spencer Kellogg & Sons, 52 F.2d 129, certiorari granted Spencer Kellogg & Sons v. Hicks, 52 S.Ct. 126, 284 U.S. 610, 76 L.Ed. 522, reversed on other grounds The Linseed King, 52 S.Ct. 450, 285 U.S. 502, 76 L.Ed. 903.

Mo.—Leahy v. Mercantile Trust Co., 247 S.W. 396, 296 Mo. 561.

Ohio.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Decker, 171 N.E. 333, 122 Ohio St. 285, 68 A.L.R. 1538.

23 C.J. p 1072 note 61.

Bond of:

Administrator de bonis non see infra § 1022.

Administrator with the will annexed see infra § 1033.

Public administrator see infra § 1051.

Temporary or special administrator see infra § 1037.

A foreign consul who is appointed administrator of the estate of a citizen of the country which he represents must ordinarily give bond.

Mass.—In re Wyman, 77 N.E. 379, 191 Mass. 296, 114 Am.S.R. 601.

N.Y.—Matter of D'Adamo, 144 N.Y.S. 429, 159 App.Div. 40.

23 C.J. p 1072 note 61 [e].

It is the universal rule to require an administrator to give bond,⁴⁴ and the fact that the estate of a decedent is insignificant in value, the principal asset being a claim alleged to be due for the wrongful death of deceased, is not ground for exempting an administrator from giving bond.⁴⁵

b. Amount

The amount of the bond should conform to the provision of the statute, and such discretion as remains in the court with respect to fixing or reducing the amount should be exercised with regard to the circumstances of the estate. The value of all assets within the administration should usually be included in computing the value of the estate on which the penal sum is based.

The amount of the penalty of an executor's or administrator's bond must conform to the provision of the statute, the amount usually being fixed with reference to the estimated value of the estate.⁴⁶ It has been held that, if the bond is given for more than is required by law, it is void as to the surplus only.⁴⁷

Statutory provisions for modified security in stat-

Temporary administrator, on being made permanent administrator, must give new bond as permanent administrator.—Reed v. Harlan, Tex.Civ. App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused.

Statute held mandatory

Provision of statute requiring administrator to furnish bond in ten days from appointment is mandatory.—Dixon v. Davis, La.App., 155 So. 407.

45. Nev.—In re Bailey, 103 P. 232, 31 Nev. 377, Ann.Cas.1912A 743.

46. Okl.—Wacoche v. Moss, 288 P. 955, 143 Okl. 288.

Tex.—Land v. Land, Civ.App., 40 S. W.2d 207, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1072 note 63.

Amount named by testator

Although testator requests that bond be given by his executor in a stated amount, court must fix the amount of the bond in accordance with statutory requirement for bond of double the value of the estate, since court has no discretion to follow testator's request except where testator dispenses altogether with necessity of bond.—Tieman v. Smith, 30 Ohio N.P., N.S., 544.

Irregularity in inventory

Irregularity, if any, in executrix' inventory declaring contested item therein was not claimed as part of estate, did not invalidate statutory bond equaling valuation of estate including such item.—Land v. Land, Tex.Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 207, error refused.

47. La.—Denys v. Armitage, 5 Mart. 629.

ed circumstances, that is, for a smaller bond than is usually required, are strictly construed,⁴⁸ and modified security cannot be taken on any terms except those provided for in the statute;⁴⁹ however, a provision authorizing the acceptance of a limited bond covering only the amount necessary to pay debts, taxes, and assessments, where the will excused the executor from giving bond, has been held to apply to a case where the will required nominal bond.⁵⁰

Discretion of court. Under some statutes the amount of the bond is left to the discretion of the court, to a certain extent and within certain limits;⁵¹ but the court must give due consideration to the circumstances of the estate in balancing the requirements that adequate security be afforded and that estate funds should not be wasted in payment of premiums for an excessive bond,⁵² and it has been held error to require a bond for more than double the estimated value of the property.⁵³

Considerations governing in fixing amount. In computing the value of the estate on which the penal sum is based, property personally possessed, as well as choses in action and all other property to the actual possession of which decedent was entitled as legal owner, should be considered,⁵⁴ and the whole amount of assets, not the surplus of assets over debts, furnishes the criterion;⁵⁵ but security should not be required on an estimate of more property than that which the local administration will cover,⁵⁶ and it is the value of the property, and not the amount of the claims which governs in fixing the amount of the bond.⁵⁷

Exempt property which does not form any part of the estate of decedent should not be considered,⁵⁸ nor should property of the legal title to which decedent divested himself in his lifetime, whether such transfer was procured by fraud or otherwise,⁵⁹ although the latter has been held not a hard and fast rule, since in some cases the main object of taking out letters is to recover property fraudulently conveyed.⁶⁰ Where property has been pledged, only its value in excess of the debt for which it is pledged should be considered.⁶¹

When the administrator has a clear and vested interest in a part of the fund, it has been held proper to consider only the residue in fixing the amount of the bond.⁶²

The estimated or appraised value of the estate is not conclusive in fixing the penalty of the administration bond, but, if the estimate is not correct, the amount of the penalty will be fixed according to the actual value of the estate.⁶³

In case of joint administration. The bond to be required from one of several coexecutors or coadministrators is to be fixed in view of the actual amount of the fund, and cannot be reduced by reason of an arrangement between him and his colleagues by which they assume the exclusive control

48. N.Y.—Le Roy's Estate, 5 N.Y.S. 555, 16 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 343, 1 Conn. Surr. 491, disapproving Allen's Estate, 7 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 159, 3 Dem. Surr. 63.
23 C.J. p 1072 note 64.

49. N.Y.—Week's Estate, 1 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 164.

50. Md.—Neighbors v. Beck, 159 A. 748, 162 Md. 362.

51. Md.—Neighbors v. Beck, supra. N.Y.—In re Gimbel's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 283, 176 Misc. 781.
23 C.J. p 1073 note 70.

A nonresident executor need not give bond in full amount of estate as required by statutory provisions applicable to other administrators, but amount is within discretion of court.—In re Gimbel's Estate, supra.

Bond for legacy

Where former decree directed that certain legacy should be retained by executors until legatee posted bond, which she failed to do, issuance of letters to such legatee as substitute fiduciary will be conditioned on her filing bond in amount including such sum, since she will not be permitted to circumvent direction of court in that regard.—In re Ayvazian's Estate, 275 N.Y.S. 123, 163 Misc. 467.

52. N.Y.—In re Gimbel's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 283, 176 Misc. 781.

Amount held excessive

In a case where executors had entered on their duties, and accounted for all moneys coming to their hands, and disbursed the assets of the estate pursuant to the terms of the will, with the exception of the payment of part of the legacies, the balance due on which, if anything, after applying a fund admitted to be in the hands of the executors, could be determined only by an accounting between the executors and legatees, a decree of the orphans' court requiring the executors to give bond in a sum five times more than the amount shown to remain in their hands for the faithful performance of their duties was held unjustified, as being an excessive amount even if the court was correct in requiring bond.—In re Woolsey, 59 A. 463, 67 N.J.Eq. 574, reversed on other grounds 62 A. 686, 68 N.J.Eq. 763.

53. R.I.—Sarle v. Scituate Prob. Ct., 7 R.I. 270.

Tex.—In re Bowden, 33 Tex. 730.

54. Okl.—Wacoche v. Moss, 288 P. 955, 143 Okl. 288.
23 C.J. p 1073 note 73.

Property held by government

Value of personal property belonging to estate, held by secretary of interior, cannot be excluded in determining amount of administrator's bond.—Wacoche v. Moss, supra.

55. N.Y.—Senior v. Ackerman, 2 Redf.Surr. 302.

56. N.J.—Lewis v. Grogard, 17 N. J.Eq. 425.

57. La.—Weeks' Succession, 29 So. 219, 104 La. 573.

58. Tex.—In re Bowden, 33 Tex. 730.
23 C.J. p 1073 note 78 [a].

59. N.Y.—Peck v. Peck, 3 Dem.Surr. 548.

60. N.Y.—In re Filley, 20 N.Y.S. 427, 1 Pow.Surr. 234.

61. Cal.—In re Kidd, Myr.Prob. 239.

62. N.Y.—Cotterell v. Brock, 1 Bradf.Surr. 148.
23 C.J. p 1073 note 80.

63. La.—Weeks' Succession, 29 So. 219, 104 La. 573.
23 C.J. p 1073 note 81.

and responsibility of the trust.⁶⁴

Reduction of amount. According to some decisions, the court may exercise the prerogative of reducing the amount of the bond where the condition of the estate and the circumstances justify such reduction.⁶⁵ It has been held, however, that the bond will not be reduced for a cause which could have been urged on the application to require bond,⁶⁶ and that, after the amount of the bond has once been fixed, it cannot be reduced by showing that property of the succession has been sold at less than its inventoried value, that the assets have been reduced by the payment of debts, and that the debts presently due do not require for their payment a bond as large as that furnished.⁶⁷

The statute may permit a reduction of the amount of the bond by depositing securities belonging to the estate with a designated public officer to be held subject to the order of the personal representative countersigned by the surrogate.⁶⁸

c. Sureties

Compliance must be had with statutory provisions for the furnishing of sureties on the bond of an executor or administrator, including matters as to number of sureties, who may be sureties, requisite financial condition, and justification as to such condition.

As a general rule, under statutes providing for the giving of bond by an executor or administrator, compliance must be had with provisions for the furnishing of sureties on such bond, usually two or more in number;⁶⁹ but the fact that a bond is accepted without sureties, or without the requisite number of sureties, does not render the appointment invalid,⁷⁰ unless the defect is made a fatal one by statute.⁷¹ A bond which divides up the penal liability of sureties so as to limit it to a fixed amount for each is not favored, but such a bond if approved holds good.⁷²

Who may be sureties. Who may or may not be sureties is a matter of statutory regulation, which must be followed.⁷³ Sureties are usually required to be residents of the state,⁷⁴ although they need not reside in the county where letters are granted;⁷⁵ but it has been held that in the absence of any statute expressly requiring that the sureties be residents of the state a bond is not invalidated by the fact that all the sureties are nonresidents.⁷⁶

It has been held that a husband or wife may be surety on an administration bond of his or her spouse,⁷⁷ but there is also authority for the view that the wife of an administrator should not be accepted on his bond.⁷⁸

Attorneys at law have been declared not competent to be sureties on administration bonds;⁷⁹ but it has been held that an administrator's bond whereon one of the sureties is a practicing attorney is at most voidable.⁸⁰

Corporations having the necessary power under charter or statute may be accepted as sureties on administration bonds,⁸¹ and a corporation authorized by statute to become sole surety for the faithful performance of any trust, etc., has been held a sufficient surety on an executor's bond, although a prior, general statute required two sureties;⁸² but a statute requiring that an executor or administrator shall give a surety company as bondsman has been held invalid.⁸³

Sufficiency. Each surety ought to be worth at least the amount of the penalty of the bond over and above all debts and property exempt from execution,⁸⁴ but the acceptance of an insolvent surety

64. N.Y.—Senior v. Ackerman, 2 Redf.Surr. 302.

65. Okl.—In re Dillard's Estate, 88 P.2d 639, 184 Okl. 534, 121 A.L.R. 847.

23 C.J. p 1073 note 83.

66. N.Y.—In re Filley, 20 N.Y.S. 427, 1 Pow.Surr. 234.

67. La.—Weeks' Succession, 29 So. 219, 104 La. 573.

23 C.J. p 1073 note 85.

68. N.Y.—In re Lubin, 178 N.Y.S. 777, 109 Misc. 474.

23 C.J. p 1072 note 68.

69. Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S. W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 87.
English rule see 23 C.J. p 1074 note 86.

70. Ohio.—Slagle v. Entrekin, 10 N. E. 675, 44 Ohio St. 637.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 88.

71. Pa.—McWilliams v. Hopkins, 4 Rawle 382.

72. Mass.—Baldwin v. Standish, 7 Cush. 207.

73. Iowa.—Cuppy v. Coffman, 47 N. W. 1005, 82 Iowa 214.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 91.

74. Ga.—Jones v. Smith, 48 S.E. 134, 120 Ga. 642.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 95.

Requirements in England as to residence see 23 C.J. p 1074 notes 92–94.

75. Ga.—Barksdale v. Cobb, 18 Ga. 13.

76. Ky.—Rutherford v. Clark, 4 Bush 27.

S.C.—Jones v. Jones, 45 S.C.L. 623.

77. N.Y.—Matter of Grove, 13 N.Y. St. 179, 6 Dem.Surr. 369, 13 N.Y. Civ.Proc. 267, disapproving Mc-

Master's Estate, 12 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 177.

78. La.—Weeks' Succession, 29 So. 219, 104 La. 573.

79. Iowa.—Cuppy v. Coffman, 47 N. W. 1005, 82 Iowa 214.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 1.

80. N.Y.—Matter v. Heinze, 163 N.Y. S. 415, 97 Misc. 525, appeal dismissed 163 N.Y.S. 1119.

81. Ind.—Barricklow v. Stewart, 63 N.E. 316, 31 Ind.App. 446.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 3.

82. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Miller, 45 A. 921, 195 Pa. 230.

83. Ohio.—State v. Robins, 73 N.E. 470, 71 Ohio St. 273, 69 L.R.A. 427, 2 Ann.Cas. 485.

23 C.J. p 1074 note 5.

84. N.Y.—Sutton v. Weeks, 5 Redf. Surr. 353.

23 C.J. p 1075 note 6.

does not invalidate the appointment.⁸⁵ Approval of the sureties by the court or judge may be required.⁸⁶

Justification. In some jurisdictions sureties have been required to justify as to their pecuniary responsibility,⁸⁷ but it has been held that an executor's bond is not such an official bond as will fall within the provision of a statute that all sureties on official bonds shall make justification under oath of their pecuniary responsibility,⁸⁸ although the judge may require sureties to justify if there is any reasonable doubt of their responsibility.⁸⁹ Sureties are usually permitted to prove their sufficiency by their own oath as in the qualifying of bail, and it then devolves on the opponent to show insufficiency, if he can, by cross-examination or evidence aliunde.⁹⁰

Who may object. A person not interested in the assets of an estate of a decedent cannot raise any question as to the sufficiency or legality of the surety on an administrator's bond which has been accepted.⁹¹

Indemnification of sureties. A pledge of assets of the estate to secure a surety against loss is contrary to public policy and void.⁹²

d. Form and Requisites

It is sufficient and necessary that there be substantial compliance with statutory requirements as to the form and requisites of an executor's or administrator's bond, such as with respect to naming of the obligee, proper execution of the instrument, and approval and filing of the bond by and with the proper officer and within the proper time. A bond which is defective as a statutory bond may be upheld as a common-law bond.

The form and requisites of an executor's or administrator's bond are usually prescribed by statute,⁹³ the provisions of which must be considered as written into the bond, regardless of its actual terms.⁹⁴ A substantial compliance with the statutory requirements is, however, usually deemed sufficient, and mere informalities or immaterial omissions will not necessarily invalidate the bond or defeat the appointment,⁹⁵ nor will the fact that a bond contains conditions and recitals in addition to those required by statute invalidate it;⁹⁶ and even though the bond is fatally defective as a statutory bond it may be upheld as a common-law bond,⁹⁷ and the appointment of the representative will not be a nullity, but may be effective as being de facto and voidable only.⁹⁸

Joint or several bonds. Under a statute authorizing the probate court to prescribe the forms of bonds to be given by executors, the court may, when there are two or more executors, require a joint bond, or several bonds, as it may deem proper.⁹⁹

Obligee. The bond is usually executed with the state or the judge of probate and his successors as obligee;¹ but where the will requires executors to give security the bond should run to the legatees.²

85. La.—Herriman v. Janney, 31 La. Ann. 276.

86. Me.—Mathews v. Patterson, 42 Me. 257.

23 C.J. p 1075 note 6.

Approval of bond generally see infra subdivision d of this section.

87. Iowa.—Foley v. Hamilton, 57 N. W. 439, 89 Iowa 686.

N.Y.—Matter of Thompson, 19 N.Y. St. 900, 6 Dem.Surr. 56.

88. Mich.—Bissell v. Probate Judge, 24 N.W. 886, 58 Mich. 237.

89. Mich.—Carpenter v. Probate Judge, 12 N.W. 197, 48 Mich. 318.

90. Miss.—Ross v. Mims, 15 Miss. 121.

23 C.J. p 1075 note 12.

91. Ga.—Jones v. Smith, 48 S.E. 134, 120 Ga. 642.

92. U.S.—Jennings v. Smith, D.C. Ga., 232 F. 921, reversed on other grounds 238 F. 48, 151 C.C.A. 124, certiorari denied 37 S.Ct. 399, 243 U.S. 635, 61 L.Ed. 940.

93. Ark.—Meyer v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 122 S.W.2d 586, 197 Ark. 418.

Iowa.—In re Durey's Estate, 245 N. W. 236, 215 Iowa 257.

23 C.J. p 1075 note 15.

A personal bond must be given by an executor or administrator, and a bond executed by a third person, in which the executor or administrator does not join, is not sufficient.—Hammond v. Wood, 10 A. 623, 15 R. I. 566.—Townsend v. Hazard, 9 R.I. 254.

94. Iowa.—In re Durey's Estate, 245 N.W. 236, 215 Iowa 257.

95. Ark.—Meyer v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 122 S.W.2d 586, 197 Ark. 418.

Neb.—In re Hoferer's Estate, 216 N. W. 826, 827, 116 Neb. 249, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—Moe v. Judd, 208 P. 82, 121 Wash. 14.

23 C.J. p 1075 note 16.

A bond is not invalidated by:

(1) Failure to correctly entitle the court in which the proceedings were pending.—Moe v. Judd, supra.

(2) Omission of the amount of the penalty.—Soldini v. Hyams, 5 La. Ann. 551—23 C.J. p 1075 note 16 [b].

(3) The omission of conditions required by law does not invalidate the bond; it binds the obligors to the extent of the legal and unexceptionable conditions which it contains.—Yost v. Ramey, 48 S.E. 862, 103 Va. 117.

96. Md.—State v. Talbott, 128 A. 908, 148 Md. 70.

23 C.J. p 1076 note 17.

Unauthorized conditions rejected as surplusage

Ark.—Meyer v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 122 S.W.2d 586, 197 Ark. 418.

Mo.—Woods v. State, 10 Mo. 698.

Waiver of privilege

Where executor excused by will from giving bond has privilege of giving special limited bond if a bond is nevertheless required by the court to protect creditors, no objection can be raised if he waives such privilege and gives a general bond not so limited.—State v. Talbott, 128 A. 908, 148 Md. 70.

97. Neb.—In re Hoferer's Estate, 216 N.W. 826, 827, 116 Neb. 249, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1076 note 18.

98. Neb.—In re Hoferer's Estate, supra, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1076 note 19.

99. R.I.—Chamberlain v. Anthony, 43 A. 646, 21 R.I. 331.

1. W.Va.—Hensley v. Copley, 11 S. E.2d 755.

23 C.J. p 1076 note 21.

2. N.Y.—Sullivan's Will, Tuck.Surr. 94.

A bond naming no obligee is void, since it is neither a statutory nor a common-law bond.³

Execution. Where sureties are necessary, the bond should be signed and executed by both the principal and the sureties.⁴ It is usually considered that the signature of the principal is necessary to give validity to the bond for any purpose, and until signed by him it is not binding on the sureties, although they have signed it;⁵ but the rule seems to be otherwise as to joint and several bonds.⁶ The signature of the principal in the body of the instrument is a sufficient signing by him,⁷ and a bond may be valid even though it was signed by the administrator before his appointment.⁸ An administrator may execute the bond by an attorney in fact.⁹

A bond is binding on the sureties by whom it is signed even though they are not named in the body of the instrument,¹⁰ and it will bind them even though their names were signed by a third person, without authority, if they acquiesced in his act;¹¹ but a mere expression of willingness to become a surety is not sufficient to render a person liable as such.¹²

Approval. It is frequently required that the bond be approved by the probate court or judge, or other proper officer,¹³ although it has been held that approval is not essential to the validity of the bond,¹⁴ and that the lack of approval will not invalidate the letters of administration.¹⁵ A written approval has been required,¹⁶ but it has been considered not essential that the approval be indorsed on the bond,¹⁷ and prima facie evidence of approval is furnished by the signing, sealing, and delivering of an administration bond, in the absence of specific statute requirement beyond this.¹⁸ So also there is a sufficient approval of the bond where an order has been made reciting that bond with good and sufficient security has been given and directing that letters issue,¹⁹ or reciting that an appointment as administrator has been accepted and that the administrator has, with his sureties, executed a bond, all of which is approved by the court.²⁰

An approval of the bond dated on the day when the will was first presented for probate has been held sufficient;²¹ and, on the other hand, although the statute provides that if the executor shall fail to give bond within a certain time after probate the court may grant letters testamentary to others, the court can approve a bond given by an executor after the expiration of such time.²²

Filing. It has been required that the bond be filed,²³ but the failure of the principal to file the bond as required by law does not affect the liability of the surety.²⁴

Time for giving bond. Where the statute does not fix the time within which a bond must be furnished, it is sufficient that it be filed within a reasonable time after entry of the order requiring the bond; it need not be filed before such order.²⁵ It has been held within the discretion of the court to extend the time within which bond must be fur-

3. Neb.—Tidball v. Young, 78 N.W. 507, 58 Neb. 261, 76 Am.S.R. 98.

Va.—Cowling v. Nansemond County, 6 Rand. 349, 27 Va. 349.

4. Cal.—Weir v. Mead, 35 P. 567, 101 Cal. 125, 40 Am.S.R. 46.

N.H.—Heydock v. Duncan, 43 N.H. 95.

5. Cal.—Weir v. Mead, 35 P. 567, 101 Cal. 125, 40 Am.S.R. 46.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 25.

6. Mont.—Kenck v. Parchen, 57 P. 94, 22 Mont. 519, 74 Am.S.R. 625.

7. Mont.—Kenck v. Parchen, supra.

8. Iowa.—Morris v. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 23 N.W. 143, 65 Iowa 727, 54 Am.R. 39.

9. Tex.—Hall v. Monroe, 27 Tex. 700.

10. Ala.—Grimmet v. Henderson, 66 Ala. 521.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 29.

11. Ark.—State v. Hill, 8 S.W. 401, 50 Ark. 458.

12. La.—Canal, etc., Co. v. Grayson, 4 La. Ann. 511.

13. Iowa.—Morris v. Chicago, R. I.

& P. R. Co., 23 N.W. 143, 65 Iowa 727, 54 Am.R. 39.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 32.

Approval of sureties see supra subdivision c of this section.

Assistant register of probate was held authorized to examine and approve executrix's bond.—Everett Trust Co. v. Waltham Theatre Amusement Co., 166 N.E. 831, 267 Mass. 350.

Approval by clerk; collateral attack

"The act of the clerk of the county court in receiving and approving the bond of an administrator or executor constitutes a judgment having all the dignity and force of a judgment of a court of general jurisdiction, which cannot be the subject of collateral attack."—Frazier v. Copen, 121 S.E. 503, 95 W.Va. 482.

14. Mo.—Brown v. Weatherby, 71 Mo. 152.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 33.

15. Wis.—Cameron v. Cameron, 15 Wis. 1, 82 Am.D. 652.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 34.

16. Me.—Austin v. Austin, 50 Me. 74, 79 Am.D. 597—Mathews v. Patterson, 42 Me. 257.

17. Ky.—Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v. Banks, 135 S.W. 285, 142 Ky. 746.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 37.

18. Md.—Wilson v. Ireland, 4 Md. 444.

19. Ga.—Ford v. Adams, 43 Ga. 340.

20. Ky.—Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v. Banks, 135 S.W. 285, 142 Ky. 746.

21. Mass.—Wells v. Child, 12 Allen 330.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 41.

22. Wis.—Schnorenberg v. Schnorenberg, 137 N.W. 752, 150 Wis. 537.

23. Ala.—Miller v. Gee, 4 Ala. 359.

Ga.—Richardson v. Whitworth, 30 S.E. 573, 103 Ga. 741.

Delivery sufficient

Where an administrator's bond was placed by the principal in a desk where other probate papers were kept, such desk being in the office of the probate judge, and under his control, the delivery was sufficient.—Brown v. Weatherby, 71 Mo. 152.

24. N.Y.—Haywood v. Townsend, 38 N.Y.S. 517, 4 App.Div. 246.

25. Tex.—Land v. Land, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 207, error refused.

nished;²⁶ but under other authority furnishing the bond within the time specified is mandatory and a failure to do so renders the appointment void.²⁷

e. Effect of Failure to Provide, or Cancellation of, Bond

Although there is some authority to the contrary, the common view is that failure to give bond renders an appointment not void, but merely voidable; nor does mere cancellation of the bond revoke an appointment.

Effect of failure to give bond. The common view is that the failure of an executor or administrator to give bond does not render his appointment void, but merely renders it voidable, so that the acts of the representative are valid so long as the letters remain in force;²⁸ nor will such failure relieve from liability as administrator.²⁹ Where an administrator was appointed without compliance with a statute requiring administrators to give bond before entering upon their duties, the defect was cured by the giving and approval of the bond after objection had been raised in a proceeding brought by the administrator as such.³⁰ Nevertheless, there is authority for the view that letters of administration are void if the administrator fails to give bond, or if the bond is not valid,³¹ the administration being suspended;³² and this would certainly seem to be the case where the administrator is appointed to take office on his executing and filing a bond,³³ under which circumstances failure to give a bond within a reasonable time gives the court the right to disregard and set aside its order of appointment and appoint another administrator.³⁴ The rule has been followed that an executor becomes functus officio if he fails to furnish the bond required of him within a specified time after service of the order on him.³⁵

Effect of cancellation of bond. After an administrator has qualified by giving bond, his appointment is not revoked by the mere cancellation of the bond.³⁶

f. New or Additional Security

Under a number of statutes, the court may in its discretion direct that new bonds or additional security be furnished in such amount as it deems necessary, if the interest of the estate requires such action, as where some new situation arises; but the court cannot compel an executor or administrator to furnish additional security, having only the power to direct him to do so on pain of being deprived of office for noncompliance. Such new bond is not a substitute for an existing one, but constitutes additional security.

Under a number of statutes, new bonds or additional security are required to be furnished by the executor or administrator in certain cases where the interest of the estate requires it, and especially where some new situation arises, as an increase of assets, or the insufficiency of one or both sureties since qualification;³⁷ and even after an executor has been qualified without a bond, if some change in the situation or circumstances of the executor or his conduct of the trust appears to render this a prudent measure, the court may in its discretion sub-

26. Ala.—Gordy v. King, 154 So. 525, 228 Ala. 532.

27. La.—Dixon v. Davis, App., 155 So. 407.

28. Kan.—Stanley v. Martin, 22 P. 2d 951, 953, 137 Kan. 894, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—In re Hoferer's Estate, 216 N. W. 826, 827, 116 Neb. 249, citing Corpus Juris.

Okl.—Mahoney v. McBirney, 84 P.2d 600, 602, 184 Okl. 75, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Reed v. Harlan, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, 240, citing Corpus Juris, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 45.

As ground for collateral attack on appointment see infra § 76.

Testamentary requirement of bond

Where the testator's will, while directing that the executors furnish bonds, did not make their qualification or the issuance of letters to them conditional on compliance with such direction, the failure of the executors to give bond did not disqualify them, but merely authorized the surrogate to withhold the issuance of letters testamentary until a bond was furnished.—Sandford v. Bronx

Boro Builders, 161 N.Y.S. 975, 175 App.Div. 384.

29. Idaho.—Harris v. Coates, 69 P. 475, 8 Idaho 491.

30. Iowa.—In re Wiltsey, 109 N.W. 776, 135 Iowa 430.

31. Mo.—Leahy v. Mercantile Trust Co., 247 S.W. 396, 296 Mo. 561. 23 C.J. p 1078 note 47.

32. N.H.—Davis v. Davis, 56 A. 747, 72 N.H. 326. 23 C.J. p 1078 note 47 [a].

33. Ala.—Gray v. Cruise, 36 Ala. 559.

Cal.—Pryor v. Downey, 50 Cal. 388, 19 Am.R. 656.

34. Ala.—Stanley v. Stanley, 81 So. 617, 202 Ala. 661.

35. La.—Dixon v. Davis, App., 155 So. 407—Bobb's Succession, 27 La. Ann. 344.

36. R.I.—Clarke v. Rice, 28 A. 801, 15 R.I. 132. 23 C.J. p 1081 note 97.

37. N.Y.—In re Valionis' Estate, 26 N.Y.S. 540, 176 Misc. 110—In re Damsky's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 937, 164 Misc. 381.

Tex.—National Surety Corporation v.

Ladd, 115 S.W.2d 600, 131 Tex. 295, reversing In re Turner's Estate, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1204—Morris v. Williams, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 541, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1078 note 53.

Special bond for sale of real estate under order of court see infra § 590.

It is only for the reasons specified in the statute that a new bond may be required.—Wood v. Williams, 61 Mo. 63.

Removed administrator

Court would not require additional bond from a removed administrator, since such requirement would not be practicable.—Tsaracis v. Characklis, 3 A.2d 725, 176 Md. 28.

Effect of error

Where an administratrix married and the probate court passed an order requiring her and her husband to execute a new bond, the error of the court in requiring her to join in the bond did not affect her rights as administratrix by virtue of her original appointment or deprive her of authority, in conjunction with her husband, to prosecute a suit on a cause of action due to her intestate.—Cassedy v. Jackson, 45 Miss. 397.

sequently require a bond to be given.³⁸ New bonds may also be permitted by substitution upon due procedure for the prospective relief of those already bound.³⁹

However, if the estate has been completely administered, a new bond cannot be required.⁴⁰

The court cannot compel an executor or administrator to furnish new or additional security;⁴¹ its power extends only to directing him to do so, leaving him the option to comply with such requirement or to be deprived of his office by reason of noncompliance.⁴²

Discretion of court. Ordinarily the necessity for new or additional security is a matter resting in the discretion of the court,⁴³ and the exercise of such discretion should not be disturbed except in case of abuse.⁴⁴ The terms of the statute, however, may require the court to call for a new bond on establishment of the circumstances set out in the statute.⁴⁵

The amount of the new or additional security to be required ordinarily rests in the discretion of the court.⁴⁶ In determining the amount, regard ought to be had to the value of the estate remaining unadministered, including any accessions thereto beyond the original estimate, and to the extent of the available security still furnished by the original bond;⁴⁷ and the additional security should be made to cover all the additional assets and not merely that part to which the moving party is entitled.⁴⁸ A statutory requirement that, when a new bond is taken, it shall be in like penalty as the first, is satisfied by taking two new bonds the aggregate of the penalties of which are just equal to the first bond.⁴⁹

Effect of proceedings or order for new security. An administrator against whom a motion has been made to compel the giving of a new bond has, notwithstanding the service of notice of such motion, the right to prosecute a pending action or do any other act having for its direct object the saving of the estate from loss or damage, although he would not have authority to institute an action after service of such notice.⁵⁰ An order requiring an executor to give security does not have the effect of suspending his right to exercise the functions of his office in the interim between the time of his appointment and the time fixed at which he is to give security.⁵¹

Execution of new bond. A new bond required of an executor or administrator may be executed by an attorney in fact duly authorized;⁵² and where a new bond is given for the purpose of adding or submitting a new surety, it may be executed by the new surety alone.⁵³

Effect of new bond. New bonds, given by an administrator after he has previously given bond, are not substitutes, but are enforceable as additional security, the proportion of contribution between the sureties being determined by the penalties of the several bonds.⁵⁴

g. Proceedings

A proceeding to require security may be instituted by the court of its own motion or by any person interested in the estate. In such proceedings, various questions have been adjudicated with respect to jurisdiction

38. Okl.—In re Dillard's Estate, 88 P.2d 639, 184 Okl. 534, 121 A.L.R. 947.

23 C.J. p 1078 note 54.

39. Ill.—People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215. La.—Norris v. Fristoe, 3 La. Ann. 646.

40. Tex.—Hanlon v. Wheeler, Civ. App., 45 S.W. 821.

41. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 1085, 146 Kan. 121, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S. Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 57.

42. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 58. Failure to give security as ground for removal see infra § 90.

43. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 59.

Corpus Juris statement quoted at length and applied with respect to increasing bond of guardian.—Lide

v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 4 S.E.2d 263, 266, 191 S.C. 297.

Petition for additional bond properly dismissed

Md.—Neighbors v. Beck, 159 A. 748, 162 Md. 362.

44. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 1085, 146 Kan. 121, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S. Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 60.

45. Tex.—National Surety Corporation v. Ladd, 115 S.W.2d 600, 131 Tex. 295, reversing In re Turner's Estate, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1204.

46. U.S.—Taylor v. Sherburne, D.C., 23 F.Cas.No.13,805, 1 Hayw. & H. 108.

Acquired realty

Where administratrix was in possession of realty acquired by mortgage foreclosure as a salvage operation, which she was required to retain pending opportunity for advantageous sale, she should give new bond in an amount predicated on reasonable values of equity in the realty, deficiency claim against mortgagor, any other assets that were not presently to be distributed, and gross rentals of the realty.—In re Valionis' Estate, 26 N.Y.S.2d 540, 176 Misc. 110.

47. Va.—Atkinson v. Christian, 3 Gratt. 448, 44 Va. 448.

48. La.—Hardy's Estate, 16 So. 208, 46 La. Ann. 1309.

49. Ill.—People v. Lott, 27 Ill. 215.

50. Tex.—Hilton v. Dillahunt, 38 Tex. 585.

51. Ky.—Farmers' Nat. Bank v. McFerren, 11 Ky.L. 183.

52. Tex.—Hall v. Monroe, 27 Tex. 700.

53. N.Y.—In re Patullo, Tuck.Surr. 140.

54. W.Va.—Central Banking & Security Co. v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 80 S.E. 121, 73 W.Va. 197, 51 L.R.A.N.S., 797. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 69.

and form of the proceedings, notice and appearance, pleading, proof, and the order or decree; appeal from the court's action as to the bond has been permitted by some authorities, but not by others.

The court may of its own motion require security, either in the first instance or in addition to that already given,⁵⁵ or it may be demanded by any person interested in the estate,⁵⁶ whether as creditor,⁵⁷ legatee,⁵⁸ or distributee;⁵⁹ and the devisees under a will and remaindermen may be given, by statute, the absolute right to require an executor to give bond, even though he is acting under a will exempting him from giving bond.⁶⁰

Jurisdiction; form of proceedings. Proceedings to compel the giving of security by an executor who has received letters without a bond, or to compel the giving of new or additional security, must be instituted in a court of competent jurisdiction⁶¹ by petition, allegation, and answer,⁶² or in some cases by rule or order to show cause without petition.⁶³

Notice and appearance. Where it is deemed necessary that a bond or an additional bond be required of an executor, the executor is entitled to notice and an opportunity to be heard on the matter.⁶⁴

Where an estate was unsettled when a new bond was required, it was not material that the deceased surety's heirs, who were also beneficiaries of the estate, did not personally appear in the proceedings for a new bond or make any application in their own behalf.⁶⁵

Pleading. Averments substantially in the terms of the prescribed statutory affidavit respecting the petitioner's interest and the necessity of protection are sufficient to present the issue as to whether a bond should be required.⁶⁶

Where those entitled to monetary legacies, made a charge on an estate in remainder, filed a bill in equity seeking to compel the remaindermen to pay such legacies before the death of the life tenant, and the remaindermen were executors of the estate, a mere allegation that the executors had not been required to give bond and that complainants feared their rights might be impaired would not justify the court in exerting its powers to preserve the estate.⁶⁷

Objections to necessity for security. In a proceeding against an administrator by the heirs to compel him to give a new bond, he may plead no funds in his hands belonging to the estate.⁶⁸ A party who proceeded to trial on an application to require bond thereby waived the executor's failure to file a written defense to the application, if it was 55. N.Y.—In re Damsky's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 937, 164 Misc. 381. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 72.

Capacity to initiate proceeding

(1) Irrespective of a person's capacity to initiate proceeding to compel administrator to furnish increased bond, he was privileged to call facts to court's attention by petition, so that court could act on its own motion under statute.—In re Damsky's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 937, 164 Misc. 381.

(2) However, it has been held that court is without jurisdiction to require bond of its own motion in a statutory proceeding instituted by one having no interest in the estate, warranting institution of such proceeding, since court may so act only in a proceeding conducted in compliance with other statutory provisions pertaining to action of its own motion.—Lasswell v. McFarland, 284 S.W. 843, 219 Mo.App. 665.

56. Ala.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

Miss.—Prince v. Prince, 93 So. 245. N.Y.—In re Sweeney's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 174, 125 Misc. 859. 23 C.J. p 1079 note 73.

A person not interested in the assets of an estate has no right to raise any question as to the sufficiency of legality of the surety on an administrator's bond which has been accepted by the ordinary.

Ga.—Jones v. Smith, 48 S.E. 134, 120 Ga. 642.

Pa.—In re Heasley's Estate, No. 3, 23 Pa.Dist. & Co. 658.

Adopting father of decedent was held not an "heir or other person interested in estate" entitled to proceed to force administrator to furnish bond.—Lasswell v. McFarland, 284 S.W. 843, 219 Mo.App. 665.

57. La.—Kranz's Succession, 39 So. 594, 115 La. 545.

23 C.J. p 1080 note 74—40 C.J. p 1476 note 96 [a].

58. N.Y.—In re Sweeney's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 174, 125 Misc. 859.

23 C.J. p 1080 note 75.

59. Mo.—In re Main's Estate, App., 152 S.W.2d 696, transferred, see, 146 S.W.2d 597.

23 C.J. p 1080 note 76.

Quantum of distributee's share is immaterial.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

60. Ala.—Cronk v. Cronk, 42 So. 450, 148 Ala. 337.

23 C.J. p 1080 note 77.

61. In North Carolina jurisdiction to require additional security is vested in the clerk of the superior court as judge of probate.—Hunt v. Sneed, 64 N.C. 180.

In Pennsylvania the right to order additional security in cases where letters testamentary have been granted to nonresident executors is vested in the register of wills, and not in the orphans' court.—Blinn's Estate, 21 Pa.Dist. 427.

62. Ala.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

23 C.J. p 1080 note 78.

63. La.—Block v. Bordelon, 2 So. 833, 39 La. Ann. 872.

N.J.—Bird v. Wiggins, 35 N.J.Eq. 111.

64. R.I.—Leonard v. Clark, 53 A. 636, 24 R.I. 470.

65. Iowa.—Banker's Surety Co. v. Wyman, 120 N.W. 116, 141 Iowa 574.

66. Ala.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

Information and belief

Averments in bill, on information and belief by interested party, that estate was "likely to be wasted to the prejudice" of complainant's interest unless executor was bonded, were sufficient.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

67. Va.—Armentrout v. Armentrout, 72 S.E. 721, 112 Va. 660.

68. Tex.—Hanlon v. Wheeler, Civ. App., 45 S.W. 821.

necessary for the executor to file such a defense.⁶⁹

Proof. A sworn petition showing the petitioner's interest in the estate and that such interest is or will be endangered for want of security presents a prima facie case,⁷⁰ and places on the executor the burden of showing no necessity for a bond.⁷¹

Order or decree. The decree made in the premises may be opened, vacated, or modified, where sufficient cause is shown.⁷² Where the statute does not expressly require the order for additional security to be served on the administrator, an administrator who was present in person and represented by attorney at the hearing on the application for additional security, and who took an exception to the order when it was made, cannot object that the order was not served on him.⁷³ In a proper case, depending on the results of the suit, the party making application to require a bond may recover his attorney's fees as part of the costs, by request therefor in the prayer or on costs adjudication.⁷⁴

Review. An appeal from the action of the court with respect to the bond has been held permissible in a number of decisions;⁷⁵ but others have denied the right to such appeal,⁷⁶ and it has been held that an order for additional security can be reviewed only by certiorari and not by appeal.⁷⁷ Even where an appeal is allowed, the review will not be extended beyond the inquiry whether the trial court has abused its discretion.⁷⁸

h. Relief or Protection of Sureties

Within the terms of applicable statutes, a surety may bring proceedings to procure his discharge, reserving existing rights, or to compel the executor or administrator to give countersecurity to indemnify him against apprehended loss or else forfeit his office.

Proceedings may be entertained at the instance of sureties, after due notice to all interested, for their discharge, reserving existing rights to others, so as to compel the executor or administrator to file a new bond or else vacate the office.⁷⁹ In some jurisdictions a surety who is in fear of suffering loss by reason of his suretyship may obtain an order of court requiring the executor or administrator to give countersecurity to indemnify him against such apprehended loss, in default of which the letters testamentary or of administration may be revoked;⁸⁰ but this right is not an incident of the contract of suretyship, and it does not exist unless

69. Ga.—Pass v. Pass, 192 S.E. 64, 56 Ga.App. 59.

70. Ala.—Bowie v. Phenix-Girard Bank, 185 So. 363, 237 Ala. 44.

71. Ala.—Bowie v. Phenix-Girard Bank, supra—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

Evidence not requiring bond

Evidence was held to sustain decision not to require bond of executrix on ground of dissipation and waste of estate.—In re Miller's Estate, 262 P. 646, 146 Wash. 324.

72. N.Y.—In re Filley, 20 N.Y.S. 427, Pow.Surr. 234.
23 C.J. p 1080 note 86.

73. Cal.—Barrett v. Placer County Super. Ct., 43 P. 519, 111 Cal. 154.
23 C.J. p 1081 note 87.

74. Ala.—Farmers' Bank & Trust Co. v. Borroughs, 114 So. 909, 217 Ala. 97.

When client liable

Attorneys must seek their compensation from client, and not from estate, for services rendered in requiring executrix to give bond, if services did not inure to benefit of other creditors of estate; such matter is for the determination of the probate court.—Keith & Wilkinson v. Forsythe, 151 So. 60, 227 Ala. 555.

75. Va.—Fairfax v. Fairfax, 7 Gratt. 36, 48 Va. 36.
23 C.J. p 1081 note 89.

76. Ala.—Betts v. Cobb, 25 So. 692, 121 Ala. 154.
3 C.J. p 571 note 47 [c] (1)–(4).

Interlocutory decree overruling demurrers of defendants, individually and as executors, to petition filed by legatee praying for order requiring executors to give bond and for other relief, was not "appealable order" or "decree" within statute authorizing appeals from certain interlocutory decrees.—Hart v. Greet, 134 So. 658, 223 Ala. 34.

77. Cal.—In re McPhee, 101 P. 530, 10 Cal.App. 162.

Requisites for certiorari

Certiorari to review a failure to require sufficient bond is not a proper remedy in absence of a showing of an application made to the probate court for a new appraisal of the estate and for additional bond.—Morris v. Williams, Tex.Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 541, error refused.

78. Ark.—Dillen v. Fancher, 125 S.W.2d 110, 197 Ark. 995.
Md.—Pratt v. Hill, 92 A. 543, 124 Md. 252.

Record not showing estate

Where no estate was disclosed in record of proceeding in which a bond was requested, reviewing court would not impute error to trial court in denying legatee's petition to require bond, but would make the decree without prejudice to rights of any party in interest to make an application to require bond.—Bowie v. Phenix-Girard Bank, 185 So. 363, 237 Ala. 44.

79. Tex.—National Surety Corporation v. Ladd, 115 S.W.2d 600, 131 Tex. 295, reversing In re Turner's Estate, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1204.
23 C.J. p 1081 note 93.
Discharge of sureties by order of court see infra § 960.

Right to invoke jurisdiction

Although court of ordinary has general jurisdiction over discharge of sureties on administrators' bonds and substitution of new sureties, no one may invoke that jurisdiction except those specifically authorized by statute to do so.—Great American Indemnity Co. v. Jeffries, 16 S.E.2d 135, 65 Ga.App. 686.

Court must require a new bond, where, under circumstances detailed in statute, surety applies to be discharged from liability for future acts of executor or administrator.—National Surety Corporation v. Ladd, 115 S.W.2d 600, 131 Tex. 295, reversing In re Turner's Estate, Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 1204.

80. Tenn.—Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. v. White, 115 S.W.2d 249, 22 Tenn.App. 1.
23 C.J. p 1081 note 94.

Issuance of such order is not obligatory, but court has discretion to decline grant of such relief.—Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. v. White, supra.

it is clearly given by law.⁸¹ A surety may not seek indemnification from third parties under a contract which is illegal.⁸²

§ 68. Failure to Qualify or Act

Generally, while heirs may not sue to compel one named as executor to qualify or formally renounce, the court may take cognizance of a nominee's failure to qualify as executor or administrator within a reasonable time, and appoint another person; but a nominee may qualify after the time provided where the failure to act within the proper time was not due to his fault.

An executor named in a will who has failed to qualify to act has no authority to bind the estate.⁸³

In the absence of statute, no action will lie by heirs to compel the person nominated as executor either to qualify or formally renounce,⁸⁴ but in general the court itself may take cognizance that the person nominated as executor or appointed administrator has not qualified within a reasonable time, and appoint another person to serve in his place,⁸⁵ and this having been done, the person who was primarily entitled to letters loses his right and cannot subsequently have the appointee removed merely because he becomes prepared to qualify, and desires the appointment,⁸⁶ nor can he even intervene in a subsequent contest for administration.⁸⁷ It has been held, however, that unexplained delay by a person designated as executor in offering to qualify as such and to proceed to administer the estate does not deprive him of such right in the absence of a showing of an express refusal to qualify or other conduct establishing unfitness.⁸⁸

Where the failure of an executor to qualify within the statutory period after the probate of the will was due to the refusal of the judge to permit letters testamentary to issue, he could qualify later;⁸⁹ and a failure to qualify within the time provided by the will will not disqualify an executor who acted with reasonable diligence, and whose failure to qualify was due to unavoidable delay in probating the will.⁹⁰ A creditor applying for appointment as dative testamentary executor or administrator does not disqualify himself by the mere fact of his delay in taking inventory and publishing letters of administration.⁹¹

E. ISSUANCE OF LETTERS, NOTICE, AND EVIDENCE OF APPOINTMENT OR AUTHORITY

§ 69. Issuance of Letters

- a. In general
- b. Form and contents of letters

a. In General

The authority of an executor or administrator is usually evidenced by letters testamentary or letters of administration issued after due appointment and qualification.

The authority of an executor or administrator is evidenced by letters testamentary or of administration⁹² issued to him pursuant to an order of the court on his appointment and qualification.⁹³ Such

81. Tenn.—Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. v. White, supra.
23 C.J. p 1081 note 95.

82. Recovery against partnership

In a case where a surety signed an administration bond under the representation of a firm of which the administrator was a member, that the firm would take possession of the assets of the estate and conduct the administration as a partnership affair, and that the surety would become in effect the surety of the firm and not of the partner who was appointed administrator, it was held that such arrangement was contrary to the policy of the law, because it was designed to enable persons other than the one to whom the administration was granted to obtain possession of the estate, and that, therefore, the surety could not force the firm to make good any loss sustained by him in consequence of his suretyship.—Forsyth v. Woods, Mo., 11 Wall, U.S., 484, 20 L.Ed. 207.

83. Pa.—Lowrie v. Dollar Savings & Trust Co., 109 A. 607, 266 Pa. 135.

84. Iowa.—Cable v. Cable, 40 N.W. 700, 76 Iowa 183.

Acceptance or renunciation:

Administrator see supra § 47.

Executor see supra § 29.

85. Wash.—Wilkie v. Bailey, 133 P. 388, 74 Wash. 241.
23 C.J. p 1091 note 91.

Under civil law, where the executorship becomes vacant, the Roman practice usually revives and the administration devolves on the heirs.—Ex p. Ramos, 19 Puerto Rico 154—40 C.J. p 1479 note 55.

86. N.Y.—Williams' Case, 18 Abb. Pr., N.Y., 350.
Wyo.—Rice v. Tilton, 80 P. 828, 13 Wyo. 420.

87. Ga.—Howard v. Worrill, 42 Ga. 397.

88. Ky.—Kuechler v. Rubbathen, 99 S.W.2d 193, 266 Ky. 390.

89. Tex.—Journey v. Shook, 152 S. W. 809, 105 Tex. 551, reversing, Civ.App., 149 S.W. 406.

90. Tex.—Rosenberg v. Wickes, Civ. App., 169 S.W. 983.
23 C.J. p 1091 note 95.

91. La.—Succession of Strange, 177 So. 579, 188 La. 478.

92. Colo.—Denver, S. P. & P. R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

La.—Vogel's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 81.

23 C.J. p 1081 note 98.
Evidence of appointment see infra § 71.

"Letters testamentary" defined

"An instrument in writing granted by the judge or officer having jurisdiction of the probate of wills, after the probate of a will, to an executor, authorizing him to act as such."—In re Gurdy, 63 A. 322, 323, 101 Me. 73, quoting Bouvier L.D.

Formerly there was no such thing as letters testamentary. The probate and the executor's authority consisted of a copy of the will, made out under seal and delivered to the executor, together with a certificate of its having been proved, and such copy and certificate were called in the alternative "the probate or letters".—In re Kennedy's Will, 174 N. Y.S. 429, 106 Misc. 216.

93. La.—Wirt v. Pintard, 4 So. 14, 40 La. Ann. 233.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 99.

letters are, however, usually considered merely as credentials furnished him for his own convenience, and are not necessary where the decree and records of the court show his right to act.⁹⁴ Letters should be granted by the proper judicial authority without delegation of power.⁹⁵

The probate of a will is necessary before letters testamentary can be issued,⁹⁶ but such probate does not determine the persons to whom letters are to be issued or the time of issuance.⁹⁷

Issuance pending appeal. General letters cannot, as a rule, issue while an appeal is pending concerning the right to administration or the probate of the will,⁹⁸ but it is sometimes provided by statute that an appeal from a surrogate's decree admitting a will to probate does not stay the issuing of letters testamentary, where, in the surrogate's opinion, manifested by an order, the preservation of the estate requires the issuance of the letters.⁹⁹

Presumptions. The grant of letters of administration may not be presumed from the mere lapse of time,¹ although the grant or issuance of letters testamentary may be presumed from other facts proved.²

Domiciliary letters. Domiciliary letters testamentary are letters testamentary issued at the place of the testator's domicile, as distinguished from ancillary letters issued at some place other than the domicile, where personality of the testator is found.³

Ministerial act

Ala.—Glover v. Lyon, 57 Ala. 365.

Duty of court

Under a statute which makes it the duty of a court to grant letters testamentary to the executors named in the will, the court may and must adjudicate, after the probate of the will, whether letters testamentary shall issue.—Taylor v. Martin's Estate, 3 S.W.2d 408, 117 Tex. 302, reversing, Civ.App., 268 S.W. 1102.

Issuance during life of child born after execution of will Statute protecting child born after execution of will forbids issuance of letters testamentary during child's life, although will is probated.—Taylor v. Martin's Estate, supra.

94. La.—Vogel's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 81.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 1.

95. N.Y.—Roderigas v. East River Sav. Inst., 76 N.Y. 316, 32 Am.R. 309.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 2.

96. Ala.—Blacksher Co. v. Northrup, 57 So. 743, 176 Ala. 190, 42 L.R.A., N.S., 454.

Me.—In re Gurdy, 63 A. 322, 101 Me. 73.

Necessity of probate of will general—ly see the C.J.S. title Wills § 310, also 68 C.J. p 876 note 33—p 878 note 59.

Want of formal order or decree of probate as affecting validity of letters see infra § 73.

97. Me.—Chadwick v. Stilphen, 74 A. 50, 105 Me. 242—In re Gurdy, 63 A. 322, 101 Me. 73.

98. Md.—State v. Williams, 9 Gill 172.

N.C.—Slade v. Washburn, 25 N.C. 557.

Administrators pendente lite see infra § 1031.

99. N.Y.—In re Riede, 122 N.Y.S. 600, 138 App.Div. 83, affirmed 95 N.E. 1127, 201 N.Y. 596.

1. Md.—Smith v. Wilson, 17 Md. 460, 79 Am.D. 665.

Presumption of validity of appointment and letters see infra § 74.

2. U.S.—Platt v. McCullough, C.C. Ohio, 19 F.Cas.No.11,113, 1 McLean 69.

Simultaneous issuance with probate of will

It may be presumed that letters testamentary were issued simultaneously with the probate of the will.—Foulks v. Foulks, 6 N.Y.S. 112, 2 Silv.Sup. 516.

Issuance to wrong person. Where the court orders letters to issue to one person, an issue of letters to another is unauthorized and void.⁴

Premature delivery. A delivery of the letters before the bond is given does not render the appointment void, but is only an irregularity, which is cured by the subsequent filing of the bond.⁵

b. Form and Contents of Letters

A variance from the prescribed form of letters testamentary or letters of administration or from the form usually used ordinarily does not invalidate the letters or the acts of the executor or administrator.

Letters testamentary or of administration usually bear the seal of the court and the signature of the judge, and are countersigned by the register or clerk,⁶ but the want of a seal or of the signature of the clerk does not necessarily invalidate the letters.⁷

The special phraseology of letters of administration is unimportant,⁸ and, where the law prescribes no specific form, a variance from the form usually used is immaterial.⁹ Even where the form of letters is prescribed by statute, the acts of executors are not invalidated because their letters are not in precisely the form prescribed.¹⁰

Presumptions. It is presumed that letters of administration which are not introduced in evidence conform to statutory requirements where the grant of letters is established.¹¹

3. N.Y.—Lockwood v. U. S. Steel Corp., 138 N.Y.S. 725, 727, 153 App. Div. 655.

Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988–1015.

4. Cal.—In re Frey, 52 Cal. 658.

5. Mich.—Brown v. Hannah, 115 N.W. 980, 152 Mich. 33.

6. Cal.—Sharp v. Dyre, 27 P. 789, 64 Cal. 9.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 8.

7. Cal.—Dennis v. Bint, 54 P. 378, 122 Cal. 39, 68 Am.S.R. 17.

Mo.—Post v. Caulk, 3 Mo. 35.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 8 [a], [b].

8. N.Y.—Matter of McDonald, 145 N.Y.S. 267, 160 App.Div. 86, reversing 143 N.Y.S. 775, 82 Misc. 135, and affirmed 105 N.E. 407, 211 N.Y. 272.

9. La.—Carlson's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 329.

10. Md.—Parker v. Leighton, 102 A. 552, 131 Md. 407.

The trust confided to an executor is set forth and defined by his letters testamentary.—Gibbons v. Riley, 7 Gill, Md., 81.

11. Mo.—Lancaster v. Washington Life Ins. Co., 62 Mo. 121.

§ 70. Notice of Appointment

Statutes sometimes require that an executor or administrator shall cause notice of his appointment to be published.

The appointment of an administrator is a matter of public record and constitutes constructive notice to all concerned.¹²

However, it is sometimes required by statute that an executor or administrator shall cause notice of his appointment to be published in some newspaper of general circulation.¹³

§ 71. Evidence of Appointment or Authority

Under certain circumstances the appointment and qualification of an executor or administrator may be presumed; letters testamentary or letters of administration are evidence, but not the only evidence, of the appointment and authority of an executor or administrator.

A presumption that a person was duly appointed administrator and that he was duly acting in that capacity in certain matters may arise after the lapse of an extended period, where documents in evidence tend to show that such person was administrator and was recognized as such by the court,¹⁴ and one who has been recognized as the administrator of an estate, both by the court in which the administration was pending and by all parties interested in the estate, for an extended period, may be conclusively presumed to be the legal administrator when his acts are collaterally attacked.¹⁵

The presumption that an administrator had duly qualified arises after the lapse of a considerable period of time where there is evidence that he acted as administrator and was recognized as such by the court,¹⁶ and it may be presumed that an administrator qualified at the time of appointment.¹⁷ The party who asserts want of qualification ordinarily must establish his claim.¹⁸

Letters of administration are always prima facie evidence of appointment,¹⁹ and are sometimes regarded as conclusive.²⁰ They are not, however, the only means by which the appointment of an administrator may be proved.²¹ Thus the original judgment appointing an administrator has been held prima facie evidence of the appointment,²² and an attested copy of the order of appointment has been held conclusive.²³

Letters testamentary or of administration are admissible to show the authority of an executor or administrator,²⁴ and are prima facie evidence of his authority or of his right to act thereunder,²⁵ and,

12. Ky.—Albert Neurath & Son v. Dugan's Adm'r, 63 S.W.2d 769, 250 Ky. 601.

13. Ohio.—Ardrey v. Shell, 82 N.E. 1075, 77 Ohio St. 218.
23 C.J. p 1082 note 16.

14. Me.—Battles v. Holley, 6 Me. 145.

Tex.—Pendleton v. Shaw, 44 S.W. 1002, 18 Tex.Civ.App. 439.
23 C.J. p 1083 note 18 [c].
Presumptions as to issuance of letters see supra § 69.

15. Tex.—Halbert v. Martin, Civ. App., 30 S.W. 388.

About eighteen years

Tex.—Halbert v. De Bode, 40 S.W. 1011, 15 Tex.Civ.App. 615.

16. Me.—Battles v. Holley, 6 Me. 145.
23 C.J. p 1083 note 18 [c] (1).

17. Presumption indulged after verdict

Or.—Aiken v. Coolidge, 6 P. 712, 12 Or. 244.

Filing bond

It may be presumed that an administratrix filed her bond at the time of her appointment.—Gilbert v. Branchflower, 231 P. 982, 114 Or. 508.

18. Or.—Gilbert v. Branchflower, supra.

Oath

(1) Where letters of administration have been issued, a party who denies that the person to whom the letters were issued took the required oath has the burden of proving the want of an oath.—Craig's Heirs v. Frost Lumber Industries, 120 So. 709, 10 La.App. 541.

(2) In a suit by heirs of intestate in which they questioned acts of administrator to whom letters of administration had been issued, the court must assume that the administrator took the required oath in view of plaintiffs' failure to make proof to the contrary.—Craig's Heirs v. Frost Lumber Industries, supra.

19. U.S.—In re Agnew, D.C.N.Y., 255 F. 650.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 19.
Letters as prima facie evidence of validity of appointment see infra § 71.

Sufficiency of evidence

Evidence which included certified copies of letters of administration and affidavit showing facts as to appointment was sufficient to show the appointment of the person designated in such letters and also to show that another person was not the duly appointed administrator of the estate involved.—La Paloma Land Co. v. Shannon, 265 P. 295, 89 Cal.App. 469.

20. La.—Hamblin's Succession, 3 Rob. 130.

Minn.—Moreland v. Lawrence, 23 Minn. 84.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 20.

21. Colo.—Denver, S. P. & P. R. Co. v. Woodward, 4 Colo. 1.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 18 [b].

22. Okl.—Daugherty v. Feland, 157 P. 1144, 59 Okl. 122.

Order of appointment, oath, and bond

Where a party alleged his appointment and qualification as administrator and the adverse party admitted such qualification, introduction by the former of the order of the probate court appointing him administrator and of the oath and bond constituted proof of appointment.—Pierre v. Baker, Tex.Civ.App., 143 S.W.2d 681, error refused.

23. W.Va.—Rush v. Brannon, 95 S. E. 521, 82 W.Va. 58.

24. N.Y.—Shaw v. New York Cent. & H. R. Co., 91 N.Y.S. 746, 101 App. Div. 246.

23 C.J. p 1082 note 17.

25. La.—Succession of Sullivan, 144 So. 505, 175 La. 813—Cherry's Succession v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., App., 176 So. 645.

Right to act and to close administration

Letters testamentary were prima facie evidence of right to act thereunder and after six months to close administration if the facts warranted.—Whitaker v. Kennamer, 155 So. 855, 229 Ala. 80.

Sufficiency of evidence

(1) Letters testamentary designating a person as executrix and under some circumstances, may be conclusive evidence of the authority and qualification of the person to whom they are granted.²⁶ They are not, however, the only evidence by which his authority may be established.²⁷ The date on which the administrator qualified may be established either by the letters of administration or the order of appointment.²⁸

F. OPERATION AND EFFECT OF APPOINTMENT

§ 72. In General

The appointment of an administrator or the confirmation of a person as executor is operative and effective until the representative status or authority of the executor or administrator is duly terminated; the acts of the executor or administrator under a voidable appointment or grant of letters are binding if performed before his authority is revoked.

The appointment of an administrator or the grant of letters of administration by a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction constitutes the person appointed or designated the administrator of the estate,²⁹ even though erroneously made or granted,³⁰ and such appointment and letters are valid and effective until revoked or terminated in an appropriate direct proceeding.³¹ A judgment confirming a person as executor is given effect until it is reversed on appeal or is voided in an appropriate proceeding,³² and, where a will is probated as a will in common form, and letters testamentary are issued to the executor designated in the will and are recorded as provided by statute, the executor may proceed with the regular administration of the estate.³³ Where the probate court, having jurisdiction of a decedent's estate, granted letters of administration during the prescribed period, and the person appointed duly qualified, the administration was thereupon properly opened and remained in force, although the administrator failed to do any further act.³⁴ The responsibilities of the representative are fixed by the appointment,³⁵ and an executor, whether named in the will or by delegated power, has the right to defend, in the courts, his authority to act.³⁶ deed conveying to her the land involved constituted sufficient evidence of such person's representative capacity.—Coastal Public Service Co. v. Mordecai, 174 S.E. 147, 49 Ga.App. 60.

(2) Letters of administration, if not revoked or suspended, are sufficient proof of the representative character of the administrator designated, unless the record affirmatively shows want of jurisdiction to make the appointment.—Jerauld v. Chambers, 187 P. 33, 44 Cal.App. 771.

26. Cal.—In re Way's Estate, 85 P. 2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669—Lane v. Starkey, 210 P. 277, 59 Cal.App. 140.

N.Y.—Carroll v. Carroll, 60 N.Y. 121, 19 Am.R. 144.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 20.

27. Miss.—Barr v. Sullivan, 23 So. 772, 75 Miss. 536.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 18.

Copy of will

"The proof of the authority of the executor to act as such is a production of the copy of the will by which he was appointed, certified under the seal of the ordinary. This is usually called probate."—In re Miller's Estate, 65 A. 681, 682, 216 Pa. 247—Miller v. Henderson, 61 A. 913, 914, 212 Pa. 263.

Execution of deed

Deed by executors duly recorded was admissible as tending to show title over objection that letters testamentary did not accompany deed.—Tietjen v. Meldrim, 159 S.E. 231, 172 Ga. 814.

Order appointing administrator showing on its face that administrator qualified before clerk on date prior to that on which suit was instituted by administrator for death of his deceased was admissible in evidence to establish date on which administrator qualified, notwithstanding order was not spread on records by clerk until after such action was begun.—Clinchfield Coal Corporation v. Webber, 181 S.E. 357, 165 Va. 49.

In Texas

(1) The probate proceeding in which a person was appointed administrator was admissible to show such person's authority.—Rogers v. Tompkins, Civ.App., 87 S.W. 379.

(2) Where a party alleged his appointment and qualification as administrator and the adverse party admitted such qualification, introduction by the former of the order of the probate court appointing him administrator and of the oath and bond constituted proof of qualification.—Pierre v. Baker, Civ.App., 143 S.W.2d 681, error refused.

28. Va.—Clinchfield Coal Corporation v. Webber, 181 S.E. 357, 165 Va. 49.

29. N.J.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46—Buckley v. Howard Sav. Inst., 186 A. 52, 14 N.J.Misc. 620.

Validity of appointment of administrator where decedent left will see supra § 30.

Right to office fixed

Judgment appointing administrator fixes appointee's right to office at least quoad parties dealing with him as such.—Arceneaux v. Cormier, 144 So. 722, 175 La. 941.

30. N.J.—Charles Wiener & Sons v. Fischer, 179 A. 632, 118 N.J.Eq. 387—Quidart v. Perglaux, 18 N.J.Eq. 472—Buckley v. Howard Sav. Inst., 186 A. 52, 14 N.J.Misc. 620. Effect of errors and irregularities see infra § 73.

31. Iowa.—In re Riese Estate, 297 N.W. 796, 230 Iowa 397.

La.—Succession of Berdennagel, 163 So. 843, 183 La. 398.

Collateral and direct attack generally see infra § 76, 77.

Duration and termination of authority see infra §§ 78-94.

32. La.—Vogel's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 81.

33. Ga.—Harris v. Adams, 103 S.E. 229, 150 Ga. 204, answers to certified questions conformed to 103 S.E. 473, 25 Ga.App. 373—Maund v. Maund, 20 S.E. 360, 94 Ga. 479.

Operation and effect of probate of will see the C.J.S. title Wills §§ 573-580, also 68 C.J. p 1226 note 36 —p 1245 note 28.

34. Tex.—Kuck v. Dixon, Civ.App., 127 S.W. 910.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 30.

35. La.—Brownson v. Baker, 11 La. 409.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 28.

36. Mich.—Brown v. Just, 77 N.W. 263, 118 Mich. 678.

It has been held that letters of administration issued by the judge of the probate court in vacation are not limited in point of time to the succeeding term, and are valid until rejected by the court.³⁷

Appointment by clerk in general. The appointment, pursuant to statute, of an administrator by the clerk of court, when the appointment is not contested, has the same force and effect as if made by the court, if there has been no appeal or if the appointment is not set aside.³⁸ Under a statute making the grant of letters by the clerk of court in vacation subject to confirmation or rejection by the court, letters of administration so granted are not limited in point of time so as to continue only to the succeeding term and then expire unless confirmed by the court; if otherwise valid, they remain valid and effective unless and until they are rejected by the court.³⁹

Jurisdiction or authority to appoint. The appointment of an administrator is void where it is made by a court which is wholly without authority to make the appointment,⁴⁰ or where want of jurisdiction to make the appointment in the particular case appears on the face of the record.⁴¹ The grant of administration is at least prima facie valid, however, where the facts giving the probate court jurisdiction properly appear of record;⁴² and, where the probate court is a court of general jurisdiction in regard to probates and the grant of administrations, and has jurisdiction in regard to the whole subject matter, although it may err in taking jurisdiction of the particular case, yet the order is generally not void but only voidable.⁴³ Where the court of the county in which decedent had resided or had been domiciled is the court authorized to grant administration or letters, a grant made in another county ordinarily is not void but only voidable,⁴⁴ and cannot be disregarded by the court of the county in which decedent was actually domiciled.⁴⁵ However, according to some decisions, a grant of administration in a political subdivision of the state other than that in which decedent was domiciled at the time of his death is a nullity,⁴⁶ and it has been held that the appointment of an administrator by the clerk of the probate court in vacation, which was not affirmed by the court, is abso-

37. Mo.—Macey v. Stark, 21 S.W. 1088, 116 Mo. 481.

38. Iowa.—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Authority of clerk to appoint administrator see supra § 14.

39. Ark.—Jonesboro, L. C. & E. R. Co. v. Gunn, 298 S.W. 485, 174 Ark. 1148—St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co. v. Pearson, 281 S.W. 910, 170 Ark. 842, certiorari denied 47 S.Ct. 101, 273 U.S. 711, 71 L.Ed. 853.

Maintenance of action by administrator

(1) Administrator may maintain action for damages for deceased's pain and suffering, although letters of administration, issued by clerk in vacation, have never been approved by probate court.—Jonesboro, L. C. & E. R. Co. v. Gunn, 298 S.W. 485, 174 Ark. 1148.

(2) Administratrix appointed by clerk in vacation could bring action under Federal Employers' Liability Act as such to recover damages for the wrongful killing of intestate, even though probate court did not confirm appointment when it next convened.—St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co. v. Pearson, 281 S.W. 910, 170 Ark. 842, certiorari denied 47 S.Ct. 101, 273 U.S. 711, 71 L.Ed. 853.

40. Okl.—Barrett v. Steele, 117 P.2d 1020.

Collateral attack on void appointment see infra § 76 b.

41. Ga.—Stewart v. Patterson, 111 S.E. 421, 152 Ga. 754.

42. Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

43. Tex.—Salas v. Mundy, Civ.App., 125 S.W. 633.

Va.—Andrews v. Ivory, 14 Gratt. 229, 55 Va. 229, 73 Am.D. 355. 23 C.J. p 1089 note 69.

44. Ala.—Holmes v. Holmes, 103 So. 884, 212 Ala. 597—Kling v. Connell, 17 So. 121, 105 Ala. 590.

Ill.—Chicago & E. I. R. Co. v. Wolf-rum, 136 Ill.App. 161.

Ind.—Sample v. Adams, 100 N.E. 573, 54 Ind.App. 680.

Iowa.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N. W. 859, 210 Iowa 419—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

W.Va.—Colley v. Calhoun, 109 S.E. 484, 89 W.Va. 399.

23 C.J. p 1012 note 49.

Domicile or residence of decedent as basis of jurisdiction see supra § 18.

Validity of appointment until vacated

(1) Appointment of administratrix by probate court of wrong county was valid until vacated.—Thompson v. Kansas City C. & St. J. Ry. Co., 27 S.W.2d 58, 224 Mo.App. 415.

(2) Appointment of an administrator in a county wherein intestate left no estate, and did not reside at his death is treated as valid until vacated or otherwise abrogated.—Colley v. Calhoun, 109 S.E. 484, 89 W. Va. 399.

Necessity for appeal

One desiring to attack appointment of administrator by register of county in which decedent died on ground that decedent resided in another county should appeal from register's decision.—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

45. Mo.—In re Davidson, 73 S.W. 373, 100 Mo.App. 263.

Validity of second letters

Where there was doubt as to which of two counties administration belonged because of conflicting claims as to the county of which decedent died a resident, and administration had been granted and letters issued in one of such counties, letters of administration subsequently issued in the other county were absolutely void.—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N. W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Second appointment in general see supra § 48.

46. In Louisiana

In view of the fact that the only court that has jurisdiction to open a succession and put the heirs in possession or appoint or confirm an administrator or executor is the court in the parish in which decedent had his domicile if he had a domicile or fixed place of residence within the state, a decree of any other court in the state opening a succession and putting heirs in possession or appointing an administrator is a nullity.

U.S.—Davis v. Martin, La., 108 F. 6, 51 C.C.A. 27.

La.—Succession of Franklin, 114 So. 583, 164 La. 654—Taylor v. Williams, 110 So. 100, 162 La. 93—Milteneberger v. Knox, 21 La.Ann. 399—Succession of Williamson, 8 La.Ann. 261—Carter v. Cambrice, 1 La.App. 156.

lately void, where decedent was not a resident of the county and did not die therein.⁴⁷ The appointment of an administrator in a county other than that in which decedent died a resident has been regarded as wholly void where want of jurisdiction in that regard appears on the face of the record of the proceeding in which the appointment was made.⁴⁸

Time as of which appointment or letters effective. A probate decree appointing an administrator of decedent's estate is effective from the date of its rendition, and not merely from the date of its entry.⁴⁹ The appointment of, or grant of letters to, an executor or administrator relates back to the death of decedent.⁵⁰

Extraterritorial effect. A grant of administration, strictly speaking, operates only within the jurisdiction where it is made;⁵¹ letters testamentary or letters of administration ordinarily have no legal force or effect beyond the territorial limits of the state in which they are granted.⁵²

Effect on proceedings in another court. If a suit is instituted in chancery to determine the ownership of a trust fund, the question to be ascertained being as to when a cestui que trust died, the grant of letters of administration by the probate court and the making of a finding as to the date of the death of such cestui que trust does not affect the jurisdiction of chancery in such suit.⁵³

Estoppel or loss of right to question or object. Heirs or next of kin, by acquiescing in the appointment of an administrator, may be estopped to question the propriety of making the appointment.⁵⁴

Where a claimant against a decedent's estate filed his claim with decedent's widow after she had been appointed administratrix with the will annexed, and after the court had annulled her appointment as independent executrix under the will, and claimant thereafter appealed from the court's action in postponing his claim in favor of others, he was not entitled to object to the validity of the court's proceedings in changing the character of the administration.⁵⁵

The right to object to an appointment may be lost by undue delay in making the objection.⁵⁶

Validity of representative's acts or dealings. As a general rule all acts by an executor or administrator done in the due and legal course of administration are valid and binding, even though the appoint-

47. Ark.—Groschner v. Winton, 226 S.W. 162, 146 Ark. 520.

48. Iowa.—In re King, 75 N.W. 187, 105 Iowa 320.

Kan.—Anderson v. Walter, 99 P. 270, 78 Kan. 781.

49. Ala.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Perkins, 44 So. 602, 152 Ala. 133.

50. Ill.—Faubel v. Michigan Boulevard Bldg. Co., 278 Ill.App. 159.

Ky.—Gibson's Adm'r v. Gibson, 43 S.W.2d 343, 241 Ky. 74.

Vt.—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Hart, 158 A. 90, 104 Vt. 100—Taylor v. Phillips, 30 Vt. 238.

Relation back of:

Appointment or letters so as to validate acts of executor or administrator see infra § 151.

Title to personal property see infra § 299.

51. Me.—Nash v. Benari, 105 A. 107, 117 Me. 491.

N.J.—Normand v. Grogard, 17 N.J. Eq. 425.

Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988–1015.

Recognition of judgments or decrees of probate courts of sister states see the C.J.S. title Judgments § 898, also 34 C.J. p 1155 note 95—p 1156 note 24.

52. Ark.—Miller v. Oil City Iron Works, 45 S.W.2d 86, 184 Ark. 900.

Tex.—Clarke v. Webster, Civ.App., 94 S.W. 1088.

Letters issued in domiciliary jurisdiction

Letters testamentary, issued in domiciliary jurisdiction, have no extraterritorial effect.—Michigan Trust Co. v. Turney, Tex.Civ.App., 36 S.W.2d 787, error refused.

Administrations in different states as independent

The estate of a decedent, wherever he may reside at the time of his death, and in whatsoever different states or countries portions of the property and assets may be situated, is a unit; but, where administrations are granted in different states or countries, in which part of the property is situated, they are separate and independent of one another.

Ala.—Equitable Life Assur. Soc. v. Vogel, 76 Ala. 441, 52 Am.R. 344. Tex.—Clarke v. Webster, Civ.App., 94 S.W. 1088.

53. Ill.—Dickinson v. Donovan, 160 Ill.App. 195.

54. S.C.—Mitchell v. Dreher, 147 S.E. 646, 150 S.C. 125.

55. Tex.—King v. Battaglia, 84 S.W. 839, 38 Tex.Civ.App. 28.

56. Failure to object by one having due notice of proceeding

In proceeding for appointment of an administrator, wherein petition was filed and statutory notice was duly given, and objector had actual notice of pendency of proceedings in ample time to have filed objections thereto prior to hearing, but failed to do so until more than one year after appointment of an administrator, no objection to court's jurisdiction to appoint administrator could be predicated on alleged fact that one appointed administrator was not legally married to deceased or had no beneficial interest in her estate.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N.W. 529, 137 Neb. 374.

Objection to necessity of appointment

(1) Where judgment ordering administration of successions and appointing administrator therefor was not appealed from within one year, question of necessity for administration of successions was concluded, and claimant was not entitled to sheriff's sale of property belonging to successions to effect partition by licitation until termination of administration, especially where administration of successions had been in progress with claimant's acquiescence for more than a year.—Hogan v. Hogan, 162 So. 773, 182 La. 1057.

(2) The right to have the appointment of an administrator set aside on the ground that it was not necessary has been denied as urged too late where the application for letters was duly advertised and objection to the appointment was first made by way of objection to the final accounting of the administrator.—Succession of Lawson, 120 So. 538, 10 La.App. 52.

ment is voidable⁵⁷ and his status or authority as representative of the estate is subsequently terminated,⁵⁸ and he will be protected in all lawful and bona fide acts done before such termination.⁵⁹ A person who deals in good faith with an administrator whose appointment is not void ordinarily is protected,⁶⁰ even though the status of the administrator as such is subsequently terminated.⁶¹

If, on the other hand, the grant is absolutely void, the general rule is that all acts done pursuant to it are void also,⁶² although, according to some cases, some acts may be valid even when the grant of letters is void.⁶³

Representative's denial of, or attack on, representative character. As a general rule it is never permissible for an administrator to impeach his own appointment,⁶⁴ but it has been held that an administrator may show in defense to a suit against him

57. Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 671, 131 Fla. 516, citing Corpus Juris.

Ga.—Shadburn Banking Co. v. Streetman, 179 S.E. 377, 380, 180 Ga. 500, citing Corpus Juris.

Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 541, 97 Mont. 206, quoting Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 65 P.2d 1395, 1403, 156 Or. 333, quoting Corpus Juris.

Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P.2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L.R. 1220—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 57.

Illegal appointment

(1) Acts of an administrator performed under a judgment of appointment are valid, even though the appointment was illegal.—Arceneaux v. Cormier, 144 So. 722, 175 La. 941—Rizzotto v. Grima, 113 So. 658, 164 La. 1.

(2) If appointment of administrator was illegal because administrator was under age of twenty-one years, acts of administration performed by him were not necessarily void.—Vidrine v. Deshotels, 158 So. 618, 181 La. 50.

Irregularities in appointment

Mere irregularities in appointment of administrator or curator will not vitiate acts done under such appointment.—Craig's Heirs v. Frost Lumber Industries, 120 So. 709, 10 La.App. 541.

Acts valid until appointment of successor

Irrespective of illegality of appointment of administrator nominated by nonresident stepmother of deceased, and of his retention as temporary administrator after his appointment was annulled, acts of such administrator up to the time of appointment of successor were valid and binding on the succession, treated as a vacant succession.—Succession of Hair, La.App., 195 So. 43.

Court's approval of acts

Acts of a de facto administrator approved by court are valid.—Giglio v. Woollard, 88 So. 401, 126 Miss. 6, 14 A.L.R. 616.

58. Conn.—Di Biasi v. Di Biasi, 159 A. 477, 114 Conn. 539.

Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 671, 131 Fla. 516, citing Corpus Juris.

Ga.—Shadburn Banking Co. v. Streetman, 179 S.E. 377, 380, 180 Ga. 500, citing Corpus Juris.

Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 541, 97 Mont. 206, quoting Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 65 P.2d 1395, 1403, 156 Or. 333, quoting Corpus Juris.

Wis.—Simpson v. Cornish, 218 N.W. 193, 196 Wis. 125.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 57.

59. Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 671, 131 Fla. 516, citing Corpus Juris.

Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 541, 97 Mont. 206, quoting Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 65 P.2d 1395, 1403, 156 Or. 333, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 58.

60. La.—Arceneaux v. Cormier, 144 So. 722, 175 La. 941.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 57.

Release or acquittance by administrator

If recovery to estate of decedent should ensue in action by administrator, even an imperfectly appointed administrator would have capacity to execute an acquittance to defendant under direction of the court, and the judgment would in an appropriate plea be "res judicata".—Brinkley v. Allen, 143 S.W.2d 187, 200 Ark. 1147.

Payment to executor under forged will

Where bank had paid deposit standing in decedent's name to person to whom letters testamentary on forged will had been granted by surrogate and letters had not been revoked, bank was not liable for deposits to administratrix of decedent's estate subsequently appointed by surrogate of another county.—Buckley v. Howard Sav. Inst., 186 A. 52, 14 N.J.Misc. 620.

61. Ga.—Shadburn Banking Co. v.

Streetman, 179 S.E. 377, 380, 180 Ga. 500.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 57.

Appointment or confirmation subsequently decreed void

A person dealing with an administrator or executor is protected by the order appointing or confirming the administrator or executor, even though the appointment or confirmation is subsequently decreed to be void.—Dimitry v. Shreveport Mut. Bldg. Ass'n, 120 So. 581, 167 La. 875.

Lease approved by court

Where a minor has been appointed administrator and has qualified as such and makes a contract of sale and lease of property of decedent which has been approved by the court, such contract is valid, if fair, or not contaminated by fraud, and cannot be set aside merely because a better contract can be secured, even though the administrator is not legally qualified to be appointed and has been removed.—Giglio v. Woollard, 88 So. 401, 126 Miss. 6, 14 A.L.R. 616.

62. Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 671, 131 Fla. 516, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 59.

Certifying correctness of claim for burial expenses

Where the appointment of an administrator was void, his waiver of notice of presentation of claim for burial expenses and his certifying the correctness of such claim were of no effect and, therefore, the claim was improperly allowed by the probate court.—In re Graves' Estate, Mo.App., 73 S.W.2d 844.

Executor not named in will

Acts of executor, who was not named as executor in the will but who was appointed by the probate court on representations that testator had said he wanted appointee to act as executor, were void, since such representations did not warrant appointment.—Dial v. Martin, 37 S.W.2d 166, reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.

63. Tex.—Hurt v. Horton, 12 Tex. 285.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 60.

64. N.D.—Dobler v. Strobel, 81 N.W. 37, 9 N.D. 104, 81 Am.S.R. 530.

23 C.J. p 1091 note 86.

as such that the judge of probate who appointed him was interested in the estate of deceased, and, therefore, that his appointment was a nullity.⁶⁵ Where one has qualified as administrator of a succession and has performed acts of administration, he cannot deny that he was administrator.⁶⁶

§ 73. Effect of Errors and Irregularities

Mere errors or irregularities in the proceedings ordinarily do not invalidate the grant of administration or letters.

Acting as general administrator and administrator durante absentia

Party assuming to act as administrator durante absentia and also as one of general administrators of the estate could not question authority of orphans' court to grant administration durante absentia.—Kick v. McCauley, 178 A. 637, 118 N.J.Eq. 252.

65. Mass.—Coffin v. Cottle, 9 Pick. 287.

66. La.—Kerlec v. New Orleans Land Co., 57 So. 447, 130 La. 111.

67. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

S.D.—Bottom v. Kamen, 180 N.W. 948, 43 S.D. 498.

Tex.—Eckeberger v. Stroud, Civ. App., 103 S.W.2d 803.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

23 C.J. p 1083 note 36.

Defects in petition or application for appointment

(1) The appointment of an administrator is not void although applied for by a minor heir.—In re Bacher's Estate, 261 Ill.App. 547.

(2) Failure of petition for appointment of administrator to allege that applicant for appointment was a resident of the state and that he had attained majority did not make the order of appointment void on its face.—Castillo v. Warren, 113 P.2d 232, 44 Cal.App.2d 903.

(3) Where the petition for the appointment of an administrator bore the caption of the court of another county, and was filed in the court of the proper county, and was treated as a proper petition and acted on as such, and in its order appointing the administrator the court found the necessary facts to exist which authorized it to assume jurisdiction, the error in the caption of the petition was not a fatal defect and did not render the proceedings void.—Moe v. Judd, 208 P. 82, 121 Wash. 14.

(4) Other instances see 23 C.J. p 1083 note 36 [a].

Want of notice

(1) Erroneous finding by the court, in appointing administrator, that notice of the proceeding to another was not necessary rendered the appointment voidable but not void, and, until set aside, it was valid.—King v. Salyer, 44 P.2d 11, 172 Okl. 130.—In re Green's Estate, 251 P. 1008, 114 Okl. 283.

(2) Appointment of clerk of court as administrator of small heavily indebted estate of resident alien was not an absolute nullity notwithstanding failure to give notice to the consul representing the country of such alien as required by treaty; such failure was an irregularity or informality which was cured after the lapse of five years.—Rizzotto v. Grima, 113 So. 658, 164 La. 1.

Bond

Irregularities in the bond of the administrator did not render void the proceedings in which he was appointed.—Moe v. Judd, 208 P. 82, 121 Wash. 14.

Typographical error

An order appointing an administrator which contained what was clearly a typographical error which had been corrected by the trial judge of his own motion was not subject to attack on the ground that it was void on its face.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

Appointment of alleged widow

Decree appointing alleged widow as administratrix, later revoked because administratrix was not widow, was valid until revoked.—Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Huse & Carleton, 172 N.E. 590, 272 Mass. 448, 72 A.L.R. 1143.

68. Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 541, 97 Mont. 206, quoting Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1084 note 37.

69. Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
R.I.—Mowry v. Latham, 40 A. 236, 341, 20 R.I. 786.

70. Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 518.

Mont.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P. 2d 539, 541, 97 Mont. 206, quoting Corpus Juris.

Or.—In re Workman's Estate, 65 P.

A grant of administration is not invalidated by errors or irregularities in the proceedings⁶⁷ which do not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party,⁶⁸ such as a grant of administration, on application of one who is neither next of kin nor creditor,⁶⁹ and, according to the rule usually recognized, an administrator appointed and qualified by a court of competent authority is the lawful representative of the estate until his appointment is rescinded, although another had the better right to be the administrator.⁷⁰ It has been held, however, that the 2d 1395, 1403, 156 Or. 333, quoting Corpus Juris, and rehearing denied 68 P.2d 479, 156 Or. 333.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 39.

Appointment as voidable

(1) Appointment of a person as administrator instead of another who has a preferential right to appointment is erroneous and voidable but is not void.—In re Pingree's Estate, 25 P.2d 937, 82 Utah 437, 90 A.L.R. 96.—In re Owen's Estate, 91 P. 283, 32 Utah 469.

(2) In a case in which apparently there was a direct attack on the appointment of a general administrator, after the letters of another person as temporary administrator had been revoked by the court of ordinary, it was stated that, in view of Code 1933 § 133-1202 subd 8, the appointment of the general administrator, who was neither an heir of decedent nor otherwise interested in the estate, was voidable.—Rainey v. Moon, 2 S.E.2d 405, 187 Ga. 712.

Failure to give next of kin opportunity to accept appointment

An order by a court of competent jurisdiction appointing administrator, without giving decedent's next of kin opportunity to accept such position, is not void.

Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 516.

Ky.—Cunningham v. Clay, 112 S.W. 852.

Erroneous finding as to preference

Erroneous finding by the court, in appointing an administrator, that person so appointed was entitled to a preference rendered the appointment voidable, but not void; it was valid until set aside, and could be questioned only by person having preference rights over person appointed by asking that one having first preference be appointed in lieu of one erroneously appointed.—King v. Salyer, 44 P.2d 11, 172 Okl. 130.—In re Green's Estate, 251 P. 1008, 114 Okl. 283.

Validity of letters

Letters of administration are not invalid because another had a better right to them.—In re Esterley's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 97 Mont. 206.

appointment of an administrator without the issuance or due publication of a citation in compliance with law is without legal force where the want of due citation appears on the face of the record of the proceeding for appointment,⁷¹ and that the grant of administration to a person who has no interest in the estate and who has no right to the appointment is void for want of jurisdiction where such want of interest and right to appointment appear on the face of his application.⁷² Where the fact that application for appointment as administrator is made after the expiration of the statutory period within which application should be made appears on the face of the application, and there is no showing sufficient to take the case out of the operation of the statute, the entire proceeding has been regarded as void.⁷³

Letters testamentary issued by a court which has jurisdiction are valid unless and until they are revoked, notwithstanding there may be irregularities in the proceedings.⁷⁴ Absence from the minutes of the court of a formal order or decree admitting a will to probate does not invalidate letters testamentary if a decree for probate was actually rendered and announced by the court.⁷⁵

Premature appointment. The appointment of a person as administrator within the period during which others have the preferential right to appointment is voidable but not void,⁷⁶ but such appointment has been regarded as void where it appears on the face of the record that the court was without authority to make it.⁷⁷

§ 74. Matters Concluded and Presumptions

All presumptions are indulged in favor of the validity of the appointment of, or of the grant of letters to, executors or administrators.

As a general rule all presumptions or intendments are indulged in favor of the validity of the appointment of, or of the grant of letters to, executors or administrators.⁷⁸ Letters are presumed to have been rightfully granted or issued⁷⁹ after due judicial investigation and procedure.⁸⁰

It will be presumed that an appointment was necessary⁸¹ and was made on sufficient grounds,⁸² that the court acted on proof of facts essential to its jurisdiction,⁸³ that it made a finding of the existence

71. Ga.—Rusk v. Hill, 45 S.E. 42, 117 Ga. 722—Davis v. Melton, 181 S.E. 300, 51 Ga.App. 685.

Necessity of citation see supra § 53.

Order of appointment showing want of notice

Where, under the statute, notice of application for appointment of special administrator was necessary to give court jurisdiction but order of appointment recited that notice was not necessary and was dispensed with, order was void on its face.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

72. Ga.—Stanley v. Metts, 149 S.E. 786, 169 Ga. 101.

73. Iowa.—Cummings v. Lynn, 98 N.W. 857, 121 Iowa 344.

74. Neb.—In re Hoferer's Estate, 216 N.W. 826, 116 Neb. 249.

Matters affecting bond

Unless statute requires, failure of sureties on executor's bond to make affidavit as to qualifications will not render letters testamentary void.—In re Hoferer's Estate, supra.

75. Ala.—Whitaker v. Kennamer, 155 So. 855, 229 Ala. 80.

Probate of will as condition precedent to issuance of letters testamentary see supra § 69.

76. Ala.—Bivin v. Millsap, 189 So. 770, 238 Ala. 136.

Ky.—Thompson v. Archie's Adm'r, 165 S.W. 977, 158 Ky. 590—Leach v. Owensboro City R. Co., 125 S.W. 708, 137 Ky. 292—Phillips v. Hundley, 123 S.W. 147, 135 Ky.

269—McFarland v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 113 S.W. 82, 130 Ky. 172—Spayd's Adm'r v. Brown, 102 S.W. 823, 31 Ky.L. 438.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775.

Or.—In re MacMullen's Estate, 243 P. 89, 117 Or. 505, rehearing denied 244 P. 664 (first case), 117 Or. 505.

Utah.—In re Owen's Estate, 91 P. 283, 32 Utah 469.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 39 [a].

Premature delivery of letters see supra § 69 a.

Disqualification of distributees

Appointment of administrator who is not a person within the preferred class, within the period for exercising the preferential right is at most voidable but not void where distributees, who, if qualified, would have preference, are disqualified.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584—Hunt v. Crocker, 55 S.W.2d 20, 246 Ky. 388.

77. Mo.—Pikey v. Riles, App., 20 S.W.2d 550—In re Wilson's Estate, App., 16 S.W.2d 737.

Appointment of stranger

In view of Rev.St.1929 § 7-9 and of the want of written waiver or consent to the appointment in writing on the part of one claiming to be the daughter of deceased, the appointment of a stranger to deceased as administrator, made four days after death was void.—In re Graves' Estate, Mo.App., 73 S.W.2d 844.

78. Ala.—Webb v. Sprott, 144 So.

569, 225 Ala. 600—Tubbs v. Barnard, 143 So. 448, 225 Ala. 435—Burnett v. Nesmith, 62 Ala. 261.

Tex.—Eckeberger v. Stroud, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 803.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 43.

Reason for rule

With respect to such appointment or grant, the probate court is a court of general jurisdiction.—Webb v. Sprott, 144 So. 569, 225 Ala. 600—Tubbs v. Barnard, 143 So. 448, 225 Ala. 435—Burnett v. Nesmith, 62 Ala. 261.

79. Ala.—Burnett v. Nesmith, supra.

Iowa.—Milligan v. Bowman, 46 Iowa 55.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 43.

Evidence of appointment and authority of executor or administrator see supra § 71.

80. Ala.—Burke v. Mutch, 66 Ala. 568.

Mo.—Lackland v. Stevenson, 54 Mo. 108.

81. Ark.—Turley v. Gorman, 202 S.W. 822, 183 Ark. 473.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 47.

Appointment of administrator is conclusive as to its necessity only on collateral attack.—McGraw v. Miller, 44 S.W.2d 366, 184 Ark. 916.

82. Ind.—Peterson v. Erwin, 62 N.E. 719, 28 Ind.App. 330.

23 C.J. p 1084 note 48.

83. Ala.—Whitaker v. Kennamer, 155 So. 855, 857, 229 Ala. 80, citing Corpus Juris.

of the facts on which its jurisdiction depended,⁸⁴ that the proceedings were in all respects regular,⁸⁵ and that the person appointed was a proper person for the appointment,⁸⁶ both in respect of his possessing the qualifications rendering him suitable to undertake and capable of performing the duties of the office, and there being no available person having a prior right to administer.⁸⁷ The appointment, however, is conclusive only as to the matters directly adjudged, that is, those necessary to confer jurisdiction to make the order,⁸⁸ and not as to matters not directly involved in the proceeding.⁸⁹

Idaho.—In re Barr's Estate, 252 P. 676, 677, 43 Idaho 400, citing Corpus Juris.
23 C.J. p 1084 note 49.

84. Ala.—Whitaker v. Kennamer, 155 So. 855, 229 Ala. 80—Webb v. Sprott, 144 So. 569, 225 Ala. 600—Tubbs v. Barnard, 143 So. 448, 225 Ala. 435—Smith v. Smith, 103 So. 557, 212 Ala. 522.

Mo.—McIntyre v. St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co., 227 S.W. 1047, 286 Mo. 234, certiorari denied St. Louis—San Francisco R. Co. v. McIntyre, 41 S.Ct. 376, 255 U.S. 573, 65 L.Ed. 792.

Order as finding of jurisdictional facts

An order appointing an administrator in a regular proceeding in a county court is a finding of every necessary jurisdictional fact.—Wolf v. Gillis, 219 P. 350, 96 Okl. 6.

Residence of decedent

Cal.—In re Relph's Estate, 198 P. 639, 185 Cal. 605—Holabird v. Superior Court in and for Fresno County, 281 P. 108, 101 Cal.App. 49.
Fla.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.

Iowa.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419—In re Klaidivo's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Mo.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, Md., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078—Linder v. Burns, App., 243 S.W. 361.

Assets within jurisdiction

Granting letters of administration was an adjudication that nonresident decedent died possessed of personal assets within the county in which the appointment was made.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46.

85. Ga.—Davis v. Melton, 181 S.E. 300, 51 Ga.App. 685.
23 C.J. p 1084 note 50.

Notice of hearing

Where the record of the probate court is silent as to mailing notice of hearing of application for letters testamentary, it will be presumed, in a collateral proceeding, that the notices were mailed.—Knowles v. Kaskiska, 268 P. 3, 46 Idaho 379.

86. Ga.—Milner v. Allgood, 191 S.E. 132, 184 Ga. 288.
23 C.J. p 1085 note 51.

87. Mass.—Copeland v. Shapley, 100 N.E. 1080, 214 Mass. 132.
23 C.J. p 1085 note 51.

Approval of appointment

Approval by the probate court of the appointment of an administrator imports a finding that the appointee was qualified for appointment and resided in the state.—Day v. Johnston, 250 S.W. 532, 158 Ark. 478.

88. Existence of debts

Question whether succession owed debts requiring appointment of administrator was foreclosed by order appointing him after publication of notice.—Succession of Sullivan, 144 So. 505, 175 La. 813.

In California

(1) The rule stated in the text has been announced.—Layne v. Johnson, 124 P. 860, 19 Cal.App. 95.

(2) After appointment of administrator on nomination of decedent's mother, probate court was not required again to adjudicate question of competency of mother to make nomination in subsequent proceeding on petition of guardian of mother for revocation of letters of administration on ground that mother was incompetent at time of execution of nomination, since question was directly involved in proceeding on mother's nomination of administrator.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

(3) It has also been held, however, that a finding by probate court that petitioner for letters of administration is "the next of kin," and an "heir at law" of decedent, and "entitled" to letters of administration, was not res judicata in a subsequent proceeding under statute by the public administrator to have the letters revoked and himself appointed on the ground that certain nonresidents bore a closer relationship to intestate than did the person so appointed.—In re O'Dea's Estate, 93 P.2d 222, 34 Cal.App.2d 179.

(4) An order appointing a cousin of decedent as administrator was not conclusive as to the right of such cousin to administer the estate, in a subsequent proceeding by the public administrator for revocation of such cousin's letters.—In re Way's Estate, 85 P.2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669.

In Florida

(1) If petition originally filed with county court for letters of administration was sufficient to invoke the jurisdiction, and if county court had power to determine whether it had jurisdiction to proceed, had so determined, and had granted letters of administration, its judgment with reference to a general subject matter over which its authority extended under statute was conclusive unless reversed on appeal or voided for error or fraud in a direct proceeding, regardless of how erroneous that judgment might be, since the judgment would become the "law of the case".—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.

(2) The fact that the Sarasota County court after granting letters of administration and after determining that it had jurisdiction, permitted an amendment alleging that intestate was a resident of and domiciled in Manatee County at the time of his death, was not sufficient to divest the Sarasota County court of the jurisdiction that it had assumed or revoke letters that it had granted.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, supra.

89. Ala.—Beasley v. Howell, 22 So. 989, 117 Ala. 499.

Cal.—In re Daughaday, 141 P. 929, 168 Cal. 63.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 53.

Application of real property to debts

Appointment of administrator is not conclusive of question as to whether lands of estate are needed to pay debts.—Turley v. Gorman, 202 S.W. 822, 133 Ark. 473.

Heirship

(1) Heirship or right to share in estate is not determined.

Cal.—In re Haskell, Myr.Prob. p 204—In re Way's Estate, 85 P.2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669.

La.—Succession of Raphael, 144 So. 429, 175 La. 715.

Minn.—In re Firlie's Estate, 253 N.W. 889, 191 Minn. 233.

(2) In an action for the specific performance of a contract to leave property at death to one who had lived with decedents as their child, but who was never legally adopted, the judgment of the surrogate's court appointing an heir as administratrix was not res judicata as to right to enforce the contract.—Barrett v. Miner, 196 N.Y.S. 175, 119 Misc. 230.

(3) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 1085 note 53 [f].

Marriage and widowhood

(1) In compensation proceeding, order of county court appointing claimant as administratrix of estate of deceased on ground that claimant was common-law wife of deceased was not "res judicata" on issue of relationship between claimant and

Letters of administration are prima facie evidence of the validity and regularity of the appointment,⁹⁰ of all facts necessary to their validity,⁹¹ and of all they purport to show.⁹² They are conclusive evidence of the regularity of the proceedings leading up to their issuance in case of collateral attack,⁹³ and letters testamentary have been regarded as conclusive proof of the executor's ownership of certain personal property.⁹⁴

Death. The grant of administration and letters of administration are prima facie evidence of the death of the person on whose estate administration was granted, in a proceeding to which the administrator is a party in his representative capacity,⁹⁵ or in which the validity of the administration dependent on the death of such person is in issue,⁹⁶ and the appointment of an administrator and the finding of the probate court that the person whose estate was involved was dead are conclusive proof of death in a proceeding to which the administrator is a party, in the absence of evidence to the contrary.⁹⁷ However, the prima facie case of death made by letters of administration has been regarded as of the weakest and most inconclusive character.⁹⁸ According to some cases, even in proceedings in which the administrator is a party, the grant of administration and letters of administration are not prima facie evidence of death.⁹⁹

Intestacy. The appointment of an ordinary or general administrator or the granting of ordinary or general letters of administration usually amounts to, or necessarily includes, an adjudication, determination, or finding that the person on whose estate administration is granted died intestate,¹ and is prima facie evidence that no valid will exists,² and letters of administration, or a certified transcript of the record thereof, is prima facie evidence of intestacy.³ The granting of letters of administration does not, however, under all circumstances, amount to an adjudication that decedent died intestate,⁴ and a determination in a proceeding in which an administrator is appointed that decedent died intestate is not a bar to a subsequent proceeding for the probate of the will of such decedent.⁵

§ 75. Persons Concluded

The appointment of an administrator is binding on the parties to the proceeding and their privies, but not, under all circumstances, on other persons, at least as to incidental matters determined by the order of appointment.

deceased, but constituted nothing more than formal prima facie evidence of relationship between claimant and deceased.—State Compensation Ins. Fund v. Mattivi, 106 P.2d 463, 106 Colo. 461.

(2) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 1085 note 53 [c], [d].

90. La.—Succession of Sullivan, 144 So. 505, 175 La. 813—Cherry's Succession v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., App., 176 So. 645.

Letters as evidence of appointment or authority see supra § 71.

91. Kan.—Brubaker v. Jones, 23 Kan. 411.

92. U.S.—In re Agnew, D.C.N.Y., 225 F. 650.

Iowa.—Milligan v. Bowman, 46 Iowa 55.

93. Cal.—In re Way's Estate, 85 P. 2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669—Lane v. Starkey, 210 P. 277, 59 Cal.App. 140.

94. Corporate stock owned by testator at death

N.J.—Elevator Supplies Co. v. Wyld, 150 A. 247, 106 N.J.Eq. 163.

95. Miss.—Cock v. Abernathy, 28 So. 18, 77 Miss. 872.

Mo.—Lancaster v. Washington Life Ins. Co., 62 Mo. 121.

Evidence as to fact of death see Death § 9.

Letters of administration

Letters of administration, or a certified transcript of the record thereof, is prima facie evidence of the death of the person on whose estate administration was granted.—Smith v. Smith, 103 So. 557, 212 Ala. 522.

96. Tex.—Steele's Unknown Heirs v. Belding, Civ.App., 148 S.W. 592.

97. Or.—Brown v. Truax, 115 P. 597, 58 Or. 572.

98. Mo.—Lancaster v. Washington Life Ins. Co., 62 Mo. 121.

99. N.Y.—In re Kelley's Estate, 19 N.Y.S.2d 837, 174 Misc. 53, affirmed 23 N.Y.S.2d 464, 260 App.Div. 852, appeal granted 24 N.Y.S.2d 994, 260 App.Div. 1007, affirmed 33 N.E.2d 561, 285 N.Y. 644.

Administration granted on estate of absentee

U.S.—Swanson v. U. S., D.C.N.Y., 3 F.Supp. 813.

N.Y.—Bering v. U. S. Trust Co. of New York, 193 N.Y. 753, 201 App. Div. 35—In re Rowe, 189 N.Y.S. 395, 197 App.Div. 449, affirming In re Rowe's Estate, 170 N.Y.S. 742, 103 Misc. 111, and affirmed 134 N.E. 569, 232 N.Y. 554, amendment of remittitur denied 134 N.E. 599, 232 N.Y. 628—Marks v. Emigrant Industrial Sav. Bank, 107 N.Y.S. 491, 122 App.Div. 661.

1. N.J.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46.

Or.—Wilson v. Hendricks, 103 P.2d 714, 164 Or. 486.

Intestacy as requisite to appointment of administrator see supra § 30.

2. In Pennsylvania

(1) The rule stated in the text has been announced.—Snyder v. McGill, 108 A. 410, 265 Pa. 122.

(2) A grant of administration cannot be regarded as an adjudication that deceased died intestate where the form of oath provided by statute for administrators expressly provides for the surrender of the letters of administration, if it subsequently appears that a last will and testament was made by the deceased and the same is proved according to law.—Buchle's Estate, 3 Pa.Dist. 16, 14 Pa.Co. 99.

3. Ala.—Smith v. Smith, 103 So. 557, 212 Ala. 522.

4. Existence of will shown by petition for letters of administration

In view of Code of Law 1901 § 290, providing that the subsequent discovery and probate of a will shall revoke letters of administration, an order granting letters of administration, on a petition which recited that a will executed by decedent was in existence, so that the letters were improvidently granted, was not an adjudication that decedent died intestate.—Morris v. Foster, 278 F. 321, 51 App.D.C. 238, certiorari denied 42 S.Ct. 586, 259 U.S. 582, 66 L.Ed. 1074.

5. Mich.—In re Broffee's Estate, 172 N.W. 541, 206 Mich. 107.

23 C.J. p 1085 note 53 [g] (2).

The appointment of an administrator is binding on parties to the proceeding and their privies,⁶ and, while it has been stated that an order of a tribunal of competent jurisdiction appointing an administrator is, as a judgment in rem, binding on the whole world regardless of whether the persons affected were parties or were entitled to be made parties,⁷ the order is not, under all circumstances, binding on persons not parties,⁸ at least as to matters incidental to the appointment which may be determined by the order.⁹

As to matters concluded and presumptions see supra § 74; and as to who may apply for revocation of letters see infra § 85.

§ 76. Collateral Attack

- a. In general
- b. Want of jurisdiction and void order or appointment

a. In General

As a general rule a grant of administration or of letters which is merely voidable and not void is not subject to collateral attack.

As a general rule a grant of administration which is not void, although it may be voidable, is not open to collateral attack,¹⁰ on the ground of irregularity

6. Cal.—Layne v. Johnson, 124 P. 860, 19 Cal.App. 95.
Wis.—Jenks v. Allen, 139 N.W. 433, 151 Wis. 625.
23 C.J. p 1085 note 54.

Party claiming right to letters

Where daughter named as executrix in mother's will failed to appeal from order denying letters to daughter and granting letters of administration with will annexed, to another, and where motion to vacate the order was properly rejected on a subsequent date, daughter was not entitled to raise the issue again by way of collateral attack in proceeding for confirmation of sale of real estate, since order and denial constituted a final adjudication of the issue.—In re Alfrey's Estate, 83 P.2d 291, 12 Cal. 2d 255.

7. Pa.—In re Wesner's Estate, 11 A. 2d 521, 139 Pa.Super. 314.
Administration proceeding as judgment in rem in general see supra § 12.

Other statement

In a proceeding which involved the estate of a decedent as to which an administrator was appointed, it was said, in connection with the characterization of actions concerning estates of decedents as in rem, that such actions are binding on everyone having an interest in the estate involved, when statutory proceedings are followed.—Dunaway v. Easter, Civ.App., 119 S.W.2d 421, reversed on other grounds 129 S.W.2d 286, 133 Tex. 309.

Decree declaring presumption of death and appointing administrator

Final decree of the orphans' court declaring a party to be a presumed decedent and appointing an administrator of his estate, being a "judgment in rem" was binding on the world irrespective of whether those affected were parties or were entitled to be made parties to the litigation in which the decree was entered.—In re Wesner's Estate, 11 A. 2d 521, 139 Pa.Super. 314.

8. Kan.—Horan v. Dore, 74 P.2d 147, 146 Kan. 883.
23 C.J. p 1085 note 54 [a].

Determination as to domicile or residence

(1) Decedent's brother, seeking revocation of letters granted to administrator substituted for decedent's husband who became incompetent, was not bound by adjudication, in proceeding wherein original letters were granted, that decedent was domiciled in New Jersey, where brother was not party to such proceeding and had no notice or opportunity to be heard therein.—In re Fischer's Estate, 180 A. 633, 118 N.J. Eq. 599.

(2) In proceeding on petition to probate will in a certain county, granting of letters of administration in another county was not "res judicata" on issue of county of residence of decedent at time of death since same parties and same subject matter were not involved.—In re Mills' Estate, 11 N.Y.S.2d 929, 171 Misc. 42.

Effect on debtor of estate

Where jurisdiction to appoint an administrator is based on the presence within the jurisdiction of an asset of the estate consisting of the right to bring an action there on a claim in favor of the estate, the appointment of an administrator to enforce or collect the claim, without making the debtor a party or permitting him to be heard, does not constitute such a seizure of the res as will conclude or even prejudice the debtor.—Fennell v. U. S., C.C.A. Tex., 67 F.2d 768.

9. Iowa.—Brigham's Estate, 120 N. W. 1054, 144 Iowa 71.
23 C.J. p 1085 note 55.

10. U.S.—Harrison v. Love, C.C.A. Mich., 81 F.2d 115—Doten v. Southern Ry. Co., D.C.Tenn., 32 F.Supp. 901—Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Johnson, C.C.A.Iowa, 275 F. 757.

Ala.—Peek v. Haardt, 177 So. 634, 635, 235 Ala. 145, 113 A.L.R. 1395, citing Corpus Juris—Webb v. Sprott, 144 So. 569, 225 Ala. 600—

Tubbs v. Barnard, 143 So. 448, 225 Ala. 435.

Alaska.—In re Person's Estate, 7 Alaska 489.

Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P. 2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360—Estate of Way, 85 P.2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669—Lane v. Starkey, 210 P. 277, 59 Cal.App. 140.

Conn.—Di Biasi v. Di Biasi, 159 A. 477, 114 Conn. 539.

Ga.—Stewart v. Patterson, 111 S.E. 421, 152 Ga. 754—Harris v. Shelton, 107 S.E. 842, 151 Ga. 615.

Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Bays' Adm'r, 295 S.W. 452, 220 Ky. 458.

La.—Succession of Sullivan, 144 So. 505, 175 La. 813—Flanagan v. Land Development Co. of Louisiana, 83 So. 39, 145 La. 843—Cherry's Succession v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., App., 176 So. 645.

Mich.—Chapin v. Chapin, 201 N.W. 530, 229 Mich. 515.

N.J.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46—Charles Wiener & Sons v. Fischer, 179 A. 632, 118 N.J.Eq. 387—Buckley v. Howard Sav. Inst., 186 A. 52, 14 N.J.Misc. 620.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N. E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

Or.—Wilson v. Hendricks, 102 P.2d 714, 164 Or. 486—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 881, 159 Or. 698, citing Corpus Juris.

Pa.—West v. Young, 2 A.2d 745, 332 Pa. 248—Snyder v. McGill, 108 A. 410, 265 Pa. 122—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437—Mitchell v. Dreher, 147 S.E. 646, 150 S.C. 125.

S.D.—Bottum v. Kamen, 180 N.W. 948, 43 S.D. 498.

Tex.—Reed v. Harlan, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused—Becknal v. Becknal, Civ.App., 296 S.W. 917—Champ v. Wilson, Civ.App., 244 S.W. 260—McCarthy v. Texas Co., in the proceedings,¹¹ a mistake in the character of | letters granted where a proper case for administra-

Civ.App., 235 S.W. 679, error granted.

Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P. 2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L.R. 1220—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 61.

Collateral attack on judgments generally see the C.J.S. title Judgments §§ 401-435, also 34 C.J. p 511 note 46-p 567 note 70.

Collateral impeachment of probate of will see the C.J.S. title Wills § 578, also 68 C.J. p 1235 note 87-p 1238 note 34.

Grant or appointment by clerk or register

(1) An appointment by the clerk of the court is not subject to collateral attack.

Iowa.—In re Kladio's Estate, 176 N. W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

N.C.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 306, 188 N.C. 274—Batchelor v. Overton, 74 S.E. 20, 158 N.C. 395.

(2) Order by clerk of superior court granting letters of administration and appointment of administrator could be avoided in a collateral proceeding only by showing that decedent was not, in fact, dead.—Chamblée v. Security Nat. Bank, 188 S.E. 632, 211 N.C. 48.

(3) The granting of letters of administration by the register of wills is a judicial act, and can be set aside only on an appeal from his action in the matter, and hence is not subject to attack in a collateral proceeding.—Ubil v. Miller, 16 Pa.Super. 497.

Collateral attack by stranger

In administrator's action against a stranger, the stranger could not make a collateral attack on plaintiff's appointment as administrator, since it would not be material to defendant who represented the estate as administrator.—Bamforth v. Ihmsen, 204 P. 345, 28 Wyo. 282, rehearing denied 205 P. 1004, 28 Wyo. 282.

What constitutes collateral attack

A collateral attack is an attempt to avoid, defeat, or evade a judicial proceeding or to deny its force and effect in some manner not provided by law. It is any proceeding which is not instituted for the express purpose of annulling, correcting, or modifying the decree.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N. E. 449, 451, 103 Ohio St. 559.

Or.—Wilson v. Hendricks, 102 P.2d 714, 716, 184 Or. 486—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 884, 159 Or. 698.

Equity suit against curator of decedent's estate

Appointment by county judge of curator for intestate's estate is not subject to collateral attack in equity by alleged beneficiary of estate, no special equity to have curator superseded being shown.—Anderson v. Spencer, 149 So. 658, 111 Fla. 760.

Actions or proceedings in which collateral attack not permissible

(1) Action by personal representative for wrongfully causing death of decedent.

U.S.—Harrison v. Love, C.C.A.Mich., 81 F.2d 115.

Cal.—Castillo v. Warren, 118 P.2d 232, 44 Cal.App.2d 903.

Ill.—Bremer v. Lake Erie & W. R. Co., 234 Ill.App. 105, affirmed 148 N.E. 862, 318 Ill. 11, 41 A.L.R. 1345.

Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Bay's Adm'r, 295 S.W. 452, 220 Ky. 458.

Mo.—McIntyre v. St. Louis & San Francisco Ry. Co., 227 S.W. 1047, 286 Mo. 234, certiorari denied St. Louis-San Francisco R. Co., 41 S. Ct. 376, 255 U.S. 573, 65 L.Ed. 792.

N.C.—Holmes v. Wharton, 140 S.E. 93, 194 N.C. 470.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437.

S.D.—Bottum v. Kamen, 180 N.W. 948, 43 S.D. 498.

Tenn.—Yellow Cab Co. v. Maloaf, 3 Tenn.App. 11.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 61 [a] (11).

(2) Proceeding under workmen's compensation act to obtain compensation for death of decedent.—Key-stone Steel & Wire Co. v. Industrial Commission, 124 N.E. 542, 289 Ill. 587.

(3) Proceeding for removal from state to federal court of action by administrator for wrongfully causing death of decedent.—Mecom v. Fitzsimmons Drilling Co., Okl., 52 S. Ct. 84, 284 U.S. 183, 76 L.Ed. 233, 77 A.L.R. 904, reversing, C.C.A., 47 F.2d 28, certiorari granted Mecom v. Fitzsimmons Drilling Co., 51 S.Ct. 488, 283 U.S. 815, 75 L.Ed. 1431.

(4) Action by administrator on insurance policy on life of decedent.—Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Johnson, C.C.A.Iowa, 275 F. 757.

(5) Action by administrator against debtor for the benefit of next of kin.—In re Trost's Estate, 10 N.E. 2d 857, 292 Ill.App. 60.

(6) Action in trespass to try title brought by an administrator.—Pierce v. Baker, Tex.Civ.App., 143 S.W.2d 681, error refused.

(7) Suit by administratrix to quiet title to lands belonging to estate of decedent.—Jerauld v. Chambers, 187 P. 33, 44 Cal.App. 771.

(8) Suit by administrator to quiet title to an interest in an irrigation ditch.—Bamforth v. Ihmsen, 204 P.

345, 28 Wyo. 282, rehearing denied 205 P. 1004, 28 Wyo. 282.

(9) Suit by administratrix as such to set aside a conveyance of property which, it was alleged, had been held in trust for decedent.—West v. Young, 2 A.2d 745, 332 Pa. 248.

(10) Action by administratrix against heirs to settle estate of decedent, in which the administratrix sought to recover the amount of her claim as an individual based on a loan by her to decedent.—Cox v. Monday, 95 S.W.2d 785, 264 Ky. 805.

(11) Suit by administrator of deceased beneficiary of trust to determine to whom beneficiary's share of trust fund should be paid.—Hedden v. Hedden, 162 A. 114, 10 N.J.Misc. 1047.

(12) Action by mortgagor against executor of mortgagee to declare foreclosure proceedings null and void, remedy being by appeal from order appointing executor.—Lehman v. Norton, 253 N.W. 663, 191 Minn. 211.

(13) Suit by children of decedent to prevent drawing of widow's allowance, in which plaintiffs sought to attack appointment of administrator.—McKana v. Englund, 251 N.W. 308, 265 Mich. 214.

(14) Proceeding for approval of claims against the estate.—Clark v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 652, followed in Markward v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 656, and both cases reversed on other grounds, Tex., 156 S.W.2d 971—Markward v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 649, affirmed, Tex., 156 S.W.2d 971.

(15) Suit to establish claim against decedent's estate.—Clark v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 652, followed in Markward v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 656, and both cases reversed on other grounds, Tex., 156 S.W.2d 971, error granted.

(16) Other actions or proceedings. Ariz.—Barth v. Platt, 100 P.2d 589, 85 Ariz. 241.

N.C.—Security Nat. Bank (Tarboro Unit) v. Bridgers, 176 S.E. 295, 207 N.C. 91.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 61 [a], Matters not constituting collateral attack

Ky.—Stell v. Williams' Adm'r, 26 S. W.2d 8, 233 Ky. 441.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 61 [g].

11. Cal.—In re Way's Estate, 85 P. 2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669—Lane v. Starkey, 210 P. 277, 59 Cal.App. 140.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437.

W.Va.—Starcher v. South Penn Oil Co., 95 S.E. 28, 81 W.Va. 587.

23 C.J. p 1086 note 62.

tion existed,¹² that administration was not necessary,¹³ that the grant was premature,¹⁴ or that the person appointed was not a proper person for the appointment,¹⁵ as, for example, that the person to whom letters of administration have been granted was not entitled by priority to administer,¹⁶ or

Defects in petition or application for appointment

(1) Failure of person who was appointed administratrix to sign petition for appointment was not ground for collateral attack on the appointment, in an action by the administratrix.—Jerauld v. Chambers, 187 P. 33, 44 Cal.App. 771.

(2) Judgment of court first appointing administrator could not be collaterally attacked on the ground that application for appointment did not give county of decedent's residence.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N. W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

(3) Failure of petition for appointment of administrator to allege that applicant for appointment was a resident of the state and had attained majority did not render appointment subject to collateral attack in an action by the administrator; nor did such collateral attack oust the court of jurisdiction of such action or deprive the administrator of his capacity to act.—Castillo v. Warren, 113 P.2d 232, 44 Cal.App.2d 903.

Bond

(1) Failure of executor or administrator to give bond does not render his appointment or his capacity subject to collateral attack.

Mo.—Connor v. Paul, 119 S.W. 1006, 138 Mo.App. 13.

Okl.—Mahoney v. McBirney, 84 P.2d 600, 184 Okl. 75.

Tex.—Reed v. Harlan, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1077 note 46, p 1088 note 62 [a] (1).

(2) Fact that administrator gave no bonds, being excused by probate court, did not disqualify administrator from maintaining actions to set aside deeds given by decedent during her lifetime, the order appointing administrator and excusing him from giving bond not being subject to collateral attack.—Stanley v. Martin, 22 P.2d 951, 137 Kan. 894.

(3) Proceedings in which an administrator was appointed are not subject to collateral attack on the ground of irregularities or defects in his bond.—Moe v. Judd, 208 P. 82, 121 Wash. 14—23 C.J. p 1088 note 62 [a] (2), (3).

(4) Letters testamentary are not vulnerable in collateral attack because sureties on bond of executor failed to make affidavit as to their qualifications.—In re Hoferer's Estate, 216 N.W. 826, 118 Neb. 249.

(5) However, a temporary administrator's failure to file his bond and have it approved, and otherwise to qualify, is a ground of defense in an action of trover, brought by him for certain property of the estate.—Stewart v. Patterson, 111 S.E. 421, 152 Ga. 754.

(6) Failure to give bond in general see supra § 67.

Oath

(1) Failure of administrator to take the prescribed oath does not render his appointment subject to collateral attack.—Reed v. Harlan, Tex. Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 236, error refused—23 C.J. p 1088 note 62 [a] (4).

(2) Failure of an executor to take the prescribed oath is not ground for collateral attack on his capacity.—Connor v. Paul, 119 S.W. 1006, 138 Mo.App. 13.

(3) Where, in an action by an administrator, the records of the probate court granting administration had been admitted, it was not proper to ask the administrator on cross-examination if he had been sworn in, because it was not permissible to assail any portion of the record collaterally.—Nickles v. Seaboard Air Line R. Co., 54 S.E. 255, 74 S.C. 102.

Competency of petitioner for appointment

In an action by administrator as such, his appointment was not subject to attack by defendant on the ground that a third person who was the petitioner for such appointment was mentally incompetent, as shown by plaintiff's bill in the present suit. Chandler v. White, 221 N.W. 618, 244 Mich. 532.

12. N.M.—Amberson v. Candler, 130 P. 255, 17 N.M. 455.
23 C.J. p 1088 note 63.

13. Mich.—McKana v. Englund, 251 N.W. 308, 265 Mich. 214.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775.

Tex.—Clark v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 652, followed in Markward v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 656, and both cases reversed on other grounds, Sup., 156 S.W.2d 971 —Markward v. Murrah, Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 649, affirmed, Sup., 156 S.W.2d 971.

23 C.J. p 1088 note 64, p 1005 note 4 [c].

Determination as to necessity of administration generally see supra § 9.

14. N.M.—Amberson v. Candler, 130 P. 255, 17 N.M. 455.

Va.—Hutcheson v. Priddy, 12 Gratt. 85, 53 Va. 85.

15. Ga.—Milner v. Allgood, 191 S.E. 182, 184 Ga. 288.

Wyo.—Bamforth v. Ihmsen, 204 P. 345, 28 Wyo. 282, rehearing denied 205 P. 1004, 28 Wyo. 282.

Person claiming as widow

Decree appointing alleged widow of decedent as administratrix, who was subsequently shown not to be decedent's widow, was not subject to collateral attack.

Ky.—Cox v. Monday, 95 S.W.2d 785, 264 Ky. 805.

Mass.—Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Huse & Carleton, 172 N.E. 590, 272 Mass. 448, 72 A.L.R. 1143—Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. Huse & Carleton, 150 N.E. 230, 254 Mass. 359.

Nonresident

Where a court may, in the exercise of discretion, appoint a nonresident as administrator, the appointment of a nonresident is not subject to collateral attack.—Reidy v. Chicago, B. & Q. Ry. Co., 249 N.W. 347, 216 Iowa 415.

Debtor

Where it is not beyond the jurisdiction of the court to appoint as administrator a person who is indebted to the estate, the appointment of such a person is not subject to collateral attack.—Ford v. Peck, 227 P. 527, 116 Kan. 481, denying rehearing 225 P. 1054, 116 Kan. 74.

Absence of appeal in contested proceeding

Order of probate court appointing administrator for estate, made in a contested proceeding, in absence of timely appeal therefrom, becomes final as to person appointed, except in direct attack on ground of fraud or mistake.—In re Firlie's Estate, 253 N.W. 889, 191 Minn. 233.

16. Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Petteway, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 516.
Utah.—In re Owen's Estate, 271 P. 225, 72 Utah 459.
23 C.J. p 1088 note 66.

Waiver by next of kin

Appointment of administrator could not be attacked collaterally on the ground that there was a want of a showing that next of kin of decedent had waived their priority.—Pierce v. Baker, Tex.Civ.App., 143 S.W.2d 681, error refused.

Attack in action by administrator

(1) An objection to the capacity of an administrator to sue on the ground of the failure of the court to give preference to the wife or next of kin as required by the statute may not be taken by a stranger sued by the administrator.—Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v. Banks, 135 S.W. 285, 142 Ky. 746.

(2) Where the record of the probate court relating to the appointment of an administrator was not in evidence and there was no showing whatever as to whether the widow lacked the required qualifications.¹⁷

Fraud or collusion. It has been held that the appointment may be collaterally attacked on the ground of fraud or collusion,¹⁸ although the right to attack the appointment on such ground has also been denied.¹⁹

Acts of personal representative. The authority of an administrator to perform acts as administrator may not be attacked collaterally where letters of administration have duly been issued to him and he has been recognized by the probate court as the duly authorized administrator.²⁰

b. Want of Jurisdiction and Void Order or Appointment

A grant of administration or of letters ordinarily may not be collaterally attacked for want of jurisdiction when the lack of jurisdiction is not apparent on the face of the record.

A want of jurisdiction to grant administration or letters, when not apparent on the face of the record, is not, as a rule, a ground of collateral attack,²¹ for where, as is usually the case, the probate court of decedent had renounced her right to administer, the appointment of the administrator could not be collaterally attacked by defendant railroad on the theory that, as decedent's widow had the first right to administer on the estate, the court, could not, within thirty days, appoint another person to administer without showing that widow had renounced her right.—McIntyre v. St. Louis & San Francisco Ry. Co., 227 S.W. 1047, 286 Mo. 234, certiorari denied St. Louis-San Francisco R. Co. v. McIntyre, 41 S.Ct. 376, 255 U.S. 573, 65 L.Ed. 792.

17. Ark.—Day v. Johnston, 250 S.W. 532, 158 Ark. 478.
Pa.—In re McNichol's Estate, 127 A. 461, 282 Pa. 187.
S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437, 23 C.J. p 1089 note 67.

Weak-minded person as administrator
Appointment of administrator is not subject to collateral attack on the ground that the person appointed was weak-minded.—West v. Young, 2 A.2d 745, 332 Pa. 248.

18. N.Y.—Hoes v. New York, N. H. & H. R. Co., 66 N.E. 119, 173 N.Y. 435, reversing 77 N.Y.S. 117, 73 App.Div. 363.—Ziemer v. Crucible Steel Co., 90 N.Y.S. 962, 99 App. Div. 169.

19. Ala.—Carr v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 60 So. 277, 180 Ala. 159, 43 L.R.A.N.S., 634.

20. Tex.—Rindge v. Oliphint, 62 Tex. 682.—Frost v. Crockett, Civ. App., 109 S.W.2d 529, error dismissed.

21. Fla.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.—State ex rel. Everette v. Pette-way, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 516.

Ga.—Wash v. Dickson, 94 S.E. 1009, 147 Ga. 540.—Jones v. Smith, 48 S.E. 134, 120 Ga. 642.

Iowa.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

Me.—In re Neely's Estate, 1 A.2d 772, 136 Me. 79.

N.C.—Holmes v. Wharton, 140 S.E. 93, 194 N.C. 470.

Vt.—Berry v. Rutland R. Co., 154 A. 671, 103 Vt. 388.

23 C.J. p 1089 notes 68, 69.
Jurisdictional defects as ground for collateral attack of judgments generally see the C.J.S. title Judgments §§ 421-427, also 34 C.J. p 528 note 14 et seq.

Residence or domicile of decedent

(1) Order of a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction granting letters of administration is not generally open to collateral attack on the ground that decedent was not a resident of, or domiciled in, the county in which the grant was made.

Ill.—Bremer v. Lake Erie & W. R. Co., 148 N.E. 862, 318 Ill. 11, 41 A.L.R. 1345, affirming 234 Ill.App. 105.—Chicago & Eastern Illinois R. Co. v. Wolfrum, 136 Ill.App. 161.
Iowa.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.—In re Klavido's Estate, 176 N.W. 262, 188 Iowa 471.

Mo.—Johnson v. Beazley, 65 Mo. 250, 27 Am.R. 276.

Okl.—Wolf v. Gillis, 219 P. 350, 96 Okl. 6.

Pa.—Zeigler v. Storey, 69 A. 894, 220 Pa. 471, 17 L.R.A.N.S., 878.—In re Brown's Estate, 181 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

W.Va.—Colley v. Calhoun, 109 S.E. 484, 89 W.Va. 399.

23 C.J. p 1089 notes 68, 69.

(2) Where the record is silent concerning decedent's residence in the county, the appointment may not be attacked collaterally.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

(3) Order or judgment appointing administrator, based on finding, supported by evidence, that decedent was a resident of the county in which the appointment was made, was conclusive on collateral attack made nearly five years after entry in the form of a motion to dismiss the probate or administration proceeding.—In re Spencer's Estate, 245 P. 176, 198 Cal. 329.

(4) Finding by the court which issues letters testamentary or of administration that decedent had his domicile in the county over which the jurisdiction of the court extended, and the letters based on such finding, may not be impeached collaterally on the ground that decedent was not a resident of, or domiciled in, such county.—Sewell v. Christison, 245 P. 632, 114 Okl. 177.

(5) Adjudication in granting letters of administration that decedent had been a resident of the county in which the court has jurisdiction is binding for all of the administration of the estate of decedent, unless vacated or set aside on direct attack; it cannot be attacked collaterally.—In re Reiph's Estate, 198 P. 639, 185 Cal. 605.—Holabird v. Superior Court in and for Fresno County, 281 P. 108, 101 Cal.App. 49.

(6) Where appointment of administrator was attacked collaterally on the ground that decedent had not died a resident of the county in which the appointment was made, it was not necessary for the party who relied on the effectiveness of the appointment to furnish evidence that decedent was a resident of such county notwithstanding the adverse party had introduced evidence tending to show want of such residence.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

(7) Evidence has been held insufficient to show that fraud was exercised on the court in inducing it to take jurisdiction of the proceeding in which it appointed an administrator so as to permit a collateral attack on the appointment on the ground that decedent was not a resident of the county in which the appointment was made, even if it were assumed that such fraud would have permitted a collateral attack.—Ferguson v. Connell, 237 N.W. 354, 212 Iowa 1155.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

(8) Probate court's determination that decedent lived in another state, made in assuming jurisdiction over administration of estate, is conclusive against collateral attack, where the appointment of the administrator had been sought on the ground that decedent was a nonresident of the state in which administration was sought and owned real property is a court of general jurisdiction with regard to probates and the grant of administrations, and has jurisdiction with regard to the whole subject matter, although it may err in taking jurisdiction of a particular case, yet the order is generally not void but only voidable, as shown supra § 72. According to some cases, however, a lack of jurisdiction may be shown collaterally.²² Where the probate court is a court of limited jurisdiction a lack of jurisdiction may be shown collaterally.²³ The appointment may be attacked collaterally when the record affirmatively shows that the court granting the letters acted without jurisdiction,²⁴ and indeed any appointment which is void, as distinguished from voidable merely, may be collaterally attacked.²⁵ Thus it has been held that it may be shown collaterally that the estate had already been fully administered and closed,²⁶ or that at the time of the grant the probate court of another county had previously taken jurisdiction of, and granted administration on, the same estate, and that there was no vacancy in the administration.²⁷ Where the petition in an action by an administrator affirmatively shows a lack of jurisdiction in the court which appointed him, defendant may take advantage of such want of jurisdiction.²⁸

Where a partnership or corporation is incapable of acting as an executor or administrator, the record of the appointment of an executor may be collaterally attacked where the name of the appointee indicates that it is a corporation or partnership.²⁹

Fact of death. As a general rule it may be shown collaterally that the alleged decedent was not dead at the time of the grant of administration,³⁰ although there appears to be authority to the contrary.³¹

§ 77. Direct Attack

A grant of administration is subject to direct attack in an appropriate proceeding.

An order granting administration is subject to direct attack in an appropriate proceeding.³² A certiorari proceeding to test the jurisdiction of the in such state.—State ex rel. Gott v. Fidelity & Deposit Co., 298 S.W. 83, 317 Mo. 1078.

22. Ky.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, 97 S.W.2d 805, 265 Ky. 747, 23 C.J. p 1089 note 70.

Burden of proof

The burden of showing want of jurisdiction is on the party who asserts it.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, supra—Jacob's Adm'r v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 10 Bush, Ky., 263.

Sufficiency of evidence

In action by administrator to recover dower allegedly due decedents of whose estates he was administrator, evidence was insufficient to establish that county court which had appointed administrator was without jurisdiction so to do.—Bartlett v. Buckner's Adm'r, 97 S.W.2d 805, 265 Ky. 747.

23. R.I.—Peoples' Sav. Bank v. Wilcox, 3 A. 211, 15 R.I. 258, 2 Am. S.R. 894.

23 C.J. p 1089 note 70.

24. Ark.—Brinkley v. Allen, 143 S. W.2d 187, 200 Ark. 1147.

Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

Iowa.—Ferguson v. Connell, 230 N.W. 859, 210 Iowa 419.

Kan.—Anderson v. Walter, 99 P. 270, 78 Kan. 781.

Wis.—Newcomb v. Ingram, 243 N.W. 209, 212, 211 Wis. 88, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1089 note 71.

Want of jurisdiction shown by petition for appointment

Mich.—Olson v. Preferred Automobile

Ins. Co., 244 N.W. 178, 259 Mich. 612.

Want of notice or citation

Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

Ga.—Rusk v. Hill, 45 S.E. 42, 117 Ga. 722—Davis v. Melton, 181 S.E. 300, 51 Ga.App. 685.

Want of jurisdiction as defense to action by administrator

Ga.—Stewart v. Patterson, 111 S.E. 421, 152 Ga. 754.

25. Ga.—Stanley v. Metts, 149 S.E. 786, 169 Ga. 101.

La.—Flanagan v. Land Development Co., 83 So. 39, 145 La. 843—Carter v. Cambrice, 1 La.App. 156.

Mo.—In re Graves' Estate, App., 73 S.W.2d 844—Linder v. Burns, App., 243 S.W. 361.

N.Y.—Van Dusen v. Sturm, 8 N.Y.S.2d 767, reversed on other grounds 12 N.Y.S.2d 183, 257 App.Div. 914.

N.C.—Holmes v. Wharton, 140 S.E. 93, 194 N.C. 470.

Okl.—Barrett v. Steele, 117 P.2d 1020.

Wis.—Newcomb v. Ingram, 243 N.W. 209, 212, 211 Wis. 88, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1090 note 72.

26. Tex.—Fisk v. Norvel, 9 Tex. 13, 58 Am.D. 128.

27. Ala.—Beasley v. Howell, 22 So. 989, 117 Ala. 499.

23 C.J. p 1090 note 76.

By special demurrer

Ky.—Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 43 S.W. 698, 102 Ky. 480, 80 Am.S.R. 358, 19 Ky.L. 1529.

29. Ohio.—Western Union Tel. Co. v.

Union Sav. & Trust Co., 30 Ohio Cir.Ct. 380.

30. Iowa.—In re Barrett's Estate, 149 N.W. 247, 167 Iowa 218.

N.C.—Chamblee v. Security Nat. Bank, 188 S.E. 632, 211 N.C. 48—Holmes v. Wharton, 140 S.E. 93, 194 N.C. 470.

Tex.—Fisk v. Norvel, 9 Tex. 13, 58 Am.D. 128.

Validity of grant of administration on estate of living person see supra § 16.

Burden of proof is on the party who collaterally attacks the grant.—In re Barrett's Estate, 149 N.W. 247, 167 Iowa 218.

Temporary administration

In a grant of temporary administration it is not to be expected, so far as the presumption of death is concerned, that there should be the same certainty as in cases of general administration, and slight proof of death will suffice to preclude a collateral attack on the appointment of such an administrator.—Czech v. Bean, 72 N.Y.S. 402, 35 Misc. 729.

31. N.J.—Hamilton v. Orange Sav. Bank, 124 A. 62, 99 N.J.Law 503, 23 C.J. p 1093 note 73, New Jersey case.

32. U.S.—Doten v. Southern Ry. Co., D.C.Tenn., 32 F.Supp. 901.

Ala.—Holmes v. Holmes, 103 So. 884, 212 Ala. 597—Bell v. Fulgham, 80 So. 39, 202 Ala. 217.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N.E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

Or.—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 159 Or. 698.

Wash.—In re Upton's, 92 P.2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L.R. 1220—

court to make an order appointing an administrator is a direct attack on the order,³³ and a proceeding to revoke the appointment or letters of an administrator made in the same court in which the appointment was made is a direct, and not a collateral, attack on the appointment.³⁴

Any person may directly attack a void grant of administration,³⁵ but, according to some cases, a grant of administration valid on its face can be attacked only by a creditor or next of kin of the decedent or some other person in some way interested in the estate.³⁶

Where a direct attack on an appointment is made, and such appointment is claimed to be void and ultra vires, no right or title to the property of the succession can absolutely vest in the appointee so long as the opposition remains undisposed of.³⁷ The probate court alone has jurisdiction in a direct proceeding to question the authority of the public administrator to administer an estate.³⁸

G. DURATION AND TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY

§ 78. In General

- a. General rules
- b. Statutory limitations
- c. Final account and settlement
- d. Testacy or intestacy apparent after action based on contrary supposition

a. General Rules

The authority of an executor or administrator continues until the estate has been completely administered, or until he dies, resigns, or is removed, or his letters revoked, or a temporary order of suspension is made.

As a general rule, the authority of an executor or administrator continues until the estate has been completely administered by payment of debts and legacies and distribution among those entitled, and the personal representative has been finally discharged,³⁹ or until he dies, see infra § 81, resigns,

State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 L.R.A. 819.

Appointment in wrong county.

The improper appointment of an administrator by a probate court in a county in which decedent did not reside or did not have his domicile may be avoided in a direct proceeding. Ala.—Holmes v. Holmes, 103 So. 884, 212 Ala. 597.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N.E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

Or.—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 159 Or. 698.

"Direct attack" defined.

(1) A direct attack is "one by which the judgment is directly assailed in some mode authorized by law."—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N.E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

(2) A direct attack on a judgment is an attempt to avoid or correct it in some manner provided by law in a proceeding instituted for that very purpose.—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 159 Or. 698.

Proceedings not constituting direct attack

Attack on proceedings in administration of an estate for fraud, irregularities in sale, and on administrator's claim against estate, was not a direct attack on order granting administration.—Gillette's Estate v. State, Tex.Civ.App., 286 S.W. 261, reversed on other grounds State v. Gillette's Estate, Com.App., 10 S.W.2d 984.

32. Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

34. Ala.—Bell v. Fulgham, 80 So. 39, 202 Ala. 217.

Cal.—Estate of Way, 85 P.2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N.E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P.2d 210, 199 Wash. 447, 123 A.L.R. 1220
—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 179 Wash. 198, 95 A.L.R. 819.

Revocation of letters see infra §§ 84–88.

Attack by executor subsequently appointed

Where administrator was appointed in one county court, will of deceased was probated in another county court and executrix therein appointed, a proceeding by executrix in the first county court to vacate the order appointing the administrator and to revoke the letters of administration, was a direct attack and not a collateral attack on the order and could be properly maintained.—In re Armstrong's Estate, 82 P.2d 880, 159 Or. 698.

35. Cal.—Texas Co. v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 53 P.2d 127, 5 Cal.2d 35.

Ga.—Stewart v. Golden, 25 S.E. 528, 98 Ga. 479.

23 C.J. p 1090 note 82.

Who may apply for revocation of appointment or letters see infra § 85.

36. Ga.—Jones v. Smith, 48 S.E. 134, 120 Ga. 642.

23 C.J. p 1090 note 83.

37. La.—State v. Hingle, 23 So. 616, 50 La. Ann. 683.

Custody and management of estate see infra §§ 184–222.

38. Mo.—Vermillion v. Le Clare, 89 Mo.App. 55.

Public administrators see infra §§ 1050–1053.

39. Mo.—State ex rel. and to Use of Bremer v. Schulte, App., 90 S.W.2d 1078—Hewitt v. Duncan's Estate, 43 S.W.2d 87, 226 Mo.App. 254.

N.Y.—In re Bloomingdale's Estate, 13 N.Y.S.2d 674, 171 Misc. 843.

N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorh, 11 S.E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543—Rocky Mount Savings & Trust Co. v. McDearman, 195 S.E. 531, 213 N.C. 141—Creech v. Wilder, 193 S.E. 281, 212 N.C. 162.

23 C.J. p 1091 note 97.

Failure to distribute estate

Executrix retained all powers and duties of executrix provided by law so long as she remained executrix, even if she failed to perform statutory duty of distributing realty to heirs or devisees.—Walker Bank & Trust Co. v. Steely, 34 P.2d 56, 54 Idaho 591.

Continuance as executors or trustees

(1) Will may extend duties of distribution by executors in that unaltered capacity to distant date after closing of administration, but failure thereof to specify that trust fund is to be held by them thereafter as trustees, guardians, or legatees will not always continue office of executors, as trust or other second holding may be made clear without explicit declaration.—Zimmerman v. Coblenz, 185 A. 342, 170 Md. 468.

(2) Where will created trust in executor, as where will appointed corporation "executor and trustee" to see infra § 82, or is removed, see infra §§ 89-94, or his letters are revoked, see infra §§ 84-88, or a temporary order of suspension is made, see infra § 1035. The appointment of a guardian for minor heirs does not oust the administrator from his office or terminate the administration,⁴⁰ and it has been held that the office of a residuary legatee as executor is not terminated on the filing and approval of the bond to pay debts and legacies.⁴¹ However, it has been held that, where the creditors of the estate consent to the delivery of possession, there is no legal obstacle in the way of the heirs receiving possession of the property, and such voluntary delivery by the administrator terminates his administration, and transfers the claim of creditors over against the heirs,⁴² although the assumption of possession during the administration by a universal legatee, who is also the testamentary executor, of the property bequeathed to him by the will, is held not to have, ipso facto, the effect of closing the succession and discharging the executor.⁴³

A testamentary provision giving an executor five years to wind up the estate has been held not to fix an arbitrary limit beyond which the administration could not extend if necessary, but to have been merely intended as an enlargement of the time allowed by law and an expression of opinion that the estate could not be wound up in less than five years.⁴⁴ manage estate and pay income to life beneficiaries, duration of executorship was limited only by continuance of trust, and appointee could appeal as executor, without filing appeal bond, from decision construing rights of beneficiary under will.—Houston Land & Trust Co. v. Campbell, Tex. Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 430, error refused.

Power of equity to prevent undue prolongation.

"Period of administration" of an estate is the time required by legal representatives to perform ordinary duties pertaining to its settlement, especially the collection of assets and the payment of debts and legacies.—In re Lewis' Will, 18 N.Y.S.2d 133, 259 App.Div. 4, appeal denied 20 N.Y.S.2d 414, 259 App.Div. 933, affirmed 30 N.E.2d 720, 284 N.Y. 671.

Protection of creditors

When administration is necessary solely to protect creditors, it stops when the creditors are protected.—In re Rainbow's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 79, 163 Misc. 732, affirmed 298 N.Y. S. 89, 251 App.Div. 809.

40. Tex.—Wilkin v. Simmons, Civ. App., 151 S.W. 1145.

Where a will provides that the executor shall receive in lieu of commission a given sum annually during the time he acts as such, and it is evident from the whole scheme of the will that the testator contemplated that the executorship should last for several years, the court of equity affords abundant remedy to prevent an undue and improper prolongation of the executorship.⁴⁵

Consolidation of corporate executor. Statutory provisions for the consolidation of state banks with national banks have been held not to transfer the office of executor from a state trust company to the succeeding national bank,⁴⁶ but a national bank, appointed as administrator, was held not deprived of authority on consolidation with a state bank, especially where it continued to exercise its corporate functions without modification under the same charter.⁴⁷

Expiration of term of public administrator as terminating his authority is discussed infra § 1051.

b. Statutory Limitations

The tenure of an executor or administrator is terminated by statutes in some jurisdictions at the expiration of a designated time, but extensions are provided for in suitable cases.

By virtue of statutes in a few jurisdictions, the tenure of an executor or administrator is terminated at the expiration of a designated time,⁴⁸ but extensions are provided for in suitable cases,⁴⁹ and it is not readily to be presumed that at the expira-

41. Mich.—Lafferty v. People's Sav. Bank, 43 N.W. 34, 76 Mich. 35. 23 C.J. p 1091 note 99.

42. La.—Barton v. Burbank, 38 So. 150, 114 La. 224.—Scott v. Briscoe, 36 La. Ann. 278.

43. La.—McNeely v. McNeely, 24 So. 338, 50 La. Ann. 823.

44. Tenn.—Ensley v. Ensley, 58 S. W. 288, 105 Tenn. 107.

45. D.C.—Marfield v. McMurdy, 25 App.D.C. 342.

46. U.S.—Ex parte Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 49 S.Ct. 368, 279 U.S. 347, 73 L.Ed. 733, 61 A.L.R. 987, modifying Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 162 N.E. 217, 263 Mass. 444.

Must apply for appointment

National bank after consolidation with state trust company acting as administrator must immediately apply for appointment of itself as administrator, and refusal to receive return and application for discharge filed by national bank as administrator was held proper, where bank merely took over by consolidation assets of state trust company acting as administrator.—Stevens v. First Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 160 S.E. 243, 173 Ga. 332, certiorari denied First Nat. Bank & Trust Co. in Macon v. Stevens, 52 S.Ct. 201, 284 U.S. 684, 76 L.Ed. 578.

47. Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, 161 N.E. 797, 263 Mass. 394.

Change of name immaterial

Mass.—Petition of Worcester County Nat. Bank of Worcester, supra.

48. Tex.—Murphy v. Wright, Civ. App., 273 S.W. 637. 23 C.J. p 1092 note 5.

49. Wis.—In re Hurley's Will, 213 N.W. 639, 193 Wis. 20. 23 C.J. p 1092 note 6.

Duty to care for estate

Although statute limits time in which estates should be settled, it is executor's duty to care for estate thereafter until settled.—In re Hurley's Will, supra.

One year

Extension will not exceed one year where heirs or legatees do not act unanimously in agreeing to extend the term.—Alvarado v. Ortiz, 15 Puerto Rico 129.

tion of the period named by statute the estate shall vest immediately by mutation of title in the heirs, as though fully settled, or that the legal representative becomes discharged by operation of law.⁵⁰

Repeal of statute authorizing appointment. Where a statute authorizing probate courts to appoint an agent to take charge of lands belonging to decedent's estate is repealed, the authority of an agent previously appointed under such statute terminates.⁵¹

c. Final Account and Settlement

The functions of a representative do not necessarily cease on a final settlement and approval of his account.

As a general rule the functions of an executor or administrator do not necessarily cease on a final settlement and approval of his account, but he may, if occasion arises, pursue his duties further for the benefit of the estate, unless the probate records show a formal discharge from the trust;⁵² but some cases have held the contrary where it appeared that the estate had been fully settled and there could be nothing further on which to exercise the functions of an administrator or executor.⁵³ So, also, while the office of an executor as such terminates on distribution of the estate,⁵⁴ an order of distribution cannot discharge executors until the estate is distributed,⁵⁵ and where administration had not been closed, the original administrator can be required to take charge of additional assets.⁵⁶

d. Testacy or Intestacy Apparent after Action Based on Contrary Supposition

Ordinarily the office of an executor or administrator with the will annexed ceases when the will is judicially declared invalid and set aside, and conversely, the admission of a will to probate will supersede and nullify a grant of administration based on an assumption of intestacy.

The office of executor ceases when the will is judicially declared invalid and set aside,⁵⁷ notwithstanding an appeal from the order revoking probate;⁵⁸ but a will contest does not authorize the court to terminate the authority of an executor whose appointment has been confirmed,⁵⁹ and although it may appoint an administrator pendente lite as shown infra § 1035, in the absence of such appointment, an executor continues to have power pending an appeal from a decision vacating probate of the will until the estate is administered or the decision affirmed and the estate turned over to his successor.⁶⁰ While the same rule has been held to apply to an administrator with the will annexed,⁶¹ there is authority to the contrary,⁶² and it has been held that if decedent died intestate or the probate of an instrument as his will is void, administration with the will annexed is not void but only voidable,⁶³ although it is clear that when probate of an alleged will is set aside, it is proper to remove an administrator with the will annexed and appoint a general administrator.⁶⁴

The admission of a will to probate will supersede and nullify a grant of administration based on an

50. Md.—Citizens' Nat. Bank v. Sharp, 53 Md. 521.

Closing of estate will not be presumed from mere lapse of time.—Houston Land & Trust Co. v. Campbell, Tex.Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 430, error refused.

51. Mo.—Wendleton v. Kingery, 84 S.W. 102, 110 Mo.App. 67. 23 C.J. p 1096 note 54.

52. Okl.—Hickman v. Barrett, 52 P. 2d 40, 44, 175 Okl. 262, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—In re Dyer's Estate, 297 P. 196, 161 Wash. 498. 23 C.J. p 1094 note 37.

Effect of payment or distribution in general see infra § 500.

Estate is not fully administered, until nothing remains to be done to vest title in the beneficiary, whether creditor, next of kin, legatee, or devisee.—Wyatt v. Stillman Institute, 260 S.W. 73, 303 Mo. 84.

Right to sue

That an administrator had filed his final settlement was held not to defeat his action for the negligent killing of his intestate, where the settlement had not been approved or the administrator discharged.—Powell v. Jonesboro, L. C. & E. Ry. Co., 266 S.W. 78, 166 Ark. 252.

53. Ill.—People v. Kohlsaat, 66 Ill. App. 505, 507, affirmed 48 N.E. 81, 168 Ill. 37. 23 C.J. p 1095 note 38.

54. Pa.—Hart's Estate, 12 Pa.Dist. 47, 28 Pa.Co. 126.

55. Wash.—In re Dyer's Estate, 297 P. 196, 161 Wash. 498. 23 C.J. p 1095 note 40.

56. Wash.—In re Dyer's Estate, supra.

Vacating distribution decree unnecessary

Decree of distribution which did not attempt to dispose of corporate stock in controversy was held not required to be vacated to obtain additional administration.—In re Dyer's Estate, supra.

57. N.Y.—Matter of Cavanaugh, 131 N.Y.S. 982, 72 Misc. 584, 586. 23 C.J. p 1095 note 41.

58. N.Y.—Matter of Cavanaugh, supra. 23 C.J. p 1095 note 42.

59. Mo.—Kinnerk v. Smith, 41 S.W. 2d 381, 328 Mo. 513.

60. D.C.—Brosnan v. Fox, 284 F. 923, 52 App.D.C. 143.

61. N.C.—In re Smith's Will, 10 S. E.2d 676, 218 N.C. 161. Tex.—Cavanaugh v. Cavanaugh, Civ. App., 249 S.W. 264. 23 C.J. p 1095 note 43.

By implication

Where the court admitted a will to probate and appointed an administrator with will annexed, and on appeal the will was set aside and the probate thereof annulled, but the appointment of the administrator was not expressly vacated, it was held in view of a statute requiring appeals to be tried de novo, that the judgment of the lower court was superseded, and that the appointment of the administrator with will annexed was revoked by implication.—Cavanaugh v. Cavanaugh, supra.

62. N.C.—Floyd v. Herring, 64 N. C. 409.

63. Ala.—Ward v. Oates, 42 Ala. 225.

64. Ky.—Hamilton v. Williams, 118 S.W. 358, 133 Ky. 558, 21 L.R.A.N. S., 975.

assumption of intestacy,⁶⁵ or at least furnish sufficient ground for revocation of the letters of administration, as shown infra § 84, but where letters testamentary are denied, because of disqualification of the executor, the letters of administration remain in full force and effect.⁶⁶ Indeed, as the person named as executor in a will is entitled to administer the estate, see supra § 27, the establishment of a will necessarily requires a revocation of letters of administration granted on a supposition of intestacy,⁶⁷ and where letters of administration were revoked by a decree admitting a will to probate, the authority of the administrator ceased, and it was not revived by the fact that such decree was subsequently set aside.⁶⁸ While a payment to an administrator prior to the discovery of the will has been held valid,⁶⁹ it has been held that a disposition of assets by the supposed administrator is void.⁷⁰

§ 79. Final Discharge

- a. In general
- b. Proceedings
- c. Order of discharge
- d. Effect
- e. Revocation or setting aside

a. In General

Ordinarily an executor or administrator is not entitled to a final discharge until after full settlement of the estate.

The court has no legal authority to discharge the executor or administrator, pending a complete settlement of the estate, except as the statute may have permitted, and the usual rule is that a representative is not entitled to his final discharge until after full settlement of the estate, including final payment and delivery of all the property by way of distribution to those entitled to the balance, and the rendering and approval of his final accounts.⁷¹ When, however, an executor or administrator has fully performed all of his duties, he is entitled to be discharged from the trust.⁷²

b. Proceedings

In proceedings for a final discharge, an executor or administrator must comply with applicable statutory requirements, and only interested persons may object to the discharge of an executor or administrator and a valid ground for refusing discharge must be interposed in order to prevent a final discharge being granted to the representative.

In applying for a discharge, an executor or administrator must comply with applicable statutory requirements,⁷³ and it is usually required that notice of an application for a discharge shall be given.⁷⁴ Where letters testamentary were granted by a court, the proper practice is to apply to such court for the discharge,⁷⁵ but a discharge will not be granted where the court has no jurisdiction of the issues raised in such proceeding.⁷⁶ Where an executor petitions for a discharge, the burden is on a caveator to sustain an affirmation that the estate has not been fully administered, and that petitioner is not entitled to a discharge.⁷⁷

A person must have a proper interest in the estate in order to be entitled to object to the discharge of an administrator.⁷⁸ Where a surviving administrator makes final returns, approved by the ordinary, and full commissions are charged and allowed for services of himself and his deceased coadministrator, and application is made for discharge, the representative of deceased coadministrator has no right to maintain a caveat thereto because the survivor has not paid the estate of deceased coadministrator the proper amount of such commissions.⁷⁹

65. N.Y.—Morris v. Morris, 158 N. Y.S. 361, 172 App.Div. 719.

N.C.—In re Suskin's Estate, 198 S.E. 661, 214 N.C. 219.

23 C.J. p 1095 note 47.

Until executor qualifies

Whenever an administrator is appointed for an estate, he continues to act until the will is probated and executor has qualified.—Hankamer v. State, Tex.Cr., 150 S.W.2d 794.

66. N.C.—In re Gulley's Will, 118 S. E. 839, 186 N.C. 78.

67. N.H.—Kittridge v. Folsom, 8 N. H. 98.

23 C.J. p 1096 note 50.

68. N.Y.—Belden v. Belden, 103 N. Y.S. 346, 118 App.Div. 296.

69. Pa.—Zeigler v. Storey, 69 A. 894, 220 Pa. 471, 17 L.R.A., N.S., 878.

70. Eng.—Ellis v. Ellis, [1905] 1 Ch. 613.

71. La.—Succession of Taylor, 141 So. 847, 174 La. 822.

Mo.—In re Thompson's Estate, 97 S. W.2d 93, 339 Mo. 410.

S.C.—Dickinson v. Peeples, 13 S.E. 2d 124, 196 S.C. 124.—Beckwith v. McAlister, 162 S.E. 623, 165 S.C. 1.

23 C.J. p 1092 note 9.

72. La.—In re Courtin, 81 So. 457, 144 La. 971.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 10.

73. Pa.—Wiseman's Estate, 12 Phila. 11, 4 Wkly.N.C. 59.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 17.

74. Fla.—Anderson v. Northrup, 30 Fla. 612.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 16.

75. Foreign state

Where letters testamentary were granted in a foreign state where testator was domiciled, proper practice, if executrix desired to be discharged, was to apply to the court of the foreign state for her discharge, and such court on granting petition could appoint a substituted executor or trustee.—Buhring v. National Standard Co., 12 A.2d 632, 127 N.J.Eq. 243.

76. Ga.—Fulford v. Sweat, 16 S.E. 2d 102, 65 Ga.App. 521.

Existence of disputed claim

In proceeding by administrator for discharge before expiration of twelve months from time of appointment, where agreed statement of facts showed dispute as to whether mortgage had been discharged by an agreement between the creditors and administrator, court of ordinary was without jurisdiction to adjudicate such disputed claim.—Fulford v. Sweat, supra.

77. Ga.—Rogers v. Culver, 94 S.E. 266, 21 Ga.App. 95.

78. Ark.—Gulf Refining Co. v. Haire, 1 S.W.2d 76, 175 Ark. 1036.

79. Ga.—Groover v. Ash, 64 S.E.

The heirs cannot object to the discharge of the administrator on the ground that he had not sold all the real estate, since on the closing of the estate the title thereto would vest in them,⁸⁰ and the discharge of an executor cannot be resisted by the life tenant of the estate because he failed to sue for a certain debt due the estate and took credit for certain legal expenses, where it appears that the estate was in no way injured by the neglect to bring suit and that the expenses complained of were occasioned by the life tenant herself.⁸¹ Pendency of an action by an attorney who assisted in defending a contest of a will, against the executor and trustee under the will, to have a lien on the judgment in the will contest case declared in plaintiff's favor for the amount of his fee, and for an order that the fee be paid from the trust fund, is no ground for refusal to approve the final report of the executor, and order his discharge.⁸²

c. Order of Discharge

Action of the court evidenced by an order or decree is necessary to close administration and relieve executors or administrators from their responsibility.

Action of the probate court evidenced by order or decree is necessary to close administration and relieve executors or administrators from their responsibility or change their possession as representatives into possession as legatees or distributees.⁸³ It has been held that an order discharging an administratrix on the condition of paying a certain sum to the heirs of the estate and filing vouchers therefor does not effect the discharge until the money is paid and the vouchers filed,⁸⁴ and that an order directing that an administrator be discharged on making distribution, and obtaining from the heirs receipts for their respective shares, does not discharge the administrator until the order is made absolute.⁸⁵ Where a final account is delivered by an executor to an attorney representing the beneficiaries under the will with the accompanying statement that he expects remuneration and is willing to accept such fees as may be fixed by the court, an order of discharge made without fixing the fees of such executor should be set aside at his petition.⁸⁶

d. Effect

Where an executor or administrator is finally discharged, all his powers and liabilities thereupon cease and, unless obtained by fraud, such discharge is binding on all parties appearing until duly set aside.

On discharge of an executor or administrator, all his powers and liabilities thereupon cease,⁸⁷ and thereafter he has nothing to do with the estate,⁸⁸ and cannot be required to make further accounting in the absence of fraud or error in the entry of the decree discharging him.⁸⁹ While a decree against an administrator who has been discharged by a judgment of the court of ordinary and a successor appointed during the pendency of the case has been held a nullity so far as the estate is concerned,⁹⁰ a judgment in favor of a representative, who was discharged as such after commencement of the action but before judgment, has been held neither void nor valid, but voidable.⁹¹

A final discharge granted after a hearing is binding on all parties appearing⁹² until it is duly set aside either on motion in the court in which it was rendered or in an equitable proceeding instituted for that purpose,⁹³ but an order discharging an administrator on a settlement made by him without giving notice required by statute will not affect the rights of heirs or creditors not appearing at the final set-

323, 132 Ga. 371, 131 Am.S.R. 201, 22 L.R.A.,N.S., 1119.

80. Tex.—De Berry v. Wootters, Civ. App., 57 S.W. 885.

81. Pa.—Marley's Estate, 18 Pa. Super. 303.

82. Colo.—Hallett v. Lathrop, 77 P. 1096, 20 Colo.App. 312.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 15.

83. Mont.—State v. District Court of Nineteenth Judicial Dist. in and for Toole County, 245 P. 529, 76 Mont. 143.

Pa.—Ferrell v. South Penn Oil Co., 87 Pittsb.Leg.J. 44.

23 C.J. p 1092 note 8.

Approval of final account

A discharge is not effected by the approval of the representative's final account, without a formal order of discharge.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S.E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543.

84. U.S.—Cosgrove v. U. S., 33 Ct. Cl. 187.

85. Wash.—State v. Walla Walla County Super. Ct., 42 P. 630, 13 Wash. 25.

86. Ill.—Smith v. Griswold, 161 Ill. App. 483.

87. La.—In re Courtin, 81 So. 457, 144 La. 971.

Mont.—State v. District Court of Nineteenth Judicial Dist. in and for Toole County, 245 P. 529, 76 Mont. 143.

23 C.J. p 1093 notes 10, 22.

Effect of discharge as executor on right of devisee to sell real property under testamentary power see the C.J.S. title Wills § 1070, also 69 C.J. p 847 note 38.

Judgment held valid

Mo.—Gorg v. Rutherford, App., 31 S. W.2d 585.

88. Mont.—State v. District Court of Nineteenth Judicial Dist. in and for Toole County, 245 P. 529, 76 Mont. 143.

N.Y.—Earle v. McGoldrick, 36 N.Y.S. 803, 15 Misc. 135.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 11.

89. Pa.—Sheet's Estate, 25 Pa.Dist. 383.

90. Ga.—Groe v. Field, 13 Ga. 24.

Discharge binding

A judgment discharging a person as administrator of the estate of guardian was binding and precluded a judgment against such administrator until judgment of discharge was set aside for sufficient cause.—Crow v. Martin, Ga.App., 17 S.E.2d 90.

91. Cal.—Hogan v. Superior Court of California in and for City and County of San Francisco, 241 P. 584, 74 Cal.App. 704.

92. Cal.—In re McDermott, 59 P. 782, 127 Cal. 450.

23 C.J. p 1093 note 24.

93. Ga.—Summerlin v. Floyd, 53 S. E. 452, 124 Ga. 980.

23 C.J. p 1094 note 25.

tlement,⁹⁴ nor does an order settling an estate and discharging the executor necessarily revoke a power, vested in the executor by the will, to sell testator's land as soon as practicable, and distribute the proceeds, as shown infra § 279. The court does not lose jurisdiction of the estate by an order discharging the administrator, where such order was founded on, and conditioned on, compliance with a decree of distribution which has been vacated on appeal.⁹⁵ A discharge obtained by an executor by means of a fraud practiced on the legatees or the probate court is void;⁹⁶ and, while it may be set aside on motion in the probate court on proof of the fraud,⁹⁷ it may also be collaterally attacked as a nullity by an equitable petition in another court.⁹⁸ However, where the order discharging an executor is not void, it is not subject to collateral attack;⁹⁹ and an order refusing to discharge a representative has been held not appealable,¹ and the same has been held as to an order discharging a public administrator.²

e. Revocation or Setting Aside

An order discharging a representative may be set aside by the court by which it was made, provided the proceeding is brought within the time which is sometimes limited by statute.

An order discharging an executor or administrator may be set aside by the court by which it was made,³ even at a subsequent term,⁴ but the time within which proceedings to set aside the discharge may be instituted is sometimes limited by statute.⁵ A decree requiring the restoration of funds to a discharged administrator has been held, in effect, to set aside the order of discharge,⁶ and where an administrator on settlement of his final account was discharged by the probate court, but he was afterward recognized by, and acted in, such court as administrator, it was held that it was to be presumed, in an action to compel an accounting, that the order of discharge was revoked.⁷ The fact that one has been sued by an administrator will not authorize such person to resist in the county court an application made therein to vacate an order discharging the administrator.⁸

§ 80. Marriage of Executrix or Administratrix

At common law the marriage of an executrix or administratrix casts the administration on her husband acting in her right, but under some statutes the marriage terminates her authority.

The common-law rule is that the marriage of an executrix or administratrix does not extinguish her powers,⁹ but has the effect of casting the administration on her husband acting in her right.¹⁰ However, by statute it is sometimes provided that the marriage of an executrix or administratrix terminates her authority,¹¹ and where this is the case her authority is not revived by her subsequently becoming a widow.¹² A familiar distinction is that, where a feme sole is executrix or administratrix with others and afterward marries, her power is determined; but that, where she is sole administratrix, her power does not determine, but her husband becomes by the marriage jointly interested with her in the trust.¹³

§ 81. Death or Insanity of Representative

Death or insanity of an executor or administrator terminates his functions as such.

The death of an executor or administrator necessarily terminates his functions as such,¹⁴ and, where the representative is a married woman, a right of her husband as such to administer the estate terminates on her death.¹⁵

The office of executor or administrator may terminate by the insanity of the incumbent.¹⁶

94. Mich.—Cole v. Shaw, 96 N.W. 573, 134 Mich. 499.
23 C.J. p 1094 note 26.

95. Cal.—In re Walker, 181 P. 792, 180 Cal. 478.

96. Ga.—Pass v. Pass, 25 S.E. 752, 98 Ga. 791.

Void equivalent of voidable

As used in a statute, relative to a judgment discharging an administrator, obtained by fraud, "void" is to be understood as the equivalent of "voidable".—Summerlin v. Floyd, 53 S.E. 452, 124 Ga. 980.

97. Ga.—Pass v. Pass, 25 S.E. 752, 98 Ga. 791.

98. Ga.—Pass v. Pass, supra.

99. N.M.—Cravens v. Coldren, 279 P. 944, 34 N.M. 209.

1. Ala.—Hamilton v. Gwynn, 24 Ala. 515.

2 C.J. p. 571 note 47 [b] (2), (3).

2. Cal.—In re Mitchell's Estate, 1 P.2d 536, 115 Cal.App. 348.

3. Ill.—Heppe v. Szczepanski, 70 N.E. 737, 209 Ill. 88, 101 Am.S.R. 221.

4. Ill.—Gahan v. Golden, 162 N.E. 164, 330 Ill. 624.

5. Ariz.—In re Ralph's Estate, 67 P. 2d 230, 49 Ariz. 391.
23 C.J. p 1094 note 35.

6. Fla.—Lewis State Bank v. Raker, 189 So. 227, 138 Fla. 227.

7. Tex.—Bayne v. Garrett, 17 Tex. 330.
23 C.J. p 1094 note 33.

8. Neb.—Edney v. Baum, 80 N.W. 502, 59 Neb. 147.

9. S.C.—Hamilton v. Levy, 19 S.E. 610, 41 S.C. 374.

23 C.J. p 1096 note 56.

10. N.J.—Wood v. Chetwood, 27 N.J. Eq. 311.

23 C.J. p 1096 note 57.

11. R.I.—Bailey v. Brown, 9 R.I. 79.
23 C.J. p 1096 note 58.

12. Ohio.—Matter of Fagin, 10 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 180, 19 Cinc.L.Bul. 149.

13. Mass.—Barber v. Bush, 7 Mass. 510.

23 C.J. p 1096 note 60.

14. N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S.E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543.

23 C.J. p 1096 note 62.

15. Ala.—Sands v. Hickey, 33 So. 827, 135 Ala. 322.

Miss.—Edmundson v. Roberts, 1 Miss. 322.

16. Cal.—In re Moore, 9 P. 164, 38 Cal. 281.

23 C.J. p 1097 note 64.

§ 82. Resignation

- a. In general
- b. Procedure
- c. Effect
- d. Collateral attack on, and vacation of, order

a. In General

While statutes now permit an executor or administrator to resign, the right is not absolute and the matter is sometimes discretionary with the probate court.

While it has been held that an executor or administrator who has once fully accepted and entered upon his trust cannot resign it unless a statute permits him to do so;¹⁷ and it has been held by some authorities that the probate court has no power to accept the resignation of an executor or administrator,¹⁸ it has also been held that the power to remove a personal representative includes the power to permit him to resign, and that the acceptance of a resignation is, in effect, a removal;¹⁹ and in many jurisdictions statutes now permit an executor or administrator to resign.²⁰

Although this right is usually not absolute but conditional and qualified,²¹ and the matter is subject to the discretionary powers of the probate court²² which may refuse its assent, unless the executor or administrator shows that he has good cause for resigning,²³ it has also been held that the moment a resignation in writing is filed it becomes an established fact,²⁴ and acceptance by the probate court is not required.²⁵ It is usually required as a condition to the acceptance of the resignation that the personal representative shall settle his accounts,²⁶ and deliver up all assets of the estate in his hands.²⁷

*A resignation may be implied as well as express.*²⁸

Agreements to resign. An agreement to resign for a consideration has been held illegal and void as against public policy,²⁹ but in a case where there were no creditors whose interest could be affected an agreement by one coadministrator with the other, the latter being the sole distributee of the estate, that the former would apply for a discharge and release in consideration of a designated sum of money in satisfaction of a claim made by him against the decedent and of his commissions, was held valid and binding.³⁰

Retraction of resignation. It has been held that an executor who has resigned cannot retract his resignation,³¹ and the court has but one duty to perform, that is, to require the representative to ac-

17. La.—Broadway's Succession, 38 So. 430, 114 La. 492.
23 C.J. p 1097 note 65.

18. Ala.—Driver v. Riddle, 8 Port. 343.

23 C.J. p 1097 note 66.

19. Tex.—Slay v. Davidson, Civ.App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.
23 C.J. p 1097 note 67.

20. Cal.—Waterland v. Superior Court in and for Sacramento County, 98 P.2d 211, 15 Cal.2d 34.

Ky.—Warden v. Hoover's Adm'r, 283 S.W. 444, 214 Ky. 370.
23 C.J. p 1097 note 68.

Acts not constituting resignation

Where letters of administration were granted on the estate of a deceased person who had an interest in remainder under a will, and thereafter, on the death of the life tenant, letters of administration were granted on the estate of the remainderman to another, the fact of the first administration being overlooked, that the first administrator took to the second administrator a paper, whereby the wife of the first administrator renounced her right to administer on the life tenant's estate, and nominated the second administrator as such, did not constitute a resignation by the first administrator, where it appeared that he, as well as the court and the second administrator, failed to recall the fact of the first administration, and hence could not make the second administration effective.—Mitchell v. McCormick, 122 A. 245, 143 Md. 328.

Independent executor may resign

Tex.—Roy v. Whitaker, 48 S.W. 892, 49 S.W. 367, 92 Tex. 346—Rankin v. Rankin, Civ.App., 134 S.W. 392, reversed on other grounds 151 S.W. 527, 105 Tex. 451.

21. Pa.—Forster's Estate, 2 Lanc.L. Rev. 206.

23 C.J. p 1097 note 69.

Public administrator should not be permitted to resign at his own option, but, for good cause shown, probate court could accept resignation of public administrator having given due notice of his intention to resign, and such order accepting resignation is appealable.—State ex rel. Russell v. Mueller, 60 S.W.2d 48, 332 Mo. 758, 91 A.L.R. 705.

22. Puerto Rico.—Mollfulleda v. Ramos, 3 Puerto Rico 239.

23 C.J. p 1097 note 70.

Independent executors cannot resign without some court action.—Ewing v. Wm. L. Foley, Inc., Civ.App., 239 S.W. 251, reversed on other grounds 280 S.W. 499, 115 Tex. 222, 44 A.L.R. 627.

23. N.Y.—In re Gates' Estate, 254 N.Y.S. 614, 142 Misc. 83, modified on other grounds 268 N.Y.S. 686, 239 App.Div. 686.

23 C.J. p 1097 note 71.

24. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

Statute construed

The legislature intended same construction to be given to statute specifying when an office becomes vacant as to statute authorizing an executor or administrator to resign his appointment by writing filed in superior court to take effect on settlement of his accounts, relative to effect of a written resignation, where, prior to enactment of statute, executors and administrators were denied right to resign without receiving permission of appointing power, and same rule prevailed as to public officers until enactment of statute.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, supra.

25. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, supra.

26. Cal.—Waterland v. Superior Court in and for Sacramento County, 98 P.2d 211, 15 Cal.2d 34.

23 C.J. p 1098 note 72.

27. Cal.—Waterland v. Superior Court in and for Sacramento County, supra.

23 C.J. p 1098 note 73.

28. Cal.—Allen's Estate, 78 Cal. 581.

23 C.J. p 1098 note 74.

29. Colo.—Currier v. Clark, 75 P. 927, 19 Colo.App. 250.

30. Md.—Cummings v. Robinson, 51 A. 1105, 95 Md. 83, 53 A. 795, 95 Md. 759.

31. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

23 C.J. p 1098 note 77.

count and to appoint his successor.³²

b. Procedure

A representative desiring to resign should apply to the court appointing him, by a petition in due form and should give the parties in interest notice of his intention, and the acceptance of the resignation should be in the form of an order.

The representative desiring to resign should apply to the court which appointed him and in which the administration of the estate is pending,³³ by petition in due form, setting forth his reasons for wishing to be relieved from the trust, and requesting the appointment of some suitable person in his place.³⁴ It would seem proper to file an account with such petition,³⁵ and it is generally required by the statutes that the representative wishing to resign shall give to the parties in interest notice of his intention,³⁶ although the giving of the proper notice may be presumed.³⁷

The acceptance of the resignation is properly in the form of an order³⁸ which should be made and entered of record,³⁹ but a formal order is not essential,⁴⁰ and a resignation may be accepted by acting on or recognizing it.⁴¹

c. Effect

An effective resignation terminates an executor's or administrator's powers and duties and has the effect of a revocation of his letters.

While a resignation does not become effective prior to the settlement of his accounts,⁴² the resignation⁴³ or the acceptance thereof⁴⁴ terminates his authority and duties, otherwise than to account,⁴⁵ and to preserve the estate until the assets can be delivered to a successor,⁴⁶ and has in general the effect of a revocation of his letters,⁴⁷ and terminates the jurisdiction of the probate court over him.⁴⁸ An executor's resignation in the jurisdiction of the testator's domicile terminates his right to act in other jurisdictions under ancillary letters.⁴⁹ The representative ceases to have any interest in the estate,⁵⁰ and title to the assets and all the rights and duties of further administration devolve on his successor,⁵¹ or, in case of the resignation of one of two or more coexecutors or coadministrators, on the representatives remaining in office.⁵²

However, although a discharge from office by resignation relieves from further responsibility, it does not relieve from the consequences of malfeasance and neglect while in office, and one cannot by resigning avoid the rendition of judgments or decrees against him in suits already begun, for assets unadministered upon at the time of resignation, nor can he thereby escape personal liability for official acts and contracts in his own name.⁵³ The acceptance of the representative's resignation does not set aside an adjudication that the court which appointed him had jurisdiction of the estate.⁵⁴ Where an ap-

32. Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

33. Tex.—Wells v. Houston, Civ. App., 56 S.W. 233, 23 C.J. p 1098 note 78.

34. Minn.—Balch v. Hooper, 20 N. W. 124, 32 Minn. 158.

35. Minn.—Balch v. Hooper, supra.

36. Mo.—State ex rel. Ramsey v. Green, App., 17 S.W.2d 629, 23 C.J. p 1098 note 83.

Next of kin

(1) Under statute requiring citation of next of kin, on administrator's application to resign, testate's next of kin are entitled to same notice as intestate's next of kin, and next of kin who are also legatees are entitled to formal written notice of executor's resignation and appointment of successor and ordinary's order allowing executor to resign and appointing another person as administrator de bonis non cum testamento annexo was invalid, where record showed that no notice was given to testator's next of kin or to beneficiaries, and that petition for resignation and appointment was filed, hearing had, and order passed in single day.—Gormley v. Watson, 171 S.E. 280, 177 Ga. 763, answer confirmed to 171 S.E. 880, 48 Ga.App. 46.

(2) Notice to testator's widow of executor's application to resign would not fulfill requirement for notice to testator's next of kin, who was testator's child and person most beneficially interested under will.—Gormley v. Watson, 171 S.E. 880, 48 Ga. App. 46, conforming to answer 171 S.E. 280, 177 Ga. 763.

37. Mo.—Macey v. Stark, 21 S.W. 1088, 116 Mo. 481.

38. Ohio.—State v. Moffit, 33 Ohio Cir.Ct. 238, affirmed 92 N.E. 1124, 82 Ohio St. 433, 23 C.J. p 1098 note 85.

39. Minn.—Balch v. Hooper, 20 N. W. 124, 32 Minn. 158.

40. Iowa.—U. S. Rolling Stock Co. v. Potter, 48 Iowa 56, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 87.

41. Okl.—Appeal of Sims' Estate, 18 P.2d 1077, 162 Okl. 35, followed in Sims v. Billings, 18 P.2d 1084, 162 Okl. 51.

Tex.—Slay v. Davidson, Civ.App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 88.

42. Cal.—Waterland v. Superior Court in and for Sacramento County, 98 P.2d 211, 15 Cal.2d 34.

43. Ala.—Elmore v. Cunninghame, 93 So. 814, 208 Ala. 15.

44. N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S.E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 89.

45. Ala.—Elmore v. Cunninghame, 93 So. 814, 208 Ala. 15.

46. Ala.—Gayle v. Elliott, 10 Ala. 264, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 90.

47. Ind.—Sample v. Adams, 100 N. E. 573, 54 Ind.App. 680, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 91.

48. Tex.—Francis v. Northcote, 6 Tex. 185, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 92.

49. Mo.—State v. Holtcamp, 185 S. W. 201, 267 Mo. 412, Ann.Cas.1918 D 454.

50. Ohio.—Banning v. Gotshall, 56 N.E. 1030, 62 Ohio St. 210.

51. Ohio.—Banning v. Gotshall, supra, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 95.

52. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Smith, 4 Phila. 270, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 96.

53. Ala.—Grimball v. Mastin, 77 Ala. 553, 23 C.J. p 1099 note 97.

54. Ind.—Sample v. Adams, 100 N. E. 573, 54 Ind.App. 680.

plication for a receiver of an estate made to a chancery court is based on the incompetency of the executrix, her resignation and the appointment of an administrator de bonis non by the probate court will defeat the application.⁵⁵

Executor as trustee. It is held that an executor to whose office a trust is attached cannot resign the executorship and retain the trust.⁵⁶

d. Collateral Attack on, and Vacation of, Order

An order accepting a resignation cannot be collaterally attacked, but it may be vacated in a proper case.

While an order accepting the resignation of an executor or administrator cannot be collaterally attacked,⁵⁷ an order dismissing an administrator on his own application may be vacated by the court where it has been procured by the fraud of the parties or was irregularly or improvidently passed.⁵⁸

§ 83. Forfeiture of Office

An executor or administrator may forfeit his office by reason of his acts or conduct.

It has been held that an executor forfeited his trust by joining the Confederate army,⁵⁹ and that he became functus officio by refusing to take the oath of allegiance and going beyond the jurisdiction of the proper authorities;⁶⁰ but the office of an administrator is not forfeited by the mere omission to file an account,⁶¹ nor are letters ipso facto vacated or revoked by the removal of the representative from the state in which he was appointed,⁶² although such removal may be ground for revocation of the letters as shown infra § 84, or removal of the representative as shown infra § 90.

An administrator who was also an officer of a corporation which was a large creditor of decedent should not continue as administrator while asserting a substantial preference for his corporation.⁶³

§ 84. Revocation of Letters

- a. In general
- b. Distinction between revocation and removal
- c. Grounds

a. In General

Probate courts have plenary jurisdiction in revoking or vacating their own decrees improperly rendered and are usually invested with discretion in determining whether letters of an administrator or executor shall be revoked.

While revocation or removal proceedings are frequently provided for by statutes,⁶⁴ probate courts have always exercised a plenary jurisdiction in revoking or vacating their own decrees improperly rendered, and hence they have power to revoke letters testamentary or of administration which have been issued illegally or without jurisdiction.⁶⁵ The court is usually invested, sometimes by virtue of statute, with discretion in determining whether the letters of an administrator or executor shall be revoked,⁶⁶ and may refuse to entertain a petition for the revocation of letters,⁶⁷ and letters of administration will not be revoked unless sufficient grounds therefor exist.⁶⁸

After expiration of term

A probate court may set aside its order issuing letters of administration after expiration of the term, where it appears it was without jurisdiction to grant them.—Sanders v. New Staunton Coal Co., 213 Ill.App. 493.

66. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706—In re Watterson's Estate, 20 P.2d 772, 130 Cal.App. 741.

Dependent on statute

Whether or not the surrogate has any discretion when the statutory grounds are established depends on the terms of the statute.—Matter of Engel, 140 N.Y.S. 286, 155 App.Div. 467, reversing 133 N.Y.S. 1105, 74 Misc. 308, and reargument denied 140 N.Y.S. 1118, 156 App.Div. 887.

67. N.Y.—Matter of Baldassarro, 156 N.Y.S. 175, 92 Misc. 637.

68. Ill.—Wilkinson v. Nowers, 217 Ill.App. 314.

Md.—Robinson v. Robinson, 16 A.2d 854, 178 Md. 623.
23 C.J. p 1100 note 12 [e].

55. Ala.—Lunsford v. Lunsford, 25 So. 171, 122 Ala. 242.

56. N.Y.—Cushman v. Cushman, 102 N.Y.S. 258, 116 App.Div. 763, affirmed 84 N.E. 1112, 191 N.Y. 505. 23 C.J. p 1099 note 99.

57. Ga.—Summerlin v. Floyd, 53 S. E. 452, 124 Ga. 980. 23 C.J. p 1100 note 4.

58. La.—Broadway's Succession, 38 So. 430, 114 La. 492. 23 C.J. p 1100 note 3.

59. La.—Gilbert v. Herbert, 28 La. Ann. 429—Herbert v. Jackson, 28 La. Ann. 377.

60. La.—Vogel's Succession, 20 La. Ann. 81—Poindexter's Succession, 19 La. Ann. 22.

61. La.—McClelland v. Bideman, 5 La. Ann. 563.

62. Neb.—Bethel v. Pawnee County, 145 N.W. 363, 95 Neb. 203. 23 C.J. p 1100 note 9.

63. Wis.—In re Dunlap's Estate, 199 N.W. 387, 184 Wis. 345.

64. Purpose of statute

The statute regarding removal of executors was passed for the benefit of decedents' estates and to aid in the administration of justice and not for the purpose of giving any executor any property right in an estate.—In re Bump's Estate, 28 N. E.2d 352, 306 Ill.App. 264.

65. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38—Minor v. Thomason, 182 So. 16, 236 Ala. 247.

Mo.—State ex rel. Ramsey v. Green, App., 17 S.W.2d 829.

N.Y.—In re Tyrrell's Estate, 185 N. Y.S. 762, 115 Misc. 714, affirmed 190 N.Y.S. 955, 198 App.Div. 1001.

N.C.—In re Meadows' Will, 116 S.E. 257, 185 N.C. 99—In re Johnson's Will, 109 S.E. 373, 182 N.C. 522. N.D.—In re Smith's Will, 10 S.E.2d 676, 218 N.D. 161.

Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P. 2d 781, 194 Wash. 219. 23 C.J. p 1100 note 12.

Intervention

Devisee's intervening at same term letters were granted administratrix in ex parte proceeding, to have letters revoked, held not governed by general statutory proceedings for removing administrator.—Bell v. Bell, 180 N.E. 39, 94 Ind.App. 145.

Propriety of revocation where original grant void.

Even though the grant of letters may be void, revocation may still be proper before a new appointment is made, in order to prevent abuses and preserve order in the record,⁶⁹ although it has been held that a grant of administration which is void for lack of jurisdiction need not be set aside in order to give effect to a grant by a competent tribunal.⁷⁰

b. Distinction between Revocation and Removal

While the distinction is not observed to any great extent, revocation is ordinarily proper when it is made to appear that the letters should not have been issued or were improperly issued, while removal is proper where facts occurring since the appointment render it inadvisable to continue the representative in office.

Strictly speaking, a revocation of letters testamentary or of administration is proper when it is made to appear that for some reason the letters should not have been issued or were improperly issued,⁷¹ while removal is proper where some circumstances arising since the issuance of the letters render it improper or inadvisable to continue the person to whom they were issued in office any longer, as shown infra § 90. This distinction is not, however, observed to any great extent,⁷² and many instances may be found in the reports where letters have been "revoked" when, according to the distinction noted, removal would have been proper,⁷³ or where the representative has been removed on a ground which would, according to the above distinction, have called for a revocation of the letters.⁷⁴

c. Grounds

Letters testamentary or of administration are properly revoked whenever it is made to appear that they were irregularly or improvidently granted.

The grounds for revocation of letters of administration are sometimes enumerated by statute,⁷⁵ and it has been held that where the statute specifies the grounds for revocation of letters, the court cannot revoke for any other cause.⁷⁶ As a general rule letters testamentary or of administration are properly revoked whenever it is made to appear that they were irregularly or improperly granted,⁷⁷ as when it is made to appear that the supposed decedent was living at the time the letters were issued,⁷⁸ that his last residence or the situs of his property conferred the whole jurisdiction elsewhere than in the court by which the letters were issued,⁷⁹ or that

The appointment of a person not unfit or disqualified should not be revoked, either ex mero motu or on application, except to preserve the statutory or other legal priority.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

69. Ala.—Pruett v. Pruett, 32 So. 638, 131 Ala. 578.
22 C.J. p 1101 note 19.

70. W.Va.—Caperton v. Ballard, 4 W.Va. 420.

71. Ala.—Curtis v. Williams, 33 Ala. 570.
23 C.J. p 1100 note 14.

72. N.Y.—Matter of Jacob, 38 N.Y. S. 1083, 5 App.Div. 508.
23 C.J. p 1100 note 16.

73. Cal.—In re McPhee, 101 P. 530, 10 Cal.App. 162.
23 C.J. p 1100 note 17.

74. N.M.—Koury v. Castillo, 79 P. 293, 13 N.M. 26.
23 C.J. p 1100 note 18.

75. Public administrator

Provision of statute defining powers of public administrator is intended to define conditions under which administrator will be superseded, if it be ascertained that deceased left will or that he was resident elsewhere and some other court had jurisdiction over estate of decedent.—In re Glaser's Estate, 290 N.Y.S. 966, 180 Misc. 814.

Disqualification or priority

While probate court has inherent right to revoke letters of administration, it can be done only when some other person has prior right either under a will or the law, and has not waived that right and is seeking to enforce it, or when person appointed is unfit or disqualified.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

76. Ill.—Healea v. Verne, 175 N.E. 562, 343 Ill. 325.—In re Hebblethwaite's Estate, 12 N.E.2d 923, 293 Ill.App. 493.
23 C.J. p 1101 note 23.

Forgery of will

Under statutes setting forth grounds on which probate court may revoke letters testamentary, probate court had no jurisdiction to revoke letters or set aside will under petition alleging that will was forged, and circuit court had no jurisdiction of appeal from order striking petition, the only remedy for contesting validity of will being under the Wills Act.—In re Hebblethwaite's Estate, supra.

77. N.Y.—Battalico v. Knickerbocker Fireproofing Co., 294 N.Y.S. 481, 250 App.Div. 258.—In re Anderton's Estate, 184 N.Y.S. 277, 112 Misc. 686.

N.D.—In re Smith's Will, 10 S.E.2d 676, 218 N.D. 161.

Pa.—In re Davies' Estate, 21 A.2d 517, 146 Pa.Super. 7.
23 C.J. p 1101 note 22.

More irregularity in the appointment has been held not a sufficient basis for revoking letters of administration, in the absence of a showing that the letters should not have been issued.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

Letters already issued

(1) Where an orphans' court under misapprehension appoints an administrator of an estate which already has an administrator, the court has power to pass an order revoking the letters last granted, its act in granting such letters being a nullity.—Mitchell v. McCormick, 122 A. 245, 143 Md. 328.

(2) Letters of administration on a testator's estate granted some time after the probate of a will have been held properly revoked.—Bell v. Bell, 180 N.E. 39, 94 Ind.App. 145.

Cause of action not enforceable

Grant of administration on estate of nonresident, based solely on existence of alleged cause of action in favor of decedent under statutes of state of decedent's residence, was held properly vacated where alleged cause of action was not enforceable within state.—McCoubrey v. Pure Oil Co., 66 P.2d 57, 179 Okl. 344.

78. N.Y.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 785, 194 Wash. 219, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1101 note 25.

79. Ala.—Tubbs v. Barnard, 141 So. 418, 235 Ala. 435.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 134 N.E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.

23 C.J. p 1101 note 26.

a will was admitted to probate after the grant of letters of administration,⁸⁰ but the pendency of a will contest was held not to authorize the revocation of letters already granted to an executor.⁸¹

Also letters testamentary or of administration may be revoked on the ground that they were procured by fraud,⁸² or a false statement or suggestion as to a material fact,⁸³ that the issuance was premature,⁸⁴ that such issuance was improvident,⁸⁵ or without authority of law,⁸⁶ that administration was not necessary,⁸⁷ that letters of administration were issued without regard to the legal priorities,⁸⁸ without a renunciation by the person primarily entitled⁸⁹ or on a renunciation executed by mistake,⁹⁰ that a person having a right to intervene was not cited or cognizant of the proceedings,⁹¹ or that the person appointed does not bear the relationship to decedent which was made the basis of the grant of administration.⁹²

Letters may be revoked when it appears that administration with the will annexed was granted regardless of the rights of the person named as execu-

Letters not revoked

The fact that the court after granting letters of administration and after determining that it had jurisdiction, permitted an amendment alleging that intestate was a resident of, and domiciled in, another county at the time of his death, was held not sufficient to divest the court of the jurisdiction that it had assumed or revoke letters that it had granted.—State ex rel. Campbell v. Chapman, 1 So.2d 278, 145 Fla. 647.

Prior appointment

Register granting letters of administration, without knowledge of prior appointment of administrator by register of another county, properly revoked letters when apprised of situation.—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236.

Domiciliary letters revoked

Where domiciliary, instead of ancillary, letters of administration were granted to decedent's husband on his representation that domicile was in New Jersey, and domicile was actually in New York, letters granted to administrator substituted for husband would be revoked.—In re Fischer's Estate, 180 A. 633, 118 N.J.Eq. 599.

80. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

Conn.—Di Blasi v. Di Blasi, 159 A. 477, 114 Conn. 539.

Md.—Burgess v. Boswell, 116 A. 457, 139 Md. 669.

Miss.—Austin v. Patrick, 176 So. 714, 179 Miss. 718.

N.Y.—In re Shonts' Will, 128 N.E. 225, 229 N.Y. 374, reversing 181 N.Y.S. 553, 191 App.Div. 427, which reversed In re Shonts' Estate, 178 N.Y.S. 762, 109 Misc. 276.

N.C.—In re Suskin's Estate, 198 S. E. 661, 214 N.C. 219—In re Meadows' Will, 116 S.E. 257, 185 N.C. 99—In re Johnson's Will, 109 S.E. 373, 182 N.C. 522.

23 C.J. p 1095 note 48.

Later will

Where superior court admitted to probate a will of deceased without notice of later will, if later will was admitted to probate, the preexisting grant of letters testamentary would be revoked, and executor whose grant of authority was thus terminated would be required to render an account of his administration within such time as the court might direct.—In re Estrem's Estate, 107 P. 2d 36, 16 Cal.2d 563, prior opinion 101 P.2d 510.

81. Mo.—Kinnerk v. Smith, 41 S. W.2d 381, 328 Mo. 513.

82. Ga.—Lefkoff v. Sicro, 6 S.E.2d 687, 189 Ga. 554, 133 A.L.R. 738—Bowers v. Dolen, 1 S.E.2d 734, 187 Ga. 653—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S.E. 591, 179 Ga. 696—Williams v. Cave, 186 S.E. 694, 53 Ga.App. 582. La.—Hebert v. Hebert, App., 187 So. 317.

Okl.—Forgy v. Lamphear, 291 P. 83, 144 Okl. 245.
23 C.J. p 1101 note 27.

Extraneous fraud necessary

The judgment of the county court appointing an administrator will not be set aside for fraud unless the fraud pleaded and proved is some extraneous fraud practiced on the court.—Wolf v. Gills, 219 P. 350, 96 Okl. 6.

Damage not necessary

Ala.—Hall v. Santangelo, 60 So. 168, 178 Ala. 447.

83. N.Y.—In re Hone's Estate, 295 N.Y.S. 232, 250 App.Div. 635, affirming 286 N.Y.S. 394, 158 Misc. 183—In re Damsky's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 937, 164 Misc. 381—In re Duff's Estate, 257 N.Y.S. 648, 143 Misc. 905—In re Gant's Estate, 254 N.Y.S. 715, 142 Misc. 446.

Pa.—In re Davies' Estate, 21 A.2d 517, 146 Pa.Super. 7—In re Henry's Estate, 51 York Leg.Rec. 185.

23 C.J. p 1101 note 28.

Good faith immaterial

N.Y.—In re Gaffney's Estate, 252 N. Y.S. 649, 141 Misc. 453.

84. Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 785, 194 Wash. 219, quoting Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1101 note 29.

85. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

Md.—Silverwood v. Farnan, 22 A.2d 444—Burgess v. Boswell, 116 A. 457, 139 Md. 669.

N.C.—In re Smith's Will, 10 S.E.2d 676, 218 N.C. 161—Security Nat.

Bank (Tarboro Unit) v. Bridgers, 176 S.E. 295, 207 N.C. 91.

Tenn.—Williams v. Stewart, 64 S.W. 2d 194, 166 Tenn. 615.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 30.

86. Mo.—McCabe v. Lewis, 76 Mo. 296.

Wrong name of decedent

A petition for administration on estate of decedent named "Crossley," which gave name of decedent as "Crawley," was ineffective to invoke jurisdiction of probate court, where evidence supported finding that decedent had never adopted or used name of "Crawley," and hence letters of administration were properly revoked on petition of decedent's widow.—Denson v. Crossley, 2 So.2d 916, 241 Ala. 445.

87. Ala.—Murphy v. Freeman, 127 So. 199, 220 Ala. 634, 70 A.L.R. 381.

Ark.—Raley v. Grayson, 57 S.W.2d 828, 186 Ark. 1046.

Wash.—Murphy v. Murphy, 34 P. 646, 42 Wash. 142.

88. Ala.—Bivin v. Millsap, 189 So. 770, 238 Ala. 136—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

Cal.—In re O'Dea's Estate, 93 P.2d 222, 34 Cal.App.2d 179.

Md.—Silverwood v. Farnan, 22 A.2d 444.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775.

Pa.—In re Malinowski's Estate, 19 Pa.Dist. & Co. 335, 15 Erie Co. 224.
23 C.J. p 1102 note 33.

89. Pa.—Gaines' Estate, 56 Pa.Super. 118.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 34.

90. Md.—Thomas v. Knighton, 23 Md. 318, 87 Am.D. 571.

91. Md.—Silverwood v. Farnan, 22 A.2d 444.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 36.

92. Ga.—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S. E. 591, 179 Ga. 696.

Ill.—In re Panico's Estate, 268 Ill. App. 585.

N.Y.—In re Shuff's Estate, 272 N.Y. S. 418, 151 Misc. 754—In re Gallagher's Estate, 262 N.Y.S. 381, 146 Misc. 112—In re Wright's Estate, 180 N.Y.S. 635, 110 Misc. 480.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 37.

tor,⁹³ that an administrator de bonis non has been appointed while there was an executor acting with powers not limited by the will,⁹⁴ that letters of general administration have been issued when letters de bonis non were proper,⁹⁵ that letters have been issued to a disqualified person⁹⁶ or one having no right whatever to letters,⁹⁷ that person receiving letters was a nonresident,⁹⁸ that no security had been given or that which was given is insufficient,⁹⁹ that the administrator has not given notice to creditors as required by statute,¹ or that the judge who granted the letters was disqualified by interest.² It has been held that, where all the debts of a testator have been paid by a devisee, letters of administration should be revoked,³ but there is also authority for the view that the fact that after the appointment of an administrator the heirs pay into court the amount of a judgment against decedent, which was his only debt, does not compel annulment of the letters of administration.⁴

Letters will not be revoked because of failure of an administrator to pay his attorney's fees,⁵ failure to insert the exact value of the estate in the petition for letters of administration,⁶ or failure to give notice of an application for temporary administration to next of kin or legatees;⁷ and where the same person is executor or administrator of two estates, it is not a ground for revocation of his letters that the interests of the estates are conflicting⁸ or that one estate has claims against the other.⁹ Letters issued to copartners of decedent should not be vacated in order that an administrator may be appointed to sue in chancery for legatees of decedent to determine his share in the partnership assets.¹⁰ Neither is it a ground for setting aside an appointment as temporary administrators of executors named in the will that they are also interested in the estate.¹¹ Where the estate has not suffered and is not likely to suffer any evil results from the executor's or administrator's imperfect knowledge of the English language, his letters will not be revoked for that cause.¹² Letters of administration properly issued to the consul representing a foreign country for the administration of the estate of an intestate who left surviving a widow and minor child, residents and subjects of the foreign country, cannot be revoked on the widow coming with her child to the state and taking up her residence therein,¹³ although it has been held, under some treaty provisions, that the authority of a consul is superseded where the distributee appeared by an attorney in fact.¹⁴ The subsequent enactment of a statute as to distribution of estates was held not to authorize revocation of let-

93. Md.—Thomas v. Knighton, 23 Md. 318.

Pa.—Patton's Appeal, 31 Pa. 465.
Tenn.—Baldwin v. Buford, 4 Yerg. 16.

94. N.C.—Springs v. Erwin, 28 N.C. 27.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 39.

95. Miss.—Gasque v. Moody, 23 Miss. 153.

96. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 41.

Person convicted of infamous offense

U.S.—In re Allen's Estate, D.C.D.C., 30 F.Supp. 243.

97. Cal.—In re Way's Estate, 85 P. 2d 563, 29 Cal.App.2d 669.

23 C.J. p 1102 note 42.

Defense of invalidity of settlement

On petition by decedent's son for revocation of letters of administration issued to decedent's widow, on the ground that by a marriage settlement she had waived her marital rights, she could defend on the ground that the settlement was void because procured by fraud and undue influence, and was not required to bring direct proceeding to have the settlement set aside, since her right to administer depended on the right to succeed to his personal estate under the statute, which in turn depended on the validity of the settlement, and the wife was not barred by limitations, or by laches, from setting up the invalidity of the settlement because of fraud and undue influence, limitations and laches being inapplicable since wife was merely seeking defensive relief.—In re Cover's Estate, 204 P. 583, 188 Cal. 133.

98. Ill.—In re Bump's Estate, 28 N. E.2d 352, 306 Ill.App. 264.

Mich.—Grand Trunk Western R. Co. v. Kaplansky, 258 N.W. 423, 270 Mich. 135.

Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 194 Wash. 219.

Administration practically completed

Where administration of estate had been practically completed by nonresident executor, in the absence of showing of illegal conduct of affairs of estate, such executor would not be removed on petition of person who had no justiciable interest in the estate and who had cooperated with executor for hire in the administration of the estate from the time of executor's appointment, notwithstanding statute prohibiting appointment of nonresident as personal representative of estate.—In re Sherman's Estate, 1 So.2d 727, 146 Fla. 643.

99. Pa.—In re Huff's Estate, 149 A. 179, 299 Pa. 200.

23 C.J. p 1103 note 43.

In connection with nonresidence
N.Y.—In re Chisholm's Will, 264 N. Y.S. 352, 148 Misc. 158.

1. Cal.—Atwood's Estate, 59 P. 770, 127 Cal. 427.

23 C.J. p 1103 note 45.

2. Ga.—Echols v. Barrett, 6 Ga. 443.

23 C.J. p 1103 note 46.

3. Ark.—Adamson v. Parker, 85 S. W. 239, 74 Ark. 168.

4. Ind.—Holtz v. Mercantile Trust & Sav. Co., 100 N.E. 398, 53 Ind. App. 194.

5. N.Y.—In re Nocton, 162 N.Y.S. 215.

6. N.Y.—In re Quinlan, 158 N.Y.S. 319.

7. N.Y.—In re Curtis, 175 N.Y.S. 288—In re Curtis, 175 N.Y.S. 285.

8. Ind.—Wright v. Wright, 72 Ind. 149.

9. Ind.—Wright v. Wright, supra.

10. Mich.—In re Sloman, 152 N.W. 957, 186 Mich. 434.

11. N.Y.—Matter of Ashmore, 96 N. Y.S. 772, 48 Misc. 312, 35 N.Y.Civ. Proc. 268.

12. N.Y.—In re Bloom's Estate, 278 N.Y.S. 157, 154 Misc. 741—Hassey v. Keller, 1 Dem.Surr. 577.

13. N.Y.—In re Orlando, 148 N.Y.S. 270.

14. N.Y.—In re Reiss' Estate, 248 N.Y.S. 169, 138 Misc. 845.

ters of administration,¹⁵ and where neither of two persons could demand the appointment as a matter of law, the appointment of one will not be set aside in the absence of an abuse of discretion.¹⁶

§ 85. — Proceedings

- a. In general
- b. Who may apply
- c. Time for application
- d. Jurisdiction
- e. Parties and notice
- f. Pleading
- g. Evidence
- h. Hearing and determination
- i. Judgment, order, or decree
- j. Review
- k. Costs and allowances

a. In General

Proceedings for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration must comply with applicable statutory provisions.

Proceedings for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration must comply with applicable statutory provisions.¹⁷ Under a statute providing that the court may suspend the powers of an executor for various causes, and on so doing must cite the executor to appear and show cause why his letters should not be revoked, suspension is not a necessary step toward the revocation of the letters.¹⁸

b. Who May Apply

Ordinarily persons acting in their individual capacity are entitled to ask for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration only when they are interested in the estate.

While a court of probate jurisdiction may on its own motion institute and carry on proceedings to revoke letters testamentary or of administration,¹⁹ or revocation may be on the suggestion of an amicus curiae,²⁰ the right of individuals to petition for revocation of letters is frequently regulated by statute,²¹ and ordinarily, persons acting in their individual capacity are entitled to ask for the revocation of such letters only when they are interested in the estate.²²

A person who is entitled to administration in

15. N.Y.—In re Irving's Estate, 276 N.Y.S. 427, 153 Misc. 807.

16. Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 801, 110 Or. 147.

17. Public administrator

Proceedings to revoke the letters of administration of a public administrator cannot be taken under a statute relating to revocation which does not include a public administrator.—In re Carter's Estate, 50 P. 2d 1057, 9 Cal.App.2d 714.

18. Cal.—In re Kelley, 55 P. 136, 122 Cal. 379.

19. Ala.—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157.

Ill.—Wilkinson v. Nowers, 217 Ill. App. 314.

Mo.—In re Allen's Estate, 271 S.W. 755, 307 Mo. 674.

N.J.—In re Gilbert's Estate, 15 A.2d 111, 18 N.J.Misc. 540.
23 C.J. p 1103 note 58.

Void grant

Where the granting of letters of administration by probate court is void, probate court has the inherent power to revoke letters on its own motion.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So.2d 4, 241 Ala. 626.

20. Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, supra. 23 C.J. p 1103 note 59.

21. Alleged decedent

Under provisions of Surrogate's Court Act concerning revocation of letters of administration, legislature did not intend to leave a supposed decedent without recourse to secure revocation of letters issued on his estate, where such supposed decedent was in fact alive when letters were issued.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N. Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

22. Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So. 2d 4, 241 Ala. 626.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 382, 237 Ala. 38, citing Corpus Juris.

Ark.—Brinkley v. Allen, 143 S.W.2d 187, 188, 200 Ark. 1147, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—Succession of Berdennagel, 163 So. 843, 183 La. 398.

N.Y.—In re Gourlay's Estate, 19 N. Y.S.2d 122, 173 Misc. 930.

Or.—In re Roedler's Estate, 222 P. 801, 110 Or. 147.

Wash.—In re Upton's Estate, 92 P. 2d 210, 213, citing Corpus Juris—State ex rel. Lauridsen v. Superior Court for King County, 37 P.2d 209, 213, 179 Wash. 198, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1103 note 60.

Any person interested in the estate may move to set aside the appointment of an administrator.

Ala.—Clark v. Whorton, 194 So. 661, 239 Ala. 238.

Ohio.—In re Gingery's Estate, 184 N. E. 449, 103 Ohio St. 559.
23 C.J. p 1103 note 60 [a].

Coexecutor

An executor has been held not entitled to move for revocation of letters of a coexecutor except in his individual capacity as a beneficiary.—In re Bloomingdale's Estate, 13 N. Y.S.2d 674, 171 Misc. 843.

Alleged decedent has been held an interested person.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

Will contestant, who, but for will, would be heir at law of deceased, has such interest in estate as entitles him to bring proceeding for removal of curator of estate pending determination of contest.—Moore v. Thomas, 174 S.E. 876, 115 W.Va. 237.

Receiver of legatee's property appointed in supplementary proceedings on return of execution unsatisfied, is "person in interest," entitled to maintain proceeding to revoke letters testamentary.—In re Sweeney's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 174, 125 Misc. 859.

Maternal uncle of illegitimate child was not entitled to bring proceeding to set aside letters of administration on estate of deceased illegitimate child, where it appeared that such child left married brother who had not been heard from in over seven years, in absence of evidence disclosing whether such brother left any lineal heirs.—Williams v. Cave, 186 S.E. 694, 53 Ga.App. 582.

Arbitration agreement entered into between the widow and a granddaughter of testator concerning personal property which both were claiming, not under the will, but against it, does not necessarily estop the widow from petitioning to have recalled the letters of administration issued to her as executrix, so that she might dissent from the will, especially when the arbitration agreement was made the day after the will was admitted to probate, so that the allegations of the petition as to the widow's incapacity would apply alike to the probate of the will, the qualification as execupreference to the one who has been appointed ordinarily has the right to procure the revocation of such appointment,²³ unless his right to do this has been waived or lost²⁴ by a failure to apply for letters within the time prescribed by law, as shown infra subdivision c of this section, or by renunciation.²⁵ However, a statute authorizing revocation on application of one entitled to priority has been held not absolute and available at all times under all conditions.²⁶ Thus, while a person having a superior right to letters may directly attack the issue of letters to one having a secondary right thereto,²⁷ revocation on the ground that priorities were not observed can be asked only by one having a right prior to the appointee,²⁸ and who is qualified for the office²⁹ and who seeks to have the appointment of himself made instead of the one appointed.³⁰ Also, a statute authorizing the surviving spouse or close relative of deceased to obtain revocation of letters of administration has been held applicable only in cases of intestacy,³¹ and not to the appointment of a public administrator with the will annexed.³² The fact that petitioner is disqualified from being appointed is immaterial where he seeks revocation of letters because appointee was unfit or disqualified.³³

Persons entitled to citation or notice in probate or administration proceedings may ask revocation on the ground that letters were issued without these formalities or prematurely as to them,³⁴ unless they have waived the right to object.³⁵ The public administrator may apply for revocation of letters wrongfully issued to a disqualified person.³⁶

A creditor of the estate is sometimes given the right to ask for the revocation of letters,³⁷ although this right is limited to those who were creditors at trix, and the agreement to arbitrate.—In re Meadows' Will, 116 S.E. 257, 185 N.C. 99.

23. Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So. 2d 4, 241 Ala. 626—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38—Brown v. Brown, 85 So. 439, 204 Ala. 157, 23 C.J. p 1104 note 61.

24. Ga.—McCowen v. Flanders, 118 S.E. 351, 155 Ga. 701.
Wash.—State v. Superior Court for Thurston County, 255 P. 376, 143 Wash. 358.
23 C.J. p 1104 note 62.

Right not waived or lost
Mont.—In re Nix's Estate, 213 P. 1089, 66 Mont. 559.

Tender of taxes paid

Where defendant knowing that deceased had been dead for more than twenty years caused tax executions to be issued against her which executions were transferred to defendant who, alleging himself to be a creditor, was appointed administrator by court of ordinary which authorized sale of realty claimed by plaintiff as sole heir of deceased, heir would not be precluded from equitable relief by failure to tender sums paid by defendant as taxes on the premises, since payments were voluntary and void.—Bowers v. Dolen, 1 S.E.2d 734, 187 Ga. 653.

25. N.C.—In re Saville, 72 S.E. 220, 156 N.C. 172.
Okl.—King v. Salyer, 44 P.2d 11, 172 Okl. 130.

26. Mont.—In re Cameron's Estate, 284 P. 143, 86 Mont. 455.

27. Cal.—In re O'Dea's Estate, 93 P.2d 222, 34 Cal.App.2d 179—In re Way's Estate, 85 P.2d 563, 29 Cal. App.2d 669.

Direct attack

The statutes governing rights of prior claimants of letters of administration manifest intent to provide procedure for direct attack on grant of letters without relying on appeal, motion for new trial, or statutory relief from judgment or order.—In re Way's Estate, supra.

28. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.
23 C.J. p 1104 note 64.

Persons in same class

(1) No person in any of the preferred classes mentioned in the statute can assert prior rights if original letters have been issued to any person within any one of the classes specifically mentioned therein.—In re Carter's Estate, 50 P.2d 1057, 9 Cal. App.2d 714.

(2) Under statute, letters of administration granted to public administrator may not be revoked merely on petition of deceased's brother or other person asserting prior right in absence of statutory showing of cause, since court could not say that words "public administrator" were inadvertently included in statute.—In re Carter's Estate, supra.

(3) Where administrator was appointed as nominee of a person of a preferred class named in statute, administrator could not be removed from its office on petition of guardian of person in the same or lower class, as a guardian stands in no better position than the ward would have been had there been no guardianship.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

29. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38, citing Corpus Juris.

Ky.—Ellwanger v. Ellwanger's Adm'r, 129 S.W.2d 127, 278 Ky. 584.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775.
N.Y.—In re Freseigna's Estate, 290 N.Y.S. 807, 160 Misc. 317.
23 C.J. p 1104 note 65.

Nominee

The statute only authorizes any of the relatives named to act through a nominee when such relative is personally competent to qualify as administrator.—In re Mintaberry's Estate, 191 P. 909, 183 Cal. 566.

30. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

31. Nev.—In re Garrison's Estate, 91 P.2d 818, 59 Nev. 302.

Surviving spouse is not entitled to revocation of letters of administration with the will annexed where such spouse has no right to take under the will.—In re Garrison's Estate, supra.

32. Nev.—In re Garrison's Estate, supra.

33. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

34. Ga.—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S. E. 591, 179 Ga. 696.
23 C.J. p 1104 note 66.

Publication of citation does not preclude sole heir without actual knowledge of application for letters of administration from seeking to have judgment granting application canceled.—Jackson v. Jackson, supra.

35. Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.

36. Cal.—In re O'Dea's Estate, 93 P. 2d 222, 34 Cal.App.2d 179.
N.Y.—Matter of McMullen, 148 N.Y. S. 1092, 85 Misc. 661.

37. Iowa.—Crawford County v. Kock's Estate, 290 N.W. 682, 227 Iowa 1235.
23 C.J. p 1104 note 68.

the time the letters were issued.³⁸ It has been held that a debtor cannot intervene as one interested in mere irregularities of appointment,³⁹ but on the other hand the right of a debtor to ask for revocation has been sustained,⁴⁰ as has also the right of one who is being sued by the representative,⁴¹ although there is authority to the contrary.⁴² So, also, that a corporation, against whom an action is being prosecuted by an administrator for injuries causing the death of the intestate, has a right to petition the court for a revocation of the letters of administration, has been both asserted⁴³ and denied.⁴⁴

Heirs of decedent have been held not in a position to complain of the appointment of an administrator in another jurisdiction where such appointment could not injure them;⁴⁵ and persons who were heard in the proceeding for appointment are ordinarily precluded from obtaining revocation of letters on evidence not newly discovered.⁴⁶ In proceedings to revoke letters testamentary on the joint petition of an infant legatee and her father, who is also a legatee for a nominal amount, the petition will not be dismissed because one petitioner by reason of infancy is incapable of maintaining the proceedings.⁴⁷

c. Time for Application

In the absence of an applicable statute, an application for revocation of letters testamentary or of administration must ordinarily be made within a reasonable time.

The time within which an application for revocation of letters testamentary or of administration must be made is sometimes regulated by statute and application must be made within the time allowed.⁴⁸ In the absence of an applicable statute, the application must be made within a reasonable time,⁴⁹ and laches may defeat the right to proceed for revocation.⁵⁰ While it has been stated that, where a person entitled to priority in administration must assert

38. N.Y.—Matter of Clotto, 93 N.Y. S. 973, 105 App.Div. 143.

39. Ill.—In re Trost's Estate, 10 N. E.2d 857, 292 Ill.App. 60.

N.Y.—Drexel v. Berney, 1 Dem.Surr. 163.

40. Mo.—Donaldson v. Lewis, 7 Mo. App. 403.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 71.

41. Tex.—Cooper v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 93 S.W. 201, 41 Tex.Civ. App. 596.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 72.

42. Ill.—In re Trost's Estate, 10 N. E.2d 857, 292 Ill.App. 60.

N.Y.—In re Barmeier's Estate, 282 N.Y.S. 695, 156 Misc. 657, modified on other grounds 288 N.Y.S. 313, 248 App.Div. 636, affirmed 5 N.E.2d 351, 272 N.Y. 601.

One who might be sued in tort by administrator of an estate was not an "interested party" with authority to proceed directly in probate court for revocation of letters of administration.—Brinkley v. Allen, 143 S.W. 2d 187, 200 Ark. 1147.

43. Tex.—Cooper v. Gulf, C. & S. F. Ry. Co., 93 S.W. 201, 41 Tex.Civ. App. 596.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 73.

Jurisdictional defects

S.C.—Southern Ry. Co. v. Moore, 155 S.E. 740, 158 S.C. 446, 73 A.L.R. 582, certiorari granted 51 S.Ct. 560, 283 U.S. 816, 75 L.Ed. 1432.

44. D.C.—Kent v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 17 D.C. 335.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 74.

45. Ind.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

Or.—In re Villas' Estate, 110 P.2d 940.

46. Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

Statutory disqualification

While persons who had knowledge of disqualification of administrator at time of grant of letters should have brought matter to court's attention while appointment was under consideration, where the policy of the law is clear, the letters will be revoked.—In re Allen's Estate, D.C.D.C., 30 F.Supp. 243.

47. N.Y.—Matter of Denyse, 116 N. Y.S. 1127, 62 Misc. 595.

48. Idaho.—In re Barr's Estate, 252 P. 676, 43 Idaho 400.

N.Y.—In re Lohman's Estate, 290 N. Y.S. 964, 160 Misc. 929, affirmed 288 N.Y.S. 1047, 248 App.Div. 556.

Statutes construed

Provisions of statute that powers of public administrator shall be superseded where letters of administration are granted by surrogate having jurisdiction at any time within six months after public administrator became vested with power of administrator were held inapplicable to application of widow for revocation of letters of administration granted to public administrator by surrogate of county having jurisdiction over estate, and the petition must be denied, notwithstanding that notice of application of public administrator for letters stated that there was no widow, where notice was notice to next of kin generally.—In re Glasier's Estate, 290 N.Y.S. 966, 160 Misc. 814.

Last day falling on Sunday

The fact that last day of period fell on Sunday extends period to next business day.—In re Braddell's Estate, 299 N.Y.S. 1021, 164 Misc. 893.

49. Idaho.—In re Barr's Estate, 252 P. 676, 43 Idaho 400.

Will subsequently discovered

Where letters of administration were granted by an orphans' court on a showing that decedent had died intestate, and subsequently a will was discovered, a petition to revoke the letters was not too late where the will had not been admitted to probate.—Burgess v. Boswell, 116 A. 457, 139 Md. 669.

50. N.Y.—In re Gori's Will, 222 N. Y.S. 250, 129 Misc. 541.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 62, p 1105 note 81.

Laches not shown

(1) Widow, who petitioned for appointment of administrator for her husband's estate, alleging that he had been resident of District of Columbia, was held not guilty of laches, precluding her from denying, approximately a year later, that he was in fact resident of District.—Claudy v. Duvall, 5 F.2d 381, 55 App. D.C. 319.

(2) Where defendant knowing that deceased had been dead for more than twenty years caused tax executions to be issued against her, which executions were transferred to defendant who, alleging himself to be a creditor, was appointed administrator by court of ordinary, sole heir of deceased claiming realty was not barred from attacking orders of court of ordinary authorizing sale of property on ground that heir was negligent in failing to keep himself informed as to appointment of administrator.—Bowers v. Dolan, 1 S.E. 2d 734, 187 Ga. 653.

such priority within a specified time after the death of decedent or lose his right, the same limitation of time would apply to an application by him for the revocation of letters granted to another person, on the ground that they were prematurely granted to a person not entitled to priority,⁵¹ it has been held that the application to revoke letters of administration can be made within the same time after applicant has knowledge that letters have been granted as that provided by law within which an original application for letters is to be made,⁵² or within which an appeal from an order granting letters may be taken,⁵³ and also that a motion to set aside the appointment of an administrator, filed within a reasonable time after the appointment, should be considered when made by one not having had notice of the appointment.⁵⁴

Where the supposed decedent was not dead at the time when letters were granted, an application for the revocation may be made within a reasonable time, and a statute limiting the time within which relief from judgments on the ground of mistake, inadvertence, or excusable neglect may be sought does not apply.⁵⁵

d. Jurisdiction

The court which granted letters of administration is ordinarily the proper one to revoke them.

The court which granted the letters is as a general rule the proper one to revoke them, and proceedings for revocation should be commenced in that court,⁵⁶ but it has been held that a court of equity has jurisdiction to set aside a grant of letters of administration by the ordinary.⁵⁷ The power to revoke letters is not affected by the pendency of proceedings for relief elsewhere,⁵⁸ or by the fact that a court of equity has assumed jurisdiction of the administration of the estate.⁵⁹ Where the court of probate is a court of general jurisdiction every presumption is in favor of the jurisdiction until the contrary appears,⁶⁰ but where it is a court of limited jurisdiction, its jurisdiction to revoke letters testamentary will not be presumed but jurisdictional facts must be averred and proved by the party relying on the decree of revocation.⁶¹

e. Parties and Notice

Ordinarily an executor or administrator must be made a party to, and given notice of, proceedings for the revocation of his letters.

The letters cannot be revoked without making the executor or administrator a party to the proceedings.⁶² Creditors will sometimes be permitted to intervene in a proceeding for revocation of letters.⁶³

Notice. Ex parte proceedings for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration are improper,⁶⁴ the representative being entitled to citation and notice.⁶⁵ However, it has been held that 51. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38—Castleberry v. Hollingsworth, 111 So. 35, 215 Ala. 445.

Miss.—Kevey v. Johnson, 150 So. 532, 167 Miss. 775.

23 C.J. p 1104 note 77.

52. Md.—Stocksdale v. Conway, 14 Md. 99, 74 Am.D. 515.

53. Md.—McColgan v. Kenny, 11 A. 819, 68 Md. 258.

54. Ohio.—In re McCreight, 9 Ohio S. & C. P. 450, 6 Ohio N.P., 479.

55. Cal.—In re Paulsen, 170 P. 855, 35 Cal.App. 654.

56. Me.—Kneeland v. Buzzell, 197 A. 155, 135 Me. 363.

Md.—Tsaracilis v. Characklis, 3 A.2d 725, 176 Md. 28.

N.J.—Seaboard Trust Co. v. Topken, 20 A.2d 709, 130 N.J.Eq. 46.

Pa.—In re Phillips' Estate, 143 A. 9, 293 Pa. 351—In re Brown's Estate, 161 A. 471, 105 Pa.Super. 236—In re Hugg's Estate, 7 Pa.Dist. & Co. 112, 39 York Leg.Rec. 162.

23 C.J. p 1105 note 84.

While right to appeal exists

Surrogate had jurisdiction of petition to revoke decree for letters of administration because allegedly obtained by fraud, although petition for revocation was filed within period within which petitioner had right to appeal to orphans' court.—In re Croclan's Estate, 166 A. 626, 11 N. J.Misc. 828.

Where issues submitted to circuit court

Orphans' court was without authority to proceed on petition seeking revocation of order appointing administratrix pendente lite during pendency of disposition of issues of fact which had been submitted to circuit court for trial by jury, since findings of jury relative to faithful conduct of administratrix in execution of trust would be binding on orphans' court.—Baldwin v. Hopkins, 191 A. 565, 172 Md. 219.

Statute permissive

The statutory authority of the register of wills to revoke letters of administration granted by him to persons who are not next of kin is merely permissive.—In re Boytor's Estate, 198 A. 484, 130 Pa.Super. 591.

57. Ga.—Bowers v. Dolen, 1 S.E.2d 734, 187 Ga. 653—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S.E. 591, 179 Ga. 696.

23 C.J. p 1105 note 85.

Proceeding equitable in nature

Although county courts possess power to vacate proceedings for appointment of an administrator when procured by fraud, an affirmative proceeding, equitable in its nature, with accompanying pleadings, supported by proper proofs, and sustained by competent evidence, which clearly established the material fraud charged, is necessarily involved.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N.W. 529, 137 Neb. 374.

58. N.Y.—Hood v. Hood, 2 Dem. Surr. 583.

59. Ala.—Pruett v. Pruett, 32 So. 638, 131 Ala. 578.

60. Ga.—Langmade v. Hamilton, 15 S.E. 535, 89 Ga. 441.

61. N.Y.—People v. Hartman, 32 N. Y.Super. 576.

62. S.C.—Watson v. Mayrant, 18 S. C.Eq. 449.

63. Pa.—In re Follmer's Estate, 5 Pa.Dist. & Co. 521, 7 Northumb. Leg.J. 133.

64. Pa.—Bieber's Appeal, 11 Pa. 157.

65. Ga.—Stewart v. Patterson, 111 S.E. 421, 152 Ga. 754.

Ill.—Healea v. Verne, 175 N.E. 562, 343 Ill. 325.

23 C.J. p 1105 note 92.

Service on attorney

Where his attorney accepted service of citation and appeared, former administrator could not object to his appearance may be a waiver of citation,⁶⁶ and that where the representative is a fugitive from justice, the letters may be revoked without issuing a citation.⁶⁷ So, also, under a statute which provides that, if sufficient security is not given within the time fixed, the right of an administrator to the administration shall cease, an administrator who fails to comply with an order requiring him to furnish additional security, and obtains no further time, is not entitled to notice of an order revoking his letters after the limitation has expired.⁶⁸

A public administrator is not entitled to notice of a proceeding to revoke letters granted to him, on discovery of a will.⁶⁹

f. Pleading

A petition or complaint for revocation of letters testamentary or of administration must state facts sufficient to warrant such action on the part of the court.

It is necessary in a proceeding for the revocation of letters that there should be a petition or complaint,⁷⁰ which must state facts sufficient to warrant such action on the part of the court;⁷¹ but where charges sufficient to warrant removal have been formulated in a sworn statement on the basis of which the executor has been suspended and cited to show cause why he should not be removed, there is no reason why they should be afterward reiterated in a separate document.⁷² A prayer for the appointment of petitioner is properly joined in a petition for the revocation of letters of administration,⁷³ and where the petitioner is the nominee of the person entitled to administer, the petition should show that a request for the appointment of the petitioner has been filed in court.⁷⁴ The representative has been held not entitled to file a cross complaint in favor of the estate in such a proceeding.⁷⁵

Objections to the sufficiency of a petition for the revocation of letters testamentary may be taken by answer to the petition.⁷⁶

g. Evidence

General rules of evidence are applicable in proceedings for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration.

On an application for the revocation of letters the facts necessary to induce the court to act should be made to appear by proof,⁷⁷ and a mere statement of jurisdiction to revoke appointment—Capwell v. Knight, 135 A. 699, 48 R. I. 81.

66. Colo.—In re Woody's Estate, 24 P.2d 754, 93 Colo. 169, 23 C.J. p 1106 note 93.

Appearance on appeal

County court's order revoking plaintiff's appointment as administrator is not invalid because of lack of notice, where on appeal and trial de novo in district court plaintiff's counsel appeared generally.—In re Woody's Estate, supra.

67. N.Y.—Sutherland v. St. Lawrence County, 85 N.Y.S. 696, 42 Misc. 38, reversed on other grounds 91 N.Y.S. 962, 101 App.Div. 299.

68. Cal.—Barrett v. Placer County Super.Ct., 47 P. 592, 3 Cal.Unrep. Cas. 569.

69. Mo.—Brinckwirth v. Troll, 181 S.W. 403, 266 Mo. 473, Ann.Cas. 1918B 1056.

70. Neb.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N.W. 529, 137 Neb. 374.

R.I.—Briggs v. Westerly Prob. Ct., 50 A. 335, 23 R.I. 125.

Petition held direct attack

Ga.—Brown v. Parks, 151 S.E. 340, 169 Ga. 712, 71 A.L.R. 271.

71. La.—Succession of Berdennagel, 163 So. 843, 183 La. 393.

Nev.—In re Garrison's Estate, 91 P. 2d 818, 59 Nev. 302.

N.Y.—In re Gori's Will, 222 N.Y.S. 250, 129 Misc. 541.

Or.—In re De Force's Estate, 249 P. 632, 119 Or. 556.

23 C.J. p 1106 note 99.

Complaint or petition held sufficient

(1) In general.
Ala.—Kelen v. Brewer, 124 So. 247, 220 Ala. 175.

Ga.—Bowers v. Dolen, 1 S.E.2d 734, 187 Ga. 653.

(2) On general demurrer.

Ga.—Donehoo v. Standifer, 178 S.E. 455, 180 Ga. 181—Brown v. Parks, 151 S.E. 340, 169 Ga. 712, 71 A.L.R. 271.

W.Va.—Moore v. Thomas, 174 S.E. 876, 115 W.Va. 237.

(3) To raise question of want of jurisdiction to appoint.—Linder v. Burns, Mo.App., 243 S.W. 361.

Complaint or petition held insufficient

Ga.—Walker v. Hall, 166 S.E. 757, 176 Ga. 12—Brown v. Parks, 151 S.E. 340, 169 Ga. 712, 71 A.L.R. 271.

N.Y.—In re Bloom's Estate, 278 N.Y. S. 157, 154 Misc. 741.

Equitable petition to set aside appointment of administrator because fraudulently procured was held not demurrable because plaintiff had legal remedy.—Brown v. Parks, 151 S.E. 340, 169 Ga. 712, 71 A.L.R. 271.

72. Cal.—In re Rathgeb, 52 P. 1010, 125 Cal. 202.

73. Ala.—Fields v. Woods, 67 So. 1016, 191 Ala. 93, following Curtis v. Williams, 33 Ala. 570.

Mont.—In re Infelise, 149 P. 365, 51 Mont. 18.

74. Mont.—In re Infelise, supra.

Results in misjoinder

In proceeding on petition for removal of administrator, permitting administrator to file cross complaint for personal judgment in favor of estate against petitioner was error because of misjoinder of parties, since administrator was defending against petition in his own right but was seeking to prosecute cross complaint in the right of the estate, although cross complaint was in name of administrator.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N. E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

76. N.Y.—Kelly v. Langevin, 137 N. Y.S. 1099, 153 App.Div. 322.

77. Ark.—Easterling v. Farrell, 12 S.W.2d 889, 178 Ark. 937.

Cal.—In re Kimball's Estate, 252 P. 591, 200 Cal. 247.

Ind.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

Neb.—In re Sheerer's Estate, 289 N. W. 529, 137 Neb. 374.

N.J.—In re Gilbert's Estate, 15 A.2d 111, 18 N.J.Misc. 540.

N.Y.—In re Sciscenti's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 960, 157 Misc. 499, affirmed 290 N.Y.S. 108, 248 App.Div. 702—In re Ferry's Estate, 279 N.Y.S. 919, 155 Misc. 198.

N.C.—In re Johnson's Will, 109 S.E. 373, 182 N.C. 522.

23 C.J. p 1106 note 8.

Evidence overcoming presumption

In proceeding to set aside revocation of appointment of administrator of deceased, who was child of first marriage, evidence that no divorce was granted to parties of first marriage overcame presumption of such facts in the petition is not to be regarded as evidence thereof.⁷⁸ It has been held, however, that, where administration has been granted to a stranger, the burden is on him to show the legality of his appointment,⁷⁹ and that, on entry of an order requiring administrator to show cause why his letters should not be revoked, the burden is on the administrator.⁸⁰ Where no question with respect to the appointment is raised, it will be presumed that due notice was given before the appointment.⁸¹ The admissibility⁸² and sufficiency⁸³ of the evidence are governed by the general rules of evidence.

h. Hearing and Determination

The representative is entitled to a hearing in a proceeding to revoke his letters, but the court cannot determine matters not involved in the issues and may deny the application because of the practical situation existing in the estate.

Letters can be revoked only for cause shown after due hearing,⁸⁴ and where charges of misconduct are denied the court cannot revoke letters without taking evidence and making findings of fact.⁸⁵ While preliminary questions should be determined before the merits of the proceeding are inquired into,⁸⁶ the discretion of the court should not be exercised in ruling on a demurrer to the petition for revocation,⁸⁷ but should only be exercised in decisions on facts.⁸⁸ The proceeding may be submitted to a referee to hear evidence and report,⁸⁹ and in some jurisdictions, issues may be submitted to a jury,⁹⁰ but the verdict is not necessarily controlling, and the court may accept and act on it or disregard it as it may deem best and right.⁹¹

Where a jury is called, to pass on the disputed question of decedent's residence, the court may instruct as to the rules governing the submission and determination of special questions of fact, but neitheir divorce, and placed on children of alleged second marriage burden of proving that divorce decree had been obtained.—In re McLaughlin's Estate, 172 A. 107, 314 Pa. 574.

78. N.Y.—Holland v. Ferris, 2 Bradf.Surr. 334.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Hoss, 3 Humphr. 142.

79. Md.—Slay v. Beck, 68 A. 573, 107 Md. 357.
23 C.J. p 1106 note 10.

80. Colo.—In re Peters' Estate, 215 P. 128, 73 Colo. 271.

81. Mont.—In re Infelise, 149 P. 365, 51 Mont. 18.

82. Ala.—Holmes v. Holmes, 103 So. 884, 212 Ala. 597.

Ga.—Hicks v. Stalnaker, 200 S.E. 484, 59 Ga.App. 148.

Ill.—In re Panico's Estate, 268 Ill. App. 585.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 12.

Immaterial evidence is not admissible

Ala.—Holmes v. Holmes, 97 So. 628, 210 Ala. 227.

Ark.—Gray v. Gray, 133 S.W.2d 874, 199 Ark. 152.

83. Iowa.—Moreland v. Lowry, 241 N.W. 31, 213 Iowa 1096.

Md.—Kaiser v. Ebersberger, 19 A.2d 701, 133 A.L.R. 1479.
23 C.J. p 1107 note 13.

Presumption of validity of succession proceedings carried on under orders of district court would not sustain proceedings against attack by heirs on ground of fraud, if it appeared that court had been imposed on through fraud of so-called administrator.—Hebert v. Hebert, La. App., 187 So. 317.

Evidence identical with that before the court when it made the order of appointment will not justify revocation on the ground that the appointment was inadvertently made.—In re Johnson's Estate, 67 P.2d 1079, 30 Cal.App.2d 735.

Evidence held sufficient

(1) In general.

Cal.—Bengochea v. Bengochea, 271 P. 760, 94 Cal.App. 647.

Iowa.—Moreland v. Lowry, 241 N.W. 31, 213 Iowa 1096.

N.Y.—In re Krasnicki's Estate, 278 N.Y.S. 247, 154 Misc. 771—In re Kotlik's Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 204, 152 Misc. 802, adhered to 274 N.Y.S. 838, 153 Misc. 355—In re Clark's Estate, 246 N.Y.S. 732, 138 Misc. 651.

Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 194 Wash. 219.

(2) To authorize revocation of letters.

Ala.—Clark v. Whorton, 194 So. 661, 239 Ala. 238—Kelen v. Brewer, 124 So. 247, 220 Ala. 175.

N.Y.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

(3) To show interest in decedent's estate.

Cal.—In re Robinson's Estate, 224 P. 765, 65 Cal.App. 588.

N.Y.—In re Burke's Estate, 256 N.Y.S. 862, 143 Misc. 268.

(4) To support verdict.—Tyler v. Bartlett, 144 S.E. 168, 166 Ga. 673.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) In general.—In re Murtha's Estate, 249 N.Y.S. 537, 232 App.Div. 285, reversing 243 N.Y.S. 225, 136 Misc. 424, and reversed on other grounds 182 N.E. 82, 259 N.Y. 456—In re Lohmann's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 38, 157 Misc. 169, affirmed in re Lohmann's Adm'r, 290 N.Y.S. 135, 248 App.Div. 714.

(2) To warrant revocation of letters.

Ind.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

Miss.—Alexander v. Hancock, 164 So. 772, 174 Misc. 482, suggestion of error overruled 165 So. 126, 174 Miss. 482—Anderson v. Anderson, 130 So. 91, 158 Miss. 116.

N.Y.—In re Caplan's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 570, 236 App.Div. 302, reversing 249 N.Y.S. 110, 139 Misc. 142, and affirmed 184 N.E. 141, 260 N.Y. 674—In re Gropen's Estate, 294 N.Y.S. 558, 162 Misc. 346—In re Lawson's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 9, 158 Misc. 902—In re Sciscenti's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 960, 157 Misc. 499, affirmed 290 N.Y.S. 108, 248 App.Div. 702.

84. Ill.—Healea v. Verne, 175 N.E. 562, 343 Ill. 325.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 15.

85. N.Y.—In re Clemens' Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 168, 174 Misc. 1052.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 16.

86. N.Y.—Matter of Reinhardt, 156 N.Y.S. 171, 92 Misc. 96.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 17.

87. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P.2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706.

88. Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, supra.

89. N.Y.—In re Dade, 168 N.Y.S. 359.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 18.

Compelling filing of report

In an early case it was held that the surrogate is powerless to direct a referee, to whom the revocation proceeding was referred, to file his report.—In re Kraus, 4 Dem.Surr., N.Y., 217.

90. Evidence sufficient to go to jury Ark.—Gray v. Gray, 133 S.W.2d 874, 199 Ark. 152.

91. N.C.—In re Meadow's Will, 116 S.E. 257, 185 N.C. 99.

ther party has the right to demand instructions.⁹² While the facts alleged in the petition together with reasonable inferences are taken as admitted and the right to relief is a question of law where no answer is interposed,⁹³ the rule that an averment of the petition must be taken as true on a motion to dismiss does not apply where the averment is contrary to facts of which the court takes judicial notice.⁹⁴

On the trial the court has power to pass on all matters brought in issue and properly involved in the questions before it for decision;⁹⁵ but it cannot determine matters not involved in the issue,⁹⁶ or not affecting the right to letters,⁹⁷ and the failure of the court to find on a matter not in issue will not render the judgment erroneous.⁹⁸ Where an application to set aside letters of administration involves the marital relations between decedent and the administratrix, the surrogate's court will move with caution, especially since it has no direct authority to annul or dissolve marriage relationships.⁹⁹ On a summary application to revoke letters of administration with the will annexed, the surrogate will not pass on a doubtful question as to the construction of the will which is pending before the supreme court, but the proceeding will be dismissed without prejudice,¹ and where a will is offered for probate after the issuance of letters of administration, revocation should not be ordered until it is determined that the will is entitled to probate.²

The application may be denied because of the practical situation existing in the estate,³ as where the estate is ready for a final decree of distribution⁴ and the rights of all parties can be protected in an accounting proceeding.⁵ Also, where letters of administration were issued without a bond, the court could order the filing of a bond, if necessary, without revoking the letters.⁶

1. Judgment, Order, or Decree

In order that letters testamentary or of administration may be revoked, there must be an order of court to that effect and it must comply with statutory requirements.

In order that letters testamentary or of administration may be revoked, it is necessary that there be an order of court to that effect.⁷ The order must show compliance with statutory requirements,⁸ and must be supported by the verdict,⁹ but it is not required to be in any particular form, it being sufficient if it shows a purpose that the powers of the 92. Kan.—In re Holloway, 164 P. 298, 100 Kan. 368.

93. N.Y.—In re Irving's Estate, 276 N.Y.S. 427, 153 Misc. 807.

94. N.J.—In re Queen, 89 A. 290, 82 N.J.Eq. 583.

95. Ala.—Tubbs v. Barnard, 143 So. 448, 225 Ala. 435.
23 C.J. p 1106 note 5.

Fraud in obtaining appointment

Surrogate's court, on application for revocation of letters of administration, had jurisdiction to determine whether assignment of petitioners' interest in estate was procured by fraud.—In re Caplan's Estate, 249 N.Y.S. 110, 139 Misc. 142, reversed on other grounds 258 N.Y.S. 570, 236 App.Div. 302, affirmed 184 N.E. 141, 260 N.Y. 674.

Judgment and deed canceled

Where judgment appointing administrator is void for fraud to which grantee in administrator's deed was party or of which grantee knew at time of purchase, both judgment and deed may be canceled in suit in equity against administrator and grantee.—Jackson v. Jackson, 177 S.E. 591, 179 Ga. 698.

96. N.Y.—In re Sweeney's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 174, 125 Misc. 859.
23 C.J. p 1106 note 6.

Validity of will

Charges that will offered for probate by administrator was product of forgery, fraud, and undue influence could not be determined in proceeding for removal of administrator.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

Validity of claims of creditors

In suit by alleged creditors of estate to annul appointment of administrator, question of validity of claims of creditors was not before the court.—Crawford County v. Kock's Estate, 290 N.W. 682, 227 Iowa 1235.

Priority of third person

The priority of a person to appointment will not be considered where he did not join in the petition for revocation.—Tyer v. J. B. Blades Lumber Co., 124 S.E. 305, 188 N.C. 268.

97. Iowa.—In re King, 75 N.W. 187, 105 Iowa 320.
23 C.J. p 1106 note 7.

98. Ind.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

99. N.Y.—Matter of Spondre, 162 N.Y.S. 943, 98 Misc. 524.

1. N.Y.—Matter of Dunn, 118 N.Y.S. 561, 63 Misc. 180.

2. Tex.—In re Fowler's Estate, Civ. App., 87 S.W.2d 896, error dismissed.

3. N.Y.—In re Feciuch's Estate, 21 N.Y.S.2d 424—In re Lohman's Estate, 290 N.Y.S. 964, 160 Misc. 929, affirmed 288 N.Y.S. 1047, 248 App.

Div. 556—In re Irving's Estate, 276 N.Y.S. 427, 153 Misc. 807.

Few persons before court

Application for order revoking letters of temporary administration, on ground deceased was resident of another county, should be denied, where relatively few of interested persons were before court and question of residence had been raised in probate proceedings.—In re Wendel's Estate, 257 N.Y.S. 97, 143 Misc. 817.

4. N.Y.—Matter of Baldasarro, 156 N.Y.S. 175, 92 Misc. 627.

Pa.—In re Bechtold's Estate, 57 Montg.Co. 295, 55 York Leg.Rec. 105.

5. N.Y.—In re Chinsky's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 666, 159 Misc. 591.

6. N.Y.—In re Caplan's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 570, 236 App.Div. 302, reversing 249 N.Y.S. 110, 139 Misc. 142, and affirmed 184 N.E. 141, 260 N.Y. 674.

7. Mo.—State v. Rucker, 59 Mo. 17.

Order construed

Order refusing letters of administration may be held as to surety, revocation of prior order at same term appointing administratrix.—Holland v. Reburn, Mo.App., 52 S.W. 2d 219.

8. Alaska.—Sylvester v. Willson, 2 Alaska 325.

9. Ga.—Rainey v. Moon, 2 S.E.2d 405, 187 Ga. 712.

representative shall cease.¹⁰ An order revoking letters is sufficiently supported where entered for two reasons, one of which was good.¹¹ It is proper to incorporate in a decree of revocation an order requiring the property to be turned over to a designated officer for safe custody,¹² or to incorporate an order for the issuance of letters to the persons who are entitled thereto.¹³ An order revoking letters granted while a previous valid appointment was in force need not make any direction concerning the acts of the administrator done in pursuance of the invalid appointment.¹⁴

Collateral attack. An order dismissing a petition for revocation of letters on the ground that administrator was not decedent's surviving spouse was held not conclusive of such issue so that it could not be raised on distribution.¹⁵

J. Review

General rules apply on review of orders revoking or refusing to revoke letters testamentary or of administration.

10. S.C.—McLaurin v. Thompson, 23 S.C.L. 335.

23 C.J. p 1107 note 27.

11. Colo.—In re Woody's Estate, 24 P.2d 754, 93 Colo. 169.

12. Pa.—In re Huff's Estate, 149 A. 179, 299 Pa. 200.

Right to have accounts settled

Where one will was admitted to probate and individual was appointed executor, but, after individual had qualified as executor, the will naming him as executor was set aside on ground that it was not testator's last will, county court exceeded its jurisdiction in thereafter ordering individual to turn over assets of estate forthwith to trust company named as executor in a subsequent will, before giving individual a chance to have his accounts passed on.—In re Blyman's Estate, 32 N.E. 2d 637, 309 Ill.App. 30.

13. N.Y.—Matter of Blauvelt, 131 N. Y.S. 111, 72 Misc. 287.

Pa.—In re Neidig, 38 A. 1033, 183 Pa. 492.

14. Ill.—In re Purvechio, 188 Ill. App. 81.

15. Pa.—In re Boytor's Estate, 198 A. 484, 130 Pa.Super. 591.

16. Ala.—Starlin v. Love, 185 So. 380, 237 Ala. 38.

Mo.—In re Crooks' Estate, App., 138 S.W.2d 6.

Or.—State v. Taswell, 283 P. 745, 132 Or. 122.

3 C.J. p 646 note 17—23 C.J. p 1107 note 31.

Suspension order

(1) An order of the probate court, entered when a suit to contest a will was filed in the circuit court suspending the executor appointed under the will and appointing a temporary administrator, is appealable to the circuit court under a statute allowing appeals from all orders revoking letters testamentary or of administration, since the effect of the order was to revoke the letters testamentary, temporarily, at least.—Leahy v. Mercantile Trust Co., 247 S.W. 396, 296 Mo. 561.

(2) Where the probate court in one order appointed an administrator pendente lite, and suspended the letters testamentary previously issued to the executor during the pendency of the will contest, the executor could appeal from the portion of the order suspending its letters without involving the portion appointing the administrator pendente lite.—Baker v. St. Louis Union Trust Co., Mo. App., 234 S.W. 858.

Executors removed without hearing on filing of a will contest and appointment of an administrator pendente lite were entitled to appeal.—State ex rel. and to Use of Kotany v. Holtcamp, Mo., 277 S.W. 907.

17. Colo.—Peters v. Peters, 261 P. 874, 82 Colo. 503.

Minn.—In re Firlie's Estate, 253 N.W.

889, 191 Minn. 233.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 33.

18. Ala.—Johnston v. Pierson, 155 So. 695, 229 Ala. 85.

Md.—Stake v. Stake, 113 A. 591, 138 Md. 51.

Mo.—In re Helm's Estate, App., 136 S.W.2d 427.

Mont.—In re Davis, 28 P. 645, 11 Mont. 196.

While appeals generally in probate proceedings have been treated in Appeal and Error § 146 et seq, ordinarily an appeal will lie from a decree revoking letters testamentary or of administration,¹⁶ and, although there is authority to the contrary,¹⁷ an order refusing to revoke letters is also held appealable.¹⁸ However, an appeal can be taken only by parties in interest who are aggrieved by the action of the trial court,¹⁹ and while a representative whose letters have been revoked ordinarily has been held an aggrieved party,²⁰ a stranger to the estate who was appointed administrator, knowing that the appointment was subject to revocation if any one of the preferred class should apply, has been held not entitled to appeal,²¹ nor can an administrator appeal from revocation of his letters on the admission of a will to probate, where none of his acts were impeached and his right to compensation is left open,²² and an executor cannot appeal from an order setting aside his appointment because the will was set aside and not because of misconduct or neglect of duty.²³ Also, a representative cannot secure

Utah.—In re Tasanen, 71 P. 984, 25 Utah 396.

Wash.—In re Sutton, 71 P. 1012, 31 Wash. 340.

3 C.J. p 570 note 44 [b] (11), (12)—23 C.J. p 1108 note 32.

Special administrator

Order of probate court denying motion to strike an appointment of a special administratrix of an estate was not appealable.—Wiley v. Braggs, 57 P.2d 315, 47 Ariz. 526.

19. Tex.—Saras v. Strickland, Civ. App., 148 S.W.2d 865, error dismissed, judgment correct. 23 C.J. p 1108 note 35.

Waiver of right to object

Failure to demur below to a petition to set aside the appointment of an administrator has been held to be a waiver of the objection that the petitioner cannot appeal from a denial of his petition, because not a party to the probate proceedings.—In re Tasanen, 71 P. 984, 25 Utah 396.

20. D.C.—Webb v. Lohnes, 96 F.2d 582, 68 App.D.C. 310.

Mo.—In re Crooks' Estate, App., 138 S.W.2d 6.

Tex.—Saras v. Strickland, Civ.App., 148 S.W.2d 865, error dismissed, judgment correct.

21. Ind.—Union Savings & Trust Co. v. Eddingfield, 134 N.E. 497, 78 Ind.App. 286.

22. N.C.—In re Suskin's Estate, 198 S.E. 661, 662, 214 N.C. 219, citing Corpus Juris.

Wash.—Cairns v. Donahy, 109 P. 334, 59 Wash. 130.

23. Mo.—Lucitt v. Toohey's Estate, 89 S.W.2d 662, 338 Mo. 343.

review of a decision postponing the hearing of a petition for revocation of letters testamentary until after an accounting ordered by the court.²⁴ An order refusing to dismiss a proceeding for revocation of letters was held not appealable as affecting a substantial right,²⁵ and dismissal of a motion to set aside an order appointing an administrator was held not appealable where it would not finally dispose of the cause.²⁶ The representative's right of appeal from an order revoking his letters can be taken only as an individual.²⁷

General rules are applied on review of proceedings for the revocation of letters testamentary or of administration,²⁸ and statutory requirements and rules of court must of course be complied with.²⁹

Effect of appeal. While an appeal from an order of revocation has been held not to suspend its effect,³⁰ at least where a statute so provides,³¹ it has also been held that an appeal from a decree of revocation suspends the operation of the decree and leaves the executor or administrator in office as before.³² Appeals from orders dismissing petitions for removal of coexecutors have been held not to stay such proceedings as could be consistently carried on,³³ and the lower court has been held to have jurisdiction to enter a nunc pro tunc order correcting a prior order removing a representative, even though an appeal therefrom is pending.³⁴

Hearing on appeal. On appeal the matter is sometimes tried de novo,³⁵ and the court has jurisdiction to determine all issues involved.³⁶ However, where the higher court exercises a strictly appellate jurisdiction it will not consider objections which were not raised in the court below,³⁷ nor matters which are not assigned as error,³⁸ or which could not properly be considered by the lower court,³⁹ and where letters of administration issued to a creditor of deceased were properly revoked, an appellate

24. N.Y.—In re Kelly, 137 N.Y.S. 1099, 153 App.Div. 322.

25. N.Y.—In re Kelly, supra.

26. Ga.—Vanzant v. First Nat. Bank, 139 S.E. 537, 164 Ga. 772.

27. Nev.—In re Pedrol's Estate, 193 P. 852, 44 Nev. 258.

Appeal not in individual capacity

Notice of appeal and undertaking on appeal by one "as administrator" from an order revoking his letters of administration cannot be considered as an appeal by such administrator in his individual capacity, and he will not be permitted to perfect an appeal in his individual capacity, under a statute which provides that no appeal shall be dismissed for insufficiency of a notice of appeal or undertaking thereon.—In re Pedrol's Estate, supra.

28. Certiorari

Where losing party in proceedings for appointment of administrator filed petition to revoke letters of administrator, such petition would be treated as motion for new trial, as respects such party's right to bring certiorari.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, 35 P.2d 1095, 179 Wash. 55.

29. Wash.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, supra.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 36 [a].

Time for review

(1) Certiorari was held not to lie to review order of superior court refusing to revoke letters of administrator, where proceedings for certiorari were instituted forty four days after order appointing administrator was entered.—State ex rel. Barry v. Superior Court in and for King County, supra.

(2) The action of the trial court in proceeding on petition for removal of administrator, in permitting filing of cross complaint after issue joined and tried on petition had been decided, could not have effect of changing issue theretofore presented and determined and of changing effect of judgment denying petition from a final one to a mere "interlocutory judgment" as respects the time within which appeal was required to be taken.—McCool v. Old Nat. Bank in Evansville, 17 N.E.2d 820, 214 Ind. 679.

30. Ind.—Union Savings & Trust Co. v. Eddingfield, 134 N.E. 497, 78 Ind.App. 286.

31. N.Y.—Aubuchon v. Murphy, 118 N.Y.S. 553, 64 Misc. 286.

32. Md.—Biddison v. Story, 57 Md. 96.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 37.

33. Md.—Robinson v. Robinson, 16 A.2d 854, 178 Md. 623.

34. Ark.—Davie v. Smoot, 150 S.W. 2d 50.

35. Ill.—Healea v. Verne, 175 N.E. 562, 343 Ill. 325.

N.Y.—In re Murtha's Estate, 249 N.Y.S. 537, 232 App.Div. 285, reversing 243 N.Y.S. 225, 136 Misc. 424, and reversed on other grounds 182 N.E. 82, 259 N.Y. 456.—In re Shonts' Will, 181 N.Y.S. 553, 191 App.Div. 427, reversing In re Shonts' Estate, 178 N.Y.S. 762, 109 Misc. 276, reversed on other grounds In re Shonts' Will, 128 N.E. 225, 229 N.Y. 374.

Tex.—Saros v. Strickland, Civ.App., 148 S.W.2d 865, error dismissed, judgment correct.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 39.

36. Tex.—Saros v. Strickland, supra.

Making appointment permanent

Where proceedings for appointment of administrator went over more than three terms of probate court after its appointment of applicant as temporary administrator, without contest other than one on which appeal from order revoking such appointment was based, district court, after determining such contest in appointee's favor on jury's findings, should have made his appointment permanent.—Saros v. Strickland, supra.

37. Ala.—Bivin v. Millsap, 189 So. 770, 238 Ala. 136.

Cal.—In re Randall, 170 P. 835, 177 Cal. 363.

38. Ariz.—In re Gerard's Estate, 72 P.2d 952, 50 Ariz. 458, 113 A.L.R. 776.

Issuance of letters presumed proper

In proceeding to revoke letters of administration, in which the petition for revocation did not assail their issuance on the ground that deceased died without leaving any estate, it will be presumed, in the absence of the record of jurisdictional facts requisite to the granting in the first instance of the letters of administration, that the order granting letters of administration was made on a proper and sufficient showing that deceased died leaving an estate in the state.—In re Cover's Estate, 204 P. 583, 188 Cal. 133.

39. Mo.—In re Greening's Estate, 89 S.W.2d 123, 232 Mo.App. 78.

Finding in proceeding for appointment

On appeal in revocation proceedings, the appellate court cannot review a finding made in the proceeding for appointment of the representative.—McLaughlin v. Feerick, 176 N.E. 779, 276 Mass. 180.

court will not on appeal from the order of revocation review the discretion of the trial court in appointing a successor.⁴⁰ Ordinarily, the appellate court cannot consider questions relating to the weight of evidence and the credibility of witnesses,⁴¹ and the findings of the court have been held to have the force of a jury verdict, and can be set aside on appeal only when clearly against the weight of the evidence.⁴² The appellate court will assume that the trial court found facts sufficient to support his action,⁴³ where the evidence is not before the appellate court,⁴⁴ and where an order denying revocation was rendered on the pleadings, the appellate court will take as true the facts alleged in the petition, answer, and response to the citation.⁴⁵

Disposition of cause. An appellate court is not inclined to reverse the action of the court below where the appeal was not seasonable,⁴⁶ or the court of review has not before it all the evidence on which the revocation was based,⁴⁷ where different conclusions can be drawn from the evidence,⁴⁸ or the finding below is based on the examination of witnesses ore tenus,⁴⁹ or where it does not appear manifest that the lower court abused its discretion,⁵⁰ or disregarded its duty in the premises.⁵¹ However, an order revoking letters testamentary may be reversed where it appears to have been founded in part on the refusal of the executor to account as to a matter for which he was not accountable,⁵² or where "the justice of the case" may require a reversal.⁵³

Where the appeal is dismissed on the sole ground that appellant is not entitled to appeal, the decree stands as if not appealed from.⁵⁴

k. Costs and Allowances

The imposition of costs in a proceeding to revoke letters is a matter largely within the discretion of the court.

The imposition of costs in proceedings to revoke letters is a matter largely within the discretion of the court.⁵⁵ A representative who successfully defends against a proceeding to revoke his letters may be allowed reasonable counsel fees and expenses out of the estate,⁵⁶ but ordinarily no such allowance should be made to a representative whose letters are revoked because of his own misconduct or fault.⁵⁷

40. Wash.—In re Farnham, 84 P. 602, 41 Wash. 570.

41. Wash.—In re Olson's Estate, 77 P.2d 781, 194 Wash. 219.

Appeal from intermediate court

A petition to revoke letters testamentary or of administration is properly heard and determined by the superior court on appeal from the clerk of such court, and the findings of fact made by the judge on competent evidence are conclusive on appeal therefrom.—In re Finlayson's Estate, 173 S.E. 902, 206 N.C. 362.—In re Ryan's Estate, 122 S.E. 289, 187 N.C. 569.—In re Martin's Estate, 117 S.E. 561, 185 N.C. 472.

42. Pa.—In re Bechtold's Estate, 57 Montg.Co. 295, 55 York Leg.Rec. 105.

Finding clearly against evidence

N.Y.—In re Curtis' Estate, 185 N.Y. S. 507, 194 App.Div. 334, affirmed 132 N.E. 917, 231 N.Y. 632.

43. Pa.—In re Bechtold's Estate, 57 Montg.Co. 295, 55 York Leg.Rec. 105.

Tex.—Saras v. Strickland, Civ.App., 148 S.W.2d 865, error dismissed, judgment correct.

Sufficiency of citation

In absence of showing that interested parties were not notified, it is presumed probate court made findings of fact to give jurisdiction to vacate former decree appointing administrator.—Capwell v. Knight, 135 A. 699, 48 R.I. 81.

44. Ariz.—In re Perrin's Estate, 86 P.2d 25, 53 Ariz. 127.

Nev.—In re Gill's Estate, 280 P. 321, 52 Nev. 35, 65 A.L.R. 1232.

45. Or.—In re Vilas' Estate, 110 P. 2d 940.

46. Ala.—Mitchell v. Duncan, 10 So 331, 94 Ala. 192.

N.J.—Delany v. Noble, 3 N.J.Eq. 559.

47. Nev.—In re McGill's Estate, 280 P. 321, 52 Nev. 35, 65 A.L.R. 1232. 23 C.J. p 1108 note 42.

48. Cal.—In re Watterson's Estate, 20 P.2d 772, 130 Cal.App. 741.

49. Ala.—Moring v. Lisenby, 4 So.2d 4, 241 Ala. 626.

50. Iowa.—In re Wright's Estate, 230 N.W. 552, 210 Iowa 25.

Okl.—Andrews v. Hooper, 280 P. 424, 138 Okl. 103.

Wis.—In re Reilly's Estate, 243 N.W. 506, 208 Wis. 557.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 43.

Estate ready for distribution

Order denying petition that letters of administration be revoked and that letters be issued to petitioner who had statutory preference thereto will not be disturbed on appeal, where estate was small and was ready for distribution.—In re Esterly's Estate, 34 P.2d 539, 97 Mont. 206.

51. Pa.—Wilkey's Appeal, 108 Pa. 567.

52. N.Y.—Matter of Pye, 43 N.Y.S. 836, 18 App.Div. 309.

53. Colo.—In re Peters' Estate, 215 P. 128, 73 Colo. 271.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 47.

54. Mass.—Cleveland v. Gully, 128 Mass. 578.

55. Mass.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 49.

Public administrator, unsuccessfully seeking removal of administratrix, was entitled to reasonable costs and expenses out of estate.—Hilton v. Hopkins, supra.

Representative not liable

Where defendant was appointed an administrator of deceased person in a county in which deceased did not reside, and, acting in good faith, took charge of deceased's property, and disposed of it according to orders of the court and did not profit by his appointment, he was not liable for court costs and attorney's fees incident to an action by a regularly appointed administrator to set aside his appointment.—Duhaime v. Rowe, 188 N.W. 894, 193 Iowa 1123.

56. N.Y.—In re Sanders' Estate, 227 N.Y.S. 543, 131 Misc. 266.

23 C.J. p 1108 note 50.

57. Ga.—Armstrong v. Boyd, 79 S.E. 780, 140 Ga. 710.

Irrespective of illegality of appointment of administrator nominated by nonresident stepmother of deceased, on his retention as temporary administrator after his appointment was annulled, all legitimate costs and expenses incurred by reason of the proceeding were properly charged to the estate, including fees of clerk of court, publishing notice, premium on administrator's bond, cost of litigation over the appointment and fees of attorney who pro-

However, an administrator has been allowed reasonable costs which were taxed against the petitioners for revocation where they failed to make known the disqualification until administration was practically completed, although they had knowledge of the disqualification at the time of the appointment.⁵⁸

§ 86. — Powers of Representative pending Proceeding for Revocation

The powers of a representative pending proceedings for revocation of his letters are sometimes regulated by statute.*

Under a statute providing that, pending proceedings for the revocation of probate, the executor must suspend all proceedings relating to the estate except for the recovery or preservation of property, the collection and payment of debts, and such other acts as he is expressly allowed to perform by an order of the surrogate, the mere fact that the executor, pending such proceedings, has withdrawn or proposes to withdraw from a savings bank money deposited by the testator, affords no warrant for the interposition of the surrogate to restrain him.⁵⁹

§ 87. — Effect of Revocation

Revocation of letters testamentary or of administration terminates the authority of the representative and while it does not invalidate acts done in good faith, neither does it relieve him from liability for prior acts.

The revocation of letters testamentary or of administration terminates the authority of the representative,⁶⁰ but the revocation of the appointment of an administrator does not ipso facto terminate the right of a coadministrator to act, although the latter was appointed merely on the consent of the removed administrator and had no independent right to be appointed.⁶¹ Acts done in good faith by an executor or administrator in the course of administration remain valid and binding, notwithstanding a subsequent revocation of his letters,⁶² and the representative is entitled to be reimbursed for moneys which he has expended and services which he has rendered in good faith pursuant to his appointment, as shown infra §§ 221, 855. On the other hand the revocation does not shield the representative from liability for his previous official acts.⁶³ On the revocation of his letters the representative may be required to settle his account, as shown infra § 831, and such revocation does not deprive him of his statutory right of appeal from an order settling his accounts, discussed infra § 926.

The clerk of the probate court, whose fees are unpaid, is not prejudiced by the revocation of the letters issued to an administrator when a new administrator is appointed, the clerk's remedy to enforce collection being still open.⁶⁴

§ 88. — Issuance of New Letters

On revocation of letters testamentary or of administration, the court may grant new letters, sometimes to the same person.

On the revocation of letters of administration the surrogate is authorized to grant new letters to other persons,⁶⁵ but if the estate has been settled or partly settled by the former incumbent the new letters should be de bonis non.⁶⁶ Where the order revoking letters was void, new letters issued to another person are also void.⁶⁷

Reappointment of original representative. It has been held that when letters testamentary have been revoked there is no authority for issuing new letters to the executor,⁶⁸ but it has also been held that the revocation of letters of administration does not disqualify the person removed from being reappointed,⁶⁹ provided no other person has been appointed meanwhile.⁷⁰

§ 89. Removal

The court has considerable discretion in determining whether or not an executor or administrator shall be removed and is reluctant to remove where no strong cause therefor exists.

voked the appointment.—Succession of Hair, La.App., 195 So. 43.

58. U.S.—In re Allen's Estate, D.C. D.C., 30 F.Supp. 243.

59. N.Y.—Bray v. Smith, 1 Dem. Surr. 168.

60. N.Y.—Belden v. Belden, 103 N. Y.S. 346, 118 App.Div. 296. 23 C.J. p 1109 note 54.

61. N.Y.—In re McDonald, 105 N.E. 407, 211 N.Y. 272, affirming 145 N.Y.S. 267, 160 App.Div. 86, which reversed 148 N.Y.S. 775, 82 Misc. 135, and rehearing denied 108 N.E. 1035, 212 N.Y. 552.

62. Alaska.—In re Person's Estate, 7 Alaska 489.

Conn.—Di Blasi v. Di Blasi, 159 A. 477, 114 Conn. 539.

Fla.—State ex rel. Everette v. Pette-way, 179 So. 666, 131 Fla. 516. 23 C.J. p 1085 note 57, p 1109 note 56.

63. N.Y.—Matter of Ablowich, 103 N.Y.S. 699, 118 App.Div. 626. 23 C.J. p 1109 note 58. Liability of sureties on bond see infra § 957.

64. Ark.—Adamson v. Parker, 85 S. W. 239, 74 Ark. 168.

65. R.I.—Capwell v. Knight, 135 A. 699, 48 R.I. 81. 23 C.J. p 1109 note 62.

Notice
Probate court on revoking appointment of administrator could not appoint new administrator without giving notice by advertisement to interested parties.—Capwell v. Knight, supra.

66. N.Y.—Harrison v. Clark, 87 N. Y. 572.

67. Alaska.—Sylvester v. Willson, 2 Alaska 325.

68. N.Y.—Matter of Dearing, 4 Dem. Surr. 81.

23 C.J. p 1109 note 65.

69. N.Y.—Barber v. Converse, 1 Redf.Surr. 330.

23 C.J. p 1110 note 66.

70. N.Y.—Williams' Case, 18 Abb. Pr. 350, Tuck.Surr. 8.

23 C.J. p 1110 note 67.

An executor or administrator is subject to the jurisdiction of the probate court and may be removed from his office whenever a proper occasion arises,⁷¹ and one of two or more joint executors or administrators may be removed, leaving the others in office without him,⁷² but a representative will not be removed except for legal and specific causes.⁷³ The court is usually invested with considerable discretion in determining whether or not an executor or administrator shall be removed,⁷⁴ and is reluctant to remove where no strong cause therefor exists, and it does not clearly appear that retaining the representative in office will jeopardize the interests of the estate.⁷⁵

Since an administrator is appointed by the court whereas an executor is designated by the testator, the court may remove an administrator for a cause which would not justify removal of an executor or a refusal to permit the executor to qualify.⁷⁶

Revocation of letters testamentary or of administration and the distinction between revocation and removal are discussed supra §§ 84-88.

§ 90. — Grounds for Removal

- a. In general
- b. Misconduct in general
- c. Failure to file inventory, accounts, etc.
- d. Insolvency; default as to giving of bond
- e. Hostile or adverse interests
- f. Miscellaneous grounds not warranting removal

a. In General

Removal is ordinarily proper whenever the representative proves to be incapable of discharging his trust or unsuitable for the office. Statutory grounds for removal of an executor or administrator are usually exclusive.

The removal of an executor or administrator is ordinarily regulated by statute, and a statute specifying the grounds of removal is usually held to preclude a removal on grounds not specified,⁷⁷ but there is also authority for the view that such a statute

71. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

Neb.—In re McLean's Estate, 295 N. W. 273, 138 Neb. 757.

N.Y.—In re Cagliano's Estate, 23 N. Y.S.2d 47, 260 App.Div. 926, reargument denied 24 N.Y.S.2d 1011, 260 App.Div. 1028.

23 C.J. p 1110 note 69.

72. S.C.—Smith v. Heyward, 105 S.E. 275, 115 S.C. 145.

23 C.J. p 1110 note 70.

73. Md.—Fulford v. Fulford, 137 A. 487, 153 Md. 81.

Miss.—Ricks v. Johnson, 99 So. 142, 134 Miss. 676.

23 C.J. p 1110 notes 71, 72.

74. Conn.—Carroll v. Arnold, 141 A. 657, 107 Conn. 535.

Ga.—Stanley v. Spell, 166 S.E. 669, 46 Ga.App. 91.

Iowa.—In re Lininger's Estate, 297 N. W. 310—In re Myers' Estate, 294 N.W. 235, 229 Iowa 170—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103—In re Amick's Estate, 281 N.W. 786, 225 Iowa 829.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

Or.—In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P.2d 1045, 156 Or. 23.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

Wash.—In re Wolfe's Estate, 57 P.2d 1066, 186 Wash. 216.

Wis.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N.W. 363, 183 Wis. 506.

23 C.J. p 1116 note 29.

Statutes directory

Cal.—In re Calhoun's Estate, 81 P. 2d 605, 27 Cal.App.2d 706—In re Atkins' Estate, 8 P.2d 1052, 121 Cal. App. 251.

75. Iowa.—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103.

N.Y.—In re Rosenberg's Will, 209 N. Y.S. 315, 213 App.Div. 167.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

Or.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1029, 134 Or. 33, 72 A.L.R. 949.

Pa.—In re Glessner's Estate, 22 A.2d 701, 343 Pa. 370—In re Hartman's Estate, 200 A. 49, 331 Pa. 422—In re Hurley's Estate, 169 A. 81, 313 Pa. 53.

23 C.J. p 1116 note 30.

Pa.—In re Scholler's Estate, 55 Montg.Co. 36.

Removal not required

(1) In general.

Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

N.Y.—In re Phelps' Estate, 295 N.Y.S. 840, 162 Misc. 703.

Pa.—In re Scholler's Estate, 55 Montg.Co. 36.

(2) An objection not made until the representative had administered the estate and filed the first and final account was held properly dismissed.—In re Purman's Estate, 5 A. 2d 906, 334 Pa. 238—23 C.J. p 1116 note 30 [e].

(3) The refusal to remove executors, who administered estate in disregard of statutory provisions and who had delayed distribution for seven years, was not a breach of discretion, where seven-year delay was contributed to by heirs' acquiescence in proceedings of executors, and change in executors would merely delay distribution, which was all that remained to be done by executors.—

In re Ryan's Estate, 96 P.2d 916, 109 Mont. 340.

76. Ky.—Kuechler v. Rubbathen, 99 S.W.2d 193, 266 Ky. 390.

Real danger of substantial loss

A testator has, as a "property right," the privilege and power to place management of his estate with a selected person as a condition of his bounty, and for a court to remove an executor, there must appear a situation where the estate is in real danger of substantial loss if executor is not removed.—In re Glessner's Estate, 22 A.2d 701, 343 Pa. 370.

77. Ala.—Castleberry v. Hollingsworth, 111 So. 35, 215 Ala. 445.

D.C.—Hawley v. Hawley, 114 F.2d 505, 72 App.D.C. 357.

Mo.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

N.Y.—In re Shenk's Estate, 211 N.Y. S. 514, 125 Misc. 386.

Wis.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N.W. 363, 183 Wis. 506.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 57.

One cause sufficient

The existence of one of the causes enumerated in the statute is sufficient to authorize removal.—In re Lussem's Estate, 2 N.E.2d 113, 285 Ill. App. 311.

Nothing less than mental or physical disability, rendering an executor incapable of understanding or performing his duties, or dishonesty in money matters, from which it might be inferred that the estate will be put in jeopardy, is sufficient to justify removal, under some statutes.—In re Jung's Will, 199 N.Y.S. 123, 205 App.Div. 37.

does not have this effect or preclude a removal where sufficient reasons therefore exist although not specified by the statute.⁷⁸ Removal of an executor or administrator is ordinarily proper whenever from any cause he proves to be incapable of discharging his trust or unsuitable for the office⁷⁹ or becomes disqualified on grounds not existing when the letters were issued to him or the appointment made,⁸⁰ or such removal becomes advisable for the interest of the estate.⁸¹ The marriage of an executrix or administratrix is sometimes made a ground for her removal,⁸² unless her husband consents in writing to her continuance in the office.⁸³ An offer to resign may constitute cause for removal.⁸⁴

Change of residence or absence from state. It may be proper to remove an executor or administrator who has removed his residence away from the state in which letters were granted,⁸⁵ unless his residence outside of the state is only temporary,⁸⁶

but, where the appointee was a nonresident at the time when letters were issued to him, his continued nonresidence is not a ground for removal,⁸⁷ nor should an executrix, who is the sole beneficiary of the decedent, be removed because she has been absent from the state for the greater part of the year following the issue of letters where she has performed during that time all the statutory duties of her trust, and the year has not yet expired.⁸⁸ Remoteness of his residence from the place where the property of the estate is located, he being a resident of the state, is not ground for removal.⁸⁹

Coexecutors and coadministrators. It has been held that an executor will be removed on the application of his coexecutor where he fails to do his part in the management of the estate, and there are constant dissensions between the executors, and it is evident that his continuance in office will prejudice the best interests of the estate,⁹⁰ but where

78. N.M.—Koury v. Castillo, 79 P. 293, 13 N.M. 26.

79. D.C.—Bramhall v. Brosnan, 5 F. 2d 270, 55 App.D.C. 309.

Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

Neb.—In re McLean's Estate, 295 N. W. 273, 138 Neb. 757.

Or.—In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P. 2d 1045, 156 Or. 23.

Pa.—In re Fleming's Estate, 32 Pa. Dist. & Co. 245, affirmed 5 A.2d 599, 135 Pa.Super. 423.

23 C.J. p 1110 note 73.

Misconduct not necessary

"Unsuitableness" of administrator to act as a fiduciary within statute is sufficient without misconduct supplying cause for removal, and is not restricted to absolute unfitness, but includes an unfitness arising out of the situation of the person in connection with the estate.—Comstock v. Bowles, 3 N.E.2d 817, 295 Mass. 250.

Legal disqualification

Word "unfit," within statute providing for revocation of letters of administration on showing that administrator is unfit for trust, is not limited to physical, mental, or moral conditions, but sufficiently broad to include legal disqualification under will or otherwise.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S.E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.

Unsuitableness at time of appointment

(1) An executor or administrator may be removed on proof of unsuitableness, notwithstanding he was equally unsuitable when appointed or qualified.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N.W. 363, 183 Wis. 506—23 C.J. p 1110 note 73 [c].

(2) Under statute, court may remove coexecutor for acts committed after qualification or for acts committed after testator's death before qualification.—In re McCabe's Estate, 171 A. 156, 12 N.J.Misc. 297.

(3) However, it has also been held that removal can be had only for causes arising after appointment.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

Unsuitableness must exist at time of removal

(1) The question whether a representative is unsuitable is to be determined when the question of removal arises.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N. W. 363, 183 Wis. 506—23 C.J. p 1110 note 73 [b].

(2) An administrator should not be removed merely on a showing that he was unfit for appointment in the first instance, in the absence of proof that he has been guilty of any improper acts or neglect of duty.—Sayles v. Steere, R.I., 85 A. 929.

(3) Matters occurring prior to the appointment of an administrator and having no connection with the administration cannot furnish grounds for removal.—In re Lipko's Estate, 12 Pa.Dist. & Co. 801—23 C.J. p 1117 note 51.

Statute construed

In construing a statute providing for removal of an executor or administrator who has become of unsound mind, or has been convicted of any felony or other infamous crime, or has absented himself from the state for a specified period or has become an habitual drunkard, or is "in any wise incapable or unsuitable to execute the trust reposed in him," the quoted phrase is complete within itself, and does not, under the principle of ejusdem generis, cover merely causes similar to those enumerated.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

80. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S.E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.
23 C.J. p 1110 note 74.

81. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

Ky.—Hancock's Adm'r v. Hancock's Ex'r, 79 S.W.2d 206, 257 Ky. 739.
Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

Ohio.—In re Jordan's Estate, 30 Ohio N.P.N.S., 176.

Pa.—In re McGrath's Estate, 20 Pa. Dist. & Co. 121, 49 Montg. Co. 274, reversed on other grounds 179 A. 599, 319 Pa. 309.

23 C.J. p 1111 note 75.

82. Ga.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S. E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.
23 C.J. p 1111 note 76.

83. Ind.—Jenkins v. Jenkins, 23 Ind. 79.

84. Minn.—Rumrill v. St. Albans First Nat. Bank, 9 N.W. 731, 28 Minn. 202.

85. Ind.—Ewing v. Ewing, 38 Ind. 390.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 94, p 1103 note 44.

86. N.Y.—Matter of McKnight, 80 N.Y.S. 251, 80 App.Div. 284, affirmed 71 N.E. 1134, 179 N.Y. 522.

87. Wyo.—Hecht v. Carey, 78 P. 705, 13 Wyo. 154, 110 Am.S.R. 981.

23 C.J. p 1113 note 96.

88. N.Y.—In re Magoun, 84 N.Y.S. 940, 41 Misc. 352.

89. Ky.—Rieke v. Rieke, 208 S.W. 764, 183 Ky. 131.

90. Fla.—Henderson v. Ewell, 149 So. 372, 111 Fla. 324.

N.J.—In re McCabe's Estate, 171 A. 156, 12 N.J.Misc. 297.

testator appointed three executors, one of whom was his daughter, the refusal of such executors to transact business of the estate in the presence of the daughter's son, who was her personal attorney, was not ground for their removal at the instance of the daughter, in the absence of a showing that the estate was suffering in any manner from their acts;⁹¹ and where interference with a coexecutor in the management of the estate is set up as a ground for removal the petition will be dismissed where it is shown that petitioner is old and self-willed and that the alleged interference was for the best interests of the estate.⁹²

b. Misconduct in General

Mismanagement, waste, unfaithfulness, maladministration, negligence, or other misconduct in the administration of the estate is usually ground for removal of an executor or administrator.

A representative may be removed for failure to obey an order of court,⁹³ and misconduct of the representative is usually ground for removal⁹⁴ notwithstanding a claim that his violation of duty has benefited the estate,⁹⁵ or the fact that he has made up out of his own funds the loss sustained by the estate,⁹⁶ or that the estate will not suffer loss by his continuance in office.⁹⁷

An executor or administrator may be removed because of his neglect or refusal to perform the duties of his office,⁹⁸ waste,⁹⁹ and, likewise, may be

Pa.—In re Fleming's Estate, 5 A.2d 599, 135 Pa.Super. 423.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 16, p 1110 note 70 [a] (1).

More disagreement insufficient

The mere fact that executors or trustees do not or cannot agree as to the administration of their trust is not sufficient ground for the removal of one or all of them and putting the estate into the hands of a receiver, unless the dissension is carried to the extent of causing injury or loss to the estate, actually or reasonably to be apprehended.—Smith v. Heyward, 105 S.E. 275, 115 S.C. 145—23 C.J. p 1110 note 70 [a] (2).

91. N.Y.—Matter of Waterman, 98 N.Y.S. 583, 112 App.Div. 313, appeal dismissed 78 N.E. 1118, 186 N.Y. 534.

92. Pa.—Bucher's Estate, 18 York Leg.Rec. 31.

93. Iowa.—In re Mead's Estate, 197 N.W. 77, 197 Iowa 295.

Tex.—Ferguson v. Ferguson, Com. App., 23 S.W.2d 673, affirming, Civ. App., 11 S.W.2d 214.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 19.

Decree not filed

Where distributee sought an order of distribution and the orphans' court did not make a decree of distribution but entered an order requiring administratrix to "file" a decree of distribution, the orphans' court erred in adjudging the administratrix in "contempt" and removing her as administratrix, for failure to comply with the order, since decree could not be "filed" until it was made.—In re Bradford's Estate, 16 A.2d 268, 128 N.J.Eq. 372.

No willful refusal

Permitting payment of additional installments of attorney's fees after oral prohibition of surrogate did not amount to willful refusal by executors to obey lawful direction of surrogate contained in decree or order, made ground of removal by statute, in view of fact that formal order made subsequent to oral instructions has been obeyed.—In re Shenk's Estate, 211 N.Y.S. 514, 125 Misc. 386.

94. U.S.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D. C., 121 F.2d 877.

N.J.—In re Herrmann's Estate, 22 A. 2d 262, 130 N.J.Eq. 273.

N.Y.—In re Caggiano's Estate, 23 N.Y.S.2d 47, 260 App.Div. 926, reargument denied 24 N.Y.S.2d 1011, 260 App.Div. 1028.—In re Grossman's Will, 294 N.Y.S. 942, 250 App.Div. 503, affirming In re Grossman's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 323, 157 Misc. 164.

23 C.J. p 1111 note 78.

Misconduct must warrant removal

A representative should not be removed unless guilty of such misconduct as warrants his removal.—In re Phelps' Estate, 295 N.Y.S. 840, 162 Misc. 703.

Friendly to heir

That executor is friendly to an heir or devisee is not ground for removing him where there is no evidence that he let his friendship interfere with his duties.—Scholze v. Scholze, 2 Tenn.App. 80.

95. Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

23 C.J. p 1111 note 79.

96. N.J.—In re Marsh, 56 A. 886.

97. N.Y.—Matter of Engel, 146 N.Y. S. 793, 83 Misc. 675.

98. Md.—Haas v. Reimers, 10 A.2d 705, 177 Md. 567.

Minn.—Matteson v. McClure, 245 N.W. 382, 187 Minn. 291.—In re Lyon's Estate, 221 N.W. 648, 175 Minn. 619.

Or.—Shafford v. Reed, 247 P. 324, 119 Or. 90.

23 C.J. p 1111 note 82.

Removal not authorized

N.J.—In re Hanretty's Estate, 125 A. 563, 96 N.J.Eq. 716, 2 N.J.Misc. 55.

99. Ill.—Edwards v. Lane, 163 N.E. 460, 331 Ill. 442.

Neb.—In re McLean's Estate, 295 N.W. 273, 138 Neb. 757.

Pa.—In re Hartman's Estate, 200 A. 49, 331 Pa. 422.

Tex.—Murphey v. Murphey, Civ.App., 131 S.W.2d 158.

23 C.J. p 1111 note 83.

Circumstances not authorizing removal

(1) In general.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

(2) Executor's refusal to pay taxes on testatrix' personalty and failure to disclose nonpayment to orphans' court, on advice of counsel, on ground of unconstitutionality of tax, was not bad faith or wasting of estate which would warrant executor's removal.—In re Hazeltine's Estate, 182 A. 357, 119 N.J.Eq. 308, reversing 177 A. 108, 13 N.J.Misc. 152, affirmed 187 A. 177, 121 N.J.Eq. 49.

(3) Allowing taxes on decedent's real estate to become defaulted, where the property has been redeemed and the representative surcharged with all penalties and interest paid to effect redemption, was held not to warrant removal.—Pfefferle v. Herr, 71 A. 689, 75 N.J.Eq. 219, 138 Am.S.R. 518, affirmed 79 A. 1119, 77 N.J.Eq. 271.

(4) Alleged misconduct of executors in creating offices in closely held corporation owned by estate and voting to themselves salaries as such officers and directors, in view of fact that amount involved was small and could easily be recovered against executors, did not amount to dishonesty, or justify findings that assets of estate were wasted by executors, justifying their removal from office; and where widow of testator objected to payment of attorneys' bill against corporation, which constituted part of assets of testator's estate, on ground that it was exorbitant, executors should not have compromised claim, but rights of attorneys should have been determined by action at law, with selection of impartial counsel to represent corporation, or by resort to appropriate determination in pro-removed because of his negligence,¹ unfaithfulness,² mismanagement,³ maladministration,⁴ misappropriation of the assets,⁵ or want of integrity,⁶ or because he has committed or is about to commit a fraud on the estate.⁷

A personal representative may be removed for improprieties with regard to the collection or disposition of the assets,⁸ or because of his misconduct respecting the sale of property of the estate,⁹ such ceeding in surrogate's court; but, in view of fact that sum in excess of amounts already paid to attorneys was due, no loss resulted to corporation or to estate, so as to give grounds for removal of executors under statute.—In re Shenk's Estate, 211 N.Y.S. 514, 125 Misc. 386.

1. U.S.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D.C., 121 F.2d 877.

Iowa.—In re Myers' Estate, 294 N.W. 235, 229 Iowa 170.

N.Y.—In re Wagner's Estate, 13 N.Y.S.2d 66, 257 App.Div. 972.

Tex.—Ferguson v. Ferguson, Com. App., 23 S.W.2d 673, affirming, Civ. App., 11 S.W.2d 214.
23 C.J. p 1111 note 84.

More negligence of executor, not resulting in loss to applicant for removal, is not ground for removal.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1029, 134 Or. 33, 72 A.L.R. 949.

Bad faith

Where neglect is cause for removal, bad faith is not an essential factor, but the conduct must have been such as to show him flagrantly derelict.—In re McCabe's Estate, 171 A. 156, 12 N.J.Misc. 297.

Depositing funds

The statute requiring administrators to deposit the funds of the succession in a bank in the parish is mandatory, and noncompliance therewith is ground for dismissal from office.—Boone v. Boone, 92 So. 861, 152 La. 208—23 C.J. p 1111 note 84 [c].

2. D.C.—Bramhall v. Brosnan, 5 F.2d 270, 55 App.D.C. 309.

Iowa.—In re Myers' Estate, 294 N.W. 235, 229 Iowa 170.

N.Y.—In re O'Keefe's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 877, 254 App.Div. 691, affirmed In re O'Keefe's Will, 18 N.E.2d 696, 279 N.Y. 756.

Okl.—King v. Hepburn, 249 P. 924, 121 Okl. 275, followed in Bowling v. Hepburn, 249 P. 925, 121 Okl. 275.
23 C.J. p 1111 note 85.

3. Ariz.—Barth v. Platt, 78 P.2d 995, 52 Ariz. 33.

Cal.—In re Gainfort's Estate, 79 P.2d 97, 11 Cal.2d 298—In re Lomasney's Estate, 64 P.2d 1138, 19 Cal. App.2d 223.

Ill.—In re Busby's Estate, 6 N.E.2d 451, 288 Ill.App. 500.

Iowa.—In re Mead's Estate, 197 N.W. 77, 197 Iowa 295.

Minn.—Matteson v. McClure, 245 N.W. 382, 187 Minn. 291.

N.Y.—In re Rosenberg's Will, 2 N.Y.S.2d 300, 165 Misc. 92—In re Israel's Estate, 2 N.Y.S.2d 170, 166 Misc. 156, affirmed 12 N.Y.S.2d 240, 256 App.Div. 1063, reargument denied 12 N.Y.S.2d 782, 257 App.Div. 817.

Pa.—In re Hartman's Estate, 200 A.49, 331 Pa. 422.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P.947, 76 Utah 566.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 86.

Asking for, or taking, fees

(1) An executor or administrator is not guilty of waste or mismanagement merely because he asks for credit for a portion of his fee in an annual account, rather than waiting until the final account is settled to determine the exact amount which will ultimately be due.—In re Sullivan's Estate, 78 P.2d 132, 51 Ariz. 483.

(2) In proceeding to remove administrator, administrator's withdrawal of funds from estate to pay himself attorney's fees, without compliance with statute, was misapplication and mismanagement of property of estate.—Armstrong v. Anderson, Tex.Civ.App., 55 S.W.2d 235.

Opportunity to recover loan

Executrix who loaned corpus of estate to remaindermen without security should be given opportunity to recover or secure moneys loaned before removal.—In re Uzman's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 49, 143 Misc. 654.

Deposit in private account

Letters of executor should be revoked, and the executor removed where for considerable time he deposited estate funds in employee's bank account in violation of statute.—In re Kramer's Estate, 217 N.Y.S. 335, 127 Misc. 485, affirmed 222 N.Y.S. 836, 220 App.Div. 816.

An independent executor without bond cannot be removed on the ground of neglect or mismanagement, unless, after being required to do so, he fails to execute a bond.—Perkins v. Wood, 63 Tex. 396—Jerrard v. McKenzie, 61 Tex. 40—Hocker v. Stevens, Tex.Civ.App., 42 S.W.2d 473, error dismissed.

Facts not warranting removal

(1) In general.

N.Y.—In re Ledyard's Estate, 21 N.Y.S.2d 860, affirmed In re Ledyard's Will, 20 N.Y.S.2d 1006, 259 App.Div. 892, reargument denied 21 N.Y.S.2d 390, 259 App.Div. 1029 and 24 N.Y.S.2d 780, 261 App.Div. 827.

Pa.—In re Glessner's Estate, 22 A.2d 701, 343 Pa. 370.

(2) Refusal of a petition for removal of an administrator for mismanagement was held proper where he was in a position to make good what he owed the estate and removal would serve no useful purpose since he would then be required to file an account de son tort.—In re Levenight's Estate, 95 Pa.Super. 302.

4. Ala.—Amos v. Toolen, 168 So. 687, 232 Ala. 587.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 87.

5. Minn.—Matteson v. McClure, 245 N.W. 382, 187 Minn. 291.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 88.

6. Utah.—Farnsworth v. Hatch, 151 P. 537, 47 Utah 62.

7. Ariz.—In re Sullivan's Estate, 78 P.2d 132, 51 Ariz. 483.

Ky.—Zinn's Adm'r v. Brown, 10 S.W.2d 300, 225 Ky. 814.

N.Y.—In re Kessler's Estate, 18 N.Y.S.2d 772, 173 Misc. 716.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 90.

Fraud not shown

(1) In general.

Ky.—Trevathan v. Grogan, 276 S.W. 556, 210 Ky. 694.

Or.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1029, 134 Or. 33, 72 A.L.R. 949.

Wash.—In re Ray's Estate, 254 P. 254, 142 Wash. 620.

(2) Executor may seek counsel's advice and assistance in administration of his trust, and, where he acts in good faith and with reasonable prudence in relying on such advice, he is not chargeable with bad faith nor fraud.—In re Hazeltine's Estate, 182 A. 357, 119 N.J.Eq. 308, reversing 177 A. 108, 13 N.J.Misc. 152, affirmed 187 A. 177, 121 N.J.Eq. 49.

(3) It does not follow, from the fact that the first husband of the respondent in a proceeding to revoke letters of administration is still living, that her allegation of widowhood is a false suggestion of material fact, warranting her removal as administratrix.—In re Martinez's Estate, 181 N.Y.S. 907.

8. U.S.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D.C. 121 F.2d 877.

N.Y.—In re Wagner's Estate, 13 N.Y.S.2d 66, 257 App.Div. 972.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 7.

9. Iowa.—In re Lininger's Estate, 297 N.W. 310.

N.Y.—In re Fulton's Will, 2 N.Y.S.2d 917, 253 App.Div. 494—In re Wechsler's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 968, 152 Misc. 564.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 252 P. 932, 142 Wash. 300.

Allowing another to appropriate to himself assets of the estate is within the statute.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D.C., 121 F.2d 877.

as making a sale thereof without a court order,¹⁰ or culpably failing to sell or to sell properly.¹¹ Also such a representative may be removed for failure to prosecute or defend actions,¹² fraudulent or unjust allowance or payment of claims against the estate,¹³ failure to complete administration,¹⁴ squandering or embezzling the estate,¹⁵ converting¹⁶ or making improper use of¹⁷ money or property belonging thereto, or making a personal profit out of the office.¹⁸

The representative may be removed because of his improvidence,¹⁹ incompetency,²⁰ or dissolute or drunken habits.²¹

c. Failure to File Inventory, Accounts, Etc.

Removal of a representative is proper in case of a failure to file a proper inventory, accounts, etc., but such action is discretionary rather than compulsory.

Removal of an executor or administrator is proper in case of failure to file a proper inventory, accounts, or returns, within the required time or after due citation and order,²² but such action is discre-

10. Md.—Fleishman v. Kremer, 20 A.2d 169.

Discretion

The statute providing that court "may" revoke his letters, only grants permission to remove an executor if the court's judgment so dictates and the quoted word is not intended to be imperative.—Fleishman v. Kremer, supra.

11. Iowa.—In re Lininger's Estate, 297 N.W. 310.

N.Y.—Parkhill v. American Equitable Corporation, 294 N.Y.S. 259, 250 App.Div. 809.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 10.

Removal not authorized

Iowa.—In re Amick's Estate, 281 N.W. 786, 225 Iowa 829.

12. Mass.—Dunbar v. Kelly, 75 N.E. 740, 189 Mass. 390.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 8.

Necessity of suit

An executor will not be forced to bring action for possession of property held by another in trust for the testator if no necessity to the administration of the estate is proved, the burden of alleging and proving the necessity being on the party seeking to obtain the removal of the executor.—In re Deschamps' Estate, 212 P. 512, 65 Mont. 207.

13. Ala.—Killam v. Costley, 52 Ala. 85.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 9.

14. Me.—Appeal of Senechal, 119 A. 814, 122 Me. 317.

Minn.—In re Lyon's Estate, 221 N.W. 648, 175 Minn. 619.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 11.

Removal denied

A delay in bringing administration of the estate to a conclusion was held not to warrant removal of the representative where his delay had not been due to any collusion with adverse interests and had not resulted in any loss.—Stake v. Stake, 113 A. 591, 138 Md. 51.

15. Minn.—Matteson v. McClure, 245 N.W. 382, 187 Minn. 291.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 12.

16. Tex.—Stewart v. Poinbeuf, Civ. App., 201 S.W. 1025.

17. N.J.—In re Herrmann's Estate, 22 A.2d 262, 130 N.J.Eq. 273.

N.Y.—In re Grossman's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 323, 157 Misc. 164, affirmed In re Fribourg, 294 N.Y.S. 942, 250 App.Div. 503—In re Brown, 221 N.Y.S. 305, 129 Misc. 293.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 14.

Removal not warranted

(1) In general.—In re Hughes' Estate, 179 A. 577, 319 Pa. 321.

(2) Where administrator de bonis non had given two bonds, disbursements of estate's funds by administrator in an amount less than six hundred dollars, allegedly in furtherance of administrator's private affairs, was insufficient to justify removal of administrator on ground that irreparable loss to the estate was imminent, especially in view of fact that administrator had filed no account in probate court claiming credit for the disbursements nor served notice of claiming such credit.—In re Winters' Estate, 80 P.2d 714, 159 Or. 637.

18. N.Y.—In re Wechsler's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 968, 152 Misc. 564.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 15.

19. N.Y.—Emerson v. Bowers, 14 Barb. 658.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 91.

20. Md.—Haas v. Reimers, 10 A.2d 705, 177 Md. 567.

Mont.—In re Rinlo's Estate, 10 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

N.Y.—In re Healy's Will, 8 N.Y.S.2d 394, 255 App.Div. 361.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 92.

Physical disability alone is not sufficient to disqualify one from acting as executor so as to justify his removal.—Robinson v. Robinson, 16 A.2d 854, 178 Md. 623.

Failure to preserve memoranda

Estate may be of such magnitude that executor's failure to preserve memoranda from which he can render account may evidence such incompetence as to warrant removal.—Black v. Morgan, 149 So. 845, 227 Ala. 327.

Officers of executor and guardians of minors

That persons who were guardian of estates of minors were trust officers of executor will not require removal of executor.—In re Barrelro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal. App. 153.

21. Ind.—Gurley v. Butler, 83 Ind. 501.

23 C.J. p 1112 note 93.

22. Ariz.—Barth v. Platt, 78 P.2d 995, 52 Ariz. 33.

Iowa.—In re Myers' Estate, 294 N.W. 235, 229 Iowa 170.

Me.—Appeal of Senechal, 119 A. 814, 122 Me. 317.

Md.—Tublin v. Schockett, 12 A.2d 616, 178 Md. 212—Haas v. Reimers, 10 A.2d 705, 177 Md. 567.

Minn.—Matteson v. McClure, 245 N.W. 382, 187 Minn. 291.

Mont.—In re Rinlo's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

N.Y.—In re Merllo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 708, 152 Misc. 435.

Okl.—In re Wagner's Estate, 62 P.2d 1186, 178 Okl. 384.

Or.—In re Stewart's Estate, 28 P.2d 642, 145 Or. 460, 91 A.L.R. 818.

Pa.—In re Davies' Estate, 21 A.2d 517, 146 Pa.Super. 7.

Va.—Nickels' Adm'r v. Horsley, 100 S.E. 831, 126 Va. 54.

23 C.J. p 1113 note 3.

Service of order not necessary

Administrator who willfully refuses, or without good cause neglects, to obey order directing him to account, may have his letters revoked without previous service upon him of a copy of order.—In re Merllo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 708, 152 Misc. 435.

Memoranda sufficient

That executor allegedly kept no books of account was not ground for removal, where he kept memoranda from which complete account was stated.—In re Hughes' Estate, 179 A. 577, 319 Pa. 321.

Right to compel delivery not exclusive

Statutes authorizing proceedings to compel delivery to the administrator of property withheld from him does not limit the court's duty to revoke letters of administration because of the failure of the administrator to include in his inventory property in the possession of himself or others.—In re Robinson's Estate, 204 P. 321, 59 Utah 431.

tionary rather than compulsory;²³ and it has been held that the mere failure of an administrator to render annual accounts will not justify a summary dismissal where it is not alleged or proved that he disobeyed an order to render his accounts,²⁴ and that where an executor made and verified a proper inventory within the time allowed by the court, his failure, through accident and inadvertence, to file it until after the time had expired was not sufficient ground for removal.²⁵ Also omissions from the inventory, not attributable to bad faith, do not warrant removal.²⁶

d. Insolvency; Default as to Giving of Bond

A representative may be removed on failure to comply with an order requiring him to give a bond, or on his becoming insolvent.

A prime cause for removal arises when the representative fails seasonably to comply with an order requiring him to give a bond or increase the security previously given,²⁷ but the fact that a bond given by an executor or administrator is invalid is no ground for his removal, the most that could be required of him being a new bond,²⁸ and an executor without bond will not be summarily removed or required to give bond in the absence of any mismanagement on his part.²⁹

Bankruptcy or insolvency of an executor or administrator is usually considered sufficient to warrant his removal,³⁰ unless, in the case of an executor, the condition existed and was known to the testator at the time when the will was executed;³¹ but it is otherwise of mere poverty³² or indebtedness to the estate,³³ although it has been considered that, where letters were issued to an executor without requiring him to give bond, and his circumstances are such as not to afford adequate security to legatees and creditors, the proper remedy is by an application for his removal.³⁴

e. Hostile or Adverse Interests

An executor or administrator should be removed where his personal interests conflict with his official duties, but a mere hostile feeling towards persons interested in the estate is not ground for removal unless it prevents the management of the estate according to the dictates of prudence.

The representative should be removed where his personal interests conflict with his official duties,³⁵

23. Conn.—Carroll v. Arnold, 141 A. 857, 107 Conn. 535.

La.—Succession of Porche, 175 So. 670, 187 La. 1069.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

Okl.—In re Wagner's Estate, 62 P.2d 1186, 178 Okl. 384.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 4.

Should comply with statute

While administrator should not be removed merely for failure to make report within statutory time, if no harm was done, court should insist on compliance with statutes.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

Delay by court proceedings

Although a statute requires an executor to return an account within twelve months from the date of his letters, and authorizes the orphans' court to revoke letters for failure to do so, where there is no evidence that the executor intended to wrong any one, or that the petitioning creditors and others interested were injured or prejudiced by failure to render his account by the time prescribed by law, and he declared his willingness to apply the funds in his hands to the payment of the preferred claims for funeral expenses and costs of administration, and to render an account, his delay being explained by court proceedings he had brought to recover a doubtful interest of deceased, it was proper to require executor to render an account, but not to revoke his letters.

—Belt v. Hilgeman-Brundige Co., 113 A. 721, 138 Md. 129.

Fault of both sides

Administrator's delay in accounting and settling estate, which was fault of both sides, was not ground for his removal.—Fulford v. Fulford, 137 A. 487, 153 Md. 81.

24. Ala.—Black v. Morgan, 149 So. 345, 227 Ala. 327.

La.—Succession of Carroll, 164 So. 334, 183 La. 538.

23 C.J. p 1114 note 5.

25. Wash.—Clancy v. McElroy, 70 P. 1095, 30 Wash. 567.

26. Iowa.—In re Arduer's Estate, 283 N.W. 879.—In re Amick's Estate, 281 N.W. 786, 225 Iowa 829.

Md.—Bates v. Revell, 82 A. 986, 116 Md. 691.

Or.—In re Winters' Estate, 81 P.2d 140, 159 Or. 627.

S.D.—In re Storm's Estate, 250 N.W. 372, 62 S.D. 13.

27. Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 146 Kan. 121, appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S.Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 20.

28. Ind.—Barricklow v. Stewart, 68 N.E. 316, 31 Ind.App. 446.

29. Iowa.—Fisher's Estate, 104 N.W. 1023, 128 Iowa 626.

30. La.—Dwight v. Simon, 4 La. Ann. 490.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 23.

31. N.C.—In re Knowles, 62 S.E. 549, 148 N.C. 461.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 24.

32. Ill.—Clark v. Patterson, 73 N.E. 806, 214 Ill. 533, 105 Am.S.R. 127.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 25.

33. N.Y.—In re Power, 166 N.Y.S. 1007.

23 C.J. p 1115 note 25.

34. N.Y.—Matter of Chauncey, 166 N.Y.S. 949, 101 Misc. 275.

35. Ariz.—Barth v. Platt, 78 P.2d 995, 52 Ariz. 33.

Cal.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal.App.2d 253.

Ga.—Stanley v. Spell, 166 S.E. 669, 46 Ga.App. 91, citing Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—In re Lininger's Estate, 297 N.W. 310.

Mass.—McCarthy v. Griffin, 12 N.E.2d 836, 299 Mass. 309—Comstock v. Bowles, 3 N.E.2d 817, 295 Mass. 250.

Minn.—In re Betts' Estate, 240 N.W. 904, 185 Minn. 627, reversed in part on other grounds 243 N.W. 58, 185 Minn. 627.

Mo.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

Mont.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

Neb.—In re McLean's Estate, 295 N.W. 273, 138 Neb. 757.—In re Marconetti's Estate, 227 N.W. 147, 119 Neb. 73.

Or.—In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P.2d 1046, 1047, 156 Or. 28, citing Corpus Juris—In re Workman's Estate, 49 P.2d 1136, 151 Or. 476.

Pa.—In re Purman's Estate, 5 A.2d 906, 334 Pa. 234.

or even where there is such a hostile feeling between him and the beneficiaries as would or might interfere with the proper management of the estate,³⁶ but a mere hostile or unfriendly feeling of an administrator toward persons interested in the estate is not ground for his removal, unless it is of such character as to prevent the management of the estate according to the dictates of prudence and the interests of the heirs, devisees, and creditors.³⁷ However, the fact that the representative is a creditor of the estate has been held not alone sufficient ground for removal.³⁸

f. Miscellaneous Grounds Not Warranting Removal

Acts or conduct on the part of an executor or administrator amounting to mere errors or irregularities have been held not to require his removal.

A representative should not be removed because of minor irregularities where no fraud exists and there is no danger of loss to the estate;³⁹ a refusal to aid heirs outside of the scope of his official duty;⁴⁰ delays or omissions which are satisfactorily explained;⁴¹ errors of judgment not amounting to malfeasance;⁴² errors in accounts or in the construction of the will, in the absence of willful misconduct, waste, or improper disposition of the assets;⁴³ making large family allowances under court orders due to a mistake in estimate in value of property of estate;⁴⁴ withdrawal of commissions without a court order;⁴⁵ an unauthorized investment of a portion of the estate, where such investment was made in good faith and repaid in full, and the representative's accounts were approved at the intermediate accounting;⁴⁶ a withdrawal of funds in the hands of the factor of the estate and failure to deposit the same in a bank as money of the estate, where the funds so withdrawn were claimed by the

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

Va.—Nickels' Adm'r v. Horsley, 100 S.E. 831, 126 Va. 54.

Wash.—In re Clawson's Estate, 101 P.2d 968, 3 Wash.2d 509.

Wis.—In re Zartner's Will, 198 N.W. 363, 183 Wis. 506.

23 C.J. p 1113 note 99.

B remedy to ascertain ownership not exclusive

That the beneficiary under a will could have ownership of note, payable to testator but claimed by executor, ascertained in proceedings under a statute does not preclude him from procuring the executor's removal as one who is unsuitable to execute the trust reposed in him, because of interests conflicting with those of the estate.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

Conflicting interests of estates

(1) Administrator of estate of husband, on showing that husband's estate might be indebted to wife's estate, should be removed as executor of wife's estate.—Warden v. Hoover's Adm'r, 283 S.W. 444, 214 Ky. 370.

(2) Conflict of interest of administrator representing two estates, where controversy existed between heirs of two estates, was not ground for removal.—Castleberry v. Hollingsworth, 111 So. 35, 215 Ala. 445.

Adverse interest not shown

(1) Where trustee under trust agreement with testator designating executor's wife and sister as beneficiaries brought action for declaratory judgment against executor, beneficiaries, and creditors, executor's assuming neutrality therein and refusing, on advice of counsel, to comply with creditors' demand that executor attack validity of trust agreement, did not show such adverse interest or bad faith as to justify removal of executor, whose refusal simply prevented estate from being charged with costs and attorneys' fees if defense was unsuccessful.—Hancock's Adm'r v. Hancock's Ex'r, 79 S.W.2d 206, 257 Ky. 739.

(2) The fact that executor was a joint debtor with the estate on a mortgage obligation did not create an adverse interest warranting his removal, the estate being protected by the executor's bond in the event he should become obligated to the estate for contribution and should fail to account for his debt.—In re Fiebig's Estate, 22 N.E.2d 288, 61 Ohio App. 40.

Removal not warranted

Mont.—In re Dolenty, 161 P. 524, 53 Mont. 33.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 49.

36. Pa.—In re Fleming's Estate, 5 A.2d 599, 135 Pa.Super. 423.

23 C.J. p 1113 note 1.

37. Ky.—Hancock's Adm'r v. Hancock's Ex'r, 79 S.W.2d 206, 257 Ky. 739.

23 C.J. p 1113 note 2.

Where loss will result

That estate will suffer substantial loss or be placed at disadvantage by executor's conduct, such as refusal to comply with creditors' demand to participate in litigation, may justify executor's removal.—Hancock's Adm'r v. Hancock's Ex'r, supra.

38. Iowa.—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 50.

39. Cal.—In re Atkins' Estate, 8 P. 2d 1052, 121 Cal.App. 251.

N.J.—In re McCabe's Estate, 171 A. 156, 12 N.J.Misc. 297.

40. Mass.—Richards v. Sweetland, 6 Cush. 324.

41. Md.—Fulford v. Fulford, 137 A. 487, 153 Md. 81.

Neb.—In re Fuller's Estate, 247 N. W. 415, 124 Neb. 591.

23 C.J. p 1116 note 32.

42. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

Pa.—In re Hoots' Estate, 119 A. 473, 275 Pa. 366.

23 C.J. p 1116 note 33.

Amount of attorney's fees

Honest opinion of executor that attorney had rendered services for estate entitling him to payment of larger amount than had been allowed by probate court would not constitute statutory ground justifying revocation of letters testamentary.—In re Lussem's Estate, 2 N.E.2d 113, 285 Ill.App. 311.

43. U.S.—Tallman v. Ladd, C.C.A. W.Va., 5 F.2d 582.

S.C.—Witherspoon v. Watts, 18 S. C. 396.

44. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

45. N.Y.—In re Israel's Estate, 2 N.Y.S.2d 170, 166 Misc. 156, affirmed 12 N.Y.S.2d 240, 256 App. Div. 1063, reargument denied 12 N.Y.S.2d 782, 257 App.Div. 317.

Consent of sole distributee

Retaining a certain compensation, with the consent of the sole distributee and without fraud on the part of the representative, although no application for the allowance was made to the court has been held not ground for removal.—Jones v. Harbaugh, 48 A. 827, 93 Md. 269.

46. N.Y.—Matter of Burr, 104 N.Y. S. 29, 118 App.Div. 482, reversing 96 N.Y.S. 225, 48 Misc. 56.

administrator as his own;⁴⁷ the making of an application for leave to sell property, which was denied;⁴⁸ payment of claims of heirs against the estate⁴⁹ even though the amount paid was exaggerated or even fictitious;⁵⁰ or the making of payment without an order of court⁵¹ especially where the payments are made to discharge the estate from legal charges.⁵² Neither should a representative be removed because of failure to pay a claim against the estate,⁵³ failure to appear before a referee to whom objections to his accounts have been referred,⁵⁴ or the inability of petitioners for his removal to procure service on him of a citation for removal.⁵⁵

A statute expressly conferring on a creditor the right on the refusal of an administrator to bring suit to recover real property alleged to have been conveyed in fraud of creditors to bring it in the name of the administrator is broad enough to include a case where an administratrix claims title to real property deeded to her and decedent, her husband, as tenants by the entirety, and, a creditor having a remedy thereunder, decedent's wife should not be removed to secure the appointment of an administrator to act in the creditor's interests.⁵⁶ In the absence of bad faith by an administrator, a mere claim by a distributee that intestate owned a half interest in personalty in the administrator's possession is not ground for the administrator's removal, where the value of such property has been ascertained and evidence thereof preserved, and the administrator has given a solvent bond sufficient to cover the value of intestate's property, including that in the administrator's possession.⁵⁷ The institution of a suit to partition the lands of a decedent who died testate, being in no sense a contest of the will, affords no grounds for the removal of an administrator with the will annexed during its pendency,⁵⁸ and an executor will not be removed because he had improperly sought to nullify a provision of the will where removal would thwart the wishes of the testator.⁵⁹ Heirs who are appointed as administrators should not be removed on the ground that property of the succession was not entered on the inventory, unless it is shown that they secreted property of the succession, or in bad faith withheld property from the inventory.⁶⁰

§ 91. — Proceedings

- a. Who may apply and time for application
- b. Nature and form of proceedings
- c. Jurisdiction
- d. Parties; citation or notice
- e. Pleading
- f. Evidence
- g. Hearing
- h. Order or decree
- i. Setting aside order
- j. Review
- k. Costs
- l. Renewal of motion

a. Who May Apply and Time for Application

While a court may remove an executor or administrator on its own motion or on suggestion of amicus curiæ, an application can ordinarily be made only by a person interested in the estate.

While an executor or administrator may sometimes be removed by the court on its own motion,⁶¹ or on the suggestion of an amicus curiæ,⁶² an application for such removal can, as a general rule, be made only by a person interested in the estate.⁶³ Conversely, application may be made by any person interested,⁶⁴ and any person interested in-

47. La.—Hansell v. Hickox, 46 So. 784, 121 La. 721.

48. La.—Hansell v. Hickox, supra.

49. N.J.—Pfefferle v. Herr, 71 A. 689, 75 N.J.Eq. 219, 138 Am.S.R. 518, affirmed 79 A. 1119, 77 N.J.Eq. 271.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 41.

50. La.—Hansell v. Hickox, 46 So. 784, 121 La. 721.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 42.

51. Or.—Latourette v. Nickell, 187 P. 621, 95 Or. 323.

Wash.—In re Ray's Estate, 254 P. 254, 142 Wash. 620.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 43.

52. La.—Hansell v. Hickox, 46 So. 784, 121 La. 721.

53. Ga.—Zipperer v. La Roche, 90 S.E. 40, 145 Ga. 329.

R.I.—Lewis v. Douglas, 93 A. 961.

54. N.Y.—Matter of Chauncey, 166 N.Y.S. 949, 101 Misc. 275.

55. N.Y.—Matter of Chauncey, supra.

56. Mich.—McFarlan v. McFarlan, 119 N.W. 1108, 155 Mich. 652.

57. N.C.—Morgan v. Morgan, 72 S. E. 206, 156 N.C. 169.

58. Mo.—Stevens v. Larwill, 84 S. W. 113, 110 Mo.App. 140.

59. Mo.—Hanssen v. Karbe, 115 S. W.2d 109, 234 Mo.App. 663, transferred, see, Sup., 106 S.W.2d 415.

60. La.—Hansell v. Hickox, 46 So. 784, 121 La. 721.

61. N.J.—In re McCabe's Estate, 4 A.2d 2, 125 N.J.Eq. 278.

23 C.J. p 1117 note 59.

62. Ala.—Ashurst v. Union Bank, etc., Co., 76 So. 917, 200 Ala. 559.

63. Ark.—Brinkley v. Allen, 143 S.

W.2d 187, 189, 200 Ark. 1147, quoting Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Greer v. Boykins' Estate, Civ. App., 82 S.W.2d 698.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 61.

64. N.J.—In re Herrmann's Estate, 22 A.2d 262, 130 N.J.Eq. 273.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 62.

While a guardian may petition for removal of executors under some statutes it is incumbent on him to prove that his ward was a person interested in the estate as required by statute.—Fowler v. Ball, 141 N.E. 64, 32 Ind.App. 167.

Vested remainder subject to contingencies

A person having a vested remainder under a will subject to being divested on the happening of contingencies mentioned in the will was held an interested person who could maintain a petition for removal of cludes such persons as the widow of decedent,⁶⁵ an heir or distributee,⁶⁶ a legatee or devisee,⁶⁷ or a creditor of the estate.⁶⁸ It has also been held that an application for removal may also be made by a coexecutor or administrator⁶⁹ or a surety on the representative's bond,⁷⁰ and that, independent of treaty provisions, a consular agent has a right to be heard on his petition to procure the removal of administrators claimed to be conspiring to despoil the estate of a citizen of the country represented by such agent, or to have been improvidently appointed.⁷¹ A person who might otherwise be entitled to insist on removal of an executor may by his conduct become estopped to do so.⁷²

Time for application. An application for the removal of an executor or administrator must be made within a reasonable time, or in some jurisdictions within a time fixed by statute, and an application made later will not be effective.⁷³ the representative.—In re Herrmann's Estate, 22 A.2d 262, 130 N.J.Eq. 273.

65. Mich.—White v. Spaulding, 14 N.W. 684, 50 Mich. 22.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 63.

66. La.—Hebert v. Hebert, App., 187 So. 317.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 64.

Heir excluded in will

An heir at law to whom no part of the estate was given by decedent's will, but who was entitled as such heir to contest the will, was not a person interested in the estate.—Fowler v. Ball, 141 N.E. 64, 82 Ind.App. 167.

67. Tex.—Armstrong v. Anderson, Civ.App., 55 S.W.2d 235.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 65.

Interest assigned in trust

Sole devisee, notwithstanding she was married and had assigned her interest in testator's estate in trust, could sue for removal of administrator.—Armstrong v. Anderson, supra.

68. Or.—Knight v. Hamakar, 67 P. 107, 40 Or. 424.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 66.

Where claim not adjudicated or allowed

Creditor whose claim against decedent's estate has not been adjudicated and allowed cannot obtain removal of executor for failure to pay claim within time previously limited by county court's order.—In re Fuller's Estate, 247 N.W. 415, 124 Neb. 591.

69. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 147 So. 425, 226 Ala. 489.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 67.

In New York

(1) It has been held that an administrator was not entitled to institute proceedings to remove his co-administrator, as he was not a person interested in the estate under one provision of the statute and none of the acts or neglects alleged came within the purview of the other provision enumerating causes for which the court on its own motion may remove a fiduciary.—In re Cohen's Estate, 264 N.Y.S. 19, 147 Misc. 330, 570.

(2) However, in an earlier case, an executor was removed on the application of his coexecutor where he failed to do his part in the management of the estate and it was evident that his continuance in office would prejudice the best interests of the estate.—In re Wheaton, 74 N.Y. S. 938, 37 Misc. 184.

(3) The executors of a deceased coexecutor cannot apply for the removal of the surviving executor from office.—Shook v. Shook, 19 Barb. 653.

70. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 68.

71. Ala.—Carpigliani v. Hall, 55 So. 248, 172 Ala. 287, Ann.Cas.1913D 651.

72. Md.—Jones v. Harbaugh, 48 A. 827, 93 Md. 269.

23 C.J. p 1118 note 70.

No estoppel

(1) In general.—Armstrong v. Anderson, Tex.Civ.App., 55 S.W.2d 235.

(2) Heir was not estopped by her petition for appointment of administrator from subsequently petitioning for his removal.—Kachelman v. Kachelman's Estate, 33 P.2d 947, 140 Kan. 115.

(3) And, a fortiori, one heir, not joining another heir in requesting

b. Nature and Form of Proceedings

While proceedings for removal of an executor or administrator are not summary proceedings, removal cannot be demanded by way of opposition or indirect procedure.

A proceeding to remove an executor or administrator is not one to punish him, but is a proceeding for the protection of the estate.⁷⁴ Although it is not a summary proceeding,⁷⁵ it has been said that the court may proceed in a summary manner.⁷⁶ While it has been held a special proceeding which can be brought only under the statute,⁷⁷ it has also been held to be a proceeding in rem⁷⁸ and to be brought by ordinary suit.⁷⁹ An application to the clerk of the superior court to remove an administrator has been held to be not a civil action or special proceeding, but an application for the exercise of statutory power.⁸⁰

Removal cannot be demanded by way of opposition or indirect procedure, but it must be by direct appointment of administrator, is not estopped to ask his removal.—In re Rinio's Estate, 19 P.2d 322, 93 Mont. 428.

73. Ala.—Black v. Morgan, 149 So. 845, 227 Ala. 327.

21 C.J. p 1119 note 78.

74. N.Y.—Metropolitan Trust Co. v. Stallo, 152 N.Y.S. 183, 166 App.Div. 639.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

75. Iowa.—In re Mann's Estate, 225 N.W. 261, 208 Iowa 1193.

La.—Succession of Porche, 175 So. 670, 187 La. 1069—Succession of Esteves, 162 So. 576, 182 La. 717.

Plenary rather than summary

Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.

76. N.J.—In re Konigsberg's Estate, 4 A.2d 524, 125 N.J.Eq. 216.

77. Ind.—State v. Chambers, 185 N. E. 436, 204 Ind. 658.

78. Mo.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

79. La.—Succession of Porche, 175 So. 670, 187 La. 1069—Succession of Esteves, 162 So. 576, 182 La. 717.

Except in clear case of emergency, executor or administrator may be removed only after formation of issue as in ordinary civil actions.—State v. Johnston, 185 N.E. 278, 204 Ind. 563.

Action at law

It is a probate action, and hence an action at law.—In re Jenkins' Estate, 205 N.W. 772, 201 Iowa 423.

80. N.C.—In re Battle, 74 S.E. 23, 158 N.C. 388.

proceedings against the incumbent of the office;⁸¹ but it has been held that, where an administrator files his final account, and asks to be discharged, and the court removes him for sufficient cause, although not in a proceeding instituted directly for that purpose, the decree will not be disturbed.⁸² Where the statute prescribes the steps necessary to be taken to remove an executor or administrator, the statutory requirements must be complied with,⁸³ and an order of removal not predicated on such compliance is unauthorized and ineffectual.⁸⁴ It is irregular to engraft on a proceeding to appoint an administrator an entirely separate proceeding to remove an administrator previously appointed.⁸⁵

81. Iowa.—In re Mann's Estate, 225 N.W. 261, 208 Iowa 1193.

La.—Hebert v. Hebert, App., 187 So. 317.

Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 173 Md. 1.

Mo.—Kinnerk v. Smith, 41 S.W.2d 381, 328 Mo. 513.

N.Y.—In re Merillo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 708, 153 Misc. 435.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 72.

Proposed remedy no defense

A proceeding for removal of respondent as decedent's administratrix, on theory that petitioner was decedent's surviving widow and that a divorce from petitioner was void because court was without jurisdiction in divorce proceedings, could not be defeated on ground that petitioner's remedy was by suit in equity to set aside divorce decree.—In re Waters' Estate, Utah, 113 P. 2d 1038.

82. Or.—In re Partridge, 51 P. 32, 31 Or. 297.

Order by appellate court

(1) On appeal from order of probate court approving, over objection, final account of executor who had been cited to make inventory and accounting, district court had jurisdiction, on disapproval of accounting and finding that, by reason of his personal interest in affairs to be adjudicated, executor was not suitable person to administer estate, to order probate court to remove executor and appoint some suitable person as executor de bonis non with instructions to bring action against former executor.—In re Woodworth's Estate, 67 P.3d 553, 145 Kan. 870.

(2) An order of the superior court, revoking letters of administration after hearing in a proceeding to compel the administrator to render his past-due account, was within court's jurisdiction.—In re Bond's Estate, 225 P. 450, 193 Cal. 482.

83. Ill.—In re Graney's Will, 245 Ill.App. 407.

Iowa.—In re Collicott's Estate, 283

N.W. 869.—In re Mann's Estate, 225 N.W. 261, 208 Iowa 1193.

Tex.—Hocker v. Stevens, Civ.App., 42 S.W.2d 473, error dismissed.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 74.

84. Ill.—Horn v. White, 127 Ill.App. 222, affirmed 79 N.E. 629, 224 Ill. 238, 115 Am.S.R. 155.

85. N.Y.—Matter of Hill, 151 N.Y.S. 791, 166 App.Div. 303, affirmed 109 N.E. 1078, 215 N.Y. 694.

86. Ill.—In re Klock's Estate, 282 Ill.App. 245.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 79.

87. Ill.—In re Klock's Estate, 282 Ill.App. 245.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 79.

Not removable by grand jury

Administrator is not public officer subject to removal by grand jury as provided by statute.—King v. Hepburn, 249 P. 924, 121 Okl. 275, followed in Bowling v. Hepburn, 249 P. 925, 121 Okl. 275.

Questions not within jurisdiction

Whether testatrix in her lifetime had been fraudulently induced by executrix to convert bank deposit into joint account of testatrix and executrix, and whether testatrix had satisfied certain obligations of executrix which constituted an indebtedness of executrix to estate for which she should account, were questions which could only be determined by suit in equity, and were not within jurisdiction of county court in a proceeding for removal of the executrix and for appointment of an administrator with the will annexed.—In re Elder's Estate, 83 P. 2d 477, 160 Or. 111, 119 A.L.R. 802.

Failure to hear evidence

While the failure to hear evidence on a petition for removal is irregular, such failure was held not to go to the question of jurisdiction.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

Validity of agreement

In proceedings for removal of a widow as administratrix on the ground that she had waived all rights in her husband's estate by an antenuptial agreement, it was held, that the probate court was without

c. Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction for the removal of an executor or administrator usually belongs to the probate court.

Jurisdiction for the removal of an executor or administrator usually belongs to the probate court by which he was appointed or qualified and in which the administration of the estate is pending,⁸⁶ and jurisdiction to remove is not lost by ordering the representative to file a final report.⁸⁷ In general chancery has no power to remove an executor, although in a suitable case it has restrained him from acting and taken the estate out of his hands, placing it in the hands of a receiver,⁸⁸ and it has been said that, even if a court of chancery has power to re-jurisdiction to pass on the widow's contention that such agreement was obtained from her by fraudulent misrepresentations as to the value of her husband's property.—In re Klock's Estate, 282 Ill.App. 245.

In Georgia

(1) Under will appointing person to serve as executrix only as long as she remained widow, court of ordinary was held to have jurisdiction of petition to revoke letters testamentary on ground that executrix was no longer qualified under will after her remarriage following her qualification as executrix; and proceeding for revocation of letters testamentary on ground that widow had remarried was held not to involve construction of will so as to exceed jurisdiction of ordinary, notwithstanding will further provided that in event of widow's remarriage it was testator's will that judge of probate court for designated county of another state should take charge of estate.—Bruce v. Fogarty, 186 S. E. 463, 53 Ga.App. 443.

(2) Relief in a suit to require executor to give bond or be removed as executor would be grantable by the superior court in an equity case only.—Hicks v. Atlanta Trust Co., 200 S.E. 301, 187 Ga. 314.

(3) On a petition praying for the removal of both of a grantor's executors and for the appointment of a receiver to execute the will, the superior court of the county of the residence of either executor had jurisdiction.—Brown v. Wilcox, 94 S. E. 993, 147 Ga. 546.

In North Carolina the clerk exercises functions of removal.—Edwards v. Cobb, 95 N.C. 4.

87. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

88. Tenn.—Rutledge v. Garrison, 7 Tenn.App. 75.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 80.

Executor having duties as trustee

Where the powers and duties of an executor having duties as a trustee are so intermingled that the remove an executor or administrator, only an extreme case will justify its exercise.⁸⁹

d. Parties; Citation or Notice

A proceeding for the removal of an executor or administrator should be brought against him personally and due service of citation should be made on him.

A proceeding for the removal of an executor or administrator should be brought against him personally and not in his representative capacity,⁹⁰ and it has been held that an application for the removal of an administrator cannot be made by a guardian of infant heirs or distributees in his own name, but the proceeding should be in the name of the infants by their guardian or next friend,⁹¹ although there is also authority for a contrary view.⁹²

In proceedings for removal of administrators, the appointees were no longer parties to the proceedings after their resignations were tendered and accepted.⁹³

Citation or notice. Due service of citation should be made on the party complained of, or such other precaution taken as the court may order so as to give the latter due notice and a fair opportunity to make defense,⁹⁴ and so the court has no power to remove an executor on a citation to prepare and settle his accounts without giving him any notice of the intention to remove him,⁹⁵ except in an emergency, which should be clear and imperative.⁹⁶ Notice may, however, be waived by a voluntary appearance,⁹⁷ or by filing a resignation, even though the resignation is subsequently withdrawn.⁹⁸ Where the record is silent on the subject, it will be presumed that a publication of notice of petition for the removal of defendant as administrator was founded on a proper affidavit of defendant's nonresidency.⁹⁹ Publication of citation for the removal of an administrator need not appear on the face of the judgment of the ordinary removing the administrator.¹

e. Pleading

While strict rules of pleading are not applied, a petition for the removal of an executor or administrator should show that the applicant is entitled to such relief and that the court has jurisdiction to grant it.

There should be a petition² showing that the court has jurisdiction of the cause of complaint and power to grant the relief which is sought in the manner and form prayed for,³ and that the applicant has a real and existing interest in the decedent's estate,⁴ and alleging some one or more of the statu-removal of the executor would operate as a removal of the trustee, the county court would be powerless to remove the executor because of his duties as trustee, and therefore resort must be had to a court of equity.—Brinkerhoff v. Huntley, 223 Ill.App. 591.

89. Ala.—Kidd v. Bates, 27 So. 491, 124 Ala. 670.—Randle v. Carter, 62 Ala. 95.

90. Ga.—Bruce v. Dunn, 184 S.E. 361, 362, 52 Ga.App. 758, citing Corpus Juris.

91. Ala.—Blackman v. Davis, 42 Ala. 184.

92. La.—McComas v. Ronquillo, 4 La. Ann. 123.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 84.

93. Tex.—Slay v. Davidson, Civ. App., 88 S.W.2d 650, error refused.

94. D.C.—Brosnan v. Brosnan, 289 F. 547, 53 App.D.C. 149.

La.—Succession of Porche, 175 So. 670, 187 La. 1069.—Succession of Esteves, 162 So. 576, 182 La. 717. Md.—Fulford v. Fulford, 137 A. 487, 153 Md. 81.

N.Y.—In re Merillo's Estate, 273 N.Y. S. 708, 152 Misc. 435.

N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S. E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543.

Wash.—In re Fellin's Estate, 185 P. 604, 108 Wash. 626.

23 C.J. p 1119 note 85.

Notice not necessary

Order of removal of administrator held not in excess of court's jurisdiction because of lack of citation of administrator, where situation arising from administrator's application for letters testamentary on contested will called for removal of administrator.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

Representative held without notice

Administrator held without notice of and not represented by counsel on hearing of petition for removal by guardian ad litem, when attorneys, because of possible conflict between claim and interest of heirs, had informed court they did not appear for him.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

95. Ill.—Hanifan v. Needles, 108 Ill. 403, affirming 11 Ill.App. 403.

96. Ind.—State v. Johnston, 185 N. E. 278, 204 Ind. 563.

97. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360, 23 C.J. p 1120 note 87.

98. Wash.—In re Dietrich, 81 P. 1061, 39 Wash. 520.

99. Ind.—Crabb v. Atwood, 10 Ind. 331.

1. Ga.—Davis v. Melton, 181 S.E. 300, 51 Ga.App. 685.

2. La.—Succession of Porche, 175 So. 670, 187 La. 1069.—Succession of Esteves, 162 So. 576, 182 La. 717.

23 C.J. p 1120 note 91.

Contemplates future handling of estate

A proper petition for removal of an administrator contemplates action incident to future handling of the estate and future accounting as to past transactions, and does not attempt to invalidate previous handling of the estate; and the correctness of an order appointing administrator for estate of deceased after death of executrix, and approving report filed on behalf of executrix, cannot be raised by petition for removal of administrator.—In re Collicott's Estate, 283 N.W. 869, 226 Iowa 106.

3. Ga.—Beecher v. Carter 5 S.E.2d 648, 189 Ga. 234.

Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.

Pa.—Cohen's Appeal, 2 Watts 175.

4. Ala.—Boutwell v. Drinkard, 160 So. 349, 230 Ala. 212.

Utah.—In re Waters' Estate, 113 P. 2d 1038.

23 C.J. p 1120 note 93.

Demurrer

While the failure of the complaint to show that applicant has an interest in decedent's estate may be challenged by demurrer, the failure to demur or plead such fact by way of answer was held not a waiver of the right to defend on such ground.

tory causes for the removal of the representative,⁵ and asking that he be removed.⁶ Strict rules of pleading are not to be applied to petitions of this character,⁷ and a complaint is sufficient where it informs the representative of its nature and scope,⁸ and makes it to appear, by fair and reasonable intendment, that the representative is conducting himself in a manner prejudicial to those who are beneficially interested in the estate.⁹ Where the inventory of the estate showed no assets, a representation of insolvency is unnecessary in a proceeding by a creditor for removal of the administrator.¹⁰ The petition may be required to be verified,¹¹ and if one person signs the name of another to the petition he must show his authority for doing so.¹²

An answer and other pleadings necessary to form an issue may be filed,¹³ but allegations therein which are immaterial or not responsive to the petition will be stricken out.¹⁴ It has been held that demurrers and exceptions have no place in such procedure and need not be considered.¹⁵

Issues and proof. General rules as to issues, proof, and variance apply in proceedings for the removal of an executor or administrator.¹⁶ A petition for removal alleging that the administrator "has wasted and mismanaged the estate" is sufficient to allow proof of any waste or mismanagement.¹⁷

f. Evidence

General rules of evidence ordinarily are applicable in proceedings for the removal of an executor or administrator.

—Fowler v. Ball, 141 N.E. 64, 82 Ind. App. 167.

5. Ill.—In re Graney's Will, 215 Ill. App. 407.

Tex.—Armstrong v. Anderson, Civ. App., 55 S.W.2d 235. 23 C.J. p 1120 note 94.

Petition held sufficient

(1) In general.

Ariz.—In re Sullivan's Estate, 78 P. 2d 132, 51 Ariz. 483.

Colo.—Koshir v. Snedec, 259 P. 4, 82 Colo. 345.

Ga.—Edwards v. Gabrels, 148 S.E. 913, 168 Ga. 738.

La.—Hebert v. Hebert, App., 187 So. 317.

(2) On general demurrer.

Iowa.—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

More conclusions insufficient

Or.—Latourette v. Nickell, 187 P. 621, 95 Or. 223.

Considered in its entirety

Application, as amended, for removal of administrator, was required to be considered in its entirety.—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103.

6. Iowa.—In re Collicott's Estate, 283 N.W. 869, 226 Iowa 106. 23 C.J. p 1120 note 95.

7. Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.

R.I.—Kenyon v. Hart, 96 A. 529, 38 R.I. 524.

Formal petition not necessary

Ariz.—Barth v. Platt, 78 P.2d 995, 52 Ariz. 33.

Considered as amended

Petition to remove executor and trustee for refusal to inventory land may be considered amended to pray for inventory and removal for unfaithfulness after hearing.—State v. Superior Court, 252 P. 932, 142 Wash. 300.

8. Mont.—In re Blackburn, 137 P. 381, 48 Mont. 179.

9. Conn.—Treat's Appeal, 40 Conn. 288.

10. Me.—McCluskey's Appeal, 100 A. 977, 116 Me. 212.

11. Pa.—Moore's Estate, 19 Pa.Dist. 109.

23 C.J. p 1120 note 1.

12. Mich.—White v. Spaulding, 14 N.W. 684, 50 Mich. 22.

13. Ind.—State v. Johnston, 185 N. E. 278, 204 Ind. 563.

Md.—Flaks v. Flaks, 196 A. 116, 173 Md. 358.

N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S. E.2d 562, 218 N.C. 543.

23 C.J. p 1120 note 3.

Court may require answer

Md.—Tublin v. Schockett, 12 A.2d 616, 178 Md. 212.

Withdrawal of answer

On application for removal of administrator, where administrator filed a resistance to the application, trial court did not err in permitting administrator to withdraw his answer and substitute therefor a motion and demurrer.—In re Arduser's Estate, 283 N.W. 879, 226 Iowa 103.

Order not decision on merits

An order of the court striking an answer to the petition seeking removal of representative, on the ground that the court did not have jurisdiction to pass on the validity of an antenuptial agreement involved, was not an adjudication as to the validity of such agreement.—In re Klock's Estate, 282 Ill.App. 245.

14. Or.—Knight v. Hamakar, 67 P. 107, 40 Or. 424.

23 C.J. p 1121 note 4.

15. Md.—Fleishman v. Kremer, 20 A.2d 169—Tublin v. Schockett, 12 A.2d 616, 178 Md. 212—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.

16. Questions not considered

(1) The question whether an executor without letters testamentary, acting in a private capacity, had overreached the widow of the testator in securing a lease of the property of a corporation, most of the stock of which was owned by the testator, and all of which the widow had secured after his death, cannot be raised in a proceeding by one of the legatees to remove the executor.—In re Hooper, 135 P. 813, 76 Wash. 72.

(2) Where the executor spent money in making alterations to a building owned by decedent, whether the cost thereof should be charged to the principal or income is a question for the accounting, rather than a question involved in a proceeding to remove the executor.—In re Power, 166 N.Y.S. 1007.

(3) In a proceeding by a creditor to have decedent's widow removed as administratrix to permit the appointment of one who would act in the interest of the creditor in attempting to recover real property deeded to decedent and his wife as tenants by the entirety, and claimed by the administratrix to have been conveyed in fraud of creditors, the questions of the validity of the deed, involving the effect of laches of the creditor, limitations, and the bona fides of the transaction between decedent and his wife were not properly determinable, but should be raised in an equitable action to set aside the deed.—McFarlan v. McFarlan, 119 N. W. 1108, 155 Mich. 652.

(4) Questions of husband's fraud in procuring divorce decree and invalidity of his second marriage cannot be determined in divorced wife's proceeding for removal of second wife as administratrix of deceased husband's estate.—In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P.2d 1045, 156 Or. 23.

17. Colo.—Miller v. Hider, 47 P. 406, 9 Colo.App. 50.

The person seeking the removal of an executor or administrator must establish the existence of the facts relied on for such removal,¹⁸ and any proper evidence which tends to establish or refute the charges relied on is admissible.¹⁹ The general rules as to the sufficiency of evidence govern in such proceedings.²⁰

g. Hearing

Before an executor or administrator is removed he must be accorded a hearing and the court must have some fact legally before it in order to justify a removal.

Before an executor or administrator is removed he must be accorded a hearing,²¹ and where the facts alleged are denied by the administrator the court is not required to make an order of suspension until the truth of the allegations has been established,²² and in a proper case the hearing may be continued.²³ The trial or hearing should be a distinct and separate proceeding from the settlement of his accounts.²⁴ While the proceedings are informal²⁵ and it has been held that the action of the court in proceeding to the merits without disposing of a demurrer was not improper where demurrers and exceptions have no place in such procedure,²⁶ it has also been held that a demurrer to a petition to remove should be passed on before hearing the cause on its merits and allowing an appeal.²⁷ How-

18. Iowa.—In re Smith's Estate, 271 N.W. 888, 223 Iowa 172.

N.Y.—In re Britsch's Estate, 219 N. Y.S. 124, 128 Misc. 219.
23 C.J. p 1121 note 9.

Matter not necessary to be proved

In a proceeding under a statute to remove an executor on the ground that he is unsuitable to execute the trust because of his claim to ownership of note payable to testator, it was not necessary to show that the estate was the owner of the note, but merely that there was a real and substantial controversy as to the ownership, and that there was reasonable and probable cause to believe that the note belonged to the estate.—Davis v. Roberts, 226 S.W. 662, 206 Mo.App. 125.

19. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 147 So. 425, 226 Ala. 489.
23 C.J. p 1121 note 10.

Petition for removal is not evidence
D.C.—Brosnan v. Brosnan, 289 F. 547, 53 App.D.C. 149.

Iowa.—In re Bagnola, 154 N.W. 461, 160 N.W. 228, 178 Iowa 757.

20. Wash.—In re Fick's Estate, 190 P. 1008, 111 Wash. 318.
23 C.J. p 1121 note 12.

Evidence held sufficient

(1) To negative misconduct.—In re Gliese's Estate, 255 N.W. 474, 64 N.D. 636.

(2) To show justification of request for removal.—In re Sherman's Estate, 56 P.2d 230, 5 Cal.2d 730.

Evidence held sufficient to warrant removal

(1) In general.

Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.—In re Grafmiller's Estate, 81 P.2d 181, 27 Cal. App.2d 253.

Md.—Tsarackis v. Characklis, 3 A.2d 725, 176 Md. 28.

Mass.—Comstock v. Bowles, 3 N.E. 2d 817, 295 Mass. 250.

N.J.—In re McCabe's Estate, 4 A.2d 3, 125 N.J.Eq. 278.

Okl.—Batchelder v. Knechtel, 66 P.2d 919, 179 Okl. 484.

Or.—In re Elder's Estate, 83 P.2d 477, 160 Or. 111, 119 A.L.R. 802.—
In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P.2d 1045, 156 Or. 23.

Wash.—In re Fick's Estate, 190 P. 1008, 111 Wash. 318.

(2) On ground of incompetency.
Miss.—Hancock v. Reedy, 180 So. 81, 181 Miss. 830.

N.Y.—In re Rodgers' Estate, 264 N. Y.S. 624, 147 Misc. 344.

(3) On ground of bad faith and abuse of trust.—Appeal of Schimmel, 4 A.2d 382, 125 N.J.Eq. 88, affirming
In re Roeben's Will, 197 A. 253, 123 N.J.Eq. 313.

(4) On ground of mismanagement.
—In re Wolfe's Estate, 57 P.2d 1066, 186 Wash. 216.

Evidence held insufficient to warrant removal

Cal.—In re Cornaz' Estate, 65 P.2d 784, 8 Cal.2d 347.—In re Sherman's Estate, 56 P.2d 230, 5 Cal.2d 730.

Ill.—In re Lussem's Estate, 2 N.E. 2d 113, 285 Ill.App. 311.

Ohio.—In re Throckmorton's Estate, App., 36 N.E.2d 792.

Or.—In re Winters' Estate, 81 P.2d 140, 159 Or. 637.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1029, 134 Or. 33, 72 A.L.R. 949.

Pa.—In re Hurley's Estate, 169 A. 81, 313 Pa. 53.

21. D.C.—Brosnan v. Brosnan, 289 F. 547, 53 App.D.C. 149.

Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N. W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.—Fulford v. Fulford, 137 A. 487, 153 Md. 81.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

23 C.J. p 1121 note 13.

Removal on interlocutory hearing erroneous

Where executor was solvent and had given ample security, removal on interlocutory hearing was held erroneous.—Clements v. Fletcher, 118 S.E. 201, 156 Ga. 802.

Separate hearings

Contention that trial court's order denying separate petitions for removal of executors was inadvertently made because of statement that petitions would be heard separately cannot prevail, where petitions were heard together and submitted for decision.—In re Bauer's Estate, 248 P. 507, 199 Cal. 98.

Voluntary absence

Administrator, voluntarily absenting himself from hearing on petition for removal, cannot complain that he never had day in court.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

22. Cal.—In re Healy, 70 P. 455, 66 P. 175, 137 Cal. 474.

Absence of counsel

Continuance of hearing of proceedings for removal of dative testamentary executor of succession until adjournment of state legislature, of which executor's chief counsel was a member, held proper.—Succession of Morrison, 170 So. 783, 185 La. 746.

Discretion

Grant of delay of fourteen days for dative testamentary executor of succession to prepare defense and answer to rule seeking his removal held not abuse of discretion.—Succession of Morrison, supra.

24. Alaska.—In re McIntire, 1 Alaska 73.

25. Md.—Tublin v. Schockett, 12 A. 2d 616, 178 Md. 212.

Technical defenses disfavored

In dealing with charges affecting administrators and executors, courts should be intolerant of technical defenses which would permit such officials to avoid a full and candid disclosure of the manner in which they have discharged their duties.—Tublin v. Schockett, supra.

26. Md.—Fleishman v. Kremer, 20 A.2d 169.

27. Alaska.—In re McIntire, 1 Alaska 73.

ever, the representative may waive his right to object to the form and the time of trial of the proceeding.²⁸

Every case for the removal of an executor or administrator should be decided in accordance with the particular facts involved,²⁹ and it has been held that the issues are to be tried by the court and the administrator is not entitled to demand a jury,³⁰ but there is also authority for the view that the question whether he is an unsuitable person to be continued in office is for the jury.³¹ The court must have some fact legally before it in order to justify a removal,³² and a reference may be ordered to obtain needed information on questions of fact involved,³³ but where the representative admits and attempts to excuse the matters because of which his removal is asked the court may properly determine the case without evidence on behalf of the applicant,³⁴ and it is proper to refuse to appoint an examiner to take testimony.³⁵ A motion for a nonsuit admits the facts which the testimony tends to establish and presents a legal question,³⁶ and where there is evidence in support of the petition it is error to grant the motion notwithstanding the court might not have felt justified in making findings on such evidence in favor of the petitioners.³⁷ Dismissal of the petition is proper when it discloses that petitioner was seeking to renew objections to an account which it was too late to raise by exception or appeal.³⁸ A statement of surety's counsel that the surety would not insist on administrator's removal was held not to operate as a dismissal of a petition for removal.³⁹

Determination of a representative's right to share as a distributee is unauthorized in a proceeding to remove him as the estate is not represented.⁴⁰ Although the court is without power to adjudicate title to property⁴¹ as between the representative and the estate,⁴² or where the decedent's grantee is not a party,⁴³ it may determine whether property should be inventoried and so direct an inventory,⁴⁴ but where an accounting proceeding is also pending a charge that the representatives illegally paid commissions to themselves will be reserved for the accounting proceeding.⁴⁵ However, the fact that evidence showing unsuitability also bears on the representative's right to property of the deceased is not cause for withholding an order of removal until adjudication of the issue of his right to such property.⁴⁶

It is sometimes required that the court should make findings of fact supported by the evidence in harmony with the petition, and make its conclusions

28. La.—Succession of Carroll, 164 So. 334, 183 La. 538.

29. Or.—In re Elder's Estate, 83 P. 2d 477, 160 Or. 111, 119 A.L.R. 802.

Matters not considered

Wishes of executor who resigns or has been removed for cause, and who has no beneficial interest in the estate, are immaterial and cannot be considered in proceeding for removal of coexecutor or in selection of successor of executor removed.—In re Sherman's Estate, 56 P.2d 230, 5 Cal.2d 730.

Family situation considered

The district court in exercising its discretion in determining whether technical violation of the law by an administrator should be allowed to bring about his removal could properly take into account the family situation which colored and would have continued to color the entire proceedings.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D. C., 121 F.2d 877.

Fraud in appointment

Under statute providing for removal of administrators where their letters have been procured by false pretenses, probate court, on application for removal of widow as administratrix, might well have considered that, in obtaining letters, she stated under oath that value of estate did not exceed five thousand dollars, and was accordingly required to give bond only for ten thousand dollars, but later asserted under oath that value of estate was at least one million five hundred thousand dollars.—In re Klock's Estate, 282 Ill.App. 245.

Consideration of second petition

Guardian ad litem's petition for removal, of which administrator had no notice, properly considered for some purposes in connection with prior petition of surety on administrator's bond.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

30. Cal.—In re Doyle, Myr.Prob. p 68.

31. R.I.—Capwell v. Murphy, 43 A. 32, 21 R.I. 262.

23 C.J. p 1121 note 17.

Issues should be so framed as to permit the jury to give single answers to each question.—Flaks v. Flaks, 196 A. 116, 173 Md. 358.

32. N.J.—In re Konigsberg's Estate, 4 A.2d 524, 125 N.J.Eq. 216.

Public administrator's petition

In the absence of evidence that the representative was not capable and suitable, a public administrator's petition for removal of the representative is required to be dismissed.—Hilton v. Hopkins, 175 N.E. 162, 275 Mass. 59.

33. N.Y.—Matter of Hale, 61 N.Y.S. 596, 45 App.Div. 578.

23 C.J. p 1122 note 21.

34. Ind.—McFadden v. Ross, 93 Ind. 134.

23 C.J. p 1122 note 18.

35. Pa.—In re Miller's Estate, 107 A. 684, 264 Pa. 310.

36. Utah.—In re Robison's Estate, 204 P. 321, 59 Utah 431.

37. Utah.—In re Robison's Estate, supra.

38. Pa.—In re Osterling's Estate, 10 A.2d 17, 337 Pa. 235, certiorari denied Osterling v. Commonwealth Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, 60 S.Ct. 892, four cases, 309 U.S. 689, 84 L. Ed. 1032.

39. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

40. N.C.—In re Banks' Estate, 196 S.E. 351, 218 N.C. 382.

41. Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 252 P. 932, 142 Wash. 300.

42. Ind.—State v. Chambers, 185 N. E. 436, 204 Ind. 658.

43. Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 252 P. 932, 142 Wash. 300.

44. Wash.—State v. Superior Court, supra.

45. N.Y.—In re Rosenberg's Will, 2 N.Y.S.2d 300, 165 Misc. 92.

46. Ala.—Kelen v. Brewer, 124 So. 247, 220 Ala. 175.

of law on the facts so found,⁴⁷ and where the evidence was sufficient to support a finding of mismanagement and neglect a further unsupported finding of fraud did not affect the other grounds, on which the order of removal properly rested.⁴⁸

h. Order or Decree

An order removing a representative may require him to account within a designated time. The order may be in the alternative, but must be supported by the evidence and findings.

While it has been said that the only judgment which a court can render in proceedings to remove an executor or administrator is one either removing or refusing to remove him,⁴⁹ the court, on removing the representative, may also order him to account within a designated time.⁵⁰ The judgment must be within the issues⁵¹ and supported by the evidence and findings,⁵² must be signed by the judge,⁵³ and is self-executing.⁵⁴

The intent to remove must be apparent,⁵⁵ but, where the petition for removal of an administrator alleged facts showing that the administrator had been dilatory, an order of removal should not be disturbed merely because it recites that, under the evidence, the administrator was interested in the estate, and that there had been a controversy between the administrator and the heirs.⁵⁶ A decree removing an executor for failure to comply with a decree of the court must adjudicate or recite either that the refusal to comply was willful or that the failure or neglect so to do was without cause.⁵⁷ The fact that a judgment refusing to remove an administrator is informal furnishes no ground for dismissing an appeal therefrom, where it shows that the application to remove was finally determined and the motion denied.⁵⁸ An order of the probate court removing an executor, made, not at a regular term, but at a special term to which the cause had not been adjourned or appointed, is void.⁵⁹

Alternative decree. Where the ground of removal is failure to comply with a decree of the court, the decree may properly be in the alternative, requiring the representative to comply with the former decree, or, in default of such compliance, removing him,⁶⁰ and where the representatives have exceeded their powers, but acted in good faith, their removal may be denied on condition that they execute a bond and proceed to account for their acts.⁶¹

Res judicata. A judgment or order in proceedings for removal of an executor or administrator has been held not res judicata of the question of his liability to the estate,⁶² notwithstanding the same line of evidence may be presented,⁶³ and, where a judgment sustaining demurrers to allegations of 47. Cal.—In re Pendell's Estate, 14 P.2d 506, 216 Cal. 384.

23 C.J. p 1122 note 19.

48. Cal.—In re Bell, 67 P. 123, 135 Cal. 194.

49. Ind.—Williams v. Tobias, 37 Ind. 345.

Award of increase

In a suit to remove substituted executors and to recover for a devastavit, a portion of a decree, finding that there had been an increase instead of a devastavit and awarding the same to the beneficiaries for life under the will, was not within the issues.—Tuckerman v. Currier, 129 P. 210, 54 Colo. 25, Ann.Cas.1914C 599.

50. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 147 So. 425, 226 Ala. 429.

Time allowed; coexecutors

That there were remaining executors was held not to render erroneous order requiring removed executor to file accounts and vouchers for final settlement within one month thereafter, and the fact that final settlement was required within less than twelve months from grant of letters was held not to render erroneous such order.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, supra.

51. Ind.—State v. Chambers, 185 N. E. 436, 204 Ind. 658.

Adjudication not binding

Where the court is without power to adjudicate the title to property in a removal proceeding, such adjudication of title in favor of the estate as against the representative is outside the issues and not binding on the representative in his individual capacity.—State v. Chambers, supra.

52. Cal.—Luckey v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 287 P. 450, 209 Cal. 360.

Recitals held sufficient

Cal.—In re Exterstein's Estate, 38 P. 2d 151, 2 Cal.2d 13.

53. Ky.—Kentucky-Tennessee Light & Power Co. v. Priest's Adm'r, 127 S.W.2d 616, 277 Ky. 700.

Relation back

A judge's unsigned orders entered in court order book showing removal of first administrator and appointment of second administrator became effectual from the beginning on being signed by judge in second administrator's action for death of deceased.—Kentucky-Tennessee Light & Power Co. v. Priest's Adm'r, supra.

54. Cal.—Hibernia Savings & Loan Soc. v. Belcher, 48 P.2d 681, 4 Cal. 2d 268.

55. Ky.—Karn v. Seaton, 62 S.W. 737, 23 Ky.L. 101.
23 C.J. p 1122 note 24.

56. Iowa.—Willson v. Polk County

Dist. Ct., 147 N.W. 766, 166 Iowa 352.

57. N.Y.—Matter of Hayes, 158 N.Y. S. 527, 172 App.Div. 680.

58. Ky.—Hilton v. Hilton, 107 S.W. 736, 32 Ky.L. 1082.

59. Ala.—Boynton v. Nelson, 46 Ala. 501.

60. N.Y.—Matter of Hayes, 158 N.Y. S. 527, 172 App.Div. 680.

61. N.Y.—In re Rosenberg's Will, 2 N.Y.S.2d 300, 165 Misc. 92.

62. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 147 So. 425, 226 Ala. 489.

Adjudication not in judgment entry

Where right of deceased's widow to use of mansion house of the deceased beyond the year allowed by the law was considered by probate court on exceptions to account of widow as administratrix and on motion by heirs for widow's removal as administratrix, but it did not appear that any judgment entry of probate court directly adjudicated widow's right, widow's defense of "res judicata" or "estoppel by judgment," in suit by heirs to recover reasonable value of use of mansion house of deceased beyond the year allowed by law, could not be sustained.—Hodapp v. Hodapp, Ohio App., 37 N.E.2d 101.

63. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 147 So. 425, 226 Ala. 489.

mismanagement in proceeding to remove was affirmed on the ground that plaintiff had an adequate remedy at law, such judgment was held not res judicata against a subsequent suit for an accounting and settlement.⁶⁴

1. Setting Aside Order

A motion to set aside an order removing an executor or administrator must comply with applicable statutory provisions, and will be determined according to the facts existing when such order was made.

A motion to vacate an order removing an executor or administrator must comply with applicable statutory provisions,⁶⁵ and must set forth grounds for relief,⁶⁶ as an order of removal will not be set aside in the absence of a showing of prejudice to the administrator or executor.⁶⁷ The court can set aside an order of removal at the same term,⁶⁸ and such order may be entered of record at a subsequent term nunc pro tunc.⁶⁹

On an application to set aside an order removing an administrator, the propriety of the order of removal must be determined according to the facts existing and presented to the court when such order was made, and not according to facts presented on the application to set it aside.⁷⁰ An order removing an executor without notice under a petition asking only an accounting will be vacated on motion.⁷¹

After an order setting aside an order of removal, the parties are restored to the same status occupied prior to the order of removal.⁷²

Where order final and conclusive. Where an order denying removal becomes final and conclusive on failure to appeal therefrom, it cannot be revoked on the ground that it was entered through inadvertence.⁷³

j. Review

The rules applicable to appeals in civil actions generally are applicable to appeals from orders removing or refusing to remove an executor or administrator.

While appeals generally in probate proceedings have been treated in Appeal and Error § 146 et seq, as a general rule, anyone aggrieved may appeal from the decree of the court making or refusing to make the removal,⁷⁴ although a few cases have denied the right to appeal from an order refusing to remove.⁷⁵ In accordance with general rules, there must be a compliance with applicable statutory 64. Ga.—First Nat. Bank v. Williams, 8 S.E.2d 562, 62 Ga.App. 203, certiorari dismissed 13 S.E.2d 361, 191 Ga. 611.

65. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

Motion insufficient

A valid order of removal will not be set aside where the motions to vacate after the term contained none of the statutory grounds, and the facts relied on as a defense are not shown.—In re Donlon's Estate, supra.

66. Fla.—Lewis State Bank v. Baker, 171 So. 319, 126 Fla. 477.

67. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

68. Ky.—Seitz' Ex'r v. Seitz, 58 S.W.2d 635, 248 Ky. 503.

69. Ky.—Seitz' Ex'r v. Seitz, supra.

70. Ala.—Ashurst v. Union Bank & Trust Co., 76 So. 917, 200 Ala. 559.

71. N.Y.—In re Rawson's Estate, 200 N.Y.S. 447, 120 Misc. 713.

72. Ky.—Seitz' Ex'r v. Seitz, 58 S.W.2d 635, 248 Ky. 503.

73. Cal.—In re Exterstein's Estate, 38 P.2d 151, 2 Cal.2d 13.

74. Cal.—Bauer v. Willis, 233 P. 342, 195 Cal. 375.

D.C.—Perry v. Wilson, 48 F.2d 1021, 60 App.D.C. 109.

Ind.—Union Savings & Trust Co. v. Eddingfield, 134 N.E. 497, 78 Ind. App. 286.

Kan.—In re Woodworth's Estate, 67 P.2d 553, 145 Kan. 870.

Md.—Flaks v. Flaks, 196 A. 116, 173 Md. 358.

Mo.—In re Bennett's Estate, App., 249 S.W. 685.

N.C.—Edwards v. McLawhorn, 11 S.E. 2d 562, 218 N.C. 543.—In re Wright's Estate, 158 S.E. 192, 200 N.C. 620. 23 C.J. p 1122 note 33—15 C.J. p 1022 note 85 [a] (1)—3 C.J. p 570 note 44 [b] (8), p 571 note 45 [a] (1).

Removal in indirect proceeding

That order removing executors was not germane to, nor authorized in, proceeding for reduction of executor's compensation, does not preclude appeal therefrom.—In re Mann's Estate, 225 N.W. 261, 208 Iowa 1193.

Motion in arrest

Order suspending executor and appointing administrator pendente lite was appealable as "final judgment," although motion in arrest was not passed on.—In re Roff's Estate, 50 S.W.2d 156, 226 Mo.App. 1203, transferred, see Fields v. Luck, 34 S.W. 2d 710, 327 Mo. 113.

Certiorari not only remedy

Under some statutes, an appeal lies to the superior court from an order of the court of ordinary dismissing a petition to remove an administrator and revoke his letters of administration, certiorari not being the only remedy.—Wells v. Chambers, 111 S.E. 677, 28 Ga.App. 429.

Supersedeas, review, or prohibition

Where the lower court acted within its jurisdiction, its order cannot be successfully assailed by application for writ of supersedeas, review, or prohibition.—In re Bond's Estate, 225 P. 450, 193 Cal. 482.

Reappointment in vacation

That purported reappointment of executor after will was sustained in contest proceedings was made in vacation did not prevent appeal by executor from subsequent order removing him.—In re Pierron's Estate, Mo.App., 39 S.W.2d 458.

Approval of bond

District court's approval of bond, tendered by executor appealing from probate court order of removal for failure to give bond, did not affect rights of executor.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 146 Kan. 121, appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S.Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

Orders not appealable

(1) Order requiring executor to give bond within fixed time, removing him if he failed to do so and directing him to make final settlement is not appealable.—Gordy v. King, 154 So. 525, 228 Ala. 532.

(2) Refusal of permission to amend a petition to remove an administrator has been held discretionary and not appealable.—Appler v. Merryman, 47 A. 1026, 91 Md. 706.

75. Cal.—In re Moore, 9 P. 315, 68 Cal. 394.

N.Y.—Rogers v. Hosack, 18 Wend. 319.

3 C.J. p 571 note 47 [b] (2), (4).

provisions.⁷⁶ Thus, the appeal must be taken within the time allowed by statute,⁷⁷ and proper notices must be served.⁷⁸

Questions not raised in lower court. Where a question was not raised in the lower court, it has been held that it could not be considered in the appellate court,⁷⁹ and where no exception was taken in the court below by an administrator to an order removing him, he must be deemed on appeal by him to have acquiesced therein.⁸⁰

Parties. The county judge and county clerk are not proper parties to an appeal from an order removing an administrator,⁸¹ and on appeal from an order directing an administrator to file a new bond, and removing him from his office for failure to do so, the estate, being uninterested, is not a proper party.⁸²

Record. The evidence offered to the court below ought to be shown on the record,⁸³ and a finding of the court, raised only by an affidavit of counsel, was held not reviewable in the absence of a complete record.⁸⁴ However, under a statute providing that in proceedings for the removal of an administrator the petition and answer must be in writing, a record on appeal is properly authenticated, although the petition, answer, and order are not incorporated in the bill of exceptions, where the same are in the record certified to by the clerk.⁸⁵

Effect of appeal. The authority of a representative is suspended, pending the appeal,⁸⁶ and he is not authorized to proceed with the administration,⁸⁷ even though he has given an appeal bond;⁸⁸ but he is merely suspended from office and no general administrator can be appointed in his stead, but a special one only.⁸⁹ However, while it has also been held that a representative was without authority to act until he perfected an appeal from the order removing him,⁹⁰ it has been held under some statutes that where appellant does nothing to stay the order pending the appeal, the lower court can appoint a new representative,⁹¹ and such order appointing a new representative is valid until the order removing the prior representative is reversed.⁹² On the other hand there can be no suspensive appeal from a judgment refusing to remove an executor.⁹³

An appeal bond is sometimes required on appeal from an order removing an administrator,⁹⁴ and such bond must comply with applicable statutory provisions.⁹⁵ However, the failure to file a proper bond on time may be waived.⁹⁶

Hearing on appeal. In some jurisdictions, an appeal from a proceeding for the removal of an executor or administrator is heard on matters of law and legal inference,⁹⁷ and under some statutes, the proceedings in the appellate court are handled as a trial de novo,⁹⁸ and where the appellate court, on

76. Ohio.—In re Hornyak's Estate, 14 N.E.2d 5, 133 Ohio St. 416, reversing, App., 31 N.E.2d 145.

77. D.C.—Perry v. Wilson, 48 F.2d 1021, 60 App.D.C. 109.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 36.

78. Person not a party

Minor residuary legatee's guardian, not party to proceeding for reduction of executor's compensation, need not be served with notice of appeal from order therein removing executors, although prayed by him in a pending proceeding.—In re Mann's Estate, 225 N.W. 261, 208 Iowa 1193.

79. Cal.—In re Bauer's Estate, 248 P. 507, 199 Cal. 98.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

80. Ind.—Ex parte Simpson, 55 Ind. 415.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 37.

81. Ill.—Witter v. Witter, 65 Ill.App. 335.

82. Ind.—Moore v. Bankers' Surety Co., 73 N.E. 607, 34 Ind.App. 633.

83. Ala.—Flora v. Mennice, 12 Ala. 836.

Iowa.—In re Moore, 72 N.W. 674, 103 Iowa 474.

84. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

85. Cal.—In re Healy's Estate, 66

P. 175, 6 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 780, reversed on other grounds 70 P. 455, 137 Cal. 474.

86. La.—Succession of Esteves, 163 So. 99, 183 La. 274.

Nev.—In re Pedroll's Estate, 221 P. 241, 47 Nev. 313, 31 A.L.R. 841, rehearing denied 224 P. 807, 47 Nev. 313, 31 A.L.R. 841.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 42.

Notice insufficient

Notice of appeal, filed by administrator, from order of removal directing him to turn over assets to another administrator, no appeal bond or undertaking being filed, was insufficient, under the statute to stay execution of such order, and application for supersedeas, and prohibition, should be denied.—In re Bond's Estate, 225 P. 450, 193 Cal. 482.

87. Ga.—Walker v. Maddox-Rucker Banking Co., 23 S.E. 897, 97 Ga. 386.

88. Ga.—Walker v. Maddox-Rucker Banking Co., supra.

89. N.J.—In re Marsh's Estate, Prerog., 55 A. 299.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 45.

90. Tex.—Felton v. Birchfield, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1022, error dismissed.

91. Iowa.—In re Mann's Estate, 251 N.W. 83, 217 Iowa 1134.

92. Iowa.—In re Mann's Estate, supra.

93. La.—Platz's Succession, 47 So. 119, 122 La. 14.

N.J.—In re Marsh's Estate, Prerog., 55 A. 299.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 48.

94. Ohio.—In re Hornyak's Estate, 14 N.E.2d 5, 133 Ohio St. 416, reversing, App., 31 N.E.2d 145.

23 C.J. p 1123 note 49.

95. Tex.—Felton v. Birchfield, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1022, error dismissed.

96. Ill.—Repole's Estate v. Arkema, 5 N.E.2d 614, 287 Ill.App. 633.

97. N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

98. Ill.—Repole's Estate v. Arkema, 5 N.E.2d 614, 287 Ill.App. 633.

Kan.—In re Dennis' Estate, 68 P.2d 1083, 146 Kan. 121, appeal dismissed Keach v. McDonald, 58 S.Ct. 147, 302 U.S. 647, 82 L.Ed. 502.

Mo.—In re Pierron's Estate, App., 39 S.W.2d 458.

Reference to take testimony

Under a statute providing that when an appeal is taken on the facts the appellate court has the same power to decide questions of fact appeal from the probate court on petition to remove an administrator, refused requested findings, and failed to make any findings of its own motion, there was a mistrial.⁹⁹ The judge, in his discretion, may direct issues of fact to be tried to a jury,¹ and under some statutes, the discretion the law vests in the ordinary is to be exercised by the jury on appeal.² While the appellate court will consider matters necessary to a determination of the appeal,³ and may review all matters duly contested in the lower court,⁴ the appellate court has been held not to have any general jurisdiction over the estate,⁵ but obtains jurisdiction only of the question or issue originally presented to the lower court.⁶

Questions which could be determined only in a suit in equity, and were not within the jurisdiction of the lower court, are not within the jurisdiction of the appellate court on appeal.⁷ Whether a finding and order constituted an adjudication of a representative's personal liability to the estate need not be discussed in the absence of a formal judgment against the representative,⁸ and the court will not pass on questions where the persons interested therein are not parties.⁹

Presumptions. The usual presumptions will be indulged on appeals from proceedings for the removal of an executor or administrator.¹⁰

Disposition of cause. An appellate court is disinclined to interfere with the action taken by the probate court in the matter of the removal of an executor or administrator unless positive error or gross abuse of discretion is shown;¹¹ and the findings of the lower court have been held binding on the appellate court where they are supported by the evidence,¹² for, although the appellate court has a duty to examine evidence and decide the case on its own judgment, it will not reverse the decree unless plainly wrong where it rests on observation of wit-which the surrogate had, and it may, in its discretion, receive further testimony or documentary evidence and appoint a referee, where, on appeal from an order for the removal of an executor on the ground that he was indebted to the estate in large amount, which he did not include in the inventory, the executor claimed that this question was not litigated and that he had in fact paid the indebtedness, the cause will be referred to take testimony on that question.—Matter of Burr, 101 N.Y.S. 776, 116 App.Div. 518.

99. Minn.—Boston First Nat. Bank v. Towle, 137 N.W. 291, 118 Minn. 514.

1. N.C.—In re Battle, 74 S.E. 23, 158 N.C. 388.

2. Ga.—Stanley v. Spell, 166 S.E. 669, 146 Ga.App. 91.

Question for jury

In proceeding to remove administrator for failure to file correct inventory and appraisal and because administrator's personal interests conflicted with those of estate, administrator's fitness was held for jury, notwithstanding controversy between heirs and administrator regarding whether certain property was administrator's or part of estate.—Stanley v. Spell, supra.

3. Cal.—In re Sherman's Estate, 56 P.2d 230, 5 Cal.2d 730.

Order removing coexecutor

Where proceedings by executrix for removal of executor had become final by court's order removing executor, such order would be considered on appeal from order removing executrix in same proceeding, as supporting executrix' action as matter of law.—In re Sherman's Estate, supra.

4. U.S.—Tallman v. Ladd, C.C.A.W. Va., 5 F.2d 582.

5. Ill.—In re Graney's Will, 245 Ill. App. 407.

Accounting

Where the probate court overruled an application to remove relator as administrator and to appoint L, on appeal the circuit court had jurisdiction to remove relator and appoint L, instead of merely reversing the probate court's judgment, but it had no authority to require an accounting and fix the administrator's bond as ordered by mandate of the court of appeals.—State ex rel. Burns v. Woolfolk, 262 S.W. 346, 303 Mo. 589.

6. Tex.—Coombes v. Bush, 15 S.W.2d 602, 118 Tex. 386.

No more power than lower court

On appeal from county court's refusal to remove administratrix, circuit court has no more power of removal than county court had.—In re Graney's Will, 245 Ill.App. 407.

Inquiry not extended

On appeal from a decree removing an administrator for failure to bring suit to set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance of deceased, the inquiry should not be extended further than to determine whether there was reasonable ground for belief that the conveyance was fraudulent.—McCluskey's Appeal, 100 A. 977, 116 Me. 212.

7. Or.—In re Elder's Estate, 83 P.2d 477, 160 Or. 111, 119 A.L.R. 802.

8. Iowa.—In re Donlon's Estate, 206 N.W. 674, 201 Iowa 1021.

9. Md.—Tsarackis v. Characklis, 3 A.2d 725, 176 Md. 28.

Evidence to support findings

The appellate court will presume that the lower court's findings were based on sufficient evidence where they are not questioned on that ground.—Barth v. Platt, 78 P.2d 995, 52 Ariz. 32.

11. Colo.—In re Smith's Estate, 255 P. 985, 81 Colo. 411.

Fla.—Henderson v. Ewell, 149 So. 372, 111 Fla. 324, citing Corpus Juris.

Ind.—Haughey v. Haughey, 127 N.E. 454, 73 Ind.App. 318.

Iowa.—In re Lininger's Estate, 297 N.W. 310—In re Myers' Estate, 294 N.W. 235, 229 Iowa 170.

N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

Ohio.—In re Fiebig's Estate, 22 N.E. 2d 288, 61 Ohio App. 40.

Okl.—Batchelder v. Kneettle, 66 P.2d 919, 179 Okl. 484.

Or.—In re Faulkner's Estate, 65 P.2d 1045, 156 Or. 23.

Pa.—In re Fleming's Estate, 5 A.2d 599, 135 Pa.Super. 423.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

Wash.—In re Wood's Estate, 100 P. 2d 397, 3 Wash.2d 308—In re Wolfe's Estate, 57 P.2d 1066, 186 Wash. 216.

23 C.J. p 1124 note 54.

12. Pa.—In re Fleming's Estate, 5 A.2d 599, 135 Pa.Super. 423.

Consistent with evidence

On appeal to prerogative court from decree of orphans' court removing coexecutor on ground of bad faith and abuse of trust, great weight would be given to findings of fact by orphans' court judge, but prerogative court had power and duty to ascertain, by full investigation and analysis of evidence what the facts were, and whether general finding was consistent therewith.—Appeal of Schimmel, 4 A.2d 382, 125 N.J.Eq. 88, affirming In re Roeben's Will, 197 A. 253, 123 N.J.Eq. 313.

nesses who have testified orally.¹³ Although, where the lower court has erroneously removed an executor on one ground, the appellate court cannot, on error, sustain the order because it is shown by the evidence to be justified on other grounds,¹⁴ ordinarily the court will not reverse because of error not prejudicial to the complaining party,¹⁵ nor because of invited error,¹⁶ and the failure of the lower court to find facts is immaterial where on such facts as might have been found the appellate court could find no abuse of discretion.¹⁷ Also, where there is serious doubt whether appointment of a new representative will be of any value because administration is almost completed, the appellate court will not reverse an order refusing to remove the representative.¹⁸

It has been held that the appellate court may remand the proceeding or retain it for such orders as it deems best.¹⁹

k. Costs

Costs are ordinarily regulated by statute, and in determining the question of making an allowance to a representative for expenses in successfully contesting a proceeding to remove him the question is whether his conduct was such as reasonably to justify the institution of the proceeding.

The right to costs in proceedings to remove an executor or administrator is ordinarily regulated by statute, and general rules are applied in determining the right thereto.²⁰ The costs of proceedings to remove should not be allowed against the estate when the application is made by persons having no right to apply,²¹ and, when the charges on which removal is asked are not sustained, costs should not be allowed to both parties against the estate.²² A representative has been personally charged with the costs of proceedings to remove him when it was apparent that he was not a fit person to be executor or administrator,²³ but it has been held impro-

13. Mass.—Comstock v. Bowles, 3 N.E.2d 817, 295 Mass. 250.

14. Md.—Kerby v. Peters, 190 A. 511, 172 Md. 1.
23 C.J. p 1124 note 55.

Removal of administratrix of class first entitled to appointment in proceeding by decedent's heirs could not be upheld on ground proceeding was one for appointment of coadministrators, where administratrix' letters had not been properly revoked, since appointment of coadministrators could only be made with consent of person first entitled, and, where a class is first entitled, one selected by court is person first entitled.—Kerby v. Peters, supra.

15. Kan.—Kachelman v. Kachelman's Estate, 38 P.2d 947, 140 Kan. 115.

N.J.—In re Roeben's Will, 197 A. 253, 123 N.J.Eq. 313, affirmed Appeal of Schimmel, 4 A.2d 382, 125 N.J.Eq. 88.

Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

Admission of evidence

Court will not reverse judgment in case tried by court removing defendant as administrator, because of admission of inadmissible evidence consisting of plaintiff's exceptions and objections urged by plaintiff to accounts of defendant, where there was evidence supporting judgment.—Ferguson v. Ferguson, Tex.Civ.App., 11 S.W.2d 214, affirmed, Com.App., 23 S.W.2d 673.

16. Utah.—In re Bogert's Estate, 290 P. 947, 76 Utah 566.

Theory in lower court

Where the parties unite in trying a case on the theory that a particular matter is within the issues, that theory cannot be rejected on appeal.

—In re McCabe's Estate, 4 A.2d 2, 125 N.J.Eq. 278.

17. N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

18. N.C.—Jones v. Palmer, supra.

19. N.C.—In re Wright's Estate, 158 S.E. 192, 200 N.C. 620.

Appointing receiver

Superior court judge's order appointing receiver to settle estate under judge's supervision after affirming clerk's order removing executors was held not error, as a proceeding before clerk to remove executors, consolidated, without objection with action to construe family agreement, may be regarded as motion in civil action for purpose of superior judge's jurisdiction on appeal.—In re Wright's Estate, supra.

Appointing substitute

(1) The appellate court may remove the representative and substitute another in his place.

Mo.—State ex rel. Burns v. Woolfolk, 262 S.W. 346, 303 Mo. 589.
W.Va.—Tramel v. Stafford, 83 S.E. 299, 75 W.Va. 98.

(2) In an early case it was held that the appellate court does not acquire jurisdiction to appoint or remove, but if a removal is necessary, it must, after determining the question presented by the record, issue a procedendo to the probate court requiring it to appoint some proper person to administer the estate.—Pearce v. Lovinier, 71 N.C. 248.

20. Wis.—In re Leonard's Will, 230 N.W. 716, 202 Wis. 17, 83 A.L.R. 712.

Remaindermen were held not entitled under statute to attorney's fees and expenditures incurred in suit for removal of executor.—In re Leonard's Will, supra.

Apportioning costs

In equity suit to require executor to give bond or be removed as executor, trial judge did not abuse discretion in taxing auditor's fee partly against plaintiffs.—Hicks v. Atlanta Trust Co., 200 S.E. 301, 187 Ga. 314.

Petitioning coexecutor

Where an executor joined with beneficiaries of the will in petitioning for the removal of the other executor, it was improper to award a counsel fee to the petitioning executor, on denial of the petition, even though the petition was reasonably founded, the petitioning executor's prosecution of the petition in such case being a duty imposed on him as executor, for which he could not charge or be allowed compensation, and the statute being applicable only to cases of settlement of account, and not to such litigation.—Hauser v. Hauser, 114 A. 244, 92 N.J.Eq. 615.

Costs on appeal

The allowance by prerogative court of counsel fees on appeal to that court from decree of orphans' court removing executrixes from their office and ordering that letters of substitutionary administration on the estate be granted to a third person was unauthorized.—In re McCabe's Estate, 4 A.2d 2, 125 N.J.Eq. 278.

21. N.Y.—Shook v. Shook, 19 Barb. 653.

22. N.Y.—Matter of Engelbrecht, 44 N.Y.S. 551, 15 App.Div. 541.

23. U.S.—Burke v. Canfield, App.D. C., 121 F.2d 877.

N.Y.—Matter of Stanton, 2 N.Y.S. 342, 1 Conn.Surr. 108.

Attempt to purchase property

Where executrix and her sister were equally interested in net amount er to settle costs on an executor where the court found no justification for removing him, notwithstanding it also found reasonable cause for instituting the proceeding.²⁴ Where proceedings to remove an executor or administrator are successfully resisted, the court in some jurisdictions may allow reasonable counsel fees to the representative out of the estate,²⁵ and, in determining the question of making an allowance to an administrator for costs and expenses in contesting a proceeding to remove him, the question is whether his conduct was such as reasonably to justify the institution of the proceeding.²⁶

1. Renewal of Motion

The doctrine of res judicata has been held not to have strict application to proceedings to remove an executor or administrator.

It has been held that a petition for the removal of an administrator is merely a motion, which may be renewed on the same state of facts by leave of court, the doctrine of res judicata not having strict application.²⁷ On mandamus to require trial of a proceeding to remove a representative, a former removal proceeding set up in bar would be ignored, where the grounds thereof did not sufficiently appear.²⁸

§ 92. — Operation and Effect

After removal, an administrator or executor has no right to do anything further with respect to administration of the estate except to settle his accounts and turn over the property of the estate to his successor.

The removal of an executor or administrator deprives him of the right to do anything further with respect to the administration or settlement of the estate.²⁹ He should settle his accounts in court and turn over the estate in suitable condition to his successor or to the court without delay, and the court has jurisdiction to compel him to do so.³⁰ Even though the removed representative has a claim against the estate, he cannot retain the amount thereof where it does not then appear that the estate is clearly solvent.³¹

*On the removal of a residuary legatee from the office of executor, the title to the property of the testator undisposed of reverts to the estate, and becomes vested in the administrator de bonis non.*³²

*A judgment rendered against a representative after his removal cannot bind the estate or have any validity as evidencing the existence of a claim against the estate,*³³ but it will bind the representative personally notwithstanding his removal.³⁴

Removal of one of several representatives. The statutes sometimes permit the court, in case of removal of one of several representatives, to determine, according as it deems necessary, whether a successor to the removed representative shall be appointed or the remaining representative shall be permitted to complete the administration alone.³⁵ In the absence of a provision for substitution in the will, it has been held that the coexecutor must comto be distributed in the estate and executrix attempted purchase of farm justified her removal and appointment of an administrator with will annexed, costs in proceeding for removal of executrix were taxed to executrix in her individual capacity.—In re Linsinger's Estate, Iowa, 297 N.W. 310.

24. N.J.—Hauser v. Hauser, 114 A. 244, 92 N.J.Eq. 615.

25. Colo.—Tuckerman v. Currier, 129 P. 210, 54 Colo. 25, Ann.Cas. 1914C 599.

Md.—Bates v. Revell, 82 A. 986, 116 Md. 691.

N.Y.—Matter of Boyer, 105 N.Y.S. 857, 54 Misc. 182.

26. Ind.—Scott v. Smith, 85 N.E. 774, 171 Ind. 453.

Tex.—Ogden v. Shropshire & Adkins, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 249, error refused.

Good faith immaterial

Where executrix asserted ownership of testatrix' bank account, executrix was no longer in proper position to administer estate and it was then her duty to resign, and the expense which she incurred in resisting removal proceedings was not for benefit of estate, but in the furtherance of her personal interests so that she was not entitled to an allowance thereof on final accounting, notwithstanding county court improperly refused to remove executrix, and her alleged good faith in asserting ownership of testatrix' bank account and in resisting removal as executrix was immaterial.—In re Elder's Estate, 101 P.2d 412, 164 Or. 347.

27. Me.—McCluskey's Appeal, 100 A. 977, 116 Me. 212.

Conclusiveness as to other matters see supra, subdivision h of this section.

In sustaining conclusion denying removal, appellate court would not make findings of fact and conclusions of law effective for any other purpose than appeal and they do not constitute res judicata in any future proceeding.—Jones v. Palmer, 2 S.E. 2d 850, 215 N.C. 696.

28. Wash.—State v. Superior Court, 252 P. 932, 142 Wash. 300.

29. Mass.—Burns v. Hovey, 136 N.E. 246, 242 Mass. 363.

Mo.—Williams v. People's Bank of Springfield, App., 257 S.W. 192.

Nev.—In re Pedrol's Estate, 221 P. 241, 47 Nev. 313, 31 A.L.R. 841, rehearing denied 224 P. 807, 47 Nev. 313, 31 A.L.R. 841.

Tex.—Felton v. Birchfield, Civ.App., 110 S.W.2d 1022, error dismissed—Richardson v. McCloskey, Civ.App., 261 S.W. 801, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 276 S.W. 680, 23 C.J. p 1125 note 64.

30. Mass.—Burns v. Hovey, 136 N.E. 246, 242 Mass. 363.

Mo.—Williams v. People's Bank of Springfield, App., 257 S.W. 192.

23 C.J. p 1125 note 65.

31. N.J.—Middleton v. Carter, 68 A. 763, 73 N.J.Eq. 624, affirmed 71 A. 1134, 74 N.J.Eq. 853.

32. Mich.—Lafferty v. People's Sav. Bank, 43 N.W. 34, 76 Mich. 35.

33. Mass.—Troy Nat. Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435, 23 C.J. p 1125 note 68.

34. Ala.—Gibbs v. Hodge, 65 Ala. 366.

35. Utah.—Farnsworth v. Hatch, 151 P. 537, 47 Utah 62.

23 C.J. p 1125 note 70.

plete administration on removal of one of the executors.³⁶

§ 93. — Collateral Attack on Removal

An order removing an executor or administrator cannot be collaterally attacked.

An order of removal cannot be collaterally attacked,³⁷ and this has been held to be true even though the decree states a reason for the discharge which is not a cause therefor under the statute.³⁸

§ 94. — Proceedings for Reinstatement

A representative will not be reinstated where the evidence is insufficient to show that removal did not result from his own negligence.

Where an administrator was removed without notice for failure to file an inventory, and at a subsequent term the administrator petitioned for reinstatement, alleging that the inventory had been found in the clerk's office, but the evidence failed to show that, on a motion for reinstatement, he had shown such fact to the court, or on appeal to the district court had proved that the inventory had been filed in time, this was held insufficient to show that the removal of the administrator did not result from his own negligence, either from failing to file the inventory or to present the facts to the court sufficiently to prevent the judgment complained of.³⁹

III. ASSETS

§ 95. What Are Assets in General

"Assets" is a term used to designate such property of a decedent's estate as may be charged with the obligations which his representative must discharge.

The word "assets," is used to designate such property belonging to the estate of a deceased person as may rightfully be charged with the obligations which his executor or administrator is bound to discharge.⁴⁰

The term "bona notabilia" means notable goods or property worthy of notice, or of sufficient value to be accounted for.⁴¹

§ 96. Legal and Equitable Assets Distinguished

Legal assets of an estate are those which a creditor can reach in a court of law, while equitable assets are those which a creditor can subject to his claim only by resorting to a court of equity. The distinction is rarely enforced.

A distinction has been drawn, particularly in the English law of administration, between legal and equitable assets of an estate, legal assets being those which a creditor may subject to his claim in a court of law, and equitable assets being those which a creditor can subject to his claim only by resorting to a court of equity.⁴² The point of the distinction was that with regard to the legal assets certain rules of preference or priority among creditors were clearly established, but equity disapproved of those rules and ranked all debts alike, whether founded in specialty or simple contract, and hence the distinction between legal and equitable assets was important in determining rights of creditors among themselves.⁴³ In the United States, however, the distinction between legal and equitable assets is rarely enforced, the old rules of priority among creditors having been altered by suitable enactments and general rules providing the order in which creditors shall be entitled to share in all assets of the estate regardless of whether they might be strictly termed legal or equitable.⁴⁴

§ 97. Personal Property in General

Personal property owned by decedent at the time of his death goes primarily to his personal representative as assets.

The personalty of deceased goes primarily to the executor or administrator as assets rather than to the

36. Ala.—Amos v. Toolen, 168 So. 687, 232 Ala. 587.

37. Ill.—Frothingham v. Petty, 64 N.E. 270, 197 Ill. 418. 23 C.J. p 1125 note 71.

38. Minn.—Simpson v. Cook, 24 Minn. 180.

39. Tex.—Ruenbuhl v. Heffron, Civ. App., 38 S.W. 1028.

40. U.S.—Tapp v. Stuart, D.C.Okl., 6 F.Supp. 577, 578, quoting Corpus Juris.

Okl.—In re Carter's Estate, 240 P.

727, 113 Okl. 182—Sandlin v. Barker, 218 P. 519, 95 Okl. 113.

23 C.J. p 1126 note 74—5 C.J. p 825 note 34—p 826 note 38.

"Estate" defined see supra § 3. Property subject to administration see supra § 8.

"Assets in hand" for which an executor or other trustee is chargeable are property which come to the executor or trustee at once for the purpose of satisfying claims against him as such.—Bragdon v. Smith, 12 A.2d 665, 136 Me. 474.

41. Ga.—Neal v. Boykin, 64 S.E. 480, 132 Ga. 400.

Necessity for administration of small estates see supra § 5.

42. Tenn.—Agee v. Saunders, 157 S.W. 64, 127 Tenn. 680, 46 L.R.A., N.S., 788.

23 C.J. p 1126 note 77—36 C.J. p 976 note 89—5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [d] (2).

43. U.S.—Backhouse v. Patton, Va., 5 Pet. 160, 8 L.Ed. 82.

23 C.J. p 1127 note 78.

44. Mo.—Titterton v. Hooker, 58 Mo. 593.

23 C.J. p 1127 note 79.

Classification and priorities of debts see infra §§ 458-461.

heir,⁴⁵ and this has been held to be true even though there are no debts,⁴⁶ and even though one claiming the personality is the sole distributee.⁴⁷ The personal assets to which the administrator becomes entitled consist only of property which was owned by decedent or to which he had a right of action, either legal or equitable, in his lifetime and at his death.⁴⁸

Enumeration of assets. The executor or administrator becomes entitled to all corporeal personal property or things in possession and visible and tangible,⁴⁹ such as cash,⁵⁰ household provisions, if of appreciable value,⁵¹ furniture,⁵² personal effects,⁵³ wearing apparel, where no rights of husband, widow, or children are involved,⁵⁴ jewelry,⁵⁵ and standing timber specifically reserved in a bill of sale.⁵⁶

The representative also becomes entitled to incorporeal or intangible property, whether evidenced by any written instrument or not,⁵⁷ such as corporate stock,⁵⁸ municipal or other corporate securi-

45. U.S.—Small v. Frick, D.C.S.C., 40 F.Supp. 778.

Ala.—Stramler v. Holman, 173 So. 377, 234 Ala. 36—Awbrey v. Estes, 112 So. 529, 218 Ala. 66.

Ind.—Smith v. Massie, 179 N.E. 20, 93 Ind.App. 582.

Miss.—Gidden v. Gidden, 167 So. 785, 176 Miss. 98.

Mo.—Wass v. Hammontree, 77 S.W. 2d 1006, 1010, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—In re Van Zandt's Estate, 255 N.Y.S. 359, 142 Misc. 683.

N.C.—Linker v. Linker, 196 S.E. 329, 213 N.C. 351—Price v. Askins, 194 S.E. 284, 212 N.C. 583.

Okl.—State ex rel. Reiridon v. Marshall County Court, 81 P.2d 488, 183 Okl. 274.

Va.—Broadbudd v. Broadbudd, 130 S.E. 794, 144 Va. 727—Strader v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 105 S.E. 74, 128 Va. 238.

Wash.—Collins v. Northwest Casualty Co., 39 P.2d 986, 988, 180 Wash. 347, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1127 note 80.

Right of heirs to personality on death of deceased see Descent and Distribution §§ 67, 69.

46. Iowa.—Coon v. Luce, 205 N.W. 647.

23 C.J. p 1127 note 81.

47. Mass.—S. S. Pierce Co. v. Fiske, 129 N.E. 609, 237 Mass. 39.

Mo.—Adey v. Adey, 58 Mo.App. 408.

48. U.S.—Kevan v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., D.C.Mo., 3 F. Supp. 288.

Ky.—King v. Kitchen's Ex'rs, 118 S.W.2d 144, 274 Ky. 157.

Mo.—Supreme Council R. A. v. Kacer, 69 S.W. 671, 96 Mo.App. 93.

Ohio.—Skehan v. Larkin, 179 N.E. 425, 41 Ohio App. 85.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 87 [d], p 1131 note 23 [f].

Personal property held part of estate

(1) Interest of tenant in common.—Smith v. Durkee, 254 P. 207, 121 Or. 86.

(2) Other property.—Werkman v. Harms, 232 Ill.App. 20.

Personal property held not part of estate

(1) Interest in club property, where by-law provided member's interest vested in corporation when ceasing to be member.—In re Columbia Club, 92 Pa.Super. 198.

(2) Money pledged to protect estate.—Ryan v. Stagg, 298 P. 353, 89 Mont. 390.

(3) Undisbursed balance of building loan as against mechanics' lien claimants.—Smith v. Anglo-California Trust Co., 271 P. 398, 205 Cal. 496.

(4) Other property.

Ill.—Werkman v. Harms, 232 Ill. App. 20.

Mich.—Fletcher v. Fletcher, 182 N.W. 1, 214 Mich. 12.

Minn.—In re Alms' Estate, 190 N.W. 253, 153 Minn. 256.

N.Y.—In re Mildeberger's Will, 204 N.Y.S. 881, 122 Misc. 743, affirmed 209 N.Y.S. 649, 212 App.Div. 727.

Or.—In re Edwards' Estate, 14 P.2d 274, 140 Or. 431.

Condition of property

An article which is in existence and owned by a testator at the time of his death is received by the successor to its title in the same condition as that in which it existed at time of the death.—In re Hilpert's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 886, 165 Misc. 430.

Legal papers in possession of attorney

On death of attorney, papers as to which no proceeding was pending at time of attorney's death and which were found in attorney's files should be delivered to former clients by executrix of attorney.—In re Trybom's Estate, 6 N.Y.S.2d 29, 168 Misc. 484.

49. Ill.—Phoebe v. Jay, 1 Ill. 268. 23 C.J. p 1128 notes 87, 97.

Ability to secure possession

"All the chattels of the deceased, wherever situated, are assets, if the representative, by reasonable diligence, considering the means of the estate already under his control, might have possessed himself of them."—In re Freling's Estate, 230 N.W. 443, 445, 119 Neb. 605.

Property not annexed as fixture

Where a tramroad was constructed on land under an agreement by which the material in the road did not become a fixture, such material on the death of the owner of the land and on the failure of the owner of the tramroad to remove the same under circumstances working a forfeiture passed to his administrator, and not to his heirs.—Lane v. Bell Lumber Co., 115 S.E. 207, 122 S.C. 140.

50. Me.—Hawes v. Williams, 43 A. 101, 92 Me. 483.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 88.

On collection, money belonging to intestate's estate becomes part thereof.—Guttery v. Kilgore, 172 So. 627, 233 Ala. 514.

51. N.H.—Griswold v. Chandler, 5 N.H. 492.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 90.

52. N.Y.—In re Lichtblau, 261 N.Y.S. 863, 146 Misc. 278.

53. Md.—Mitchell v. Frederick, 170 A. 733, 166 Md. 42, 92 A.L.R. 1412.

Effects of deceased person subject to military law will be turned over to widow or legal representative.—Sturgeon v. U. S., 60 Ct.Cl. 91.

54. Pa.—Steen's Estate, 1 Pa.Co. 473.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 92.

55. Ind.—Coffinberry v. Madden, 66 N.E. 64, 30 Ind.App. 360, 96 Am. S.R. 349.

Md.—Snively v. Beavans, 1 Md. 208. 23 C.J. p 1128 note 93.

56. Pa.—McClintock's Appeal, 71 Pa. 365.

57. Mo.—Wass v. Hammontree, 77 S.W.2d 1006, 1010, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 99.

58. Ark.—Rutherford v. Casey, 77 S.W.2d 58, 190 Ark. 79.

Ga.—Shingler v. Shingler, 192 S.E. 824, 184 Ga. 671.

Ky.—Fischer v. Lange, 228 S.W. 684, 190 Ky. 699.

Mich.—Bohnsack v. Detroit Trust Co., 290 N.W. 367, 292 Mich. 167.

N.Y.—Bailey v. Hollister, 26 N.Y. 112.—In re Schirmer's Will, 248 N.Y.S. 497, 231 App.Div. 625.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 1.

Properties of corporation

(1) "Even though . . . substantially the entire stock of a corporation was owned by the intestate at his death, only such stock, and not the properties of the corporation, passed to his estate, especially where . . . the corporation owed ties,⁵⁹ the good will of a business, with the books, addresses, etc., incident thereto,⁶⁰ a seat in a stock exchange,⁶¹ trade secrets,⁶² and patent rights⁶³ or copyrights.⁶⁴

On the other hand, a liquor license has been held not an asset of the estate of the deceased licensee;⁶⁵ nor are private letters received by decedent assets of his estate.⁶⁶

§ 98. Income, Increase, and Accretions

Personal assets of a decedent's estate include any income, increase, accretions, and accessions of and to the personalty owned by decedent in his lifetime.

Personal assets are not necessarily restricted to personalty which decedent owned in his lifetime, but embrace also the proper and just earnings, income, increase, accretions, and accessions of and to those assets, even after the death of decedent.⁶⁷

§ 99. Legacies and Distributive Shares

Where a legatee or distributee dies before receiving payment, the legacy or distributive share ordinarily goes to his executor or administrator.

A legacy due one under a will without restriction, or the share of a residuary legatee or distributee in an unsettled estate, goes, on his death before receiving payment, to his executor or administrator, as the proper representative to collect and receive the fund, irrespective of the persons who may finally inherit;⁶⁸ and the same is true as to any portion of a legacy or distributive share remaining unpaid at the death of the heir or legatee.⁶⁹

Where, however, there are no creditors of the heir, legatee, or distributee, and no claim of husband or widow to adjust, a payment directly to his next of kin is valid, for this accomplishes by a more direct method the same result as though payment had been made to the administrator and the fund distributed by him to those entitled.⁷⁰ Where a legatee predeceases the testator, but a lapse of the legacy is prevented by substitutionary provisions in the will⁷¹ or by preventative statutes,⁷² the legacy goes to the person or persons designated by the testator or by the statute, and not to the executor or administrator of the legatee; and where a legatee is given merely a life interest, with remainder to his debts."—Shingler v. Shingler, 192 S. E. 824, 825, 184 Ga. 671.

(2) Where corporation was substantially owned by decedent, its affairs and property are to be administered as assets of decedent's estate.—Central Farmers' Trust Co. v. Pinkham, 146 So. 563, 108 Fla. 355.

(3) As between decedent's estate and its distributees and creditors, the assets of a corporation preponderantly owned by decedent are those of his estate for all administrative purposes.—In re Abramowitz' Estate, 9 N.Y.S.2d 846, 170 Misc. 68.

(4) For the purposes of estate administration where wholly owned corporations are involved, there exists what is in effect an assignment to the executor by corporation of all its assets, and wholly owned corporation is merged into the estate and has to be accounted for as if its assets were in form as well as in substance estate assets.—In re Browning's Estate, 16 N.Y.S.2d 841, 172 Misc. 1088.

59. S.C.—Chapman v. Charleston, 9 S.E. 591, 30 S.C. 549, 3 L.R.A. 311.

60. Mo.—Magee v. Pope, 112 S.W. 2d 891, 234 Mo.App. 191.
23 C.J. p 1129 note 7—28 C.J. p 737 note 68.

Good will of purely personal business carried on by decedent terminates at his death and is not deemed an asset of his estate.

N.Y.—In re Leserman's Estate, 260 N.Y.S. 188, 145 Misc. 387.

Pa.—In re Baer's Estate, 88 Pa.Dist.

& Co. 409, 56 Montg.Co. 286, 54 York.Leg.Rec. 127.

Illegal business has no good will which can pass to administrator as an asset.—Gouy Shong v. Chew Shee, 150 N.E. 225, 254 Mass. 366.

61. N.Y.—Matter of Grant, 116 N.Y. S. 767, 1152, 132 App.Div. 739.
23 C.J. p 1128 note 3.

62. Mass.—Peabody v. Norfolk, 98 Mass. 452, 96 Am.D. 664.
23 C.J. p 1129 note 8.

63. U.S.—Bradley v. Dull, C.C.Pa., 19 F. 913.
23 C.J. p 1129 note 9.

64. Tenn.—Oliver v. Morgan, 10 Heisk. 322.

65. Mich.—Hartingh v. Bay Cir. Judge, 142 N.W. 585, 176 Mich. 289, Ann.Cas.1915B 520.
33 C.J. p 533 note 21.

Nature of rights conferred by liquor license see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors §§ 109–114, also 33 C.J. p 532 note 14 et seq.

66. N.Y.—In re Ryan's Estate, 188 N.Y.S. 387, 115 Misc. 472.
23 C.J. p 1128 note 87 [c].

67. U.S.—Globe Indemnity Co. v. Bruce, C.C.A.Okl., 81 F.2d 143, reversing, D.C., Bruce v. Globe Indemnity Co., 9 F.Supp. 761, certiorari denied 56 S.Ct. 591, two cases, 297 U.S. 716, 80 L.Ed. 1001.
Minn.—In re Butler's Estate, 284 N. W. 889, 205 Minn. 60.

Mo.—In re Holmes' Estate, 40 S.W. 2d 616, 619, 328 Mo. 148, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1129 note 16.

68. Mass.—Richardson v. Warfield, 148 N.E. 141, 252 Mass. 518.

N.J.—Hedden v. Hedden, 162 A. 114, 10 N.J.Misc. 1017.

N.Y.—In re Schwarzmann's Estate, 21 N.Y.S.2d 912, 174 Misc. 834—In re Link's Will, 17 N.Y.S.2d 634, 173 Misc. 217—In re Trent's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 928, 159 Misc. 822—In re Hoole's Estate, 282 N.Y.S. 657, 156 Misc. 821.

Ohio.—Layman v. Claus, 153 N.E. 756, 22 Ohio App. 55.

Or.—In re McLeod's Estate, 82 P.2d 884, 159 Or. 687.

W.Va.—Kennedy's Adm'r v. Kennedy, 125 S.E. 337, 97 W.Va. 491.

23 C.J. p 1129 note 17.

Effect of death of distributee on disposition of share see Descent and Distribution § 67.

If legacy is contingent it will fail on the death of the legatee prior to the happening of the contingency.—Marsh v. Wheeler, 2 Edw., N.Y., 156.

69. N.Y.—In re McGowan's Estate, 26 N.Y.S.2d 981, 176 Misc. 189.
23 C.J. p 1130 note 18.

70. Miss.—Maxwell v. Craft, 32 Miss. 307.

23 C.J. p 1130 note 19.

71. N.J.—Brokaw v. Hudson, 27 N. J.Eq. 135.

Lapse of legacies see the C.J.S. title Wills §§ 1197–1222, also 69 C. J. p 1051 note 48 et seq.

72. N.J.—Canfield v. Canfield, 50 A. 471, 62 N.J.Eq. 578—Suydam v. Voorhees, 43 A. 4, 58 N.J.Eq. 157.

heirs, the principal of the fund is not assets of the life tenant's estate.⁷³

§ 100. Debts and Rights of Action

The personal representative ordinarily takes as assets all debts and rights of action, including rights of action connected with realty which have accrued prior to decedent's death and claims against the government which are founded on obligations or rights recognized by law.

All debts, claims, rights, choses in action, and surviving rights of action of decedent, of every kind, reducible to money, vest in the executor or administrator, to be collected or sued on or transferred for the benefit of the estate,⁷⁴ so that, in the absence of some default, fraud, or refusal to act on the part of the personal representative, an heir ordinarily cannot sue on rights of action belonging to the estate.⁷⁵

The representative thus becomes entitled to sums due under contracts,⁷⁶ to notes or bonds,⁷⁷ and to bank deposits,⁷⁸ and, likewise, becomes entitled 73. R.I.—Thayer v. Fairchild, 56 A. 773, 25 R.I. 509.

74. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 158 So. 522, 229 Ala. 578.

Ark.—Turner v. Vaughan, 238 S.W. 1059, 152 Ark. 475.

Cal.—Hall v. Alexander, 64 P.2d 767, 18 Cal.App.2d 660.

Colo.—In re Grigsby's Estate, 56 P. 2d 1318, 98 Colo. 489.

Ind.—Pond v. Newgent, 176 N.E. 17, 96 Ind.App. 468.

Ky.—Moore's Adm'r v. Wagers' Adm'r, 48 S.W.2d 15, 243 Ky. 351.

Minn.—Boeck v. Johnson, 201 N.W. 311, 161 Minn. 248.

Mo.—Wass v. Hammontree, 77 S.W. 2d 1006, 1010, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—In re Duggan's Will, 262 N.Y. S. 512, 146 Misc. 596.

Ohio.—Du Vall v. Faulkner, 149 N.E. 868, 113 Ohio St. 543.

Wis.—In re Lake's Estate, 253 N.W. 174, 214 Wis. 474.

Wyo.—Tuttle v. Short, 288 P. 524, 42 Wyo. 1, 70 A.L.R. 106.

23 C.J. p 1130 note 23, p 1129 note 6, p 1128 note 1 [a]—24 C.J. p 206 note 88.

Cause of action for personal covenant broken during lifetime of decedent.—Mott v. Mott, 11 Barb. N. Y., 127.

Claim for reimbursement of decedent as surety

Ill.—Harris v. Harris, 92 Ill.App. 455.

Claim under guarantee

Mass.—Plummer v. Emery, 77 N.E. 690, 191 Mass. 183—Walsh v. Packard, 42 N.E. 577, 165 Mass. 189, 52 Am.S.R. 508, 40 L.R.A. 321.

N.J.—Weiss v. Sullivan, 109 A. 344, 94 N.J.Law 191.

Debt due from heir, devisee, legatee, or creditor

Ky.—Green v. Green, 14 S.W. 836, 12 Ky.L. 585.

23 C.J. p 1130 note 23 [c].

Right of action on recognition

Pa.—Pauley v. Pauley, 7 Watts 159.

Right of action under marriage settlements

Ky.—Brunk v. Means, 11 B.Mon. 214—Mitchel v. Mitchel, 4 B.Mon. 380, 41 Am.D. 237.

Right of election in vendor, on default of the purchaser, to sue for the price or avoid the contract.—Oakes v. Killilian, 95 N.W. 511, 1 Neb. Unoff., 55.

Right to accounting

Ariz.—Kinealy v. O'Reilly, 236 P. 716, 28 Ariz. 246.

23 C.J. p 1130 note 23 [b].

Right to vendor's lien

Ala.—Mancill v. Thomas, 114 So. 223, 216 Ala. 623.

Wis.—Evans v. Enloe, 34 N.W. 918, 36 N.W. 22, 70 Wis. 345.

Right to earnings or services of infant

(1) Right to recover for loss of services of minor prior to father's death and for expenses because of defendant's wrongful injury of such minor is asset of estate.—Eastman v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, Mo. App., 220 S.W. 508.

(2) Right to infant's earnings prior to father's death is in personal representative, and mother's emancipation of infant after father's death could not estop representative from making claim therefor.—Potter v. Davidson, 20 P.2d 409, 143 Or. 101, rehearing denied 21 P.2d 785, 143 Or. 101.

Right to enforce stockholders' liability

Okl.—Keaton v. Shiflett, 63 P.2d 102, 178 Okl. 587.

Right to recover for hospital and medical services furnished deceased employee.—Texas Employers' Ins.

Ass'n v. Herron, Tex.Civ.App., 29 S. W.2d 524, error dismissed.

Valuable right of injunction of which equity takes cognizance.—

Peabody v. Norfolk, 98 Mass. 452, 96 Am.D. 664.

75. Cal.—Holland v. Kelly, 171 P. 421, 177 Cal. 507.

Right of heirs to enforce choses in action of decedent see Descent and Distribution § 85 d.

76. N.C.—Avery v. Guy, 162 S.E. 217, 202 N.C. 182.

23 C.J. p 1131 note 24.

Balance due on accounts

N.C.—Mayo v. Dawson, 76 S.E. 241, 160 N.C. 76.

Claim for interest due at time of decedent's death.—Sweigart v. Frey, 3 Serg. & R., Pa., 299.

Claim against fraternal association for sick benefits accruing during the lifetime of decedent.—Continental Casualty Co. v. Maxwell, 127 Ill. App. 19.

Right of action for value of support to which decedent was entitled as part of the consideration for a deed, but which was not furnished.—Bryson v. Briggs, 104 S.W. 982, 32 Ky.L. 159.

Right to indemnity under insurance policy

Ill.—Furst v. Brady, 31 N.E.2d 606, 375 Ill. 425, 133 A.L.R. 558, reversing In re Brady's Estate, 24 N.E. 2d 748, 303 Ill.App. 139.

Or.—In re Vilas' Estate, 110 P.2d 940.

Right to sue indemnity insurer after obtaining judgment against insured.—Blas v. Ohio Farmers Indemnity Co., 81 P.2d 1057, 28 Cal.App.2d 14—Pigg v. International Indemnity Co., 261 P. 486, 86 Cal.App. 671.

Necessity of performance of conditions precedent

A claim for money based on a contract dependent on the performance of conditions precedent is not an asset of the estate where there has been no performance or offer to perform.—Matthews v. Manhattan Life Ins. Co., 189 S.E. 858, 55 Ga.App. 204.

77. Ark.—Rutherford v. Casey, 77 S.W.2d 58, 190 Ark. 79.

Fla.—Corlett v. May, 171 So. 517, 126 Fla. 506.

Ill.—Feeney v. Runyan, 147 N.E. 114, 316 Ill. 246.

La.—Martin v. Himel, 140 So. 478, 174 La. 281.

Mass.—Goodfellow v. Farnham, 132 N.E. 363, 239 Mass. 590.

Pa.—In re Gingerich's Estate, 51 York Leg.Rec. 189.

23 C.J. p 1128 note 4—24 C.J. p 202 note 63 [a].

78. Cal.—People v. McEnerney, 297 P. 568, 112 Cal.App. 609.

Ill.—Werkman v. Harma, 282 Ill.App. 20.

Miss.—Godwin v. Godwin, 107 So. 13, 141 Miss. 633.

Mo.—Elberta Peach & Land Co. v. Chicago Bonding & Surety Co., 215 S.W. 20, 279 Mo. 535.

to judgments,⁷⁹ arrears of wages or salary,⁸⁰ and to dividends on corporate stock due and payable before decedent's death,⁸¹ or even when declared and payable after such death.⁸²

The representative also becomes invested with the general rights of action pertaining to personal property,⁸³ including a right of action to recover personal property,⁸⁴ or for injuries to such property;⁸⁵ a cause of action for personal injuries,⁸⁶ or the damages recovered in such an action,⁸⁷ which is revived on plaintiff's death;⁸⁸ and a right of action for damages for deceit.⁸⁹

Rights of action connected with realty. With regard to rights of action relating to or arising out of real property, such as for a breach of covenants relating thereto, for a trespass on or other injury to the real estate, or for damages for the condemnation of, or injury to, the land in the exercise of the right of eminent domain, the governing consideration is whether the injury accrued and the right of action became complete before the death of the owner.⁹⁰ Rights of action accruing before the death of the owner go to the personal representative as assets;⁹¹ but where the injury occurred or the right of action accrued subsequent to such death, the claim vests in the heirs who were at the time the owners of the property,⁹² and even though the mon-

N.Y.—In re Manning's Estate, 278 N.Y.S. 303, 244 App.Div. 9, affirmed Dunbar & Sullivan Dredging Co. v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 198 N.E. 560, 268 N.Y. 690—In re Hoffman's Estate, 25 N.Y.S.2d 339, 175 Misc. 607—In re Caraher's Estate, 245 N.Y.S. 305, 138 Misc. 10.

Ohio.—Waltbilly v. Burke, 17 Ohio App. 444.

Pa.—Mausser v. Mauser, 192 A. 137, 326 Pa. 257—In re Schweitzer's Estate, 49 Dauph.Co. 286—In re Throne's Estate, 49 Dauph.Co. 251. 23 C.J. p 1138 note 89, p 1131 note 25.

Check paid after death

Claimant of amount of check, given by decedent and paid by bank after decedent's death, must return amount and file claim against estate.—In re Ehlers' Estate, 231 N.Y.S. 16, 132 Misc. 910.

Amount paid to bank for unused drafts

Or.—Gellert v. Bank of California, National Ass'n, 214 P. 377, 107 Or. 162.

Indebtedness to bank

The deposit is not an asset where the amount is less than a debt owed by decedent to the bank.—Backer v. City Bank & Trust Co., 180 S.E. 604, 180 Ga. 672—Westbrook v. Westbrook, 187 S.E. 682, 54 Ga.App. 278.

79. Colo.—Bright v. Schmitt, 231 P. 159, 76 Colo. 329.

Conn.—Ives v. Beecher, 52 A. 746, 75 Conn. 153.

Mo.—Vitale v. Duerbeck, 92 S.W.2d 691, 338 Mo. 556. 23 C.J. p 1131 note 38.

Judgment obtained by heirs

Judgment given in an action to recover property of the estate brought and successfully prosecuted by the heirs after the administrator's refusal to sue is part of the assets of the estate.—Bem v. Shoemaker, 74 N.W. 239, 10 S.D. 453.

Right to revive judgment after it becomes dormant is in the administrator.—Armstrong v. Harper, 102 S.E. 463, 25 Ga.App. 71.

80. Mass.—Loring v. Cunningham, 9 Cush. 87. 23 C.J. p 1131 note 27.

Uncollected fees

Tenn.—Stewart v. Taylor, 9 Lea 352.

Claim for services rendered by decedent in his lifetime.—Lappin v. Mumford, 14 Kan. 9.

81. Conn.—Welles v. Cowles, 4 Conn. 182, 10 Am.D. 115.

Ga.—People's Nat. Bank v. Cleveland, 44 S.E. 20, 117 Ga. 908.

Derivative right

Any right of administrators of life tenant's son in undistributed earnings of corporation, on ground that earnings passed under life tenant's will to son, was derivative and could rise no higher than right of life tenant thereto during her lifetime.—Green v. Philadelphia Inquirer Co., 196 A. 32, 329 Pa. 169.

82. U.S.—Sanborn v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A., 88 F. 2d 134, certiorari denied 57 S.Ct. 930, 301 U.S. 700, 81 L.Ed. 1355.

Va.—Hampton Roads Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Coburn Motor Car Co., 164 S.E. 723, 158 Va. 675, 84 A.L.R. 731.

23 C.J. p 1131 note 31.

83. Iowa.—Brandenburg v. Carmichael, 185 N.W. 486, 192 Iowa 694. 24 C.J. p 206 note 89.

84. Iowa.—Brandenburg v. Carmichael, supra.

23 C.J. p 1131 note 32.

Right of action to set aside transfer of property

Ky.—Baker v. McDonald, 215 S.W. 292, 185 Ky. 470.

Ohio.—Skehan v. Larkin, 179 N.E. 425, 41 Ohio App. 85.

35. Iowa.—Brandenburg v. Carmichael, 185 N.W. 486, 192 Iowa 694.

Miss.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. New Orleans & G. N. R. Co., 125 So. 541, 156 Miss. 122.

Mo.—Smith v. Denny, 37 Mo. 20.

Nature of injury

The legislature, when using the words "trespass committed on the estate" in statute providing that executors and administrators may maintain actions for "trespass committed on the estate" of the deceased during his lifetime, contemplated a direct damage or injury to physical property of the estate and not consequential loss which might result to the estate from trespass to the person in his lifetime.—Boyd v. Sibold, 109 P.2d 535, 7 Wash.2d 279.

86. Okl.—Okmulgee Gas Co. v. Kelly, 232 P. 428, 105 Okl. 189. Claim for death of decedent see infra § 102.

87. Cal.—Blackwell v. American Film Co., 209 P. 999, 189 Cal. 689. N.Y.—In re Fortunoff's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 549, 167 Misc. 119—In re Von Kauffmann's Estate, 3 N.Y.S. 2d 486, 167 Misc. 83.

Amount received on settlement of such an action is assets.—Taylor's Estate, 36 A. 230, 179 Pa. 254.

88. Okl.—St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., v. Goode, 142 P. 1185, 42 Okl. 784, L.R.A.1915E 1141.

23 C.J. p 1131 note 47.

89. Mass.—Marvel v. Cobb, 86 N.E. 360, 200 Mass. 293.

90. Tenn.—Griffith v. Nashville, C. & St. L. Ry. 246 S.W. 532, 147 Tenn. 224.

23 C.J. p 1135 note 75.

91. Ohio.—Baughman v. Hower, 10 N.E.2d 176, 56 Ohio App. 162.

Tenn.—Griffith v. Nashville, C. & St. L. Ry., 246 S.W. 532, 147 Tenn. 224.

23 C.J. p 1135 note 76.

Right of action to set aside conveyance of a tract of land and a mortgage of another tract induced by fraud goes to the personal representative.—Marvel v. Cobb, 86 N.E. 360, 200 Mass. 293.

92. Tenn.—Griffith v. Nashville, C. & St. L. Ry., 246 S.W. 532, 147 Tenn. 224.

23 C.J. p 1135 note 77.

ey is paid to the personal representative in such case, it is paid for the use of the heirs, and cannot be treated as assets of the estate.⁹³

Claims against government. A claim against the government is an asset of the estate of claimant, and passes to his executor or administrator to be applied in satisfaction of his debts, like any other claim existing in favor of the estate, if it is founded on a contract obligation or other right which the law recognizes,⁹⁴ and this has been held to be true even though the act of congress recognizing the claim directed payment to decedent or his heirs.⁹⁵ Where an appropriation is specifically made to the administrator of the estate of the person whose claim is thereby recognized, the amount appropriated constitutes assets of the estate,⁹⁶ and it has also been held that money appropriated to the "legal representatives" of a person goes to his administrator and not to his heirs.⁹⁷

On the other hand, if a claim is founded on a voluntary donation made by the government as a reward for past services, however meritorious, or as compensation for any loss or injury for which the government was not liable, it is not assets which can be applied to the debts of the person entitled, but generally belongs to his widow and children;⁹⁸ and a fortiori the same is true of an appropriation made directly to the heirs of one who is deceased at the time when such appropriation is made.⁹⁹

§ 101. — Debts Due from Representative

Debts due from the executor or administrator are assets of the decedent's estate.

At common law the appointment of one's debtor as executor was held to extinguish the debt, unless a contrary intent was manifest in the will,¹ and the rule was applied even where such executor died before probate or was one of several joint debtors.² In equity, however, the effect of the appointment of a debtor to the office of executor was that the debt due from the debtor executor was considered to have been paid by him to himself and on this supposition the rule was established in equity that the executor was accountable for the amount of his debt as assets.³

In the United States the rule is well settled that, where a testator appoints his debtor as executor, this does not release the debt⁴ unless such an intention is declared in the will,⁵ but that debts owing from executors stand upon the same footing with debts due decedent's estate from other sources and are to be regarded as assets,⁶ and that if a debt is secured the security is not discharged.⁷ An administrator who is indebted to his intestate must account for the debt, and even at common law his appointment, not being through the act and favor of his creditor, does not appear to have extinguished his debt.⁸

93. Ind.—Hankins v. Kimball, 57 Ind. 42.

94. U.S.—Briggs v. Walker, 19 S. Ct. 1, 171 U.S. 466, 43 L.Ed. 243, affirming 43 S.W. 479, 102 Ky. 359, 19 Ky.L. 1490.

23 C.J. p 1136 note 80.

Pensions and arrears of pay or bounties

(1) Pensions or arrears of pay or bounties due at the time of a person's death ordinarily are assets of the estate.

Mass.—Slade v. Slade, 11 Cush. 466.

—Foot v. Knowles, 4 Metc. 386.

Pa.—Maitland v. Grissinger, 1 Woodw. 294.

23 C.J. p 1136 note 80 [b], [c].

(2) It is otherwise, however, under statutes so providing, or where by statute the pension or arrears are payable to decedent's widow.

U.S.—Donnelly v. U. S., 17 Ct.Cl. 105.

Ky.—Cooper v. Cooper, 5 Ky.Op. 212.

95. N.J.—Price v. Forrest, 35 A. 1075, 54 N.J.Eq. 669, affirmed 37 A. 1117.

23 C.J. p 1136 note 81.

96. Miss.—Nutt v. Forsythe, 36 So. 247, 84 Miss. 211.

97. U.S.—Thompson v. U. S., 20 Ct. Cl. 276.

98. Pa.—Gillan v. Gillan, 55 Pa. 430, 23 C.J. p 1136 note 84.

99. U.S.—Emerson v. Hall, La., 13 Pet. 409, 10 L.Ed. 223.

La.—Mulleady's Succession, 18 So. 633, 47 La.Ann. 1580.

1. Cal.—In re Jones' Estate, 2 P. 2d 483, 115 Cal.App. 664.

Iowa.—In re Parker's Estate, 179 N. W. 525, 189 Iowa 1131.

Mont.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

Wyo.—State v. Allen, 294 P. 681, 42 Wyo. 296.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 56—3 C.J. p 579 note 56.

Reasons for rule

"Various reasons were assigned for this rule. By some it was said that the appointment suspended the right of action, and being once suspended by the voluntary act of the creditor, it was gone forever. By others it was said that the appointment was regarded as a specific legacy to the debtor for the express purpose of discharging the debt."—Glens Falls Indemnity Co. v. Wall, 177 S.E. 901, 902, 163 Va. 635.

2. Ky.—Mitchell v. Rice, 6 J.J. Marsh. 623.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 56.

3. Mont.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

Wyo.—State v. Allen, 294 P. 681, 42 Wyo. 296, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 57.

4. Iowa.—In re Parker's Estate, 179 N.W. 525, 189 Iowa 1131.

Va.—Glens Falls Indemnity Co. v. Wall, 177 S.E. 901, 163 Va. 635.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 58.

5. N.Y.—In re Snell's Estate, 17 N. Y.S.2d 510, 173 Misc. 282.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 59.

6. Iowa.—In re Parker's Estate, 179 N.W. 525, 189 Iowa 1131.

Mont.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

Ohio.—In re Fiebig's Estate, 22 N. E.2d 288, 61 Ohio App. 40.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 60.

Collection of debts due from representative see infra § 182.

7. Me.—Stewart v. Hurd, 78 A. 898, 107 Me. 457, 32 L.R.A., N.S., 671, Ann.Cas.1912D 662.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 61.

8. N.Y.—In re Phetteplace's Estate, 6 N.Y.S.2d 845.

Va.—Glens Falls Indemnity Co. v. Wall, 177 S.E. 901, 163 Va. 635.

23 C.J. p 1132 note 62.

It is sometimes said that when a debtor becomes executor or administrator of the estate of his creditor the debt is extinguished at law,⁹ but the amount of the debt becomes at once assets in his hands,¹⁰ even though it is not included in the inventory or accounts,¹¹ and the representative is chargeable with the amount thereof¹² as cash,¹³ regardless, in some jurisdictions,¹⁴ but not in others,¹⁵ of his insolvency at the time of his acceptance or thereafter, as under such circumstances equity will raise a trust¹⁶ or presume that the debt is paid.¹⁷

However, while the debt must be treated as money in the executor's hands for the purpose of administration, it will not for all purposes stand on the same footing as though he had actually received so much money.¹⁸ Thus, if the representative is wholly unable to pay the money in pursuance of an order or decree of the surrogate, on account of his insolvency, he cannot be attached and punished for contempt as he could be if the money had actually been received from some other debtor;¹⁹ and it is also clear that an executor unable to pay his own debt, and thus unable to comply with the decree of the surrogate charging him with it as so much money in his hands, would not be guilty of embezzling the money and could not be convicted of crime as he could be if he embezzled money or property which actually came into his hands.²⁰ Further, it has been held that an executor who includes in his inventory a claim of the estate against himself, stating its nature, does not thereby admit the indebtedness or waive any defenses which he may have.²¹

9. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 158 So. 522, 229 Ala. 578.

Cal.—In re Jones' Estate, 2 P.2d 483, 115 Cal.App. 664.

Mass.—Argus v. Kokkorou, 32 N.E.2d 211, 308 Mass. 315—King v. Murray, 190 N.E. 526, 286 Mass. 492.

Wis.—In re Stubbs' Will, 250 N.W. 845, 213 Wis. 439.

23 C.J. p 1133 note 63.

10. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 158 So. 522, 229 Ala. 578.

Mass.—King v. Murray, 190 N.E. 526, 286 Mass. 492.

Ohio.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., v. Jones, 153 N. E. 281, 22 Ohio App. 345.

Tex.—American Surety Co. of New York v. Norton, Com.App., 238 S. W. 1111.

Vt.—Scott v. Bradford Nat. Bank, 179 A. 149, 107 Vt. 226.

Wis.—In re Howey's Estate, 256 N. W. 620, 216 Wis. 94—In re Stubbs' Will, 250 N.W. 845, 213 Wis. 439.

23 C.J. p 1133 note 64.

11. Wis.—Robinson v. Hodgkin, 74 N.W. 791, 99 Wis. 327.

23 C.J. p 1134 note 65.

12. Mass.—Argus v. Kokkorou, 32 N.E.2d 211, 308 Mass. 315.

Wis.—In re Hoya's Will, 180 N.W. 940, 173 Wis. 196.

Authorities reviewed

Mont.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

13. Cal.—In re Azevedo's Estate, 62 P.2d 1058, 17 Cal.App.2d 710—In re Jones' Estate, 2 P.2d 483, 115 Cal. App. 664.

Iowa.—In re Christensen's Estate, 296 N.W. 198, 229 Iowa 1162—In re Windhorst's Estate, 288 N.W. 892, 227 Iowa 808.

Kan.—In re Edgington's Estate, 61 P.2d 873, 144 Kan. 478.

Mass.—Argus v. Kokkorou, 32 N.E.2d 211, 308 Mass. 315—King v. Murray, 190 N.E. 526, 286 Mass. 492.

Mont.—In re Rodgers' Estate, 217 P. 678, 68 Mont. 46.

N.Y.—In re Purcell's Will, 26 N.Y.S. 2d 353.

Ohio.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., v. Jones, 153 N. E. 281, 22 Ohio App. 345.

Tex.—American Surety Co. of New York v. Norton, Com.App., 238 S. W. 1111.

Vt.—Scott v. Bradford Nat. Bank, 179 A. 149, 107 Vt. 226.

Wis.—In re Howey's Estate, 256 N. W. 620, 216 Wis. 94—In re Stubbs' Will, 250 N.W. 845, 213 Wis. 439.

23 C.J. p 1134 note 66.

Credit for payments on account

Executor is entitled to credit on account for payments made on his personal debt to decedent while acting as executor, even if statute providing that executor is liable for debt to decedent as for money in his hands be susceptible of construction that such debt is always chargeable to executor as money in hand.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

Representative personally possessed of assets

Executors and administrators are alike liable in representative capacities for amount of personal indebtedness to decedent, as for money in their hands, under Rev.Codes 1921 § 10133, where they are, or were, personally possessed of assets, from proceeds of which they could have realized cash for which liable.—In re Connolly's Estate, supra.

14. Kan.—In re Edgington's Estate, 61 P.2d 873, 144 Kan. 478.

Mass.—King v. Murray, 190 N.E. 526, 286 Mass. 492.

Tex.—American Surety Co. of New York v. Norton, Com.App., 238 S. W. 1111.

Wis.—In re Howey's Estate, 256 N. W. 620, 216 Wis. 94—In re Stubbs' Will, 250 N.W. 845, 213 Wis. 439.

23 C.J. p 1133 note 64 [j], p 1134 notes 66 [b], 68 [a].

15. Cal.—In re Azevedo's Estate, 62 P.2d 1058, 17 Cal.App.2d 710.

Iowa.—In re Christensen's Estate, 296 N.W. 198, 229 Iowa 1162—In re Windhorst's Estate, 288 N.W. 892, 227 Iowa 808.

Mont.—In re Connolly's Estate, 257 P. 418, 79 Mont. 445.

N.Y.—Matter of Georgi, 47 N.Y.S. 1061, 21 Misc. 419.

Va.—Glens Falls Indemnity Co. v. Wall, 177 S.E. 901, 163 Va. 635.

Wyo.—State v. Allen, 294 P. 681, 42 Wyo. 296.

Necessity of diligence in collection

Executor is liable, to same extent as administrator at common law, for his own debt to decedent, but is not liable therefor, as for money in hand, where not guilty of neglect and able to turn over all estate received, including such cash as he could recover with due diligence on his own and all other debts.—In re Connolly's Estate, 235 P. 408, 73 Mont. 35.

16. S.C.—Porter v. Cheesborough, 6 S.C.Eq. 275.

23 C.J. p 1134 note 67.

Trust does not extend to property with which payment might be made.—Edisto Nat. Bank of Orangeburg, S. C., v. Bryant, C.C.A.S.C., 72 F.2d 917.

17. Ala.—Lindsey v. Lindsey, 158 So. 522, 229 Ala. 578.

23 C.J. p 1134 note 68.

18. Ill.—Wachsmuth v. Penn Mut. L. Ins. Co., 147 Ill.App. 510, affirmed 89 N.E. 787, 241 Ill. 409, 132 Am.S.R. 226, 26 L.R.A.N.S., 411.

23 C.J. p 1134 note 69.

19. Cal.—Matter of Walker, 57 P. 991, 125 Cal. 242, 78 Am.S.R. 40, 23 C.J. p 1135 note 70.

20. N.Y.—Baucus v. Stover, 89 N.Y. 1, reversing 24 Hun 109.

21. Wis.—Lynch v. Divan, 29 N.W. 213, 66 Wis. 490, 492.

23 C.J. p 1135 note 72.

A debt of a firm of which the personal representative is a member is usually considered as assets in his hands,²² although this has been denied.²³

§ 102. — Claim for Death of Decedent

A right of action for the death of a decedent or the recovery in such an action is a part of the assets of a decedent's estate under some statutes, but under other statutes the claim or recovery is not an asset of the estate except for limited and particular purposes.

The question as to whether a right of action for the death of a decedent or the recovery in such an action is an asset of decedent's estate is determined by the provisions of the applicable statutes, under some of which the right of action or the recovery is a part of the estate.²⁴ Under other statutes the right of action or the recovery is not an asset of the estate,²⁵ except for the limited purpose of collection and distribution,²⁶ or unless an action for personal injuries had been commenced by the decedent himself,²⁷ but belongs to those persons designated as beneficiaries by the statute.²⁸

22. N.Y.—Matter of Ablowich, 103 N.Y.S. 699, 118 App.Div. 626.

23 C.J. p 1135 note 73.

23. Ohio.—James v. West, 65 N.E. 156, 67 Ohio St. 28.

24. Ky.—Berg v. Berg's Adm'r, 48 S.W. 432, 105 Ky. 80, 20 Ky.L. 1083—Givens v. Kentucky Cent. R. Co., 12 S.W. 257, 11 Ky.L. 452.

5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [c] (5).

Recovery specifically for benefit of estate becomes part of assets of estate.—Adams v. Shell, 33 S.W.2d 1107, 182 Ark. 959.

Applying Alaska statute

Cal.—McManus v. Red Salmon Canning Co., 173 P. 1112, 37 Cal.App. 133.

Applying Kentucky statute

U.S.—Maysville Street Railroad & Transfer Co. v. Marvin, C.C.A.Ky., 59 F. 91.

25. U.S.—In re Butler, D.C.Va., 20 F.Supp. 995.

Ala.—McWhorter Transfer Co. v. Peek, 167 So. 291, 232 Ala. 143—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Echols, 105 So. 651, 213 Ala. 490.

Cal.—In re Riccomi's Estate, 197 P. 97, 185 Cal. 458, 14 A.L.R. 509.

Ga.—Cooper v. Cooper, 119 S.E. 335, 30 Ga.App. 710.

Ind.—Fink v. Peden, 17 N.E.2d 95, 214 Ind. 584—Messenger v. Messenger, 17 N.E.2d 488, 106 Ind.App. 127—Chicago, I. & L. Ry. Co. v. Hemstock, 4 N.E.2d 677, 102 Ind. App. 654, followed in 5 N.E.2d 1010, 103 Ind.App. 705—Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Co. v. Thompson, 134 N.E. 514, 81 Ind.App. 498.

Kan.—Cudney v. United Power & Light Corporation, 51 P.2d 28, 142 Kan. 613, 101 A.L.R. 835.

Ky.—Caruthers v. Cox, 14 S.W. 599, 12 Ky.L. 567.

Me.—Danforth v. Emmons, 126 A. 821, 124 Me. 156.

Minn.—Masek v. Hedlund, 202 N.W. 732, 162 Minn. 291—Turner v. Minneapolis St. Ry. Co., 190 N.W. 986, 153 Minn. 509.

Nev.—In re Troyer's Estate, 227 P. 1008, 48 Nev. 72.

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114—Ghilain v. Couture, 146 A. 395, 84 N.H. 48, 65 A.L.R. 553.

N.J.—Capraro v. Propati, 13 A.2d 318, 127 N.J.Eq. 419, reversing 8 A.2d 52, 126 N.J.Eq. 67.

N.Y.—Central New York Coach Lines v. Syracuse Herald Co., 13 N.E.2d 598, 277 N.Y. 110, reversing 291 N.Y.S. 247, 249 App.Div. 692—Davis v. New York Cent. & H. R. R. Co., 135 N.E. 277, 233 N.Y. 242, reversing 167 N.Y.S. 868, 181 App.Div. 228—In re Ehret's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 122, 247 App.Div. 456, affirming 285 N.Y.S. 570, 158 Misc. 308—In re McHugh's Estate, 234 N.Y.S. 541, 226 App.Div. 153—In re Marinano's Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 811, 158 Misc. 825—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

Okl.—Baltimore American Ins. Co. of New York v. Cannon, 73 P.2d 167, 181 Okl. 244.

Pa.—McFadden v. May, 189 A. 483, 325 Pa. 145—In re Sibilia's Estate, 124 A. 137, 279 Pa. 459, dismissing appeal 82 Pa.Super. 67.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437.

S.D.—Campbell v. Duncan, 242 N.W. 916, 60 S.D. 38.

Tenn.—Cummins v. Woody, 152 S.W. 2d 246, 177 Tenn. 636—Haynes v. Walker, 76 S.W. 902, 111 Tenn. 106—Cunningham v. Hutcherson, 14 Tenn.App. 173.

Tex.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Herron, Civ.App., 29 S.W.2d 524.

Wis.—In re Arneberg's Estate, 200 N.W. 557, 184 Wis. 570.

Wyo.—Tuttle v. Short, 288 P. 524, 42 Wyo. 1, 70 A.L.R. 106.

5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [c] (1), (4).

Applying New Jersey statute

U.S.—Riley v. Lukens Dredging & Contracting Corporation, D.C.Md., 4 F.Supp. 144.

Recovery specifically for beneficiaries does not become part of assets of decedent's estate.—Adams v. Shell, 33 S.W.2d 1107, 182 Ark. 959.

Application of rule harsh and unjust

A claim for medical and nursing services rendered to decedent after an automobile accident in an effort to save or prolong his life is properly payable by the administrator out of the damages recovered, where no other fund was available, the court ruling that, "while it is true that the recovery is not subject to the payment of the debts of the deceased, and that the damages are exclusively for the benefit of the next of kin, the application here of such rule would be both harsh and unjust."—In re Procopio's Estate, 267 N.Y.S. 908, 909, 149 Misc. 347.

26. U.S.—Harrison v. Love, C.C.A. Mich., 81 F.2d 115.

Ala.—Hampton v. Roberson, 163 So. 644, 231 Ala. 55—Fischer v. Pope, 155 So. 579, 229 Ala. 170—Drummond v. Drummond, 102 So. 112, 212 Ala. 242—Kuykendall v. Edmondson, 87 So. 882, 205 Ala. 265—Hines v. Seibels, 86 So. 43, 204 Ala. 382—Newell v. Bushard, 85 So. 274, 204 Ala. 73—Griswold v. Griswold, 20 So. 437, 111 Ala. 572—South & North Alabama R. Co. v. Sullivan, 59 Ala. 272—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Perkins, 56 So. 105, 1 Ala.App. 376.

Mich.—Findlay v. Chicago & Grand Trunk Ry. Co., 64 N.W. 732, 106 Mich. 700.

5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [c] (2), (3).

"The proceeds of the recovery . . . are not a part of the estate of the deceased in the sense that resort may be had thereto to satisfy claims of creditors."—In re Venne-man's Estate, 282 N.W. 180, 184, 286 Mich. 368.

Action for wrongful death by personal representative or by administrator ad prosequendum see Death § 58.

27. N.H.—Niemi v. Boston & M. R. R., 173 A. 361, 87 N.H. 1, affirmed 175 A. 245, 87 N.H. 1.

28. Ala.—McWhorter Transfer Co. v. Peek, 167 So. 291, 232 Ala. 143.

Ind.—Fink v. Peden, 17 N.E.2d 95, 214 Ind. 584—Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Co. v. Thompson, 134 N.E. 514, 81 Ind.App. 498.

Kan.—Cudney v. United Power & Light Corporation, 51 P.2d 28, 142 Kan. 613, 101 A.L.R. 835.

Me.—Danforth v. Emmons, 126 A. 821, 124 Me. 156.

Minn.—Masek v. Hedlund, 202 N.W. 732, 162 Minn. 291—Turner v. Minneapolis St. Ry. Co., 190 N.W. 986, 153 Minn. 509.

§ 103. Real Property and Interests Therein

Unless otherwise provided by statute, real property and interests therein ordinarily are not, on the death of the owner, assets of the estate.

Real estate and interests therein ordinarily vest at once, on the death of the owner, in his heirs, see Descent and Distribution § 66, or devisees, see the C.J.S. title Wills § 1099, also 69 C.J. p 1150 notes 80-86; such property usually does not, in a primary sense, become assets of decedent's estate in the hands of his personal representatives.²⁹

However, under the conditions and for the purposes prescribed by statute, as where the personal property is insufficient to pay the debts of decedent's estate, his real property and interests therein may be regarded as assets to which his personal representatives may resort.³⁰ Under some statutes one's

Nev.—In re Troyer's Estate, 227 P. 1008, 48 Nev. 72.

N.J.—Capraro v. Propati, 13 A.2d 318, 127 N.J.Eq. 419, reversing 8 A. 2d 52, 126 N.J.Eq. 67.

N.Y.—In re Marinano's Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 811, 158 Misc. 825.

Pa.—McFadden v. May, 189 A. 483, 325 Pa. 145—In re Sibilia's Estate, 124 A. 137, 279 Pa. 459, dismissing appeal 82 Pa.Super. 67.

S.C.—Ellenberg v. Arthur, 183 S.E. 306, 178 S.C. 490, 103 A.L.R. 437.

Tex.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Herron, Civ.App., 29 S.W.2d 524. Beneficiaries of cause of action for wrongful death or of recovery therein see Death § 33.

29. U.S.—Ross v. Beacham, D.C.S.C., 33 F.Supp. 3—Abbott v. Welch, D. C.Mass., 31 F.Supp. 369.

Ala.—Bedsole v. Tiller, 181 So. 286, 236 Ala. 101—Awbrey v. Estes, 112 So. 529, 216 Ala. 66.

Ariz.—Stephens v. Comstock-Dexter Mines, 97 P.2d 202, 54 Ariz. 519.

Ark.—Jones v. Patton, 234 S.W. 28, 150 Ark. 275.

Cal.—In re De Barry's Estate, 111 P. 2d 728, 43 Cal.App.2d 715—In re Izedorio's Estate, 280 P. 171, 100 Cal.App. 469.

Conn.—Bowen v. Morgillo, 14 A.2d 724, 127 Conn. 161—Hewitt v. Sanborn, 130 A. 472, 103 Conn. 352.

Ga.—Zeagler v. Zeagler, 9 S.E.2d 263, 190 Ga. 220—Smith v. Fischer, 184 S.E. 406, 52 Ga.App. 598.

Ill.—Dixon v. Nefstead, 2 N.E.2d 135, 285 Ill.App. 463.

Ind.—Condo v. Barbour, 200 N.E. 76, 101 Ind.App. 483.

Iowa.—In re Shwertley's Estate, 293 N.W. 445, 228 Iowa 1209—In re Hager's Estate, 235 N.W. 563, 212 Iowa 851.

Ky.—Russell v. Hogan, 140 S.W.2d 615, 282 Ky. 764.

Me.—Bragdon v. Smith, 12 A.2d 665, 136 Me. 474—Averill v. Cone, 149 A. 297, 128 Me. 546, 129 Me. 9.

Mass.—Dudley v. Dudley, 15 N.E.2d 212, 300 Mass. 270, 117 A.L.R. 1365—Cook v. Howe, 182 N.E. 581, 280 Mass. 325—Commonwealth v. O'Connell, 174 N.E. 665, 274 Mass. 315—Richardson v. Warfield, 148 N.E. 141, 252 Mass. 518.

Mich.—Diel v. Diel, 298 N.W. 478, 298 Mich. 127—Michigan Trust Co. v. City of Grand Rapids, 247 N.W. 744, 262 Mich. 547, 87 A.L.R. 840—

Windoes v. Colwell, 225 N.W. 573, 247 Mich. 372.

Minn.—Kietzer v. Nelson, 196 N.W. 641, 157 Minn. 463.

Miss.—Gidden v. Gidden, 167 So. 785, 176 Miss. 98.

Mo.—De Hatre v. Ruenpohl, 108 S.W. 2d 357, 341 Mo. 749, transferred, see, App., 123 S.W.2d 243—Lanphere v. Affeld, 99 S.W.2d 36—Wass v. Ham-montree, 77 S.W.2d 1006—Anderson v. Taylor, 227 S.W. 84—Cunningham v. Kinnerk, 74 S.W.2d 1107, 230 Mo.App. 749.

Mont.—Swanberg v. National Surety Co., 283 P. 761, 86 Mont. 340—First State Bank of Phillipsburg v. Mus-sigbrod, 271 P. 695, 83 Mont. 68.

N.H.—Ruel v. Hardy, 6 A.2d 753, 90 N.H. 240.

N.J.—Seddon v. Pickard, 137 A. 541, 101 N.J.Eq. 241.

N.Y.—In re Cunniff's Estate, 4 N.E. 2d 946, 272 N.Y. 89, reversing 286 N.Y.S. 870, 246 App.Div. 352, reversing 282 N.Y.S. 675, 156 Misc. 596—

Windsor Trust Co. v. Waterbury, 145 N.Y.S. 794, 160 App.Div. 571, affirmed 107 N.E. 1087, 213 N.Y. 686—In re Reilly's Will, 24 N.Y.S. 2d 213, 175 Misc. 597—In re Will-er's Estate, 12 N.Y.S.2d 867, 171 Misc. 582—In re Rosenblatt's Es-tate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 619, 167 Misc. 258

—In re Merrill's Estate, 300 N.Y.S. 671, 165 Misc. 161—In re Baker's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 261, 164 Misc. 92—In re Ryan's Estate, 291 N.Y.S. 668, 161 Misc. 313—In re Engel's Estate, 250 N.Y.S. 648, 140 Misc. 276.

N.C.—Linker v. Linker, 196 S.E. 329, 213 N.C. 351—Parker v. Porter, 179 S.E. 28, 208 N.C. 31.

N.D.—Aberle v. Merkel, 291 N.W. 913, 70 N.D. 89.

Ohio.—Bickley v. Citizens Sav. Bank & Trust Co., App., 34 N.E.2d 262—Dillman v. Warner, 6 N.E.2d 757, 54 Ohio App. 170—Nolan v. Kroll, 174 N.E. 750, 37 Ohio App. 350.

Okl.—Russell v. Davison, 89 P.2d 352, 184 Okl. 606, 121 A.L.R. 1063—Seal v. Banes, 35 P.2d 704, 168 Okl. 550.

Or.—In re Ohlsen's Estate, 75 P.2d 6, 158 Or. 197.

Pa.—Wolfe v. Lewisburg Trust & Safe Deposit Co., 158 A. 567, 305 Pa. 583, 81 A.L.R. 660—In re Kel-ley's Estate, 146 A. 260, 297 Pa. 17—In re Von Storch's Estate, 117

A. 88, 273 Pa. 383—In re Harlack-ers' Estate, 54 York Leg.Rec. 74.

S.C.—Thompson v. Hudgens, 159 S.E. 807, 161 S.C. 450.

S.D.—Federal Land Bank of Omaha v. Fjerestad, 285 N.W. 298, 66 S. D. 429.

Tenn.—Edwards v. McCall, 10 Tenn. App. 276.

Tex.—Gannaway v. Barrera, Civ.App., 74 S.W.2d 717, reversed on other grounds Barrera v. Gannaway, 105 S.W.2d 876, 130 Tex. 142—Roberts v. Carlisle, Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 144, error dismissed—Russell v. Adams, Civ.App., 293 S.W. 264, affirmed, Com.App., 299 S.W. 889.

Utah.—In re Cloward's Estate, 82 P. 2d 336, 95 Utah 453, 119 A.L.R. 123.

Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.

Va.—Bruce v. Farrar, 158 S.E. 856, 156 Va. 542, 75 A.L.R. 872—Broad-dus v. Broaddus, 130 S.E. 794, 144 Va. 727.

Wis.—Neelen v. Holzhauer, 214 N.W. 497, 193 Wis. 196, 53 A.L.R. 359—Hill v. True, 80 N.W. 462, 104 Wis. 294.

23 C.J. p 998 note 32, p 1136 note 87.

Effect of invalid instrument

Invalid instrument whereby decedent conditionally promises to pay certain sum does not affect the operation of the text rule as regards devised realty.—Frame v. Whitaker, 36 S.W.2d 149, 120 Tex. 53, reversing, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 140.

Squatter's interest

Ga.—Holton v. Holton, 25 S.E. 468, 99 Ga. 250.

23 C.J. p 1137 note 88 [b].

30. U.S.—Bank of Hamburg v. Tri-State Savings & Loan Ass'n, C.C.A. Ark., 69 F.2d 436—Tussing v. Central Trust Co., D.C.Mich., 34 F.2d 312—Ross v. Beacham, D.C.S.C., 33 F.Supp. 3—Abbott v. Welch, D.C. Mass., 31 F.Supp. 369—In re Bux-ton's Estate, D.C.Ill., 14 F.Supp. 616.

Ala.—Forman v. McAnear, 121 So. 538, 219 Ala. 157—Boyle v. Perkins, 99 So. 652, 211 Ala. 130—Turk v. Turk, 89 So. 457, 206 Ala. 312.

Ariz.—Stephens v. Comstock-Dexter Mines, 97 P.2d 202, 54 Ariz. 519.

Ark.—Deaner v. Gwaltney, 108 S.W. 2d 600, 194 Ark. 332—Mayo v. Bank of Marvell, 65 S.W.2d 549, 188 Ark. 330.

real estate is regarded as assets to be administered by his executor or administrator quite like personality.³¹ It has been held that land which is conveyed to "the estate of" a person stated in the deed to be deceased is assets of the estate.³²

§ 104. — Proceeds of Sale

The proceeds of the sale of real estate, which by conversion at time of the owner's death is to be deemed personality, constitute assets of decedent's estate in the hands of his personal representatives. In the absence of such conversion, whether proceeds from the sale of decedent's property are assets of the estate depends on the character of such property, as realty or personality, at the time of the decedent's death.

In a suitable case of conversion from real to personal property, as where a fund is derived from the rightful sale, after decedent's death, of land whose title had vested in decedent,³³ where a sale by the executor of such land is confirmed by all the decedent's heirs,³⁴ where surplus proceeds are derived from land sold for taxes³⁵ or under execution,³⁶ or where one dies having a vested interest in the proceeds of land previously sold,³⁷ the particular fund or surplus proceeds should be considered personality, and the representative, not the heir, is entitled thereto.³⁸ However, in general, as far as executors or administrators are concerned, and except for such conversion, the character of property, whether as real or personal, is that impressed on it

Cal.—In re Isedorio's Estate, 280 P. 171, 100 Cal.App. 469.

Conn.—Bowen v. Morgillo, 14 A.2d 724, 127 Conn. 161—Hewitt v. Sanborn, 130 A. 472, 103 Conn. 352.

Ga.—Zeagler v. Zeagler, 9 S.E.2d 263, 190 Ga. 220—Whatley v. Musselwhite, 5 S.E.2d 227, 189 Ga. 91—Smith v. Fischer, 184 S.E. 406, 52 Ga.App. 598.

Ind.—Coats v. Veedersburg State Bank, 38 N.E.2d 243—Globe Mercantile Co. v. Perkeypile, 125 N.E. 29, 189 Ind. 31—Condo v. Barbour, 200 N.E. 76, 101 Ind.App. 483.

Iowa.—In re Schwertley's Estate, 293 N.W. 445, 228 Iowa 1209—In re Jackson's Estate, 280 N.W. 563, 225 Iowa 359.

Mich.—Diel v. Diel, 298 N.W. 478, 298 Mich. 127—Michigan Trust Co. v. City of Grand Rapids, 247 N.W. 744, 262 Mich. 547, 87 A.L.R. 840.

Miss.—Gidden v. Gidden, 167 So. 785, 176 Miss. 98.

Mont.—Swanberg v. National Surety Co., 283 P. 761, 86 Mont. 340.

N.Y.—In re Cunniff's Estate, 4 N.E. 2d 946, 272 N.Y. 89, reversing 286 N.Y.S. 870, 246 App.Div. 352, reversing 282 N.Y.S. 675, 156 Misc. 596—Genesee Valley Trust Co. v. Newborn, 6 N.Y.S.2d 498, 168 Misc. 703—In re Rosenblatt's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 619, 167 Misc. 258—In re Baker's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 261, 164 Misc. 92—In re Mould's Estate, 185 N.Y.S. 250, 113 Misc. 602, affirmed In re Mould, 187 N.Y.S. 355, 195 App.Div. 822—In re Ledyard's Estate, 21 N.Y.S.2d 860, affirmed In re Ledyard's Will, 20 N.Y.S.2d 1006, 259 App.Div. 892, reargument denied 21 N.Y.S.2d 390, 259 App.Div. 1029, and 24 N.Y.S.2d 780, 261 App. Div. 827—In re Bingham's Estate, 17 N.Y.S.2d 981.

N.D.—Aberle v. Merkel, 291 N.W. 913, 70 N.D. 89.

Okl.—In re Hibdon's Estate, 228 P. 154, 102 Okl. 145.

23 C.J. p 1137 note 88—5 C.J. p 825 note 84 [a] (7).

Real property as available for payment of claims against estate see infra § 479.

Sales under order of court see infra §§ 536-666.

Income of trust fund invested in real estate for decedent's benefit should be treated as assets going to the executor.—Fassitt's Estate, 2 Wkly.N.C., Pa., 571.

Distinction between realty and proceeds thereof as assets

(1) Under some of the statutes the real property itself becomes assets in the hands of the executor or administrator for the payment of debts. —Tate v. Norton, Ark., 94 U.S. 746, 24 L.Ed. 222—23 C.J. p 1137 note 88 [c] (1).

(2) According to some authorities, however, it is not the land itself, but the proceeds thereof, when sold to pay debts, which constitute the assets. —Linker v. Linker, 196 S.E. 329, 213 N.C. 351—23 C.J. p 1137 note 88 [c] (2).

(3) Proceeds of realty as assets see infra § 104.

Strict construction

Such statutes are in derogation of the common law and must be strictly construed. —Coats v. Veedersburg State Bank, Ind., 38 N.E.2d 243.

31. U.S.—Robinson v. Georgia Sav. Bank & Trust Co., C.C.A.Ga., 106 F.2d 944.

Fla.—Jones v. Federal Farm Mortg. Corporation, 182 So. 226, 132 Fla. 807.

Ga.—Peck v. Watson, 142 S.E. 450, 165 Ga. 553, 57 A.L.R. 560.

Ind.—Globe Mercantile Co. v. Perkeypile, 125 N.E. 29, 189 Ind. 31.

N.Y.—In re Burstein's Estate, 275 N.Y.S. 601, 153 Misc. 515.

Okl.—Bryan v. Seiffert, 94 P.2d 526, 185 Okl. 496—Nolan v. Mathis, 295 P. 801, 147 Okl. 155.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 90.

Property subject to administration see supra § 4.

Stating California rule

N.Y.—In re Van Zandt's Estate, 255 N.Y.S. 859, 142 Misc. 663.

32. Tex.—McKee v. Ellis, Civ.App., 83 S.W. 880.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 91.

33. N.Y.—In re McKinney's Estate, 24 N.Y.S.2d 906, 175 Misc. 377—In re Maguire's Estate, 291 N.Y.S. 753, 161 Misc. 219, affirmed 296 N.Y.S. 528, 251 App.Div. 337, motion granted In re Maguire's Will, 298 N.Y.S. 1008, 252 App.Div. 752, affirmed 13 N.E.2d 458, 277 N.Y. 527. S.C.—Pinson v. Pinson, 148 S.E. 211, 150 S.C. 368.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 93.

Proceeds of land in another state

N.Y.—Spafford v. Stafford, 28 N.Y.S. 2d 523.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 93 [a].

34. Mass.—Grout v. Hapgood, 13 Pick. 159.

35. U.S.—Chaplin v. U. S., 19 Ct.Cl. 424.

36. Pa.—Weimer v. Karch, 26 A. 432, 153 Pa. 385.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 96.

37. N.Y.—In re McKinney's Estate, 24 N.Y.S.2d 906, 175 Misc. 377. N.C.—Place v. Place, 174 S.E. 747, 206 N.C. 676.

R.I.—Capwell v. Spencer, 137 A. 699, 48 R.I. 401.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 97.

Proceeds in possession of decedent

On death with proceeds of sale of land in possession of decedent, such proceeds constitute assets of his estate subject to power of his personal representatives. —Place v. Place, 174 S.E. 747, 206 N.C. 676.

38. N.Y.—In re McKinney's Estate, 24 N.Y.S.2d 906, 175 Misc. 377.

N.C.—Place v. Place, 174 S.E. 747, 206 N.C. 676.

23 C.J. p 1139 note 98.

Descent and distribution of property equitably converted see Conversion § 40.

Disposition of proceeds of sale under order of court see infra §§ 655-660. Surplus proceeds from sale of mortgaged property see infra § 110 b.

at the death of decedent and does not change by any subsequent technical conversion in the course of administration.³⁹ Accordingly, where property in the form of realty at the time of the death of the owner is subsequently sold, proceeds of such sale are not assets in the hands of decedent's personal representatives.⁴⁰ Where land belonging to the estate of a decedent is sold on foreclosure of vendor's lien notes, any excess of proceeds over the notes goes to the heir at law.⁴¹

Where a person having an interest in realty institutes proceedings for its partition, on his death the proceeds of the sale are regarded as assets of such person's estate in the hands of his personal representatives,⁴² and the character of such proceeds as assets is not affected by the fact that a check representing them is delivered to the decedent's widow and her attorney.⁴³ If the real estate of a decedent is sold under an order of court for partition among the heirs, the proceeds are not assets in the hands of the administrator for the payment of debts, unless they are made so by order of the court,⁴⁴ although as to the heirs the share of each becomes personalty.⁴⁵

The proceeds of a void sale are not assets in the hands of the personal representatives of the vendor.⁴⁶

Property purchased with proceeds. Where all the heirs of a decedent consent to the sale of his real estate, property purchased with the proceeds does not constitute assets of decedent's estate.⁴⁷

§ 105. — Rents and Profits, Etc.

- a. In general
- b. Effect of insolvency of estate
- c. Rents collected by representative
- d. Effect of testamentary provision
- e. Effect of insufficiency of personality
- f. Effect of statutes

a. In General

Rents, profits, and income of real property accruing prior to the death of the owner are assets in the hands of his personal representative, but rents and profits accruing after the owner's death ordinarily are not assets of the estate.

The rents, profits, and income of a decedent's real property accruing before his death vest in the personal representative as assets.⁴⁸ However, subject to certain exceptions and statutory modifications discussed in the following subdivisions of this section, rents, profits, and income of realty accruing after his death are not assets, but vest in the heir or devisee,⁴⁹ even though the rent was expressly reserved to the lessor, his executors, administrators, 39. Cal.—In re Izedorio's Estate, 280 P. 171, 100 Cal.App. 469.

Miss.—Wright v. Wright, 134 So. 197, 160 Miss. 235.

N.Y.—Spafford v. Stafford, 28 N.Y.S. 2d 523—In re Phetteplace's Estate, 6 N.Y.S.2d 845.

23 C.J. p 1139 note 99.

40. N.Y.—In re Phetteplace's Estate, supra.

41. Ky.—Dodd v. Hewitt, 69 S.W. 955, 24 Ky.L. 708.

42. Iowa.—Albright v. Moeckley, 237 N.W. 309.

Under statute

Okl.—Bryan v. Seiffert, 94 P.2d 526, 185 Okl. 496.

43. Iowa.—Albright v. Moeckley, 237 N.W. 309.

44. Miss.—Johnston v. Union Bank, 37 Miss. 526.

Ill.—Smith v. Smith, 50 N.E. 1083, 174 Ill. 52, 43 L.R.A. 403.

45. Mo.—State v. Harper, 54 Mo. App. 286.

23 C.J. p 1139 note 3.

46. Ala.—Pettit v. Pettit, 82 Ala. 288.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 93 [g].

47. Ariz.—Faulkner v. Faulkner, 203 P. 560, 23 Ariz. 313.

48. Ind.—Lockridge v. Citizens Trust Co. of Greencastle, App., 37 N.E.2d 728.

Ky.—Greenway's Adm'r v. Greenway, 98 S.W.2d 283, 266 Ky. 114—Gibson's Adm'r v. Gibson, 43 S.W. 2d 343, 241 Ky. 74.

Or.—In re Banfield's Estate, 299 P. 323, 137 Or. 256, rehearing denied 3 P.2d 116, 137 Or. 256.

Tex.—Russell v. Adams, Civ.App., 293 S.W. 264, affirmed, Com.App., 299 S.W. 889.

Va.—Broadus v. Broadus, 130 S.E. 794, 144 Va. 727.

23 C.J. p 1139 notes 4, 5 [i].

Rents of realty as property available for payment of claims see infra § 480.

Life estate in part of land

Where husband had life estate in one third of land and his second wife owned storehouse thereon, husband's estate was entitled to one third of ground rent until his death and remaindermen to balance of ground rent, and surviving wife to rent from storehouse.—Baker's Adm'r v. Combs, 284 S.W. 101, 215 Ky. 5.

Mortgaged property

(1) Where a mortgagor dies after a receiver to collect rents has been appointed in suit to foreclose the mortgage, that part of rents collected by such receiver for the period between the expiration of the redemption period and the death of the mortgagor, and prior to the execution of a deed, became a part of the assets of his estate.—Clark v. Hall, 24 N.E.2d 394, 303 Ill.App. 1.

(2) Mortgaged property as assets of mortgagor's estate see infra § 110.

Royalties

Amounts due as royalties for minerals mined from the lands of an Indian at the time of his death are assets of his estate.—Kendall v. Ewert, Okl., 42 S.Ct. 444, 259 U.S. 139, 66 L.Ed. 862, reversing, C.C.A., 264 F. 1021.

49. Ark.—Mayo v. Bank of Marvell, 65 S.W.2d 549, 188 Ark. 330.

Ga.—Zeagler v. Zeagler, 9 S.E.2d 263, 190 Ga. 220—Hoyt v. Ware, 118 S.E. 734, 156 Ga. 98—Sterchi Bros. Stores v. Mitchell, 176 S.E. 537, 49 Ga.App. 826—Lee v. Moore, 139 S.E. 922, 37 Ga.App. 279.

Ind.—Lockridge v. Citizens Trust Co. of Greencastle, App., 37 N.E.2d 728—Murray v. Cazier, 53 N.E. 476, 23 Ind.App. 600, rehearing denied 55 N.E. 880, 23 Ind.App. 600.

Kan.—Firmen v. Crawford, 36 P.2d 970, 971, 140 Kan. 370, citing Corpus Juris.

Ky.—Gibson's Adm'r v. Gibson, 43 S.W.2d 343, 241 Ky. 74—Bourne's Ex'r v. Edwards, 2 S.W.2d 1063, 223 Ky. 35.

Mass.—Jaques v. Gould, 4 Cush. 384.
N.J.—Joselson v. Joselson, 173 A.

and assigns,⁵⁰ and the fact that the land was sold to pay debts does not deprive the heirs or devisees of their right to rents which accrued between the time of decedent's death and the time of the sale.⁵¹ It follows that the personal representative cannot release the tenant from rent accruing after decedent's death in consideration of his giving up possession.⁵²

Effect of particular lease provisions. The application of the principle that rents, accruing after the death of the lessor, go to his heirs and not to his personal representatives is not affected by the fact that the lease covers and provides for the use of personal property in connection with the real estate.⁵³

b. Effect of Insolvency of Estate

Rents and profits of realty accruing after the death of the owner ordinarily are not assets although the estate is insolvent.

The rule that the rents and profits of real estate accruing after the death of the owner are not assets, but belong to the devisees or heirs at law, see supra subdivision a of this section, is usually held to apply, although the estate is insolvent and the rents have come into the hands of the executor or administrator, unless he has received them under an agreement with the heirs or devisees that they should be assets to save the real estate from sale, or for the advantage of all persons interested, or unless the will gave him the rents to be administered as assets.⁵⁴ However, there is authority for the contrary view.⁵⁵

c. Rents Collected by Representative

Rents of real estate accruing after the death of the owner ordinarily are not assets of the estate although the personal representative has possession of them.

The rule that rents of real estate accruing after the owner's death are not assets of his estate, see supra subdivision a of this section, generally is not affected by the mere fact that they have come into the hands of the executor or administrator,⁵⁶ even though the land is subsequently sold for the payment of debts.⁵⁷ There are cases, however, to the effect that if the executor or administrator actually collects rents accruing after the decedent's death he is responsible for them as assets.⁵⁸

d. Effect of Testamentary Provision

Pursuant to testamentary provisions, rents and profits of real estate accruing after the death of the owner may become assets in the hands of his personal representative.

The testator may by his will prevent the application of the usual rule stated in subdivision a of this section with respect to rents and profits of realty accruing after his death,⁵⁹ and where the executor or administrator is empowered to rent the decedent's lands for the convenience and on behalf of all concerned, while the estate is being settled, the rents collected are deemed assets for the pay-812, 814, 116 N.J.Eq. 180, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.C.—Carr v. Carr, 180 S.E. 82, 208 N.C. 246.

Pa.—In re Graham's Estate, 23 A.2d 235, 147 Pa.Super. 57.—In re Alexander's Estate, 34 Pa.Dist. & Co. 169.—In re Downes' Estate, 27 Del. Co. 319.—Hogsett v. Lutrario, 87 Pittsb.L.J. 73, 2 Fay.L.J. 1.

S.C.—Burkhalter v. Townsend, 158 S.E. 221, 160 S.C. 134.—Staton v. Guillebeaux, 116 S.E. 443, 123 S.C. 363, 31 A.L.R. 1.

Tex.—Russell v. Adams, Civ.App., 293 S.W. 264, affirmed, Com.App., 299 S.W. 889.

Va.—Broadus v. Broadus, 130 S.E. 794, 144 Va. 727.

23 C.J. p 1139 note 5.

Right of heirs to rents, profits, etc., of realty see Descent and Distribution § 70.

Mortgaged property

(1) Rents which accrue on mortgaged property after a mortgagor's death are not assets of his estate in the hands of his personal representative.—Wathen v. Glass, 54 Miss. 382.

(2) Mortgaged property as assets see infra § 110.

50. N.Y.—Fay v. Holloran, 35 Barb. 295.

51. N.J.—Bittle v. Clement, 54 A. 138.

23 C.J. p 1140 note 7.

52. Pa.—Winkle v. Meany, 30 Pa. Super. 339.

53. N.Y.—Marshall v. Moseley, 21 N.Y. 280.

23 C.J. p 1140 note 9.

54. N.J.—Joselson v. Joselson, 172 A. 812, 814, 116 N.J.Eq. 180, quoting Corpus Juris.

Tenn.—Stephens v. Mason, 1 Tenn. App. 246.

23 C.J. p 1140 note 10.

55. N.C.—Shell v. West, 41 S.E. 65, 130 N.C. 171.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 11.

56. N.J.—Joselson v. Joselson, 172 A. 812, 814, 116 N.J.Eq. 180, quoting Corpus Juris.

Pa.—In re Alexander's Estate, 54 Pa.Dist. & Co. 169.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 13.

Status and Liability of representative

(1) A personal representative collecting rents which accrued after the death of decedent holds them as agent for the persons entitled thereto.

N.Y.—Armstrong v. Armstrong, 185 N.Y.S. 853.

Pa.—In re Alexander's Estate, 34 Pa. Dist. & Co. 169.

(2) He is liable in assumpsit to the true owner of such rent.—Whitaker v. Shuman, 161 Ill.App. 568.

57. Me.—Kimball v. Sumner, 62 Me. 305.

Mass.—Towle v. Swasey, 106 Mass. 100.

58. U.S.—Boyce v. Grundy, Tenn., 9 Pet. 275, 9 L.Ed. 127.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 12.

59. N.J.—Joselson v. Joselson, 172 A. 812, 116 N.J.Eq. 180.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 16.

Equitable conversion

(1) Where the will works an equitable conversion of the real estate, the rents and profits of the land become legal assets in the hands of the personal representative.

Mass.—Bayley v. Sloper's Ex'rs, 160 N.E. 275, 263 Mass. 534.

N.Y.—Stagg v. Jackson, 1 N.Y. 206, How.App.Cas. 561, 4 How.Pr. 294.

(2) Conversion of realty into personality by will see Conversion §§ 15-29.

ment of debts.⁶⁰ Particular testamentary provisions have, however, been held not to render certain rents or royalties assets in the hands of testators' personal representatives.⁶¹

e. Effect of Insufficiency of Personality

Rents of realty accruing after the owner's death may constitute assets of his estate where the personality is insufficient to pay debts.

The rule that rents of real estate accruing after the owner's death are not assets in the hands of his personal representatives, see supra subdivision a of this section, may not apply where the personality is insufficient to pay the debts of the estate,⁶² particularly where the representative is ordered to rent land for the purpose of paying the debts of deceased.⁶³

f. Effect of Statutes

Under statutes in some jurisdictions rents of real estate accruing subsequent to the owner's death are assets in the hands of his personal representative.

Under statute in some jurisdictions the general rule stated in subdivision a of this section has been changed by making rents and profits of land accruing after the death of the owner assets in the hands of the personal representative for the payment of debts.⁶⁴ However, statutes providing that land of a deceased person shall remain liable for the payment of his debts⁶⁵ and statutes providing for apportionment of rents under certain conditions⁶⁶ have been held not to affect the general rule as to rents accruing subsequent to the owner's death. Under some statutes the rents which constitute assets of the estate are limited to those accruing within a certain period of time after the death of decedent.⁶⁷

§ 106. — Crops and Products

Natural products of the soil, when not severed at the time of the owner's death, are not assets of his estate. In the absence of a specific devise of the land on which crops are growing, they are assets in the hands of the personal representative of the owner of such land, but crops planted subsequent to the death of the decedent ordinarily are not assets of his estate.

Natural products of the soil not sown or planted by decedent, such as clover, grass, fruit, and the like, when not severed from the soil at the time of decedent's death, go to the devisee or heir, see Descent and Distribution § 70; and the C.J.S. title Wills § 772, also 69 C.J. p 387 note 72, and are not assets in the hands of decedent's personal representatives.⁶⁸

Fructus industriales. It is well established that growing and unharvested crops on the land of a decedent at the time of his death, such as are raised annually or periodically by labor and planting, go to the personal representative as assets rather than to the heir at law where the land is not specifically devised.⁶⁹ Where, however, there is a devise of the land, the authorities are not uniform, some holding

60. Cal.—Washington v. Black, 23 P. 300, 83 Cal. 290.
23 C.J. p 1141 note 17.

61. Mass.—Brown v. Baron, 37 N.E. 772, 162 Mass. 56, 44 Am.S.R. 331.
Miss.—Gordon v. James, 39 So. 18, 86 Miss. 719, 1 L.R.A.N.S., 461.
23 C.J. p 1139 note 4 [g], p 1141 note 16 [c].

Royalties disposed of by will

A testamentary direction to an executor as to certain royalties does not operate to make other royalties, which have been otherwise disposed of by will, assets of decedent's estate in the hands of such executor.—Goosling v. Pinson, 248 S.W. 248, 198 Ky. 57.

62. Ala.—Johnson v. Moxley, 113 So. 651, 22 Ala.App. 1, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 656, 216 Ala. 466.

N.Y.—In re Baker's Estate, 298 N.Y. S. 261, 164 Misc. 92.

Pa.—In re Shibe's Estate, 41 Pa. Dist. & Co. 315.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 19.

63. N.C.—Shell v. West, 41 S.E. 65, 180 N.C. 171.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 19.

64. Ala.—Johnson v. Moxley, 113 So. 651, 22 Ala.App. 1, reversed on other grounds 113 So. 656, 216 Ala. 466.

Mont.—In re Bradfield's Estate, 221 P. 531, 69 Mont. 247.

N.Y.—In re Baker's Estate, 298 N.Y. S. 261, 164 Misc. 92.

Okl.—In re Gentry's Estate, 13 P.2d 156, 158 Okl. 196.—Nolan v. Mathis, 295 P. 801, 147 Okl. 155.

Pa.—In re Shilee's Estate, 41 Pa. Dist. & Co. 315.

Tex.—Jones v. Gibbs, 130 S.W.2d 265, 133 Tex. 627, affirming, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 1011, motion overruled 131 S.W.2d 957, 133 Tex. 627.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 20.

Mortgaged property

(1) Rents from mortgaged property accruing subsequent to death of mortgagor may for the limited purpose prescribed by statute constitute assets of his estate.—Clark v. Hall, 24 N.E.2d 394, 303 Ill.App. 1.

(2) Mortgaged property as assets of mortgagor's estate see infra § 110.

Necessity for bringing rents into administration

Rents of decedent's realty are not assets of his estate for payment of debts unless brought into administration under the section of the Fiduciaries Act requiring the orphan's court, on creditor's application, to direct executor or administrator to collect such rents for creditor's benefit when decedent's personal estate appears insufficient to pay his debts.—In re Graham's Estate, 23 A.2d 235, 147 Pa.Super. 57.

65. N.J.—Paletz v. Camden Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 157 A. 456, 109 N.J.Eq. 344.

66. Ky.—Rand v. Hill, 8 Bush 66.
23 C.J. p 1141 note 20 [a].

67. Miss.—Wright v. Wright, 134 So. 197, 160 Miss. 235.

Vt.—Allen v. Tarbell's Estate, 26 A. 76, 65 Vt. 150.—Dunbar v. Dunbar, 3 Vt. 472.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 21.

68. Ala.—Eubank v. Clark, 78 Ala. 73.

Mo.—Blum v. Frost, App., 116 S.W. 2d 541.

23 C.J. p 1141 note 22.

69. U.S.—In re Buchanan, D.C.Pa., 24 F.2d 553.

Ala.—Adams v. Adams, 140 So. 438, 224 Ala. 346.

Tenn.—Langford v. Hudson, 241 S.W. 393, 146 Tenn. 309.

23 C.J. p 1142 note 23.

that in such case the crops go with the land to the devisee unless the will provides otherwise,⁷⁰ and others asserting that notwithstanding the devise the crops go to the personal representative,⁷¹ which latter rule is sometimes established by statute.⁷²

Where a purchaser had established his homestead on land, on which he had given notes for the purchase price, secured by a vendor's lien, and died without having paid all the notes, the purchaser's administrator was not entitled to treat the proceeds of crops raised on the homestead subsequent to the vendee's death, and turned over to him by the widow as assets of the estate instead of applying them on the lien notes of which he was the holder,⁷³ and as against a donee of the notes after maturity the widow was entitled to a credit on the notes for the amount realized by the administrator from the sale of crops turned over to him by the widow.⁷⁴

Time of death or severance as determining element. Under some statutes the time of decedent's death or of severance of the crops determines whether or not the crops go to the personal representative as assets.⁷⁵ Under other statutes providing that crops shall pass to the personal representative, it is immaterial whether such crops are severed at the time of decedent's death.⁷⁶

Crops or products severed before death of decedent. Crops and products of whatever character, actually severed before the death of decedent, go to the representative.⁷⁷

Crops planted after death of decedent. As a rule crops planted after decedent's death are not assets of his estate in the hands of his personal representatives, but belong to the heir or devisee,⁷⁸ although it has been held that crops planted on leased premises after the death of a lessee but during the life of the lease belong to the estate of the lessee unless they are exempt.⁷⁹

§ 107. — Mortgages

On the death of a mortgagee of real estate, the un-foreclosed mortgage passes to his executor or administrator.

An un-foreclosed mortgage of real property passes to the executor or administrator of the mortgagee like the money right evidenced by bond or note which it was given to secure,⁸⁰ and the money received by the personal representative of an equitable mortgagee, in redemption of the mortgage, should be charged by the probate court to the representative and ordered distributed as personal estate.⁸¹ If an executor takes a conveyance of mortgaged land in satisfaction of the mortgage debt, it has been held that the land is personalty in his hands, being a substitute for the mortgage,⁸² and, where title to mortgaged realty is acquired by the personal representative of the mortgagee by foreclosure, constituting a mere salvage operation, such land remains personalty in the hands of the representative.⁸³

Where a mortgage is foreclosed before the death of the mortgagee, and title to the mortgaged property thus becomes vested absolutely in him, such property, like any other real property of a decedent, goes to his heirs or devisees,⁸⁴ and, if the mortgage

Growing crops as real or personal property see Crops § 1.

70. Mo.—Blum v. Frost, App., 116 S.W.2d 541.

Tenn.—Langford v. Hudson, 241 S.W. 393, 146 Tenn. 309.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 24.

71. Kan.—In re Blakely's Estate, 224 P. 65, 115 Kan. 644.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 25.

72. Kan.—Kessler v. Heberling, 213 P. 639, 113 Kan. 571.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 26.

73. Tex.—McCord v. Hames, 85 S.W. 504, 38 Tex.Civ.App. 239.

74. Tex.—McCord v. Hames, supra.

75. S.C.—Berry v. Berry, 33 S.E. 363, 55 S.C. 303.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 29.

Crop not planted

A statute providing that crops un-gathered at the death of decedent shall pass to his administrator does not apply where no crop had been planted.—Carr v. Carr, 180 S.E. 82, 208 N.C. 246.

76. Kan.—Kessler v. Heberling, 213 P. 639, 113 Kan. 571.

77. Miss.—Hayes v. National Surety Co., 153 So. 515, 169 Miss. 676.
Ohio.—Edwards v. Rainier, 17 Ohio St. 897.

78. La.—Maxwell-Yerger Co. v. Rogan, 51 So. 48, 125 La. 1.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 31.

79. Iowa.—In re Ring, 109 N.W. 710, 132 Iowa 216.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 32.

80. U.S.—Collins v. Tweedale, C.C.A. N.J., 76 F.2d 63.

Ala.—Dodson v. Protective Life Ins. Co., 181 So. 492, 236 Ala. 111—Webb v. Sprott, 144 So. 569, 225 Ala. 600—Gilchrist v. Gilchrist, 137 So. 408, 409, 223 Ala. 562, citing Corpus Juris.
Conn.—Bowen v. Morgillo, 14 A.2d 724, 127 Conn. 161.

Fla.—Corlett v. May, 171 So. 517, 126 Fla. 506.

Mo.—Wakenfield v. Dinger, 185 S.W. 2d 17, 234 Mo.App. 407, transferred, see, Sup., 180 S.W.2d 490.

N.J.—McSpirit's Estate, 68 A. 755, 73 N.J.Eq. 613.

N.Y.—In re Phetteplace's Estate, 6 N.Y.S.2d 845.

Pa.—Eldredge v. Eldredge, 194 A. 306, 128 Pa.Super. 284.
23 C.J. p 1142 note 34.

Collection of secured claims by personal representative see infra § 173.

Mortgaged property of decedent as assets of estate see infra § 110.

Personal representatives of mortgagee as persons entitled to fore-close mortgage see the C.J.S. title Mortgages §§ 513, 526, also 41 C.J. p 885 note 96, p 897 note 63, 23 C.J. p 1142 note 37.

81. Me.—Hawes v. Williams, 43 A. 101, 92 Me. 483.

82. Iowa.—Langfitt v. Langfitt, 273 N.W. 93, 96, 223 Iowa 702, quoting Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Yonkers Sav. Bank v. Kinsley, 28 N.Y.S. 925, 78 Hun 186.

83. N.Y.—In re Valionis' Estate, 26 N.Y.S.2d 540, 176 Misc. 110.

84. N.J.—Osborne v. Tunis, 25 N.J. Law 633.

is transferred to the owner of the fee to be held as a muniment of title, it belongs, on his death, to his heirs or devisees, and not to his personal representatives.⁸⁵

§ 108. — Leaseholds

The interest of a decedent in a leasehold estate constitutes an asset in the hands of his personal representative.

Except as the rule may be modified by statute,⁸⁶ the interest of a decedent in a leasehold estate is an asset in the hands of his personal representative.⁸⁷ The interest of the lessee in a lease for the life of another is an asset in the hands of the personal representative of the life tenant.⁸⁸ Similarly, the interest of a decedent in an agreement for a lease for two lives, of which his own was one, is an asset in the hands of his personal representative.⁸⁹ A lease for years is not a freehold interest, but merely a chattel real, and it, therefore, vests in the executor or administrator of the lessee.⁹⁰ The interest of a tenant in a tenancy from month to month likewise vests in the personal representative of such tenant.⁹¹

The rule that the interest of a decedent lessee vests in his personal representatives is also true as regards rights incidental to, or given by, the lease, such as a privilege of renewal⁹² or an unexercised option to purchase the demised premises.⁹³

It has been considered that as the rent is a first charge on the profits of the land, only what remains after deducting sufficient for the payment of the rent can be regarded as assets of the estate,⁹⁴ but there is also authority for the view that the probate court has no right to direct the application of sums realized from the use of the property to liquidate arrears of rent in preference to other debts of the estate, unless it is clearly shown that the interests of the estate demand such action.⁹⁵

§ 109. — Interests in Public Land

A preemption or homestead right with occupancy is not an asset of a decedent's estate, although a mere right to possession or a land claim is an asset of the estate.

A preemption or homestead right with occupancy, or a land patent as usually expressed, is not an asset in the hands of personal representatives but is treated as real estate and descends to the heirs,⁹⁶ but a mere right to enjoy possession or a land claim is treated as personalty, and as such goes to the representative.⁹⁷

The claim of a squatter on public land, and his improvements made on the land during his occupancy, are not assets.⁹⁸

§ 110. — Mortgaged Property

a. In general

b. Surplus proceeds of sale

85. N.Y.—Browne v. Ferris, 7 N.Y. S. 172, 23 Abb.N.Cas. 226.

86. Colo.—McKee v. Howe, 31 P. 115, 17 Colo. 538.

23 C.J. p 1144 note 46, p 1151 note 18.

87. Del.—Monbar, Inc. v. Monaghan, 162 A. 50, 18 Del.Ch. 395.

Md.—Mitchell v. Frederick, 170 A. 733, 166 Md. 42, 92 A.L.R. 1412.

23 C.J. p 1143 note 45.

Exempt property as assets of estate see infra § 115.

88. Ky.—Clore v. Nichols, 251 S.W. 846, 199 Ky. 581.

23 C.J. p 1143 note 45 [b], p 1151 note 16.

Assignee of life tenant

The assignee of a lessee for life holds an estate pur autre vie which is a freehold during the assignee's life but on his death a chattel real and assets in the hands of his administrator.—Mosher v. Yost, 33 Barb., N.Y., 277.

89. N.Y.—Stiles v. Burch, 5 Paige 132.

90. Kan.—Olson v. Frazer, 118 P.2d 505, 154 Kan. 310.

N.M.—State ex rel. Truitt v. District Court of Ninth Judicial Dist., Curry County, 96 P.2d 710, 44 N.M. 16, 126 A.L.R. 651.

N.Y.—Goldberg v. Himlyn, 201 N.Y. S. 837, 121 Misc. 580.

Ohio.—Mills v. Connor, 135 N.E. 616, 104 Ohio St. 409.

Pa.—Fortunato v. Shenango Limestone Co., 123 A. 482, 278 Pa. 499—In re Wacker's Estate, 37 Pa.Dist. & Co. 330, 29 Del.Co. 144.

23 C.J. p 1143 note 45.

91. N.J.—Levington v. Tuly, 10 A.2d 641, 126 N.J.Eq. 552.

Pa.—Fortunato v. Shenango Limestone Co., 123 A. 482, 278 Pa. 499.

92. N.M.—Hart v. Walker, 52 P.2d 123, 40 N.M. 1.

23 C.J. p 1144 note 48.

93. N.J.—McCormick v. Stephany, 41 A. 840, 57 N.J.Eq. 257.

N.Y.—Walker v. Bradley, 153 N.Y.S. 686, 89 Misc. 516.

94. Ohio.—Becker v. Walworth, 12 N.E. 1, 45 Ohio St. 169.

Pa.—Mickle v. Miles, 1 Grant 320.

95. N.Y.—Harris v. Meyer, 3 Redf. Surr. 450.

96. Cal.—In re Isedorio's Estate, 280 P. 171, 100 Cal.App. 469.

23 C.J. p 1144 note 52.

In Texas

(1) The personal representatives have considerable power with respect to land certificates and the like belonging to decedent.—Pace v. Eoff, Com.App., 48 S.W.2d 956, modifying Eoff v. Pace, Civ.App., 25 S.W.2d 264—23 C.J. p 1144 note 52 [g] (1), (2).

(2) A homestead preempted by decedent is treated as an asset of his estate in the hands of his personal representative notwithstanding decedent's right in the land is patented to his heirs after his death.—Holland v. Swilley, Civ.App., 278 S.W. 238, certiorari denied Dent v. Swilley, 48 S.Ct. 34, 275 U.S. 492, 72 L. Ed. 390.

(3) Other cases see 23 C.J. p 1144 note 52 [g] (3)–(5).

97. U.S.—O'Connell v. Pinnacle Gold Mines Co., C.C.Wash., 131 F. 106, affirmed 140 F. 854, 72 C.C.A. 645, 4 L.R.A.N.S., 919.

23 C.J. p 1144 note 53.

Right to refund of taxes

Right to refund of taxes paid by deceased entryman is in administrator not heirs, not being right to land.—Casey v. Butte County, 217 N.W. 508, 52 S.D. 334.

98. Ga.—Holton v. Holton, 25 S.E. 468, 99 Ga. 250.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 54.

a. In General

The interest of a mortgagor of real estate is not an asset of his estate, except to the extent necessary to pay debts.

Where the owner of real estate encumbered by a mortgage dies, the land descends to his heirs or devisees, subject to the special encumbrance, or in other words the equity of redemption vests in them,⁹⁹ although it may, in case of insufficiency of personalty, become assets for payment of debts in the hands of the executor or administrator;¹ and it has been held that the duty of the personal representative to pay the debts and prepare the estate for distribution necessarily indicates him as the proper party to maintain a bill to redeem property mortgaged by his decedent.²

Rents from mortgaged property as assets of mortgagor's estate are discussed supra § 105.

b. Surplus Proceeds of Sale

If a mortgage is foreclosed during the mortgagor's lifetime, any surplus proceeds are personalty which, on the mortgagor's death, go to his personal representative.

If a mortgage is foreclosed during the lifetime of the mortgagor, any surplus proceeds of sale are personalty and go to the personal representative of the mortgagor as such,³ but, where the equity of redemption has passed to the heirs or devisees of the mortgagor, the right to any surplus proceeds of sale goes with it, and, in case of a subsequent foreclosure and sale, it is usually held that such surplus proceeds belong to the heirs or devisees, and not to the personal representative of the mortgagor,⁴ even though the mortgage provided that the surplus should be paid to the mortgagor, his executors or administrators,⁵ unless the condition of the estate is such that it is necessary to resort to the realty for the payment of debts.⁶ It has been held, however, that where, after the death of the grantor in a deed absolute on its face but intended to secure a debt, the grantee conveyed the premises, the money received by him above the amount of the mortgage debt was money had and received for the use of the estate of the grantor, and he was liable to account for the same at the suit of the grantor's administrator,⁷ and that, if a power of sale, executed after the mortgagor's death, provides that the surplus of the proceeds, after payment of the debts and expenses, shall be paid to the mortgagor or his assigns, his executor may maintain an action therefor, although the mortgagor by his will devised the land to others.⁸ Further, it has been held that, where a deed of trust is executed to secure a debt and subsequent to the grantor's death the deed is foreclosed, the surplus proceeds in the hands of the trustee go to the grantor's personal representatives.⁹

Money realized by the personal representative of the mortgagor on sale of mortgaged property subsequent to the death of the mortgagor does not become assets of his estate until the debt secured by the mortgage is fully paid.¹⁰

§ 111. — Real Estate Purchased by Executor or Administrator

Real estate purchased by an executor or administrator with the funds or for the benefit of the estate is personal assets in his hands.

Real estate purchased by an executor or administrator with the funds or for the benefit of the estate is personal assets in his hands.¹¹ However, where an administrator purchases lands from the heirs of his intestate, it cannot be regarded in a court of law as assets in his hands.¹²

§ 112. — Other Interests in Real Property

Various interests in real property other than those discussed in prior sections have been held to constitute, or not to constitute, assets of decedent's estate in the hands of his personal representative.

Interests in real property other than those treated supra §§ 103-111 have been held to constitute¹³

99. Mass.—Dudley v. Dudley, 15 N.E.2d 212, 300 Mass. 270, 117 A.L.R. 1365.

Miss.—Wright v. Wright, 134 So. 197, 199, 160 Miss. 235, citing Corpus Juris.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 72.

1. Mass.—Dudley v. Dudley, 15 N.E.2d 212, 300 Mass. 270, 117 A.L.R. 1365—Horton v. Robinson, 98 N.E. 681, 212 Mass. 248.

2. Vt.—Merriam v. Barton, 14 Vt. 501.

3. Ill.—Nielsen v. Gail, 217 Ill.App. 190.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 75.

4. Ala.—Turner v. Williams, 180 So. 95, 99, 235 Ala. 502, citing Cor- pus Juris—Roy v. Roy, 172 So. 253. Miss.—Wright v. Wright, 134 So. 197, 199, 160 Miss. 235, citing Corpus Juris.

Mo.—Arrowood v. Delaney's Estate, App., 295 S.W. 522.

N.C.—Lipsitz v. Smith, 100 S.E. 247, 178 N.C. 98.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 76.

5. N.Y.—Dunning v. Ocean Nat. Bank, 61 N.Y. 497, 19 Am.R. 293.

6. Hawaii.—Whitney v. Ross, 17 Hawaii 453.

Miss.—Wright v. Wright, 134 So. 197, 160 Miss. 235.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 78.

7. Conn.—Sheldon v. Bradley, 37 Conn. 324.

8. Mass.—Varnum v. Meserve, 8 Allen 158.

9. Mo.—Lolordo v. Lacy, 88 S.W.2d 353, 337 Mo. 1097.

10. Okl.—Dawkins v. People's Bank & Trust Co., 38 P.2d 1, 169 Okl. 541.

11. Cal.—Schade v. Stewart, 272 P. 567, 205 Cal. 658.

23 C.J. p 1147 note 84.

12. Ala.—Coster v. Brack, 19 Ala. 210.

13. Contract for exchange of property

Under statute, where a party to a contract for exchange of lands dies prior to the time fixed for execution or not to constitute¹⁴ assets in the hands of the personal representatives of decedent.

Contracts for sale. Where the vendor in a contract for the sale of land dies before the payment of the purchase money and the execution of the conveyance, his personal representatives and not his heirs will be entitled to receive the purchase money,¹⁵ unless a contrary intent is shown by the contract itself,¹⁶ or by the will of the vendor.¹⁷ The executor or administrator will be entitled to enforce the contract and to hold the proceeds of any unpaid balance thereof, whether as assets of the estate or in trust for heirs or devisees, according as the terms of sale may justify.¹⁸ It has even been held that where the executors have canceled the contract of sale for default of the purchaser and regained title, they may sell and convey such realty, and account for the proceeds as personalty.¹⁹ However, it has been asserted that where the contract of sale is void or cannot be enforced the land descends to the vendor's heirs on his death;²⁰ and that the legal title which remains in the vendor where a lien is reserved in his deed to secure the purchase money descends to his heirs.²¹

Where time is of the essence of a contract for the sale of realty and the entire title remains in the vendor until performance, on his death the contract is not personal property to be inventoried and administered as such by his personal representative.²²

Where the owner of land dies after making a contract to sell the land, a rescission of the contract after the owner's death has the effect of reconverting the proceeds of the sale into land which does not constitute assets of decedent's estate in the hands of his personal representative.²³

Contracts for purchase. Where the purchaser of land pays for it but dies before taking a deed, the land, on a suitable conveyance thereof, belongs beneficially to his heirs or devisees;²⁴ and a bond or contract for the conveyance of land passes on the purchaser's death to his heirs or devisees rather than to his executor or administrator.²⁵ It has been held that the purchase money paid on an agreement for the sale of land is in equity considered as land, and if the contract is vacated after the death of the purchaser it goes to the heir, who is the proper person to sue therefor,²⁶ but this has also been denied.²⁷ The personal representative may sue for a mere right to acquire an interest in land, or for breach of condition during the obligee's lifetime, with failure to make title.²⁸

A right to enforce a lien for taxes paid on an of conveyances, his interest under such contract constitutes assets of his estate in the hands of his personal representative.—Boeck v. Johnson, 201 N.W. 311, 161 Minn. 248.

14. Chattels deposited in realty

Where chattels have been deposited in the soil, they pass with the real property to the heirs or devisees.—Burdick v. Chesebrough, 88 N.Y.S. 13, 94 App.Div. 532—23 C.J. p 1146 note 71.

Interest of tenant in common

The interest of a tenant in common in realty does not constitute assets of his estate in the hands of his personal representatives.—Watkins v. Merrihew's Estate, 131 A. 794, 99 Vt. 294.

15. Cal.—In re Reid's Estate, 79 P.2d 451, 26 Cal.App.2d 362.

Ill.—Hayne v. Fenton, 151 N.E. 877, 321 Ill. 442.

Mich.—In re McBride's Estate, 235 N.W. 166, 253 Mich. 305.

Miss.—Howell v. Hill, 48 So. 177, 94 Miss. 566.

N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, 220 N.Y.S. 689, 129 Misc. 190, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 890, 222 App.Div. 719.

Ohio.—Berndt v. Lusher, 178 N.E. 14, 40 Ohio App. 172.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 55.

Vendor's interest as personalty

Vendor's interest under executory contract for sale of land should be treated as "personalty" for purpose of administration.—In re Ellermann's Estate, 35 P.2d 763, 179 Wash. 15—In re Field's Estate, 252 P. 534, 141 Wash. 526.

16. Ind.—Stevens v. Flannagan, 30 N.E. 898, 131 Ind. 122.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 58.

17. Ohio.—Rugg v. Larimore, 27 Ohio N.P., N.S., 96.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 57.

18. Ill.—Butman v. Butman, 72 N.E. 821, 213 Ill. 104.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 58.

Enforcement of specific performance or recovery of purchase money see infra § 267.

19. N.C.—McMillan v. Reeves, 9 S.E. 449, 102 N.C. 550.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 59.

20. U.S.—McKay v. Carrington, C. Ohio, 16 F.Cas.No.8,841, 1 McLean 50.

21. Tex.—McCord v. Hames, 85 S.W. 504, 38 Tex.Civ.App. 239.

22. Kan.—Pickens v. Campbell, 179 P. 343, 104 Kan. 425.

23. Pa.—Leiper v. Irvine, 26 Pa. 54.

23 C.J. p 1138 note 97 [f].

24. Neb.—Cutler v. Meeker, 99 N.W. 514, 71 Neb. 732, 8 Ann.Cas. 951.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 63.

Option to purchase leased premises as assets of estate see the C.J.S. title Landlord and Tenant § 85, also 35 C.J. p 1044 notes 29 [a], [b], 30 [a].

25. N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, 220 N.Y.S. 689, 129 Misc. 190, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 890, 222 App.Div. 719.

23 C.J. p 1145 note 64.

Certificates

(1) The text rule has been applied to interests represented by purchasers' certificates at execution sales.—Potts v. Davenport, 79 Ill. 455.

(2) Such rule has also been applied to tax certificates.—Madler v. Kersten, 175 N.W. 779, 170 Wis. 424.

(3) However a purchaser's interest in certificate of purchase at execution sale has been held to pass to his personal representative.—Palmer v. Riddle, 54 N.E. 227, 180 Ill. 461.

(4) Moreover a sheriff's certificate of sale under foreclosure by advertisement has been held to be assets in the hands of the personal representative of decedent in whose name such certificate is issued.—Boschker v. Van Beek, 122 N.W. 338, 19 N.D. 104—Winterberg v. Van de Vorste, 112 N.W. 866, 19 N.D. 417.

26. N.C.—Young v. Young, 81 N.C. 91—Tate v. Conner, 17 N.C. 224.

27. Ala.—Castleberry v. Pierce, 5 Stew. & P. 150, 24 Am.D. 774.

Ky.—Lauffer v. Ashley, 6 Ky.L. 748.

23 C.J. p 1146 note 66.

28. Mich.—Gustin v. Bay City Union

invalid sale, given by statute to "the grantee, his heirs and assigns," belongs to the purchaser's heirs and not to his personal representatives.²⁹ A covenant to convey land is not an asset in the hands of the personal representative of the covenantor.³⁰

Buildings or improvements. Where the decedent has begun erecting an expensive dwelling house for his personal residence, the personal representative may in his discretion and for the best interests of the estate stop such work and treat materials purchased and furnished as personal assets to be disposed of accordingly.³¹ While improvements put upon land ordinarily become part of the realty, the owner of erections upon land of another may, by agreement with the owner of the land, provide otherwise, so that on the death of either party equity shall provide due reimbursement as for personal property.³²

Property as to which power of sale given. It is held in some cases that an authority given by will to an executor to sell land, unless accompanied by the right to receive the rents and profits, vests no estate in the executor, but the lands descend to the heirs or pass to the devisees subject to the execution of the power;³³ but there is also authority for the view that, where a testator authorizes or directs his executors to sell his real estate for certain purposes, the legal title to that real estate vests in the executors on the death of the testator.³⁴

Where decedent gives his personal representative power to sell real estate, the proceeds of the sale made in the exercise of such power constitute assets of decedent's estate in the hands of the personal representative.³⁵

Dower interest or widow's share. Where the wife survives her husband, and thus becomes entitled to her dower or corresponding interest in his real and personal estate, but dies before it is set off to her, the right to recover, if surviving her death at all, see Abatement and Revival § 149, passes to her executor or administrator and not to her heirs or next of kin.³⁶ Where, however, the statute gives to the widow a distributive share of her husband's lands, which she takes in fee simple, the realty to which she has thus acquired title, like any other realty, descends to her heirs or devisees and is not assets in the hands of her personal representative.³⁷

§ 113. Interests in Partnerships

Ordinarily the personal representative, and not the heirs of a deceased partner, succeeds to his unliquidated interest in the partnership; legal title to the firm's assets is not an asset in the hands of such representative who takes merely an equitable interest in the distribution of any remaining surplus.

Before the liquidation of a partnership its effects are considered personalty, not realty, although invested in land; and it is usually considered when a partner dies, that his personal representative, not his heir, succeeds to his unliquidated interest therein;³⁸ but the legal title to property belonging to the copartnership vests in the surviving partner or partners, see the C.J.S. title Partnership § 275, also 47 C.J. p 1044 note 52—p 1045 note 60, and not in the deceased partner's personal representative,³⁹ who

School-Dist., 54 N.W. 156, 94 Mich. 502, 34 Am.S.R. 361.
28 C.J. p 1146 note 67.

29. Ind.—Stephenson v. Martin, 84 Ind. 160.

30. N.C.—Thrower v. McIntire, 20 N. C. 359, 34 Am.D. 382.

31. Ohio.—Gray v. Hawkins, 8 Ohio St. 449, 72 Am.D. 600.

32. Mass.—Washburn v. Sproat, 16 Mass. 449.

Mo.—Brown v. Turner, 20 S.W. 660, 113 Mo. 27.

33. U.S.—Robinson v. Georgia Sav. Bank & Trust Co., C.C.A.Ga., 106 F.2d 944.

Del.—Brennan v. Wilmington Trust Co., 126 A. 42, 2 W.W.Harr. 482.

Ind.—French v. French, 108 N.E. 786, 58 Ind.App. 621.

Mass.—New England Trust Co. v. Morse, 136 N.E. 835, 243 Mass. 39.

N.Y.—In re Powers' Estate, 199 N.Y.S. 96, 205 App.Div. 49.

23 C.J. p 1147 note 82.

Sale under testamentary authority see infra §§ 274-296.

Failure of executor to exercise power does not divest the title of the devisees.—Boland v. Tiernay, 91 N.W. 836, 118 Iowa 59.

34. Neb.—Arlington State Bank v. Paulsen, 78 N.W. 303, 57 Neb. 717.
Pa.—Dundas' Appeal, 64 Pa. 325.

35. N.Y.—In re Powers' Estate, 199 N.Y.S. 96, 205 App.Div. 49.
Proceeds of sale of realty as assets generally see supra § 104.

36. Pa.—Paul v. Paul, 36 Pa. 270.
23 C.J. p 1143 note 43.

37. Iowa.—Oslund v. Peterson, 160 N.W. 899.

38. Nev.—Bengoa v. Reinhart, 297 P. 506, 509, 53 Nev. 241, citing Corpus Juris.

Okl.—Lyons v. Lyons, 76 P.2d 892, 893, 182 Okl. 113, citing Corpus Juris.

Wis.—Mattson v. Wagstad, 206 N.W. 865, 188 Wis. 566.

23 C.J. p 1147 note 87.

39. U.S.—New York Life Ins. Co. v. Hageman, C.C.A.Ill., 80 F.2d 446.

Cal.—De Coe v. Johnson, 202 P. 362, 54 Cal.App. 592.

Ill.—In re McCormick's Estate, 2 N. E.2d 967, 286 Ill.App. 90.

Mich.—Grigg v. Hanna, 278 N.W. 125, 283 Mich. 443.

Nev.—Bengoa v. Reinhart, 297 P. 506, 509, 53 Nev. 241, citing Corpus Juris.

N.J.—Thomsen v. Riedel, 176 A. 701, 114 N.J.Law 379.

Okl.—Lyons v. Lyons, 76 P.2d 892, 893, 182 Okl. 113, citing Corpus Juris.

Pa.—In re Cassel's Estate, 18 Lehigh L.J. 123.

Tex.—Turner v. Wilcox, Civ.App., 146 S.W.2d 264—Johnston v. Winn, Civ. App., 105 S.W.2d 398, error dismissed.

23 C.J. p 1147 note 88.

Bond

Under a statute providing that the surviving partner may be required to give a bond for the due administration of the partnership effects and that if he fails to do so the administrator of the deceased partner will be entitled to take possession of the takes merely an equitable interest in the distribution of any surplus remaining after payment of partnership debts,⁴⁰ having no interest in the firm assets but only the right to an accounting.⁴¹ The representatives of the deceased partner have, however, a lien on all firm property to the extent of the deceased partner's share.⁴² On the settlement of the partnership the interest of a deceased partner goes to his personal representative as an asset of decedent's estate.⁴³

Subject to the rules stated, the courts have held that particular interests constitute assets in the hands of the personal representatives of a deceased partner.⁴⁴

§ 114. Proceeds of Insurance Policies

The question whether the proceeds of insurance policies constitute assets in the hands of personal representatives is determined largely by the type of policy considered, and the law peculiarly applicable thereto is discussed in appropriate places elsewhere in this work. Whether such proceeds constitute assets when derived from accident policies see the C. J.S. title Insurance § 1182, also 1 C.J. p 407 notes 43, 44; fire insurance policies see the C.J.S. title Insurance § 1149, also 26 C.J. p 444 notes 1, 2; industrial insurance policies see the C.J.S. title Insurance § 1187, also 31 C.J. p 971 note 31—p 972 note 48; life insurance policies see the C.J.S. title Insurance §§ 1156, 1157, 1165, 1166, 1170, also 37 C.J. p 565 note 63—p 566 note 76, p 566 notes 80, 90, p 569 note 67, p 570 notes 76, 77, p 571 note 91, p 573 note 43—p 575 note 80; mutual benefit insurance certificates or policies see the C.J.S. title Insurance § 1591, also 45 C.J. p 247 note 96.

Proceeds of war risk insurance policies as assets of decedent's estates see Army and Navy § 85.

Death benefits attaching to membership in trade unions are discussed in the C.J.S. title Trade Unions § 38, also 63 C.J. p 693 notes 62, 63.

§ 115. Exempt Property

Unless otherwise provided by statute, exempt property is assets in the hands of the personal representative of the deceased debtor.

On the death of a debtor, property which would have been set apart for him under his exemption had he lived remains a part of his estate and goes, in the absence of any statute providing otherwise, to his executor or administrator;⁴⁵ but under stat-entire partnership effects, a notice by the administrator of the deceased partner requiring a bond from the surviving partner is sufficient to divest the property of the survivor without a citation from the court.—James v. Dixon, 21 Mo. 538.

40. U.S.—Bahr v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A.Tex., 119 F.2d 371.

Mich.—Grigg v. Hanna, 278 N.W. 125, 283 Mich. 443.

Nev.—Bengoa v. Reinhart, 297 P. 506, 53 Nev. 241.

N.Y.—People ex rel. Whitney v. Loughman, 234 N.Y.S. 349, 226 App.Div. 108, affirmed 168 N.E. 421, 251 N.Y. 544—In re Ducker's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 217, 146 Misc. 899—In re Prince's Will, 252 N.Y.S. 908, 141 Misc. 600, reversed on other grounds 262 N.Y.S. 785, 238 App. Div. 855.

Interest subject to sale

Under statute this interest is subject to sale by the personal representative.—Currie v. Landes, 202 P. 893, 55 Cal.App. 73.

41. U.S.—Gugenheim v. Helvering, C.C.A., 117 F.2d 489, certiorari denied Gugenheim's Estate v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 62 S.Ct. 66.

Nev.—Bengoa v. Reinhart, 297 P. 506, 53 Nev. 241.

N.Y.—In re Martiniano's Estate, 15 N.Y.S.2d 285, 172 Misc. 376.

Okl.—Lyons v. Lyons, 76 P.2d 892, 182 Okl. 113.

Wis.—Mattson v. Wagstad, 206 N.W. 865, 188 Wis. 566.

42. N.Y.—Hooley v. Gieve, 9 Abb.N. Cas. 8.

43. Colo.—Heuschel v. Wagner, 215 P. 476, 73 Colo. 327.

44. Equity of partner in contract to purchase

Where, at time of partner's death, partnership had contract to purchase lands on which payments were made, and balance was paid by new partnership and title taken to land, deceased partner's estate is entitled to interest equal to deceased partner's equity therein.—Thompson v. Flynn, 27 P.2d 505, 95 Mont. 484.

Good will

Interest of deceased partner in good will of business may be an asset of his estate.—Cummings v. Russell, 155 N.E. 641, 258 Mass. 502.

Profits

(1) Representatives of deceased partner are entitled to share in net profits earned by surviving partner while liquidating business.—Murdock v. Murdock, 150 A. 599, 300 Pa. 280.

(2) Deceased partner's administratrix, on electing to take value of deceased's interest in property of partnership of contractors, could recover deceased's share of profits on contracts under execution at date of deceased's death only to extent profits were earned before death.—Belding v. Belding, 192 N.E. 917, 358 Ill. 216, reversing 272 Ill.App. 196.

45. Cal.—Pachett v. Webber, 245 P. 422, 198 Cal. 440, 23 C.J. p 1149 note 1.

Homestead property may constitute assets of decedent's estate. Ark.—Huffstetler v. Kibler, 54 S.W. 210, 67 Ark. 289.

Cal.—Pachett v. Webber, 245 P. 422, 198 Cal. 440.

Pension money

(1) Money which has been paid over to a pensioner is assets of his estate in the hands of his personal representatives notwithstanding statute exempting money due, or to become due, to a pensioner.—Appanoose County v. Carson, 229 N.W. 152, 210 Iowa 801.

(2) Homestead exemption statute is inapplicable to exemption of pension money in hands of administrator of pensioner's estate against claims of creditors.—Appanoose County v. Carson, supra.

(3) Statute exempting pension from execution does not exempt pension money in hands of administrator of pensioner's estate against claims of creditors.—Appanoose County v. Carson, supra.

(4) Pension money of deceased widow of Civil War veteran constitutes assets of her estate liable for payment of debts notwithstanding an exemption statute.—In re Stevens' Estate, 24 N.Y.S.2d 786, 261 App.Div. 48.

utes in some jurisdictions certain property, or funds, or property up to a certain value, is not considered assets, but goes to the widow or children or other person entitled thereto free from the decedent's debts,⁴⁶ and under a statute specifically exempting certain funds from payment of the obligations of decedent it has been held that such funds simply pass into the hands of the estate for the purpose of distribution to the beneficiaries.⁴⁷ To the extent that property exceeds in value the sum specified by the exemption statutes, it may constitute assets in the hands of the personal representative.⁴⁸

Property which is exempt at the time of the owner's death may become an asset of his estate when the person entitled to the benefit of the exemption renounces his right thereto.⁴⁹

(5) Statutes exempting pension money from liability for debts do not render real estate purchased with pension money exempt from payments of pensioner's debts after his death.—In re Stevens' Estate, supra.

Property of husband; individual property of widow

Tools and household goods of a deceased husband may be regarded as part of the general assets of his estate, subject to the right of the widow to retain such items as belonged to her individually at the time of his death.—In re David's Estate, 288 N.W. 418, 227 Iowa 352.

48. Ala.—Childs v. Thompson, 104 So. 287, 20 Ala.App. 594.

Miss.—De Baum v. Hulett Undertaking Co., 153 So. 513, 169 Miss. 488. N.D.—Bertsch v. Cloaten, 200 N.W. 904, 51 N.D. 733.

Okl.—McPosey v. Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother, 57 P.2d 617, 177 Okl. 52.

5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [a] (9), 35 [a]—23 C.J. p 1149 note 2.

Homestead

(1) Homestead property does not constitute assets of decedent's estate. U.S.—Pfister v. Johnson, D.C.Okl., 13 F.Supp. 662.

Fla.—Waln v. Howard, 196 So. 210, 142 Fla. 736—Spitzer v. Branning, 184 So. 770, 135 Fla. 49—Hedick v. Hedick, 21 So. 101, 38 Fla. 252. Neb.—U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Bates, 296 N.W. 560—Dillon v. Dillon, 171 N.W. 917, 103 Neb. 322—Judson v. Creighton, 128 N.W. 651, 88 Neb. 37.

Okl.—Ringer v. Byrne, 80 P.2d 212, 183 Okl. 46—Kimberlin v. Anthony, 254 P. 1, 124 Okl. 170—Pioneer Mortgage Co. v. Carter, 202 P. 513, 84 Okl. 85.

Tex.—Pace v. Eoff, Com.App., 48 S.W. 2d 956, modifying Eoff v. Pace, Civ. App., 25 S.W.2d 264—Padalecki v. Dreibrodt, Civ.App., 129 S.W.2d 481, error dismissed, judgment correct —Equitable Building & Loan Ass'n v. Jones, Civ.App., 36 S.W.2d 252—Greene v. Cass County State Bank, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 620—Cline v. Niblo, Civ.App., 286 S.W. 298, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 292 S.W. 178, modified on other grounds 8 S.W.2d 633, 117 Tex. 474, 66 A.L.R. 916—Henry v. Brown, Civ. App., 279 S.W. 541—Allen v. Ramsey, Civ.App., 226 S.W. 489.

Wis.—Curtis v. Gillie, 300 N.W. 911, 239 Wis. 207.

(2) To the extent to which a lease is exempt as a homestead it does not go to the personal representative.—In re Ring, 109 N.W. 710, 182 Iowa 216.

Pension money; adjusted service compensation

(1) Under statute, pension money may not constitute assets of the estate of a deceased pensioner.—National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, Danville, Ill., v. Wood, Ill., 57 S.Ct. 137, 299 U.S. 211, 81 L.Ed. 130, affirming, C.C.A., 81 F.2d 963, modifying, D.C., Wood v. National Home for Disabled Soldiers, Danville, Ill., 9 F.Supp. 403, certiorari granted National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, Danville, Ill. v. Wood, 57 S.Ct. 10, 299 U.S. 523, 81 L.Ed. 385—Durack v. National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, D.C.Me., 38 F.2d 112, affirmed, C.C.A., 44 F.2d 516—23 C.J. p 1149 note 2 [c].

(2) Money placed in special deposit account of branch treasurer of soldiers' home for disbursement to pensioners is "pension money" within the meaning of such statute.—Durack v. National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, supra.

(3) Adjusted service compensation of a World War veteran may not, under statute, constitute assets of his estate.

Kan.—In re Oman, 222 P. 111, 115 Kan. 232.

§ 116. Foreign Assets

Generally the assets of a decedent's estate, as far as his personal representatives are concerned, are limited to property within the state or country granting administration, although foreign assets coming into their hands constitute assets of the estate.

In general the granting of administration is limited to property within the state or country of the grant so far as the authority conferred is concerned;⁵⁰ but the domiciliary representative should hold accountable, as far as he reasonably may, those who receive or hold such foreign assets,⁵¹ while if he himself receives such property it becomes assets in his hands which must be accounted for as such.⁵² An executor or administrator qualifying in the state of the domicile of the testator has title ul-

Miss.—De Baum v. Hulett Undertaking Co., 153 So. 513, 169 Miss. 488. Pa.—In re Schmuckl's Estate, 17 A. 2d 876, 341 Pa. 36.

Solvency of estate

The application of the text rule is not affected by the solvency or insolvency of the decedent's estate.

Miss.—De Baum v. Hulett Undertaking Co., 153 So. 513, 169 Miss. 488. Tex.—Henry v. Brown, Civ.App., 279 S.W. 541.

Wages

Neb.—Dobney v. Chicago & N. W. Ry. Co., 235 N.W. 585, 120 Neb. 824.

"Wearing apparel"

"Wearing apparel," which is not to be deemed assets of decedent under an exemption statute, is not confined to clothing, but includes articles of ornamentation such as watch and chain.—In re Carter's Estate, 240 P. 727, 113 Okl. 182.

47. Iowa.—In re Galloway's Estate, 269 N.W. 7, 222 Iowa 159.

48. Evidence held sufficient to show value in excess of that prescribed by statute.—Columbia Trust Co. v. Anglum, 225 P. 1089, 63 Utah 353.

49. Okl.—In re Butler's Estate, 73 P.2d 417, 181 Okl. 301.

50. Conn.—Bankers' Trust Co. of New York v. Greims, 147 A. 290, 110 Conn. 36, 66 A.L.R. 726.

N.H.—Dupont v. Moore, 166 A. 417, 86 N.H. 254.

23 C.J. p 1148 note 91.

Foreign and ancillary administration see infra §§ 988–1016.

Situs of debt

Tex.—Saner-Ragley Lumber Co. v. Spivey, Com.App., 238 S.W. 912, reversing, Civ.App., 230 S.W. 878.

23 C.J. p 1148 note 91 [a].

51. Mass.—Hutchins v. State Bank, 12 Metc. 421.

23 C.J. p 1148 note 93.

52. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 14 P.2d 786, 125 Cal.App. 752.

Wis.—In re Pfister's Estate, 355 N.W.

timately to the assets, wherever they may be situated, subject, however, to the satisfaction of local creditors and claimants,⁵³ and he should consider all the chattels of his decedent wheresoever situated as assets, if by reasonable diligence he may pursue and possess himself of them.⁵⁴

§ 117. Ownership of Property

Only property which decedent owned at the time of his death may constitute assets of his estate; an executor or administrator cannot claim a greater interest in property than the decedent had.

As a general rule, only such property as a decedent owned at the time of his death may constitute assets of his estate.⁵⁵ Debts or claims can be assets only where decedent was the creditor or claimant at the time of his death;⁵⁶ but an obligation really owned by decedent is an asset of his estate, 911, 216 Wis. 42, rehearing denied 256 N.W. 245, 216 Wis. 42.

23 C.J. p 1148 note 94.

53. Ky.—Compton's Adm'r v. Borderland Coal Co., 201 S.W. 20, 179 Ky. 695, L.R.A.1918D 666.

Md.—York v. Maryland Trust Co., 133 A. 128, 131, 150 Md. 354, 46 A.L.R. 281, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1148 note 95.

Stock of foreign corporation may be administered by the domiciliary representative where there is no ancillary administration.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal. App. 153.

54. Md.—York v. Maryland Trust Co., 133 A. 128, 131, 150 Md. 354, 46 A.L.R. 231, quoting Corpus Juris. 23 C.J. p 1148 note 96.

55. Ark.—Pool v. Gordon, 221 S.W. 453, 144 Ark. 105.

Cal.—In re Olmstead's Estate, 15 P. 2d 495, 216 Cal. 585.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal. App. 153.

Fla.—Bourne v. State Bank of Orlando & Trust Co., 142 So. 810, 814, 106 Fla. 46, citing Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—In re Lewis' Estate, 298 N. W. 842, 230 Iowa 694.

La.—Boykin v. Boykin, 4 La.App. 310.

Minn.—Engelking v. First State Bank of Northome, 209 N.W. 307, 167 Minn. 486.

Miss.—Hayes v. National Surety Co., 153 So. 515, 169 Miss. 676.

Mo.—Cunningham v. Kinnerk, 74 S. W.2d 1107, 1113, 230 Mo.App. 749, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—In re Kornder's Estate, 6 N. Y.S.2d 324, 168 Misc. 553.—In re Guarneri's Will, 268 N.Y.S. 244, 149 Misc. 759.—In re Tiebor's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 40.

Pa.—In re Logan's Estate, 74 Pa.Super. 82.—In re Rahausen's Estate, 52 York Leg.Rec. 37.

Tex.—Markward v. Murrah, 156 S. W.2d 971, 138 A.L.R. 242, affirming. Civ.App., 136 S.W.2d 649, and reversing 136 S.W.2d 652 and 136 S.W.2d 656.—Coggin Nat. Bank v. Smith, Civ.App., 63 S.W.2d 252.

Utah.—In re Rogers' Estate, 284 P. 992, 75 Utah 290.

28 C.J. p 1149 note 3—5 C.J. p 825 note 34 [d] (3).

Property accruing after death see infra § 126.

Surviving wife's business

Administrator of deceased husband as representative of creditors has no rights in property of surviving wife engaged in business.—Chase v. Chase, 171 N.E. 651, 271 Mass. 485.

Property acquired during coverture

(1) In absence of wife's written assent, personally acquired by her during coverture cannot become the property of her husband even though he purports to reduce the property to his own possession, and, having never been his property, cannot be part of his estate.—Hax v. O'Donnell, 117 S.W.2d 667, 234 Mo.App. 636.

(2) Bonus from sale of oil and gas lease on property not acquired by joint industry during coverture is not itself property so acquired within meaning of distribution statute.—In re Wagner's Estate, 62 P.2d 1186, 178 Okl. 384.

Workmen's compensation award

Lump sum award of compensation paid attorney for injured party became part of latter's estate on his death.—Bannat v. Zulley, 243 Ill. App. 497.

Absence of formal conveyance

Where a testator directed that his debts and funeral expenses be paid, and that his property be sold, and the proceeds paid over to, or invested for, his widow, and the land was not sold, but the widow remained in possession thereof after having agreed with the executor in writing to assume the debts and discharge him from liability, such land was part of the widow's estate, and subject to her debts at her death, notwithstanding the failure of the executor formally to convey it to her.—Logan v. Bean, 87 S.W. 1110, 120 Ky. 712, 27 Ky.L. 1081.

Asset not reduced to possession

Where wife died intestate and without issue in 1912, leaving bank deposit, and husband who was appointed administrator died in 1917, beneficial interest in bank deposit passed to next of kin of husband on his death, even though he had not reduced bank deposit to possession during his lifetime.—Hennessey v. Meehan, 191 A. 515, 58 R.I. 104.

Payment to widow merely for distribution

Widow, under antenuptial agreement creating trust guaranteeing to her a stated income per month and requiring her to account for income received in excess of that amount, was not entitled, during administration of the husband's estate, to receive income in excess of amount guaranteed merely for purpose of permitting her to make distribution to parties entitled to it, nor was she entitled to receive it as administratrix to await orders of court.—Cannon v. Birmingham Trust & Savings Co., 102 So. 453, 212 Ala. 316.

56. N.Y.—Conlon v. Union Dime Sav. Bank, 186 N.Y.S. 303, 195 App.Div. 509.

23 C.J. p 1150 note 6.

Debts and rights of action generally see supra §§ 100–102.

A recovery by the personal representative becomes assets of the decedent's estate.

Ala.—American Life Ins. Co. of Alabama v. Carlton, 184 So. 171, 236 Ala. 609.

Okla.—Baltimore American Ins. Co. of New York v. Cannon, 73 P.2d 167, 181 Okl. 244.

Claims acquired in discharging obligations

Claims acquired by executors in properly administering estate as incident to discharge of testator's obligations are enforceable by executors.—In re Jarvis' Estate, 285 N. Y.S. 285, 158 Misc. 255.

Contribution from joint debtors

A mortgage obligation upon which deceased was a cosigner was a primary debt of deceased's estate properly listed in the schedule of debts filed by executor, and if the estate satisfied the debt it would be entitled to contribution from the joint debtors, which contribution would be an asset of the estate.—In re Fiebig's Estate, 22 N.E.2d 288, 61 Ohio App. 40.

Note and contract in favor of husband and wife

On death of wife, husband was entitled to promissory note payable to husband or wife and to annuity contract in favor of husband and wife, or survivor.—Holmes v. Vigue, 173 A. 816, 133 Me. 50.

although it nominally runs to another.⁵⁷ An executor or administrator cannot claim a greater interest in property than decedent had;⁵⁸ he takes the property subject to such charges, liens, claims, and obligations on it as existed at the time of decedent's death.⁵⁹

Decedent's interest in collateral which he had posted as security is an asset of his estate.⁶⁰

Joint bank account

(1) Entire bank account, changed from joint account to decedent's name only before his death, belonged to estate.—In re Gallagher's Estate, 262 N.Y.S. 381, 146 Misc. 112.

(2) Where a husband deposited in a bank money belonging to himself, in the name of his wife, with the understanding that all or any of it might be withdrawn either by himself or by the wife and both the husband and the wife died without withdrawing the money, the title to such money vested jointly in the estates of the husband and wife.—First Nat. Bank v. Sanders, 122 S.E. 341, 31 Ga.App. 789.

Drafts

Where drafts were purchased for the purpose of making gifts to the respective payees, but before the intention was carried out the purchaser died and the drafts passed into the hands of her executrix, the drafts, as between the bank selling the drafts and the decedent's estate, must be deemed to be the property of the estate, it being legally impossible to carry out the deceased's intentions by giving to the payees.—Gellert v. Bank of California, National Ass'n, 214 P. 377, 107 Or. 162.

57. Kan.—Hanrion v. Hanrion, 84 P. 381, 73 Kan. 25, 117 Am.S.R. 453.

23 C.J. p 1150 note 7.

Account in another's name

(1) Funds which mother deposited in bank to daughter's credit, and which daughter used for mother's support and maintenance, were property of mother, in absence of showing that deposit was intended as gift.—In re Turner's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 435, 148 Misc. 142.

(2) Payment of bank deposits in wife's name to surviving husband is valid as against wife's administrator, where funds belonged to husband, but were deposited in wife's name for convenience, though each drew checks on bank.—Wasson v. Lillard, 74 S.W.2d 637, 189 Ark. 546.

(3) Where A and B opened a savings account by depositing money in the name of B, there being no evidence as to whom the money belonged, and the signature card authorized the bank to pay the money on a check signed by B and countersigned by A, or on a check signed "B by A," and later A withdrew the money by check payable to his order, signed "B by A," and deposited it in another name, the money was the property of A, and his executor is entitled to it as part of his estate.—Dempsey v. Brighton Bank & Trust Co., 14 Ohio App. 170.

58. Cal.—Wortley v. Wood-Callahan Oil Co., 112 P.2d 226, 17 Cal.2d 762. Mich.—Ripley v. Lucas, 255 N.W. 356, 267 Mich. 683.

Ohio.—Hodapp v. Hodapp, App., 37 N.E.2d 101—Wagner v. Blanchard, 178 N.E. 846, 40 Ohio App. 553.

Pa.—Krewson v. Sawyer, 109 A. 798, 266 Pa. 284.

Superior right outstanding

An administrator is not entitled to hold property to which others have a superior right.—Flaks, Inc. v. De Berry, 79 P.2d 825, 53 Wyo. 203, 116 A.L.R. 1191.

Property wrongfully acquired or withheld

(1) Where decedent obtained money from one bank by fraud, and deposited it in another bank, money on deposit in decedent's name in second bank at time of decedent's death was held to belong to defrauded bank.—In re Accles' Estate, 275 N.Y.S. 430, 153 Misc. 421, affirmed 281 N.Y.S. 973, 245 App.Div. 743.

(2) An administrator in possession of property conveyed to his intestate in fraud of creditors stands in the shoes of the deceased vendee, taking only what his intestate rightfully held at his death.—Flaks, Inc. v. De Berry, 79 P.2d 825, 53 Wyo. 203, 116 A.L.R. 1191.

(3) Where an officer of the court without authority withholds personal property of the estate, his estate may not retain any part of the funds withheld.—In re De Barry's Estate, 111 P.2d 728, 43 Cal.App.2d 715.

59. Cal.—In re Barreiro's Estate, 13 P.2d 1017, 125 Cal.App. 153.

Iowa.—In re Lewis' Estate, 298 N.W. 842, 230 Iowa 694.

N.Y.—In re Guarneri's Will, 268 N.Y.S. 244, 149 Misc. 769.

Property in decedent's name as security

Where title to property purchased by son with aid of loan from father was taken in father's name for his protection and stood in his name at time of his death although loan had been repaid, administrator of father's estate was not owner and was not entitled to rents and profits from property.—Hyland v. Tousley, 275 N.W. 340, 67 N.D. 612.

Conditional sale

Under contract providing that title should not pass until drafts were paid, title was in seller, who could, on default, retake merchandise from buyer's administrators.—National Bank of Arkansas v. Interstate Packing Co., 299 S.W. 34, 175 Ark. 341.

Deed as mortgage

Where deed absolute in form is made to secure debt, and the grantee dies, the grantor has a right as against the administrator to reconveyance of the property on payment of the debt.—Paulk v. Dorminey, 115 S.E. 488, 154 Ga. 785.

Payment by third person of charge on property

Where, after death of husband, wife paid note which she had executed in consideration of extension of husband's preexisting indebtedness to payee, land on which husband had executed mortgage to secure note became part of husband's estate and subject to claims against estate.—Strellitz v. First Wisconsin Nat. Bank of Milwaukee, 264 N.W. 649, 220 Wis. 443.

Proceeds greater than claim

Where claimant was entitled to preferred claim against estate of pledgor for proceeds of sale of pledged merchandise, claim would be allowed as preferred claim only in sum claimant in proof of claim filed with administratrix demanded, although proceeds of sale of pledged merchandise exceeded demand.—In re Petrosimolo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 718, 152 Misc. 419.

Levy after death

Where landlord, after tenant's death, distrained automobile acquired by tenant under bailment lease, bailor's subsequently replevining automobile did not eliminate rights of tenant's estate.—Studebaker Sales Co. of Pittsburgh v. Nehaus, 158 A. 283, 103 Pa.Super. 114.

60. Colo.—Colorado Nat. Bank v. McCue, 249 P. 3, 80 Colo. 55.

Mo.—Studer v. Harlan, 109 S.W.2d 687, 233 Mo.App. 811—Hornaby v. Knorpp, 232 S.W. 776, 207 Mo.App. 302.

Possession of collateral

(1) Executor is not entitled to recover note pledged by testator as collateral security under agreement giving pledgee power of sale without first discharging obligation due pledgee.—Hamilton v. First Nat. Bank, 168 N.E. 774, 33 Ohio App. 100.

(2) The possessor of a policy of insurance on the life of a decedent may not be required to turn it over to decedent's executor if the policy was delivered as collateral security for a debt which the executor has not offered to discharge.—In re Pot-

§ 118. — Property Held in Fiduciary Capacity

Property which a decedent held as a fiduciary is not part of his estate.

Property which a decedent held as trustee or in any other fiduciary capacity does not at his death properly constitute part of his estate;⁶¹ title to the property may pass to decedent's heirs or personal representatives, but it does so clothed with the fiduciary obligation.⁶² Such property cannot be charged with the debts of decedent,⁶³ or with the expense of administering the estate.⁶⁴ The fact that the fiduciary treated the property as his own does not alter the rule;⁶⁵ so decedent's wrongful act in selling trust property does not make the proceeds of the sale part of his estate.⁶⁶

The rule that property of which decedent was trustee is not part of his estate applies where he is trustee of a trust which he established;⁶⁷ thus a bank account which decedent established in his name as trustee⁶⁸ or custodian⁶⁹ for another is not part of decedent's estate, unless he effectively revoked such trust before his death.⁷⁰ However, such a bank account trust is subject to the claims of decedent's creditors and is liable for funeral and administrative expenses to the extent that the assets of the estate are insufficient to pay such claims.⁷¹

The rule that property held by decedent in trust does not constitute assets of the estate does not release the executor or administrator from his duty to maintain the right of the estate to such property until it has been finally judicially determined that it is not the property of the estate;⁷² the personal representative is entitled to hold the trust property unochinak's Estate, 25 Pa.Dist. & Co. 282.

Application of collateral to other accounts

Brokers authorized to apply collateral in customer's margin account on claims against other accounts are entitled to proceeds thereof as against administrator of customer's estate.—In re Thomas' Estate, 257 N.Y.S. 336, 235 App.Div. 455.

61. U.S.—Matern v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A., 61 F.2d 663—Bolmer v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., D.C.Ky., 11 F.Supp. 560.

Ga.—Napier v. Mitchell, 187 S.E. 639, 183 Ga. 93.

Fla.—Bourne v. State Bank of Orlando & Trust Co., 142 So. 810, 814, 106 Fla. 46, citing Corpus Juris.

Iowa.—In re Richardson, 100 N.W. 797, 138 Iowa 668.

N.Y.—Hawthorne v. Smith, 7 N.E.2d 139, 273 N.Y. 291, reversing 289 N.Y.S. 749, 248 App.Div. 612, affirming 289 N.Y.S. 804, 159 Misc. 709.—In re Huselson's Estate, 237 N.Y.S. 531, 135 Misc. 56.—In re Sommer's Estate, 12 N.Y.S.2d 47. Pa.—In re Garrow's Estate, 49 Dauph.Co. 174.

23 C.J. p 1150 note 9.

Account in decedent's name as administrator

Plaintiff's decedent became vested with legal ownership of money in bank left by his wife, who died without descendants, and, having obtained possession thereof through administration before his death, he was the absolute owner in possession of the entire fund, all debts of his wife having been paid, the form of the deposit, credited to the wife's estate in the name of the widower as her administrator, not changing the fact of its exclusive ownership in him at the time of his decease.—

Conlon v. Union Dime Sav. Bank, 186 N.Y.S. 303, 195 App.Div. 509.

Check intended as assignment

Where a depositor shortly before his death signed and delivered a check intended as an assignment of the deposit to the payee in payment of a debt, if the apparent title to the deposit was in the drawer's estate, it was held by the estate as trust property.—Dunlap v. Commercial Nat. Bank of Los Angeles, 195 P. 688, 50 Cal.App. 476.

Money which an agent receives in the course of his agency and keeps separate and distinct is not part of the agent's estate.—In re Oglesby's Estate, 215 Ill.App. 94.

Fund commingled but traceable

Where insured's check for insurance premiums was deposited by insurance broker, to whom insurance companies intrusted insurance policies for collection and remission of premiums, in his personal bank account on day before his death, and fund on deposit at his death exceeded proceeds of check, so that trust fund was clearly traced and identified, it should be paid over to such companies.—In re Sommer's Estate, 12 N.Y.S.2d 47.

62. U.S.—Matern v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A., 61 F.2d 663.

63. U.S.—Bolmer v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., D.C.Ky., 11 F.Supp. 560.

Property available for payment of claims see infra § 478.

64. U.S.—Bolmer v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., supra.

65. U.S.—Bolmer v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., supra.

N.Y.—In re Petrosemolo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 718, 152 Misc. 419.

66. Mo.—Clay v. Walker, App., 6 S. W.2d 961.

Where administratrix sold merchandise delivered to decedent as agent, principal was entitled to preference as to proceeds of sale.—In re Petrosemolo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 718, 152 Misc. 419.

37. N.Y.—In re Sweeney's Estate, 279 N.Y.S. 927, 155 Misc. 461.

68. N.Y.—Malary v. National Sav. Bank of Albany, 286 N.Y.S. 693, 247 App.Div. 850.—In re Yarme's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 93, 148 Misc. 457, affirmed 273 N.Y.S. 403, 242 App.Div. 693.—In re Brazil's Estate, 224 N.Y.S. 308, 130 Misc. 299, 23 C.J. p 1151 note 9 [h].

69. Pa.—In re Fitzgibbon's Estate, 116 A. 289, 272 Pa. 345.

70. N.Y.—In re Richardson's Estate, 235 N.Y.S. 747, 131 Misc. 174.

Revocation by incompetent's committee

Where deceased, prior to his incompetency, had established a tentative trust of a bank account, his committee could not revoke such trust and did not make the account part of the estate of the deceased by withdrawing the account and mingling the fund with the committee's other moneys.—In re Rasmussen's Estate, 264 N.Y.S. 231, 147 Misc. 564.

71. N.Y.—In re Reich's Estate, 262 N.Y.S. 623, 146 Misc. 616.

72. Cal.—Elizalde v. Murphy, 103 P. 904, 11 Cal.App. 32.

Decedent as committee for incompetent

On the other hand, it has been held that the personal representative of a decedent who was a committee for an incompetent is without authority to receive the property of the incompetent which was in the committee's possession at the time of his death.—Bolmer v. U. S. Fidelity til a new trustee is appointed,⁷³ and should settle the account of the trust.⁷⁴

Where the trust property has been dissipated or cannot be traced and identified, the beneficiary of the trust has only the rights of a general creditor against the estate,⁷⁵ unless, as discussed in § 461 infra, he is given a preference by statute.

Decedent as settlor of trust. The fact that decedent was the settlor of a trust does not of itself give his personal representatives any interest in the trust.⁷⁶

§ 119. — Estates for Life or Years

Property in which decedent had a life estate cannot constitute assets of his estate; but an estate pur autre vie or for years may do so.

Obviously property in which decedent had only a life estate cannot go to his personal representatives as assets, since the estate terminates on decedent's death.⁷⁷

An estate pur autre vie⁷⁸ or an estate for years⁷⁹ may be an asset of the estate.

§ 120. — Reversions or Remainders

A decedent's interest in reversion or remainder is an asset of his estate.

A decedent's interest in reversion or remainder in property is an asset of his estate.⁸⁰

§ 121. — Property Subject to Power of Appointment

Property subject to a decedent's power of appointment is not properly part of his estate, although it may be subject to the claims of his creditors.

Property subject to a decedent's power of appointment is not properly part of his estate,⁸¹ whether & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., D.C.Ky., 11 F.Supp. 560.

73. Ky.—Boyd v. Immegart, 91 S. W. 1132, 29 Ky.L. 20.

74. N.Y.—Boone v. Citizens' Sav. Bank, 84 N.Y. 83, 38 Am.R. 498. 23 C.J. p 1151 note 10.

75. N.Y.—In re Petrosomolo's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 718, 152 Misc. 419—In re Sommer's Estate, 12 N.Y. S.2d 47.

23 C.J. p 1151 note 13—24 C.J. p 427 note 16.

Bank account assumed to be trust money

Where decedent holds money in trust and amount of decedent's bank deposit is greater than trust fund, amount on deposit will, in absence of showing to contrary, be presumed to be money held in trust.—Armstrong v. Schoenborn, 20 P.2d 79, 130 Cal.App. 501.

76. Cal.—Shaw v. Johnson, 59 P.2d 876, 15 Cal.App.2d 599.

Iowa.—Baadtke v. Walgenbach, 171 N.W. 146, 185 Iowa 773.

N.Y.—Casey v. Casey, 146 N.Y.S. 348, 161 App.Div. 427.

Trust created by assent of decedent

Where a soldier on admission to a soldiers' home expressly assented to the regulations of the home, which required the payment of pension money to the treasurer of the home, to be held for the soldier's use during life, and on his death intestate to be paid to enumerated relatives, and he paid his pension money to the treasurer, his administrator could not recover the money in the hands of the treasurer, because of the trust created by the soldier's assent.—Treadway v. Veterans' Home, 111 P. 111, 14 Cal.App. 75.

77. N.Y.—In re Ehlers' Estate, 231 N.Y.S. 16, 132 Misc. 910.

23 C.J. p 1151 note 15.

What remains after life estate is ended is no part of life tenant's estate.—Nott v. Heltman Trust Co., 2 N.E.2d 143, 285 Ill.App. 450.

Power to invade principal

(1) Where testator bequeathed widow life estate in his personal property, with right to use principal, widow's estate was accountable to trust residuary estate for whatever remained of principal.—In re Curtis' Estate, 192 A. 13, 109 Vt. 44.

(2) Property, not used for comfort and support of life tenant, as permitted by will, was subject to administration at death of life tenant, to subject it to satisfaction of debts incurred, to furnish support and comfort to life tenant, or to determine that there were no such debts, and executrix of life tenant was entitled to possession.—Porter v. Wheeler, 230 P. 640, 131 Wash. 482.

Power of sale

Property devised to life tenant with power of sale, which he attempted to convey by deed of gift, held not assets of his estate subject to his debts.—Merchants' Trust Co. v. Russell, 157 N.E. 338, 260 Mass. 162.

78. Ky.—Clare v. Nichols, 251 S.W. 846, 199 Ky. 581.

23 C.J. p 1151 note 16.

79. U.S.—Broadwell v. Banks, C.C. Mo., 134 F. 470.

23 C.J. p 1151 note 17.

Leaseholds generally see supra § 108.

80. Cal.—In re Hamon's Estate, 29 P.2d 326, 136 Cal.App. 517.

Mass.—Old Colony Trust Co. v. Clarke, 195 N.E. 758, 291 Mass. 17—Sewall v. Elder, 181 N.E. 720, 279 Mass. 473.

Mo.—Cunningham v. Kinnerk, 74 S. W.2d 1107, 230 Mo.App. 749.

N.Y.—In re Hoole's Estate, 282 N.Y.

S. 657, 156 Misc. 821—In re Croner's Will, 208 N.Y.S. 798, 124 Misc. 846.

Pa.—In re Koch's Estate, 17 Lehigh Co.L.J. 281.

Wash.—Johnson v. Redfield, 272 P. 55, 149 Wash. 618.

23 C.J. p 1152 note 19.

81. U.S.—U. S. v. Field, Ct.Cl., 41 S. Ct. 256, 255 U.S. 257, 65 L.Ed. 617, 18 A.L.R. 1461.

Ill.—Riggs v. Barrett, 32 N.E.2d 382, 308 Ill.App. 549—Riggs v. Barrett, 32 N.E.2d 392, 308 Ill.App. 671.

Md.—Pope v. Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 161 A. 404, 163 Md. 239.

N.J.—Seward v. Kaufman, 180 A. 857, 119 N.J.Eq. 44.

Interest of donee of power in property see the C.J.S. title Powers § 31, also 49 C.J. p 1276 notes 15–20.

Decedent as donor and donee of power

Where a testator created a trust during his lifetime, reserving a power of appointment, the situation is the same as though the power had been created by a third party.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Green, 289 N.Y.S. 473, 160 Misc. 370.

Accrued income on life estate

Where a testator had a life interest in a trust and a power of appointment as to the remainder, and directed in his will that the corpus and accrued income be paid to a named person, the accrued income, but not the corpus, was part of his estate.—In re Howald's Trust, 29 N.E.2d 576, 65 Ohio App. 191.

Absence of direction as to fund

Where beneficiary of testamentary trust having an unlimited power of appointment dealt with appointive fund and individual estate separately and did not direct that appointive fund be turned over to her executors for distribution, property passing un-or not the power is exercised.⁸² If there is no appointment, the property goes according to the disposition of the donor of the power; if there be an appointment to volunteers, then, subject to whatever charge creditors may have against it, it goes, not to the heirs or legatees of the donee, but to his appointees.⁸³

Where the creditors of decedent have rights against the property, it is treated as an equitable rather than a legal asset of the estate,⁸⁴ and, in the absence of statute, passes to the executor not by virtue of his office, but as a matter of convenience, and because he represents the rights of the creditors.⁸⁵

§ 122. — Equitable Estates or Interests

Equitable estates or interests owned by a decedent are generally part of his estate.

der power was distributable directly to appointees.—In re Rolston's Estate, 10 N.Y.S.2d 660, 170 Misc. 548.

Knowledge of appointee

That trustee was ignorant of persons to be designated in testatrix' will as beneficiaries of trust was held immaterial in determining whether trustee or executors under testatrix' will should distribute trust fund.—Syracuse Trust Co. v. Fuller, 252 N.Y.S. 90, 140 Misc. 918.

82. U.S.—U. S. v. Field, Ct.Cl., 41 S.Ct. 256, 255 U.S. 257, 65 L.Ed. 617, 18 A.L.R. 1461.

N.J.—Seward v. Kaufman, 180 A. 857, 119 N.J.Eq. 44.

83. U.S.—U. S. v. Field, Ct.Cl., 41 S.Ct. 256, 255 U.S. 257, 65 L.Ed. 617, 18 A.L.R. 1461.

N.J.—Seward v. Kaufman, 180 A. 857, 119 N.J.Eq. 44.

N.Y.—In re Rolston's Estate, 10 N.Y.S.2d 660, 170 Misc. 548.—In re Beaumont's Estate, 263 N.Y.S. 426, 147 Misc. 118.

Pa.—In re Shoch's Estate, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 696.—In re Harris' Estate, 34 Pa.Dist. & Co. 378.

Effect of appointment in will

The fact that the appointment is made in decedent's will does not mean that the property passes through his estate.

Ill.—Riggs v. Barrett, 32 N.E.2d 382, 308 Ill.App. 549.—Riggs v. Barrett, 32 N.E.2d 392, 308 Ill.App. 671.

N.Y.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Green, 289 N.Y.S. 473, 160 Misc. 370.

84. U.S.—U. S. v. Field, Ct.Cl., 41 S.Ct. 256, 255 U.S. 257, 65 L.Ed. 617, 18 A.L.R. 1461.

Ga.—Patterson Co. v. Lawrence, 10 S.E. 355, 83 Ga. 703, 7 L.R.A. 143. Mass.—Clapp v. Ingraham, 126 Mass. 200.

N.J.—Seward v. Kaufman, 180 A. 857, 119 N.J.Eq. 44.

Equitable doctrine

(1) The doctrine that, where a general power of appointment is exercised in favor of a volunteer, the subject matter of the power will be treated as an asset of the estate in so far as creditors are concerned is a purely equitable doctrine, and at law the property is not an asset of the estate.—Shattuck v. Burrage, 118 N.E. 889, 229 Mass. 448—49 C.J. p 1277 notes 30, 31.

(2) Rights of creditors of donee of power see the C.J.S. title Powers § 32, also 49 C.J. p 1276 note 21—p 1277 note 31.

85. U.S.—U. S. v. Field, Ct.Cl., 41 S.Ct. 256, 255 U.S. 257, 65 L.Ed. 617, 18 A.L.R. 1461.

N.J.—Seward v. Kaufman, 180 A. 857, 119 N.J.Eq. 44.

N.Y.—In re Rolston's Estate, 10 N.Y.S.2d 660, 170 Misc. 548.

23 C.J. p 1152 note 22.

86. Wash.—Johnson v. Redfield, 272 P. 55, 149 Wash. 618.

23 C.J. p 1152 note 23.

Interest on failure of trust

The beneficial interest, in event of failure of express trust, is not a mere equity, but is an "equitable estate" which vests in settlor's successors as of the date of settlor's death.—Pedrick v. Guarantee Trust Co., 197 A. 909, 123 N.J.Eq. 395.

Decedent's money deposited in another's name

Where moneys of decedent were deposited in an account in the name of another in trust for decedent merely as a matter of convenience, the account is part of decedent's estate.—In re Milton's Estate, 265 N.Y.S. 735, 148 Misc. 315.—In re McLaughlin's Estate, 265 N.Y.S. 332, 148 Misc. 113.

Public welfare fund

Where county delivered money to

Generally, equitable interests owned by a decedent in property are recoverable for his estate by his personal representative.⁸⁶

The right of a spouse to the usufruct of his deceased spouse's share of their community property ceases on his death or remarriage, and so is not part of his estate.⁸⁷ Similarly a decedent's interest as beneficiary for life of a trust is not an asset of his estate,⁸⁸ except that decedent's personal representatives are entitled to such income as accrued up to the time of decedent's death and remains in the trustee's hands;⁸⁹ but a trust estate pur autre vie passes to the beneficiary's personal representatives.⁹⁰

Where decedent was the life beneficiary of a trust and was entitled to as much of the principal as he requested, his representatives were not enti-overseer of poor to be expended for benefit of blind person, unexpended portion of benefit belonged to county and did not become part of blind person's estate.—In re Hugus' Estate, 213 N.W. 239, 203 Iowa 607.

87. U.S.—Milburn v. Proctor Trust Co., D.C.La., 32 F.Supp. 635.

88. Ill.—Chicago Title & Trust Co. v. Colby, 17 N.E.2d 350, 297 Ill. App. 176.

89. N.Y.—In re Arnould's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 386, 176 Misc. 793.—In re Douglas' Will, 26 N.Y.S.2d 387, 176 Misc. 24.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Green, 289 N.Y.S. 473, 160 Misc. 370.—Guaranty Trust Co. of New York v. International Trust Co., 258 N.Y.S. 465, 144 Misc. 127. Ohio.—In re Howard's Trust, 29 N.E.2d 575, 65 Ohio App. 191.

Pa.—In re Mitchell's Estate, 35 Pa. Dist. & Co. 67.

Tenn.—Tramell v. Tramell, 35 S.W.2d 574, 162 Tenn. 1, denying rehearing 32 S.W.2d 1025, 162 Tenn. 1.

Representative's rights as those of decedent

If trustees under testamentary trust created for benefit of testator's widow failed to obey testator's directions with regard to making payments from trust fund for widow's benefit, after widow's death widow's representatives had same right to claim amount unpaid as widow would have had if living and a party to proceeding wherein trustees filed accounting and sought construction of testamentary provisions under which they were acting.—In re Tod's Estate, 23 N.Y.S.2d 48, 175 Misc. 222, modified on other grounds 23 N.Y.S.2d 270, 260 App.Div. 627.

90. N.Y.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Green, 289 N.Y.S. 473, 160 Misc. 370.—In re Byles' Estate, 289 N.Y.S. 905, 157 Misc. 46.

tled to that part of the principal which decedent had requested but not received at the time of death, in the absence of a showing that he had maintained himself out of his personal estate or by incurring obligations;⁹¹ however, where a beneficiary who was entitled to invade the corpus of the trust for his support left debts arising out of his maintenance, his personal representatives were entitled to recover such sum from the trust.⁹²

§ 123. — Property Disposed of by Decedent in General

Property which a decedent bona fide and regularly transferred during his lifetime is not part of his estate, nor may gifts causa mortis be recovered for purposes other than payment of his debts. A personal representative may attack a transfer by decedent as having been fraudulently obtained.

Property bona fide and regularly transferred to others by decedent during his lifetime with mutual intent that the title should pass, whether by way of sale or gift, does not vest in the executor or administrator.⁹³ Conversely, since legal transfer implies parting with dominion over the thing, any professed transfer during one's lifetime which left the possession, control, and power to revoke in the transferor keeps his title virtually undivested, so that at his decease the chattel must be administered as assets.⁹⁴

Gift causa mortis. While a gift causa mortis cannot be sustained to the prejudice of creditors, and can be recovered by the personal representative to the extent needed for the payment of the donor's debts,⁹⁵ the personal representative has no claim on

91. N.Y.—In re Garrett's Will, 10 N. Y.S.2d 904, 256 App.Div. 1034, reargument denied 12 N.Y.S.2d 774, 257 App.Div. 919, and affirmed 27 N.E.2d 281, 283 N.Y. 562.

92. Tenn.—Robertson v. Brown, 13 Tenn.App. 211.

93. Cal.—Wortley v. Wood-Callahan Oil Co., 112 P.2d 226, 17 Cal.2d 762.

Ill.—Hartley v. Hartley, 7 N.E.2d 906, 290 Ill.App. 92.

Iowa.—In re Van Hauen's Estate, 294 N.W. 901, 229 Iowa 852.

Md.—State for Use of Horsey v. Maryland Casualty Co., 163 A. 856, 164 Md. 69.

Miss.—Howell v. Ott, 180 So. 52, 182 Miss. 252, suggestion of error overruled, 181 So. 740, 182 Miss. 252.

N.Y.—Malary v. National Sav. Bank of Albany, 286 N.Y.S. 693, 247 App. Div. 850.—In re Kislyk's Estate, 1 N.Y.S.2d 386, 164 Misc. 287.—In re Doyle's Estate, 279 N.Y.S. 601, 155 Misc. 88.—In re Bednowitz' Estate, 274 N.Y.S. 120, 152 Misc. 765.—In re Yarme's Estate, 266 N.Y.S. 93, 148 Misc. 457, affirmed 273 N.Y.S. 403, 242 App.Div. 693.

N.D.—Roach v. McKee, 265 N.W. 264, 66 N.D. 304.

23 C.J. p 1152 note 26.

Check

If a check given shortly before the drawer's death was intended as an assignment of the deposit to the payee, the debt due from the bank never became a part of the estate and the drawer's administrator had no right to it, or any part of it.—Dunlap v. Commercial Nat. Bank of Los Angeles, 195 P. 688, 50 Cal.App. 476.

Conveyance of land subject to sale contract

Where vendor conveyed land subject to sale contract, fact that he did not specifically assign contract to purchaser did not constitute unpaid purchase money personal property belonging to vendor's estate, since the legal effect of the deed was to transfer the right to the purchase money to the grantee.—Lancey v. Traubel, 247 Ill.App. 265.

Self-correcting error

Land conveyed by deed containing self-correcting error in lifetime of testatrix is not part of estate at time of her death.—Chestang v. Bower, 140 So. 537, 224 Ala. 469.

Conveyance of mortgagor's interest

Where mortgagor, after executing deed of trust with power of sale, conveyed his interest in land to wife so as to make it her separate property, power of sale in deed of trust was not revoked by mortgagor's death, and his administrator would have no claim or interest in property.—Estrada v. Reed, Tex.Civ.App., 98 S.W.2d 1042, error refused.

Allotment by Civilian Conservation Corps enrollee

Administratrix of Civilian Conservation Corps enrollee could not recover allotment made from enrollee's compensation to person with whom he had lived, since enrollee had no right to or interest in proceeds of such allotment.—In re Becker's Estate, 8 N.Y.S.2d 562, 169 Misc. 723.

Noncompliance with conditions of transfer

Where a mother gave a certain deposit to her son to hold, to pay over the same to her and her creditors from time to time during her life, and to pay her funeral expenses and erect a tablet at her grave, with the provision that the remainder should belong to him if he executed the trust, and if he did not, the remainder should become a part of her estate, the executors could claim any residue if the conditions of the trust had not been complied with.—Peirce v. Woodbury, 60 A. 424, 100 Me. 1.

94. Ohio.—In re Matthes' Estate, 35 N.E.2d 864, 67 Ohio App. 77.

Wash.—Sievers v. Sievers, 119 P.2d 668.

23 C.J. p 1153 note 27.

Property ineffectively transferred is part of decedent's estate.—Cline v. Cline, 284 S.W. 1110, 215 Ky. 492.

Bank account in another's name

The balance remaining at time of decedent's death in a savings account which decedent had opened in the name of a church building fund was part of decedent's estate and could not be claimed by church where decedent had directed bank to honor only withdrawals made by herself, and there was no evidence that account represented church funds or that it was a trust fund or a gift.—In re Matthes' Estate, 35 N.E.2d 864, 67 Ohio App. 77.

Failure of purpose for which trust was modified

Where a decedent established an insurance trust for his family, reserving the power to modify or revoke the trust, and thereafter, as collateral security for a debt, named a creditor as beneficiary of the face amount of the debt, the estate, and not the other beneficiaries of the trust, was entitled to the face amount of the debt out of the insurance, where the creditor was satisfied out of other collateral he held; in such case the estate, where insolvent, is entitled to interest to the date of the decedent's death only.—Fidelity Trust Co. v. Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh, 169 A. 209, 313 Pa. 467, certiorari denied Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh v. Fidelity Trust Co., 54 S.Ct. 530, 291 U.S. 680, 78 L.Ed. 1068.

95. U.S.—Railey v. Railey, D.C.D.C., 30 F.Supp. 121.

Miss.—Yates' Estate v. Alabama-Mississippi Conference Ass'n of Seventh-Day Adventists, 176 So. 534, 179 Miss. 642.—Johnson v. Grice, 106 So. 271, 140 Miss. 562.

Pa.—In re Elliott's Estate, 173 A. 880, 113 Pa.Super. 350.

it for ordinary purposes of administration or distribution.⁹⁶

*Where part of a fund was absolutely transferred by decedent, the other portion not so transferred may be recovered by his personal representative after his death.*⁹⁷

*A deed delivered after decedent's death does not affect the rights of creditors as to the realty thereby transferred.*⁹⁸

Attack on transfer. An administrator or executor may attack a transfer made by decedent on the ground that decedent was incompetent,⁹⁹ or that it was obtained from decedent by fraud or undue influence;¹ and he may contest the validity of an alleged gift.² In an action to enjoin the sale of property inventoried as belonging to the succession of a decedent, the administrator may allege and show the simulated character of plaintiff's title.³

§ 124. — Property Fraudulently Conveyed

Generally a conveyance by a decedent which was fraudulent as to creditors can be set aside, but only to the extent necessary to pay the decedent's debts; the jurisdictions differ as to whether the personal representative, or only creditors, may sue for this purpose.

The death of the grantor or donor in a sale, transfer, or gift which is fraudulent as to creditors does not have the effect of barring their rights, but the sale or gift may be avoided.⁴ However, it is gener-

W.Va.—E. M. Meadows Funeral Home v. Hinton, 195 S.E. 346, 119 W.Va. 609.

Wis.—Hoks v. Wollenberg, 243 N.W. 219, 209 Wis. 276, rehearing denied 245 N.W. 128, 209 Wis. 276. 23 C.J. p 1153 note 29.

96. U.S.—Railey v. Railey, D.C.D.C., 30 F.Supp. 121.

Tenn.—McAdoo v. Dickson, 136 S.W. 2d 518, 175 Tenn. 598, 126 A.L.R. 1345.

Wis.—Hoks v. Wollenberg, 243 N.W. 219, 209 Wis. 276, rehearing denied 245 N.W. 128, 209 Wis. 276. 23 C.J. p 1153 note 28.

Where only a symbolic delivery had been made of a safe-deposit box, and the box was in the actual custody and control of the administrators, Orphans' court had control of the property and had jurisdiction over tax due commonwealth arising from transfer.—In re Elliott's Estate, 173 A. 880, 113 Pa.Super. 350.

97. Cal.—Beals v. Crowley, 59 Cal. 665.

N.Y.—In re Conklin, 20 N.Y.S. 59, 2 Conn.Surr. 176.

98. N.Y.—Rosseau v. Bleau, 30 N.E. 52, 131 N.Y. 177, 27 Am.S.R. 578.

Direction for conveyance after death Where deceased gave quitclaim deed as security, but after payment of debt instructed grantee to hold title and convey to deceased's daughter after his death, and grantee did so, lots were part of estate subject to deceased's debts.—Parkinson v. Guilloz, 231 N.W. 89, 250 Mich. 637.

99. Kan.—Wollard v. Home State Bank, 247 P. 868, 121 Kan. 474, error dismissed and certiorari denied Conley v. Wollard, 47 S.Ct. 572, 273 U.S. 674, 71 L.Ed. 834.

However, as to realty there are decisions to the contrary, under the view discussed infra §§ 252, 253, that title does not pass to the representative.

Mich.—Angel v. Waligora, 295 N.W. 592, 296 Mich. 142.

N.C.—Hoke v. First Sec. Trust Co., 178 S.E. 109, 207 N.C. 604.

1. Cal.—Carlson v. Lantz, 280 P. 531, 208 Cal. 134.

Ga.—Phillips v. Phillips, 137 S.E. 561, 163 Ga. 899.

N.J.—Christian v. Canfield, 155 A. 788, 108 N.J.Eq. 547.

Wash.—Storey v. Gaisford, 240 P. 9, 136 Wash. 378.

23 C.J. p 1153 note 33.

Requirement of special circumstances; necessity of fund to pay debts

(1) An executor may not sue to set aside the testator's deed for fraud, undue influence, or insufficiency of the description, except under special circumstances, as where such right is derived from the will, or where it is necessary to provide a fund for the payment of debts.—Speed v. Perry, 83 S.E. 176, 167 N.C. 122.

(2) Ordinarily, the heir or beneficiary is the only one who can maintain an action to set aside a voidable conveyance made by a decedent during his lifetime, but the administrator may have the right where necessary to sell the realty to pay debts.—Reed v. Brown, 19 N.E.2d 1015, 215 Ind. 417.

Same right as decedent had

(1) If decedent prior to his death was vested with right to maintain suit to set aside trust instrument executed by the decedent, decedent's heirs and administrators could prosecute such a suit.—Ragsdale v. Prather, Tex.Civ.App., 132 S.W.2d 625, error refused.

(2) Stockholder who sold stock to representatives of directors of corporation, and who obtained about the market price for the stock, could not have rescinded the transaction for fraud, and her administrator after her death could not recover from the directors or their representatives for breach of a fiduciary duty, especially where stockholder made no complaint about the transaction during her lifetime.—Fischer v. Guaranty

Trust Co., 18 N.Y.S.2d 328, 259 App. Div. 176, reargument denied In re Barnes' Estate, 20 N.Y.S.2d 409, 259 App.Div. 888, and affirmed 34 N.E.2d 379, 285 N.Y. 679.

Fraud by decedent's guardian

The administrator of the estate of a deceased lunatic may maintain an action for the benefit of a creditor of the estate who has established his claim, to set aside fraudulent conveyances whereby the lunatic's guardian obtained title to his ward's land.—Horton v. Jones, 204 P. 1001, 110 Kan. 540.

2. N.C.—Kiff v. Weaver, 94 N.C. 274, 55 Am.R. 601.

3. La.—Grant's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 741.

4. Cal.—Wortley v. Wood-Callahan Oil Co., 112 P.2d 226, 17 Cal.2d 762.

N.Y.—In re St. John's Estate, 296 N.Y.S. 613, 163 Misc. 17.—In re Weinberg's Estate, 296 N.Y.S. 7, 162 Misc. 867.

Pa.—Fidelity Trust Co. v. Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh, 169 A. 209, 313 Pa. 467, certiorari denied Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh v. Fidelity Trust Co., 54 S.Ct. 530, 291 U. S. 680, 78 L.Ed. 1068.

Wis.—Massey v. Richmond, 242 N.W. 507, 208 Wis. 239.

23 C.J. p 1153 note 37.

Equitable asset for payment of debts Wis.—Scholl v. Adams, 239 N.W. 452, 206 Wis. 174.

Personal representative has only the rights of decedent as to setting aside fraudulent transfer.—Martin v. Martin, 138 S.W.2d 509, 282 Ky. 411.—Fyffe's Adm'r v. Lyon, 118 S.W.2d 745, 274 Ky. 399.

Title taken in name of another

Where decedent paid for property, but caused the title to be taken in the name of another person, in fraud of creditors, such property may be recovered by the executor or administrator.—Beith v. Porter, 78 N.W. 336, 119 Mich. 365, 75 Am.S.R. 402.

ally held that a fraudulent transfer can be set aside only where otherwise there is, or will be, a deficiency of assets,⁵ and then only to the extent necessary to pay debts,⁶ for if the gift or transfer was good as against decedent, it is good as against his heirs, distributees, legatees, or devisees, even though it may be fraudulent as to creditors, and hence the donee or transferee is entitled to what remains after the demands of creditors and the expenses of administration are paid,⁷ property fraudulently transferred by a decedent not being part of his estate;⁸ and if the creditors of the estate all waive their right to impeach a conveyance or transfer by the decedent no cause for setting it aside appears.⁹ These rules have been applied where the conveyance was made without the intent to transfer any beneficial interest;¹⁰ but it has been held that where decedent made a transfer without such intent, and solely for the purpose of defrauding creditors the transfer can be set aside for the benefit of his heirs and distributees.¹¹

If the transferee or donee relinquishes or fails to assert his own claim, the property should be treated as belonging to the estate of decedent,¹² and the same is true where the property remains in the possession of the grantor until his death.¹³

Action for money had and received, wrongful taking, etc. Not only direct proceedings to set aside by bill in equity may be justified, but also actions in assumpsit against the transferee as for money had and received or tortwise as for a wrongful taking, etc.¹⁴

Representative not liable for allowing donee to take. It is not a devastavit for a personal representative to deliver to the donee, or suffer the donee to take, property conveyed by decedent in his lifetime, although it turns out that the conveyance was fraudulent.¹⁵

Right of personal representative to sue. In a number of jurisdictions, either by virtue of statutory enactment or on the theory that for this purpose the executor or administrator represents the creditors, it is held that the personal representative may sue to avoid a conveyance or transfer by decedent on the ground that it was fraudulent as against creditors,¹⁶ although creditors may be re-

Proceeds of insurance policy

Where insured, while insolvent, fraudulently transferred his property to his children without fair consideration and substituted them as beneficiaries of life policy in place of his estate, policy was part of estate at time of his death and was to be accounted for as such, notwithstanding, because of outstanding loans, surrender value of policy was little or nothing at time of change of beneficiaries, and children paid premiums thereafter, since payments were not made in good faith.—McCarthy v. Griffin, 12 N.E.2d 836, 299 Mass. 309.

Obligation for maintenance of insane wife

Where laborer who was past the age for gainful employment conveyed to his daughter without consideration his entire life savings, knowing of his existing and continuing obligation to the state for the maintenance of his insane wife, the conveyance was void as in fraud of creditors and could be treated as void by laborer's administrator to whom title passed after laborer's death, and property transferred or its value was recoverable by administrator in a discovery proceeding.—In re O'Sullivan's Estate, 18 N.Y.S.2d 439, 173 Misc. 554.

Under the laws of Missouri lands fraudulently conveyed form no part of the estate of deceased grantors, and the probate court has no jurisdiction to order them sold for the payment of debts.—Byrd v. Hall, Mo., 196 F. 762, 117 C.C.A. 568, followed in Sugg v. Eskew, Mo., 196 F. 767, 117 C.C.A. 577.

5. Ind.—Morgan v. Catherwood, 167 N.E. 618, 95 Ind.App. 266.

Neb.—Goodman-Buckley Trust Co. v. Poulos, 248 N.W. 64, 124 Neb. 697, 23 C.J. p 1154 note 38.

6. Cal.—Liuzza v. Bell, 104 P.2d 1095, 40 Cal.App.2d 417.

Idaho.—Berryman v. Dore, 277 P. 565, 47 Idaho 582.

Pa.—In re Metzgar's Estate, 22 Erie Co. 281, 54 York Leg.Rec. 197.

23 C.J. p 1154 note 39.

Right to surplus after satisfying claims of creditors generally see the C.J.S. title Fraudulent Conveyances § 458, also 27 C.J. p 862 note 28.

Existence of debts at time of conveyance

In the case of a conveyance by decedent in fraud of creditors, it is necessary, to entitle an administrator to have the conveyance set aside and realty sold for the payment of debts, to show debts existing at the time of the conveyance so as to show that there were creditors defrauded by the conveyance.—Reed v. Brown, 19 N.E.2d 1015, 215 Ind. 417.

7. Cal.—Anderson v. Nelson, 256 P. 294, 83 Cal.App. 1.

Colo.—Southworth v. Huffaker, 246 P. 261, 79 Colo. 364.

Ky.—Martin v. Martin, 138 S.W.2d 509, 282 Ky. 411.

N.J.—Schwalber v. Ehman, 49 A. 1085, 62 N.J.Eq. 314.

Wis.—Gilbert v. Stockman, 51 N.W. 1076, 52 N.W. 1045, 81 Wis. 602, 29 Am.S.R. 922.

23 C.J. p 1155 note 40.

8. Tex.—Markward v. Murrah, 156

S.W.2d 971, 138 A.L.R. 242, affirming 136 S.W.2d 649, and reversing 136 S.W.2d 652 and 136 S.W.2d 656—John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Morse, 124 S.W.2d 330, 132 Tex. 534, reversing First Nat. Bank v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1062.

9. Miss.—Winn v. Barnett, 31 Miss. 653—Snodgrass v. Andrews, 30 Miss. 472, 64 Am.D. 169.

10. Ky.—Martin v. Martin, 138 S.W. 2d 509, 282 Ky. 411—Fyffe's Adm'r v. Lyon, 118 S.W.2d 745, 274 Ky. 399.

11. Conn.—Finnegan v. La Fontaine, 191 A. 337, 122 Conn. 561.

Under statute

Ark.—Ives v. Ives, 9 S.W.2d 1062, 177 Ark. 1060.

12. Ky.—Warren v. Hall, 6 Dana 450. Tenn.—Sharp v. Caldwell, 7 Humphr. 415.

13. Ohio.—Kilbourne v. Fay, 29 Ohio St. 264, 23 Am.R. 741. 23 C.J. p 1155 note 43.

14. Mass.—Millen v. Kavanaugh, 167 N.E. 291, 268 Mass. 73—Parker v. Simpson, 62 N.E. 401, 180 Mass. 334.

23 C.J. p 1155 note 47.

15. Tenn.—Greenlee v. Hays, 1 Overt. 300.

16. Cal.—Liuzza v. Bell, 104 P.2d 1095, 40 Cal.App.2d 417. Colo.—Regan v. Turner, 193 P. 557, 69 Colo. 194.

Idaho.—Berryman v. Dore, 277 P. 565, 566, 47 Idaho 582, citing Corpus Juris.

garded as not limited to the remedy through estate administration;¹⁷ but in other jurisdictions the courts, proceeding on the theory that the personal representative has no greater rights with respect to property so conveyed than decedent himself had, hold that the personal representative cannot sue to avoid such a conveyance,¹⁸ only as is discussed infra § 694, the decedent's creditors, and those in privity with them, having such right.

§ 125. — Evidence as to Ownership

General rules have been applied as to the burden of proof, and the admissibility and weight and sufficiency of evidence, on the issue of ownership of property claimed to be assets of a decedent's estate; and presumptions such as that of ownership in the possessor of property have been indulged.

General rules of evidence have been applied as to the burden of proof,¹⁹ and, likewise, general rules

Ind.—Morgan v. Catherwood, 167 N.E. 618, 95 Ind.App. 266.

Iowa.—Howell v. Howell, 232 N.W. 816, 211 Iowa 70.

Ky.—Combs v. Roark, 267 S.W. 210, 206 Ky. 454.

Me.—Averill v. Cone, 149 A. 297, 129 Me. 9.

Neb.—Goodman-Buckley Trust Co. v. Poulos, 248 N.W. 64, 124 Neb. 697.

N.H.—Robinson v. Dana's Estate, 174 A. 772, 87 N.H. 114.

N.J.—Borg v. McCroskery, 184 A. 187, 120 N.J.Eq. 80.

N.Y.—In re Kenney's Estate, 11 N.Y. S.2d 685, 171 Misc. 87—Schwabacher v. Ehrlich, 6 N.Y.S.2d 316, 168 Misc. 869, affirmed 6 N.Y.S.2d 381, 254 App.Div. 847—In re Weinberg's Estate, 296 N.Y.S. 7, 162 Misc. 867—Stoudt v. Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, 271 N.Y.S. 409, 160 Misc. 675, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 997, 241 App.Div. 711.

Pa.—Fidelity Trust Co. v. Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh, 169 A. 209, 313 Pa. 467, certiorari denied Union Nat. Bank of Pittsburgh v. Fidelity Trust Co., 54 S.Ct. 530, 291 U.S. 680, 78 L.Ed. 1068—Swartz v. Bachman, 110 A. 260, 267 Pa. 185.

Wis.—Massey v. Richmond, 242 N.W. 507, 208 Wis. 239—Graham v. Perry, 228 N.W. 135, 200 Wis. 211, 68 A.L.R. 267.

23 C.J. p 1155 note 48.

Creditors, not decedent, represented

In suit to set aside fraudulent conveyance by decedent, administrator represents the creditors and not decedent.—Morgan v. Catherwood, 167 N.E. 618, 95 Ind.App. 266.

Creditors need not have reduced their claims to judgment to warrant such action.—Howell v. Howell, 232 N.W. 816, 211 Iowa 70.

Security

Although the representative of a decedent's estate may sue to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent as to creditors, he is not bound to do so unless furnished security.—Lind v. O. N. Johnson Co., 282 N.W. 661, 204 Minn. 30, 119 A.L.R. 940.

Male limited to realty

Ark.—Matlock v. Bledsoe, 90 S.W. 848, 77 Ark. 60.

Construction with other statutes

A statute authorizing executor or administrator to treat as void and resist any act done or agreement made in fraud of rights of any "creditor" would be construed in connection with definitions of "creditor" and "debt" contained in statute relating to fraudulent conveyances and in statute relating to surrogate's court.—In re St. John's Estate, 296 N.Y.S. 613, 163 Misc. 17.

Authorization by surrogate

Surrogate has power to direct estate representative to maintain action to recover property alleged to have been transferred by decedent in fraud of creditors.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

License to sell

Under statute authorizing administrator to bring an action for the possession of land fraudulently conveyed by decedent when the administrator is licensed to sell the land, an administrator, who has not obtained a license to sell real estate has no standing to maintain a bill to set aside conveyances as made in fraud of creditors.—Pevy v. McGrath, 137 N.E. 589, 243 Mass. 451.

Decedent victim of fraud

Under statute authorizing disaffirmance of fraudulent acts by executors and others, executor is not bound to bring action where decedent was victim of fraud.—In re Collins' Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 692, 157 Misc. 790.

Surrogate's court held to have jurisdiction of proceeding by creditor administrator to recover property alleged to have been fraudulently transferred by decedent, as against contention that individual action under Debtor and Creditor Law was sole remedy of creditors.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

A fraternal organization, which paid money to deceased for her support in reliance on her false and fraudulent representations that she had no money and pursuant to her agreement to transfer all her property to organization, was a "creditor" of deceased within statute authorizing executor or administrator to treat as void and resist any act done or agreement made in fraud of rights of any creditor, as respects right of administratrix to recover for benefit of organization money in savings account standing in deceased's name in trust for third persons.—In re St. John's Estate, 296 N.Y.S. 613, 163 Misc. 17.

Decedent's widow as administratrix could sue decedent's son-in-law to set aside decedent's gift to son-in-law for daughter and son-in-law, to prevent widow from receiving inheritance.—Norris v. Bradshaw, 18 P. 2d 467, 92 Colo. 34.

17. N.Y.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

23 C.J. p 1155 note 48 [k].

Right of representative prior and exclusive under statute.—Rummens v. Guaranty Trust Co., 92 P.2d 228, 199 Wash. 337.

18. Ala.—Trotten v. Brown, 167 So. 310, 232 Ala. 147.

Ga.—Arteaga v. Arteaga, 151 S.E. 5, 169 Ga. 595.

Ill.—Sifford v. Cutler, 91 N.E. 428, 244 Ill. 234, 135 Am.S.R. 326, 18 Ann.Cas. 36.—Cicero Trust & Savings Bank v. Schermann, 252 Ill. App. 449.

Mo.—State Bank of Willow Springs v. Lillibridge, 293 S.W. 116, 316 Mo. 968, affirming in part and reversing in part, App., 262 S.W. 433.

Tex.—John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Morse, 124 S.W.2d 330, 132 Tex. 534, reversing First Nat. Bank v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1062, 23 C.J. p 1156 note 49.

19. Mich.—McKinney v. Kalamazoo City Sav. Bank, 221 N.W. 156, 244 Mich. 246.

Miss.—Lindeman's Estate v. Herbert, 193 So. 790, 188 Miss. 842.

Burden of proof is on representative to prove ownership in decedent. Mich.—Detroit Trust Co. v. Struggles, 286 N.W. 844, 289 Mich. 695.

Mo.—Wolf v. Wuelling, 130 S.W.2d 671, 233 Mo.App. 1144.

N.C.—Jones v. Valdroup, 7 S.E.2d 366, 217 N.C. 178.

Pa.—Robinson v. Painter, 23 West. Co.L.J. 111.

No evidence as to possession

In suit involving title to intestate's property claimed by wife of intestate's son, where evidence was silent as to possession of property, administrator had burden of proving ownership.—Bentley v. Bentley, 188 S.E. 912, 54 Ga.App. 713.

Gift or loan

An executor claiming title and right to possession of stock certifiof evidence have been applied as to admissibility²⁰ | and weight and sufficiency²¹ of evidence, on the iscates had burden of proving that stock was delivered as a loan and that decedent did not make a gift of stock.—Detroit Trust Co. v. Struggles, 286 N.W. 844, 289 Mich. 595.

Identity of property

In an action against a bank to recover a deposit, where the administrator of an estate was substituted as defendant, and claimed the deposit as the proceeds of an account which had belonged to his intestate, the burden was on the administrator to prove the identity of the funds withdrawn from his intestate's account with those deposited in the account in controversy.—Hayes v. Claessens, 137 N. E. 313, 234 N.Y. 230, modifying 196 N.Y.S. 312, 202 App.Div. 762.

Discovery proceeding

(1) In discovery proceeding where respondent makes no answer admitting possession and claiming title, burden is on administrator to prove prima facie title and right to immediate possession in representative capacity of property involved.—In re Donnelly's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 609, 157 Misc. 319.

(2) In executor's discovery proceeding to recover testator's securities, defended on ground that testator had assigned securities before his death, burden of showing delivery of assignment was on respondent, notwithstanding incredibility of testimony showing nondelivery.—In re Kiamie's Will, 5 N.Y.S.2d 786, 168 Misc. 260, affirmed in re Kiamie's Estate, 15 N.Y.S.2d 725, 258 App. Div. 784, reargument denied 16 N.Y.S. 2d 532, 258 App.Div. 866.

Joint account

(1) In executor's action against savings and loan company to recover balance remaining in joint and survivorship account of which his decedent was one of two joint owners, executor had burden of proving ownership of entire account in his decedent at time of her death and in doing so was required to prove that surviving joint owner had surrendered her interest in the account.—Falk v. Security Savings & Loan Co., 7 N.E.2d 668, 54 Ohio App. 395.

(2) Where owner of joint savings account in bank which was taken over for liquidation placed proceeds of dividend checks in safe deposit box, deceased owner's executrix had the burden of proving that such proceeds were part of estate and not property of coowner.—In re Culhane's Estate, 5 A.2d 377, 334 Pa. 124, affirming 2 A.2d 567, 133 Pa.Super. 339.

Burden on adverse claimant

(1) Decedent's daughter, when sued by administrator to recover assets withheld, had burden to show her own good faith and general fairness as to items of deceased which came into her possession when deceased was suffering from age, physical incapacity, and mental impairment.—Finch v. McCrimmon, 52 P.2d 1150, 98 Colo. 56.

(2) In administrator's suit to recover property allegedly belonging to intestate's estate, where defendant admitted receiving money from intestate, defendant had burden of accounting for retention of money and was required to produce evidence justifying retention to avoid judgment against her.—Nolty's Adm'r v. Fultz, 88 S.W.2d 35, 261 Ky. 516.

(3) Where it was admitted that ring originally belonged to one decedent, persons claiming it through another decedent by way of gift and bequest, respectively, had burden of proving that second decedent had acquired valid title to ring, and person claiming ring as gift had burden of also showing valid gift.—In re Hagan's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 605, 157 Misc. 378.

(4) One suing administrator cum testamento annexo for conversion of bonds deposited by plaintiff with testatrix in her lifetime had burden of proving that testatrix died in possession thereof and that defendant administrator came into possession of bonds after testatrix' death and converted bonds.—Baude v. Chemical Bank & Trust Co., 178 A. 799, 115 N.J.Law 120.

Creditor's suit

Creditor seeking to have property declared trust estate, subject to payment of debts, has burden of showing that property or proceeds belonged to deceased debtor.—Coggin Nat. Bank v. Smith, Tex.Civ.App., 63 S.W. 2d 252.

Burden of going forward

In an action between plaintiff, to whom deceased had transferred her deposits in a savings bank, etc., and the administrator of deceased, the deposit having been transferred to the joint account of plaintiff and deceased, plaintiff's introduction of a bank book, showing that the deposit stood to her credit, makes out a prima facie case; but, on proof that such deposit was derived from a fund formerly standing to the credit of deceased, the burden of going forward with proofs shifted.—Hayes v. Claessens, 179 N.Y.S. 153, 189 App.Div. 449.

20. Cal.—Wortley v. Wood-Callahan Oil Co., 112 P.2d 226, 17 Cal.2d 762. Ga.—Bentley v. Bentley, 188 S.E. 912, 54 Ga.App. 713. S.C.—Quick v. Owens, 15 S.E.2d 837, 198 S.C. 29. Wash.—Percy v. Miller, 197 P. 638, 115 Wash. 440. 23 C.J. p 1157 note 55.

Executors' failure to sue

Widow suing to determine ownership of indebtedness could testify that executors never sued her for notes payable to deceased husband, evidence showing her possession and refusal of executor's demands.—Husbands v. Fore, Tex.Civ.App., 27 S.W. 2d 610.

Wife's lack of property

Where sole issue was whether specific personal property belonged to testator who had devised it in remainder or was property of his widow and life tenant, there was no error in refusal to exclude evidence that wife never had any property.—Stanford v. Calhoun, 127 S.E. 138, 159 Ga. 867.

21. U.S.—Ferguson v. Wachs, C.C.A. Ill., 96 F.2d 910. Ala.—Bromberg v. First Nat. Bank, 178 So. 48, 235 Ala. 226. Ark.—Berry v. Davidson, 133 S.W.2d 442, 199 Ark. 276. Ga.—Boone v. Loggins, 173 S.E. 715, 178 Ga. 471. Miss.—Lindeman's Estate v. Herbert, 193 So. 790, 188 Miss. 842. Mo.—Idle v. Union Nat. Bank of Springfield, App., 156 S.W.2d 941. Neb.—In re Wecker's Estate, 230 N. W. 111, 119 Neb. 537. N.J.—Baude v. Chemical Bank & Trust Co., 178 A. 799, 115 N.J.Law 120—Melosh v. Melosh, 12 A.2d 684, 127 N.J.Eq. 261. N.Y.—Gaines v. Huyler, 184 N.Y.S. 145, 113 Misc. 188. N.C.—Campbell v. Pearce, 106 S.E. 561, 181 N.C. 494. Ohio.—Falk v. Security Savings & Loan Co., 7 N.E.2d 668, 54 Ohio App. 395. Pa.—Hoak v. Unger, 18 A.2d 105, 143 Pa.Super. 389—In re McCarter's Estate, 36 Pa.Dist. & Co. 625—In re McCreery's Estate, 12 Pa.Dist. & Co. 611, 77 Pittsb.Leg.J. 145, 43 York Leg.Rec. 118—Pickel v. Hoffner, 27 North.Co. 166—Robinson v. Painter, 23 West.Co.L.J. 111. Tex.—Reynolds v. Reynolds, Civ.App., 224 S.W. 382. Wash.—In re Ward's Estate, 292 P. 737, 159 Wash. 252. Wyo.—Haywood v. Kukuchka, 95 P. 2d 71, 55 Wyo. 41. 23 C.J. p 1157 note 56. Evidence held sufficient (1) To warrant finding that property belonged to decedent. U.S.—Ferguson v. Wachs, C.C.A.Ill., 96 F.2d 910. Ark.—Davison v. McCall, 93 S.W.2d 663, 192 Ark. 657. Colo.—Kritzmanich v. Spehar, 283 P. 547, 86 Colo. 524. Del.—Rauhut v. Reinhart, Orph., 180 A. 913. Ga.—Stanford v. Calhoun, 127 S.E. 138, 159 Ga. 867.

sue of ownership of property claimed to constitute | assets of a decedent's estate. Presumptions and in-

Ill.—Wood's Estate v. Tyler, 256 Ill. App. 401.

Iowa.—In re Lorenz's Estate, 179 N. W. 860.

Kan.—Fulton v. Menefee, 68 P.2d 1112, 146 Kan. 150—McCrum v. Whitaker, 61 P.2d 909, 144 Kan. 469.

Ky.—Martin v. Martin, 138 S.W.2d 509, 282 Ky. 411—Voss v. Voss' Adm'r, 215 S.W. 525, 185 Ky. 682.

La.—Succession of Sullivan, App. 142 So. 619—Succession of Wilson v. Lewis, 140 So. 270, 19 La.App. 559—Succession of Breeden, 130 So. 132, 14 La.App. 553.

Mass.—Lowell v. Hudson, 168 N.E. 87, 268 Mass. 574.

Mich.—Detroit Trust Co. v. Struggles, 286 N.W. 844, 289 Mich. 595—Reese v. Collins, 242 N.W. 834, 259 Mich. 48.

N.Y.—In re Wilson's Will, 169 N.E. 122, 252 N.Y. 155, affirming 232 N.Y.S. 919, 225 App.Div. 761, affirming In re Wilson's Estate, 250 N.Y.S. 553, 140 Misc. 10—In re Buckler, 237 N.Y.S. 242, 227 App. Div. 146—In re Schem's Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 274, 157 Misc. 612—In re Baechler's Will, 202 N.Y.S. 485, 121 Misc. 691, affirmed In re Baechler's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 759, 215 App.Div. 797.

Pa.—In re Keyser's Estate, 198 A. 125, 329 Pa. 514—In re Foster's Estate, 187 A. 399, 324 Pa. 39—In re Fink's Estate, 77 Pa.Super. 267—In re Matter's Estate, 47 Dauph.Co. 106.

S.C.—Quick v. Owens, 15 S.E.2d 837, 198 S.C. 29.

Wyo.—Haywood v. Kukuchka, 95 P. 2d 71, 55 Wyo. 41.

(2) To sustain finding that plaintiff's testator owned notes sued on as receiver of insolvent payee bank and not individually.—Folk v. Felder, 167 S.E. 27, 168 S.C. 103.

(3) To establish that funds remaining in joint bank account are assets of the estate.—In re Sobel's Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 732, 175 Misc. 171—In re Darashinsky's Estate, 260 N.Y.S. 289, 145 Misc. 426, affirmed In re Darashinsky, 264 N.Y.S. 939, 239 App.Div. 830.

(4) To warrant finding that property did not belong to decedent.

Kan.—Corson v. Oakley, 27 P.2d 290, 138 Kan. 520—Huycke v. Kramer, 298 P. 787, 133 Kan. 41.

Ky.—Russell v. Hogan, 140 S.W.2d 615, 282 Ky. 764—Melton's Adm'r v. Melton's Adm'r, 28 S.W.2d 35, 234 Ky. 353.

La.—Succession of Coleman, 149 So. 513, 177 La. 898.

N.Y.—In re Pennock's Estate, 14 N. Y.S.2d 131, 172 Misc. 10, reversed on other grounds 20 N.Y.S.2d 811, 260 App.Div. 181, reargument denied 23 N.Y.S.2d 204, 260 App.Div.

347, reversed on other grounds In re Pennock's Will, 35 N.E.2d 177, 285 N.Y. 475—In re McCafferty's Will, 264 N.Y.S. 38, 147 Misc. 179.

Okl.—In re Wagner's Estate, 62 P. 2d 1186, 178 Okl. 384.

Pa.—In re Gongaware's Estate, 109 A. 276, 265 Pa. 512.

Utah.—In re McLaren's Estate, 106 P.2d 766, 99 Utah 340.

Va.—McNells v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank, 176 S.E. 176, 163 Va. 284.

(5) To warrant finding that property was owned by personal representative in personal capacity.

U.S.—Pickens v. Merriam, C.C.A.Cal., 274 F. 1, certiorari denied 42 S. Ct. 168, 257 U.S. 656, 66 L.Ed. 419.

Ky.—Rose v. Rose, 152 S.W.2d 603, 287 Ky. 234.

N.Y.—In re Dederick's Estate, 20 N. Y.S.2d 261, 259 App.Div. 918—In re Sobel's Estate, 22 N.Y.S.2d 732, 175 Misc. 171.

(6) To overcome presumption of fraud and undue influence in connection with execution of the joint tenancies which arose from fact that defendant had acted as agent for deceased, and sustained judgment for defendant.—Brown v. MacDougall, 112 P.2d 678, 44 Cal.App.2d 491.

(7) To warrant finding that decedent was competent at the time he transferred property.—Sanders v. Crabtree, 112 P.2d 923, 44 Cal.App.2d 602.

(8) To trace proceeds from real estate held by the entirety to secured notes, so as to give wife an interest in the notes by the entirety.—Schwind v. O'Halloran, 142 S.W.2d 55, 346 Mo. 486.

(9) To overcome presumption of adverse claimant's ownership, arising from declaration on envelope that they belonged to him.—Miller v. Silverman, 224 N.Y.S. 609, 221 App. Div. 697, modified on other grounds 160 N.E. 910, 247 N.Y. 447.

(10) As regards rights of representative of wife predeceasing husband, evidence established that moneys by which certificate of deposit and liberty bond were obtained were joint savings of husband and wife.—Foraker v. Kocks, 180 N.E. 743, 41 Ohio App. 210.

(11) In action to impress funds with trust, evidence sustained finding that decedent, to whom mortgage and note were assigned for collection, receive full cash value thereof, and that fund was in bank account at time of death and came into defendant's possession as executrix.—Armstrong v. Schoenborn, 20 P.2d 79, 130 Cal.App. 501.

(12) In action by executor to quiet title to realty which decedent had conveyed to sister, evidence was held to sustain finding that as between decedent and sister real ownership had not passed to sister.—Ryder v. Young, 50 P.2d 495, 9 Cal.App.2d 496.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To warrant finding that property belonged to decedent.

Colo.—Finch v. McCrimmon, 52 P.2d 1150, 98 Colo. 56.

Iowa.—In re Van Hauen's Estate, 294 N.W. 901, 229 Iowa 852.

Minn.—Exsted v. Otto, 279 N.W. 559, 202 Minn. 644.

N.Y.—Hayes v. Claessens, 137 N.E. 313, 234 N.Y. 230, modifying 196 N.Y.S. 312, 202 App.Div. 762—In re Gardner's Will, 17 N.Y.S.2d 572, 173 Misc. 202, affirmed 23 N.Y.S.2d 848, 260 App.Div. 886, reargument denied 24 N.Y.S.2d 1012, 260 App. Div. 1028—In re Donnelly's Estate, 283 N.Y.S. 609, 157 Misc. 319—In re Baechler's Will, 202 N.Y. S. 485, 121 Misc. 691, affirmed In re Baechler's Estate, 213 N.Y.S. 759, 215 App.Div. 797.

Or.—Gray v. Wassell, 4 P.2d 625, 138 Or. 274.

Utah.—In re Hansen's Estate, 184 P. 197, 55 Utah 23.

Wash.—In re Uzafovage's Estate, 280 P. 85, 153 Wash. 620.

(2) To establish claim of ownership adverse to estate.

Mich.—McKinney v. Kalamazoo-City Sav. Bank, 221 N.W. 156, 244 Mich. 246.

N.Y.—In re Meyers' Estate, 297 N. Y.S. 605, 163 Misc. 743.

(3) To overcome presumption of ownership arising from possession.

N.J.—Booth v. Iaccarino, 159 A. 682, 110 N.J.Eq. 119.

N.Y.—In re Buckler, 237 N.Y.S. 242, 227 App.Div. 146.

Tex.—Coggin Nat. Bank v. Smith, Civ.App., 63 S.W.2d 252.

(4) To show that savings account in husband's name in trust for deceased wife belonged to decedent.—In re Massey's Will, 257 N.Y.S. 578, 143 Misc. 794.

(5) Husband's statement that diamond brooch was in safety deposit box, which was in wife's exclusive control, was held insufficient to permit representative of estate of wife who predeceased husband to recover brooch from estate of husband.—In re Bowen's Estate, 282 N.Y.S. 290, 156 Misc. 435, affirmed In re Bowen, 286 N.Y.S. 1005, 247 App.Div. 708.

Claim first made after decedent's death

Asserted ownership of deceased's stock by reason of assignment executed by deceased was required to be established by clear and convincing proof where claim of ownership was made for first time after the ferences generally applicable in civil actions have | been applied in determining the issue of ownership.²² death of deceased.—In re Douglas' Estate, 7 N.Y.S.2d 870, 169 Misc. 425.

Notice

In action by executor of estate to quiet title to realty which decedent had conveyed to sister and which sister through an escrow arrangement had conveyed to a third party, evidence as to knowledge possessed by escrow agent and actual knowledge possessed by third party was held to support finding that such party had notice that sister was not real owner of property and that third party consequently was not innocent purchaser for value.—Ryder v. Young, 50 P.2d 495, 9 Cal.App.2d 495.

Fraudulent conveyance

Evidence was held to show that alleged transfer of business by decedent to wife was void as without consideration if any instrument of transfer was delivered.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

Sworn answers, denying husband's ownership of property, failed to meet plaintiff's burden to show title in husband's administrator as against creditors of estate.—Mantle Lamp Co. of America v. Merrill, 113 So. 15, 216 Ala. 170.

Delivery

(1) As against claim of fraudulent conveyance, evidence was held not to show any delivery of instrument transferring business from husband to wife.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

(2) Unless maker offered countervailing proof, requirement of delivery of note to deceased was satisfied by presumption arising from execution, and from evidence of possession by representatives of estate.—In re Killen's Estate, 165 A. 34, 310 Pa. 182.

(3) Evidence in executor's proceeding to settle estate was held to show that bank's certificate of deposit in possession of testator's niece was delivered by testator to his nephew, to whose order it was payable, and belonged to latter.—McNellis v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank, 176 S.E. 176, 163 Va. 284.

Good will

Evidence supported findings that business owned and operated by decedent at her death had a good will which was not terminated by decedent's death, even though decedent's sister became sole owner by survivorship of premises on which business was located.—Burke v. Canfield, D. C., 121 F.2d 877.

Question for trial court

Evidence as to whether bill of sale and assignment of bank account by testator to legatee were secured by legatee while testator lacked sufficient capacity to act because of senile dementia, or were secured by fraud or undue influence, and whether legatee obtained testator's gold prior to testator's death unlawfully, was for trial court.—In re Larsen's Estate, 71 P.2d 47, 191 Wash. 257.

Question for jury

In administratrix' action for possession of bank stock, held by defendant claiming to be owner thereof, question whether stock belonged to plaintiff's intestate at time of his death was held for jury under evidence.—Barlow v. Barlow, Tex. Civ.App., 139 S.W.2d 139.

22 Ky.—Terrell v. Flack's Adm'r, 33 S.W.2d 23, 236 Ky. 325.

N.Y.—In re Kiamie's Will, 5 N.Y.S.2d 786, 168 Misc. 260, affirmed in re Kiamie's Estate, 15 N.Y.S.2d 725, 258 App.Div. 784, reargument denied 16 N.Y.S.2d 532, 258 App.Div. 866—Gaines v. Huyler, 184 N.Y.S. 145, 113 Misc. 188.

Undue influence by agent

Ordinarily, a presumption of fraud and undue influence in deceased's execution of joint tenancies with defendant with right of survivor would arise from the fact that defendant had been acting as agent of deceased.—Brown v. MacDougall, 112 P.2d 678, 44 Cal.App.2d 491.

Note payable to decedent

The ownership of a note, payable on its face to decedent, in the absence of indorsement by decedent during his lifetime, was presumed to have continued in decedent to the time of his death and thereupon to have passed to his estate.—Landis v. Landis, 22 A.2d 908, 343 Pa. 252.

Continuance of ownership

(1) Deceased was presumed to have owned property at time of death, where it was conceded to have been owned by him shortly prior thereto, and burden of proving transfer was on one claiming it.—In re Braunfeld's Estate, 288 N.Y.S. 637, 159 Misc. 687, affirmed 293 N.Y.S. 509, 249 App.Div. 805.

(2) The history of testatrix' gold, which appeared to have been given to testatrix by her husband, and of bonds, income of which was collected by testatrix, and conceded ownership thereof by testatrix at one time, placed on testatrix' daughter as claimant burden of establishing by clear and convincing evidence a transfer of title to claimant.—In re Meyers' Estate, 297 N.Y.S. 605, 163 Misc. 743.

(3) Under provisions of Uniform Stock Transfer Act that person to whom certificate of stock was originally issued is person appearing by certificate to be owner thereof until indorsement of certificate to another specified person, presumptive title to shares of decedent's stock, the certificates of which had never been indorsed, remained in decedent until his death.—In re Keyser's Estate, 198 A. 125, 329 Pa. 514.

Gift

(1) Presumptively, a decedent would contradict the testimony of a living witness that during lifetime of decedent he gave away his property, and, if testimony of claimant to the property is incredible, presumption will support finding, which will not be disturbed by an appellate court, against the testimony of claimant.—Bard v. Kent, 95 P.2d 957, 35 Cal.App.2d 434.

(2) There was no presumption of fraud arising from gift from deceased to his wife, where, although note filed as claim against estate bore date prior to date of gift, there was no evidence raising presumption that deceased was at time of gift insolvent or unable to meet his indebtedness.—In re Keshner's Estate, 26 N.E.2d 529, 304 Ill.App. 640, affirmed Keshner v. Keshner, 33 N.E.2d 877, 376 Ill. 354.

Delivery of instrument

The fact that the officers of a corporation issued a new certificate to executors as individuals on their surrender of the certificate held by decedent, assigned in blank prior to his death, does not raise the presumption that the officers made an investigation at that time and learned that deceased had delivered the certificate to the executors before his death.—Gaines v. Huyler, 184 N.Y.S. 145, 113 Misc. 188.

Decedent's statement on property

In replevin against administratrix, that deceased had written on packages in safety deposit box that contents belonged to plaintiff was held evidence of ownership.—Miller v. Silverman, 160 N.E. 910, 247 N.Y. 447, modifying 224 N.Y.S. 609, 221 App.Div. 697.

Property held in fiduciary capacity

Evidence that confidential relation existed between testator and his sister and that note drawn by testator or another and payable to legal holder, with memorandum thereon in testator's handwriting that sister was legal holder, was in testator's possession when he died, created presumption that note was her property held by testator as her agent, and burden of proving contrary rested on executor contesting her right thereto.—McNellis v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank, 176 S.E. 176, 163 Va. 284.

Wills filed in by claimant

Where plaintiff claimed ownership of deceased's stock by reason of an

The presumption, discussed in the C.J.S. title Property § 17, also 22 C.J. p 126 note 67—p 127 note 79, that one in possession of property is its owner is applicable, and property in the possession of decedent at the time of his death is presumably an asset of his estate.²³ Conversely, property not in the decedent's possession may be presumed not to be an asset;²⁴ but possession, by one having access to decedent's property, of an asset formerly in decedent's possession raises no presumption of ownership in the possessor.²⁵

§ 126. Property Accruing after Death

Property, including causes of action, accruing to a decedent after his death is part of his estate.

Where an executor or administrator receives, by virtue of his representative capacity, property to which decedent became entitled after his death, he holds such property as assets of the estate,²⁶ and is liable therefor in his representative capacity.²⁷ assignment executed by deceased, the presence in the assignment of the name of plaintiff as assignee did not constitute evidence in support of plaintiff's claim, in view of fact that name of assignee was in plaintiff's handwriting.—In re Douglas' Estate, 7 N.Y.S.2d 870, 169 Misc. 425.

23. N.Y.—In re Buckler, 237 N.Y.S. 242, 227 App.Div. 146—Miller v. Silverman, 234 N.Y.S. 609, 221 App.Div. 697, modified on other grounds 160 N.E. 910, 247 N.Y. 447.
Pa.—In re McCarter's Estate, 36 Pa. Dist. & Co. 625.
Tex.—Reynolds v. Reynolds, Civ. App., 224 S.W. 382.
Wyo.—Haywood v. Kukuchka, 95 P. 2d 71, 55 Wyo. 41.
23 C.J. p 1157 note 50.

Prima facie case of ownership is established by decedent's possession.
—In re Buckler, 237 N.Y.S. 242, 227 App.Div. 146.

Decedent's possession puts burden of proof on adverse claimant to establish ownership of property.
Ky.—Fisher v. Fisher's Adm'r, 46 S. W.2d 85, 242 Ky. 262.
Tex.—Sloan v. Sloan, Civ.App., 32 S. W.2d 513.

Property in possession of legal representatives

Presumption is that property in possession of legal representatives is property of decedent held for benefit of estate, and that there was delivery to decedent during lifetime.
U.S.—Lybrand v. Allen, C.C.A.S.C., 23 F.2d 391.

Ala.—Mantle Lamp Co. of America v. Merrill, 113 So. 15, 216 Ala. 170.
Ga.—Luttgen v. Andrews, 163 S.E. 392, 174 Ga. 778.

Pa.—In re Killen's Estate, 165 A. 34, 310 Pa. 182.

Bailment

While the possession of bonds of defendant by decedent raises a presumption of ownership, yet there is no presumption against the contention of defendant that decedent was merely bailee thereof, from the mere fact that this is not shown by entries on defendant's books or by written contract.—Philadelphia Trust Safe-Deposit & Ins. Co. v. Philadelphia & E. R. Co., 35 A. 688, 177 Pa. 38.

Stock certificates

(1) Stock certificates in name of decedent and unindorsed imported ownership in him up to time of his death, and established a prima facie title thereto in his estate.—In re Crisswell's Estate, 5 A.2d 577, 334 Pa. 266.

(2) The fact that stock certificate which was found by temporary administrators of decedent's estate, in decedent's safe deposit box, showed on its face that party other than decedent was registered owner of the stock represented by the certificate, did not rebut conclusively inference that decedent had title or beneficial right to the stock, arising from her possession of the stock.—Bradley v. Roe, 27 N.E.2d 35, 282 N.Y. 525, 129 A.L.R. 633, answering certified questions 14 N.Y.S.2d 996, 257 App.Div. 1074, and reversing 13 N.Y.S.2d 693, 257 App.Div. 1005, appeal granted 14 N.Y.S.2d 996, 257 App.Div. 1074.

Property on body

Presumption exists that personality found on body of murdered person belongs to him.—Booth v. Iaccarino, 159 A. 682, 110 N.J.Eq. 119.

24. Ill.—In re Keshner's Estate, 26 N.E.2d 529, 304 Ill.App. 640, affirmed Keshner v. Keshner, 33 N. E.2d 877, 376 Ill. 354.

Pa.—Weaver v. Welsh, 191 A. 3, 325 Pa. 571.

Tex.—Coggin Nat. Bank v. Smith, Civ.App., 63 S.W.2d 252.
23 C.J. p 1157 note 51.

Bank account in name of daughter of decedent is presumed to be daughter's.—Taliaferro v. Reiridon, 99 P. 2d 500, 186 Okl. 607.

25. N.Y.—In re Buckler, 237 N.Y.S. 242, 227 App.Div. 146—In re Kessler's Estate, 18 N.Y.S.2d 772, 173 Misc. 716—In re Douglas' Estate, 7 N.Y.S.2d 870, 169 Misc. 425—In re Cronkrite's Estate, 295 N.Y.S. 211, 162 Misc. 305.

Delivery

As against claim of fraudulent conveyance by decedent to wife, her possession of instrument was not in itself proof of actual delivery to her, since she had access to deceased's papers.—In re Haber's Estate, 270 N.Y.S. 603, 151 Misc. 82.

26. Mass.—Quincy v. Quincy, 46 N. E. 108, 167 Mass. 536.

23 C.J. p 1158 note 58.

Tolls received from a ferry after the death of one of the owners of the exclusive ferry privilege are funds in the hands of his administrator and liable for his debts.—Schonberg's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 137.

Proceeds of law case settled after death

Surviving law partner cannot be directed to turn over net proceeds, collected in cases settled after co-partner's death, to administratrix of latter's estate, such money not being property of estate.—In re Lichtblau, 261 N.Y.S. 863, 146 Misc. 278.

Creditors satisfied at time property vested

Personal property bequeathed in remainder to testator's daughter after the death of his wife goes directly to the heirs of the daughter who had died and whose estate had been settled in so far as creditors were concerned before the death of the life tenant, since the title to personal property vests in the administrator merely as trustee for the creditors and heirs.—Bishop v. Groton Sav. Bank, 114 A. 88, 96 Conn. 325.

Property taken in individual names

Where the administratrix of her husband's estate and her two daughters jointly managed the estate, which consisted principally of mortgages on real property, taking the mortgages indifferently in the name of any one or more of them, regardless of the source of the money loaned, mortgages held in the joint names of a deceased daughter and her mother and sister will be considered a part of the father's estate, and the deceased daughter's estate will not be given an undivided interest therein.—Blaine v. Richardson, 193 N.Y.S. 612.

27. U.S.—Newcomb v. Burbank, C. C.N.Y., 146 F. 400.

Money received to pay taxes

The funds contributed by specific devisees for purpose of defraying estate taxes on their shares were not "general estate assets," but were specially "earmarked funds" which were in essence placed in hands of executors, as agents, for a specific

*Causes of action accruing after decedent's death, but before letters testamentary or of administration were granted, vest in the executor or administrator upon his appointment.*²⁸

§ 127. Possession or Control of Property

Ownership, and not possession or control, governs as to whether property is an asset of a decedent's estate.

Personal property which belonged to decedent at the time of his death vests in his executor or administrator as assets, notwithstanding at the time of decedent's death it was in the possession or control of a third person.²⁹ Conversely, an administrator is not entitled to possession of property of which the decedent died possessed, as against the equitable owner thereof, in the absence of proof that there are creditors whose equitable claims take precedence over that of such equitable owner.³⁰ purpose, and could not properly be diverted to other uses.—In re Reilly's Will, 24 N.Y.S.2d 213, 175 Misc. 597.

28. Ala.—Reiter-Connolly Mfg. Co. v. Hamlin, 40 So. 280, 144 Ala. 192. 23 C.J. p 1132 note 54.

29. N.Y.—In re Demko's Estate, 210 N.Y.S. 646, 213 App.Div. 460.

Pa.—Keiper v. United Zion Home, 164 A. 367, 108 Pa.Super. 28. 23 C.J. p 1158 note 60.

Taking possession after death

Owner of house in which owner of ring died did not, by taking ring, gain title as against owner's personal representative.—Lowell v. Hudson, 168 N.E. 87, 268 Mass. 574.

Safe-deposit box

That a safe-deposit rental contract between deceased and a bank, which was deceased's executor, provided that on death of either deceased or wife the survivor should be sole renter of box with exclusive right of access thereto and possession of contents did not affect title to contents of box as between executor and deceased's surviving wife.—Security-First Nat. Bank of Los Angeles v. Stack, 90 P.2d 337, 32 Cal. App.2d 588.

30. Neb.—Koslowski v. Newman, 105 N.W. 295, 74 Neb. 704, 3 L.R.A., N.S., 704.

N.Y.—Bradley v. Roe, 13 N.Y.S.2d 693, 257 App.Div. 1005, appeal granted 14 N.Y.S.2d 996, 257 App. Div. 1074, certified questions answered 27 N.E.2d 35, 282 N.Y. 525, 129 A.L.R. 633.—In re Sielcken's Estate, 29 N.Y.S.2d 193, 176 Misc. 799.—In re Hackfeld's Estate, 13 N.Y.S.2d 685, 171 Misc. 727, affirmed In re Hackfeld's Will, 19

N.Y.S.2d 144, 259 App.Div. 707, reargument denied 19 N.Y.S.2d 1020, 259 App.Div. 805.

Interest collected

Where decedent made valid assignment of certain mortgages prior to his death, although retaining possession of mortgages, assignees could compel his executrix to account for interest collected on mortgages subsequent to decedent's death.—Henderson v. Hughes, 182 A. 392, 320 Pa. 124.

31. Pa.—Williams' Estate, 11 Pa. Dist. 636. 23 C.J. p 1179 note 78.

More physical receipt of property, accompanied by a denial that it belongs to the estate, does not create an estoppel.—In re Belt, 70 P. 74, 29 Wash. 535, 92 Am.S.R. 916—23 C. J. p 1158 note 63.

Claim discovered after death

The fact that a widow qualified as executrix under her husband's will and also as trustee thereunder, and thereafter asked and obtained her statutory widow's allowance for a year's support, does not estop her from thereafter claiming property formerly owned by her husband, under a deed executed by him to her, and discovered by her after his death; nor does the fact that she used estate money to pay taxes on the property bar her from claiming it.—Leighton v. Leighton, 194 N.W. 276, 196 Iowa 1191.

32. U.S.—Bruce v. Globe Indemnity Co., D.C.Okla., 9 F.Supp. 761, reversed on other grounds, C.C.A., Globe Indemnity Co. v. Bruce, 81 F.2d 143, certiorari denied Bruce v. Globe Indemnity Co., 56 S.Ct. 591, two cases, 297 U.S. 716, 80 L.Ed. 1001.

Fla.—Sessions v. Willard, 172 So.

§ 128. Estoppel to Deny That Property Received Is Assets

A personal representative who takes possession of property in his fiduciary capacity is generally estopped to deny the title of his decedent or to set up an adverse title to the injury of those beneficially interested in the estate. Surrender of property to the representative by the possessor, on demand, does not estop the latter from afterward asserting ownership.

Although in exceptional circumstances an estoppel may be held not to arise,³¹ it is generally held that a personal representative who takes possession of property in his fiduciary capacity is estopped to deny the title of his decedent or to set up an adverse title to the injury of those beneficially interested in the estate.³² This rule does not preclude the personal representative from claiming as heir or next of kin,³³ or from urging a claim which arose in the ordinary course of business with decedent;³⁴ but it does bar him from urging a claim which would 242, 246, 126 Fla. 848, citing Corpus Juris.

Ga.—Parnelle v. Cavanaugh, 12 S.E.2d 877, 191 Ga. 464.

N.Y.—In re Bingham's Estate, 17 N.Y.S.2d 981.

23 C.J. p 1158 note 62, p 1178 note 77.

Property not owned at time of death

The rule that an executor after accepting the trust cannot set up title adverse to the trust, does not operate where it is determined that the legal title to land in controversy was not vested in decedent at time of his death.—Crummey v. Crummey, 10 S.E.2d 859, 190 Ga. 774.

Delay in discovering claim

In proceeding wherein execution was levied on land belonging to decedent's estate after plaintiff obtained judgment against defendant, as administrator, and defendant, individually, asserted title to the land by virtue of a deed from decedent and testified that he accepted appointment as decedent's administrator in ignorance of his rights in that he thought that his title had been killed because deed was lost at the time, evidence that defendant had possession of deed at decedent's death and thereafter permitted defendant's uncle to take possession of land as decedent's heir and administrator warranted verdict for plaintiff on ground that defendant was "estopped" from claiming title to land.—Wright v. Thompson, 3 S.E.2d 640, 190 Ga. 173.

33. Ga.—Parnelle v. Cavanaugh, 12 S.E.2d 877, 191 Ga. 464—Crummey v. Crummey, 10 S.E.2d 859, 190 Ga. 774.

34. Ga.—Parnelle v. Cavanaugh, 12 S.E.2d 877, 191 Ga. 464—Crummey v. Crummey, 10 S.E.2d 859, 190 Ga. 774.

exclude from the entire estate the heirs or distributees who would otherwise take.³⁵

The fact that the person in possession of property surrenders it on the representative's demand has been held not to estop him from afterward asserting that he is the owner and reclaiming it,³⁶ although an estoppel may arise where such surrender is followed by long acquiescence in the representative's claim that the property belongs to the estate.³⁷

One interested in the estate who acquiesces in the executor's treating certain property as not part of the estate is estopped to claim that it is.³⁸

IV. INVENTORY AND APPRAISAL

§ 129. Necessity and Purpose

An executor or administrator is commonly required, on assuming his office, to file an inventory and appraisal of the assets of the estate, as a basis for his accounting and liability.

Under common probate practice, the first duty of an executor or an administrator, after obtaining his credentials, is to prepare and file an inventory of the assets of the estate,³⁹ and an appraisal of the value of such assets.⁴⁰

The object of an inventory and appraisal is to fix presumptively, although not conclusively, the amount and value of items of property constituting the estate, and their respective totals, as to real and personal property, and to furnish a reasonable basis on which the accounting and liability of the executor or administrator shall proceed.⁴¹

§ 130. Who Required to Make

Only a duly appointed executor or administrator can be required to file an inventory.

It is the duty of the personal representative, and not of the heirs or legatees, to furnish an inventory and appraisal.⁴² Only a duly appointed executor or administrator can be required to file an inventory;⁴³ an inventory may be required of an administrator de bonis non,⁴⁴ or of an executor who takes out

35. Ga.—Parnelle v. Cavanaugh, 12 S.E.2d 877, 191 Ga. 464.

Implied trust

An administratrix after accepting the trust was precluded by statute from setting up equitable title to a tract of land belonging to the estate, through an implied trust arising from fact that the administratrix had furnished to deceased the purchase money for the tract.—Crummey v. Crummey, 10 S.E.2d 859, 190 Ga. 774.

Contract to adopt administrator

Administratrix' petition seeking to enforce against estate an alleged contract by decedent to adopt the administratrix and make will leaving all of decedent's property to her was subject to general demurrer on ground that it was brought not for direction concerning distribution of estate alone, but to accomplish purpose adverse to the interest of the administratrix as such and solely for the purpose of advancing her interest as an individual.—Parnelle v. Cavanaugh, 12 S.E.2d 877, 191 Ga. 464.

36. Mo.—Wells v. Moore, 68 Mo.App. 499.

23 C.J. p 1150 note 4.

37. Pa.—In re Moore, 60 A. 987, 211 Pa. 338.

23 C.J. p 1150 note 5.

38. Pa.—In re Fitzgibbon's Estate, 116 A. 289, 272 Pa. 345.

39. Ala.—Parker v. Robertson, 88 So. 418, 205 Ala. 434.

Puerto Rico.—Trinidad v. Trinidad, 19 Puerto Rico 616, 624.

23 C.J. p 1158 note 67.

Dispensing with inventory see infra § 139.

Effect of failure to make inventory see infra § 140.

"Inventory" defined

(1) An inventory is the account of an executor or administrator, to the correctness of which he is sworn, particularly as to all claims against him belonging to the estate.—Lloyd v. Lloyd, 1 Redf.Surr., N.Y., 399.

(2) "Inventory" in orphans' court is statement of assets of decedent's estate.—In re Fulper's Estate, 132 A. 834, 99 N.J.Eq. 293.

English practice see 23 C.J. p 1158 notes 64-66.

40. Ark.—Lambert v. Tucker, 104 S. W. 131, 83 Ark. 416.

Cal.—In re Selma, Myr.Prob. 233.

"Wasting assets"

Live stock and farm implements are "wasting assets" or "property which may be consumed in using," and it was executor's duty, before turning over such property to trustee, to cause it to be appraised, so that value should be known and accounted for to remaindermen or legatees.—In re Hopson's Will, 211 N.Y.S. 128, 213 App.Div. 395.

Will providing for appraisal

Under will of Indian devising land in fee, subject to payment to estate of appraised value less advances by devisee, claim for advances must be established as claim against estate, and land described must be appraised.—In re Fish's Estate, 229 P. 803, 107 Okl. 12.

41. Ariz.—Lowry v. Crandall, 83 P. 2d 1003, 52 Ariz. 501, 120 A.L.R. 271.

N.J.—In re Fulper's Estate, 132 A. 834, 99 N.J.Eq. 293.

Ohio.—Scott v. Mofford, 28 N.E.2d 947, 64 Ohio App. 457.

Tex.—Cartledge v. Billalba, Civ.App., 154 S.W.2d 219, error refused.

23 C.J. p 1159 note 69.

"The inventory is intended to serve both as an information source and as a starting point in future proceedings in the administration of an estate. It has as its object in part the fixation of the value with which presumptively the fiduciary is to be charged. It is designed as well to require the fiduciary to certify the property in his hands and the claims of the deceased against him."—In re Erlanger's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 263, 265, 159 Misc. 185.

42. Miss.—Turner v. Ellis, 24 Miss. 173.

N.Y.—Mills v. Smith, 36 N.E. 178, 141 N.Y. 256.

43. N.Y.—Mills v. Smith, supra.

Coeexecutor may file a separate inventory and account.—In re Foulke's Estate, 5 A.2d 179, 334 Pa. 186.

44. Md.—Brown v. Tydings, 130 A. 337, 149 Md. 22.

23 C.J. p 1159 note 73.

It is good practice for a subsequent administrator to file a new inventory although his predecessor has already filed one.—Brown v. Tydings, supra.

letters testamentary after the death of a coexecutor.⁴⁵

§ 131. Time for Making

An inventory and appraisal should be filed within the time prescribed by the governing statute, but late filing does not render it invalid.

The inventory and appraisal should be made and filed within the time prescribed by the governing statute;⁴⁶ and where an inventory is not filed within the time prescribed, the court will order it filed, although the facts on which the order is based are brought to its knowledge by one having no interest in the estate.⁴⁷ The time may be extended,⁴⁸ and an inventory and appraisal filed after the prescribed time is not invalid.⁴⁹

Where an executor is excused for failure to file an inventory within the prescribed time by reason of his having received no assets in that time, it is his duty to file an inventory within a reasonable time after he first receives assets.⁵⁰ Where decedent left a will, an inventory is not required until after probate,⁵¹ and it has been held that a testator may provide by his will that the inventory and appraisal shall not be made until the death of a life tenant.⁵²

§ 132. Form and Requisites

The inventory must meet the requirements of the governing statute and give full information as to the quantity and quality of the estate.

The inventory must meet the requirements of the governing statute;⁵³ it should be specific in its enumeration of such chattels or other property of deceased as the law may require, not needlessly minute, and yet so full as to separate large items of value, and set out by themselves such special classes as chattels real, household furniture, cattle, stock in trade, cash, and securities of the incorporeal sort, such as notes and bonds,⁵⁴ so as to give interested parties, including creditors, full information as to the quantity and quality of the estate.⁵⁵ It has been required to be in writing,⁵⁶ and to be signed by the personal representative⁵⁷ and the appraisers,⁵⁸ and verified.⁵⁹

Statement of no assets. A statement filed with the register by an administrator that there are no goods has been held equivalent to filing an inventory.⁶⁰

§ 133. Property to Be Included

Although certain exceptions have been recognized, as to which the courts are not in entire accord, as a general rule all property owned by the decedent should be included in the inventory.

The general rule is that it is the duty of the personal representative to include in his inventory all property belonging to, or claimed by, decedent or his estate which has come to the representative's knowledge,⁶¹ whether or not it has actually come into his possession.⁶²

The inventory should include property which de-

45. N.Y.—In re Dana, Tuck.Surr. 113.

23 C.J. p 1159 note 76.

46. Ariz.—Lowry v. Crandall, 83 P. 2d 1003, 52 Ariz. 501, 120 A.L.R. 271.

Pa.—In re Rahausser's Estate, 52 York Leg.Rec. 37.

23 C.J. p 1159 note 77.

47. Iowa.—Poole v. Burnham, 68 N. W. 816, 99 Iowa 493.

48. Pa.—Logan's Estate, 1 Pa.Co. 76. 23 C.J. p 1160 note 79.

49. Cal.—Phelan v. Smith, 34 P. 667, 100 Cal. 158.

Statute directory

The statute governing the time within which the inventory and appraisal should be filed is directory, and delay in filing does not invalidate the appraisal or inventory.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1029, 134 Or. 32, 72 A.L.R. 949.

50. Mass.—Forbes v. McHugh, 25 N. E. 622, 152 Mass. 418.

51. Hawaii.—Matter of Gill, 2 Hawaii 681.

52. Pa.—Logan's Estate, 1 Pa.Co. 76.

53. Ala.—Parker v. Robertson, 88 So. 418, 205 Ala. 434.

Where statute requires notice of the making of the inventory or appraisal, an inventory or appraisal made without such notice is void.—Salomon v. Heichel, 4 Dem.Surr. N. Y., 176—Schofield's Estate, 1 N.Y. Month.L.Bul. 64.

54. Ala.—Parker v. Robertson, 88 So. 418, 205 Ala. 434.

23 C.J. p 1160 note 84.

55. Pa.—In re Rahausser's Estate, 52 York Leg.Rec. 37.

56. Ala.—Parker v. Robertson, 88 So. 418, 205 Ala. 434.

57. Va.—Parks v. Rucker, 5 Leigh 149, 32 Va. 149.

23 C.J. p 1160 note 85.

58. La.—Michel v. Michel, 11 La. 149.

23 C.J. p 1160 note 86.

59. Ala.—Parker v. Robertson, 88 So. 418, 205 Ala. 434.

23 C.J. p 1160 note 87.

60. Del.—State v. Beckley, 1 Del. 142.

61. Ariz.—In re Nolan's Estate, 108 P.2d 391, 56 Ariz. 366.

Mo.—In re Van Fossen, App., 13 S. W.2d 1076.

Pa.—In re Rahausser's Estate, 52 York Leg.Rec. 37.

Tenn.—In re Love's Estate, 145 S.W. 2d 778, 176 Tenn. 696.

Tex.—Ball v. Cundiff, Civ.App., 127 S.W.2d 502, error dismissed, judgment correct.

23 C.J. p 1160 note 90.

Securities transferred but not delivered

Securities in decedent's safe deposit box should be listed in the inventory although a transfer of ownership is listed thereon without evidence of delivery.—In re Keiser's Estate, 6 Pa.Dist. & Co. 178, 21 Sch. Leg.Rec. 60.

Statutory set-offs

Administrator should include statutory set-offs in inventory, notwithstanding claimed existence of antenuptial contract that would defeat such set-offs.—Keever v. Brown, 172 N.E. 626, 36 Ohio App. 1.

62. Hawaii.—Matter of Gill, 2 Hawaii 681.

cedent's will treats as part of his estate,⁶³ provisions on hand at the time of decedent's death,⁶⁴ wearing apparel of decedent who left only collateral kindred,⁶⁵ choses in action, notes, and other claims existing in favor of the estate,⁶⁶ debts due from the personal representative⁶⁷ whether or not the latter recognizes the claims as valid,⁶⁸ the proceeds of insurance, when these have come or should come into the possession of the representative as assets,⁶⁹ a judgment in favor of the estate,⁷⁰ property the right of possession of which was vested in decedent, although it never came into his actual possession,⁷¹ property transferred by gift causa mortis where delivery by decedent was only symbolic,⁷² and property as to which decedent had an equity of redemption.⁷³ That the property is of no value,⁷⁴ or that it was specifically bequeathed,⁷⁵ is no ground for not including it in the inventory.

The inventory need not include property which decedent effectively transferred during his lifetime,⁷⁶ property in which decedent had only a life estate,⁷⁷ property held by the executor as life tenant,⁷⁸ property directed by the will not to be inventoried,⁷⁹ or a claim for damages for the death of decedent.⁸⁰ A payment made by decedent for the benefit of another should not be inventoried where the circumstances attending such payment are such as to raise a presumption that he did not intend to charge it, but intended that it should inure to the benefit of such other person and there is no proof to the contrary;⁸¹ and even if under the will one was seized of a determinable fee in land, whereof his widow is entitled to dower, yet, such fee having determined on his death, the property does not belong to his estate, and therefore should not be included in his administratrix's inventory.⁸² Where a surety dies leaving his estate liable for the debt, his claim against the principal for reimbursement should not be inventoried by the administrator until the debt has been actually paid.⁸³ As an inventory relates to the time of decedent's death, only property of which he was possessed at the time of his death, and not subsequent profits or accretions, need be included in the inventory.⁸⁴

Real estate must, under some statutes, be inventoried,⁸⁵ but in the absence of a statute so requiring, it need not be included in the inventory.⁸⁶

Decedent's interest in a partnership should, according to the weight of authority, be listed,⁸⁷ although it has also been held that such interest should not be inventoried.⁸⁸

Trust property. It has been held that property held in trust by decedent need not be listed,⁸⁹ but 63. La.—Grounux v. Abat, 7 La. 17.

Property sold by decedent

Machinery which testator listed in his will but which he subsequently sold to his executor in cancellation of a debt was not improperly omitted from inventory of his estate.—Hubbard v. Ball, 81 P.2d 73, 59 Idaho 78.

64. N.H.—Griswold v. Chandler, 5 N.H. 492.

65. Pa.—Steen's Estate, 1 Pa.Co. 473.

66. Pa.—In re Burwell's Estate, 91 Pa.Super. 183.

Tenn.—In re Love's Estate, 145 S.W. 2d 778, 176 Tenn. 696.
23 C.J. p 1160 note 95.

Debt discharged by bankruptcy

The amount of indebtedness from which deceased's bankrupt son was relieved of liability by bankruptcy discharge was rightfully eliminated from inventory of deceased's estate.—Leach v. Armstrong, Mo.App., 156 S.W.2d 959, transferred, see, Sup., 149 S.W.2d 865.

67. Ohio.—Jones v. Willis, 74 N.E. 166, 72 Ohio St. 189.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 96.

68. Mo.—Wilson v. Ruthrauff, 82 Mo.App. 435.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 97.

69. N.J.—Allen v. Allen, 103 A. 169, 88 N.J.Eq. 575.

70. Or.—In re Conser, 66 P. 607, 40 Or. 138.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 99.

71. S.C.—Orangeburgh Dist. v. Geiger, 3 S.C.L. 484.

72. Pa.—In re Elliott's Estate, 173 A. 880, 113 Pa.Super. 350.

73. Md.—State for Use of Horsey v. Maryland Casualty Co., 163 A. 856, 164 Md. 69.

74. Mo.—In re Van Fossen, App., 13 S.W.2d 1076.

75. N.Y.—In re Link's Will, 17 N.Y. S.2d 634, 173 Misc. 217.

76. Ill.—In re Haegle's Estate, 30 N.E.2d 148, 307 Ill.App. 383.

Vt.—Trask v. Walker's Estate, 134 A. 853, 100 Vt. 51.

Property disposed of by decedent as or as not assets see supra § 123.

77. Mo.—Dameron v. Lanyon, 138 S.W. 1, 234 Mo. 627, 646.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 7.

Growing crops; offspring of animals

Where wife devised and bequeathed all her property to her husband for life and after his death to their son, on the husband's death inventory of personal property should have included seed and grain produced during the husband's life as well as wheat crop and other annual crops growing at the time of husband's death and offspring of pigs, cows, and horses bequeathed to husband.—In re Specht's Estate, Ohio App., 36 N.E.2d 865.

78. S.C.—Brooks v. Brooks, 12 S.C. 422.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 8.

79. Pa.—Wood's Estate, 7 Pa.Dist. 484.

80. Pa.—Kober's Estate, 17 Pa.Dist. 184.

81. Ohio.—In re Glenn, 23 Ohio Cir. Ct. 397.

82. Mo.—Dameron v. Lanyon, 138 S.W. 1, 234 Mo. 627.

83. Conn.—Andruss v. Doolittle, 11 Conn. 283.

84. Va.—McCall v. Peachy, 3 Munf. 288, 17 Va. 288.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 17.

85. N.M.—Barka v. Hopewell, 219 P. 799, 29 N.M. 166.

Or.—D'Arcy v. Snell, 91 P.2d 537, 162 Or. 351, 122 A.L.R. 928.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 18.

86. Pa.—In re Long's Estate, 17 A. 2d 686, 143 Pa.Super. 176.

Tenn.—In re Love's Estate, 145 S.W. 2d 778, 176 Tenn. 696.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 19.

87. Mich.—Loomis v. Armstrong, 29 N.W. 867, 63 Mich. 355, 362.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 2.

88. Pa.—In re Cassel's Estate, 18 Lehigh Co.L.J. 123.

23 C.J. p 1161 note 3.

89. Pa.—Hartman v. Dime Building that property of which decedent had the record title must be listed although it is equitably owned by another.⁹⁰

Property claimed adversely to the estate by third persons,⁹¹ or even by the representative himself,⁹² should be included in the inventory, although it would seem proper to indicate the existence of the adverse claim.⁹³ However, it has been held sufficient under such circumstances to file a schedule of such property stating that it belongs to the representative;⁹⁴ and it has also been held that property in the possession of a third person under a claim of title should be excluded.⁹⁵

Fraudulent transfer. It has been held that the inventory should include property transferred by decedent in fraud of creditors;⁹⁶ but there is authority for the view that such property need not be included,⁹⁷ unless it was conveyed to the representative himself.⁹⁸

Property exempt from execution should, it has been held, be included in the inventory in order to identify it as part of decedent's property,⁹⁹ but there is also authority for the view that such property should not be inventoried.¹

Property pledged by decedent. Personal property which decedent in his lifetime hypothecated as collateral security should not be included in the inventory and appraisal, thus fixing a liability therefor in the executor or administrator, but the interest of the estate in the property or the proceeds of its sale, if any, on the settlement of the indebtedness, is a proper subject for an additional inventory.²

A widow's exemption is not part of decedent's estate, but must be listed in the inventory as belonging to the widow.³

Location of property. Although it has been asserted that the inventory should include all the personal property of decedent, even that situated out of the state,⁴ it would seem more proper that where letters are granted in different states or countries, the inventory of each executor or administrator should include only the property within the jurisdiction in which his letters are issued, for which property alone he is immediately accountable.⁵ It has also been held that the neglect of an executor to inventory a debt founded on a judgment rendered in another state was not a breach of his official duty.⁶

§ 134. Additional or Supplementary Inventory

An additional or supplementary inventory to cover property omitted or subsequently acquired, or to correct an error, may be permitted or required by the court.

Ordinarily, only one inventory need be returned, and for additional property coming to the representative's knowledge or control, charging himself in his accounts is sufficient.⁷ However, the court has the power to permit or compel an additional or supplementary inventory for property omitted or subsequently acquired;⁸ and a representative who has filed an erroneous inventory has been allowed subsequently to file a second inventory correcting the errors.⁹ A supplemental statement describing property omitted from the inventory may be sufficient as an additional inventory, although not filed as such.¹⁰

§ 135. Making Appraisal

Under the general practice the assets must be appraised by disinterested appraisers appointed by the court at their market value as of the time when received by the representative.

It is generally required not only that there be a and Loan Ass'n, 89 Pittsb.Leg.J. 273.

Wash.—In re Belt, 70 P. 74, 29 Wash. 535.

90. Conn.—Laudano v. Laudano, 142 A. 407, 108 Conn. 37.

91. Conn.—Searle v. Crampton, 170 A. 480, 118 Conn. 42.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 20.

92. Tenn.—In re Love's Estate, 145 S.W.2d 778, 176 Tenn. 696.
23 C.J. p 1162 note 21.

93. Ill.—Simms v. Guess, 52 Ill.App. 543.

Tenn.—In re Love's Estate, 145 S.W. 2d 778, 176 Tenn. 696.

94. Kan.—Hartwig v. Flynn, 100 P. 642, 79 Kan. 595.

95. Philippine.—Arabes v. Urian, 6 Philippine 527.

96. Conn.—Finnegan v. La Fontaine, 191 A. 337, 122 Conn. 561.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 13.

97. Or.—Borge v. Traasen, 75 P.2d 939, 158 Or. 454, rehearing denied 76 P.2d 1127, 158 Or. 454.
23 C.J. p 1161 note 11.

98. Conn.—Minor v. Mead, 3 Conn. 289.

99. N.Y.—Crawford v. Nassoy, 65 N. E. 962, 173 N.Y. 163, reversing 67 N.Y.S. 108, 55 App.Div. 433—Matter of Keough, 86 N.Y.S. 807, 42 Misc. 387.

1. Iowa.—In re Holderbaum, 47 N. W. 898, 82 Iowa 69.

2. Pa.—In re Moore, 48 A. 884, 198 Pa. 611.

3. N.Y.—In re Tangerman's Estate, 235 N.Y.S. 213, 226 App.Div. 162.

4. Conn.—Bridgeport Trust Co.'s App., 60 A. 662, 77 Conn. 657.
23 C.J. p 1162 note 26.

5. N.J.—In re Healey's Estate, 134 A. 684, 4 N.J.Misc. 785.
23 C.J. p 1162 note 27.

6. Conn.—Strong v. White, 19 Conn. 238.

7. Mass.—Hooker v. Bancroft, 4 Pick. 50.
23 C.J. p 1162 note 29.

8. Mo.—Chapin's Estate v. Long, 224 S.W. 1012, 205 Mo.App. 414.
N.M.—Barka v. Hopewell, 219 P. 799, 29 N.M. 166.

Pa.—In re Keiser's Estate, 6 Pa.Dist. & Co. 178, 21 Sch.Leg.Rec. 60.
23 C.J. p 1162 note 30.

9. Pa.—In re Bradford, 1 Browne 87.

10. Wash.—Ackerson v. Orchard, 34 P. 1106, 35 P. 605, 7 Wash. 377.

listing of the assets of the estate, but that there be an appraisal of the value of each;¹¹ but under a statute so providing,¹² or a testamentary provision relieving the executor of the duty,¹³ the court may dispense with an appraisal.

Property of the estate should be appraised at its market value,¹⁴ but the surrogate has no power to direct the appraisers as to the manner in which they shall estimate the value.¹⁵ The appraisal should be of the value of the property when received by the representative, and not the value at the time of the decedent's death, since the purpose of the appraisal is to fix the amount with which the representative is to be charged.¹⁶

Under the practice generally prevailing, the appraisal of the value of the assets with which the representative is to be charged is made by a specified number¹⁷ of appraisers,¹⁸ who are appointed by the court.¹⁹ The appraisers must be disinterested,²⁰ and must be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties.²¹

The appraisers are entitled to compensation at the rate fixed by the governing statute.²²

The result of the appraisal is noted on the inventory blank which accompanies the order, and the schedules filled up, and the document when completed is delivered to the executor or administrator by whom it should be returned to the probate court for record with his own oath that the list is just and perfect.²³ Where an executor disposed of certain property without including it in the inventory, in accordance with the expressed wish of decedent, and, on final settlement, made a supplemental inventory of such property, it was held that the court might determine the value of the property and it was not necessary that it should be appraised like other property of the estate.²⁴

§ 136. Proceedings

The proceedings for an appraisal are under the control of the court acting on its own motion or on petition of one interested in the estate, it having, in general, power to hear and determine all controversies with respect thereto.

11. N.Y.—Vogel v. Arbogast, 4 Dem. Surr. 399.

23 C.J. p 1163 note 38.

Debt

Under a statute so providing, a judgment cannot be recovered on a written evidence of debt belonging to the estate unless and until it is included in the appraisal.—Damron v. Allen, 135 S.E. 600, 102 W.Va. 537.

12. Ohio.—In re Estate of Mayo, 31 Ohio N.P., N.S., 394.

Dispensing with inventory see infra § 139.

13. Ga.—Darnell v. Tate, 170 S.E. 63, 177 Ga. 279.

14. N.Y.—Matter of Bodman, 166 N.Y.S. 714, 100 Misc. 390.

23 C.J. p 1163 note 40.

Fair market value; value in money

Under a statute requiring property to be appraised at its fair market value for inheritance tax purposes, and requiring the general appraisers of decedent's property to fix its value in money, the "fair market value" and the "value in money" are practically identical, the value in money being the fair equivalent for the thing valued, and the fair market value the sum for which it could be exchanged in the open market under fair conditions, and the purpose of the valuation not being an element of value in either case.—In re Matthews' Will, 182 N.W. 744, 174 Wis. 220.

Corporate stock

In making appraisal of stock belonging to estate, consideration must be given to asset values of corporation, to possibility of liquidating such values, to course of trade or business in which corporation is engaged, and to current earnings, business trends, capital needs, prospective profits, tax liabilities, and good will.—In re Erlanger's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 263, 159 Misc. 185.

15. N.Y.—Matter of McCaffrey, 3 N.Y.S. 96, 50 Hun 371.

16. N.Y.—In re Erlanger's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 263, 159 Misc. 185.

17. Md.—Barron v. Smith, 70 A. 225, 107 Md. 317.

23 C.J. p 1162 note 34.

18. R.I.—Fairbanks v. Mann, 34 A. 1112, 19 R.I. 499.

23 C.J. p 1162 note 36.

19. Miss.—O'Brien v. Wilson, 33 So. 946, 82 Miss. 93.

23 C.J. p 1162 note 33.

Appointment as often as necessary

Under Surrogate's Court Act, on application of an executor or administrator, surrogate may appoint two disinterested appraisers as often as may be necessary to appraise personality of the estate.—In re Heimer's Estate, 23 N.Y.S.2d 581, 175 Misc. 412.

20. N.Y.—Matter of McCaffrey, 3 N.Y.S. 96, 50 Hun 371.

23 C.J. p 1162 note 35.

21. Ala.—Horn v. Grayson, 7 Port. 270.

23 C.J. p 1162 note 37.

22. Or.—In re Fehlmann's Estate, 292 P. 1027, 134 Or. 46.

23 C.J. p 1163 note 39.

Court has no discretion as to the amount of the compensation.—In re

Megrath's Estate, 253 P. 455, 142 Wash. 324, affirmed 256 P. 503, 142 Wash. 324.

Day's work

Statute allowing appraisers of estates not to exceed five dollars per "day" for services was not intended to permit appraisers to collect plurality of appraisal fees for same day's work or to require appraisers to work from midnight to midnight to perform a day's service.—In re Roher's Estate, 58 P.2d 948, 16 Cal. App.2d 669.

Reasonable fee

(1) The Surrogate's Court Act contemplates that reasonable fees shall be fixed for services actually rendered by appraisers of the personal estate of deceased.—In re Gally's Estate, 3 N.Y.S.2d 967, 254 App. Div. 157.

(2) Appraiser's fees of two thousand five hundred dollars for each of two appraisers, in addition to allowance of claim of five hundred seven-tenths dollars and fifty cents for services of experts and certified public accountant, for the appraisal of personal property of deceased, of a total gross amount of three hundred fifty-seven thousand, nine hundred two dollars and sixty cents, in making which appraisers spent nineteen days, were excessive by one thousand five hundred dollars.—In re Gally's Estate, supra.

23. N.J.—Dilts v. Stevenson, 17 N.J.Eq. 407.

24. Cal.—Garrity's Estate, 38 P. 628, 41 P. 485, 108 Cal. 463.

